3 Rail Unions Offer to Settle NYC Strike

CHICAGO (AP) — The three rail unions on strike against the New York Central system and the St. Louis terminal offered Monday night to negotiate their dispute.

The offer was made by the union heads in Cleveland shortly after the government had announced in Washington that it would seek a strike-ending injunction today.

In their statement, the union leaders said: "We have held ourselves in readiness and continue to be prepared to negotiate the issues with the railroad companies or anyone in authority to settle the dispute."

The union presidents, R. O. Hughes of the Order of Railway Conductors, D. B. Robertson of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, and J. P. Salskis, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, confirmed reports that they had discussed the strike Monday with at least one government official.

Defense officials in Washington said Monday an injunction to halt the two-day strike which had snarled traffic on the trunk lines would be sought in federal court in Cleveland, headquarters of the three striking unions.

The injunction suit, an official said, would name heads of the three unions and the unions themselves. The official, who asked not to be named, said attorneys representing the army and the justice department were enroute to Cleveland from Washington to prepare the court action.

The stoppage, by some 6,000 members of the engineers, firemen and conductors' brotherhoods, shut down all regular service on the Central system west of Buffalo, and caused curtailment of several other lines operating in and through St. Louis.

The strike stemmed from a three-year dispute over wages and working conditions.

Detroit Station Emptied by Railroad Strike

SILENCE PREVAILED MONDAY in Detroit's Michigan Central station as a strike halted operations of the New York Central system. This picture made shortly before noon shows only a vast emptiness at a time when the concourse ordinarily would have been filled with travelers.

Voters Re-Elect Weber, Oathout to School Board

Irving B. Weber and Alva B. Oathout won re-election easily to the Iowa City school board Monday.

Others in the race for the two positions were Dale Welt, insurance and real estate agent; Prof. Karl Kammermeyer, of the SUI chemical engineering department, and the Rev. Alfred J. N. Henriksen, pastor of the Unitarian church.

Bad weather undoubtedly accounted for the light vote of 841. Results of the election are as follows:

Weber, 535, Oathout, 499; Welt, 243; Kammermeyer, 126, and the Rev. Mr. Henriksen, 139.

Both Weber and Oathout were elected to three-year terms.

Returns from the first precinct, with headquarters at the Hawkeye Advertising company, showed Weber with 219 votes, lead of 39 votes over Oathout, his nearest rival.

But Oathout edged Weber in the second precinct, 319-316. The polling place of the second precinct was at the Community building.

The total number of voters ran almost 300 less than last year's election when 1,134 ballots were cast.

Oathout, 47, chairman of the present school board, is the operator of the Oathout funeral home. He has been in business here since 1927. He and his family live at 627 Bradley st.

Weber, who has lived in Iowa City all his life, is a graduate of SUI. He is vice-president and general manager of the Sidweil Ice Cream Co., and resides at 421 Melrose court.

The old school board will hold its last regular meeting tonight.

A meeting will be held next Monday, with all the new members of the board present to reorganize the board and elect a president.

One of the first jobs of the new school board will be to select a successor to Iver A. Opstad, who will retire as superintendent of schools at the end of this year.

Ex-President Batista Retakes Government In Cuban Revolt

HAVANA (AP) — Fulgencio Batista, the former army sergeant who ruled Cuba for 10 troubled years, vaulted back to power Monday on the crest of a military-backed revolt. The coup was staged three months ahead of Cuba's scheduled presidential elections in which Batista was an announced candidate.

The revolt forced President Carlos Prío Socarras to flee the presidential palace where two men were slain in the only reported bloodshed. Later Prío was reported under armed guard at his country estate outside Havana.

Machine gunners backed by two army tanks took over the palace — where flags were seen flying — shortly after Prío departed. Batista told reporters the revolt, which started before dawn, lasted only an hour and 17 minutes.

Revolt Begun at Camp Columbia

The initial revolt was at Camp Columbia, chief army base which follows of the 51-year-old Batista seized before dawn today. Within a few hours they had taken over police headquarters and seized control of communications. It was from Camp Columbia outside Havana that Batista staged his 1933 revolt—overthrowing the government of President Gerardo Machado and holding power for the next 10 years.

