Student Council Wants To Increase Its Powers

By BOB HESS

SUI's student council will begin to tackle the reapportionment of that group Thursday night as the first step in a drive to acquire broader policy-making powers.

The governing body will meet in Old Capitol to hear a proposal that the council increase its membership from 17 to 28 members.

No big difficulty is expected in adopting this plan as a constitutional amendment, although it will not be voted upon Thursday because a two-week waiting period is required.

Dick Turney, A4, Oelwein, is head of a committee which is planning the reorganization program.

He said the committee has not decided on anything definite as to just what added powers the council will have, but they are working with the administration now and expect to increase the council's powers "so something can be accomplished at those semi-monthly meetings."

Royalty Is Gathering To Pay Tribute to King

LONDON (AP) — Kings, queens and government notables of half the world headed for this mourning capital Tuesday to pay homage at the funeral of King George VI.

Claridges, the Ritz and others of London's top 10 hotels took off the dust covers of their royal suites for an influx unparalleled in the 15 historic years since the late king's coronation.

All Europe's reigning monarchs will be at the funeral Friday except 21-year-old King Baudouin of the Belgians. His determination to stay in Brussels was rebuffed in a Belgian parliamentary vote. Prince Albert will represent Belgium.

King Haakon Arrives
 One of the first to reach London was Norway's 79-year-old King Haakon, a close friend of British royalty. He stepped onto King's Cross station Monday only 12 minutes after King George's body arrived there from Sandringham on its way to the lying-in-state at Westminster hall.

King Haakon is staying at Buckingham palace, Queen Elizabeth's London seat. He alone of current continental royalty attended the funerals of two other British kings — Edward VII in 1910 and George V in 1936.

Suites at Claridges which cost 50 pounds ($140) a day are ready for King Gustav and Queen Louise of Sweden, King Paul of Greece, King Frederik and Queen Ingrid of Denmark, and Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands.

Protection for Dignities
 London police and secret service authorities have prepared their biggest postwar security check to protect the nation's guests.

Scotland Yard men have been assigned to all royal visitors and national representatives. Hundreds of plainclothesmen will mingle with the crowds lining the funeral route from Westminster hall to Windsor castle.

President Truman is sending Secretary of State Acheson to see his representative. Acheson is due here by air today. The U.S. embassy said he will stay either at Claridges or with Ambassador Walter S. Gifford.

Ike Will Attend
 Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower flies here Thursday from his Paris headquarters to represent the armed might of the North Atlantic Treaty powers. His deputy, Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, will be here too—but in his own right as a British war leader.

Moscow turned down an invitation to send a special mission, but will be represented by the Soviet ambassador in London, Georgi Zarubin.

Work Again on News Center

The arrival of more than 100 tons of steel in the last month has permitted work to be resumed on SUI's new $25,000 communication center.

Construction has been at a standstill since mid-November because of a lack of structural steel. The newly-arrived material will permit construction to the top floor of the three-story structure, Harold Van Horn, superintendent for the Morehead Construction company, Cedar Rapids, said Tuesday.

About half the steel necessary to complete the building is now on hand and more is coming in every week. The workmen, who resumed

SUI and California U. Debaters Meet Tonight

SUI debaters will meet a University of California team tonight at 8 p.m. in the senate chamber, Old Capitol, to argue the proposition, "Resolved: That the Federal Government should Establish a Permanent Policy of Wage and Price Controls."

The topic, chosen by the National Commission on Intercollegiate Debate, is being discussed this year by college debaters all over the country.

Members of the SUI team are Norton Mezvinsky, A2, Ames, and Tom Brown, A3, Iowa City. Prof. Orville Hiltchcock, speech department, will act as chairman and moderator. Mezvinsky and Brown will present the negative side of the issue.

Newark Port Closed Until Study Finished

NEW YORK (AP) — The crash-plagued airport at Newark, N.J., will not be reopened until after congressional "and other responsible official investigations," it was announced Tuesday night.

The announcement followed a meeting between officials of the port of New York authority, which operates the airport, and government and airline officials.

The airport was shut down Monday following the third disastrous air crash in 58 days in Elizabeth, N. J. That city adjoins the airport.

A statement issued in behalf of the conferees added that a special committee was set up to "coordinate the joint efforts of all concerned in meeting problems of the safe operation of aircraft over cities and other populated areas."

Council Book Exchange Open Last Time Today

The student council book exchange in the basement of Schaefer hall will be open for the last time today. It will be the last chance for students to pick up unsold books and money.

Carl Zimmerman, A2, Waterloo, student council member in charge of the book exchange, reminded students to bring their receipts when stopping to get either money or books.

Chicago Plans Crime Fight

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's civic, political and law enforcement leaders, meeting to plot an all-out offensive against crime in politics, were told Tuesday the "hour of decision" is at hand.

The unprecedented meeting was an expression of civic outrage over the shotgun assassination last Wednesday night of Charles Gross, 57, Gross, acting Republican ward committeeman on the west side, and a foe of hoodlums in politics, was seeking election to the post.

Guy E. Reed, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, told more than 400 leaders of about 100 civic groups, "Let's face the facts — we have tolerated an alliance between crime and politics in the last few decades."

