Steel Executive Asks That Lid Be Kept On Wages

Says Increase Would Lead to Price Rises

NEW YORK (AP) - The head of United States Steel said Monday the government would lose 11 billion dollars in income tax revenues if there were general wage boosts in all industries without price increases.

That, said Benjamin F. Fairless, would mean more inflation, eventual price rises anyway, and possibly prolonged cuts in civilian production and growing unemployment.

Calls Idea Cockeyed He called the whole idea "cockeyed" economics in any man's language.

Fairless opened the steel industry's arguments before a federal wage stabilization panel, which is trying to avert a steel strike threatened for Feb. 23.

"So let's not try to kid ourselves about 'absorbing' a wage increase," Fairless said. "The plain, unvarnished truth of the matter is this:

Would Have To Hike Prices "If the government lifts the lid on wages now, it will ultimately have to lift the lid on prices, too if for no other reason than to protect its tax revenues and to maintain its own income. It will have no other course."

Fairless said union wage demands—without price boosts—would cut U.S. Steel revenues and would "reduce by about 60 per cent the amount of the federal income tax which U.S. Steel will have to pay if there is no wage increase."

Applying this figure to industry in general, Fairless said "the net loss to the government could be conservatively estimated at 11 billion dollars."

Economist Testifies A New York University economist, Jules Backman, testified for the industry that steel workers got a big enough wage increase in 1949-50 cents—to cover the increased cost of living up to the present.

CIO President Murray said in a prepared statement: "In his testimony today, (Monday) Mr. Fairless quite frankly admitted that inflationary pressures come not from wage increases, but from the heavy government expenditures necessary for building the defenses of this nation."

"Mr. Fairless suggests, without a rational explanation, that a wage increase in steel would deprive the government of taxes being paid by the steel corporations.

"This claim cannot be proven, but it is interesting to find U.S. Steel—which complains about the so-called terrifying burden of taxes of 365 days a year and 366 days on leap year—suddenly manifesting a positive passion to pay taxes."

26 Crewmen Safe After Vessel Sinks

MOREHEAD CITY, N. C. (AP) - Twenty-six grimy crewmen abandoned their storm-broken freighter Monday only to be pitched into the raging Atlantic by the splintering of their life boat 50 yards off shore. They survived both predrawn ordeals without injury.

The half clad band, sickened by sea water and worn by the losing, all-night battle against the storm-whipped sea, dragged to safety through the bounding surf on barren Portsmouth Island. There coast guardsmen met them.

The captain was the last to leave the 2,000-ton Panamanian freighter Miget, which later washed about one mile inshore and broke up on reefs. The vessel became helpless in gales Sunday when water entered its fuel lines. Portsmouth Island, a graveyard for many ships through the centuries, lies 20 miles southwest of Cape Hatteras in North Carolina's string of treacherous barrier reef islands.

Capt. Rudolph Von Tangen of Bedford, N. J., said all power failed because of watered fuel and that he couldn't get her out into the ocean away from the rocky coast. She started cracking about a mile from shore, and he gave the order to abandon ship at 2:55 a.m. One lifeboat broke apart as it was lowered, and the crew crowded into the remaining one. It bobbed like a cork and then split in the surf. The men jumped out and waded ashore.

Local Police Show No Favoritism

A HIGHWAY PATROL CAR parked on Iowa avenue Monday gave many Iowa City passersby a sign of justice at work and the last laugh. Pinned to the windshield by the wiper blade was an overtime parking ticket, indicating that the patroller of Iowa highways could not expect any more leniency than Mr. Average Citizen.

Arms Goals Sighted For 1954, Says Lovett

WASHINGTON (AP) - Secretary of Defense Lovett told congress Monday that under present planning the nation will reach most of its present rearmament goals by the end of 1954.

Budgetary limitations will not permit completion of the proposed air force expansion by that time, he said, nor will all naval aircraft be ready.

But the new 52 billion dollar defense budget "permits us to go ahead toward our peak month's production rate in 1953 and then hold a high rate longer than we would otherwise do," Lovett told a joint meeting of a senate appropriations subcommittee and the senate-house economic committee.

Cuts Are Risks The defense secretary said only a substantial cut in the budget for fiscal 1953 would "increase beyond the realms of prudence the calculated risks already taken."

Lovett also said the U.S. has jet aircraft "in test" which are superior to anything of Russian make which has shown up in Korea so far. "We are reinforcing our air strength in Korea," he testified.