Batista said constitutional guarantees would have to be suspended for 45 days in order to preserve public order. He added that congress, not now in session, likewise was suspended for the same period.

"The suspension of guarantees applies to press and radio, but we have dictated not one single measure against the press. We have only asked for their cooperation. Radio news program were suspended to avoid undue alarm to the public," Batista declared.

Asked who would be chief of the interim government, Batista said: "Possibly I will be prime minister and, by virtue of that, chief of the government."

Dragnet Out For Slayer Of Schuster

NEW YORK (AP) — Salesman Arnold Schuster, slain after fingering bank robber Willie (the Actor) Sutton, was buried Monday while a vast city echoed his mother's wail — "Why did they do this to him?"

A crowd of some 2,000 gathered outside a Brooklyn memorial chapel. Inside, Schuster's gray-haired mother took a last look at his bullet-smashed body and then collapsed.

Rewards for the seizure of the slayer mounted hourly and may reach $50,000. The city was expected to put up $25,000, the most it has offered in years.

One of the greatest manhunts in New York's history was underway.

"Every member of the force has been assigned to it," said Police Commissioner George P. Monaghan. Less than three weeks ago he was shaking the 24-year-old Schuster's hand in tribute to the youth's part in capturing Sutton, the badly-wanted bank holdup artist.

Last Saturday night, the pants salesman was shot down near his Brooklyn home.

Since fingering Sutton, Schuster had received a number of threats but apparently did not take them too seriously. Monaghan said he declined a police guard.

Even as the funeral was being held, a gangster-type letter arrived at the Schuster home, warning in part:

"One death isn't enough. There will be others."

Police Seek Clues In Student Robbery

No clues have been uncovered in the reported assault of an SUI student Sunday night, police said Monday.

Robert Seibel, G, Newark, N. J., told police he was slugged and robbed of about $30 by two unidentified men near the intersection of Jefferson and Dodge sts. about 10:30 p.m. Sunday.

He described one man as about six feet and two or three inches tall and the other man somewhat shorter. Both were wearing jackets, Seibel said.

He told police he was walking to his room at 706 E. Market st., when the men approached him. Suddenly one of the men struck him in the mouth with his fist, dazing him, Seibel said. When he came to his senses, the men were going through his pockets, he said.

Seibel told the men where his billfold was, he said, to avoid more beating. As the men were running west with his wallet, he called to them to leave his papers in the wallet, he said.

They dropped the wallet, Seibel picked it up, and went to the home of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Goltz, 806 E. Jefferson st., he told police.

Sample Poll Shows Ike Leads Taft 3-1 at SUI

By JOE MEYER

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower outdistanced six other candidates from the two major political parties in a Daily Iowan presidential preference poll taken Monday on campus.

Eisenhower was almost a 3 to 1 choice over his nearest opponent, Sen. Robert Taft. Out of 200 students polled, Eisenhower received 81 votes and Taft, 28.

Students contacted in the sample vote were given a choice of Republicans — Eisenhower, Taft, Harold Stassen, and Gov. Earl Warren, and Democrats President Truman, Sen. Estes Kefauver and Sen. Richard Russell.

Here's how they voted in the overall presidential preference:

Eisenhower	81
Taft	28
Truman	18
Stassen	17
Warren	15
Kefauver	13
Russell	2
Undecided	26

The random sample of 200 SUI students was taken in the same ratio of men and women as shown by second semester registration figures. Questionnaires were filled out by 140 men and 60 women.

Men students voted this way:

Eisenhower	65
Taft	16
Truman	13
Kefauver	12
Warren	10
Stassen	9
Russell	1
Undecided	14

The coeds voted this way:

Eisenhower	19
Taft	11
Stassen	7
Warren	5
Truman	4
Kefauver	4
Russell	1
Undecided	12

In the age group 16 through 20, 84 students voted like this:

Eisenhower	33
Taft	17
Stassen	8
Warren	8
Kefauver	6
Truman	5
Russell	0
Undecided	9

The largest age group, 21 through 29, 110 students voted this way:

Eisenhower	47
Truman	13
Taft	11
Stassen	9
Warren	9
Kefauver	6
Russell	1
Undecided	15

Only six of the students polled were over 30. They gave one vote each to Eisenhower, Warren, Kefauver and Russell and two were undecided.

