Amana Society Will Retain Capitalism 20 More Years

AMANA, IA. (AP) — Stockholders of the 98-year-old Amana society voted unanimously Friday to continue their corporate life as a capitalistic group for another 20 years.

Out of 761 voting stockholders of the society, which operated for 58 years on the basis of religious communism, 633 were listed as present at a session in the old meeting house.

Purpose of the session was to determine whether the shift from communal life to a corporate basis should be continued and the vote was 633 to 0. It was just 20 years ago, during depression years, that the impending failure of the colony's enterprises forced the change. At that time a 2 million dollar corporation was set up to take over the society's 26,000 acres of land and to operate its woolen mill, its furniture factory and its meat and cheese plants.

Stock Value Rises
One share of stock was issued to each voting member and the stock was valued at $50 a share. It was announced at Friday's meeting that each share is now worth $3,135.47—a measure of the prosperity that has come to the society under the capitalist system.

The society was formed by German colonists who believed that all should work together and share the fruits of each other's labor.

Even after the shift to a corporate plan such things as free medical and dental care remained. But the enterprises grew until the society is now worth about $5 million. Only members are entitled to hold stock, which they can hand down to their children.

Formerly a share of stock could be exchanged only for cash, but under amended articles the young couple can now buy the stock on the installment plan. This change was made because of the high value placed on each share.

President Henry G. Moershel of Homestead presided at Friday's meeting. Before the voting started he announced it had been decided beforehand that if renewal of the corporate articles was approved by two thirds of the stockholders no dissenting votes would be accepted. He said the stock of any dissenters, in that case, would be purchased.

No Opposition
However, there wasn't a voice raised in opposition. It took about an hour and a half to call the roll.

The common stock of the society was given a $50 par value when the original articles of incorporation were adopted although the figure did not represent the true value. The articles provided that the stock could be exchanged only at true value.

The par value is still listed at $50 but the directors of the society determine the book value for purposes of sale. They fixed the present worth at $3,135.47 a share.

STOKOWSKI'S HAVE CHILD
NEW YORK (AP) — A boy — their second — has been born to symphony conductor Leopold Stokowski, 69, and Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski, 27.

The baby weighed in Thursday at New York hospital at nine pounds, three ounces. "Both mother and son are doing well," the hospital said.

Scott Swisher Plans for '52

Swisher Seeks Demo Nomination For Iowa House

Scott Swisher, 32, Iowa City attorney, announced Friday that he will seek the Democratic nomination for Johnson county state representative in the June primaries.

Swisher is the first Democrat to announce his candidacy for the post. Rep. G. M. Ludwig of Tiffin has announced he will seek reelection on the Republican ticket.

Swisher has practiced law in Iowa City since 1943, when he was graduated from the SUI college of law. He is associated with his father, Atty. Ingalls Swisher, who is president of the Iowa State Bar association.

Swisher is married and lives at 1509 Yewell st. He is a member of the Elks lodge, Knights of Pythias and Eagles.

Assassination Rumor False, Student Says

Nadim Koudsi, political science graduate student at SUI, learned Friday that a report saying his uncle, a former premier of Syria, had been assassinated, was without foundation.

An official denial of the report that Nazam Bey Koudsi had been slain was issued in Damascus and reported by the Arab news agency.

The statement also denied reports of riots and fires in Damascus which accompanied the report of former prime minister Koudsi's death in the Cairo newspaper Al Ahram.

Koudsi, leader of the Syrian Populist party was jailed last November but his release was reported last week by Cairo papers.

The Syrian student called the legation in Washington, D.C., Friday morning and was told that it was believed that one of his uncle's daughters was killed in the rioting.

Koudsi received his B.A. degree at the American university in Beirut, Lebanon, and enrolled in the SUI graduate school last fall.

Egypt Ready To Negotiate With Britain

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Premier Aly Maher Pasha believes negotiation with Britain is the "only normal way to attain Egypt's aims" and that the only question now is on what basis to open the talks, it was announced Friday night.

The new premier's views were disclosed in a statement by Mohyile El Din Fahmy, secretary general in Maher Pasha's cabinet and chief of his personal staff.

"If a reasonable basis for negotiations consistent with Egypt's national aspirations is forwarded to us, we are ready to discuss these proposals immediately," the secretary general said.

Maher Pasha succeeded Wafdist Mustapha Nahas Pasha as a premier Sunday night in the wake of Cairo rioting which caused 67 deaths and heavy fire damage.

A calmer trend has been noticeable since the new Independent premier took office. Western diplomats agree this is essential if new talks are to be held on a settlement of the British-Egyptian dispute.

Maher Pasha's government was reported pushing efforts to restore peace in Egypt by drafting harsher penalties for British-hating firebrands.

The Independent newspaper Al Mokattam said the cabinet is studying the new legislation, obviously aimed at extremists such as those who touched off last Saturday's rioting.

Another independent newspaper, Al Ahram, said police already have raided 230 homes of rioters and recovered eight truck loads of loot, including pistols and shotguns taken from Cairo stores. It said 86 more persons have been arrested.

Cairo Streets Held By Armed Guards

CAIRO (AP) — Veteran Egyptian border guards patrolled Cairo in armed jeeps Friday as a special precaution taken after discovery of crosses marked on a number of residences.

Interior Minister Ahmed Mortada El Maraghi told reporters some youths had been arrested and charged with responsibility for the marks.

The interior minister later indicated the crosses might be harmless marks made by the health department to show where vaccinations against smallpox must be made.

He said he had ordered health authorities to quit such markings. The major foreign embassies reported nationals of their countries had complained of the markings on their houses.

Hubby Gets Graduation Kiss

HIS LAW DEGREE only a few hours away, John Quincy Adams of Manley, gets a congratulatory kiss from his wife Donna. The process will be reversed in June when Donna is scheduled to receive a degree in pharmacy. Adams and 346 other SUI graduates will receive their degrees this afternoon in the Iowa field house.

Predict Ike To Quit NATO Job in June

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supporters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower saw reason to speculate Friday that the five-star general may return to the United States in June to clear the air on his views before the Republican national convention meets in July.

New hope among the general's boosters was based on a statement by Canadian Foreign Minister Lester B. Pearson that the North Atlantic Treaty organization (NATO) is counting on Gen. Eisenhower's services until June.

This was the first official indication that Eisenhower might even now be preparing to step down as supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe and possibly doff his uniform before the GOP nominating convention.

He Leads 12 Nations
Pearson's statement gained significance from the fact that he is chairman of the NATO council, the 12-nation defense setup in which Eisenhower is military commander.

Elsewhere on the political front: Senator Estes Kefauver widened his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination to a six-state campaign with the announcement that he will enter the Massachusetts primary on April 11.

Kefauver in 6 Primaries
The crime-hunting Tennesseean had previously singled out the primaries in Ohio, Illinois, New Hampshire, California and Florida as testing grounds in his avowed "fight-to-the-finish" race against all comers.

