SUI Pays Tribute To Prof. Briggs; Rites To Be Today

SUI officials, including President Virgil M. Hancher, paid tribute Monday to Prof. John E. Briggs, 61, a member of the political science department since 1918. Prof. Briggs died Saturday afternoon, following a heart attack at his home at 336 Beldon.

Prof. John E. Briggs
Death Ends Long Career

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. today at the First Presbyterian church, with burial in Oakland cemetery.

Hancher Pays Tribute

President Hancher called Prof. Briggs "a loyal and distinguished member of his university, a faithful friend to students and an outstanding citizen."

"He loved students, most of all as individuals, with individual hopes, fears and ambitions. He was my close friend for more than 37 years, and I know that he affected the lives of hundreds of Iowa students in the same good way he affected mine."

Other Professors Comment

Prof. Kirk H. Porter, head of the political science department, said:

"I am at a loss for words adequate to express my deep appreciation of his friendship, loyalty and generosity of spirit. We on the staff have lost a great, good friend — and so have the students."

Prof. Paul Blommers, chairman of the board in control of athletics, called Prof. Briggs "a man of highest integrity in all respects."

"As a member of the athletic board, he stood courageously for the character and dignity so needed in college athletic leadership today."

Studied at SUI

Prof. Briggs, who was associated with Washburn, Iowa, and was graduated from Morningside college in Sioux City before attending SUI for his graduate work. He received his doctorate here in 1916.

He was made a full professor in 1937. He edited Palimpsest, Iowa State Historical society publication, for 23 years and wrote many articles on Iowa history and politics.

He was a member of the American Political Science association, the American Academy of Political and Social Science, the Southern Political Science association and the Iowa State Historical society.

He is survived by his wife, Nellie; a daughter, Shirley, Washington, D.C., and a brother, Willbur A., La Porte City, Iowa.

The Rev. P. Hewison Pollock will officiate at the funeral and burial. Classes will be suspended in the political science department from 1 to 3 p.m. for the funeral. The body is a Hohenstuh mortuary.

SUI Athletics Receipts Near $1-Million Mark

Operation of SUI's athletic department is almost a million-dollar-a-year enterprise, a state audit showed Monday at the state auditor's office in Des Moines.

The audit covered the fiscal year ending June 30, 1951, and listed receipts of $912,484 and a balance of $483,715 at the end of the year.

This represented an increase of $199,222 from the balance on hand a year earlier. The audit was filed with State Auditor Chet B. Akers.

Football receipts of $401,948.36 were enough to pay the cost of all 10 intercollegiate sports and leave an excess of $182,616.53.

Football expenses for the 1950 season were listed at $127,000, leaving football profits of $274,948. Football receipts were $33,680 greater in 1950 than in 1949.

The only other SUI sport to show a profit was basketball which had receipts of $56,231, expenditures of $31,957 and a profit of $24,274.

Based on receipts and expenses directly chargeable to the individual sports, the audit reported the following:

Sport	Receipts	Exp.
Baseball	$ 146,78	$12,953.28
Track & cross country	229.91	9,516.30
Swimming	180.29	5,339.23
Wrestling	209.48	4,386.17
Gymnastics	59.60	2,919.39
Golf	19,623.40	21,456.17
Tennis	.00	2,916.17
Fencing	.00	1,616.33
Track	.00	1,616.33

"Futuristic golf course receipts and operating costs are included in the golf receipts and expenditures."

Among the receipts were $454,353 from admissions, $204,482 from guarantees and shares in games played away from home, $67,156 from student activity fees, $13,573 for radio broadcast rights and $10,140 as Iowa's share in the amount paid the Big Ten conference for Rose Bowl receipts.

Expenditures included $117,254 for salaries, an increase of $1,156. The report related that not all of this expenditure goes to coaches. Part of it is paid to instructors in the men's physical education section.

'Leapfrog' Clifton Scores

LEAPING HIGH OVER TWO MICHIGAN PLAYERS, Bob Clifton (23) went on to score early in the Iowa-Michigan game last night. The Hawks won their seventh conference game to remain on top of the Big Ten with Illinois. Michigan players are Douglas Lawrence (5) and Donald Eaddy (3).

Davis, Top Jet Ace, Shot Down in Korea

TOKYO (TUESDAY) (AP)—Major George A. Davis Jr., 31, a steel-nerved Texan who bagged 24 Communist planes over Korea to become America's greatest jet ace, was shot down Sunday and is believed to have been killed, the air force announced Monday.

Even in his last battle, he blasted two Red MIG-15s out of the Korean sky to boost his all-time record to 21 enemy planes — 11 MIGs, three Communist light bombers and seven Japanese planes in World War II.

He also was credited with one MIG probably destroyed and three damaged.

(In Lubbock, Tex., the flier's wife told a reporter she would "like to ask a full-scale investigation of why he was left in Korea.")

(She quoted Major Davis as writing in a recent letter that "things can't go on like they are.")

"We lose so many planes and so many men. The MIGs are so much better than the Sabres that something must be done," she said he wrote.

(In Washington, Rep. George H. Mahon (D-Tex.) asked the air force to investigate thoroughly and report to him on the circumstances surrounding Davis' death. Mahon said he had told the air force on Jan. 14 he thought the pilot should be rotated back to the U.S.)

Davis' swept-wing F-86 Sabre jet spiraled down and crashed in northwest Korea during a battle between two Sabres and 10 MIGs just north of Sinanju, the air force said.

Two of the MIGs went down in flames, victims of Davis' blazing .50 calibre machine guns.

Davis did not bail out as his crippled Sabre spun down. The air force said an intensive aerial search of the region uncovered no evidence that the jet ace survived.

Book Exchange to Sell Communications Texts

The student book exchange in Schaeffer hall will be open today from 1 to 4:45 p.m. for the sale of communications skills texts.

Students who are taking communications skills courses are being notified today of the texts required.

Today and Wednesday the book exchange will return unpaid books and money for books which have been sold.

Sales Monday totaled $69, bringing the total volume of business to nearly $3,800.

Newark Airport Closed After 3rd Plane Disaster

King's Body Lies in State In London

LONDON (AP) — Three queens and millions of humbler Britons mourned Monday as the body of King George VI was brought back to London to lie in state for three days in majestic Westminster hall.

Sovereign Elizabeth II, the queen mother and 84-year-old queen grandmother Mary struggled with emotion as they stood in the middle of the brightly lit hall while the Archbishop of York conducted a 16-minute service.

Britain's young ruler gripped a handkerchief tightly in her gloved hand, but she did not use it.

Queen Mary Calm

The queen mother's face was impassive. Queen Mary, who has seen a great deal of sorrow in her long life, was her stalwart self. Standing in front of Westminster hall when a gun carriage arrived with the body of her son, she brushed aside her long veil and watched the solemn ceremonial procedure intently.

Then the youngest queen, just 25, followed the coffin into the medieval hall. Because she is now sovereign, her mother and grandmother followed a few paces behind her.

Services Held at King's Estate

Earlier in the day Queen Elizabeth and her family attended a private funeral service at the little 16th century church of St. Mary Magdalene on the king's Sandringham estate in bleak Norfolk. The body of the 56-year-old sovereign had lain in the simple church until Monday morning to permit his neighbors and workers to pay their last tribute.