Reed took verbal slaps at public apathy, compromising political organizations, ineffective law enforcement agencies, judges who fail to do their duty and board of election commissioners who have "been unable to prevent vote frauds on a vast scale."

It is because of these things, Reed said, that criminals have been able to make inroads into

Grand Jury To Study Crime in Southern Iowa Will Be Called

DES MOINES (AP) — A federal grand jury to study whether organized crime and racketeering operate in southern Iowa will be ordered to convene in Des Moines next month.

William R. Hart, U.S. attorney for the southern district of Iowa, made this announcement Tuesday following an extraordinary conference here of federal law enforcement officials.

Hart said it may be a special grand jury or the regular grand jury now in session may be recalled. This will be the second such grand jury call for Iowa. Last week T. E. Diamond, U.S. attorney for the northern district, reported a federal grand jury would convene at Waterloo Mar. 18.

Among those attending Tuesday's session here were representatives of the secret service, the federal bureau of investigation, bureau of narcotics, alcohol tax unit and the bureau of internal revenue.

Hart and William B. Danforth, assistant U.S. attorney for the northern district who represented Diamond at the conference, issued a joint statement at the meeting's close, saying: "Partly as a result of the conference, and partly for other reasons in existence before the conference was held, Judge William F. Riley will, in the near future, be asked to convene a grand jury."

Hart said it probably would be called "sometime around the middle of March" and convene in Des Moines.

War Conduct Is Criticized In Battle Over Ace's Death

WASHINGTON (AP) — The controversy over the fate of Maj. George A. Davis Jr., America's leading jet pilot in Korea, continued to boil over Tuesday as a Republican congressman directed new charges at the administration.

Davis was shot down and presumably killed Monday after destroying 14 enemy planes in 59 missions. His wife in Lubbock, Texas, complained that her husband should have been sent home, as the first three American jet aces were, after he had shot down his fifth enemy plane.

"If I could feel that he lost his life for some good reason, I could feel better about it. But this is a war without reason," Sen. Styles Bridges, GOP floor leader, said the administration's conduct of the Korean war has made it "the most helpless conflict in American history."

"For our boys on the battlefield it must be discouraging," he said, "because they are fighting a barbarous enemy with one hand while their other hand is tied by restraints imposed by the Truman-Acheson administration."

Rep. Brian Mahon (D-Texas) said he has asked the air force to make a thorough investigation of the circumstances surrounding Davis' continued assignment to combat. At the Pentagon, Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, air force chief of staff, met behind closed doors with his top advisors to discuss issues raised by the Davis episode.

Truman Says He Might Run For Re-Election In Interest Of Peace

Peace Talks Halt, Await Red Offer

MUNSAN (WEDNESDAY) (AP) — The main Korean armistice talks were recessed Tuesday when the Communist delegation announced it would submit shortly a revised proposal for a final peace settlement.

The Reds gave no hint of what changes they would suggest, nor when they would be ready to unveil the new plan.

As of early today, the Reds had not asked for resumption of the full-dress meetings, which are discussing the final armistice agenda item — recommendations to governments concerned.

Prisoner Meetings Continue
 However, low level staff officer meetings on prisoner exchange and truce supervision questions continued in Pannunjom.

In Tokyo, the "Voice of the UN Command Radio" Tuesday night declared "The stage now is set for a possible truce" if the Communists stop "stalling progress."

Yet the Allied broadcast said the Communists were stalling "with the obvious object of trying to . . . becloud the Korean peace settlement with other issues in which the Communists and the free world are at odds."

3 Stage Solution
 In London, British government sources Tuesday a three-stage effort to solve far eastern problems:

1. A special session of the UN general assembly to receive formal notification that a truce has been negotiated. 2. A peace conference with the Reds strictly limited to Korean issues. 3. Later, a wide-ranging conference to try to solve many problems vexing the far east.

The scope of the final peace settlement has been underway since Saturday.

At Tuesday's meeting of the main armistice delegations, Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, UN spokesman, said the Red senior delegate, North Korean Gen. Nam Il, immediately began talking against a proposed Allied revision of the Communist draft.

Nam Il Changes Line
 Then suddenly, Nuckols said, the North Korean switched his line, saying:

"In order that a reasonable solution can be achieved on item five of our agenda, our side will be prepared to submit a revised version of our proposal at the next plenary session."

At the lower level staff officers' meeting Tuesday the Reds made two concessions on truce supervision terms, but both were called insufficient by the Allies.

Illinois Woman Has 18th Child

BENTON, ILL. (AP) — Cecil Sanders, who miraculously escaped death in the Dec. 21 explosion at Orient No. 2 coal mine, suffered a nervous collapse Tuesday while testifying before the Illinois mining investigation commission.

He was taken to a hospital at nearby West Frankfort where physicians said he was "resting comfortably" and probably would recover.

Sanders, who lived through a 60-hour explosion ordeal in which 119 other miners died, had been on the stand about 10 minutes when he collapsed. He had told of his experiences "preceding the blast."

