Jury Returns 9 Indictments, Only 1 Revealed

The Johnson county grand jury Friday returned nine indictments, one of which was made public. The indictment which was revealed charged Earl M. Ingalls, 30, Iowa City, with breaking into the Moorhead Construction company Nov. 9, 1951.

Ingalls is in county jail under $2,000 bond. The other eight indictments will not be revealed until those charged are taken into custody.

The indictments were presented to Judge James P. Gaffney, along with a report of other grand jury activities. These activities were also not made public Friday.

The grand jury report included an investigation of a Daily Iowan story which said a 20-year-old reporter had purchased beer in a number of Iowa City taverns.

Judge Gaffney accepted the report of the grand jury, "except criticism of The Daily Iowan staff, because the court has not sufficient information concerning said matter."

These remarks were tacked on to the grand jury report in open session of court. Later, the judge said "I don't approve or disapprove" of what was in the report.

Exactly what the grand jury had to say about the story in The Daily Iowan was not clarified by Gaffney or County Atty. William L. Meardon.

This information will probably be revealed next week.

Britain Considers Accepting Farouk As King of Sudan

LONDON (AP) — Diplomatic officials disclosed privately Friday that Britain is considering recognizing Egypt's King Farouk I as regent or king of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan. Such a status would last only until the Sudanese people get a chance to settle their own future, they said.

The million-square mile Sudan, adjoining Egypt on the south, and the Suez canal zone in the north, are the great issues in the now quiet dispute between Egypt and Britain.

The informants, who declined to be identified by name, emphasized that so far the plan has not been submitted to either Egypt or to Sudanese leaders. Both may be sounded out in the next week or two if the British decide to go through with the plan, the sources said.

Observers were quick to point out that the British-Egyptian dispute over the canal zone remains the big immediate problem dividing the two countries. If the Sudanese should agree to Farouk as king or regent, these observers emphasized, Britain would be giving away little and yet would be pleasing most nationalist-minded Egyptians.

Ever since Egypt denounced her 1936 defense treaty with Britain last mid-October and proclaimed Farouk king of the Sudan, London has reemphasized that the 4 to 9 million Sudanese themselves must decide their political future.

Relations between Britain and Egypt have apparently improved since Farouk kicked out the extreme nationalist government of Premier Mustapha Nahas Pasha in the wake of the Jan. 26 riots in Cairo and replaced it with the government headed by Premier Aly Maher Pasha.

Sen. Kerr To Speak At Demo Rally Here

Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.), who has been mentioned as a possible presidential candidate, is scheduled to speak here tonight at a first district Democratic dinner and rally.

The dinner, which will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the Jefferson hotel, will bring together representatives from the 12 counties in Iowa's first district.

Kerr was elected to the senate in 1948 and will be the favorite son presidential candidate from Oklahoma in the 1952 national elections.

Kerr is a former governor of Oklahoma, serving from 1943 to 1947.

Chairman of the rally tonight is Atty. D. E. Borchart. Atty. Emil G. Trott is ticket chairman.

They're Both Friendly Now

POLITICAL OPPONENTS MET Friday when Guy Gabrielson (left) Republican national chairman, and Frank McKinney (right), his Democratic counterpart, shook hands. The occasion was a session of the bipartisan citizens committee for the Hoover report reorganization of the government. Enjoying his position as the middle man is Charles Coates, vice chairman of the committee.

Hays and Towner Chosen by Military As Cadet Colonels

With traditional military pomp and circumstance, Helen Hays, A4, Iowa City, was presented as the 1952 honorary cadet colonel at the golden anniversary Military ball in the Iowa Union Friday night.

John G. Towner, A4, Des Moines, was disclosed as cadet colonel to serve as student commander of ROTC for the semester.

Miss Hays is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, social sorority, and was selected last year for the "most outstanding Greek-letter woman" award. She is vice-president of Mortar Board and of the senior class of the college of liberal arts.

Honorary lieutenant colonels named as attendants to Miss Hays are seniors, Marianne Craft, Hudson; Joyce Horton, Osage; Florence Ann Schuck, West Point, and Ruth Swanson, Red Oak.

Towner was recently notified that he will receive a commission as a second lieutenant in the air force upon graduation in June.

Cadet lieutenant colonels named for the air force ROTC include, Albert French, A3, Coggan; Dewitt Scothorn, C4, Cherokee, group commanders; Judson Herriott, A4, Hampton, wing commander.

For the army ROTC, cadet lieutenant colonels are John Brake, G, Sioux City, deputy commander; Stuart McConkie, M4, Cedar Rapids, medical unit commander; William H. Schlegel, D4, Bloomfield, dental unit commander; George Adamson, A3, Des Moines, and Jack Woodrow, A3, Blakesburg, battalion commanders, and Robert J. Paulus, A4, Iowa City, regimental commander.

2 Charged with Bribing Illinois Meat Inspector

CHICAGO (AP) — The file of charges in the Illinois horsemeat scandal grew higher Friday.

Developments included these: Matt Klaersch and Robert Klotz, horsemeat dealers, were charged with bribing a state food inspector in warrants issued in Rock Island.

A federal grand jury in Chicago prepared to look into the horsemeat trade—a job of research already being done by the Cook county (Chicago) and Lake county (Waukegan) grand juries.

Matt Klaersch of Oak Park and Robert Klotz of Chicago were accused of bribing Charles David Hunter of Alledo, a state food inspector who recently was suspended.

State's Attorney Bernard J. Moran of Rock Island county said the warrants were issued for Klaersch and Klotz as a result of statements made by Edward F. McCarthy of Chicago, an ousted state food inspector. Both McCarthy and Hunter are free on bond pending trial on charges of accepting bribes.

McCarthy testified Thursday at Hunter's preliminary hearing. He made these allegations in his testimony:

Hunter received a $200 bribe from Klaersch and Klotz last July 14 near the Tri-City Packing company in Silvis after the two inspectors had taken samples of meat. Hunter gave $100 to McCarthy.

Hunter told McCarthy last summer that he (Hunter) had been on the payroll of Joseph Siciliano for a year and a half at $450 a month. Siciliano, listed by officials as a big operator in the horse flesh trade, has been charged with conspiracy and bribery in Lake county and with bribery in De Witt county (Clinton).

Hunter did not testify at the hearing.

A two-minute silence spread over Britain, the commonwealth and a colonial empire as the burial service started inside St. George's. The choir sang the Easter hymn of triumph, "The Strife Is O'er, the Battle Done, Now Is the Victor's Triumph Won."

Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, the archbishop in robes of gold and black, murmured these solemn words of committal as the coffin was lowered through the stone floor to join the remains of 10 kings before him:

"Man that is born of woman hath but a short time to live, and is full of misery. He cometh up, and is cut down, like a flower; he fleeth as it were a shadow, and never continueth in one stay. "In the midst of life, we are in death."

This was the prayer with which the Church of England commits commoner as well as king.

There was no heating in the medieval building and the breath of the mourners formed wisps of vapors as they recited the prayers. Elizabeth II stood nearest the coffin throughout the service. The three veiled figures of her mother, sister and the princess duke, the king's sister, and the royal dukess were grouped close behind.

Her two surviving sons, Edward, Duke of Windsor, himself king for 11 months, and the Duke of Gloucester, turned and gave her a salute. So did the 16-year-old Duke of Kent, her grandson, and young Duke of Edinburgh, husband of the new queen.