Following this humble service, the king's body was carried on a caisson to Wolferton station 2 miles away and placed aboard a special teakwood hearse coach for the 110-mile train trip to London. The queen and her family rode in another teakwood coach behind the body.

The king will lie in state in Westminster hall until next Friday. Then the body will be taken to Windsor castle for burial at the side of most of Britain's monarchs. During the lying-in-state, the public will be permitted to file past in reverent homage today, Wednesday and Thursday.

31 Die in Fiery Crash Into Apartment House

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — Sprawling Newark airport, once the chief airport in the metropolitan New York area, was a ghost field Monday night — its future hanging in the balance.

The $53-million airport was closed to plane traffic Monday after the third major air crash in the adjoining city of Elizabeth within two months.

The known dead stood at 31. Forty persons — mostly plane passengers — were injured, one-third seriously.

Plane Hits House

Four of the dead were trapped in a 52-family apartment house, set afire as the flaming four-engine National Airlines plane faltered on the takeoff and roared downward out of control.

It brought to nearly 120 the death toll in three similar crashes since Dec. 16 — an average of more than two human lives for every day the airport has operated since the day before the pre-Christmas crash.

The Port of New York authority, a bistate agency of New York and New Jersey, which operates the airport ordered the shutdown within three hours after the Miami-bound plane cracked up shortly after 1 a.m. Monday.

'Umbrella of Death'

Residents of Elizabeth and nearby areas for some time had been protesting low-flying planes in residential areas and Mayor James T. Kirk had announced his city was living under "an umbrella of death."

"If these steps are taken, we will be far better equipped to keep our economy reasonably and effectively in balance, despite the stresses and strains inherent in our defense mobilization drive," Mr. Truman said.

The amendments the president wants repealed — all "bad legislation," he said — are these:

1. The Capehart amendment allowing manufacturers and processors to set ceiling prices high enough to cover all their cost increases between the outbreak of the Korean fighting in June, 1950, and July 26, 1951.
2. The Herlong amendment guaranteeing pre-Korean percentage markups to wholesalers and retailers.
3. The Butler-Hops amendment aimed at freeing cattle growers and meat packers from administrative controls by banning the use of slaughtering quotas on livestock.

Bills embodying the president's recommendations were introduced at once in both houses of congress.

Paper Says U.S. Gave Maps Away

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The Minneapolis Tribune said today the United States government has given away 12,000 copies of maps cited by President Truman as the kind of information that should not be printed.

"The United States government has printed and given away 12,000 copies of maps for aviators, locating exactly our major atomic plants at Hanford, Wash., Los Alamos, N.M., and Oak Ridge, Tenn., the article said.

D.C. Nolan To Seek Iowa Senate Post

Atty. D. C. Nolan of Iowa City announced Monday that he will seek the Republican nomination for senator from the 25th Iowa District in the June primary.

Nolan was a candidate for state senator in 1948 and was defeated in the general election, 8,401 to 7,107. He was opposed by Leroy S. Mercer, who is again seeking the Democratic nomination this year.

Nolan has practiced law here since 1931. He was born in Guthrie county and has been active for many years in the Republican party, having served as the first state chairman of the Young Republicans in 1932.

He has been active in civic and professional affairs, having served as Johnson county Community Chest chairman, president of the chamber of commerce and past president of the Johnson county bar association.

Taxes Safe Despite Scandals

WASHINGTON (AP) — In spite of the misdeeds of some internal revenue employees, officials say the government hasn't lost a cent of tax money, has collected more of it than ever before, and at the lowest cost.

Reference to the tax scandals — which have shaken the revenue bureau — was made in hearings before a house appropriations subcommittee. A record of the hearings was made public today.

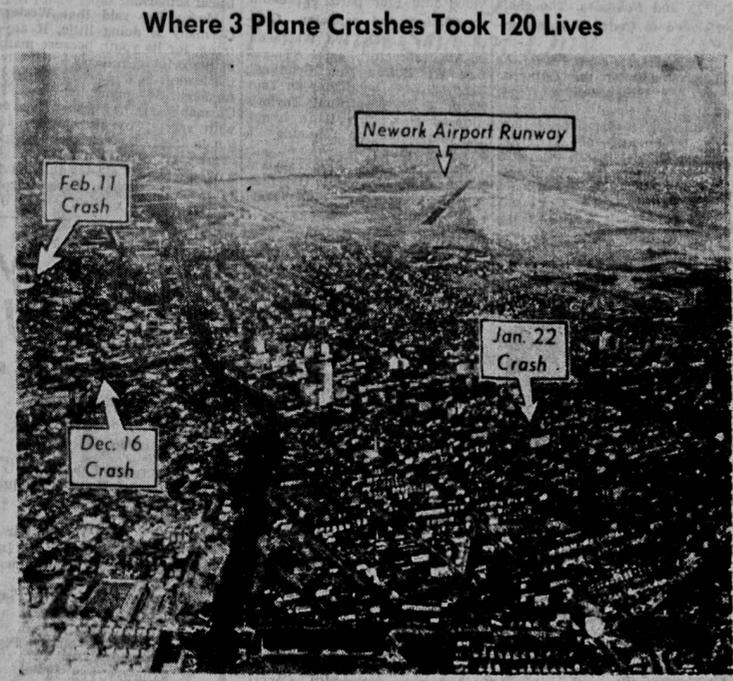

John Dunlap, internal revenue commissioner, told the representatives that while 167 persons were separated from the tax collecting service last year, only 80 cases involved dishonesty.

He asked the committee to compare statistics. "I am told by people who have made studies of this thing that it runs about two per cent in the department store industry," Dunlap said.

The internal revenue bureau had 57,000 employees, Dunlap said. Two per cent of this figure would be 1,140.

He said it was ironic that the efforts of revenue men to collect more money than ever before, at the lowest collection cost, "have been dimmed in the public mind by the action of a few."

Dunlap stated that "I don't think we have lost a cent . . . so far as we know, in actual dollars and cents, we haven't lost anything" by the misconduct of some employees.

SCENE OF THREE air tragedies in less than two months is Elizabeth, N.J., shown above from the air. A total of 115 persons have died in the three airliner crashes, latest of which occurred Monday when a National Airlines DC-6 crashed after hitting a big apartment house. The other accidents were Dec. 16 when a non-scheduled C-46 crashed in flames in a shallow river within the city, and on Jan. 22, when an American Airlines Convair smashed into a residential district near the center of the city and exploded.

Where 3 Plane Crashes Took 120 Lives

The plane, with 68 aboard, just missed a children's home where 46 youngsters were asleep and smacked into the apartment building. In an instant, flames mushroomed from the building. The fiery wreckage was strewn about a playground in the rear of the children's home.

Survivors, many pitifully wounded, crawled from the broken, silver fuselage of the plane. Some who couldn't make it alone were dragged out. The first police to arrive helped tug loose some of the trapped.

Most of the passengers who escaped were in the rear of the plane, which was cushioned in its descent by the branches of a tree.