MRS. RAYMOND BAKER, 40, smiles as she displays her 18th baby in a Joliet, Ill. hospital. The baby boy, born Feb. 10, makes a total of 10 boys and eight girls in the Baker family, who range in age up to 21. The father works for a pipeline service company.

Tells Legislator World Problems Will Decide It

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman was quoted Tuesday as saying he would be willing to "sacrifice" himself and run for reelection if convinced such a step was necessary to lead the nation to peace.

The latest clue to the president's intentions came from Rep. Adolph J. Sabath (D-Ill.), 85-year-old dean of the house, who said Truman told him he may feel "obliged" to run.

Sabath, emerging from a White House talk with the President, told newsmen:

"He (Truman) added that perhaps conditions may develop which may make it unnecessary for him to serve again and that other candidates might do as well."

Sabath's remarks gained significance from the fact that he is a frequent White House visitor and is thoroughly familiar with the rules against quoting the President without his knowledge. Speculation immediately arose that Truman was aware of what Sabath would say when he talked with newsmen later.

Legislator Describes Conversation
 The veteran Illinois legislator described their conversation in these terms:

"The president said that after putting in seven years in the job, he thought he had had enough. "However, he said if he actually felt he could be of aid and help to America and the world in bringing about a peace and adjusting world problems, in that case he would be willing to sacrifice himself and possibly shorten his life."

"He said if it would help, these would be the only conditions under which he felt he could seek reelection."

Recalls Truman Warning
 The statement that Truman might feel "obliged" to run in the interest of peace recalled the President's warning to Republicans last Nov. 20 that they would be "playing with dynamite" if they challenged his foreign policy as a major issue of the 1952 elections.

Some observers believe that might spur Truman as nothing else would to run again. Despite railing attacks by Republican critics, the President has shown repeatedly that he is proud of his handling of international affairs.

Sabath spoke out when a White House reporter asked him casually if the President had said whether he plans to seek reelection. That got Sabath started. "I asked him how soon he will be giving out a statement that he's a candidate again," Sabath said.

The congressman, who has served under eight presidents, said he told Truman he "owed it to the country" to run.

Interpreting the News —

Only the Proximity of Air Crashes Arouses a Different Public Impact

By J. M. ROBERTS JR., Associated Press News Analyst

Government officials report no wave of hysteria throughout the United States among people living near busy airports. But there certainly is one in and around New York.

Automobiles collide, ships sink and airplanes crash. As long as it involves only those who pay their money and take their chances, the general public accepts it as part of life. But when three big planes crash into one small apartment-crowded area within two months, the impact is different.

Newark airport, even when it was the busiest in the world, produced only one serious crash in more than 20 years. Then suddenly, by strange coincidence, there are three in a row. Public officials, already under heavy pressure because the second crash took life and property from innocent residents, closed the field in the middle of the night without even waiting for the public clamor of dawn.

Pressure too Great

Yet the chances against the Elizabeth string of crashes being stretched by one or more new ones would seem almost incalculable. But the governor of New Jersey, the officials of the port of New York authority which operates the field, the mayor of Elizabeth were unanimous. They might know that hysteria was taking over, but the pressure was too great.

Then it spread to Queens, 20 miles away, where Idlewild and LaGuardia fields shared with Newark the load of nearly all the vast metropolitan and international air traffic. Shifting the Newark load ran the flight total at LaGuardia to 100 an hour. "Close them down," demanded the chairman of the aviation committee of the Queens county grand jurors association. Leaders of civic and taxpayers groups, already opposed to the fields because of their nuisance to residents, took up the cry.

Mild to Safety Measures

It takes a mixture of human congestion, fear and dramatics to produce such a reaction. More than a million people have died on the nation's highways. Thousands of vehicles have crashed into stores and homes, crushed pedestrians on sidewalks, and public reaction to safety measures remains exasperatingly mild.

Yet great masses of people shudder into protesting groups when something as unpredictable as lightning strikes nearby, and a vital service is threatened. It's a strange thing to watch. Airports are needed not farther away but nearer to the centers of cities. It is up to operators and government supervisors to see that the public is protected from them at least as much as it is protected from the dangers of great fires or explosions. Complete protection against any of the dangers of modern life is impossible, and turning the clock back to the time of Indian raids wouldn't help, either.

"I TOLD MOMMY not to take the plane. I told her I could never find another mommy and daddy like my own." Patricia Clausen, 5, was quoted as saying those words after she survived the air transport crash in Elizabeth, N.J. In the picture, Patricia is attended by an unidentified nurse. Her parents were still not accounted for several hours after the crash.

LAST RITES are administered to a woman victim by an unidentified priest at the scene of the crash of a four-engine airliner in Elizabeth, N.J., Monday.

Farmhouse May Become Summer 'White House'

AP Newsfeature

GETTYSBURG, PA. — A century-old weather-beaten farmhouse a stone's throw from historic Gettysburg battlefield may have a date with history.

The farmhouse is owned by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who is being boomed for the Republican nomination for president. Residents here are wondering if the farmhouse might one day become the nation's summer "White House."

Eisenhower bought the 189-acre farm early last year, intending to make the place his home after retirement.