Elizabeth II and the queen widow bowed from the shadows of their carriage, immediately behind the coffin bearing the glittering crown of more than 3,000 jewels, the orb and the scepter.

Reds in New Proposal For Post-Truce Talks

MUNSAN, Korea (SATURDAY) (AP) — Communist truce negotiators today proposed that the concerned governments themselves decide the agenda of the post-armistice conference.

North Korean General Nam Il presented a one-paragraph proposal at a 15-minute plenary session at Panmunjom.

It called for a political meeting within three months to discuss

Allied Tank Attack

SEOUL (SATURDAY) (AP) — An Allied raid by scores of tanks into the central front town of Kumsong killed nearly 100 Reds, wounded 88 more and blew up 50 Red bunkers, officers reported today.

The raid Friday into the rubbled no-man's land city followed an intense artillery barrage.

withdrawal of foreign troops and "peaceful settlement of the Korean problem."

The Reds inserted the significant word "etc" at the end of their proposal describing topics to be discussed.

Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief Allied negotiator, said "etc could mean a lot of things. I will not interpret anything until I have had a chance to study it."

The top truce teams will meet again in Panmunjom Sunday to discuss the Red proposal.

When today's plenary session ended, staff officers began meetings of prisoner exchange and truce supervision.

Col. George W. Hickman and other Allied staff officers talked for more than three hours on a revised nine-point exchange plan presented by the Reds Thursday.

The Communists stood pat on their refusal to permit voluntary repatriation of prisoners, the main undecided issue. They have been saying for weeks that each side must return its prisoners, even if the individual does not want to return.

Aside from the difference, Hickman said the main division was on the wording of the agreement.

No progress was reported Friday on the truce supervision issue.

City Laborer Injured When Struck by Car

Joseph Malone, 51, 328 S. Dodge st., was reported in "fair" condition at University hospitals Friday night, after he suffered a broken leg when struck by a car on Burlington st. near Gilbert st. about 9:30 p.m., police said.

Malone, a city laborer, was working on Iowa City's snow-packed streets at the time of the accident. The driver of the car was not identified.

RONALD RIDEOUT, charged with the $850.70 robbery of the Bronson, Iowa, bank Jan. 4, is shown leaving the U.S. commissioner's office in Los Angeles Friday. He was given a continuance until today of a removal hearing.

Williams said he has received information from the treasury department that Nunan not only got "special privilege" waivers to represent the Indianapolis Brewing Co., but also eight other clients in tax trouble with the government.

Nunan, who quit his post as commissioner of internal revenue in 1947, emphatically denied Thursday night that he ever represented the Indianapolis firm.

Army May Release Recalled Reserves 1 to 4 Months Early

WASHINGTON (AP) — The army announced Friday that enlisted men called to active duty with their national guard or organized reserve units may be released from one to four months earlier than their scheduled 24 months.

Releases will be granted, on an individual basis, to about 325,000 men. Roughly, the plan is to release one-fourth of this number a month, starting next month. National guard anti-aircraft battalions are exempt from the plan. They will be released as units, not as individuals.

The enlisted guardsmen and organized reserves affected are serving involuntarily. That is, they were called up with or without their consent. The present law puts a 24-month ceiling on their service, unless extended by congress or unless individuals agree to serve longer.

Among the factors to be taken into consideration in determining whether any enlisted guardsman or reserve is to be released will be (1) the length of his service during World War II, (2) combat duty in Korea, and (3) the number of his dependents.

Denies Dealings with Nunan

In Chicago, Alvin Bardin, president of the now defunct brewery, told newsmen he never had any business dealings with Nunan.

Nunan has denied he ever represented the company and said he has no recollection of ever seeking waivers to represent it. A federal statute bars certain government officials from pressing tax claims against the United States within two years after they leave office, but provides for waivers in some cases.

Bardin told reporters he met Nunan only once, when they were introduced at a luncheon in Chicago.

Waivers Given to Nunan

Even as Bardin made this statement to newsmen, the bureau of internal revenue announced that waivers were granted to Nunan to represent nine companies in tax cases involving government claims.

The bureau said that among others, waivers were given to Nunan to represent Alvin Bardin and Lawrence Bardin, both of Racine, Wis., and the Indianapolis Brewing Co.

Lawrence Bardin was formerly general manager of the Indianapolis brewery. The justice department said criminal proceedings have been started against him for alleged tax evasion.

Britain Buries Her King Amid Age-Old Rituals

WINDSOR, England (AP) — Britain committed the body of King George VI to the dust of the past Friday with all the age-gathered heraldry and traditions of her enduring monarchy and the older rites of Christian faith.

Queen Elizabeth II, center of the hopes of a people who glory in an earlier Elizabethan age, sprinkled red earth on the flag-draped coffin of her father as it sank from sight through the stone floor of storied St. George's chapel in Windsor castle.

She was tight lipped, but did not weep. The Queen Mother Elizabeth, Princess Margaret, the younger daughter of the king, and Princess Mary, the king's sister, also were dry-eyed but tense.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, the Anglican primate of England, intoned the prayer of committal, "ashes to ashes, dust to dust," at 8:20 a.m., CST in the 26-minute funeral service before the sovereigns of seven foreign nations, the sorrowing relatives and a distinguished congregation of statesmen, soldiers and household servants.

A million and more silent and reverent persons had watched 150 white-gathered sailors haul the old grey and green funeral gun carriage in a magnificent procession through London's streets from Westminster hall, where the body had lain in state three days, to grimy Paddington station.

More thousands doffed their hats and bowed in dutiful silence as a second procession wound through the crooked, cobbled streets to the chalky hill surmounted by Windsor's turrets.

The grandmother queen, Mary, did not participate in the processions or the services. Burdened by her 84 years, she watched the colorful procession from a window of her Marlborough house. As the coffin passed, she stood and with one sad gesture waved a farewell to her son.

Her two surviving sons, Edward, Duke of Windsor, himself king for 11 months, and the Duke of Gloucester, turned and gave her a salute. So did the 16-year-old Duke of Kent, her grandson, and young Duke of Edinburgh, husband of the new queen.

Elizabeth II and the queen widow bowed from the shadows of their carriage, immediately behind the coffin bearing the glittering crown of more than 3,000 jewels, the orb and the scepter.

A two-minute silence spread over Britain, the commonwealth and a colonial empire as the burial service started inside St. George's. The choir sang the Easter hymn of triumph, "The Strife Is O'er, the Battle Done, Now Is the Victor's Triumph Won."

The three veiled figures of her mother, sister and the princess duke, the king's sister, and the royal dukess were grouped close behind.

PART OF THE SOLEMN PROCESSION which escorted the body of King George VI through the streets of London from St. George's chapel to Windsor castle is pictured. More than a million persons watched the ceremony.

Tribute to a Devoted Teacher

The SUI community lost a great friend and teacher with the death of Prof. John Ely Briggs. Professor Briggs led a full life. He was devoted to his family, his church, his community and state. During the 37 years that he was a member of the political science department he found time to serve the university not only as a teacher but was also a very active member on a number of committees. He was respected and admired by faculty and students alike. He had a love for students which is reflected in the students' own testimonies that he always had time to advise them and help them conquer their problems. As a teacher of the youth of America, Professor Briggs took up the challenge which every teacher who is interested in the future of this nation faces. "In each new generation of students he found hope for the future. And each generation—to him—was composed of individual students, with individual hopes, ambitions, sorrows, problems and joys that engaged his attention and affection," President Virgil M. Hancher said in his eulogy to Professor Briggs. Who could know the full meaning of these words better than President Hancher who met Professor Briggs and was guided by him in his undergraduate days at SUI? SUI can be proud in its day of sorrow, that it has had the opportunity of having among its citizens a man such as Professor Briggs. President Hancher, referring to Professor Briggs, said that "no stimulus can take the place of a devoted teacher." Those who worked and studied with him know that his accomplishments will live forever as students study his research and voluminous writings.