Prior to Monday the port authority had planned to enlarge Newark, which once was the nation's biggest airport. It still is home base for 11 major airlines plus 12 non-scheduled lines that handle 3,560 passengers a day. Before the first Elizabeth crash last December, there had been no plane deaths at Newark since two were killed in a small plane in 1932.

It's No Soap for Gals Of Fairchild House

April Fool's day is more than a month and a half away but — Monday morning 20 girls at Fairchild house awoke to find that a mysterious event had occurred during the night. Someone had coated their bars of soap with colorless nail polish.

The girls were plenty mad. One girl who washed for 10 minutes without gathering any lather from her bar of soap was late for a 7:30 a.m. class.

The culprit has not been discovered.

Europeans Think Americans Too Agressive: Prof. Mosse

By DELIA WISHNEW
German rearmament, propaganda, and youth are some of the problems studied by Prof. George L. Mosse, SUI history department, in his seven-month visit to Europe, England, Turkey, and Israel.

Mosse returned last month after representing SUI at the 500th anniversary of the University of Glasgow and at the Anglo-American historical conference in London.

In Germany he was a visiting expert of the American high commission and lectured and conducted seminars on American high education and the means of political action for students.

He lectured in Yugoslavia, Turkey, and Israel and at the University of Birmingham in England. Found Resentment

Mosse said he found resentment in Europe toward Americans because Europeans thought Americans too rich, too aggressive and they were afraid we might "start something." They like the Marshall plan and its generosity.

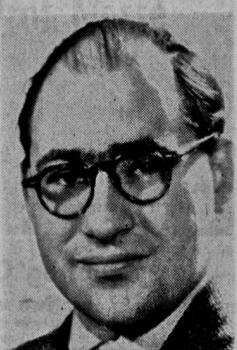

However, he asserted, most Americans know a little more about Europe than Europeans know about America. "Europeans haven't had the opportunities to learn about America but the Marshall plan is doing a good job on educational problems," he said.

Mosse, a native of Germany, is convinced that to reform Germany at the present time would be folly. "Germany is not politically ready for such a move," he said. "This has been indicated by the astonishing statements of the present German government concerning nationalism."

"Could Provide Setback"
"Good German democrats fear a revival of the aristocratic old officers corps. Rearmament in Germany may cost that country its democracy and provide a political setback."

Mosse also said that Western Germany is doing little, if anything, for its youth because many of the original reforms started by the leaders in this area have been forsaken. He commented that East German youth has been won over with success by Russian propaganda and is organized to a higher degree.

Whole school classes that have proved troublesome have disappeared in the eastern sector of Germany, Mosse was informed. "Yugoslavia is a country of contrasts. While there is a great deal of liberty in speech, the press is restricted, he said.

"A course in Marxist materialism is required of all high school students," Mosse found that the people there have a certain amount of fatalism about their government and, along with it, enthusiasm.

England: Intellectual Leader
The professor believes England is looked to for intellectual leadership and the British broadcasting company's programs are more highly regarded than our own "Voice of America," because they are on a more intellectual level.

SUI students will have a chance to see some of the East German propaganda taken from the office of the Free German Youth in East Berlin in December. The display will be shown in the Heritage library, main library, for the next two or three weeks. The exhibit includes German nationalist and fascist newspapers.

"This propaganda is crude, but effective with immature persons. Our propaganda is not geared to European intellectuals and therefore lacks obtaining the desired effect," Mosse said.

Mosse cautioned that we must remember that most of the European countries are ruled by intellectuals. He believes students here should study more geography, history, sociology, and economics of these countries in order to procure a better understanding of them.

TO THE EDITOR:
I would like to use this medium to give a boost to the "Religion-in-Life" program now in effect at SUI, and in particular to this week's speaker.

During the past two years the Religion-in-Life speakers have been on the campus a week at a time throughout the year, instead of all at one time, as in previous years. It is hoped that this plan will give interested students more opportunity for contact with the challenging speakers being brought to the campus.

This week the Rev. Jim Angell and his wife, from Indianapolis, are here under the sponsorship of Westminister (Presbyterian) fellowship. I heard Rev. Angell Sunday night and found him to be an inspired young man with a real faith, and who can speak the language of the college student. His theme for the week will be, "Three decisions." The decisions involve choosing a faith, a mate, and a life's work. If these three decisions are made wisely by an individual, his happiness in life is virtually assured.

The meetings consist of luncheons every day from noon to 1 p.m., discussions from 4 to 5:30 p.m. and a "bull session" every night at 9:30. All sessions will be in the Presbyterian church basement. All interested students are cordially made welcome.

After hearing Rev. Angell, I can promise that a few hours off for these sessions will be a challenging and worthwhile "break" from a busy schedule.

Judge Paroles Mother Entire Family Implicated
CARRROLL (AP) — District Judge F. H. Cooney sentenced Mrs. Ross Markley, 40, Fort Dodge, to five years imprisonment Monday then paroled her to George Kramer, probation officer at Fort Dodge.

The Markley case developed on Dec. 2, when two sons of the couple and two other youths were arrested at Fort Dodge in connection with break-ins. One of the four gave authorities a statement implicating the entire Markley family in a series of thefts in six northwest Iowa counties.

up and swallowed them. Terror had claimed the land. When morning dawned, the stricken settlers saw something else to terrify them. The Mississippi river was running backward! Yesterday the current was flowing to the south today it was reversed. The settlers and townspeople blinked their eyes and thought the devil was about to claim their land.

They were unaware at the time that they had just survived one of the worst earthquakes ever recorded in the midwest. That was not all. As soon as they got things cleaned up and dishes back on the shelf, another quake came, and more havoc ensued. Then another — and another.

Over 1,000 Quakes
These quakes continued from mid-December in 1811 until March, 1812. A Kentucky historian, who kept the only known record of the event, charted no less than 1,874 separate earthquakes in the New Madrid area chiettain who is said to have perished in the cataclysm. The lake is still there today, lined with cypresses, and the hunting lodges of men who visit it annually to hunt migratory wildfowl.

People Seek Safety
The winter of quakes terrorized the people so much that their only thought was escape to safety. Even after the earth tremors subsided, no one wanted to settle in the area.

Many years later, geologists came to the site and studied the land-scape, to see just what had happened. They found that land over a space of 30,000 square miles had been lowered from six to 15 feet, while other areas had been raised similar heights.

Although no further quakes of a damaging nature were recorded in the area, Indians maintained that a similar quake had taken place more than a hundred years previously, killing many of their people, and changing the course of the great river.

Interpreting the News — Will War Enter China If Talks Break Down?

By J. M. ROBERTS JR., Associated Press News Analyst

The feeling is growing in Washington that the next few weeks will reveal whether there is to be a truce in Korea.

The outcome of the Panmunjom negotiations is expected to depend not so much on the issues which are being debated there, but on whether the Communists really want to stop the shooting.

In the meantime, a lot of semi-open discussion is going on in diplomatic circles about what ought to be done if the truce negotiations break down.

Tentative proposals, obviously put forward with the desire that the Kremlin consider them carefully, include extension of the war to Red China, and removal of the handcuffs from Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist Chinese forces on Formosa.