Kefauver made the announcement after a group of Massachusetts Democratic leaders visited him on Capitol Hill and invited him to seek delegates to the party's national convention. The state has 36 convention votes.

State Rep. John M. Shea of Worcester, temporary chairman of the Massachusetts Kefauver-for-President committee, told newsmen:

"We came down here in the interest of Sen. Kefauver's candidacy. We came, we saw, and we conquered us. We found him to be a wonderful man."

347 To Be Graduated In Exercises Here Today

Registration Begins Monday In Field House

SUI students will begin struggling through class schedules and waiting lines Monday when registration for the second semester gets underway in the Iowa field house.

Tables will be set up in the north gymnasium and all former students in liberal arts and all students in commerce, education and the graduate college can begin signing for classes Monday.

Engineering, nursing, law and pharmacy students will begin their registration in the offices of the deans.

Only students whose last name begins with letters A to L will be permitted to register Monday, although these students who are unable to come at the scheduled time may register Tuesday.

Students will be admitted to the field house only if they have their permit to register card.

Registrar Ted McCarrel said Friday the enrollment is expected to drop a little below the 7,300 registration of last fall.

This won't be anything new, McCarrel said, because there have been only two increases at mid-year in the 105-year history of SUI.

The number of veterans on the GI bill will drop between 200 and 300, McCarrel estimated. Last fall, 1,300 veterans were registered.

SUI Book Exchange To Open Monday

The student council book exchange for SUI students will open in the ground floor of Schaeffer hall Monday.

All currently used textbooks will be accepted by the exchange. The operating hours of the exchange will be from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4:45 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday.

Books will be accepted for resale Monday through Wednesday. Selling of books will take place Tuesday through Friday. The money for books sold and/or unsold books may be picked up Feb. 11, 12 and 13.

In the operation of the exchange, the council will not actually buy the books and sell them, but will take the books from the student and try to sell them at his price, for a 10 per cent service charge.

Whenever a student turns in a book, he will receive a receipt, and retains it either until the book has been sold or until he is notified to pick it up after the exchange closes.

The cooperative, now operating for the third semester, is strictly for students and not operated for a profit.

Prof. Frederic Higbee Calls 'Time Out'

Long Wait Commencement Worries Ended Now

Prof. Frederick G. Higbee, of the college of engineering can watch SUI's commencement today without worrying about wrong turns by graduates or spectators fainting.

It's the first time in a long while, too. Higbee stepped down as head of convocations Dec. 31, after planning some 25 commencements during the past years.

His careful supervision of each graduation exercise gave down-to-the-minute timing for a smooth performance which came to be widely known on the SUI campus.

Besides organizing the ceremony, Higbee had to be on hand to see that it worked correctly.

"I keep on my toes all during the exercises," he said, "because I had to watch for unforeseen events of all types and see that nothing happens to disorganize the program."

The burden of planning today's commencement fell on Registrar Ted McCarrel, who took over the job of convocations after Higbee announced his retirement Dec. 31 as head of the engineering drawing department.

Higbee's regular retirement will begin after June 30, which will mark 47 years on the SUI faculty.

He is currently acting dean of the college of engineering during the absence of Dean F. M. Dawson, who is on leave of absence as special lecturer at the University of Punjab, Lahore, Pakistan.

Expect Another Baby In June, Says Ingrid

ROME (AP) — Film actress Ingrid Bergman, mother of two children, said Friday she and her film director husband, Roberto Rossellini, are expecting another baby in June.

"We've been planning on the baby right along," Ingrid said in a telephone conversation from her home in Rome. "I hope to make more pictures, but that will be in the fall."

Main Address To Be Given By Prof. Lampe

Commencement exercises for mid-year graduates is scheduled to begin at 1:45 p.m. today when 347 candidates receive their degrees in the Iowa field house.

Among the graduates are representatives of 3 nations, 34 states, 61 Iowa counties, the District of Columbia, Hawaii and the Philippines.

Prof. M. Willard Lampe, director of the SUI school of religion, will deliver the commencement address, entitled, "Peace in Our Time."

Prof. William Coder, director of veteran's service at SUI, will be the master of ceremonies. The SUI band under the direction of Prof. C. B. Righter will furnish the music.

The invocation, which opens the formal part of the program, will be delivered by Prof. Marcus Bach of the university school of religion.

Pres. Virgil Hancher will confer the degrees and then present the traditional charge to the graduates.

The expected audience of 3,000 will join the graduates in the singing of the university hymn, "Old Gold."

The ceremony will be closed by Bach who will give the benediction. Degrees will be conferred on 30 doctor of philosophy candidates, 95 candidates for master's degrees and 118 bachelor's degree candidates.

In addition, 19 degrees will be awarded in law, 29 in engineering, 51 in commerce and 5 in graduate nursing.

The commencement exercises will be broadcast by station WSUI with the traditional on-the-scene account by Prof. Harrison J. Thornton, history department.

Parking facilities will be available on the lots north and south of the field house and police will be on duty to direct traffic.

Registrar Ted McCarrel, who is in charge of the commencement program, reminded candidates Friday that they are to meet at 1:30 p.m. in the armory.

A student marshal will be assigned for each group to help arrange the procession and escort each group to seats.

An emergency room will be set up in room 17 of the armory. The university is providing an ambulance and a nurse and doctor will be on duty from 1 p.m. until the end of the program.

McCarrel said the program will take about an hour and a half.

Truman Names 'Cleanup' Leader

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Truman administration Friday placed its long-heralded "cleanup campaign" against government corruption in the hands of Newbold Morris, a 6-foot 3-inch lawyer from New York who calls himself "an Abraham Lincoln Republican."

Mixed congressional reaction greeted his appointment as a special assistant to the attorney general to investigate the "extent of venality in the federal service."

A number of Republicans and Democrats praised Morris as honest and able, but some Republicans voiced suspicion that this was a "thirteenth hour" attempt of "window dressing."

Expressions Vary
Typical of these expressions of doubt was the remark of Rep. Ernest K. Bramblett (R-Calif.): "I hope this does not indicate a plan on the part of the administration to use Morris as window dressing while it sabotages his effort to clean house."

Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) told newsmen: "It is a splendid selection. Mr. Morris is highly regarded by the bar, throughout the nation, and his selection should be reassuring to the people."

Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.) said Morris' appointment won't save off an investigation of

Newbold Morris Will Head Investigation

General McGrath ordered by the house judiciary committee. Morris is a former president of the New York city council, a socialite and a reformer.

Most Important Job
"This is probably the most important job I will ever have," Morris said as he was sworn in by Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath. The New York lawyer announced that McGrath and President Truman had given him "a completely free hand" in the cleanup campaign and that he will start work at 9 a.m. Monday.

The first federal agency he will investigate, Morris said, will be the justice department. This is the department McGrath himself heads.

Morris made it clear that his powers are that of an investigator and not a prosecutor.

