Britain To Get $300-Million Arms Aid

New Egyptian Government Gets Conditional Support

CAIRO, EGYPT (AP) — Premier Aly Maher Pasha's new Independent government got a pledge of support Monday... from the powerful Wafdist party it replaced at the climax of this country's bloody relations with Britain.

Tanks and armored cars continued to patrol Cairo's streets and infantrymen were stationed at important intersections. But rigid curfew restrictions were relaxed and passes were issued to newspapermen and others whose work required them to be on the streets at night.

CHRISTMAS WAS NEVER NICER—NOR LATER, for the William Olson family, 415 Ronalds st. The Olsons saved a 15 pound turkey, trimmings and Christmas gifts until their oldest son, 2d Lt. William Olson, an SUI alumnus, could return from a special mission in Korea.

Grant by U.S. Cuts Original Request in Half

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 300-million dollar aid grant to Britain "to support the United Kingdom defense program" was announced Monday night by Mutual Security Director W. Averell Harriman.

Harriman said in a letter to Chairman Tom Connally (D-Tex.) of the senate foreign relations committee that without the $300-million grant "it would be necessary for the United Kingdom to reduce its defense program by more than twice as much."

Warn UN Action if Reds Hit Asia

PARIS (AP)—The United States, Britain and France served firm notice on the Soviet Union Monday that any Communist aggression against southeast Asia would be met by the UN for urgent action.

United States was ferry Nationalist Chinese troops to Burma, Thailand and other southeast Asian countries and that "these illegal—flagrantly illegal—acts of the United States, we can be quite sure, will be declared to be defensive measures against China's aggression whenever events begin to take their course on the southern borders of China."

Allies Present Reds 'Complete Solution' For Prisoner Trade

MUNSAN, Korea (TUESDAY) (AP) — The United Nations command Monday presented the Communists with a 14-point "complete solution" to the long-standing prisoner-exchange controversy and asked the Reds to reply as soon as possible.

Interpreting the News — Farouk Intervention Eases Threat of War

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

Egypt, through the sudden intervention of King Farouk to change premiers, has taken a step back from the brink of a complete diplomatic break with England.

The step was received in Allied diplomatic circles as offering some hope for eventual solution of the friction which has halted their plans for a Middle East command in conjunction with defense of Europe. It seemed to have eased what had become a very grave possibility of real Anglo-Egyptian war.

Quell Revolt

On the other hand, it appeared to be just as much and perhaps more of a move by Farouk to quell incipient revolt. The people, inflamed by the nationalistic propaganda of the Nahas Pasha government, were taking the bit in their teeth, and showed signs of going against that government itself for its failure to oust the British from the Suez zone.

The prospect that any Egyptian government will be able to make a deal with Britain without attracting riotous public anger seems just as remote as ever.

Aims Are Same

The announced aims of the new government are the same as before — to establish sole Egyptian sovereignty over the Sudan and oust British troops from Egypt. The immediate objective is to restore security within the country against repetition of Saturday's riots.

Farouk appears to have been influenced by advisors who favor ultimate treaty arrangements with Britain and the United States. New parliamentary elections, required by the constitution after a cabinet is removed, will give him some idea of just where the country stands and what he can do. There is nothing to indicate that anyone can seriously cut the power of the anti-British Wafdists who now hold 80 per cent of the seats.

May Be Delay

In that case, the situation created by Farouk's intervention merely means a month's lull. This might offer the opportunity for some third party to do some peace work. It can hardly be the United States, which is too close to Britain.

The most powerful nation which could get the ear of Cairo government, one which is associated with the U.S. and British defense program against Russia, one which could provide a stable defense of the Suez canal — now the prime objective of British policy in Egypt — is Turkey.

Laughed At

The Egyptian contention that they can take care of the canal is laughed off by the Allies, who remember what happened when the Egyptian army took the field against Palestine. There is not even much hope that a stable government can be established in Cairo capable of making or keeping firm commitments. There is not much hope that any Cairo government will rise above the most venal domestic politics — which was really what set off the current crisis.

The situation is complicated by intensified Soviet propaganda and diplomatic campaigns among the Arabs. Unless Egypt can be brought into association with the Middle East defense group through association with some country she trusts more than either Britain or the U.S., no mere shift in ruling personalities seems likely to have much effect on her foreign relations.

Student Releases Balloons for Study Of Cosmic Rays

A flight of balloons bearing electronic equipment was sent aloft at SUI Saturday as part of a series of experiments to study cosmic rays at high altitudes.