"We have speeds so fast now that the human eye and human brain can't handle it," he said, adding that new mechanical operations are needed to coordinate operation of new aircraft types.

Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.) drew Lovett's attention to the fact that the armed services had 80 billion dollars of unexpended past appropriations on Jan. 1.

25 Billion Spent Quickly Lovett said about 25 billions of this would be spent before the end of June.

Lovett said much of the money being requested for 1953 would not be spent until 1954 or 1955 because of the great length of time required to produce a war-

Rallying GOP's Accuse Demos, Eat

WASHINGTON (AP) - Republicans hammered at the Truman administration at a Lincoln day rally Monday, accusing the Democrats of leading the nation "to the brink of disaster" at home and in foreign relations.

A cheering crowd estimated at about 8,000 persons packed Georgetown university gymnasium to hear GOP party leaders charge that the Democrats under President Truman have fostered inflation, corruption in government, and a stalemate war in Korea. The enthusiastic Republicans whooped it up for the party cause and munched at $1 chicken box suppers on the side.

On the whole, intra-party differences were checked at the door but there were friendly rival demonstrations by backers of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination.

A catering service said it had delivered 8,000 box suppers to the rally and that all of them had been distributed early in the scheduled six-hour program.

COUNTERFEIT RING BROKEN CHICAGO (AP) - The secret service announced Monday it has smashed an international counterfeit ring.

A Day To Remember

IONIA, MICH. (AP) - Between 9 and 10 a.m., on Feb. 3, 1950, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Millard Jr., had their first child, Thomas James. On Feb. 3 last year, also between 9 and 10, they had their second child, Mary Carole. Well, Monday was Feb. 3, 1952. At 9:27 a.m. Mrs. Millard bore their third child, Lee Ann.

Drake Studies Racial Issue In 2 Professional Sororities

DES MOINES (AP) - Drake university said Monday it will withhold comment on the barring of Negroes by two professional music sororities until it has talked with persons involved.

Two Drake coeds said they have resigned from the local chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon because of an "unwritten law" forbidding Negro sorority members.

President Henry G. Harmon said he has called a conference on the matter and will look into the rules of two music sororities on the campus.

The coeds, Marianne Schneider, 18, sophomore, and Virginia Lee, 23, junior, both of Des Moines, said no particular Negro girl was involved in their resigning.

Miss Schneider said she learned of the rule about two months ago and had been informed that the local chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, the other professional music sorority at Drake, also had such an agreement.

Dorothy Luft, 21, Storm Lake, president of Mu Phi Epsilon at Drake, said the national organization had instructed local chapters not to accept Negroes until a national vote on the issue was taken.

Officers of Sigma Alpha Iota also said it had a similar rule that awaits final settlement at a national level.

AWOL Serviceman Number 1 Suspect In Kidnapping Case

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) - The U.S. army and German police Monday night put out a vast dragnet for an American soldier absent without official leave as the No. 1 suspect in the kidnaping of an 18-year-old American girl.

The gunman, who snatched the girl at pistol point from her two soldier escorts, abandoned her in a stolen car Sunday night. An army public information officer at the Frankfurt military post said Monday night the girl, pretty, red-haired Mamie Ruth Shelton, had been "molested but not violated" in the half hour her kidnaper sat beside her in the stalled car before he fled on foot.

Stars and Stripes, army newspaper, said the abductor, who was wearing a U.S. army uniform, had ordered the girl to undress after the car had stopped in a lonely wood. The paper said the man had abused the girl for a half hour but did not criminally assault her.

The desperado, who spoke fluent English and said he was a prison fugitive, evaded more than 100,000 American military and German civilian police after his trail faded in a wood near here.

Orders were issued to "shoot to kill if necessary" in the widespread hunt for the wanted man, described as a squat, ruddy-faced holdup expert brandishing a .45 automatic.

High Officials Pay Tribute to Ickes

WASHINGTON (AP) - Public officials paid tribute Monday to Harold L. Ickes, turbulent former secretary of the interior, who died Sunday night at the age of 77.

Ickes once said of himself: "If a man worked hard at it, he couldn't get a bigger list of enemies than I."

But President Truman called him "a unique figure in American public life... a many-sided citizen whose passing leaves a void in our national life not easily filled."

Senate leaders characterized the man who held the office of secretary of the interior longer than any other man—from 1932 to 1946—as "a true statesman," a "fighting heart" pledged to the service of the people, a man of "monumental" public service, one who "fought for the underdog."