Of 17 married students, Truman led the field with 4 votes, followed by Eisenhower with 3, Taft, Stassen, Kefauver and Russell, each received 2 votes, and 2 were undecided.

Eighty-two of the 200 students indicated a party preference, 47 for the Republican and 35 for the Democratic.

Reds Ask Big 3 To Speed Work On German Peace

LONDON (TUESDAY) (AP) — Russia asked the Big Three Western powers last night to speed up a peace treaty with Germany, the Moscow radio announced early today.

Notes proposing that the peace treaty be accelerated were handed to envoys of the U.S., Britain, and France in Moscow by Soviet deputy foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

The Russian notes declared that the treaty "must be worked out with the direct participation of Germany in the form of an all-German government. It follows from this that the USSR, United States, Britain, and France, which are fulfilling control functions in Germany, also discuss conditions conducive for the speediest formation of an all-German government expressing the will of the German people."

Russia proposed that the Big Four powers begin discussions on the German treaty "without delay" and then, after drafting it submit it to a conference of all interested states.

"Almost seven years have passed," the identical notes said, "since the end of the war with Germany, and Germany still has no peace treaty, is in a split state, and continues not to enjoy equal rights with other states."

MORRIS TESTIFIES TODAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal official testified Monday he had "good reason to believe" that an ocean shipping firm to which Newbold Morris' law firm gave legal advice was controlled by "a Chinese group sympathetic with Soviet motives."

Morris is President Truman's new anti-corruption chief. He will be called before senate investigators today to explain his connections with the firm, which carried oil to Red Chinese ports.

Outcome Could Set Nationwide Voting Trend

CONCORD, N. H. (AP) — While the world looks on, tiny New Hampshire starts the presidential election ballot parade today.

With about 100,000 voters expected to turn out in this first primary of the nation, the outcome could set a trend that might

Ike Wins First Test

CONCORD, N.H. (TUESDAY) (AP) — Waterville Valley — first New Hampshire town to vote in the presidential primary — today gave all its seven votes to General Eisenhower. The townspeople gathered at midnight and cast ballots immediately afterward.

carry Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower or Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio on a quest toward the GOP nomination in Chicago next July.

By all political yardsticks, Eisenhower needs a substantial majority over Taft in the preferential (popularity) column on the ballot in order to demonstrate validity of a claim that he is a popular vote getter and could win in November.

Taft Vote Important

Any close race here by Taft would indicate to most politicians that the Ohioan would be a formidable candidate not only for the nomination but for the November test with the Democrats.

As the matter stands, Eisenhower is credited by local surveys with a small edge over Taft in the popularity test. But because his backers are made up of New Hampshire GOP big wigs, most observers think he will take a majority of the state's 14 Republican presidential nominating delegates.

Democratic results here might affect President Truman's decision as to whether he will run again. They probably will tell Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee something about his chances of getting the Democratic nomination.

Convention Delegates

Involved in today's balloting will be the selection of an eight-vote group of Democratic and a 14-vote group of Republican national convention delegates.

But so far as the rest of the world is concerned, the outcome of the preferential contest is regarded as far more important. It pits Eisenhower against Taft and former Governor Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota on the Republican side; Truman against Kefauver on the Democratic.

The ballot strength of MacArthur — who is regarded as widely popular here — is an unknown quantity because he has said he is not running and indirectly has endorsed Taft.

Bitter Charges Hurlled

In a Republican state generally regarded as being on the conservative side, the firing between the Eisenhower and Taft camps was of bitter, party-splitting proportions as the campaign closed.

Stassen, admittedly running third in the preferential contest, chimed in with a new, last hour attack on Taft.

Stassen said Taft was "weakening" as the voting neared because the people had learned belatedly that the Ohioan's foreign policy views would be "very bad for America in the years ahead."

Taft Labeled 'Isolationist'

This was in line with charges that Gov. Sherman Adams, an Eisenhower delegate candidate, was prepared to repeat in a speech at Lancaster, that Taft is "an isolationist."