He was sent to Europe to organize the North Atlantic Treaty army. Since then he has not had a chance to visit the farm.

Meanwhile, townspeople are watching with considerable excitement the progress of their famous neighbor in the presidential race.

Resident or President?

"We would love it if he would become president," said Burgess William G. Weaver. But he hastened to add:

"He always was a favorite around here. Everyone in this town will be glad to have Ike as a resident whether he gets to be president or not."

Older Gettysburg residents remember when Eisenhower served for a six-month period here at Camp Colt in 1918. It was while at Camp Colt, now abandoned, that Eisenhower held his first independent command. He was leader of a tank unit. He also received a promotion during his duty here — from captain to major.

Got Doctorate

The general made a triumphal return to Gettysburg in 1946 when he was awarded a doctor of laws degree by Gettysburg college.

The battlefield site surrounding Gettysburg now draws some 800,000 tourist visitors a year. The addition of another tourist attraction such as a summer White House would probably require a big expansion in accommodations, businessmen say.

The Eisenhower farm is about three miles southeast of this southern Pennsylvania town. The eastern boundary of the farm skirts the edge of the battlefield reservation. Many of the monuments dotting the rolling battlefield area are visible from the farmhouse porch.

Massive Barn

The house is surrounded by a cluster of red frame outbuildings and a massive 60-year-old barn, painted red with blue shutters and a tin roof.

A quarter-mile dirt lane bounded on each side by a wire fence leads to the farm buildings. The farm house itself is a 2½ story red brick structure, with white trim and green shutters. No one knows the exact age of the building, but it is well over a century.

It has nine rooms separated by flimsy wallpapered board partitions. The outside walls of the house, however, are 15 inches thick and are fashioned of heavy logs encased in plaster and brick. Downstairs is a kitchen, dining room and living room. Upstairs are five bedrooms and a bath. There are four fireplaces all unused for years.

Dairy Herd

During Eisenhower's absence the farm is being managed by 23-year-old Raphael Redding, son of the former owner of the farm. Its primary income is from a dairy herd of 31 Holstein and Guernsey cows and 500 chickens. Redding said the dairy herd produces an income of about $1,000 a month at present. Eisenhower is reported to have paid about $40,000 for the farm.

If Eisenhower should become the next president and make his farm here his summer White House or weekend retreat, it would not be the first such place in the area.

"Shangri-la," the famous summer retreat of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, is about 25 miles south of here.

And, coincidentally, about a dozen miles east of here a secret military project is under construction. An army of workmen are busy tunneling through solid rock underground, fashioning what is reported as a "little Pentagon" for use in case the Pentagon at Washington, some 30 miles south of here, ever comes under attack.

Wages Increase on Country Weeklies

The wages of employees of Iowa's country weekly newspapers went up during 1951 in almost all classifications, according to the fifth annual survey of wages conducted by the bureau of newspaper service at SUU.

An article summarizing the wage trends on Iowa weeklies appears in the February issue of The Iowa Publisher, bulletin of the Iowa Press association.

Wages increased in 17 of the 20 job classifications listed in the questionnaire. The average increases ranged from 75 cents a week to as much as $12.

A total of 113 of Iowa's weekly papers cooperated in the survey. Editors took home the biggest pay checks during 1951, with 38 of them averaging $77.21 a week. In second place were the mechanical foremen who averaged $74.40 a week.

All front office employees dealing with the news operation of the papers averaged $50.30 a week, and those on the business side, $48.55 a week. Employees in the back shop averaged $54.12 a week. The wage survey contained two new questions this year: One pertaining to time cards and time clocks, the other to coffee time periods.

Responses showed that 37 of the 113 weeklies used time cards in their shops, and 11 had time clocks.

Seventy-one per cent of the papers gave paid coffee time during the mornings, and 74 per cent during the afternoon. Of the 33 papers that reported on the amount of time given daily for coffee, three said 15 minutes, 12 said 20 minutes and 18 said 30 minutes.

TO THE EDITOR:

We would like to utilize this medium as a means of expressing student opinion of the late Dr. John E. Briggs.

During our short acquaintance with him we found him a very considerate professor, a wonderful man, and a good friend. In his classes he made assignments, lectures, and research problems meaningful to each student as an individual. When working with him the inspiration which resulted from the association seemed to make for more efficient and conscientious work on the part of the student.

The famous quotation from Khalil Gibran's book, "The Prophet," is very fitting as a description of him as a teacher:

"The teacher who walks in the shadow of the temple among his followers, gives not of his wisdom but of his faith and love."

"If he is indeed wise he does not bid you enter the house of his wisdom but rather leads you to the threshold of your own mind."

Traffic Tickets Don't Worry Her

FACING A DOZEN traffic tickets and policeman Daniel Sullivan in Chicago's safety court, Mrs. Bernice Painter just smiles. She reasoned that she didn't have to worry about the tickets because she didn't have a driver's license in the first place. The judge ordered the case continued (to give him time to recover?).

Mountaineers Plan 13th Summer Trip; Will Go to Sierras

Members of the Iowa Mountaineers, climbing and hiking club at SUI, are planning a 1952 expedition to the high Sierras of California in August.