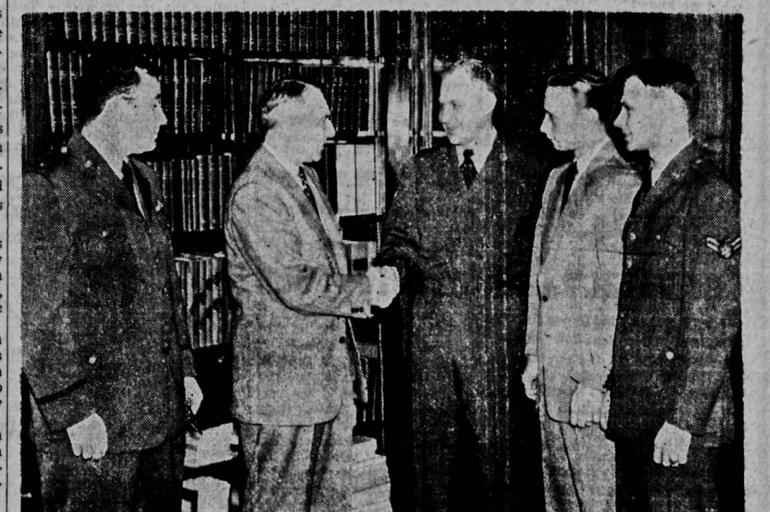

Will Make Reports
He said he will make interim reports to the attorney general, citing cases which appear to warrant prosecution, and that there are 93 federal grand juries to which evidence can be submitted.

In announcing Morris' appointment, McGrath emphasized that the New Yorker "owes no allegiance whatsoever" to the attorney general or the Truman administration.

"I have asked him to undertake this task solely as a service to his country," McGrath said.

Morris' decision to start his investigation with the justice department was especially significant in view of the fact that the house judiciary committee voted earlier this week to conduct its independent investigation of McGrath and his administration of the justice department.

Operation Bootstrap Ends for 4 Servicemen

Chinese Nationalists Fleeing into Burma Poses UN Problem

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst
Burma, demanding help in getting rid of refugee Chinese Nationalist soldiers who fled into her territory during the Communist conquest of Yunnan province, poses a neat problem for the United Nations.

The irregulars, owning allegiance to no authority, have continued their opposition to the Communists from Burmese soil, and on occasion have made forays in considerable force.

Burma is afraid that if this keeps up it will bring the Chinese Communists down on her neck in force. The Burmese government is a frail affair anyway, involved in constant warfare with several rebel factions which are themselves addicted to various forms of communism. The authorities are in no position for a contest with the Chinese Communists in driving the irregulars back and forth across the mountainous border. There was a hint that Burma might invite the Chinese Communists in to stage a clemency, but this has now been directly denied.

Depends on UN
Burma says she is going to depend on the UN in all of her international relations. In that fashion she can hope for international aid against any possible Communist aggression, which is constantly feared. She wants to be in the same position South Korea was in.

But what can anybody do about the irregulars, whose chief support undoubtedly is banditry? They are as elusive as the Huk in the Philippines and the Communists in Malaya. They would be extremely difficult to round up, and if they were there'd be no place to put them.

Intervention is the recognized treatment for soldiers driven into neutral territory by war. But there is no machinery for such handling in such countries as Tonkin, Burma, Siam or eastern India.

The Chinese Nationalist government on Formosa disclaims control or ability to do anything.

Political Aims Conflict
As a matter of fact, there are conflicting political aims involved. The Western powers are interested in everything that interferes with the Chinese Communists. The

Is Experience Best Teacher? Only Part True

The popular saying that "experience is the best teacher" may only be partially true, according to a study reported Wednesday by Boyd R. McCandless, director of the Iowa Child Welfare Research station.

McCandless spoke to a meeting of the Iowa chapter of Sigma Xi, honorary science fraternity, on a recent study made by himself and Leon Levy of Ohio State University. He said the study indicated that persons can more easily solve problems and have less fear of these problems when they come up again if they have first been presented with some general principles for solving them.

Telling Child Helps
For example, a child who has been told by his parents that a stove is hot and that it will burn him will probably learn that fact faster, even though he gets burned once or twice, than the child who must learn by experience alone. He will also learn faster than the child who must learn by experience following explanation of the first burn.

The McCandless-Levy study was performed on three equated groups of college students. During one part of the study the students were shown a series of cards which could be separated into four different types. When one particular type was shown the student received a mild electrical shock in his arm. The object was for the student to learn when to expect a shock.

One of the groups was given a preliminary exercise in which they learned that the cards, could be separated into types, although they were not told at the time that one of the types would be associated with a shock during the next part of the study.

Of the other two groups, one was not given this preliminary exercise until after the "shock" part of the study; and a third was not given it at all.

Groups Responds Faster
The study indicated that the students who were given the preliminary exercise in "differentiation" learned which cards would result in a shock considerably faster than the students who did not receive the "differentiating" exercise.

They also expected significantly less "punishment" from the shock than the other two groups and were more accurate in predicting when this punishment would be forthcoming.

He suggested, however, that it might indicate the wisdom of "giving the child techniques for solving his problems," for example, educating the child in matters concerning sex. He also suggested that the results had some implications for adults, such as the value of orientation programs for persons going to college, entering hospitals or taking examinations.

U.S. has denied Soviet charges that she is helping support the irregulars. Burmese officials say they are getting help from somewhere, but that no country can be named. Any such help is bound to be small. But in a general sense the irregulars are on our side.

More important, however, is to avoid giving Red China any provocation for an invasion of Burma. It might be that an international force could close the China-Burma border to Nationalist forays—and vice versa—as the U.S. fleet is now interposed between Formosa and the Chinese mainland.

But far eastern UN members are already unhappy about Western intervention, and the chances are that nothing will be done.

Movie Actress From Japan Makes Film Bow in U.S.

SHIRLEY YAMAGUCHI poses in native kimono and with fan.

By Central Press
HOLLYWOOD—Upon the graceful shoulders of a pretty doll-like girl rests the distinction of being the first Japanese actress to star in a Hollywood-made picture. She is Shirley Yamaguchi, Japan's most popular movie queen, who very shortly will be unveiled before American audiences in "Japanese War Bride."

Miss Yamaguchi stands exactly five feet in her trim, sandaled feet and wears a short-cropped American bob that comes to a strange but charming contrast to the resplendent Oriental kimonos she wears.

Asked to sum up the impressions of her five-month visit here, she murmured in soft, fluent English, "It was a wonderful experience."

The dominating image Miss Yamaguchi has of Hollywood is its luxury of flawless equipment, streamlined studios, stand-ins and private dressing rooms.

"We never enjoyed anything like that in Japan," she trilled, illustrating the technical difficulties that hamper the Japanese film industry, she explained how "an actress can reach a moment of deep emotion before the cameras only to have to cut it off suddenly for a half day because of some machinery breakdown."

Shirley has played in about 30 native pictures. Her entrance into the movies came by way of radio. A Chinese producer heard her singing on the air one day and signed her to do a musical. A series of films followed and Miss Yamaguchi's movie career was on its way.

The star's first working days in Hollywood were ridden with fear and self-consciousness. Presently, however, the kindly attention of veteran director King Vidor put her at ease and in time it was "like working at home."