Not Just Propaganda
If the Kremlin and the Red powers in Peiping should consider these suggestions merely propaganda designed to influence the Panmunjom talks, however, it would be a serious underestimation. So would any belief that these semi-official discussions represent the full limit of American ability or intent.

Liquidation of the Korean war has become a prime objective of the Western Allies. It is true that the Europeans would rather see it rock along as is than to renew the fighting. But once a complete failure of truce negotiations is apparent, the chips will be down, and liquidation of the situation by some other method becomes essential. The only such method which seems available would be a decisive military campaign. Not to conquer China, but to drive all Communist troops out of Korea.

The buildup of Communist airpower which has occurred during the "slowdown," the presence of improved Russian weapons on the ground, and of Europeans trained to operate them, all point to the early development of strategic warfare—warfare against the supply centers and air bases in China and Manchuria—if active warfare is resumed. A naval blockade would be next.

Kai-Shek Position Important
As for Chiang Kai-Shek, there is no idea so far of providing an armada by which he might attempt to return to the mainland. But he is in a position to harass Communist shipping and ports from the air. If the political handcuffs were removed, he would be in a position to invade, and the Communists would be forced to set up defense against him, diverting part of their strength to a new sector, whether they actually believed he could do it or not.

While debates regarding these methods continue, the basic promise, that there will be an early showdown at Panmunjom, seems

'Town' of Four Huts
Panmunjom once was four mud huts with thatched roofs at the side of the Seoul-Kaesong road. These huts, battered by war, are still there. The armistice treaty "city" is on the other side of the road.

The Communist delegates ride from Kaesong to Panmunjom daily in a late-model Ford sedan and a Russian-made sedan which is equipped with U.S. tires. Lesser personnel come in Russian-made or captured American jeeps.

Helicopters carrying the UN representatives land on a ploughed field nearby. The Allied delegates walk 30 yards to the tents. Two paths lead from the armistice tents. The Allied path is guarded by two U.S. military police. Two North Korean soldiers in quilted uniforms flank the Communists' path.

Americans Can Smile
The Red soldiers have rifts with fixed bayonets. The Americans carry only sidearms. The Americans are relieved at two-hour intervals. The Communists work all day with time off only for lunch. The Americans can smile. The Reds are impassive.

Allied and Communist newspapers use one of Panmunjom's deserted huts as a waiting room while the negotiators talk. A North Korean soldier sometimes enters and puts wood in the smoking, iron stove.

Allied soldiers have orders to avoid the Communist correspondents, chief of whom are British-born Alfred Winnington of the London Daily Worker, Wilfred Burchett of the Parisian newspaper Ce Soir, and Chu Chipping, a Chinese.

Gets Red 'Scoops'
Winnington has been a Communist for 20 years. He often reports Red armistice moves—especially complaints of alleged neutral zone violations—before UN sources can do it.

Burchett and Chu were Allied correspondents in World War II. Both were accredited to the U.S. seventh fleet in the Pacific. Both have visited the United States.

Conductor's Job Is Tough — Adolphus Members Picked from Hundreds

By JIM GOLTZ

It is easily understandable that the Gustavus Adolphus choir, which performed at a well-attended concert in Macbride auditorium Sunday night, has gained a national reputation for excellence through its work on national radio programs and in concerts throughout the country.

The purple and white-robed choir is composed of students from Gustavus Adolphus college, St. Peter, Minn. Its conductor is Eugene Casselman, who was given the difficult task of selecting the 55 most talented students from a field of hundreds who auditioned for membership.

Conductor Casselman takes the students on a two-week tour of the United States every year, their traveling this year being to Iowa, Illinois, and Nebraska. The choir performed in Cedar Rapids Sunday afternoon.

Their selections ranged from the solemn hymns of the Lutheran church to the primitive Negro spirituals of the south. Their opening number was a quintet of hymns composed of Scarlatti's "Exultate Deo," Pironi's "Christus factus est," Hassler's "Ad Dominum cum tribulatione," and Willan's "Hodie Christus natus est." Mississippi Runs Backward! — 140 Years Ago

By Central Press

NEW MADRID, MO. — One hundred and forty years ago — on the frightening night of Dec. 16, 1811 — the greatest cataclysm ever registered in midwest history occurred at the little river town of New Madrid, Mo., a pioneer village on the Mississippi bluffs.

The circuit riders had been predicting the end of the world for some time — and on this terrifying night the scattered villagers thought the dreaded moment had actually come.

Settlers inside their log cabins suddenly found themselves knocked out of their beds. Dishes came toppling out of cupboards, chimneys fell in and entire buildings disintegrated.

Earth Belched
Outside, there were landslides and loud explosions as the earth suddenly belched forth sand, mud and water, and reeled topsy-turvy. People ran screaming into the night. Some of them suddenly disappeared as huge cracks opened that winter. Three of the quakes were violent. Every settler's cabin in Illinois felt them. The tortured Mississippi constantly changed its course. New channels were formed and new banks cut. The quakes cracked walls in homes as far away as the Carolinas, stopped clocks in distant Boston, and tolled bells in Virginia.

Had the area been densely populated, as it is today, the death toll would have been terrific, and property damage tremendous.

Most of the area was virgin wilderness, still peopled by scattered tribes of plains Indians. As it was, part of the pioneer town of New Madrid slid into the river, people and all.

Land Sluiks
Across the Mississippi, in Tennessee, a most unusual thing happened. Over a large area, the land sunk, trees and all. When it was all over, Tennessee had a new lake — a large one, too. Later it was named Reelfoot lake, in remembrance of a lame Cherokee chiettain who is said to have perished in the cataclysm. The lake is still there today, lined with cypresses, and the hunting lodges of men who visit it annually to hunt migratory wildfowl.

People Seek Safety
The winter of quakes terrorized the people so much that their only thought was escape to safety. Even after the earth tremors subsided, no one wanted to settle in the area.

Many years later, geologists came to the site and studied the land-scape, to see just what had happened. They found that land over a space of 30,000 square miles had been lowered from six to 15 feet, while other areas had been raised similar heights.

Although no further quakes of a damaging nature were recorded in the area, Indians maintained that a similar quake had taken place more than a hundred years previously, killing many of their people, and changing the course of the great river.

Cabaret Theme Set For Military Ball In Union Friday

White shirts and black bow ties will be part of "duty" uniform for students in the Reserve Officers training corps at the 50th annual Military ball in the Iowa Union Friday.

The golden jubilee event will feature a candlelit cabaret setting with the program centered around the ball's 50-year history.

Highlight of the evening will be the presentation of the honorary cadet colonel, a senior woman elected by ROTC seniors. Four runnerup candidates will act as attendants and be designated honorary lieutenant colonels.

Presentations will be made by Col. Walter E. Sewell, director of army ROTC and Col. George A. Bosch, director of air force ROTC at the university.

The program will include music by Bill Meardon's orchestra. Admission is $2.50 per couple and includes refreshments, cigarettes, and favors.

Engagements Announced

Shirley Ann Harper

Dr. and Mrs. Earl E. Harper of Norfolk, Va., announce the approaching marriage of their daughter Miss Shirley Ann to Mr. Robert H. Reeves of Chicago, Ill. The wedding is to be May 24.