Plans call for the group to leave Iowa City Aug. 8 and establish a base camp in the north Palisades area of the high Sierras on Aug. 13.

After nine days of climbing and hiking in the Palisades region, the group will visit the Mt. Whitney area where the experienced climbers of the party will ascend the highest mountain in the United States.

Other climbs scheduled for the summer expedition include a descent from the south rim of the Grand Canyon in Arizona down to the Colorado river, with an additional climb the following day to Angels Landing in Zion National park and a visit to Bryce National park.

The 24-day outing schedule calls for the return of the party to Iowa City on Sept. 1.

This will be the 13th year the mountain climbing club has conducted the summer expedition. Last year the club traveled by bus, rail and steamship to McKinley National park in Alaska where their plans to scale the Silver Twin peaks were halted by bad weather.

In 1947, members of the Mountaineers scaled the peaks of the Sawtooth range in Idaho and named one of the mountains Mt. Hancher for Pres. Virgil M. Hancher.

In 1948, 16 members climbed Devil's tower in Wyoming and camped over night. The 16 Mountaineers equalled the total number of persons to successfully climb the historic tower.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 34...THE FERRET

Descended from a long line of distinguished researchers, this studious scholar has burned too many gallons of midnight oil to gloss over a subject lightly. Especially such an important item as cigarette mildness. He burrowed into the matter with his usual resolution and concluded that a "quick puff" or a "fast sniff" doesn't offer much evidence. Millions of smokers agree there's but one true test of cigarette mildness.

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

A WINNER IN ANY POSITION, Minnesota gymnast Ken Bartlett spun, flexed and twisted to three first places and one second place as the Gophers edged out Iowa Tuesday night, 50-46. Bartlett was high point winner with 22, winning the trampoline, horizontal bar (above) and flying rings events and taking second in the side horse competition.

Iowa Gymnasts Take Season's 1st Loss

By JIM COOKE

The Hawkeye gymnastics squad suffered its first loss of the season here Tuesday night, a heart-breaking 50-46 decision to the undefeated Minnesota Gophers. Iowa had won its opener Saturday in a triangular meet with Northwestern and Western Illinois State while Minnesota has won over Nebraska, Wisconsin, and Ohio State.

Gopher Ken Bartlett took three wins and one second place for a total of 22 points to lead Minnesota in its win. Bartlett's triple triumph came in the trampoline, the horizontal bar, and the flying rings events, while he finished second behind Iowa's Dick Dohrmann in the side horse competition.

Biggest Hawkeye secrets were co-captain Al Fienup and Bernie Westfall who totaled seven points each.

Iowa jumped off to a 10-6 lead in the trampoline event and increased that margin to 21-11 as the Hawks grabbed first, third and fourth place in side horse competition.

Bartlett, however, came back to grab his three wins in the final four events to give the Gophers their third straight victory. Iowa's three-man tumbling team almost pulled it out of the fire for the

- Hawks, as Bob Hazlett won a first place in that event while Jim Izu took fourth and Bill Sorenson finished fifth, but Minnesota's smooth squad sewed it up with Burt Johnson's second place finish in that event.
- The gymnasts' next home meet will be on Saturday, Feb. 23, when they tangle with Indiana's Hoosiers in a dual meet at the field house.

Midwest Trains Olympians

Iowa Included in Schools with Foreign Athletes Who May Compete in '52 Games

CHICAGO (AP) — The midwest is a busy training ground for foreign athletes hopeful of representing their own countries in the 1952 Olympic games at Helsinki.

An Associated Press survey Tuesday disclosed that at least 17 athletes from seven different countries are performing at colleges in this area (including several from Iowa).

American statesmanship abroad and limited big-time track competition outside the States apparently caused the influx.

Canada with 10 natives, seven of them at the University of Michigan, tops the list which also includes two South African athletes, and one each from Sweden, Norway, New Zealand, Finland, and Panama.

Olympic rules require competitors to be nationals or naturalized citizens of the country they represent.

Sweden Holds Member
Sweden already has notified Fritz Roland Nilsson, 6-foot, 6-inch weight-man at Michigan, that he is a member of the Swedish Olympic team. Nilsson performed for Sweden in the 1948 Olympics.

Nilsson, from Svano, Sweden, flips the shot about 50 feet and the discus around 162 which would cut no wide swath in most major meets.

But there are some livelier Olympic prospects in the foreign set on midwestern campuses.

Take Michigan's Don McEwen, Drake's Jim Lavery, and Iowa's Rich Ferguson, all of Canada; Par-die's Denis Johansson of Finland; Oklahoma's Neville Price from South Africa, and Illinois' Cirilo McSween from Panama.

McEwen 2-Mile Ace
McEwen has won seven NCAA and Big Ten distance titles with a 9:01.9 outdoor two-mile clocking to his credit. He was 1950's all-college two-miler.

Just as McEwen captains Michigan, Canadian Lavery is Drake track captain and one of the nation's fastest 440 runners. His best clocking is 47.6, made in the NCAA trials last year.

Johansson has learned a lot about American running as a sort of third-place chaperone in the Don Gehrmann-Fred Wilt mile feud. He hopes to qualify for the Finnish Olympic team in the 1500 and 5,000 meters.