Among the Hollywood personalities Miss Yamaguchi became friends with are Charles Chaplin and his wife, Oona. At a party she did the "cha no yu," the traditional 27-minute tea ceremony for them, and in turn, Chaplin leaped into a Japanese dance. The famed comedian, according to Miss Yamaguchi, revealed a startling familiarity with the Japanese dance and movement.

An American custom Miss Yamaguchi acquired is the art of dunking, and her mentor in this was Joseph Bernhard, the producer who signed her to the picture.

One of Miss Yamaguchi's aims here was to talk to as many people as possible and widen her knowledge of America. She observes that the impressions she got were quite different from her imaginings of what the country would be like.

Rather than all Americans being rich, carefree and idle, she found that they "wake up in the morning, go off to work, and try to make a living just as the people of my country do. The reality of America," Miss Yamaguchi learned, "is the same as the Japanese reality, in which life is not all the imagined cherry blossoms, Geisha girls, and so on."

The black-haired charmer, who looks about 25, was asked her age. The question was greeted with a coy, noncommittal smile. Apparently a maiden's age is a precious secret in any language.

Traffic Deaths Hit Record in Germany

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's highway traffic toll hit a record high during the third quarter of 1951 with 2,313 persons killed and 67,045 injured, the federal statistical office announced recently. There were 93,197 accidents, representing a jump of 25 per cent over the same 1950 period.

West Germany has a population of about 48 million. It also has a record number of cars on the road. Motor vehicle registrations at the end of 1951 exceeded 2.6 million. Under prodding of the Allied authorities, German police are campaigning to reduce the toll.

NORTHWESTERN

Similar "hazing" incidents at SUI and Northwestern recently were dealt with in varying manners on the two campuses.

The Northwestern chapter of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity has been placed on social probation for violation of the university's hazing regulations. Action was taken after fraternity members pleaded guilty to two charges of hazing committed during the fall quarter.

In one case, a pledge was taken to the sand dunes area of southern Michigan and "dumped." The other violation occurred when a pledge was left in northwest Illinois one night.

As a result, the fraternity will be allowed only four outside social functions instead of seven for the school year. In addition, the fraternity is not permitted to hold any social functions, including house parties, during the present quarter.

At SUI, Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity was placed on probation in January until June 1 after three of its members, plus a nonfraternity student, "kidnapped" another member of the fraternity and left him stranded about 200 miles from Iowa City in Illinois. The victim was stripped of outer clothing and given a blanket before being "dumped."

In addition, the four students who admitted the "kidnapping" were expelled.

MINNESOTA

A letter to the editor of the Minnesota Daily: "Since we have little opportunity to make contact with feminine students we suggest that photographs and specifications be incorporated within the student address book."

VIRGINIA

The University of Virginia board of visitors has abolished the university's bachelor of science degree in physical education. Abolition of the degree, to which 21 members of the Virginia football team have been working, followed a recommendation by the university senate.

LOUISIANA STATE

The student council of Louisiana State university is investigating possibilities of changing the time of basketball games so that freshman women can attend. At present, all freshmen must be in their dormitories by 8 p.m.

TEXAS, NORTHWESTERN

Ask the University of Texas and Northwestern university. Each of those schools recently acquired that much in lump sums. Texas learned that "most of the $1 million estate" of Andrew Cyrus McLaughlin, an oil developer and ex-Texas student, has been willed for its use. At Northwestern, an ANONYMOUS donor coughed up the million, to be used, along with other gifts, for construction of a new Centennial hall.

But alas, The donor of the million dollars missed the boat by choosing to remain anonymous. For at about the same time, the Kresge foundation of Detroit gave Northwestern a $500,000 grant for the building.

So what will be the name of the new building? Of course, Kresge Centennial hall.

From the NEA Journal:
What to say—
When you are given an objective test: "It doesn't let you express yourself."
When given an essay test: "It's so vague. You don't know what's expected."
When given many minor tests: "Why not have a few big ones? This keeps you on edge all the time."
When given no tests: "It's not fair. How can he possibly judge what we know?"
When every part of the subject is taken up in class: "Oh, he just follows the book."
When you are asked to study a part of the subject by yourself: "Why, we never even discussed it!"
When the course is in lecture form: "We never get a chance to say anything."
When the course consists of informal lecture and discussion: "He just sits there. Who wants to hear the students? They don't know how to teach the course."

Conspiracy Charges Dropped

JACKSON, MISS. (AP) — U. S. District Judge Allen Cox Friday dismissed indictments charging 10 pro-Truman Democrats with conspiring to sell federal patronage, but he overruled motions to dismiss indictments charging four of them with actually selling federal jobs in Mississippi.

Clarence Hood, deposed acting national Democratic committeeman for Mississippi, and pro-Truman committee attorney Forrest Jackson were among those freed of conspiracy indictments. Hood headed President Truman's 1948 campaign in Mississippi after other Democrats bolted the party and organized the States' Rights movement.

Two members of the pro-Truman Mississippi faction pleaded guilty last September to indictments similar to those dismissed Friday.

Fighting Girls Incite Clashes

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — About 800 were arrested and fines imposed totaling 150 head of cattle after a series of clashes among Lak Nuer tribesmen of the Upper Nile province in the Sudan. Two men were killed and 30 wounded in the fighting.

The official Sudan Monthly Record, recounting the incident, said the trouble started at a dance when a policeman tried to arrest two girls for fighting.

SUI Bureau Reports On Trade Area Survey

Retailers in Iowa communities are faced with three types of problems, Wendell R. Smith, head of the SUI marketing department, said at a meeting of the Jefferson Chamber of Commerce earlier this week.

Smith, along with William A. Knoke, assistant professor of marketing, Dick A. Leabo, research associate, and C. Woody Thompson, director of the SUI bureau of business and economic research, gave advance reports on the retail trading area analysis which the bureau recently conducted in Jefferson.

Some problems, like those involving personnel and finance, may best be solved on an individual store basis, Smith said.

Others, including store arrangement, display, and advertising, often depend upon industry-wide research for effective analysis and solution, he said.

A final group of problems are shared by all retailers in a community and their answers depend on acceptance by the retailers of the interdependence of stores.

"Jefferson, or any other trade area center, may be viewed as a huge department store whose overall success depends upon the strengths and weaknesses of its many departments," Smith declared.

He noted that a retail trade area survey discloses a town's strong and weak points. In making such a survey, supervisors from the bureau of business and economic research direct interviewers who ask hundreds of persons in the trade area where they prefer to obtain their clothing, food and drugs, furniture, professional services, entertainment and other needs.

Describing the role of the small town in Iowa, Thompson said the community serves the basic economic activity of the state—agriculture. It is the place where farmers bring their products for sale and from which they take their major needs—farm machinery, seeds, and consumer goods.

Leabo explained the scientific sampling, interviewing, and tabulating techniques used in preparing the trade area analysis. Knoke joined Smith in interpreting slides showing areas covered by representative goods and services from Jefferson.