Miss Harper was graduated from SUI and was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, social sorority. She was a member of the University chorus and the Methodist church choir.

Since graduation she has been a psychological consultant and office manager for Stevens and Thorow associates, personnel consultants in Chicago.

Mr. Reeves is the son of Mrs. Everett Reeves of Weldon, Ill and is a graduate of the University of Illinois. He is engaged as an industrial engineer with the Republic Steel company of Chicago.

Marilyn Comess

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Comess of Norfolk, Va., announce the engagement of their daughter Marilyn, A2, to Mr. Julian Gutterman, C4.

Mr. Gutterman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gutterman of Flandreau, S. D.

Miss Comess transferred to SUI this year from Richmond Professional Institute, a division of William and Mary college.

Mr. Gutterman, a member of Phi Epsilon Pi, social fraternity, will graduate this June in accounting.

July 5 has been set as the wedding date.

Male Quartets Sing Rules For Miss SUI Competition

Male quartets Monday night sang instructions to SUI women's housing units concerning the selection of candidates for "Miss University of Iowa."

Five singing groups provided by Hillcrest dormitory and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, social fraternity, sang contest information to the tune of "On the Boardwalk in Atlantic City," the theme of the beauty contest.

All SUI women's housing units were contacted except Currier and Eastlawn, which will be entertained tonight.

The number of candidates allowed each housing group has been proportioned according to population.

Currier hall will have 13, Westlawn 5, and all others 1 candidate.

A campaign manager is to be chosen to select a song and costume theme for each candidate. The campaign manager will also serve as promotional manager for the housing unit.

Each of the candidates will be presented at men's housing units the week preceding the election of "Miss University of Iowa" in a campus-wide election by SUI men.

The contest is being sponsored by union board, central party committee, the student council and Hawkeye.

It Pours Lubricated Salt Defies Wet Weather

NEW YORK (AP) — Lubricated salt and an electric fly killer are a couple of interesting new products on the market this week.

The salt is made by Diamond Crystal of St. Clair, Mich., as a weather-proof free flowing salt that won't clog in the shaker whether it rains or pours.

A chemical is added to the salt to lubricate the crystals so they can flow easily without sticking together when damp. As proof, the company says just add five drops of water to two tablespoons of salt, shake, and pour without trouble.

The fly killer is an electrical unit controlled by an automatic thermostat to shoot a fine spray of insecticide into the air at intervals. It also kills other bugs but the maker says the spray is harmless to humans and warm blooded animals. The manufacturer is the Kay Electric company of Brooklyn, N.Y.

General Electric's major appliance division in Louisville has a new electric sink complete with the usual things a sink has plus a dishwasher and garbage disposal unit. The dishwashing unit is under the sink and drainboard and can wash and dry 100 pieces in 30 minutes with a pre-rinse, sudsy wash, a double rinse, and a warm air dry, all automatically.

New Test Draws Picture Of Employee's Temperament

NEW YORK (AP) — Businessmen who would like to know how you will click in a job have another tool for testing you. It is called a temperament schedule, a painless set of questions designed to draw a picture of your personality with your answers.

Its author, I.L. Thurstone, professor of psychology at the University of Chicago, tested both normal and abnormal persons for many years. He found there were seven main factors of temperament which make up personality.

He says how you stack up in those seven areas will fairly well show how you will fit a job. Those factors are how active you are, how vigorous, impulsive, dominant, emotionally stable, sociable, and reflective.

Thurstone discounts the value of I.Q. tests. He stresses rather that the individual's personality or temperament "profile" is much more valid.

"Mental endowment should not be the sole criterion of an employee," he advises. "Instead, by drawing a temperament profile of him, the worker can be matched to the job much more carefully."

"And if the temperament profile, the intelligence test, and the aptitude test are combined, there is a three-dimensional approach to worker placement which is practically unbeatable."

The schedule was used experimentally for four years before it was published by Science Research associates, Chicago producers of testing materials.

Factors Are Scaled

Of the 140 questions, 20 are assigned to each of the seven personality factors. Each factor is scaled from very high to very low, with your own score determining what division you fall into for each factor. You have a choice of yes, undecided, or no in answering each question.

If you score high in the active area you probably work and move rapidly. You're restless if compelled to remain quiet. You like to be "on the go" most of the time. You usually speak, walk, write, drive a car, and work rapidly, even when these activities do not demand speed.

A high rating in the vigorous factor indicates you like physical sports, hand work and the use of tools, and outdoor occupations.

On the impulsive scale you probably score high if you make decisions quickly, enjoy competition, and can move readily from one task to another. The decision to act quickly is independent of whether you move slowly or rapidly (active factor), feebly or strenuously (vigor factor) to put it into effect.

Scores Indicate Characteristics

Workers who score high in dominant characteristics probably feel capable of taking initiative and responsibility, enjoy public speaking, promoting new projects, persuading others, or organizing social activities.

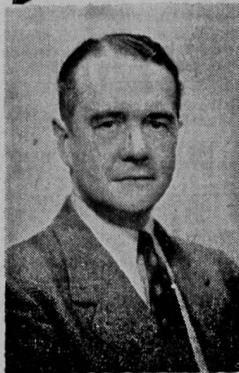

The stable person can remain calm in a crisis, relax in a noisy room, be cheerful, and disregard distractions. Interruptions when concentrating do not irritate him. Neither does he fret over daily chores or routine. Making deadlines doesn't bother him, either.

If you rate well on the sociable area, likely you enjoy company, make friends easily, are agreeable, cooperative, sympathetic. More or less opposite to the social factor is the reflective. A high score here indicates you prefer to work alone, you're quiet, you like work requiring accuracy and fine detail. You would prefer to deal with theoretical rather than practical problems, would rather plan a job than carry it out.

Thurstone started developing the temperament schedule among students in an effort to find those who might show emotional instability. It was aimed, he said, at locating neurotics with pathological tendencies before anything happened to take them to the dean's office.

From a test of some 1,000 questions, only those were retained which would indicate variations in temperament within a normal range. Questions testing pathological extremes were thrown out so the remaining schedule would in no respect sound like a psychiatric clinic.

Briton To Address Information First

Stafford Barff

Stafford Barff, director of the midwestern office of the British information service, will deliver an Information First lecture in the senate chamber of Old Capitol 4:10 p.m. Thursday.

Barff, whose job in the United States is to interpret his country to Americans and to learn more about this country, will speak on "British-American Relations."

Barff worked for the British ministry of information in London previous to being transferred to the U.S.

The lecture series is sponsored by the University Women's association and will feature four other speakers during the semester.

They will be W. Leigh Sowers, professor of English, Feb. 21; George Mosse, professor of history, Feb. 28; Earl Hall, editor of the Mason City Globe-Gazette, March 6, and Edyth Thomas Wallace, Columnist, March 13.

Darling Sets Scoring Record In Victory

He Completed the Pass, and . . .