McSween, 22-year-old junior, won both the Big Ten indoor and outdoor 440 championship as a sophomore last year when his only quarter-mile defeat came when he placed sixth in the NCAA.

Iowans Will Help
Price, 22-year-old Oklahoma freshman from East London, South Africa, holds the British empire broad jump title and also is a sprinter. Ferguson, slender 20-year-old Iowa freshman, was Canadian 3-mile champion in 1949 and 1950.

Gordon Dickson, sophomore at Drake, is a Canadian hopeful at 10,000 meters.

Two Olympic swimming prospects are Graham Johnston, 20, Oklahoma U. freshman from Bloemfontein, South Africa, and Ross Lucas, Iowa freshman from Auckland, New Zealand. Johnston holds the British Empire 1,500-meter free style championship. Lucas is credited with New Zealand clockings for the 440 free style and 1,500 meter faster than Big Ten records.

Hawkeyes Rated 5th In Nation

Kentucky Holds 1st In AP Poll; Illinois Drops to 6th Place

NEW YORK (AP) — With the approach of tournament time in college basketball, it almost is becoming possible to pick out the most likely candidates for the major events by looking at the weekly national rankings.

Kentucky already has earned a place in the NCAA tournament by clinching the Southeastern conference title. And for the fourth straight week the sports writers and sportscasters participating in the Associated Press ranking poll have voted the Wildcats the No. 1 position in the nation.

Also ranked in the first ten, Kansas State and Kansas of the Big Seven conference, Iowa and Illinois of the Big Ten, St. Louis of the Missouri Valley and Washington of the Pacific coast are very much in the running for conference titles and NCAA playoff spots.

Here's how the teams were ranked this week by 103 voters: Kentucky, Kansas State, Duquesne, St. Bonaventure, Iowa, Illinois, St. Louis, Washington, Kansas and St. John's (Brooklyn).

Kentucky, listed first on 42 ballots, polled a total of 867 points as compared to 737 for Kansas State, which drew 14 first-place votes.

Although several of the top ten teams switched positions last week, the group as a whole remained unchanged. Unbeaten Duquesne and Iowa moved upon the list while Illinois and Kansas dropped back after losing.

Top ten (first place votes in parentheses):

Teams and Won-Lost Record	Points
1. Kentucky (42) (21-2)	867
2. Kansas State (14) (15-3)	737
3. Duquesne (4) (17-0)	697
4. St. Bonaventure (12) (16-1)	563
5. Iowa (4) (15-1)	473
6. Illinois (1) (14-2)	443
7. St. Louis (3) (17-4)	397
8. Washington (5) (19-3)	369
9. Kansas (2) (16-2)	254
10. St. John's (17-2)	161

Top 7 Relax As Iowa Subs Hold Tune-Up

Basketball Coach Bucky O'Connor gave his first seven players a well-earned vacation Tuesday, and sent the rest of the reserves through a scrimmage.

The starting five of Chuck Darling, Bob Clifton, Skip Greene, Herb Thompson and Deacon Davis, and top reserves Ev Cochran and Chuck Jarnagin missed the drill.

"They'll be back today, however, and will work against Purdue plays in preparation for their game at Lafayette Saturday. Scout Ben Douglas looked the Boilermakers over, Saturday in their 78-67 win over Wisconsin.

O'Connor was pleased with the showing of the Hawkeye reserve units in the Michigan game Monday night and in Tuesday's scrimmage. He added that Ev Cochran will definitely be the No. 6 man on the squad.

"We think Bucky ranks right along with Ted Leach of Illinois last year who was the best sixth man in the Big Ten," Bucky continued. "Confidence may have something to do with his sharper shooting, but he never has been in much of a slump, and his defensive play is much better."

The Hawks now have a 7-1 record in conference play, good for a first place tie with Illinois, and a season mark of 15-1. They have averaged 68.3 points a game to the opponents' 59.6, and have made 335 per cent of their field goal attempts while holding the others to 307 per cent.

Chuck Darling's scoring has featured Iowa play to date as he has set a new Hawkeye season scoring record with a total of 405 points in 16 contests. This surpasses the 399 points compiled by all-American Murray Wier in 1947-48 during a 19-game season. Big Chuck now has six games left to add to the record.

Olympic Commission Gets German Dispute

OSLO (AP) — The International Olympic committee Tuesday set up a special commission to govern the selection of East and West German athletes for the summer games at Helsinki.

The commission will be made up of three from the East and three from the West under the chairmanship of Dr. Karl Ritter Von Halt, who is a member of the International Olympic committee.

This commission will be in charge of selecting and organizing the teams for the summer games. The West Germans have already accepted these terms.

OSLO (AP) — Stray dogs will be shot without warning, and stray children and their parents will be severely reprimanded if they wander onto the Olympic bobsled course while races are going on.

An official announcement from the Oslo organizing committee outlined these penalties, which will be applied rigorously when the bobs races begin this Thursday.

Bobs will rocket down the twisting mountainside course at the average of 60 miles per hour.