Japan Auto Production Is Only 10 Cars Daily

TOKYO (AP)—There is only one automobile in Japan for every 2,400 people, compared to a U.S. rate of one car for each four persons.

The International Trade and Industry ministry, conducting a survey, found that Japan had twice as many cars in 1937 as it did in 1951. It also disclosed that Japan produces about 10 cars daily while the U.S. completes an average of 12,000 daily.

SUI Writers' Workshop Gets Results

INFORMALITY IS THE STANDARD as Prof. Paul Engle and his staff of instructors meet to discuss a student's manuscript written for an SUI class, writer's workshop. The class has achieved national recognition by producing numerous novels, short stories and works of poetry for publication in magazines and books. SUI is the only school in America that permits fiction and poetry to be submitted for degrees. Pictured in their quonset hut office near Iowa Memorial Union are: seated, left to right, Hansford Martin, Professor Engle and Walter Van Tilburg Clark. Standing is Verlin Cassil. All four have had books published.

Works of Students, Instructors Appear In Many Magazines

By JIM GOLTZ In a small quonset hut next door to the Iowa Memorial Union can be found members of one of SUI's most widely-celebrated classes, the writers' workshop. SUI's creative writing department is considered by many as the finest of its kind in the United States. More than forty books written by SUI students, including novels, collections of short stories and poetry, have been published by such firms as Random House, Houghton Mifflin and Macmillan. Students have had works published in The Atlantic Monthly, Harpers, Yale Review, The Saturday Review of Literature, Accent, Harper's Bazaar, Mademoiselle, Botteghe Oscuro, of Italy, New Story of Paris, Epoch, The Saturday Evening Post and Colliers. Additional Honors The students' short stories from these magazines have been selected for publication in two annual collections — the Best Short Stories and the O. Henry prize stories. Half of this month's issue of "Poetry" magazine will be devoted to poems written by students in the poetry workshop. Not one of these magazines is a student publication. The students have competed with professional writers from all parts of the country. Director of the writing program for the workshop is Prof. Paul Engle, who has had one novel and eight books of poetry published, the most recent of which is "The Word of Love."

Professor Engle suggests magazines which specialize in printing manuscripts written by students. Such periodicals as "New Directions," "Poetry," "The Kenyon Review," "The Sewanee Review," "Western Review," and "Southern Review" advocate new styles and techniques of writing and are eager to assist the young writer, Engle said. Instructors Restrict Criticism One of the new rules instituted by the workshop is that of more class participation and less criticism by the instructors. Class members enable them to understand that what is wrong with the story under discussion may be apparent in their own work. Instructors assisting Engle are Walter Van Tilburg Clark, Hansford Martin, and Verlin Cassil, all of whom have had books published. Clark is the author of "The Ox-Bow Incident," a novel later made into a motion picture. He has also authored prize-winning short stories, including his most recent

Senator Jumps the Gun To Rap 'Ransom' Deal

By J. M. ROBERTS JR. Associated Press News Analyst Sen. Tom Connally is flying in the face of military as well as diplomatic thinking when he proposes a break in diplomatic relations with Hungary. The Texas Democrat is attacking the administration for paying the $120,000 "fine" imposed on four American air force men forced down there last November. He calls it extortion, and demands that Congress cut off funds for diplomatic representation if the executive department refuses to make a break. There was speculation in Washington Friday as to just why Connally introduced his resolution at this time, when the state department already had announced that maintenance relations with Russia's central European satellites would be up for discussion at a conference of European representatives in Paris next month. It was recalled that Connally faces what some political observers have called a real fight for re-election this year, and that it is good politics to remind home constituencies of any national and international standing which a candidate may hold, in an appeal to local pride. And there's considerable anti-administration feeling in Texas, too. With regard to the specific case of the four fliers, first accused of espionage but convicted on lesser charges, the money was paid at the behest of the air force, whose motive was just to get the men out. Diplomats agreed on several grounds. There was relief over reduction of the charges and the alternative of fines instead of jail terms. There had been fear that one of the famous Communist "trials" for espionage might bring life terms or even death sentences. That would have created a serious international incident, for unless the fines were paid, the fliers might have been hauled up again after their three-month jail terms and be put through more gyrations for propaganda purposes. A war crisis could have been provoked, and the U.S. will not be ready for war for a time yet. With regard to the general matter of maintaining technical relations with countries which make them a farce, the state department is perhaps more willing to consider diplomatic breaks as a form of pressure than it was some time ago. But it hasn't really changed its mind. The central intelligence agency thinks it has a setup that obviates the need for listening posts, which has been one great argument for maintaining relations. But the army thinks it can't have too many sources from which warnings of any military movement against Europe might be given. Connally's move probably involves the growing belief that, eventually, America will have to call the hands of the Communist bluffers. But she is biding her time — buying time — until she assembles the hand that will make the call a success.

From Other Colleges

OHIO STATE Investigation committees around Washington have nothing on the Panhellenic council board at Ohio State university. It seems too many queens have been chosen in contests and the eastern beauties have been spending too much time running for different titles. So the council has formed a "Queen Investigation" committee to knock out nearly all the contests. A check on the number of contests showed 31, averaging one queen contest each week of the school year, vacations excepted. These 31 contests may be divided into three groups—all-campus queens, queens of student organizations and fraternity sweethearts. In the all-campus category there are the Homecoming queen, Mistletree Miss, Freshman Miss, Kobbeltone Kapers queen and May queen. Queens in the second group are the Military Ball queen, Pershing Rifles queen, Scabbard and Blade queen, Command squadron queen, Loveliest Lux girl, Pledge Princess, Makio queen, Calico queen, Engineering queen and Independent sweetheart. Then, of course, come 16 fraternity rulers. "There's too much pressure on attractive girls in a group," said the leader of the investigation committee (she's a woman, too).

Added Confidence In American Dollar Abroad Is Viewed

DES MOINES (AP)—The past year has seen "an extraordinary revival of confidence in the American dollar and in our government bonds," both at home and abroad, R.M. Evans, member of the Federal Reserve system board of governors said Friday night. In remarks delivered to the National Farm Institute, Evans said, "The resurgence of confidence coincided with the demonstration that our government bonds could stand on their own feet." This was a reference to the Federal Reserve system's decision last year to remove fixed-price market pegs on government securities. "There was a revival of confidence," Evans said, "because the market became a genuine market." "Foreigners Watch U.S." Evans said monetary experts in foreign lands watch America eagerly "because they so deeply feel that the survival of the free world depends in no small degree on the ability of the United States to maintain the value of its dollar against inflation." "It would be difficult," he said, "to overemphasize the importance which Europeans attach to the forthright steps which have been taken in this country since the outbreak of the Korean war to deal with the inflationary pressures inherent in our multi-million dollar defense program." Evans declared there is a direct relationship between success of American efforts to stabilize the nation's economy and "the preservation not only of the private free enterprise system but of western civilization as we know it today." A second speaker at the banquet climaxing the first day of the two-day Farm Institute session was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. L. G. Ligutti of Granger, Ia. Father Ligutti, executive director of the National Catholic Rural Life conference, returned recently from an extensive trip abroad. Father Ligutti said it is vital that Americans continue their efforts to help persons in foreign lands to help themselves. "Our Duty to Help" "It is our duty to love as human beings to help, assist, elevate, alleviate and improve our sister nations in need," he said. He explained that America owes much of its success to strains of seed and livestock and to scientific data borrowed from other countries.