Thompson said the final report on the Jefferson study would be available after April 1.

The belt is black calf. Right—for cocktails and dinner—the rose-patterned white cotton printed with butterflies and pebbles, a Ben Reis original by Omar Kiam. The full skirt worn over a tulle has its own taffeta petticoat. Like the bodice, the skirt is flamed with a cluster of butterflies fashioned of the fabric with black velvet accents.

Versatile Fabrics, Styles Featured in New Cottons

From the array of resort-time styles comes a hint of the styles of fabrics which will dominate spring and summer cotton wear. Cottons which can be dressed for travel wear or glamourized for evening wear have been produced to the fashion scene this year.

Cotton sportswear is shown in ensembles of swimsuits, beachwear and playsuits in many practical and fancy fabrics.

For travel-wise wear Greta Britny has introduced such styles as interchangeable separates, full-skirted dresses with a flap neckline which buttons up for day and folds down for night-time décolletage.

Emily Wilkens' collection features green plaids and subtle stripes for little suits and full-skirted dresses.

The Benfatto and Kallman collection shows the crisp, "frosted" cotton in an iridescent, sheer cotton shantung.

Playsuit-plus-skirt ensembles in embossed pique, rustic-textured cotton satin and broadcloth are favorites of the Margaret Newman collection.

She features a navy blue broadcloth outfit with a white pique cuff and red stars embroidered on the bodice.

Isabel Dobson has designed a group of garden dresses with matching bathing suits. The dress has a full, shirred skirt, big puffed sleeves and a drawstring, off-shoulder neckline. The swimsuit is strapless and has a dirndl skirt.

Jeanne Campbell features three-piece beach ensembles in menswear suiting in stripes and checks for the sleeveless beachcoat and pants, and black broadcloth for the halter.

Radioactive Iodine Finds Tumors

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new method of diagnosing and locating brain tumors by giving a patient a kind of radioactive cocktail was announced Thursday.

It was described as offering promise of a cheaper, simpler and more effective method than two other techniques which require injection of radioactive material into the patient's veins. A team of University of Minnesota scientists told about it in the technical journal "Science."

A form of radioactive iodine is used in both the older and the new techniques—the idea being that iodine tends to concentrate in tumor tissue than in normal tissue.

Since the iodine is radioactive, the general area where it becomes concentrated can be detected by means of atomic ray detectors such as Geiger counters and "scintillation counters."

Hitherto, radioactive iodine has been administered as a part of a complex dye called "diiodofluorescein." It also has been given in the form of an iodinated compound containing human blood serum albumin.

These are relatively expensive and also must be given by injection. In the new technique, relatively cheap sodium iodine is used and can be taken by mouth. Only a tiny amount is required.

From One Polio Victim to Another

A BIG-HEARTED WRESTLER, "Gentleman Jim" Dobbie, of Des Moines, chats with polio victim Betty Young after giving her the television set shown here. Dobbie, once a helpless polio victim himself, was given the set during a professional match in Cedar Rapids recently. Mrs. Young has been the principal character in the "Bills for Betty" campaign, which has netted over a thousand dollars for the March of Dimes.

'Gentleman Jim' Was a Polio Victim, Too

Wrestler Gives Betty a TV Set

By TOM KLECKA
"Gentleman Jim" Dobbie, a soft-spoken professional wrestler whom doctors 24 years ago gave up as a hopeless polio case, Friday presented Mrs. Betty Young with a $275 television set for her efforts in crusading against the dreaded cripple.
Betty has been fighting the disease from her University hospital bed—both in her own body and in the pain-wracked limbs of other victims.
Her hobby of collecting autographed "short snorter" dollar bills sparked a drive this year that so far has netted the March of Dimes a total of $1,330. Recent acquisitions are signed bills from Michigan Governor G. Mennen "Soapy" Williams and Jimmy Bloodworth, newly named manager of the Cedar Rapids Indians baseball team.

Got Set as a Gift
Friday Jim Dobbie added his tribute to those of other athletes who have boosted Betty's cause. He decided the television set, received as a ringside gift during a Cedar Rapids match, would be of more benefit to Betty and her bedridden companions than to him in his interstate occupation.
While the wrestler's blond wife, Joan, chatted unobtrusively with Betty, Jim ripped the sleeve of his blue serge suit for a host of admiring youngsters that gathered around him.
He had been stricken with polio when he was five years old. Doctors conceded him little chance. Exercise might help, but they couldn't be sure.

'The Hardest Thing'
"The hardest thing was lying there and watching other kids playing outside," he recalled. "You just lie there and watch, fighting hard." His grip tightened on the back of a youngster's wheelchair. "If you really fight," he said, and smiled down at his little fan.
In his tours through the nation, giving moral support to others afflicted as he once was, the mild-mannered athlete once faced another "hopeless case."
"This boy was not supposed to pull through either," he said, "but they kept working on his exercises and I suggested some of my own."
"Six months later he came to one of my matches. I saw him and had to go down and hug the kid. I had tears in my eyes," Jim declared.

Davenport Swamps City, U-High Bows to Mt. Vernon

DAVENPORT — Davenport high's Blue Devils maintained their perfect record in Mississippi Valley conference play here Friday night by running away from Iowa City by an 81-29 margin.
It was the eighth straight victory against no setbacks for the Blue Devils, who are defending conference and state champion. The victory almost assured Davenport of its third straight Valley crown and its fourth title in five years.
The loss busted a four-game victory streak for the Little Hawks and dropped them below the .500 mark in conference competition. City's record stands at four victories and five losses.
Davenport moved to an early lead and was never headed as Coach Paul Moon's state champions built up a 45-17 halftime margin. The Blue Devils maintained their pace during the last two periods to post the lopsided finish score.
Center Carl Widsch paced the Blue Devils' attack with 26 points. Forward Dave Seeboldt was next with 17 markers with guard John Coughlin, newly eligible transfer student from St. Ambrose academy, scoring 10.
The Little Hawks had scoring difficulties during the whole game with forward Don Brennan topping City's scoring on 8 points.

The University high Bluehawks dropped their third Eastern Iowa conference game against six wins to a strong Mt. Vernon team here Friday night, 50-40.
The win was the ninth straight in league play for the Mustangs and assured them of at least a share in the championship. U-high is now tied for second place with Durant and has a season record of seven victories and seven losses.
The big difference between the two squads was the shooting and rebounding of Mt. Vernon's Dick Moore. The lanky center did a tremendous job off both boards and led all scorers with 17 points. Bill Kamerling, who sat out most of the second half with four fouls, contributed 13 points, all in the first period.
For the Blues it was Tom Kent who again supplied the offensive spark with his driving lay-ups. Kent had six baskets and three free throws for 15 points.
U-high trailed at halftime, 31-17, but came roaring back in the third quarter to come within six points of the Mustangs, 32-26.
That was the closest the Blues ever came, as Warren Carney hit two long push shots and Moore a tip-in to sew it up for Mt. Vernon.