The answer from the Taft camp was prompt and fiery.

Wesley Powell, expected to lead Taft's slate of delegates in today's voting, told the Associated Press: "The attacks on Senator Taft by Adams and Stassen in the last two or three days constitutes a new low in poor sportsmanship and desperation tactics."

At Houston, Tex., where he is campaigning for that state's Republican nominating votes, Taft said his policy is that America should stay out of war on the continents of Europe and Asia — unless a third world war develops.

Ridgway Lashes Reds For Falsehoods

MUNSAN, Korea (TUESDAY) (AP) — Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway today charged that "known falsehoods" — the Red accusations of bacteriological warfare — have brought the Korean truce talks to a state where it was impossible for him to guess what would happen next.

The supreme Allied commander angrily denied that the Allies have waged bacteriological warfare.

"It is very trying on the patience of (Vice Adm. C. Turner) Joy and his staff," Ridgway said. "It is a very difficult thing for a man of integrity and principle to have to deal day after day with men who see little relation between the spoken word and the facts—who resort to intemperate language and deliberately employ known falsehoods as part of their tactic."

One of the first jobs of the new school board will be to select a successor to Iver A. Opstad, who will retire as superintendent of schools at the end of this year.

Other members of the present school board are: Mrs. Kenneth Greene, William H. Bartley, Mrs. E. W. Paulus, Mrs. George L. Horner, and Robert Osmundson.

Allied negotiators returned today to the Panmunjom conference tents.

Staff officers drafting truce supervision terms adjourned after only five minutes. Both sides refused to budge on the issue of Russia serving as a "neutral" truce observer.

The meeting on prisoner exchange adjourned after 45 minutes.

For several weeks the Reds have aired their charges of bacteriological warfare. They accuse that the Allies are dropping infected insects by plane and artillery into Communist territory.

His voice rose in anger as he denied these Red charges.

"There is not a scintilla of truth in the Communist assertions—repeat, not one scintilla of truth. The Communist statements on bacteriological warfare are com-morale of U.S. eighth army soldiers: completely, absolutely and categorically false."

He said it was difficult to know what the Reds hoped to accomplish by spreading the charges of bacteriological warfare throughout the world.

Ridgway said he had received evidence of bubonic plague in North Korea and suggested the Reds were trying to "cover up their own epidemics."

The supreme commander said that Russia was a chief supplier, the official report from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters makes clear for the first time.

That the Chinese Communists, who at first had a lot of weapons of their own, in recent months have been receiving almost all their equipment from Russia.

U.S. Says Russia Gives Equipment

TOKYO (TUESDAY) (AP) — A hitherto secret army report discloses that Russia now furnishes nearly all the arms used by the Communists in Korea, including some of the most modern weapons.

While it was known all along that Russia was a chief supplier, the official report from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters makes clear for the first time.

That the Chinese Communists, who at first had a lot of weapons of their own, in recent months have been receiving almost all their equipment from Russia.

$6.5 Million Sent Monthly to Veterans, Relatives Overseas

WASHINGTON (CP) — Every month Uncle Sam shells out more than $6.5 million to veterans or their surviving relations now living overseas.
In almost any corner of the world, there are veterans of service with the United States armed forces. In the odd corners where there are no living veterans, there are almost certain to be near relations who are receiving monthly checks from the Veterans Administration.

Last September, an average month, VA mailed overseas more than 100,000 checks totaling $6.7 million. These checks covered death compensation for widows, disability compensation for living veterans, insurance, and subsistence for ex-servicemen studying abroad under the GI bill.

Some men who served with the United States armed forces now live in Iron Curtain countries. According to the VA, there is one veteran living in Russia itself. He is 30 per cent disabled, and therefore is entitled to a check of $55 per month.

But He Can't Collect
However, he doesn't get it. VA goes through the form of making payment, but the treasury department impounds the money. No payments of any kind go behind the Iron Curtain.

According to VA's tabulations more than 10,000 veterans of World War II are now enrolled in foreign schools and colleges. Surprisingly, more than 2,000 of these students are in tiny Austria. Almost 1,000 are in France. There are several hundred in England and Italy. One lone veteran chose to take his GI bill benefits in Spain. Many others are studying Spanish in Mexico and Cuba.