Three geiger counter tubes, a radio transmitter, an altimeter and several other instruments, mounted in a magnesium frame, were lifted by the hydrogen-filled balloons.

As the balloons raised the electronic equipment into the atmosphere a constant record of the action of cosmic rays upon the geiger tubes and the altitude at which the reactions occurred was relayed to the ground by the radio transmitter.

An identical record was kept photographically by a special camera in the balloon's "gondola" of equipment.

Leslie H. Meredith, G. Iowa City, is performing the experiments as preparation for a master's thesis under the direction of Prof. James A. Van Allen, head of the university's physics department, and Melvin B. Gottlieb, physics professor.

The experiment is one part of basic research into cosmic rays, which are mostly protons, the nuclei of hydrogen atoms. Specific purpose of the Iowa balloon experiments is to study the vertical intensity of cosmic rays as they pass through the three geiger tubes.

The balloons were expected to reach an altitude of approximately 18 miles, presenting an opportunity to study the cosmic rays before they are distorted by lower atmospheres.

Meredith explained that, on the basis of past experiments, the balloons and equipment are expected to descend in Illinois about 100 miles southeast of Iowa City.

Col. Paul Praises Ike's SHAPE Leadership

By JOE MEYER

"The tremendous influence of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower on the members of his international team will be a great factor in any move toward European federation."

That is the enthusiastic prediction of Col. Leo F. Paul, 36-year-old air force officer who has been a member of the general's supreme headquarters staff since it was originated in 1950. Col. Paul flew here from Paris last week to attend the funeral of his brother, Capt. Lawrence E. Paul, who was killed when his plane crashed near Taejon, Korea on Jan. 14.

"Ike is such a dynamic leader that the members of his staff are eager to carry out his plans even though they represent several different countries with sometimes conflicting policies."

When questioned concerning the residence of SHAPE (Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe) staff members, Col. Paul explained that a housing area called SHAPE Village is now being constructed in an undeveloped area about 10 minutes drive from Eisenhower's headquarters. Priority in this housing area was given to noncommissioned officers and 40 American NCOs were the first to occupy the buildings.

Guard Enlistments Back on Upgrade

DES MOINES (AP) — Iowa national guard enlistments are back on the upgrade, and "that's a very good indication," Brig. Gen. Fred C. Tandy, state adjutant general, commented Sunday.

He said this, along with a recruiting campaign under way throughout the state, leads to the hope that in 60 to 90 days there may be a considerable increase in the guard's strength.

Presently, it is about 60 per cent of authorized strength. It has remained so through the fluctuating trends of the last several months. Security regulations prevent disclosure of the actual number of guardsmen.

The first 15 days of January showed a net gain of 37 men. There was a net loss of 59 in December and a net loss of 80 in there had been several months of increases.

In December, Tandy attributed the November decline to the fact that teenagers eligible for induction through selective service didn't join the guard in the usual numbers.

Sunday he said the guard usually declines a little toward the end of the year, and added: "We're not too concerned as long as it starts up again in January, as it has."

Objector Given 3-Year Sentence

DES MOINES (AP) — John S. Miller, 22, of Des Moines, a conscientious objector, was sentenced Monday to three years in prison for violation of the selective service act.

He was convicted last month by Federal Judge William F. Riley of refusing to take the oath of allegiance after reporting for his physical examination on Sept. 24, 1951. Judge Riley in sentencing Miller told him that "the Bible is as explicit in outlining man's duty to his fellow man as it is in setting forth his duties to God."

Deals with Teenage

Court Opens with Movies

— Traffic Violations

BALTIMORE (AP) — A court of law which convenes here every Saturday morning opens with a movie. Its official actions range from paying compliments to passing out jail sentences.

It's the nation's only court that deals exclusively with teenage traffic violations, according to the man who brought it into existence, Chief Magistrate Stanley Scherr.

The effects, since the court's inception last Oct. 6, have been profound.

Pleadings Change

When teenagers were tried in regular traffic court along with their elders the youngsters were inclined to enter pleas of innocent with smug complacency. In fact, about 90 per cent of the defendants between the ages of 16 and 21 pleaded innocent, according to Scherr.

Those figures are now reversed. About 90 per cent plead guilty, Scherr says.

Before the new court was created, 20 to 25 per cent of traffic violations in Baltimore were charged against teenagers. Scherr hopes the court and the program he has instituted will cause a drastic reduction in those figures.

Psychologists Approach

Scherr used a psychologists approach when he organized the new court. An old court room was renovated, its walls plastered, the seating facilities repaired. A velvet drape was hung behind the presiding magistrate's bench, state and national flags were installed. On the walls were hung pictures of violent death and destruction—on-the-spot shots of traffic accidents.