He will be buried privately Wednesday in Friends Meeting House cemetery at Sandy Spring, Md.

'Miss SUI' Selection To Begin Next Week

Selection of candidates for "Miss University of Iowa" will begin next week and will provide the kickoff for a three-week campus-wide pageant contest.

The Hawkeye, SUI yearbook, is sponsoring the beauty selection with the cooperation of several campus organizations and has planned a week of special events in the selection of the Hawkeye queen.

Plans for the campus-wide event were completed Monday and housing unit representatives are expected to gather at the Hawkeye office Friday to hear an outline of the program.

Queen candidates will be selected much the same way as candidates in the Most-Eligible-Bachelor contest, with one representative from each housing unit.

The difference in selection is at Currier and Westlawn where additional candidates will be selected because of the larger population in the two dormitories. Currier will be entitled to 13 representatives and Westlawn, 5.

The identity of the 34 queen candidates will be kept secret until the "Beauty Revue," Feb. 25 at a post-game party at the Iowa Memorial Union.

"Miss University of Iowa" will be announced the following Friday at the annual Club Cabaret, all-campus party sponsored by the Central Party committee.

Judging will be done Friday, Feb. 29, the day of the dance, with the queen determined by an all-campus election. Only men students will be allowed to vote.

The week of Feb. 25 to 29 has been set aside as "Pageant Week" and will feature activities designed to get full participation by the student body.

Franciscan Friar Says Photo Is His Not Bormann's

ROME (AP) - A brown-robed Franciscan friar who says he's never been outside Rome province in his 76-year life Monday identified as his own, a photograph which a former Berlin Nazi said was of a disguised Hitler henchman, Martin Bormann.

Father Antonio Romauldi Antonuzzi told reporters the photo was taken of himself "about a month ago on the street by a group of three tourists whom I did not know."

Eberhard Stern, a German right-wing leader, said the picture was of Martin Bormann, hiding in a monk's costume.

Bormann was reported by various high Nazi sources to have died during the final days of World War II. He was sentenced to death in absentia at the Nuernberg trials and since then has been reported at various times and without confirmation, in Italy, Soviet Russia, Spain and Argentina.

Search Turns South For Trunk Murderess

PHOENIX, ARIZ. (AP) - Search for the fugitive trunk murderess, Winnie Ruth Judd, turned toward the Mexican border Monday but there were virtually no clues.

Only a few vague reports of women generally resembling the red-haired "tiger woman" of two decades ago had been received since she slid down a 48-foot rope and escaped from the state hospital for the insane here Saturday night.

A petition asking an ordinance giving the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company power to enforce reasonable rules governing the granting of new gas permits in Iowa City was tabled indefinitely.

In other action the council approved a petition asking that the city grant free parking to disabled veterans who are amputees. The request, filed last week by Eldon R. Kesselring and Robert W. Hess of the Disabled American Veterans, Old Gold chapter No. 19, of Iowa City, estimated that there are only six or eight such veterans in Johnson county.

The council referred to the zoning and planning committee a proposed donation by Miller Sales and Service company of 12 acres of land north of highway 1 for the purpose of extending Orchard st. so that it would connect with the highway.

COURT REVIEWS TREASON WASHINGTON (AP) - The supreme court agreed Monday to review the case of Tomoya (Meatball) Kawakita, a Japanese-American convicted of treason and sentenced to die in San Quentin prison's gas chambers.

Records of the justice department indicate that no person has ever been executed for treason by the U.S. government. Death sentences have been imposed but none carried out. Higher courts have always granted clemency or reversals.

Formal Registration Ends Today

(Pictures on Page 6) Second semester registration for most SUI students will end today, and the brief vacation they may have enjoyed will be over at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday.

New students and students whose last names begin with the letters M to Z will register today, although students who should have registered Monday may sign up today.

Registration, which is being held in the north gym of the Iowa field house and offices of the deans, will end at 3 p.m. today, an hour earlier than Monday.

Discussion Of Some Items Shoved Aside

MUNSAN, Korea (TUESDAY) (AP) - Allied and Red negotiators crept closer toward a Korean armistice Monday than in weeks.

There was optimism in some quarters that an early settlement could be reached.

The official United Nations command spokesman, Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, summed it up: "There is less cause for pessimism."