Thorpe Puts Indian Sign on Williams

EXPERT ADVICE ON INDIAN WRESTLING is passed on to Boston Red Sox outfielder Ted Williams by a real Indian, Jim Thorpe of Carlisle all-American fame. The two met in New York, on route to Boston where they'll take part in a sportsman's show. Williams said no decision had been made about spring training or early season games for him.

Hawks Are Eager For Action

Seek to Avenge Last Year's Loss to Butler

By JACK JORDAN
Sports Editor
Iowa's Hawkeyes will be out to avenge a defeat of last year's team Monday night when they face Butler at the field house, and they're not expecting an easy time of it.
This is the Hawks' last non-conference games this season, and it will offer the team a chance to work off final week effects and tune up the attack in preparation for the Illinois game next Saturday.
Team Is Anxious
Coach Bucky O'Connor said Friday that his team is "very anxious to get back into competition after the long layoff." He said the boys looked pretty good, with the reservation that he hasn't had a good look at them as a unit since final exams started.
He added, "No doubt the layoff hurt us, but the boys are eager for action and know that it will be a tough ball game. Tony Hinkle, the Butler coach, is one of the best and always plays good ball against a tough schedule."
Ten Years, No Defeats
Butler upset Iowa a year ago at Indianapolis. However, more than revenge for a loss is involved in possible defeat Monday. It has been more than ten years since the Hawkeyes lost to a non-conference team on its home court, and a 54-game streak will be on the line against the Bulldogs.
Butler comes here with a mediocre 5-8 record that is deceiving in itself. Five of their losses have been by an average of three points, and the other defeats were at the hands of powerful Illinois, Northwestern and Indiana.
They lost to Big Ten darkhorse Ohio State by only one point, to Purdue by four and to Notre Dame by six.
May Have Surprise
The Bulldogs may have a surprise package in new reserve center Chuck Englerth, 6-4 at 195 pounds, who has become eligible for the second semester's play. Their top scorer is forward Orvis Burdall, who has averaged 12 points a game. He scored 11 against the Hawks last year.

On the Iowa side of the ledger stands a 12-1 record and an offensive average of 69.1 to the opponents' 59.1. The team has a very good shot percentage at .332 for the 13 games. Center Chuck Darling has a wide edge on the scoring honors with an overall average of 24.5 and a Big Ten pace-setting mark of 25.5.
Bob Clifton is runnerup in that department with 13.5 points per game, and Deacon Davis and Herb Thompson have shown scoring flashes. Ev Cochrane, sidelined by a sore back several weeks ago and held on the bench because of a question as to his remaining eligibility, remains one of the best shots on the team but has not been able to replace the scrappy Davis.
This will be the Hawks' first competition since the loss at Indiana, Jan. 21. They will have a 2-inch advantage in height against Butler.

Williams Will Tell Plans in 2 Weeks

BOSTON (AP) — Slugger Ted Williams Friday said he was undecided about joining the Boston Red Sox for spring training and did not expect to make a definite decision until two weeks hence.
The $125,000-salaried outfielder, recalled to active service as a marine flyer, said he had received word that his 1952 player contract has arrived at his Miami home.
"I won't see it until I return home after the Boston Sportsmen's show closes on Feb. 10," Williams explained. He and Jim Thorpe are the show's headlines.
In the event Williams decides to take spring training he indicated he would not expect any bonuses for playing exhibitions.
"If I decide to report, I'll go through spring training as I always did. The fact that I may be able to play only the first two weeks of the regular season will not prompt me to demand any changes or extra compensation for exhibition games. The Red Sox have been very good to me and I am not going to ask any concessions because I'm going back into the service."

Walcott Gets Fight Extension

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York State Athletic commission took itself off a technical limb Friday by giving heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott more time to sign a title defense against Ezzard Charles.
As far as the commission is concerned, the 38-year-old Camden, N.J., gladiator now has until Feb. 17 or so to sign for a title bout instead of Feb. 5. The Feb. 5 deadline had been set by Commission Chairman Robert Christenberry on Jan. 21.
At the same time the commission held a hearing into the Johnny Saxton-Livio Minelli fight which was stopped in the seventh round at Madison Square Garden last Friday, and cleared all concerned. Minelli's purse of $5,540 was ordered released. Referee Ruby Goldstein stopped the bout in the seventh, awarding a victory to Saxton. The commission said Goldstein's action in halting a "one-sided match" was within his authority.
The commission chairman said a registered letter was sent Friday to Walcott's home in Camden advising him that a bona fide challenge had been filed by Charles.
In the letter the commission warned Walcott that upon receipt of the message he had 15 days to sign for a title defense against Charles. Failure to do so would cost him his title in New York.

Potsy Clark Raps K-State's Actions

LINCOLN, NEB. (AP) — Nebraska Athletic Director George (Potsy) Clark Friday criticized the action of Kansas State college in contacting three Omaha South high school basketball players and enrolling two of them.
Clark said, "It is unfortunate that two kids have to be the goat."
He referred to the fact the two boys enrolled, Stanley Schaezle and Dave Bell, have been declared ineligible at Kansas State after a Nebraska protest of the recruiting.

Robinson Hurts Back, Postpones 2 Fights

NEW YORK (AP) — Middleweight Champion Ray Robinson Friday called off his scheduled title fights with Carl (Bobo) Olson and Rocky Graziano until his back injury is healed.
Manager George Gainford said that Sugar Ray has every intention of going through with the two bouts but not until his ailing back stops bothering him.
"The bouts are just indefinitely postponed," said Gainford.
This was the third postponement of Robinson's bout with Olson. He had been scheduled to fight the Honolulu hopeful in San Francisco Feb. 14. The Graziano clash had been set for Mar. 12 in Chicago stadium.
Dr. Vincent Nardiella, Robinson's physician, said the champion was suffering from a "lumbo sacral sprain" — a sprain of a muscle in the lower part of the back.
In San Francisco, Promoter William Kyne said Friday night that action may be taken against Robinson if he does not appear for the Olson bout.
Abe J. Greene, National Boxing association commissioner, said if the California Boxing commission should take some action in the Robinson case, the NBA "would follow through."

Baseball Immortal in Nebraska

Alexander Buried as 'Pauper'

ST. PAUL, NEB. (AP) — Grover Cleveland Alexander, a baseball immortal who spent the ebb years of his life in virtual obscurity here, was described Friday as "even more forsaken in death."
His remains lie in an almost unmarked grave, the St. Paul Phonograph, weekly newspaper, reported. The only markers are a small white wooden cross and a small identification plate, provided by the mortuary that buried him a year and three months ago.
"There are many beautiful gravestones in Elmwood cemetery," observed editor George Dobry as he told about plans to raise a memorial fund. "but none for Grover Cleveland Alexander."
"It isn't right," he added.
In a story accompanying pictures of what Dobry described as a "pauper's grave," the newspaper invited donations to a fund to give the fabulous pitcher, a member of baseball's Hall of Fame, a fitting resting place.
There was a lot of talk about memorials after Alexander's death Nov. 4, 1950, "but nothing seems to have come of it," said Dobry.
Alexander died in a rented room in a private home here at the age of 63. In nearly 20 years in baseball, he chalked up pitching records that still stand. In 1916 alone he pitched 16 shutouts. He won 373 of 696 games he pitched for the Philadelphia Phillies, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals.
A motion picture based on his life is being produced.