To Remote Areas
Remote islands in the Atlantic and Pacific, dark Africa, Asia, Central and South America — VA sends checks to these areas every month.

One check goes to St. Helena, the lonely island on which Napoleon spent his last days. Others go to the Belgian Congo, to the Gold Coast, Arabia, Trans-Jordan, Ceylon, Afghanistan and Korea. (Only one living Korean receives a check from the VA for his service to Uncle Sam's armed forces.)

The geographical spread of persons entitled to veterans benefits gives VA many a headache. Often legal authorities of VA are called upon to exercise the judgment of a Solomon.

The trouble begins when the veteran himself dies. Then VA has to decide whether any close relation is entitled to continued benefits — such as a pension.

Proof of Marriage Required
Invariably, the wife of a deceased veteran is entitled to benefits. However, VA has discovered, through long experience, that proof of formal marriage is often lacking. In those cases, VA decides on the basis of local tribal custom. To put it another way, if the people in an area believed the veteran was married, VA does, too.

In many cases, the veteran's widow loses her right to benefits when she remarries. Here again, VA runs into a problem. Again, it usually invokes the tribal custom rule. If local citizens consider the widow remarried, that's good enough for VA — even if there has been no formal ceremony.

New Hampshire Voters Serve As 'Popularity' Scales Today

By JACK BELL

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — The pattern for a bitter down-to-the-wire battle over the Republican presidential nomination has been threaded together in New Hampshire's snow-piled byways.

Today the Republicans of this state, somewhat bewildered by all the outside fuss being made over them, vote in the nation's first presidential primary in 1952.

Democrats will go to the polls to cast some light on the political fortunes of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, who is drawing on his reputation as a "crime buster" to oppose President Truman for the nomination. Surveys indicate Truman, who hasn't said whether he is running, may be the winner.

The outcome is expected to be close in the battle between forces of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio for endorsement in today's preferential (popularity) contest on the Republican ballot.

Governor Backs Ike
With Gov. Sherman Adams and other "big name" delegate candidates on his side, Eisenhower might get most of the state's 14 presidential nominating votes. Taft has said he would be satisfied with four.

Along with Harold E. Stassen, figured as a poor third in today's balloting here, the two major candidates are heading toward their next explosive collision in New Jersey's April 15 primary.

By then the nation's voters will have had time to gauge the effect of 12-hour-a-day person to person campaigning such as Taft has conducted here, as contrasted with vote appeals by proxy for Eisenhower.

Stassen Eyes Wisconsin Vote
Stassen has fired his heaviest barrage at Taft, in anticipation of their meeting in the April 1 Wisconsin primary.

The unknown quantity in the New Hampshire contest is wrapped up in a slate of delegates running for Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who has said he is not a candidate and got members of a similar slate to quit the race.

MacArthur isn't on the preference ballot, where Stassen is entered. On the other hand, Stassen has no delegates running for him, as has MacArthur.

House on Wheels — A Bit Wobbly Sometimes

By JIM WELLS

DES MOINES (AP) — The Raymond Zagers family near Ankeny has been living in a house on wheels for the last three weeks.

The family, consisting of Raymond Zagers, 40, Mrs. Hilda Zagers and their two sons, Ivars, 11, and Raymond Jr., 5, have been living, sleeping, cooking and eating while their home was being moved about 1 1/2 miles mostly through a cornfield.

"It's been quite an experience," Zagers said Monday. "But we've made out nicely. Sometimes a little jerking on the tow line makes you wobble a little but soon you don't notice it too much."

Mrs. Zagers has done the cooking for the family on a bottle gas stove.

Zagers explained that he has carried water from nearby places for washing and cooking.

George De Moss of the De Moss Construction company, which is moving the house, explained that the actual moving time has been only six days. "The frost went out of the ground for a while when we were coming across that cornfield," De Moss said, "and our plank tracking just sank under the weight. We had to give up the job for about two weeks and then start in again."

Movie Review — 'Poison' Davis, Merrill Teamed In Modern Gothic

By JIM WELLS

"Another Man's Poison" sets out to plumb the inner recesses of a female mind—that of Bette Davis, cast as a mystery novelist with husband and lover problems on the lonely Yorkshire moors.