Nuckols said he felt the chances for an armistice had greatly improved in the past few days.

Sides Still Disagree While the atmosphere appeared to be clearing after the long stalemate, a hard core of disagreement on fundamental issues had been shoved aside only temporarily.

On Wednesday a full-dress meeting of the main armistice delegations was scheduled for the first time since Dec. 4. It will begin discussions on agenda item five - recommendations to the governments concerned for final settlement of the Korean problem.

Indicates Armistice Hopes Red agreement to consider this final item was indicative that "they have hopes of an armistice," said Nuckols.

These spokesmen cautioned, however, that major points were yet to be settled on these two issues.

The UN command communique Monday night was in similar vein. Referring to prisoner exchange talks, it said there were "numerous areas in which agreement can be easily reached," but said the Allies still held firm to the principle of voluntary repatriation.

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby, handling the prisoner issue for the UN, said "We are still 180 degrees apart on two questions" (voluntary repatriation and safeguards for the exchange of civilians), but added:

"For the first time I think we are in a position to settle the nuts and bolts of this situation. I think we can write the rest of the agreement."

editorial Communism Vs. Capitalism

About 20 miles west of Iowa City there is a group of small towns which collectively are known as the Amanas. They were founded almost 100 years ago as a religious communist group.

In 1931 the population decided to shift to a capitalistic system for a trial period of 20 years. At that time one share of stock, valued at $50, was issued to each voting member.

Last week the question of whether they would remain capitalistic or return to their communistic way of life came up for voting.

Of the 761 voting stockholders in the society, 633 of them were present at the meeting. These stockholders now hold shares valued at $3,135.47 each.

The outcome of the meeting was a unanimous decision in favor of capitalism.

The interesting aspect of the Amanas action is that under religious communism they were able to get along, but under capitalism they were able to improve their standard of living.

Insofar as this is a realistic and not a hypothetical case, the preference of capitalism over communism by a group which was free to choose either, should be discouraging to those who are constantly screaming about the deficiencies of America.

Those Americans who are fed up with democracy and our capitalistic way of government would probably be just as fed up with communism. (In fact, probably more so after they have lived in a democracy for a while.)

At least in America the people can decide for themselves the kind of government they want.

Interpreting the News —

Economic Data Shows Russ War Preparations

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

A lot of people throughout the world still are unable to decide whom to believe — Russia or the Western powers — about this matter of war intent.

For many of them, it's merely a matter of the pot calling the kettle black, and a situation where they seek only to keep out of the way of both sides.

Figures Show Truth

The past weekend, however, has brought the publication of figures as good as any which are likely to be obtained showing who is preparing for war and who is reacting in self-defense.

The Soviet Union, says the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe (ECE), is devoting more of its resources to military preparations than it did during the feverish year of 1940, after war had broken out in Europe.

In 1951, the report said, the Soviet devoted two thirds more to military preparations than it did to defense and all other investment in its economy in 1937, when it was known to be arming at a greater rate than any other nation in the world.

Result is Awesome

When you stop to think that in the Soviet Union all investment in economic development is government investment, the result becomes awesome. Seventy-five per cent of the entire national investment budget, not nationwide investment.

Based on Calculated Risk
Yet even this stepped-up American program is based on a calculated risk of what is estimated as essential for defense.

The Russian figures show few gains for many years in agricultural production and consumer goods, despite rapid population increases, where American consumer production has been at an all-time peak in an economy which already surpassed, in that respect, all the rest of the world.

But when, at the close of 1951, U.S. authorities decided Russia would probably not strike immediately, the war program was "spread" from three to four years in order not to interfere with private consumption and the country's long-term economic strength.

ROTC to Present 50th Military Ball Feb. 15 in Union

The fiftieth annual military ball, presented by the SUI Reserve Officers Training Corps, will be held Feb. 15 in the main lounge of the Iowa Union.

This golden jubilee edition will feature a candle-light cabaret theme with tables surrounding the dance floor and novel souvenir programs. The music will be furnished by Bill Meardon's orchestra.

During intermission the honorary cadet colonel and her attendants will be announced, as well as the appointments of the new ROTC cadet student officers.

Based on academic achievement as well as military proficiency, the appointments are the final promotions to key positions in the SUI cadet corps.

The honorary cadet colonel will be selected from 10 candidates representing various women's housing units. Only single senior women were eligible, and each had to qualify scholastically and meet extra-curricular activity participation requirements.