BEYOND THE REACH of a Michigan defender goes Skip Greene, dependable Iowa guard, as he passes off to a teammate. The pass resulted in a score early in the second quarter of Monday night's game, which the Hawkeyes won easily, 82-59. Greene, besides his fine floor play, scored 9 points in the rout. The Michigan man is Doug Lawrence.

Tankers Top Purdue

Coach David Armbruster's swimming team eased its practice pace Monday after stretching its 1952 winning streak to three by beating Purdue, 55-38, Saturday at Lafayette.

In topping the Boilermakers, the Hawks turned in their best performances of the year, according to Coach Armbruster.

Armbruster selected backstroke Willis Weber and Co-Captain Bowen Stassforth in the breaststroke for special praise. Stass-

Breaks Season Mark As Hawks Win Easily

By JACK JORDAN
Sports Editor

Chuck Darling broke the season's scoring record and turned in his top home court performance Monday night as Iowa had an easy time with Michigan at the field house, 82-59.

Big Chuck left nothing at all to the imagination, especially in the third quarter when he did everything from bringing the ball down the court to making some of the most sensational shots of his career.

He sat out the last six minutes of the game with 29 points for the evening, bringing his total for the year to 405 points in 16 games. The mark surpassed the previous high of 399, set by all-American Murray Wier in 1947-48. His average to date is 25.3 compared to Wier's 21.

No Letdown for Hawks

Monday's win left Iowa (7-1) in a tie for first in the Big Ten, and cemented Michigan (2-8) to its ninth place position.

Darling was not alone in his fine play, however, as the Hawkeyes failed to let the suspected letdown following the Illinois game materialize before 13,622 fans.

Some spectacular under-the-basket shots by Deacon Davis, rebounding by Herbie Thompson, smooth floor play by Skip Greene and Bob Clifton, and more set shots from Ev Cochran provided the Iowa pattern.

The Hawks employed the fast break to a much greater advantage than they had at any time this season, and raced to a 42-34 halftime lead after trailing most of the first quarter.

Uses Whole Repertoire

The third quarter completely broke the spirit of the visitors as Darling used every shot in his repertoire, plus one Iowa fans hadn't seen before. He shot hooks, tip-ins, and set shots, and climaxed them all with a dash the length of the floor that ended in a layup on the end of a fast break. The score at the end of the period was 62-48.

Illinois Keeps Pace, Drops MSC, 84-62

CHAMPAIGN, ILL. (AP) — Led by Clive Pollmer, Irv Bemoras and Bob Peterson—who combined for 49 points — Illinois trounced Michigan State, 84-62, Monday night and continued its co-leadership with Iowa in the Big Ten basketball race.

Flashing a smooth passing attack, Illinois jumped into a 45-28 halftime lead and ballooned it to 67-40 after three quarters. Illini reserves played the final quarter with sophomore Max Hooper pumping in seven points.

Illinois poured in 22 points in the first quarter with Peterson contributing 11 of his total 16 for the game.

Pollmer scored 17 points for game honors, making 11 of them in the first half, and Bemoras added 16, netting nine of them in a 22 point third period.

Michigan State's only sustained spurt came at the outset of the third quarter when Bill Bower drilled two baskets and Gordon Stauffer one to slice Illinois' lead to 47-34.

Gophers Defeat Indiana

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The University of Minnesota basketball team strengthened its hold on third place in the Big Ten race Monday night by defeating Indiana, 74-61. It was the Gophers' seventh win against three losses in league play. Indiana now has a 4-4 rating in the loop.

The Gophers made it easy on a home crowd of 9,112 as they led the Indiana five all the way. It was 19-14 at the quarter, 37-27

In the last quarter, every man on the Hawkeye bench saw action and continued to pile up the score on the invaders, who also elected to use their reserves. Michigan was hampered by the shallowness of its bench, with only five reserves making the trip.

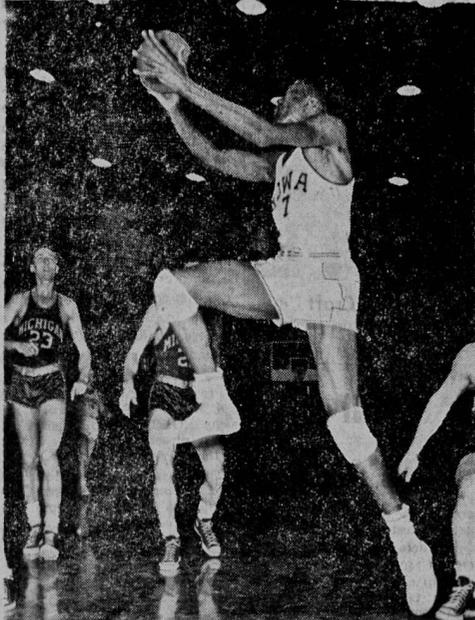

The Iowa victory cut the overall Michigan series lead to 21-16. The Hawks now have won 12 of the last 19 games with the Wolverines.

Davis was second high for Iowa with 10 points, followed by Thompson and Greene with 9 apiece. Forward Tom Tiernan led the Wolverines on 12 points, one more than Jim Skala at the other forward. Guard Don Eaddy scored 10 while turning in an outstanding floor game.

Gymnasts Play Hosts To Unbeaten Gophers In Field House Tonight

The Hawkeye gymnastic squad will meet an undefeated Minnesota team in a dual meet here today at 7:30 p.m. in the field house.

Iowa is also undefeated, boasting wins over Northwestern and Western Illinois State in their opener here Saturday, in a triangular meet at the field house.

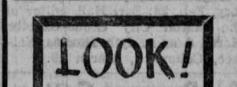

Minnesota's victories include a dual meet win over Nebraska and a triangular meet triumph over Wisconsin and Ohio State.

Iowa Coach Dick Holzappel has stated that co-captain Al Flennip will not compete against the Gophers because of a badly sprained ankle, suffered in practice last week.

Leading the Gophers in their invasion of Iowa City will be Harry Evans, who placed in the 1951 NCAA trampoline event; Dick Flood, high bar; Bob Johnson, tumbling, and Ken Bartlett, third place winner in the Big Ten on the parallel bars.

Grades Cut 10 From Athletics

Iowa athletic department officials Monday confirmed reports that sophomore eger Bill Stenger was one of 10 Hawkeyes declared ineligible for winter and spring sports.

Coach Francis Cretzmeier's track team lost three men by the ineligibility rulings. Lou Mathis, sprinter, Bob Stearnes and Loranzie Williams, broad jumpers, were all sidelined by scholastic requirements.

The baseball squad lost two members when pitchers Jim Riedesel and Doug Bongenrief were placed on the list.

Iowa's swimming team lost freshman Tom Christensen and wrestler Dick Hickenbottom also was ruled ineligible.

One Man's Valentine is Another Man's Swan-Song

OR what really happened on February 14th

Once there was a freshman who had a Problem. He couldn't get to first base with the Opposite Sex. Oh, they'd go out with him and wade briskly through a streak. But when it came time to say Good-night, just as he figured to collect a modest return on his investment, he'd wind up with a face full of Splinters. Discouraging.

In desperation, he calculated himself a new angle. He ignored February 13th completely. Didn't send out a single Bill-of-dox. But on the morning of February 14th he strode down to the Western Union office and sent Telegrams to a carefully selected list of fifty Females. Very touching messages, on the "Be mine" theme. Then he went back to his room and shaved expectantly.