Track Team Opens Season Saturday Against Wisconsin

By LEE CANNING

Iowa's 1952 indoor track season continues Saturday at 2 p.m. in the field house when the Hawkeye runners face a balanced Wisconsin squad in the first dual meet of the season for both teams.

Runners from both schools were entered in the Milwaukee Journal Relays, Feb. 1, when the Hawkeyes were especially impressive in scoring in scoring two seconds and a third.

Track Coach Francis Cretzmeier expects he meet to give a good indication of Iowa's potential for the coming season since both squads are strongest in the same events.

SCOTT

Scott will face another of the Big Ten's leading quarter-milers, LeRoy Collins of Wisconsin, in the 440-yard event. Collins edged Scott for second place in the conference outdoor meet last year and has turned in the fine time of 49.2 indoors for the 440.

Scott jumped into the national spotlight by winning the Junior AAU 400-meter championship at Berkeley, Calif., last summer.

Both Scott and Collins could top the Iowa-Wisconsin meet record of 49.8 seconds for the quarter, set by Iowa's Carl Teufel in 1938.

Another meet record could fall in the half-mile. Iowa's Ted Wheeler and LeRoy Ebert face Badger Sam Greenlee in that event. The Wisconsin runner has been timed in 1:55 for the half.

Papers Help Taxpayers Claim $2 Million Refund

WASHINGTON (AP) — The internal revenue bureau said Tuesday newspapers helped 46,970 taxpayers get $2,080,668 in refunds from the government during January.

The bureau reported that 461 papers throughout the nation carried lists of taxpayers who were due for refunds but had not collected them, usually because the tax bureau couldn't locate them.

Readers saw their names in the papers and turned out in large numbers to receive the refunds, some of which had been hanging fire for several years.

Many taxpayers, however, apparently failed to notice their names on the list. The bureau said that at the end of January refunds still had not been delivered to 1,176,100 persons. The uncollected funds totaled $35,634,474.

A spokesman added that publication of the refund lists by newspapers probably would bring even more taxpayers out of the lost category in February.

One or more papers carried the refund list in every state in the nation except Nevada. Illustrating the effect of the publicity, Nevada made only seven past due refunds during January, totaling $476.

New York state, with six of the nation's 64 revenue collection districts, headed the list of refund deliveries during January, with 8,462 taxpayers getting $715,133 in back money from the government.

In some states many papers published the list—53 in Texas, 42 in Illinois, 46 in Kansas and 51 in Ohio.

New York state, with six of the nation's 64 revenue collection districts, headed the list of refund deliveries during January, with 8,462 taxpayers getting $715,133 in back money from the government.

In some states many papers published the list—53 in Texas, 42 in Illinois, 46 in Kansas and 51 in Ohio.

Readers saw their names in the papers and turned out in large numbers to receive the refunds, some of which had been hanging fire for several years.

Many taxpayers, however, apparently failed to notice their names on the list. The bureau said that at the end of January refunds still had not been delivered to 1,176,100 persons. The uncollected funds totaled $35,634,474.

A spokesman added that publication of the refund lists by newspapers probably would bring even more taxpayers out of the lost category in February.

One or more papers carried the refund list in every state in the nation except Nevada. Illustrating the effect of the publicity, Nevada made only seven past due refunds during January, totaling $476.

Religious Head Urges Church-State Affairs Be Carefully Studied

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—A nationally-known church leader Tuesday urged an unemotional study of problems resulting from relations between the state and the church.

Dr. Roswell P. Barnes of New York city expressed his views before executives of city councils of churches. It was one of a number of meetings of sections of the division of Christian education of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. here Tuesday.

Dr. Barnes is executive secretary of the division of life and work of the national council. He said:

"The non-Roman churches must soon make up their minds as to whether they can appropriately request or accept tax funds for ecclesiastical institutions, whether hospitals, colleges or welfare agencies."

"Interference with the churches, first in the Nazi and Fascist regimes of Germany and Italy, and more recently in the Communist-dominated countries, has made us very alert to any encroachments of the state on the freedom of the churches."

Dr. Barnes said the relationship between the public schools and religious instruction in connection with the school system is an issue of concern "especially to religious educators and one which involves issues of church and state."

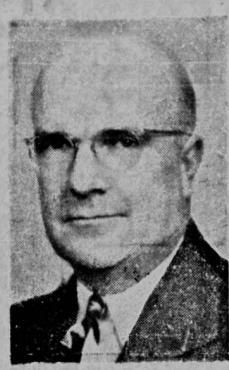

"Here the question is not so much that of possible preferential treatment of one sect, but rather whether a tax-supported institution should give aid to any or all sects and whether it is appropriate for a tax-supported school to become an agency for religious instruction or religious exercises."

"It is very important that our people should study carefully the underlying questions of policy and principle so that they may have a basis for sound judgment on these problems."

Five Democratic and two Republican county officeholders announced Tuesday that they will seek nomination in the June primary for re-election to their positions.

Officials announcing their candidacy are: Sheriff Albert J. Murphy and Recorder R. J. Jones, Republicans; Supervisors J. E. Pechman and Robert Mahoney, Clerk R. Neilson Miller, Treasurer Lumir Jansa and Auditor Ed Sulek, Democrats.