Says her lover as they trot their horses, "Your mind is about as shallow as that lake, and it's pretty deep." This remark disturbs Bette because at that moment her biggest secret lies in that lake—under 60 feet of water.

In the opening scenes Bette makes a clandestine telephone call to her lover, who is her secretary's fiancé. Then she returns from the village paybooth to her home, where she goes first to her horse, then to the solace of her bar.

At this point a disheveled man (Gary Merrill) rises from the shelter of an armchair. He, it turns out, is her husband's accomplice in bank banditry.

As he calls the husband's name, Bette is shamelessly frank: "He won't hear you. He's dead. I killed him this morning."

This guilt, her passion for her secretary's fiancé, and her love of her horse raise a hell of incompatibility in both the inner and outer recesses of her mind. But her outward behavior ranges from innocent guile to brazen candor.

The guile is most necessary to stave off a suspicious neighbor (Emlyn Williams) who suspects that something untoward is going on and who pops in often under the flimsiest pretexts.

In general, "Another Man's Poison" presents five highly contrasting individuals in a shadowy setting of tarn, moor, and bog. The result is a shuddering modern gothic — combining contemporary mystery techniques with the bleak settings and violence familiar to readers of the Brontës.

Interpreting the News — West Must Convince Egypt To Make Choice

By J. M. ROBERTS JR., Associated Press News Analyst

Close observers of Egyptian affairs are expecting the present government to be merely an interim affair.

Relations with Britain are expected to improve under the present regime. But the long-term job of clearing up the wreckage left by the Waafidists is expected to be undertaken by leaders of the Intelligence, who are described as conservatives, but who have plans for re-defining the term democracy for the Egyptian people.

The names of these conservative leaders are not being bandied about — although the man who is expected to become premier is well known — because of the danger of assassination, that a curiously Middle Eastern political weapon which has stalked pro-Western leaders ever since the war.

One of the things that stands between these leaders and assumption of power, which they believe can be accompanied by popular education for cooperation with the West, is their demand that King

Farouk surrender the power that now permits him to interfere with constitutional government.

Want Reforms, Western Help
They believe that, with constitutional reforms and Western help in raising the economic standard of the people, a popular base can be created for Egyptian cooperation in Western defense of the Middle East.

All of this, ties in with some things told a reporter the other day by Brigadier Cyril D. Quilliam, a veteran of World War I, who has spent the last 35 years in the Moslem world as soldier and as correspondent of the London Times.

Ready for Real Democracy
Quilliam says anti-Westernism among the people of Egypt is real only insofar as it has been implanted by a venal Waafidist government which skimmed not only the cream but most of the milk off the country's economy while calling the regime "democracy." This, he says, left the people puzzled and despairing, ready for anything except the only kind of "democracy" they had heard of.

A new regime, through which aid from the democracies can really reach the people, bringing price reductions and the end of government scandals, will not find a very deep crust of anti-Westernism, he feels.

Letters to the Editor

TO THE EDITOR:
On Thursday, Feb. 28, the student council approved a subcommittee report recommending that questions on race, color and religion, and requests for photographs remain on university application forms. The bare fact is misleading unless SUI students are aware of the nature of the report and the circumstances of the meeting at which the report was accepted.

In the first place, minority group members of the coordinating committee on application forms, in flagrant violation of the rights of free speech, were barred from discussion. The result was that inaccuracies, contradictions and gross omissions in the report were allowed to go unchallenged by the council.

To cite but one example, a university official was quoted as saying that the questions on race had always appeared on university applications. The committee had documentary evidence to prove these questions were placed on applications after 1922, that questions on race could not be used in a discriminatory way since the information did not appear on university records. The coordinating committee was not permitted to present this and other pertinent information.

Secondly, the report itself contained absolutely no indications of the experiences, feelings, opinions of minority group members and organizations, and included interviews only with those who were known, for one reason or another, to favor retaining the questions. The excuse was given that the report was intended to be a research project from the administration point of view. However, two interviews with ministers who opposed removal were presented, but other ministers sympathetic to removal were not even approached.