The first starry-eyed Girl drove up an hour later. The procession kept up all day. Talk about a Mouse-Trap! Now he's very happy. So are all his Wives. They just love Mecca.

There's a factual point to this frivolous case-history: No message is as pleasing and convincing as a telegram; none gets a more positive reaction. Nothing makes a gal or guy feel more special than receiving one whether it's congratulations to Dad or love to Mother or flinging a Date with Destiny. Want proof? Just call Western Union.

Legion Cage Team Loses in AAU Final

Iowa City Legion's basketball team dropped a big early advantage to Voorhees Grain Sunday at the state A.A.U. tournament and lost the final game, 68-51.

The Legion team started fast and led 22-12 at the end of the first quarter of the game, which was played at Marshalltown. However, it trailed, 33-32, at halftime.

Twins To Marry Twins

PICTURED ABOVE are identical twins, Clifford and Martel Rickels, University of Maryland seniors at Bethesda, holding a photograph of their identical twin fiancées, Betty and Isobel Ingalls of Pymont, Md. The twins met three years ago, but it was several months before Cliff and Marty could tell Betty from Isobel.

Wylie Says — Noon Will Be Late Today

You are going to be late for lunch today if you wait until noon to eat.

Iowa City's noon today will officially be a little after 12:20. This means the time when the shadows run north and south, if the sun is shining.

Reasons for the lateness of this occurrence, according to Prof. C. C. Wylie, astronomy instructor, is that our watches are not set according to the sun, and that the time in Iowa City is determined by the 90th meridian which falls a little east of Clinton in passing from the north to the south pole.

A third reason is that the sun is not always moving at the same speed. This means that noon is earlier in some periods than others. In Iowa City 11:49 a.m., Nov. 3 marks the earliest noon.

Today's "noontime" shadow is going to be west of north by a small degree.

A $1 Million Rock

THAT'S THE $1 MILLION Transvaal diamond which actress Arlene Dahl is wearing at a Damon Runyon cancer fund benefit in Los Angeles. This is the first public wearing of the 76-carat diamond, the largest cut diamond in the world. It was taken to Hollywood to be used in a film.

Lone Tree Vandals Destroy Insulators; Sheriff Investigates

Vandalism in the Lone Tree area has brought about an investigation by Sheriff Albert J. Murphy, after more than 40 glass insulators on high-tension power lines have been destroyed.

The vandalism was reported Saturday, after some insulators were shot out the power lines which cross Johnson county between the Mississippi river and Des Moines.

The reckless rifle shooting is a criminal offense and anyone apprehended will be prosecuted, Murphy said.

During one of the necessary repairs, Murphy pointed out, 110,000 eggs in a turkey farm's electric incubator, were saved only because an auxiliary power supply was available for use.

Selling Horse Meat Draws $1,500 Fines

ROCK ISLAND, ILL. (AP)—The Rock Island county phase of the many facted horse meat scandal produced fines for two meat packers Monday as grand juries in two other counties investigated the situation.

Edwin Lindskog, operator of the Moline Packing company, was fined $1,000 and Robert J. Blitsh, operator of the Valley Packing company, $500, after each pleaded guilty to a charge of selling unlabeled horse meat for human consumption. The fines were assessed by Judge Edward Turnbaugh of county court.

A similar charge still is pending against Sam Karas, operator of the Moline Produce company. Karas and Lindskog also have been charged with bribing state officials.

Scout Badges Awarded to 6 Local Boys

Six Iowa City boy scouts have received Star badges and one a Life badge.

The Life award, presented by Chuck Darling, Iowa basketball center, went to Marcus Powell Jr., troop 5. Star badges were given to Charles McComas, troop 2; William Skriver, troop 7, and Ed Paulus, Ken Scott, Albert Westcott and John Sunier, all of troop 14.

The awards, along with a number of other scout presentations, were made at a dinner Sunday night in the Community building. About 350 scouts, parents, members of their families and officials attended the supper, held in connection with National Boy Scout week, which ends Tuesday.

More than 200 boy and girl scouts and their leaders from St. Patrick's and St. Mary's churches participated in a church investiture ceremony Sunday at St. Mary's church.

The Most Rev. Ralph L. Hayes, bishop of the Davenport diocese, presided at the ceremony. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. John Morrissey, diocesan Scout chaplain.

A total of 95 special awards were presented.

Local Garage Burglar Sent to Reformatory

Clyde L. Jones, 18, Scranton, Ark., has been committed to the men's reformatory for not more than 10 years for breaking into an Iowa City garage.

The youth was sentenced Saturday by District Judge Harold D. Evans, after a jury Jan. 19 found him guilty of breaking into Nall Motors, Inc., last Sept. 15.

A defense motion for a new trial has been overruled by Evans.

Churches Revise Bible

Samples of New Version Are Made Public by National Council of Churches

COLUMBUS, OHIO (AP)—The National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. made public today samples of the revised version of the Bible's old testament — third authorized Protestant revision in 341 years.

Aimed at simplicity and modern language, the revised standard version leans heavily on the present tense of the verb. It heeds closely to the line laid down by the King James version that was published in 1611.

The 29th verse of the 40th chapter of Isaiah reads in the King James translation: "He giveth power to the faint; and to them that have no might increaseth strength."

But the revised standard version writes it: "He gives power to the faint and to him who has no might he increases strength."

This change is typical of the verses throughout the 40th chapter of Isaiah — that portion of the revised standard version released here Monday.

The new version was not originally scheduled to be disclosed until Sept. 30 — publication date for the new translation.

The council said the wording and punctuation in the samples were not necessarily exactly as they would appear in the published version.

Dr. Luther A. Weigle of New Haven, Conn., dean emeritus of Yale Divinity school and chairman of the Bible committee of scholars, said the words were subject to change prior to publication next Sept. 30.

Gaffney Consolidates Iowa Highway Suits

Judge James P. Gaffney Monday ordered the consolidation of six district court lawsuits against the Iowa state highway commission.

The lawsuits were filed following the construction of a cutoff on highway 6 south of Coralville last year.

Each of the plaintiffs asks that proceedings be instituted to access the amount of damage caused to his property when the cutoff was put through.

The plaintiffs in the consolidated suits are: Robert O. Schmitt, Meryl S. Heltibrude, Charles Morganstern and C. B. Oldaker, Louis Shulman, trustee, Samuel Markovitz and Sam L. Robinson, John W. and Ethel Kobes.

Playwright James Gow, Former Iowan, Dies at 44

NEW YORK (AP)—James Gow, 44, scenarist, playwright and journalist, died Monday at his home here.

Born in Creston, Iowa, Gow collaborated with Arnaud D'Usseau in writing the hit plays "Tomorrow the World" and "Deep Are the Roots." He also wrote the "Legend of Sarah" and the screen play for "One Night of Love." He is survived by his widow, the former Olga Alexander.