Another innovation was the installing of an amplifying system. "Everyone in court should hear what is said at the trial. The youngsters can learn traffic lessons by hearing both sides of the case and the judge's decision."

Legislative Changes Will Be Discussed At Education Meet

DES MOINES (AP) — Formulation of a legislative program to be presented to the 55th Iowa legislature will be discussed by the Iowa State Education association at its annual delegate assembly here Friday and Saturday, Feb. 1-2.

Delegates are expected to consider proposals on certification of teachers, finance, retirement and state administration.

The assembly is expected to endorse a plan setting up a state board of public instruction to administer Iowa's elementary and secondary schools.

Under this plan, congressional district conventions would name the member of the state board of public instruction, and the state board would appoint the state superintendent. Delegates to the congressional district conventions would be named by county boards of education and school boards in cities of 5,000 or more.

A report will be made by Paul F. Johnston, director of administration and finance for the state department of public instruction, on the work of a special research committee on school finance. This committee has been studying proposals for a more equitable system of collecting and distributing Iowa's school tax funds.

Another report on the old age and survivors' insurance system will be made by F. K. Schmidt, superintendent of the Eldora public schools. He is the ISEA representative on the committee which has been studying insurance problems.

The group also is expected to go on record in favor of a minimum requirement of four year college training for people entering the teaching profession in Iowa.

The association backed a bill in the last legislature to require such training, but the bill failed to get anywhere.

The delegate council of the Iowa Future Teachers association will meet in conjunction with the ISEA. Joint sessions of the two groups will be held Friday afternoon and evening.

Mother Fined, Jailed For Hiding Ammunition

MASON CITY (AP) — Mrs. Dorothy DeWitt, 25, mother of four children, Monday was sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $200 on a charge of concealing stolen property.

She was accused of hiding $50 worth of ammunition stolen last October from an elevator at Burchinal. She was convicted by a jury in district court Jan. 16.

March of Dimes on World Cruise

By Central Press
NEW YORK — Somewhere on the high seas, westward-bound, is the world's longest March of Dimes.

It is a three-month march around the world and will reach 25 cities in 14 countries before it ends.

Cooperating in the dramatic gesture to focus attention on the international nature of the fight against polio are the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, New York city, and the American President Lines of San Francisco.

Just before the President Polk left New York on a round-the-world cruise, Mrs. Beatrice Wright, assistant director of women's activities for the foundation and herself a former polio patient, turned over to Capt. J. M. Windas one of the March of Dimes collection cans.

The captain told Mrs. Wright the can would ride around the world on the counter of chief purser Harvey C. Street's office where passengers boarding at Kobe, Hong Kong, Singapore, Penang, Cochin and Port Said would have a chance to contribute local money.

MRS. BEATRICE WRIGHT gives collection can to Capt. J. M. Windas.

OUTWARD BOUND on the first March of Dimes around the world. The President Polk sails under Golden Gate.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AN AUTHOR preparing an article on censorship unearthed the following interesting facts: In 1885 Concord, Mass., home town of Thoreau, banned Huckleberry Finn as "trash suitable only for the stumps." In 1929 Russia blacklisted Sherlock Holmes for his "disgraceful occultism and spiritualism." In 1931 China banned Alice in Wonderland on the ground that "animals should not use human language" and that it was "disastrous to put animals and human beings on the same level."

Reported by short wave direct from Israel: A grizzled resident of Tel-Aviv, fed up with food and housing shortages and other hardships, grumbled, "When the English finally decided to give us a country that didn't belong to them, why didn't they give us Switzerland?"

Low-Calory Fruits Are Good for Your Diet

Exam week has been known traditionally as a week to beware for the coed who doesn't want to gain weight.

Not being held to a rigorous schedule of class work, many a coed finds it is easy to gain unneeded pounds by piecing between meals on sweets and high-calorie content foods.

Although it is necessary to maintain a regular diet of three balanced meals a day and get eight hours of sleep a night, it is not necessary to nibble at fat producing tidbits to gain extra energy.

According to nutrition experts, the brain cells use little energy. Most energy-producing foods are needed to replace nervous and muscular activity.

But if you would like something to nibble on when you study and not gain weight, moderate amounts of fresh fruits such as apples, oranges and grapefruit are suggested. Vegetables such as celery, radishes and carrots are good "fillers" too and don't add extra pounds.

If you feel you need a refreshing drink while you are cramming, nothing is better for you than skim milk. Clear coffee, tea, bullion, fruit and tomato juices are also good pick-me-ups.