Thirdly, the petition urging removal of the questions signed last spring by over 2,000 students, and the resolutions and statements adopted by a dozen organizations during the past two years were not given the slightest consideration. The chairman of the subcommittee, when questioned after the meeting, revealed basically inaccurate information about the organization which had supported removal.

The coordinating committee is prepared to support and elaborate upon these points in open and democratic discussion at any time. The coordinating committee feels that not to continue efforts toward removal of the discriminatory questions, after this mockery of student representation, would be a disservice to those who have generously given their support and encouragement the past two years.

TO THE EDITOR:
There must be several hundred people at the university who are better qualified to select the music for the "dinner hour" than Marcia Healy. Why has she been inflicted upon us?

For many of us who keep fairly busy with academic pursuits, there is little opportunity to listen to good music. The dinner hour has always been one bright spot in each hectic day — an hour when we could relax and enjoy fine music.

But for the past several months Miss Healy's potpourri of musical indigestion has brought both headaches and dyspepsia to what could be an hour of rest and recuperation. Each evening the suspense of wondering what atrocity she is planning to perpetrate creates a tension reminiscent only of the "great laundry gamble" of GI days.

Her selections appear to ignore the bell-shaped curve dictated by random chance — they are almost uniformly terrible. When she does somehow get caught by the law of averages and plays a record worth listening to, she usually manages to miss-arrange her time so that the program ends somewhere in the midst of the third movement.

I should like to protest against this abuse of a program designed for our "listening pleasure." Surely WSUI can manage to have the records for the dinner hour selected by someone who can tell the difference between good music and bad?

(Pictured are the first of 12 finalists for Mecca ball queen. The queen and her four attendants will be presented Friday night at the Mecca ball. Pictures of the other candidates will be run in The Daily Iowan this week.)

Efficient seniors in the college of engineering who took only a few hours Monday to solve the clues leading to the Barney Stone, must now devise a scientific method of removing 10 tons of fertilizer lying on top of the stone.

The fertilizer, in 100 pound sacks, presents a problem bigger than any of those made up by last year's senior class who hid the stone and made out the clues. The speed with which the stone was located was attributed to "52's wit, wisdom, and slide rules." The assistance of senior class members, especially that of Clarence D. Miller, E4, Sioux City, who was in charge of the "expeditionary force" that found the position, was also listed as a factor.

The location of the stone and the fertilizer cannot be divulged because of past attempts by law students to find the stone before the engineers. Law and engineering students have carried on a feud claiming a common patron saint, St. Patrick.

The short search led the engineers to the Coralville salvage yard, the Johnson county home for the poor, and back to the campus.

Work clothes will be worn by all seniors at 9:30 a.m. today, when they meet in the engineering library to work on the method of removal of the fertilizer.

The Barney Stone is to be presented at the engineer's smoker Thursday evening. Skits, by engineering faculty and students, and the candidates for Mecca ball queen and attendants will also be presented at this time.

Friday night, the Mecca ball will bring to a close Mecca week activities. An open house in the college of engineering will be held March 21 and 22. Exhibits of projects by engineering students will be shown.

Wardine Rimel
Pershing Rifle Queen

Wardine Rimel, A4, Bedford, was elected queen of the SUI unit of Pershing Rifles Monday night. She was chosen from three finalists who had tied for first place at an election Sunday evening.

Twenty-one candidates, four each from Currier and Westlawn and one from each social sorority were entered in the contest.

The queen will be entered in the national contest for honorary Brigadier General of the Pershing Rifles.

Judging was based on beauty and personality.

Final selection was made by the staff of the Pershing Rifle unit. The queen was to have been chosen Sunday evening by all the active members of the group but the three-way tie for first place necessitated a special staff meeting Monday night.

The other two finalists were Margaret Reed, A3, Waterloo, and Mary Lou Mortensen, A3, Des Moines.

Prof. John R. Winnie of the department of speech and dramatic arts is serving as producer-director for the series of programs. Donald P. Schrader, journalism instructor, is assisting Winnie and will moderate the discussions.

The half-hour show will consist of short motion picture sequences showing the students engaged in routine activities on the campus and discussions with each student of various problems that confront the foreign student in America.