All Iowa Runners Place

Special to The Daily Iowan
MILWAUKEE — Iowa's performance in the Milwaukee Journal games Friday night was "quite successful," according to track Coach Francis Cretzmeier, and he has the prizes to prove it.
The Hawkeyes' mile relay team raced to a 3:24 mark, second only to Illinois' 3:23.8. The Iowans, Gary Scott, LeRoy Ebert, DuWayne Dietz, and Bobby Clark, each received a desk clock for their combined efforts.
Another desk clock went to Ted Wheeler, who took third in the mile run behind Dewey Johnson of Drake and George Lynch, unattached of Ann Arbor, Mich. His time was 4:20.7 compared to Johnson's 4:19.5.
Rich Ferguson of the Hawks took second in the 2 mile run, and won a bronze track shoe. His time of 9:27 trailed the record-breaking mark of 9:15.7 by Don McEwen, Michigan star.

Stranahan Fires 61 In Easy Tucson Open, Ties Riegel for 1st

TUCSON, ARIZ. (AP) — Amateur Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., barely missed equalling the PGA scoring record Friday as he pulled into a tie with Skee Riegel, Tulsa, Okla., at the halfway mark of the $10,000 Tucson Open golf tournament. Both have eight-under-par 132's for the 36 holes.
Stranahan set a new record of 61 for the 6,402-yard par 70 Rio golf and country club course. His 28 for the first nine was also a record.
Riegel, who has never won pro tourney, leap-frogged from 10-way tie for seventh place Thursday's standings. He blew a six-under-par 64 Friday with Thursday.
One stroke behind were three veterans of the tourney: Dave Douglas of Newark, N.J.; Henry Williams Jr., of Kutztown, Pa.; and Joe Moore of White Plains, N.Y.
Tied with 135 were Ralph Blumquist of Los Angeles and Chick Middlecoff of Memphis. They were one of the first day leaders.

Eisenhower Says Sacrifices Are Price of World Peace

PARIS (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said Friday "our resources will be seriously stretched and sacrifices must be made by everyone" before peace can be won in Europe.

Solid progress has been made in the past year, the supreme commander of the Atlantic pact forces reported in a radio broadcast. Still, he said, "This organization is, so far, little more than a skeleton. We now have rapidly to supply it with the muscles and strength for efficient readiness to function."

The general spoke of the British broadcasting company's "Atlantic Alliance" program from his headquarters just outside Paris.

With Europeans as his direct audience, Eisenhower called for greater effort and cooperation by the 12 partners of the Atlantic pact.

"1952 must be a year of even greater total accomplishments than was recorded in 1951," he said. "We must not lose impetus in producing the unified and combined spiritual, economic and military strength which will result in our common security."

The supreme commander's call for a maximum effort came a little more than a year after he took on the European assignment. And it came in the midst of a protracted discussion on how to get West German troops included in the western defense forces. Proponents had hoped that plans for an integrated West European army, including German soldiers, could be presented to a Feb. 16 meeting of the North Atlantic council in Lisbon. A French-German dispute over the Saar now makes this impossible.

Solon Says Treasury Trying To Influence Federal Reserve

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) said Friday he fears the treasury, like a "trojan horse," is trying to win the federal reserve board over to monetary policies which "would be a catastrophe for the nation."

He declared the policies of the treasury and President Truman would lead to "sweeping inflation... disaster." Douglas expressed skepticism over an accord announced last year between the treasury and the reserve board. He said their disagreement "obviously is not over."

The discussion took place at a senate banking subcommittee hearing on the President's nominations of James Lewis Robertson, deputy controller of the currency in the treasury department, and Abbot Lowe Mills, a Portland, Ore., banker, to seats on the reserve board.

Both nominations were approved by the subcommittee, but Douglas did not vote on Robertson's. He said he feared Robertson's treasury connection. Douglas also noted that William Martin, former assistant secretary of the treasury, recently took over as chairman of the reserve board.

The senator, a former economic professor at the University of Chicago, said the reserve board is closely divided and that "a change of one or two votes might be crucial" in any disagreement with the treasury.

Senator A. Willis Robertson (D-Va.), the subcommittee chairman, said he thinks Douglas' fears that the reserve board might become subservient to the treasury are "without foundation."

The treasury-reserve board disagreement was over interest rates. The treasury wanted them kept low, in part because that holds down the cost of maintaining the national debt. It argued the reserve board should buy government securities whenever necessary to keep prices at par.

Vest Pocket Venus 2 N.Y. Doctors Quit Birth Control Group On Hospital's Order

FILM ACTRESS Mona Freeman displays what makes sculptor Yucca Salamunich call her a "Vest Pocket Venus." "Today's woman is a shadow of her former self," he said. He compares Venus de Milo's 14-inch neck, 28-inch waist and 9-inch ankles with Mona's 12-inch neck, 22-inch waist and 6 1/2-inch ankles. "Mona is about three-fourths the size of Venus," says Salamunich.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — Two doctors quit a birth control group Friday by demand of St. Francis Roman Catholic hospital. A third withdrew his aid to the group.

Four other physicians, however, stood pat for the moment under a similar ultimatum from the hospital. Three of them said flatly they would not resign from the Planned Parenthood league.

All seven doctors are non-Catholics. Four are Jewish and three Protestant.

Dr. John R. Rogers, former president of the Dutchess County Medical society, gave in to St. Francis and quit the league. So did Dr. Martin Lieser.

Dr. Paul Lass said he never belonged to the league and so couldn't resign. But he said he rendered some services to the league purely as "a professional courtesy" to its medical director, Dr. William H. Meyer.

"I have agreed to sever such connections," Dr. Lass added.

Dr. Albert A. Rosenberg, Dr. Florence Gottliener and Dr. Gordon McKenzie said they are sticking with the league.

Dr. William Bennett awaited written notice from the hospital and said "The next move is up to them."

"We cannot, to save our lives, understand why the matter came up at this time," Dr. Lass told a reporter. He said hospital officials refused to discuss the timing of the ultimatum.

"There never has been any question of our professional conduct or our social conduct in or out of the hospital," he added.

The Catholic church opposes birth control in any form.

The hospital in this Hudson river city of 41,000 gave the doctors 72 hours to choose between St. Francis and the league.

If they were barred from St. Francis, they still could send their patients there. But they couldn't treat them inside the hospital nor use the hospital's surgical or other facilities.

There is one other hospital in Poughkeepsie, a non-Catholic institution.

The Rev. Msgr. Michael P. O'Shea, dean of Catholic clergy in this area, has called St. Francis' ultimatum "logical and just," adding:

"The hospital is and always will be open to all people, but everyone knows where the hospital stands on the question of birth control."