The old favorites, carbonated drinks and cheese and cracker combinations, are high in calories and do not have the food value which the fruit and vegetable families have. They may satisfy your hunger, but they also tend to add pounds.

Librarian Stresses Need for Students To Read Books

"If the student wants to be a leader, he had better start reading books," advised Stanley Pargellis, librarian of the Newberry library in Chicago, at the weekend dedication of SUI's new million-volume library.

Pointing out examples of leaders in enterprise, government and cultural institutions who are 'book readers', Pargellis stressed the value of knowledge found in books. He added the fear that in our modern, complex life today too few people are finding time to devote to reading books.

The speaker charged the university and faculty with the responsibility of creating a desire on the part of students to seek out further knowledge. "Teaching should be a catalytic agent... it should put tools in man's hands and let him build wisdom." He said that education should not be merely a matter of taking and memorizing an instructor's notes, but a continual search for knowledge which may be found in a library's book stacks.

Recently Married

Jeanne Reichert, daughter of Mrs. Clara Reichert, Le Mars, became the bride of Loren N. Brown, son of Mrs. Maude Brown, Osage, in a double ring candle-light service at the Little Chapel in the Congregational church in Iowa City, Jan. 20.

The bride wore a grey flannel suit decorated with a corsage of white roses. She carried black accessories.

Mrs. Hugh Morris, Iowa City, was matron of honor. James Pritchard, Iowa City, was best man.

Iowa City guests attending the wedding were: Florine Runyon, Ann Seymour, Mrs. Graham Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Enabnit, Ted Enabnit, and Warren Lyon.

Mrs. Brown who attended SUI is stationed with the WAVES in San Francisco until October. Mr. Brown, who graduated from the SUI college of law, is working in Rockford, Ill.

Touches of Color Becoming Popular For Male Wardrobe

LONDON (AP) — The Englishman is slowly waking up to the fact that as far as clothes are concerned he's pretty dull.

And—as usual—it's the woman who gets the blame. For over a century now John Bull has been hiding himself shyly beneath drab suits, topcoats and debbies.

But now — prodded gently by his tailor — he is beginning to go glamorous. The first touches of color are starting to make apprehensive appearance around London's smart west end and in the exclusive clubs.

But don't expect these gentle tints to burst forth in a riot of color just yet.

Broadened Vests

At the moment John Bull's sartorial daring stops at fancy and broadened vests — made popular by TV star Terry Thomas and Sir Laurence Olivier — and occasional plum-colored tuxedos. A return to the gay male plumage of two centuries ago is a long way ahead.

It takes at least four years to launch a new male fashion, according to Frederick Stanbury, west end tailor and chairman of the Men's Fashion council. "We have to win over the women first — but we think we've done that now."

The theory that Mrs. John Bull is the cause of her husband's drabness comes from James Laver, curator of London's Victoria and Albert museum and an authority on bygone fashions in his spare time.

"All clothes are decided by the unconscious desire of the opposite sex," says Laver.

Security, Not Glamor

"In earlier days, women wanted their men to look like aristocrats. So men developed the complicated dress of the 17th and 18th centuries.

"Then women suddenly decided they wanted security instead of glamor. So just over 100 years ago men switched round and began to look like bankers instead of aristocrats. Now women are earning their own living they are starting to change back again from security to glamor."

Pork Sausage Pie Makes Tasty Dish

It's always fun to find a new way to serve an old favorite. Here's a recipe for a novel sausage pie, open-face style, which is a cracker-jack for dinner or for a special Sunday night supper.

Sausage Open-Face Pie
Crust:
1 cup sifted flour
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons lard
1/3 cup milk

Filling:
3/4 pound pork sausage links
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1/2 clove garlic
1/2 teaspoon basil or thyme
1 cup grated cheese

To make crust, sift baking powder and salt with flour. Cut in lard until mixture resembles corn meal; add milk. Knead dough lightly, then roll out on a lightly floured board to a diameter of 10 inches. Place in a 9-inch pie pan, crimping edges.

Cook sausage links until well browned. Add minced garlic and herbs to well drained tomatoes (save tomato juice for soup or gelatin salad). Spread tomatoes in crust, sprinkle with cheese and top with sausage links arranged spoke fashion. Bake at 450° F. for about 15 minutes. Let stand 15 minutes before cutting. 4 to 5 servings.

Local Church Builds 'Cry Room' for Babies

Crying babies no longer disturb the congregation at the First Methodist church, Jefferson and Dubuque sts.