A secret ballot of all senior ROTC students picks the winning candidate. Four runner-ups will act as attendants and will receive the honorary rank of lieutenant colonels.

The finalists candidates are: Marianne Craft, Hudson, Anne Gilson, Kirkwood, Mo., Helen Hays, Iowa City, Charlotte Hess, Des Moines, Joyce Horton, Osage, June Marken, Des Moines, Mona McCormick, Cleveland, Ohio, Florence Ann Schuck, West Point, Ellen Sideman, Des Moines, and Ruth Swanson, Red Oak.

Attendance will be limited to ROTC students. Since only 400 tickets are available, they will be sold on a first-come, first-serve basis. The $2.50 admission price will include refreshments and cigarettes.

PICTURED ARE THE FIRST OF 19 candidates for Interfraternity Pledge Queen. The queen and her four attendants will be selected by Gardner Cowles, president of the Cowles Publishing Company, Des Moines. They will be presented Friday evening at the annual Interfraternity Pledge prom. Jimmy Smith's orchestra will play for the dance, which will be held at the Iowa Union from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. The other candidates will be pictured in The Daily Iowan this week.

Chorus To Perform Mozart's Requiem

The University chorus directed by Prof. Herald I. Stark will present two concerts during the second semester.

The first scheduled for April 2, will feature a performance of the Requiem Mass by Mozart; the second, on May 14, will present selected choral music ranging from the early Italian composers to contemporary writers.

First rehearsal for the second semester chorus will be held 7:15 p.m. Thursday. Additional membership is still needed for the chorus. Anyone interested in joining should report to room 103, music building, or call Ext. 2278.

The Requiem Mass utilizes a quartet of soloists, chorus and orchestra. Left unfinished by Mozart at his death, the Requiem was completed by Franz Sussmayer and first performed by order of Count Walsegg, for whom it was composed, on Dec. 14, 1793.

The opening Requiem and Kyrie, Mozart had written out in full score. The next five movements and the vocal lines complete with figured bass and the suggested instrumentation.

Sussmayer developed the Lacrimosa from the twelve opening measures. The Sanctus, Benedictus, and Agnus Dei, were missing altogether. So skillfully was the Mass completed that the contributions of Sussmayer are hardly discernible.

The concert program April 2 will include one or two other works combining chorus and orchestra to be announced later.

Hawkeyes Tip Butler, 58-57

Final Outcome Unknown Until After Last Gun

By JACK JORDAN
Sports Editor

Iowa beat Butler, 58-57, Monday night, but not until the game was over.

After a full-game uphill battle against the Indians, the Hawkeyes stood around for several minutes after the final gun had sounded before the decision was reached that Chuck Jarnagin had fouled a Butler man after the gun, thereby nullifying a proposed free throw.

The Iowans, trailing a large portion of the contest, despite Chuck Darling's 31 points, finally caught the Bulldogs for good with three minutes remaining on a fielder by co-captain Bob Clifton. On the next play, Chuck Darling was fouled.

Big Chuck's free throw was good, making the score 58-57, and the Hawks successfully froze the ball the remaining three full minutes. The foul in question occurred as Jarnagin drove in for a shot and was called for charging.

The decision as to whether the foul was before or after the time had run out rested with timekeeper Waldo Geiger, not with the referee. Jarnagin sustained several bruises, possibly aggravating a high school wrist injury.

The unusual ending was only typical of the entire game on the part of rusty Iowa. Playing their first game since the defeat to Indiana Jan. 21, they were ahead only four times and never by more than two points.

Iowa's shot percentage for the evening was a cold 28, compared to their overall average of 33 plus. At the same time, they were trying to cope with a Butler offense that made 36 per cent of their attempts on the foreign court.

Iowa staged their first important comeback midway in the second quarter. After trailing 20-18 at the end of the first period, they lagged to a 28-18 deficit before outscoring the Bulldogs, 10-0, to knot the score.

The hot water was not turned off, though, and at the end of the third frame the Hawkeyes trailed, 52-44. The crowd of 8,300 came to life for the first time with the realization that Iowa was in trouble.

Skip Greene, Clifton, Deacon Davis and Darling all contributed to the last quarter rally that saw the Hawks overcome a lead of 57-49 with seven minutes left in the game. After Darling's free throw three minutes from the end, the Bulldogs fouled frequently in order to get the ball, but Iowa elected to take it out of bounds each time.