UN Scores Reds Over Treaty With China

PARIS (AP) — The United Nations assembly Friday upheld, over Russian bloc opposition, a complaint by Nationalist China that Moscow failed to carry out its 1945 treaty of friendship with Chiang Kai-Shek.

The vote for what the Nationalist Chinese called a moral judgment was 25 to 9, with 24 countries abstaining.

Those opposing the complaint were the five Soviet bloc members plus Burma, India, Indonesia and Israel.

The United States favored it. Britain and France abstained.

The vote was preceded by a strong denial by U.S. delegate John Sherman Cooper that the Americans are planning aggression in southeast Asia or helping train Nationalist Chinese forces in Burma's mountains.

Later Russia failed in an open move to bring five iron curtain countries — Bulgaria, Albania, Hungary, Outer Mongolia, and Romania — into the UN.

The assembly voted 22-21 for a Russian resolution asking the security council to reconsider those applications as well as those of nine countries backed by the West — Finland, Italy, Portugal, Ireland, Jordan, Austria, Ceylon, Nepal and Libya.

But the proposal failed to obtain the required two-thirds majority.

Russia made it clear the five iron curtain countries must be admitted with the others in a one-package deal or no one would get in the UN at this time.

SUI Cosmic Balloons Still Missing

No trace has yet been found of a flight of balloons bearing electronic equipment which was sent aloft at SUI Jan. 26.

The balloons carried three geiger counter tubes, a radio transmitter and other equipment designed to measure action of cosmic rays at high altitudes and relay the information back to the ground.

Radio contact was maintained with the balloons until late in the day, at which time they had started to descend about 250 miles east of Iowa City. The balloons had risen to more than 100,000 feet.

A report earlier this week of the balloons being found near Centerville proved to be unfounded, when it was learned that the balloon which landed there belonged to the U.S. government.

While it is in hopes that the balloons will be recovered in a field or tree, Leslie Meredith, G. Iowa City, says that the data which he received by way of the radio was complete and will enable him to conclude successfully a series of experiments which he is conducting under the direction of Prof. James A. Van Allen, head of the physics department, and Melvin B. Gottlieb, physics professor.

Bevan Attacks Cut Of Health Service

LONDON (AP) — Laborite Anurin Bevan charged Friday night that Prime Minister Churchill's Conservative government is using Britain's financial crisis as an excuse to destroy socialized medicine.

In what many politicians regard as his all-out bid to seize control of the Labor party from former prime minister Attlee, the fiery left-winger attacked a government bill which calls for sharp cuts in "free" parts of Britain's tax-supported medical setup.

The Laborites want to try to unseat the Churchill government on the health scheme issue, and Bevan's left-wing followers are booming him as prime ministerial timber.

Passage of the bill, Bevan told the house of commons, would "mean the free health service is dead."

6,000 Truckers Return to Work

By The Associated Press

Some 6,000 of 20,000 truck drivers were sent back to their jobs by AFL Teamsters union officials Friday, but highway shipping remained tied up in the south and a separate walkout paralyzed Chicago's truck terminals.

The drivers struck at midnight Thursday against employers who had not signed new wage agreements to replace expiring contracts.

The Chicago terminals were hit when 4,000 dock workers, members of the Teamsters union, left work in what union leaders termed an unauthorized walkout.

Police said that many who reported for work were told by roving strongarm squads to "lay off if you don't want your heads bashed in."

The dockworkers strike apparently was in protest of a tentative agreement between employers and union negotiators which would grant a 40-hour work week at 48 hours' pay, part of the increase to be conditional upon approval by the war stabilization board.

PLACERVILLE, CALIF. (AP) — A tremendous avalanche was reported Friday to have swept away at least a dozen summer homes on the shores of Fallen Leaf lake, near Lake Tahoe.

The avalanche was at least 700 feet wide, U.S. forest ranger Ed Horsman said.

Horsman said no persons were believed to have been in the homes.

LAFF-A-DAY

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE LONDON Daily Mail carries a story with a British East Africa dateline that should give downtrodden pedestrians a glimmer of hope. Seems a bicyclist was peddling furiously around a blind curve on a highway in Uganda when he ran spang into an elephant, and landed head-over-heels in a bush nearby. The pachyderm, obviously nettled, seized the bicycle in his trunk, whirled it aloft for a few moments, hurled it at the crestfallen bicyclist, and ambled off into the gloaming. Try this system the next time a ten-ton truck bears down on you while you're trying to cross the street on a green light!

"I'm getting mighty exhausted contesting my wife's will," admitted Mr. Hecubar to a confidante. "I never knew she had died," said the shocked confidante. "That's the trouble," sighed Mr. Hecubar. "She didn't."

SUI Speech Student Is Named Minister Of Mennonite Church

LeRoy Kennel, SUI graduate speech student, will be installed as pastor of the Mennonite church at 614 Clark st., Sunday.

Pastor Kennel's appointment was announced this week by the Iowa-Nebraska mission board of the Mennonite conference.

The installation service will be in charge of Bishop Dan Fisher of Kalona, Ia.

Rev. Kennel studied at the Mennonite Biblical seminary in Goshen, Ind., and received his B.A. degree from Goshen college in June, 1951. His home is in Shickley, Neb.

He has been a guest speaker at Morning Chapel, regular weekly feature of radio station WSUI. He has also appeared on the Community Church broadcast over KXIC. He played the role of Joseph in the Nativity scene of the Christmas pageant at the First Methodist church on Dec. 17. Rev. Kennel was a member of the university choir during the past semester.

The Iowa City Mennonite church was established about 20 years ago. The present church building was erected in 1939.

The present congregation of about 125 includes 15 SUI students. The former pastor here was the Rev. Norman Hobbs.

"I want to extend a sincere welcome to the people of Iowa City and especially to the university students to attend Sunday services," Pastor Kennel said.

Discussion Set On Gas Move

City Manager Peter F. Roan and the city council will meet this morning with representatives of the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company, to discuss the utility's proposed ordinance on regulation of natural gas consumption in this area.

The ordinance, proposed by the utility company several months ago would authorize them to control the amount of natural gas used for space-heating purposes.

Several persons and groups have protested that such regulations would give the company the power to control the amount of gas to consumers now serviced by the firm.

Robert H. Lind, manager of the utility company here said that the ordinance would not limit the amount of gas provided to current consumers but rather would protect them by preventing an over-stretching of the supply by new installations.

Lind said that the ordinance was needed so that the numbers of new homes and businesses wanting gas service can be controlled.

Coleman Honored For Printing Book

"American Sampler," an anthology of poetry designed and printed by Prof. Carroll Coleman, SUI school of journalism typographer, was named monthly choice for January, 1952, by the New York book clinic, a publishers' group.

Clinic members make their choice on the basis of excellence in typography. Any book published in the preceding 30 days is eligible.

Coleman printed the book at his home press, The Prairie Press, in Iowa City. The volume was cloth-bound in brown and black and printed from hand-set Bulmer type.

The 5 1/2 by 10 inch pages were of Arak book paper, which resembles 18th century hand-made paper.