A room at the rear of the sanctuary has been sound-proofed, to which parents may take crying infants. And the parents do not miss the sermons of Dr. L. L. Dunnington because the room is equipped with a loud speaker.

The "crying room," as referred to by church members is presently equipped with several chairs. Miss Evelyn Faucett, church secretary, said that a play pen, two or three cribs and several toys are to be added.

This "crying room" measures about 20 by 20 feet and has a three by six foot sound-proof window at the front. The window offers full vision of the pulpit.

Miss Faucett said the idea of a "crying room" originated when Dr. Dunnington heard of similar rooms in other churches. It is the only one in Iowa City, however, she said.

Local Church Builds 'Cry Room' for Babies

Installed just before Christmas, the room has been used by several persons each Sunday, said Miss Faucett. She feels it will become more popular after additional equipment for children is added.

Miss Faucett said the room has proved "quite valuable, both to the congregation and to Dr. Dunnington." She said it has been especially useful during the first of Dr. Dunnington's two sermons, which is broadcast over the radio.

Sigma Xi to Meet 8 p.m. Wednesday

NO KIDDING, IT IS THIS YEAR! The first baseball game of the year includes this slide into third by Dick Hidalgo, second baseman of the Boston Red Sox' J.V. team in schooling at Sarasota, Fla. Covering third is John Liprando, a member of another Red Sox squad called the Sophomores. The J.V.'s won the game, 5-0.

Schwank Stays As Member of Iowa Grid Staff

Wally Schwank, junior varsity head coach last football season, will be retained as a member of the Iowa athletic staff, it was announced Monday.

Athletic Director Paul Brechler, who made the appointment at the recommendation of Head Coach Forest Evashevski, did not outline Schwank's duties, but he will continue to work with either freshman or junior varsity squads and possibly will continue as advisor to freshman athletes.

The decision to keep Schwank is the first word on the future of ex-coach Leonard Raffensperger's staff, and his salary was not disclosed.

Schwank was an Iowa high school coach for 16 years before coming to Iowa in May, 1950. He coached at both Iowa City high and Davenport during that time. Now 39, he is married and has a son and two daughters.

McGregor Upsets Davis Cup Champ

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — Ken McGregor abandoned his role of innocent bystander of the Australian tennis season Monday long enough to accomplish the biggest court upset of the year. McGregor, a big youngster with a potent net game, soundly whipped Frank Sedgman, 7-5, 12-10, 2-6, 6-2, in the finals of the Australian championship.

Sedgman, rated as the world's No. 1 player, appeared far off his usual form. He failed to hold leads of 5-2 in the first set and 3-0 in the second and wasn't even a threat in the fourth and final set.

Darling Holds Lead In Big Ten Scoring With 25.5 Average

Chuck Darling, Iowa's all-American center candidate, retained his Big Ten scoring lead during last week's competition, and appeared well on top of the loop's record average.

Darling has boosted his average to 25.5 points a game in the first six conference games of the year, compared to the record of 22.6 set by Iowa's Murray Weir in 1948. Weir's average was made over a 12-game season.

Not far behind either Darling or the average is Paul Ebert of Ohio State with a 22.2 average in five games.

The leading Big Ten scorers:

Player	Games	FG	FT	TP	AVG.
Darling, Iowa	6	54	45	133	25.5
Ebert, Ohio State	5	46	19	111	22.2
Schlundt, Indiana	6	45	30	122	20.0
McNulty, Purdue	5	39	20	98	19.6
Nicholas, Wisc.	5	25	26	76	15.2

Illini Hike Lead With 84-57 Win Over Boilermakers

CHAMPAIGN, ILL. (AP) — Once-beaten Illinois, leading all the way and steered by Rod Fletcher with 17 points and Jim Bednar with 15, Monday night hoisted its fifth straight Big Ten basketball victory by trouncing Purdue, 84-57.

In running up their biggest score in conference competition, Illinois led comfortably at each quarter mark and was never pressed.

Purdue failed to come within 10 points of closing the gap in the second half, after Illinois romped into a 37-27 lead at intermission. Illinois' biggest surge came in the fourth quarter when Herb Gerecke, substitute forward hit four baskets in two minutes. Illinois used a total of 16 players.

Clive Follmer fouled out in the second quarter as did Purdue's Darel Brewer. Irv Bemoras went out in the third period and Red Kerr in the fourth for the Illini. Scoring honors of the game went to Purdue's veteran center, Carl McNulty, with 18 points. Jack Runyan added 13 and Fred Server 12 for the Boilermakers, who absorbed their fifth Big Ten loss in six starts.