North Carolina ROTC Cadets at the University of North Carolina are not always studying how to become officers in the air force after graduation. They are planning to present a musical March 21, with the theme dealing with a cadet's life from his first day at North Carolina until graduation. A 20-piece cadet orchestra will furnish the music and the production will include approximately 50 cadets.

Another musical show is being planned at the university featuring 30 Austrian students in "Visitors from Vienna." The group is on an eight-month tour in this country and is being sponsored by the National Student association committee at North Carolina.

Minnesota The University of Minnesota's air ROTC staff is planning a program to give pilot training to university cadets in their senior year. ROTC officials hope to start the program in the fall of 1952. They are awaiting passage of the reserve officers' training appropriations bill in congress and completion of contract negotiations with the university. Tentative plans would call for 40 hours of flying time at the university airport in university-owned planes.

Currier Hall Sweetheart and 4 Attendants To Be Chosen from 10 Candidates

Godiksen, Manning; Chastine Weber, Des Moines, and Norma Sexton, Des Moines. The sweetheart and her attendants will be chosen by a resident vote Wednesday, and be presented at an informal dance to be held in Currier's dining room next Saturday from 8 p.m. to midnight. All candidates are seniors and were selected on the basis of activities and service to the dormitory.

Home Economists Asked to Register With Red Cross

Professional nutritionists, dietitians, and home economists in the Iowa City area are asked to register for volunteer service with the Johnson county chapter of the American Red Cross.

This is a part of a general mobilization for national security and community service, according to Mrs. Marcus Powell, chairman of food and nutrition of the local chapter.

Mrs. Powell said, "The Red Cross registry is intended to supplement the plan of the American Dietetic association and the American Home Economics association to organize for national security."

Additional information about this program and materials for registering may be obtained by calling 7375.

Beauty Week Candidates Chosen; Identities Secret

Miss SUI will be elected by men students from a group of 21 candidates representing various SUI women's housing units, according to Candy Kane, promotion director of the pageant committee.

The identity of Miss SUI will remain a secret until the presentation of the winning candidate and her six attendants on Feb. 29 at the Club Cabaret.

All participating housing units submitted their candidates on Friday. Westlawn has been allowed five candidates in proportion to its number of residents and each of the other units have been allowed one candidate.

Each candidate will wear a costume representing a theme of a song title which will serve to individualize her as she is presented at each of the men's housing units during Pageant week, (Feb. 25-29).

The candidates will be presented in costume at the Beauty Revue, in the Iowa Union, following the Michigan State game, Feb. 25.

Feb. 18 to 22 has been designated as Mystery week. Although campaigning activities will take place, none of the candidates will be named.

Standing Room Tickets Available for 'Opera'

The final performances of "The Beggar's Opera" will be given tonight and Monday night at 8 p.m. in the dramatic arts building auditorium.

All reserved seats for both performances have been taken, but there may be cancellations and standing room tickets may still be obtained in room 8A Schaeffer hall.

College Bridge Tourney Opens Here Sunday

Students may enter the first round of the international inter-collegiate duplicate bridge tournament up to the time the contest begins at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

The tournament, sponsored by the Iowa Union board will be held in the sun parlor of the Union. Winners of the SUI tournament will be entered in a regional contest. The national competition will be held in Chicago in April.

Beethoven Recital To Be Broadcast

The third in a series of four recitals of the Beethoven Violin Sonatas will be given by Prof. Imre Waldbauer, violinist, and Prof. John Simms, pianist, Wednesday, at 8 p.m.

The program, the second in this semester's Wednesday Evening

Music Hour series, includes the two sonatas, Op. 30, No. 1, in A major and Op. 30, No. 2, in C minor.

Anyone interested in attending the recital will be admitted to the broadcast, which will be held in Studio E of station WSUL.

Coleman Addresses Printing Craftsmen

Prof. Carroll Coleman, head of the typographic laboratory of the SUI school of journalism, addressed the Cedar Rapids club of Printing House Craftsmen Friday evening.

He spoke on "Early Industrial Conditions in the Printing Crafts." In addition to his work at the university, Coleman operates a publishing house, The Prairie Press, at his home in Iowa City.

The "American Sample," an anthology of contemporary poetry designed and printed by Coleman was named monthly choice for January by the New York Book Clinic, a publisher's group which awards outstanding typography.

Coleman is the subject of a sketch in the current issue of the Society of Typographic Arts news bulletin. A number of specimens of his work have been reproduced in Inland Printer magazine.

World Prayer Day To Be Observed At Wesley Sunday

Under the auspices of the Student Christian council, the universal day of prayer called by the World's Student Christian federation will be observed 8 p.m., Sunday, at Wesley house. The theme of the day will be the brotherhood of man.

The federation is an international organization with headquarters at Geneva. Started in Sweden in 1895 by the Lutheran student movement, it now embraces students of most of the Protestant sects and of the Eastern Orthodox church.

To this end it sponsors regular study programs for its regional units, and each summer in Europe it holds a conference which attracts representatives from many countries.

Marriage Lectures To Begin Wednesday

Major in Marriage lectures will reopen Wednesday at 4:10 p.m. in the Chemistry auditorium. Dr. William Keettel of the obstetrics department will give the first of his five talks on marriage hygiene.

The talks, which will be illustrated by slides and movies, are intended to help prepare students for marriage. They are open to all SUI students. Succeeding lectures will be given Feb. 27, March 5, March 12 and March 19 at the same place and time.

The YWCA sponsors "Major in Marriage," Sue Starman, A3, Cedar Rapids, is chairman of the committee.

Commerce to Excuse Absences for 'Careers'

Most classes in the college of commerce will not be held during the "Careers Conference" Wednesday and Thursday next week to enable students to attend the sessions, Prof. Sidney G. Winter, dean of the college, announced Friday.

However, introduction to business, principles of accounting, and principles of economics classes will be held as usual.

Juniors and seniors in commerce will be excused from all classes; freshmen and sophomores from commerce classes only.

SUI Students Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Opfell

Miss Yvonne Nevers, N4, Mt. Pleasant, and Mr. Ronald Opfell, A4, Iowa City, were married Feb. 11 in the chapel of the First Methodist church. The Rev. L. L. Dunnington performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Opfell is the daughter of Mrs. Lloyd Estes of Des Moines and Mr. A. W. Nevers of Mt. Pleasant. Mr. Opfell is the son of Mrs. Evelyn Opfell of Iowa City.

Mrs. Opfell was escorted to the altar by Mr. Lloyd Estes. Her gown was of white taffeta and lace with a finger tip veil of silk illusion. She carried an arm bouquet of white carnations.

Her only attendant, Miss Gretchen Geneva, N4, St. Petersburg, Fla., wore blue taffeta and lace with a matching hat. She also carried white carnations.

The best man was Mr. Eugene Severn, A3, Postville. Ushers were Mr. Morris Roberts and Mr. Vernon Gericke, A2, Postville.

The bride will complete her nursing course in August and will receive her B.A. degree next February. The groom will be graduated from SUI with a B.A. degree in June.