Pechman, member of the board of supervisors since 1942 and chairman this year, seeks re-election for a three-year term, beginning Jan. 1, 1954.

Law Grads Take Bar Examinations

Special bar examinations began Tuesday and will continue through Friday at SUI for 40 aspirants.

Midyear law college graduates, especially those who may be called up soon for military service, are among those taking the tests. The practice of arranging special midyear bar examinations was followed during World War II.

SUI and Drake university each has 17 graduates among the persons being examined. Law graduates of Creighton university, Georgetown university, the University of Michigan, and the University of South Dakota also are taking the tests.

Manuel Herrick, One-Time So'on, Lost in Sierras

QUINCY, CALIF. (AP) — Manuel Herrick, the onetime eccentric congressman from Oklahoma with a weakness for women and a flare for publicity, appears to have quietly reached the end of the trail.

The body of the 78-year-old white-bearded man, whose first congressional effort was to legislate mice out of the capitol basement, is believed buried in the Sierra snows.

He and a partner, George L. Welch, 73, headed into high country Jan. 11 to visit a gold mining claim. Welch's frozen body was found last Saturday. Nearby was Herrick's knapsack.

Herrick, whose antics and court suits involving women once kept him repeatedly in the news, had been little heard of in recent years.

He became a Republican congressman from the normally Democratic Cherokee strip of Oklahoma by sheer accident. His Democratic opponent won the election, then died.

Herrick got the seat for a single term, 1921-1922, but was defeated for reelection.

Herrick boasted of his weakness for women. He once wrote all 49 entrants of a bathing beauty contest in Washington, proposing marriage. Ironically, he introduced a bill in congress to ban beauty contests.

Student Council . . .

"An increased membership is desirable," Turney said, "because it will prevent an excessive workload on individual council members after the group's powers have been increased."

Tom Unga, G. Dyersville, chairman of the sub-committee on representation, said the present basis for seating on the council is no longer acceptable to the larger housing units.

His committee report pointed out that under the present representation plan, each unit is entitled to one delegate, although some of the larger housing units have 13 times as many students as the smaller ones.

Seek Proportional System

The committee recommended to the council that a proportional system be set up and that this be a flexible plan to prevent future inequalities from a shift in student population.

The system suggested by the sub-committee is called the 5 per cent plan and operates like this:

1. Each housing unit is entitled to one representative regardless of population.

2. If the housing unit has three-fourths of 5 per cent of the total student enrollment, it is entitled to one additional member.

3. A third delegate will be allowed if there is three-fourths of 5 per cent left after the first extra representative is given.

No more than three representatives will be allowed from each housing unit.

28 on New Council

Under the proposed plan and with the enrollment figured at the 7,300 mark of last fall, the units would be represented on the council like this:

Eastlawn	1
Quadrangle	1
Law Commons	1
Currier Hall	1
Hillcrest	1
South Quadrangle	1
Town Men	1
Later-Fraternity Council	1
Pan-Hellenic Council	1
Westlawn	1
Women's Cooperatives	1
Married Students	1
Union Board	1
Univ. Women's Association	1
Total	28

In the past, four delegates-at-large have been elected by the student body at the annual spring elections. The committee recommended that the council abolish these seats.

In its report, the committee said the representatives-at-large are technically responsible to the whole student body, but practically responsible to no one.

"The winning candidates are chosen more on the basis of a 'popularity poll' than on the much more desirable quality of ability."

Married Students Are Problem

Another problem which confronts the group concerns representation of married students. Since there is no married student governing body at present, there is no method of choosing the delegates, especially if the election-at-

1 Iowan Killed, 2 Injured in Korean Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The defense department Tuesday announced three more Iowa casualties in the Korean area.

Pfc. Donald K. Bechtel, grandson of Mrs. Mary E. Benschhof of near Boone, was listed as killed in action.

Listed as wounded were Pvt. John A. Huxford Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Huxford, Des Moines, and Sgt. Keith H. Knott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Knott, Burlington.

large is not available.

Unga said that many married students live in Iowa City apartments and there was some support for the proposal that these students be considered as Town Men.

Unga outlined the committee report at a special meeting of the council last Thursday, and no serious objections were raised.

One member, however, wanted to know why the professional students hadn't been included in the representation plan. The council took no action, but decided to see first if these groups are interested in having a delegate on the governing body.

Committee OK's Price Boss

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate banking committee gave Ellis Arnall a unanimous vote of confidence Tuesday as the nation's new price stabilizer.

Arnall's appointment to lead the fight against inflation now goes before the full senate for confirmation. A vote will be taken probably next Monday. The committee's action left little doubt that he would be confirmed as Michael V. DiSalle's successor.

Arnall, a lawyer and former governor of Georgia, spent an hour and a half with the senators, promising to hold the line against inflation "if you give me the weapons."

Without committing himself on a policy, Arnall agreed to study the question of decontrolling things now selling under price ceilings. "There may be areas that can be decontrolled, said cautiously.

President Truman asked congress Monday to extend all economic controls for two years beyond the expiration date of June 30, 1952.