Purdue was able to connect on only 17 out of 68 field goal attempts while Illinois hit 32 out of 90 shots.

Illinois, upset by DePaul Saturday, now has a season record of 12-1.

Hayes Beats LaMotta By Split Decision

BOSTON (AP) — Norman Hayes, 20-year-old Boston Negro, out-slugged ex-Middleweight Champion Jake LaMotta, the favorite, for a split 10-round decision in their bruising feature boxing bout Monday night at Boston Garden.

A furious finale turned the tide for Hayes, who weighed 163 to the Bronx Bull's 169 1/2. Hayes confined most of his battling to the last minute of each round except the 10th. During that session he slugged toe-to-toe throughout, despite the fact LaMotta landed several blows packed with dynamite.

Back in action after a five month layoff — the result of suffering knockouts by Champion Sugar Ray Robinson and Irish Bob Murphy — LaMotta was slow of foot and looked all of his 30 years. Jake's lumbering tactics forced Hayes to adopt a counter punching style until he cut loose late in each of the first nine sessions.

While Jake was delivering, he scored heavily about the head and body and impressed the packed 12,915 crowd. Many of the LaMotta punches appeared to rock Hayes, but none marked him or came anywhere near knocking him off stride.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

POOR PAUL was having a fowl time. Even his best gal didn't give a hoot for him. "Wise she hate me so?" he asked his roommate. "Simple, you stuffy old bird—because your hair's always ruffled up! Better try Wildroot Cream-Oil hair tonic. It's non-alcoholic. Contains soothing Lanolin. And does tree things: Relieves annoying dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Grooms hair neatly and naturally all day long. (Even limbers up your scalp. And helps you pass the Finger-Nail Nest-er, Test!) Paul got Wildroot Cream-Oil and now he's a 'owling success. So why don't you take a taxi-dermist to any drug or toilet goods counter to get a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil. It's your hair's best friend! And ask for it at your barber shop. Then there's no talon how the chicks'll go for you.

Walcott Blasts Boxing Chiefs

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Jersey Joe Walcott broke out with an angry tirade Monday against the "fight-or-else" ultimatum of the New York boxing commission, and declared:

"Ever since I won the title I've put it on the line every day with the youth of our country. I wouldn't care if Bob Christenberry takes it away from me today. He can't take away my satisfaction."

The heavyweight champion has been ordered by Christenberry, chairman of the New York Boxing commission, to sign for a defense of the crown by Feb. 5 or be stripped of it.

"What I've been doing is more important than satisfying WALSOTT boxing commissioners," said Walcott in an interview. "I've tried to impress on kids sincerity and faith in God. I've been everywhere — in prisons, in army camps, in hospitals.

"If I'm not a credit to boxing, then he can have my title. "I asked for an extension when I won it. I wanted a full year. I need money and I haven't made $15 since I beat Ezzard Charles. But I made a promise. I promised God if He saw fit to make me a champion I'd work with kids.

"I have six kids of my own. I come from a family of 10 children. I know the temptations kids have. If more guys were willing to take time out and not think about themselves this country would be better. But everyone is too greedy.

Walcott said it would take "at least two months" to get in shape and declared he thought he would "do all right against Charles — I think I can lick anybody in the world. I always thought that."

NBA Lauds New York, Sets Deadline for Joe

PATERSON, N. J. (AP) — The National Boxing association Monday gave Bob Christenberry, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, a pat on the back for getting tough with Jersey Joe Walcott and once again asked New York to join the NBA ranks.

In a statement by NBA Commissioner Abe Greene, New York was urged to join a fight to (1) curb common evils and (2) promote favorable activities.

New York Symphony To Play Clapp's Music

BIRTHS
A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Mallo Hudachek, Lone Tree, Monday at Mercy hospital.
A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fruhmeyer, 1111 Rochester, Sunday at Mercy hospital.
A son to Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Keeler, Lone Tree, Sunday at Mercy hospital.
A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bowler, Kalona, Saturday at Mercy hospital.

DEATHS
Charles Boteruba, 60, Richmond, Monday at University hospitals.
Mrs. Eleanor Sheldahl, 40, Waterloo, Monday at University hospitals.
Larry Glick, 5-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Glick, Milo, Sunday at University hospitals.
William Willich, 82, New Albion, Saturday at University hospitals.
Thomas Walsh, 224 N. Johnson, Saturday at his home.

The Eighth Symphony by Philip G. Clapp, head of SUI's music department, will be performed by the New York Philharmonic-Symphony orchestra in Carnegie hall Feb. 7-8.