Oriental Scholar To Speak at Hillel

Dr. Gustave E. von Grunbaum of the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago will speak at Hillel foundation at 7 p.m. Sunday on "The Bible and Islam."

Monday at 4:10 p.m. he will lecture on "The Koran" in the senate chamber of Old Capitol. Grunbaum, who is a scholar of Arabic literature and civilization, has a Ph.D. from Vienna. He came to this country in 1938 and taught at the Asia Institute in New York until 1943, when he joined the University of Chicago staff.

Mortar Board to Honor Students at Luncheon

All women who received a 3.0 average, or higher, in the first semester of the current school year, will be entertained at a luncheon, Saturday, March 8, by Mortar Board, senior women's honor society. Invitations will be mailed to each woman.

The committee for the function is as follows: Sue Starman, A3, Cedar Rapids, general chairman; Helen Hays, A4, Iowa City, invitations; Norma Strunce, P3, Creston, decorations; Francine Appleman, A4, Elmhurst, Ill., programs; Marilyn Mohn, A4, Clinton, and Nancy Wallace, A4, Iowa City,

POWER... TO KEEP AMERICA STRONG

SHORTLY before becoming Director of Defense Mobilization, Charles E. Wilson made this statement:

"We believe the electric utility industry has done an excellent job of forecasting, planning and preparing to take care of the country's power requirements."

In 1951, the nation's electric industry — as it has in the past — justified Mr. Wilson's opinion.

Spending 2 1/2 billion dollars during the year, the electric companies increased their generating capability from 71 million kilowatts to 78 1/2 million kilowatts — an increase of more than 10%.

The United States now produces 43% of the world's electricity compared to 10% produced by Russia according to the best available reports.

This remarkable record is no accident. It has been achieved through careful planning, sound management and skilled labor under the tried and proven American system of free enterprise.

Unless hampered by excessive restrictions and socialistic expansion in the electric field, the electric industry will continue to keep ahead of the nation's power requirements—including those of the mobilization program.

Reddy Kilowatt
The Mighty Atom

The electric generating plants of the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company in the Quad-Cities, Iowa City and Fort Dodge, which are interconnected by a 161,000 volt transmission line, have a total generating capability of 217,000 kilowatts — with added generating facilities under construction.

This compares to an all-time high, average hourly peak demand of approximately 164,000 kilowatts—providing a reassuring margin of 32% over the peak requirements to date.

Winter Games Officially Opened

(AP Wirephoto)

A DAY LATE, but the sixth winter Olympic games opened Friday with these ceremonies in Oslo on the proclamation of Princess Ragnhild, daughter of Crown Prince Olav of Norway. Olav was in London for the burial of King George VI of England. Approximately 30,000 persons witnessed the pageant.

U.S. Retains Lead In Winter Olympics

OSLO (AP) — A big, steel-nerved bobsledder from Germany and a young skier from Norway scored gold medal triumphs in the sixth winter Olympic games Friday but the United States clung to a slim lead for the unofficial team championship.

Andreas Ostler, 32-year-old innkeeper of Grainau, made two more during runs down Frognerseteren's ice-packed slopes to add the Olympic two-man bobsled title to two world championships he already holds.

Meanwhile, some 70 miles to the north at snow-covered Norefjell, 24-year-old Stein Eriksen was thrilling a crowd of about 6,000 by winning the men's giant slalom race in 2 minutes, 35 seconds.

It wasn't a banner day for the Americans, as Thursday when Mrs. Andrea Mead Lawrence of Rutland, Vt., captured the first gold medal of the games in the women's giant slalom, but United States forces fared exceptionally well in specialties conceded to Europeans.

The No. 1 American bobsled, handled by Stan Benham of Lake Placid, N.Y., and braked by 270-pound Pat Martin of Massena, N.Y., finished second in the two-day, death-defying bobsled competition, just 2.35 seconds slower than the winning German sled.

The United States ice hockey team opened its campaign in the round robin tournament by vanquishing Norway, 3-2. Arnold Oss, a 23-year-old forward from Minneapolis, scored two of the goals and rang in the winning one with a deft shot in the last four minutes.

Statisticians, figuring team points after the first three championships, found the Americans still ahead in the standings with 17 1/2 points.

Austria was second with 17 points, followed by Germany (14), Norway (11), Switzerland (9), Italy (3), France (2), Belgium (1), and Sweden (1/2).

The snow and ice games were formally opened Friday — a day late — with Princess Ragnhild, daughter of Crown Prince Olav, issuing the proclamation. Olav was in London for the burial of King George VI.

U-High Loses, 72-56, To Wilton Junction

A fast moving University high basketball team that threw a lot but hit with little dropped an important 72-56 decision to last-place Wilton Junction on U-high's floor Friday night.

The loss put the Blue Hawks and Durant into a tie for second place in the conference. A win would have meant clear possession of the number two spot.

Despite the accurate shooting of forward Tom Kent, U-high could not find the basket consistently enough to ever pull more than two points ahead of their opponents.

Kent paced his teammates with a total of 24 points, split evenly at 12 in each half. His closest rival on the U-high squad was center Craig Perrin, with 15.

High scorer for Wilton Junction and for the contest was Ross Baker, forward, with 27 points. He was followed by Rex Oveson, another forward, with 16 markers and center Elmwood Giese, with 15.

Perrin's alert rebounding kept the game pretty close on the scoreboard during the first half. Coupled with Kent's early point production, a 36-30 halftime margin was the biggest distance between the two teams in that period.

Hawks Face 'Must' Games On Road

Tackle Purdue Tonight, OSU Monday Night

By JACK JORDAN Sports Editor

Iowa has everything to gain and everything to lose in its meetings with last place Purdue tonight and Ohio State Monday, both away.

The picture is this: Iowa and Illinois are tied for the lead in the Big Ten with identical 7-1 records. They will face each other at Champaign and odds are heavy against the Hawks there.

Should the Hawkeyes lose to Illinois, they would have two defeats against one for the Illini. The main hope then would lie in a possible defeat of Illinois at Indiana, the only team to beat Iowa this season.

Must Win Both

Illinois doesn't figure to lose more than one more game this year, so a loss by the Hawks tonight or Monday would just about cancel them out of the race.

No one has advanced a plausible reason why Purdue might win tonight, but the game should be interesting in that it will provide a meeting of the Big Ten's two top scorers, Chuck Darling and Carl McNulty.

Darling, of course, has a wide margin over the Boilermaker center, but McNulty, after a slow start, has been scoring well lately and is capable of a big night. Against Indiana last Saturday he made 36 points to bring his conference average to 21.4 compared to Chuck's 26.0.

Can't Offset Weak Defense However, McNulty's offensive strength has not been enough to offset the defensive weakness of the Boilermakers. They rank at the bottom of the league in opponents' average points (75.6), and haven't decided on a definite lineup at this late stage of the season.

Iowa is in good physical and mental shape for the road trip, according to Coach Bucky O'Connor. Chuck Jarnagin's wrist has been bruised, however, and it is doubtful that he will see much action tonight. Darling's foot infection, which apparently hadn't bothered him anyway, has healed.

Iowa can expect rougher going Monday against Ohio State, currently tied for fifth in the conference standings. The Buckeyes have beaten third place Minnesota and lost by only four points to Illinois on the strong home floor at Columbus.

Ebert Leads Buckeyes Paul Ebert leads Ohio State offensively, and is fourth in conference scoring with an average of 20.0 points a game.