Big Chuck's total came on 10 field goals and 11 free throws, and raised his average per game to an even 25. Clifton was second in Iowa scoring with 10, followed by Davis' 8.

Butler's scoring was spread evenly, with ball-hawk Mike Radkovic leading at 15. Keith Greve got 12 for the losers, and Don Holloway 11.

They Reached All Night

STRIKING A TYPICAL POSE FOR THE EVENING, Herb Thompson (25) and Chuck Darling (27) try to get their hands on the ball during the first quarter of the Iowa-Butler game Monday night. Iowa squeaked by the Indianapolis quintet by freezing the ball during the final three minutes after Darling's free throw made it 58-57.

Robbie Gets a New First—TV

NEW YORK (AP)—Jackie Robinson, the Brooklyn Dodgers' second baseman who was the first Negro to play modern major league baseball, added another "first" to his list Monday when he signed a two-year contract as a radio and television executive.

Robinson will serve as "director of community activities" for WNBC and WNET, the key radio and television stations of the National Broadcasting company in the metropolitan New York area.

Robinson said they will be closely related with his work with boys, which he has been doing at the Harlem YMCA, and would enable him to expand such work.

He also said they would not interfere with his baseball career because "if I lose effectiveness in baseball, I lose it here, too. My importance to kids is in being able to play baseball."

Robinson will not begin his new work until the Dodgers return from spring training in mid-April and he plans to devote only an hour or two each day to it during the baseball season.

As director of community activities, Robinson will plan programs of interest to youth, working in close cooperation with schools, social agencies such as the Police Athletic league, YMCA, etc.; appear on the air as a performer; fill speaking engagements, and will work with the merchandising department of the stations as a "pepper-upper" of sales.

Fain Holds Out

OAKLAND, CALIF. (AP)—Ferris Fain, leading hitter in the American league last year, thinks his .344 plate average entitles him to the salary raise he is asking.

The star first sacker of the Philadelphia Athletics hasn't signed his 1952 baseball contract. He wouldn't disclose the salary hike he has requested but said "What I'm asking for won't break the club."

Fain was one of the guests Monday at the weekly meeting of the baseball writers at the Oakland club.

"I want more money," he said, "I feel that I've earned what I'm asking for."

GAVILAN KEEPS TITLE

MIAMI, FLA. (AP)—Cuban Kid Gavilan clung to his world welterweight title Monday night by a razor thin margin, winning a split 15-round decision over underdog Bobby Dykes of San Antonio at Miami stadium.

Movies of the Washington State-California game of last fall were viewed by club members at the close of the meeting, which was at the Jefferson hotel.

Hawks Slip to 9th In AP Poll; Kentucky Holds 1st, K-State 2d

NEW YORK (AP)—Iowa's Hawkeyes slipped to ninth place in the ninth weekly Associated Press poll Monday as Kentucky's rampaging Wildcats polished off Vanderbilt, Auburn and Notre Dame within six days to retain their first place rating.

Adolph Rupp's blue grass quintet, riding high with an 11-game winning streak that stretched its season record to 17-2, racked up 41 first place votes as 115 sports writers and sportscasters from coast to coast cast their ballots. The Wildcats beat Tulane, 103-54, on their home court several hours after the ballots had been counted.

Kentucky picked up 811 points to edge out Kansas State and Illinois, a pair of powerful midwestern fives. The Kansas speedboys attracted 23 first place votes to retain their runner-up spot with 751 points. Illinois remained third with eight first place nominations and 705 points. Kansas State's record is 13-3 and the Illini have a 13-1 mark.

St. Bonaventure and Duquesne, the nation's only unbeaten major fives, each moved up as Kansas fell from fourth to sixth. The Bonnies, who added Loyola of Chicago to its list of 13 victims, jumped from fifth place to fourth. Duquesne (15-0), climbed two notches into fifth place. The Bonnies drew a dozen first place ballots and garnered 558 points to 10 No. 1 votes and 524 points for the Iron Dukes.

Jersey Joe Wants To Meet Marciano For Championship

MIAMI, FLA. (AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott, who wants to sidestep a return match with Ezzard Charles because of its dubious cash value, offered Monday to meet Rocky Marciano for the heavyweight title in May or June.

Walcott's manager, Felix Bocchiechio, made that proposition to Jim Norris, head of the International Boxing club, and Norris seemed interested. He said he would ask Charles' managers to fly to Miami to talk it over.