The two presentations will mark the first performance of the symphony written in Ovington, Wash., in the summer of 1930, revised in 1939, but completed for orchestration only recently.

Clapp will leave this weekend for New York to work out final details for the symphony with Philharmonic conductor Dimitri Mitropoulos.

Mitropoulos has been interested in the Eighth Symphony for some time, and further arrangements for its presentation were made while the conductor was in Iowa City for two weeks earlier this month.

In a concert by the university's symphony orchestra Jan. 23, Mitropoulos performed a piano solo in a number conducted by James Dixon, A4, Iowa City. A student of Clapp's, Dixon is a protege of the Philharmonic conductor.

The New York Philharmonic in 1950 performed another of Clapp's Compositions, "Overture to a Comedy."

A prolific composer, Clapp says most of his spare time is spent in this manner. He has written 12 symphonies, two operas and many shorter compositions.

His Ninth Symphony, "The Pioneers," was performed at the Iowa City and Des Moines centennials. Last year his Tenth Symphony was performed in Iowa City.

Various other works by Clapp have been played by the Boston, Chicago, Minneapolis, and St. Louis symphony orchestras.

The composer describes the Eighth Symphony as "modern, yet not ultra-modern."

The work is in three movements, a vigorous and cheerful first movement, a lyrical and reflective second, and a brilliant last movement that develops and unites the themes of the first two and brings them to a strong climax.

Rites to Be Today For Thomas Walsh

Funeral services for Thomas J. Walsh, former Iowa City street commissioner and deputy sheriff, will be held at 9 a.m. today at St. Mary's church. Mr. Walsh died suddenly at his home Saturday following a heart attack.

He was born in Coralville but lived most of his life in Iowa City. Here he served as a street commissioner for eight years and was a deputy sheriff under Sheriff Frank Smith. He was a former SUI employe and had worked at the city plant for the past 12 years.

He lived at 224 North Johnson st.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, Edward L. Walsh, Newark, N.J., and Kenneth E. Walsh, Burbank, Calif., two daughters, Mrs. Albert G. Owen, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Mrs. Harold Alliband, Atlantic. Two sisters, Mrs. L. P. Graham of Iowa City and Mrs. Kate Smith, Cedar Rapids; one brother, Edward Walsh of Morning Sun; three grandchildren and a number of nieces and nephews also survive.

The rosary was recited at the Hohenschuh mortuary Monday evening.

Pastor Asks Question, Quick Reply

OWENSBORO, KY. (AP) — The Rev. H. B. Kuhnle, pastor of the Third Baptist church here, preached Sunday on "Why Do the Wicked Prosper?"

When the church office was opened Monday morning, it was found that the safe door had been blown off and that Sunday's offering—between $2,000 and $2,500—was missing.

City Detectives H. O. Whittinghill and Robert Elliott said nitroglycerine had been used to blast the safe.

U-High Student Debaters Win Scholarships

THREE UNIVERSITY HIGH school students took the top three places in the annual Brindley High School Discussion and Debate conference held last Friday and Saturday at Iowa State Teachers college, Cedar Falls. Awards to the trio consisted of four-year scholarships to Teachers college. Pictured (left to right) are Sidney Winter, who tied for second; Howard Berg, first place winner, and Robert Rehder, who also tied for second. Two other U-high students placed in the conference. They were George Ojemann and John Randall who shared in ties for fourth and sixth places respectively.

C of C Will Hear Stilwell and Nagle

The Iowa City Chamber of Commerce will hear talks by Dr. Leland Stilwell and George Nagle at their annual meeting tonight at Hotel Jefferson.

Dr. Stilwell is manager of the new veterans hospital and Nagle is the recently elected president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Buford Garner, principal of City high school, will be toastmaster and music will be furnished by the Iowa City men's chorus.

CHECK BREAKIN ATTEMPT

Police Monday were investigating an attempted break-in of the SUI veterans service office in University hall. The attempt apparently was made sometime during the weekend, they said, but no entrance was gained. The break-in was attempted from the hallway in the basement of the building by trying to pry open a hallway window.

IOWA SCHOOL WINS

RICHMOND, VA. (AP) — Company A of Thomas Jefferson high school's cadet corps won first place in a competitive drill here last Friday night.

City Council Asked By Iowa City DAV For Veteran Parking

An Iowa City veterans group Monday petitioned the city council to grant special parking privileges to ex-service amputees who drive specially built cars.

The petition was signed by Eldon R. Kesselring and Robert W. Hess, commander and service officer of Old Gold Chapter 19, Disabled American Veterans of Iowa City.