Iowa will fly to Columbus Sunday. O'Connor took 14 players on the trip, and is expected to start his regular lineup in both games. That unit includes Darling at center, Deacon Davis and Herb Thompson at forwards, and Bob Clifton and Skip Greene at guards.

Station WSUI will broadcast a play-by-play account of both games.

Track, Swimming, Fencing — Busy Day at Field House

— 1st Action at Home

The Iowa field house will be the scene of three dual meets today when the Hawkeye track, swimming and fencing teams swing into home action for the first time this season.

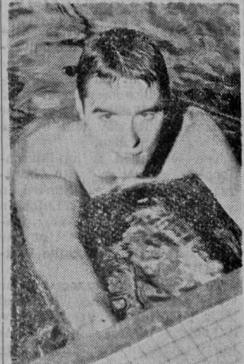

Coach Francis Cretzmeier's track team opens the parade against Wisconsin at 2 p.m. The swimmers meet Northwestern at 7:30 p.m. and the fencers play host to Chicago at the same time.

Swimmers Meet Wildcats

Highlight of the swimming meet will be co-captain Bowen Stassforth's try at a new national record for the 200-yard breaststroke in a long course pool. The record set by Purdue's Keith Carter in 1948, stands at 2 minutes, 24 seconds. That mark was set in the Iowa pool.

Swimming Coach David Armbruster gave his team a light workout Friday and pronounced his squad in good physical condition. Co-captain and sprinter Wally Nicholson and diver Otto "Bunny" Broeder had been bothered by colds earlier this week but both will be ready for the Wildcats.

Iowa will be after its fourth victory in as many starts, but Northwestern has a balanced squad which will give the Hawks their biggest test of the season, according to Armbruster. The Wildcat sprinters are especially talented, he added.

In five events, the 50, 100, 220, and 440-yard free style plus the backstroke, Northwestern's best times have topped any showings by a Hawkeye swimmer.

The Hawks' biggest advantages are team depth and strength in the diving and breaststroke events. Broeder should repeat his victory of last year over the Wildcats in the high board diving. Stassforth is rated several notches above any Wildcat.

Armbruster also announced that arrangements have been made to announce the score of the Iowa-Purdue basketball game at intervals during the swimming meet.

Badgers Test Runners

Friday's practice for the track team was optional but Cretzmeier did call a meeting for the entire squad. The Iowa coach feels his team is in good condition for this stage of the season but does not expect any peak performances in today's meet.

Iowa's hopes for a victory over Wisconsin were hit Thursday when Gary Scott, the Hawks' best quarter-mile, was hurt in practice. Friday Cretzmeier stated that there was a chance Scott might not run against the Badgers.

On the bright side, hurdler Dick Fowler has shown better improvement than was expected, Cretzmeier said.

Rich Ferguson, counted on for points in the two-mile, indicated that he had recovered from a foot blister and would be ready to run in both the two-mile and mile if needed.

Fencers Duel Chicago

Coach Lucien Morris' fencers meet one of the strongest squads in the Midwest when they face Chicago. The Hawkeye squad will be looking for its first win of the season after dropping matches to Notre Dame, Wisconsin and Ohio State.

Gymnasts, Huskers To Meet at Lincoln In Non-League Match

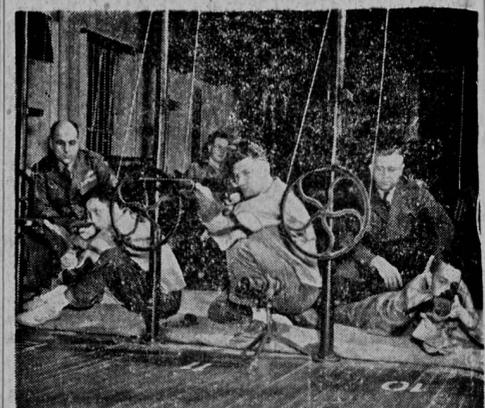

Iowa's gymnastic team, still smarting from its Tuesday night 50-46 loss to Minnesota, will attempt to get back in the win column today when the Hawks meet nonconference foe Nebraska in a dual contest at Lincoln.

Coach Dick Holzappel and his squad hold wins over Northwestern and Western Illinois State in addition to their loss to the Gophers.

The Hawkeyes are expected to be at full strength for today's meet with co-captain Al Finen recovered from an ankle injury and set for action on the horizontal bar and parallel bars, events in which he grabbed a third and second place respectively in Tuesday's meet.

Sophomore Bob Hazlett, who shared high-scoring honors with Finen in the Minnesota contest, will perform on the trampoline as well as in his tumbling specialty.

Shooters Practice for Matches

IOWA RIFLEMEN have been putting in lots of range time the past week in preparation for three tournaments during March and shoulder to shoulder match with Wisconsin here, Feb. 23. Shooters on the mat are, left to right: sitting, Jim McLaughlin, ROTC team captain; kneeling, Bob Best, varsity captain, and prone, Jack Westbrook, high freshman shooter. Adding tips are M. Sgt. Emmert Baumann, the coach, left, and Lt. Col. Harold E. Dilley, rifle team director.

Has Busiest Athletic Schedule —

Rifle Team 'Shoots' the Works

Up on the Iowa rifle range, north side, second story of the armory, the Hawkeye rifle club has been burning up the powder the past week in preparation for four shoulder to shoulder matches during the next five weeks, winding up with the National Rifle association intercollegiate meet March 21-22.

On Feb. 23, the varsity team plays host to Wisconsin in the third phase of the Big Ten rifle tournament. In earlier meetings with the Badgers this season Iowa lost a postal match but won a shoulder to shoulder match at Madison.

Iowa will also fire in the Illinois invitational tourney at Champaign March 14, and the national indoor Camp Perry match at Kemper Military school, Boonville, Mo. The varsity five have won 13 matches this year while dropping eight, while the ROTC squad has racked up 25 victories against 12 defeats. The ROTC team also competed in the Fifth Army meet and the William Randolph Hearst match, but results have not been announced.

The freshman squad has split, winning four and losing four.

Freeman Scores 21, But Hawklets Lose To Clinton, 59-45

Despite Jim Freeman's 21 points, Iowa City high fell deep into the Mississippi Valley conference standings, losing to second place Clinton, 59-45 at City high Friday night.

For three quarters the Hawklets battled the visiting River Kings on even terms, but Freeman and Jamie Andrews then left the game with five fouls.

Andrews was removed with 15 seconds remaining in the third period and when Freeman committed his fifth violation with six minutes and 34 seconds left to play, the Hawklets fell apart.

Six-foot five-inch center Charles Vogt led the scoring parade for the visitors with 20 points. Even he was overshadowed, though, by the performance of his teammate, Kenneth Ploen, who played an outstanding floor game and added 12 points.

The Hawklets, who have now won four and lost six in conference play, hit 48 per cent of their shots in the first half.

Wrestlers Seek 1st Win Monday

Coach Mike Howard and his Hawkeye wrestling squad will still be looking for its first win of the season when they meet the grapplers from the University of Illinois in a home match here Monday night at the field house.

Meet time will be 8 p.m. as the Hawk matmen will try to rebound from a disastrous road trip that saw them drop two meets last weekend to Big Ten foes Northwestern and Michigan. The winless Iowa squad has lost three and tied one, and will be underdogs against the Illini.