"If Charles is willing to let Marciano have the first crack at the title, I'm interested in that," Norris said. "I'm recommending that Jake Mintz and Tom Tannas (Charles' managers) come down here, or we'll meet them in New York or anywhere else."

In Pittsburgh Mintz said neither he nor Tannas is interested in any meeting. Mintz said he can speak for Tannas and himself in stating: "The only thing we are interested in is for Walcott to fulfill the contract he has with us. All we want is for Jim Norris to announce the date and place for Walcott to meet Charles."

Bump Elliott Claims Advantage over Evy

COACH FOREST EVASHEVSKI (center) wasted no time Monday in going over details of the coaching staff after the arrival of Bump Elliott (right) his new backfield coach. On the left is Bob Flora, line coach, the third member of the still incomplete grid staff. Elliott is also looking for a place to live, but claims an advantage over Evy in that he has on ly one child compared to the latter's four.

Evy Plans To Build Team On Scholastics—Not Money

By BOB HESS

Forest Evashevski, Iowa's new football boss, was guest speaker at the Iowa City Quarterback meeting Monday and told club members he's not interested in a "get-rich-quick" policy.

"In building a football power," Evashevski said, "you can't go out and buy a team and expect to have permanent success."

He said his staff is interested in selling SUI as an educational institution for the boys who have academic pursuits and then building Iowa's football future from that.

Just Wants Time

"All we are asking," the new coach continued, "is time to get the job done and I ask you to bear with us until we can get the personnel we want."

Evashevski said he advocates work programs for athletes "because any boy who receives aid should do something to get that aid."

In briefly outlining his plans for next fall, Evy explained why the single-wing will be the main style of attack for the Hawkeyes.

"I have spent about 15 years studying the single-wing and I don't want to try something I know so little about."

Will Play 11 Best

"We will play the 11 best men on offense and the 11 best men on defense regardless of past performance. If some of our offensive players are also our best defensive players, then we will play both ways."

Evashevski recalled the "prosperous" years of Iowa football under Howard Jones and Dr. Eddie Anderson and said it is his hope that Iowa will gain respectability in the Big Ten once again.

Evashevski introduced his assistants, Bob Flora and Chalmers (Bump) Elliot and said he is very proud of his coaching staff.

He said two other football assistants will be named soon.

Likes Midwest People

"It's a real pleasure to be back in Iowa City and the Midwest," Evashevski said. "I left Washington State and what many thought was next year's Rose bowl team because I wanted to live in the Midwest. I like the people better."

Evashevski closed his speech on this note: "If hard and sincere effort gets the work done, then it shall be done."

Douglas Quits All Coaching

Ben Douglas, who Sunday turned in his resignation as assistant SUI football and basketball coach, announced Monday he would try his hand at private business.

Douglas said he plans to leave the university at the end of the basketball season and step in as representative of a firm in St. Louis. He would not name the company.

In his resignation letter to Athletic Director Paul Brechler, Douglas said, "I appreciate the offer to remain at Iowa, and under ordinary circumstances would like to accept. However, I do have an opportunity which I feel that I cannot at present turn down." He had been offered a chance to stay as basketball assistant.

Head Basketball Coach Frank "Bucky" O'Connor complimented Douglas several times this season on his scouting, attributing a large part of the Hawkeyes' basketball

Student, Teacher Challenge First-Day Registration

SORRY YOU'RE 15 MINUTES TOO EARLY campus policeman Irving Stoner tells Phyllis Channer, N.I. Oelwein, when she arrived at the field house Monday. Students were admitted at half hour intervals. Most completed their registration in 30 minutes although some took longer because of schedule difficulties.

NURSING COURSES aren't the only items on Phyllis' schedule. Here she enrolls in English and American masterpieces, a literature course.

IT WAS A LONG DAY for faculty members who represented their respective schools and colleges at registration. Here E. W. Hills, professor and director in the general business sequence of the college of commerce, chats with Prof. Louis L. Irwin also of general business over a cup of coffee.

PROF. R. L. SHRINER of the chemistry department examines Phyllis' schedule before enrolling her. The chemistry course Phyllis signed up for is required for a degree in nursing.

PART OF HILL'S DUTIES Monday was enrolling students and giving advice to them. He is shown with Charles Cutler, C3, Sioux City. Cutler is signing the class roll list for the course. Registration will be completed today and second semester classes begin Wednesday morning. Enrollment figures will not be available for about one week.