The petition requested free parking on Iowa City streets for the six or eight amputees of Johnson county who drive the specially-constructed vehicles.

"We feel that Iowa City would show patriotism by this action," the petition read. It was indicated that neighboring cities have already made this concession to the disabled veterans.

The petition recommends that the cars be designated with a special insignia of the DAV and a free parking insignia.

'Block of Dimes' Adds $503.25 to Polio Fund

"The block of dimes," held Saturday, brought $503.25 into the March of Dimes polio fund, Mrs. J. K. Schaaf, co-chairman of the local polio foundation, said Monday.

In addition to this $62.50 was collected at the fund raising party at the Rollerade skating rink at Coralville Thursday, Mrs. Schaaf said.

These sums raise the total to $2,367.69 for the drive to date. The drive ends Jan. 31. This total does not include the amount raised by the Quadrangle dormitory.

All iron lung shaped contribution containers will be collected about Feb. 6, Mrs. Schaaf said.

9 Dead As Ohio River Goes On Rampage

7,000 Are Homeless As Rains Lift Crest

MARIETTA, OHIO (AP) — A series of floods — spearheaded by the muddy Ohio river — raised its toll of dead to nine and its homeless to 7,000 Monday.

The Ohio, out of its banks in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio, failed to reach its anticipated crest at Wheeling, W. Va., but struck hard at industrial districts on both sides of the river in that area.

Refuse to Leave Homes

Hundreds of persons refused to leave their homes, although water ran through first floors. They climbed to the second floor and sat on stacked-up belongings. Damages to homes and factories was heavy.

The crest measured 43.8 feet at 8 p.m. at Bellaire, Ohio, across the river from Wheeling. It had been predicted at 44 feet.

This slight weakness in the turbulent Ohio, however, held little happiness for down-river cities. Extraordinary rainfall in central Ohio, topping 4 inches in 36 hours at some spots, gorged southern Ohio tributary streams beyond capacity.

Crest Predictions Hiked

They soon will begin to pour fresh flood water into the Ohio well below the present crest. The flooded state of the tributaries caused the U.S. weather bureau at Cincinnati to hike its downstream crest predictions.

Next major flood-threatened spot below Wheeling and the Ohio group across the river — Martins Ferry, Bellaire, Bridgeport and Spadyside—will be at the bustling college town, home of Marietta college.

West Virginia Town Flooded

THE MAIN STREET in Martinsville, W. Va. was submerged under 5 feet of water Monday after the flooding Ohio river crested at 41 feet. The flood has claimed nine lives in Ohio and West Virginia and 7,000 are temporarily homeless.

SUI's Richard Seaman To Lead Juvenile Talks

Prof. Richard M. Seaman, of SUI's school of social work, has been named one of the discussion leaders in a three-day meeting concerning Iowa's program for its juvenile wards.

The meetings will be held at the state juvenile home at Toledo, beginning Thursday.

In announcing the event, Chairman Robert C. Lappen, of the state board of control, emphasized that the discussion was not prompted by a recent investigation of that juvenile home. He described the program as a "seminar or workshop" entitled, "An Institute on Children's Institutional Living."

Porter to Attend UNESCO Session

Prof. Kirk Porter, head of SUI's political science department, left Saturday to attend the third national session of the United States' UNESCO conference held at Hunter college, New York city, Jan. 27-31.

Porter will participate in a discussion of "Developments Toward and International Legal Order." Earl J. McGrath, former dean of liberal arts at SUI and now U.S. commissioner of education, is a member of the conference's executive committee.

George Stoddard, president of the University of Illinois, and chairman at the meeting made the opening address Sunday night before more than 2,000 representatives of colleges and universities throughout the nation.

Railroad Wage Bouts Continued by Union

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen Monday rejected an emergency board's recommendations for settling a two-year dispute with the nation's railroads.

A union statement said it had expected the board to "try to ram down the employees' throats the destructive proposals of the railroads and the unwarranted policies of the administration — and that is exactly what it did."

The brotherhood had refused to participate in the board's hearings, charging that board members were biased in favor of the carriers.

The union, with 50,000 to 75,000 members, is prohibited by law from conducting a strike for at least 30 days. A strike, even after that time is doubtful, since the carriers are under government seizure any walkout could be halted by court injunction.

The emergency board recommended a 23 1/2 cent hourly boost for road service employees represented by the union, and a 38 cent increase for yard workers, plus a 4 cent hourly additional raise when the 40 hour week is put into effect. This is substantially what the carriers had offered.