SUI graduates who passed the bar examinations were: Joseph W. Riley Jr., Cedar Rapids; Robert E. Ford, Cedar Rapids; Joseph Keefer, Charles City; George R. Benedict, Dyersville; Bert R. Gillette, Forest City; Howard D. Hamilton, Fort Dodge; William J. Meyers, Grundy Center.

Chief Justice King Thompson, Cedar Rapids, of the Iowa supreme court, swore in the new members of the bar, emphasizing the necessity for high ethical standards as "indispensable" to the successful practice of law.

Welcoming the new lawyers to the Iowa bar association, President Ingalls Swisher of Iowa City reminded them that the 2,800-member association has been chosen the "outstanding voluntary association in the country" by the American bar association.

He presented a one-year free membership in the Iowa Bar association to each new lawyer.

Democrats Choose 34 State Delegates

Thirty-four delegates will represent Johnson county at the state Democratic presidential convention in Des Moines May 28.

A total of 2,088 delegates will attend the convention, at which time 16 delegates will be elected for the national convention in Chicago, July 21.

Thursday night, 318 delegates were elected at the Democratic caucus to attend the county presidential convention March 24 and the regular county convention June 27.

Republican caucuses will be held next Tuesday in the courthouse and city hall.

SUI Book Exchange Closes; 2,000 Books Are Sold for $3,725

The student council book exchange this week completed operations for this semester. It was the third time the exchange has served the student body since it was inaugurated in January, 1951.

Book exchange sales reached $3,725 this semester. Of that amount $3,000 was paid out and $375 remains to be paid out. Approximately 3,000 books were handled, nearly 2,000 of which were sold.

Plans were laid for the first book exchange during January, 1951, and it went into action for the first few days of the semester. Location was in Old Dental building in the office shared by student council and lost and found.

Operating for the first time, sales volume reached a total of $1,823 and 1,700 books were handled. But space was inadequate for that number of books to be worked with.

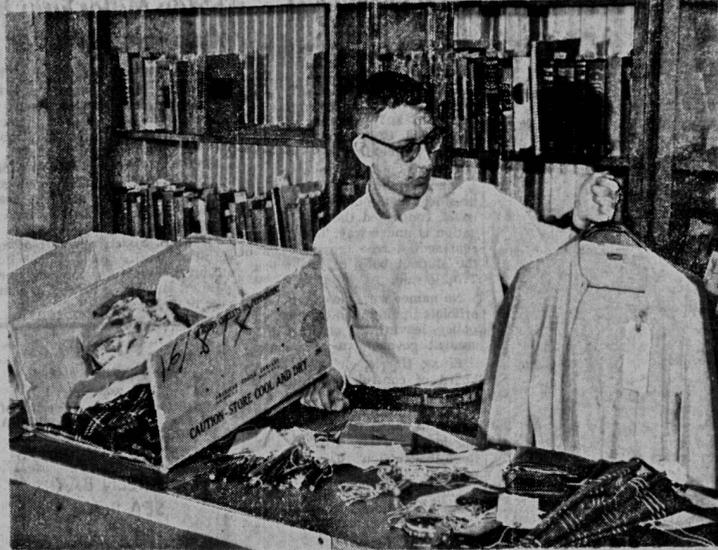

In this school year, the September exchange increased volume to $2,567 in sales. A total of 2,184 books were handled and 1,250 of that number were sold. Sales had increased by $744.

This success could be credited in part to the new quarters occupied by the book exchange. New location was in a large room in the basement of Schaeffer hall. After the exchange closed, student council took action to convert the room into a study lounge.

Zimmerman Named Director

Carl Zimmerman, A2, Waterloo, was put in charge of the project last spring and he has directed activities for both semesters of this school year. Other members of the council have assisted.

In a preliminary report to the student council, Zimmerman said there is the constant problem of personnel. He added that money not yet picked up would not be available until the week of Feb. 25, because of confusion from fee payments in the treasurer's office.

HAVE YOU LOST A SWEATER? Vern Urich, A4, Garner, exhibits a few of the 150 articles currently being held for their owners at the lost and found department, 107 Old Dental building. Office hours are 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 2 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. The lost and found department has been run for the past three years by Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity. Marvin Greenberg, A3, Des Moines, office director, estimates that 250 lost articles were recovered by SUI students from the office last semester. A meeting for prospective Alpha Phi Omega members will be held in Old Capitol's senate chamber at 2 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 24.

SUI Artists Exhibit in Omaha

Fourteen artists from SUI and one from Iowa City are represented in the Joslyn Art museum's second biennial midwest exhibition of paintings, sculpture, and graphic arts which opened Tuesday in Omaha, Neb.

Honorable mentions were awarded to SUI Profs. Roger Anner, Mauricio Lasansky and John Talleur.

Other artists represented in the exhibition are Robert M. Broderick, G. West Haven, Conn.; Jean Kubota Cassill, G. Metairie Falls, Wash.; Richard Hornaday, G. Joplin, Mo.

Irving Marcus, G. Minneapolis, Minn.; Karl J. Moehl, G. Elyria, Ohio; Jeanne Richards, A4, Alexandria, Va.; J. Frank Sampson, G. Edmore, No. Dak.; Richard D. Savage Jr., G. Council Bluffs; Moisha Smith, G. Detroit, Mich.; James Umland, A3, Hampton; Prof. Donn Steward and Nancy Brorby Hardin, Iowa City.

The exhibition is open to artists in a 10 state region—Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Wyoming.

From a total of nearly 700 entries received, a jury selected 185 paintings, sculptures, prints, and drawings by 130 artists for the exhibition.

Prof. Smith to Address Order of Artus Meeting

Prof. Wendell R. Smith of the department of marketing will speak before the Order of Artus, honorary economics club, at a meeting Tuesday noon in the D & L Grill.

He will discuss marketing and economics. Members are requested to sign in the college of commerce office or call extension 2369 before Monday if they plan to attend.

Admission Tests To Be Given May 10 for Medical School

The national medical college admission test sponsored by the Association of American Medical Colleges will be administered at SUI May 10.

Prof. Robert L. Ebel, director of the SUI examination service, said Friday that all students seeking fall admission to medical school must register with Educational Testing service, Princeton, N.J., before the April 26 deadline. A fee of $10 must accompany the completed application.

The test measures general scholastic ability, an understanding of modern society and achievement in science. Science is the only field to be tested which requires specialized course work. The test is divided into morning and afternoon sessions, and has a total working time of five hours and forty-five minutes.

Scores on the medical college admission test will be used only as a supplement of college records and will not solely determine whether a student is admitted to medical school. Medical school authorities will use the scores as they see fit.

The test is designed so that the average person taking it will answer only 50 per cent of the questions. Results of the test will not be made available to student examinees.

15 MILLION TV SETS

NEW YORK (AP) — Latest estimates of 105 million radio sets in the United States compares with 15 million or more television receivers. However, while radio stations are available in most parts of the country, television still is restricted to the more densely populated areas.

Teachers Sought For Overseas Jobs

Teachers and school administrators are needed by the American Dependent schools in Europe and the Far East. Frances M. Camp, director of the SUI educational placement office, said Thursday.

Interested persons should obtain application blanks for interviews at the placement office or by writing to the teaching placement director at Iowa State Teachers college, Miss Camp said.

Principal needs are for elementary teachers, although there are high school positions available in social studies, mathematics, science, home economics and English in Europe and music and language in the Far East.