Ex-GI Relates Communist Activities

HARVEY M. MATUSOW (top, right) 26-YEAR-OLD ex-GI, tells a New York reporter how he enrolled 3,500 city students into Communist cells and helped stage school riots. Matusow, who became a Communist after his discharge, participated in Communist youth activities, including picketing (bottom, arrow) of the International Longshoremen's association headquarters, where he wore a "gag" as a protest against police ban on signing and shouting by pickets. He has given the FBI more than 500 names of alleged Communist students since becoming an undercover agent a year ago.

ID Card Regulations Set for 2d Semester

ID pictures for all new SUI students will be taken Feb. 18 to 22 at the SUI photo service, 7 E. Market st., upon presentation of the individual's payment of fees receipt. ID cards will probably be issued the following week. New students may use the green card, received at registration, for athletic events and to procure opera and concert tickets. This card will be void after ID cards are issued.

Board Buys Lot Here

The Iowa executive council authorized the state board of education in Des Moines Monday to purchase a lot in Iowa City at a tax sale for $12. The tract is west of the Iowa river and adjacent to the SUI hydraulic engineering building, where campus and street improvements are being made.

National Director to Speak At Dedication of VA Hospital

Carl R. Gray Jr., Washington, D.C., national director of veteran's affairs, will speak at the dedication ceremony of Iowa City's new $10 million VA hospital. Dedication ceremonies are set for 2 p.m. March 16. SUI President Virgil M. Hancher will be master of ceremonies. L. E. Huhn, special service director of the hospital, expressed regret, Monday that dedication ceremonies could not be opened to the general public, but he said an open house is scheduled for 3 p.m., immediately after the dedication ceremonies. The new structure covers approximately seven acres. The basement houses a central heating plant, utility shops, and a central oxygen and sterile system. A chapel designed to handle Protestant, Catholic and Jewish services is located on the main floor. The X-ray department, medicine unit and dental unit are on the second floor. Rooms for women patients, a canteen, main dining room, personal dining rooms, recreation lounge, patients library, medical library, barber shop and radio studio are on the third floor. Patient's wards go from the fifth to the 10th floor. These range from single rooms to 16-patient wards. Penthouse Contains Reservoir Centered on the roof of the 10th floor is a three-story penthouse which houses mechanical equipment for the hospital. This includes an air conditioning unit on the first floor, elevator operating machinery on the second, and a water reservoir on the top floor of the building. It is necessary to pump the water supply from the fourth floor to the reservoir to gain water pressure throughout the building. Aside from the main building are two small buildings. A garage and laundry are housed in one and hospital personnel in the other. The hospital staff is busy making preparations to receive the first patients March 3.

Bartley Suggested For Lt. Governor

The name of William Bartley, Iowa City attorney, has been mentioned as a possible candidate for lieutenant-governor by members of the Democratic state central committee. Bartley said Monday, "It's news to me. I didn't know about it until someone told me they had read it in the paper." The committee met to discuss possible candidates but decided not to indulge in state-making at this time. All members were urged to see to it that the Democratic party has a full ticket for state and county offices in the 1952 elections.

McCarthy Accused

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conrad E. Snow, chairman of the state department's loyalty-security board, accused Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) Monday night of trying to "mar the department" by resorting "to rumor, invention, half truths or no truths at all." For the past two years, McCarthy has been conducting a running dispute with the department, which he contends is infested with Communists or their sympathizers.

Daily Iowan Salesman of the Week

John Deacon, A4, Cranford, N.J. and Bill Daniel, A4, Fort Madison were named Daily Iowan Salesmen of the Week by Prof. Ellis Newsome, Advertising Advisor of the Iowan. Deacon and Daniel received merchandise awards at the regular meeting of the Advertising Sales and Promotion class Monday in recognition of their service during the previous week.

The Daily Iowan has introduced a program of recognition for those individuals that make the publication of a newspaper possible, the advertising salesman. Without advertising no newspaper could long remain in business. Unless advertisers get results from their advertising they will soon stop advertising. Support your newspaper, The Daily Iowan, by patronizing those merchants using the Iowan advertising columns.

PATROLMAN JAMES DALTON (above) was one of a number of policemen and firemen who Monday began wearing new uniforms purchased by the city for the first time in history. The police uniform includes blue-gray trousers with a black stripe down the side, light blue shirts, dark blue ties and caps the same color as the trousers. A navy blue short coat goes with the uniform for winter wear. The uniform for the firemen will be all dark blue. In the past, officers have been required to buy their own uniforms.

CREAMERY OPERATOR FINED
MONTEZUMA, IA. (AP) — E. H. Rohrsen, operator of the Grinnell Creamery company, was fined $100 and costs in justice court Monday on a charge of producing 2,170 pounds of low butterfat content butter.

Don't Scold, Parents —

Thumbsucker Has Motive

Like the detective attempting to solve a crime, the person who wants to control a child's thumb-sucking must often try first to find the motive.

For until the child's reason for thumb-sucking is known, no real or lasting progress can be made in stopping it, is the opinion of Dr. Lester B. Higley, head of orthodontics in the SUI college of dentistry.

Scientists do not agree whether sucking is instinctive or whether a child learns it soon after birth. However, since that is the way he feeds, sucking soon becomes associated with any of the sensations related to feeding time such as hunger, stomach pangs and fondling.

Child May Need Attention
Thus, if the child gets his milk too freely and the desire to suck is not satisfied, or if he does not get enough to eat, he may resort to thumb-sucking. Use of the thumb for this purpose is quite natural, Higley believes, for the child's hands and thumbs are constantly coming in contact with his face and are among the first things he notices.

Thumb-sucking might also result when the child's food does not agree with him, and his immature nervous system mistakes indigestion pangs in the stomach for hunger pangs.

There may also be other factors involved, Higley points out. For instance, the child might not receive enough love and attention. He knows he sucks when he eats; when he eats he is also fondled and receives all sorts of attention. Thus the act of sucking may be comes associated with affection and attention.

— May Be Just Lonesome

Occupy Child's Time
Or the child may just need something to do. Since physical activity is limited, his thumb may be the only thing available upon which he can concentrate.

Whatever the reason for thumb-sucking, the action produces a force forward and upward against the child's mouth. Orthodontists at the college of dentistry believe, Higley says, that any pressure or tension applied over a period of time can deform facial structure. He says this force does not necessarily have to be continuous.

The best evidence that this can occur, he points out, stems from the fact that pressures and tensions are used by orthodontists to reshape deformities. These pressures, though very slight, can be used intermittently—for example, just at night—yet will in time reshape the dental arch.

Don't Punish Child
Higley also points out that diet may play a large part in deformity resulting from thumb-sucking, for a child with a poor diet may have bones that are more easily deformed.

He urges parents not to attack the problem of thumb-sucking by scolding, punishing, shaming or coaxing the child, comparing this procedure to trying to cure measles by painting over the spots on the skin.

Searching for Iowan
ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Search for Ed Marso, 30, of Le Mars, Iowa, whose auto burned on a highway near here last Tuesday night, bogged down Monday. State police said the car ran off state road 10 in Cedro canyon and was found afire, but nothing was found of Marso.

State police Sgt. L. W. Dennis said ownership of the auto was found by checking records, and Marso left California early Feb. 5 to drive back to Le Mars.