The qualifications are a bachelor's degree, 18 hours credit in education, recent public school teaching experience (two years is the minimum, but five years or more is preferred) and a valid teaching certificate. Only men between the ages of 25 and 55, and women between 25 and 45 will be considered.

'Big 19' to Probe Chicago Crime

Hopes to Destroy Old Ties Between Gangland, Politics

CHICAGO (AP) — A committee of 19 influential citizens Friday took the first steps in what it hopes will be a successful "long range" war to annihilate gangsterism in Chicago.

The committee was chosen Tuesday at an indignation meeting by representatives of 126 civic organizations after last week's slaying of Charles Gross, a candidate in the April primaries for Republican ward committeeman.

Colin Gordon, chairman of the committee he termed "the big 19," said a second mass meeting will be held on Feb. 22 — Washington's birthday anniversary — different from the first in that "no politicians will be invited."

Closed Door Meeting

The committee of 19 held an organization meeting Friday behind closed doors. Afterwards, Gordon said a resolution was adopted asking the Democratic and Republican central committees of Cook county to make available to the public up-to-date records showing the names of public employes, their salaries and their political sponsors.

Gordon, vice-president of the Quaker Oats company, said the committee feels that "political job patronage is the main link between politics and organized crime."

As the citizens' committee girded for action, police and state's attorney's investigators reported bafflement in attempts to solve the Gross shotgun killing of Feb. 6 and disclosures of payroll irregularities it precipitated.

Murder Suspects Released

Five men seized for questioning about the gang-style slaying were discharged in municipal court.

Assistant State's Attorney Melvin F. Wingersky, attempting to trace a phantom county employee who was paid $6,400 although nobody knew him, reported a new mystery.

The payroll checks had been mailed to one "James Addison" at the Chicago address of Republican State Rep. James Adduci. Wingersky went to the Adduci home and was told by a man who answered the door that Adduci doesn't live there.

Funeral Rites Set For Wesley Benda

Funeral services for Wesley J. Benda, 71, will be held at Beckman's at 2 p. m. Monday with the Rev. Edward Neuzil officiating.

Mr. Benda died at Mercy hospital early Friday morning following a heart attack at his home on Prairie du Chien road.

A lifelong Johnson county resident, he was a carpenter and cabinet maker. He was a member of St. Wenceslaus church.

He is survived by a son, Leo W. Benda, Clear Lake, a daughter, Mrs. H. R. Engel, Iowa City, a sister, Mrs. George Reha, Iowa City, and five grandchildren.

Police Battle Tunisian Nationalists, 50 Arrested

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Police and Tunisian nationalists clashed here Friday in the square in front of the French resident general's palace. Several persons, including two policemen, were injured by grenades from the mob and returning police gunfire before the violence ended.

Fifty persons were reported arrested. Police threw a ring around the palace in the rising wave of nationalism in this French North African protectorate.

No Allowance, No Money, No Ring

EDWARD G. ROBINSON JR., son of the movie actor, and his bride look sadly at her unadorned ring finger. The couple said they were married in Tijuana, Mexico, but can't afford a wedding ring because young Robinson no longer receives a $70 a week allowance from his father. The elder Robinson said that since his son has decided to leave home and lead his own life there was no need for giving him an allowance.

Admiral Says U.S. Navy Ready For Red Subs

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adm. William M. Fechteler said Friday night that although Soviet Russia now has between 300 and 400 submarines, the U.S. navy is prepared to meet the threat successfully "if it comes."

The chief of naval operations emphasized, however, that enemy overseas attacks would not be beaten off without early American losses.

Fechteler told the National Geographic society in a prepared address that Germany entered World War II with only 50 submarines and came "perilously near" to winning through its U-boat assaults on Allied shipping.

Russian Subs Excel German

Many Russian submarines today, he said, are better than the most improved German designed craft.

Accompanying Fechteler's address, the navy displayed a new one-man helicopter, but said in a statement that "this machine is not contracted for or endorsed by the marine corps or navy."

The machine, nicknamed the "Hoppi-copter," is designed to lift and carry a fully armed man. It slightly resembles a small outboard motor attached to a man's back, with a rotor blade circling a foot above his head.

Marine Models New 'Copter

The device was shown strapped to the shoulders like a knapsack on a model in marine corps field uniform.

The navy said the 'copter is still experimental and not yet ordered in any quantity. It is being tested along with several other troop-carrying devices.

WAGE HIKE APPROVED

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wage stabilization board Friday approved a 1.08 per cent living cost pay boost — amounting to about two cents an hour — for 200,000 workers employed by the General Electric company.

Exam Cheating at Florida U. Probed

GAINESVILLE, FLA. (AP) — An investigation came to light Friday into suspected cheating by about 200 University of Florida students, including some football players.

John Trinkle, law student and president of the university's honor court, confirmed that the investigation is under way. The students represent a true cross section of the student body of about 9,000, Trinkle said.

No names were revealed and all officials maintained a hands-off policy, leaving the case up to the student government organization.

Frank Harris, chairman of the board of control over state colleges, admitted the board had been advised informally of the situation. But, he said, "we feel that the matter is one entirely under the jurisdiction of the honor court."

The suspected cheating was on an examination just before the close of the scholastic term last year.

Disputed Will Hearing Continues in Court

Hearing of a district court lawsuit involving the estate of the late John and James Walker continued Friday in Johnson county court.

The action is brought against Mary Jane Fountain, niece of the two men, by 14 plaintiffs who ask the court to set aside a deed and award equitable relief.

The case is being heard by District Judge James P. Gaffney.

Eldon Miller Firm Appeals Judgment

Eldon Miller, Inc., Iowa City trucking company, appealed Friday to the Iowa supreme court a Johnson county district court judgment which awarded Simon Mullett, Kalona trucker, $1,625.

Mullett had sued the Miller company for that amount in damages to his truck in an accident near Shueyville on July 3, 1950, with a Miller-owned truck.

Isaac D. Yoder, operator of the Mullett truck, asked $7,500 for injuries. The Miller company sued Mullett and Yoder for $4,318 damage to its truck.

'Injured' Man Has Quick Recovery

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Market Manager Joe Defassio was most sympathetic.

"Look at the fellow," he told two clerks as they unlocked the store Friday morning. "He sure is banged up." Limping down the sidewalk toward them was the apparent victim of a bad accident. A bandage covered much of his nose and mouth, a sling held one arm.

But as he reached Defassio he recovered quickly. The sling, it turned out, hid a gun. Defassio told police the man fled with $3,700 from the safe, running without a trace of a limp.

SPEED-KILLER NO. 1

Out of 35,000 lives lost in traffic accidents in 1950, 26,700 were sacrificed on the altar of carelessness. Speed—excessive, killing speed—accounted for nearly half that number. Speed, claiming 13,300 dead and 475,000 injured victims in a single year, is the nation's Killer No. 1.

While all traffic deaths declined from 1946 through 1949, even then fatalities on the open road kept creeping up. In 1950 a deadly spurt of speed accidents claimed 3,200 more victims in rural areas than it had the year before. Last year speed deaths again mounted.

Why do drivers race so heedlessly to destruction on the highway? Hardly to save time. Scorching at 70 is an invitation to disaster. Over any distance, 50 m.p.h. takes only a few minutes longer and offers a better chance of a safe arrival.

When you start out with your family or friends, discount speed before you take off. Give yourself and others in your car an extra margin of safety by leaving earlier and holding your speed within bounds. It's your responsibility to them and to others on the road.

Remember—more than one out of every three fatal accidents is due to speed.