Parts of the discussion will also focus on problems peculiar to the student's homeland that might be of special interest or value to Americans in attempting to understand people and affairs of other lands.

Differences and similarities of religions will be discussed as well as etiquette, food and how long it takes to become accustomed to American ways.

This will be the first program of the international series designed to consider problems of a specific geographic area of the world. Succeeding programs will deal with the Middle East, Europe and Latin America.

The programs are produced by the department of speech and dramatic arts in cooperation with the school of journalism and the SUI International club.

Students who will appear on the show include:

John Sequiera, Pakistan, a graduate student in journalism. A 1943 graduate of the University of Delhi in India, he worked as a professional journalist in that country and Pakistan before arriving in this country last September.

Synagogue Notes Feast of Purim

The feast of Purim was celebrated Monday at the Agudus Achim synagogue, with the reading of the scroll of Esther by Rabbi Stamm E. Cooper.

The observance commemorates the delivery of the Jewish communities who lived in exile in Persia. The incident took place in the city of Susa, and is recorded in the book of Esther.

The word "Purim" is believed to mean "lots," and refers to the fact that the Persian chief minister of the time cast lots to decide upon a favorable day for the destruction of the Jews.

This event never took place. Esther, a Jewess married to the Persian king, intervened on behalf of her people, and the minister was ordered to be put to death instead.

Another theme of the feast is a carnival to mark the end of winter and the coming of spring.

Prof. Walter A. Steigleman, SUI school of journalism, will speak at a vocational conference at Cherokee March 20. He will talk to high school students interested in journalism as a career.

BREMERS

Quality First with Nationally-Known Brands

Out in Idaho last December, lights burned, heaters glowed, and machinery pumped—all on atomic energy! Soon, the atom commissioners tell us, we may have an unending source of heat, light, and power.

Soon—the atom will bake a cake!

ANY DAY NOW, there'll be news of some revolutionary civilian use of atomic power.

Heating? ... Already the British are heating houses from an atomic pile. Transportation? ... We'll soon have atom-driven submarines—how about cars and planes? Housekeeping? ... Will we get new foods, textiles, dishes and labor-saving devices in unheard-of abundance?

When the first big story about peacetime atomic power breaks, you'll want to know how it all began and how it works... but most of all, who has it—and where can you get it?

You'll want the whole story... from your point of view, as only your newspaper can tell it.

That's how it is with every important news or product story. You want all the story. You want to know where you fit in.

So does everybody else.

And just as you read the newspaper every day, so does everybody else. Because there's something for everybody every day.

Why do advertisers invest more money in newspapers than in any other form of advertising?

Simply because everybody reads the paper—for its advertising as well as for fun or news.

So, why advertise only to fractions of the people?

Radio and TV programs reach only fractions of anybody's market—sport fans, home-makers, kids, or whatever. And even they can't all listen at the time a commercial is broadcast.

Magazines reach only fractions of a market. For each one appeals to some people—not to others.

The Newspaper talks to everybody in town. It's created fresh every day to appeal to everybody.

Only the newspaper is first with the most news... first with the most people... first with the most advertisers!

The newspaper is always "first with the most"

IT'S AN IMPROVEMENT

Iowa athletes this year have compiled the best overall record for the school in years, despite losing records in football, wrestling and fencing.

From September to March Hawkeye teams have won 41 dual meets, lost 24 and tied four times, for an average of .623. These figures do not include the fine performances of Iowa teams and individuals during the Big Ten meets over the weekend.

The best records to date have been made in basketball (19-3), gymnastics (10-1), swimming (5-1) and track (2-1). The football team had a 2-5-2 record, cross country 2-2, wrestling 0-5-2 and fencing 1-6.

In Big Ten competition, the Hawkeye representatives won 22, lost 23, and tied four.

Cretzmeier

In the Western conference meets over the weekend, Iowa picked up enough points in each of the tournaments to come up with a total good enough for third in the loop. Illinois was first and Michigan second.

The Hawkeyes were third in track with 29 points, fourth in swimming with 30, fifth in gymnastics with 27 and eighth in wrestling with 10. Illinois won championships in track, wrestling and gymnastics to run its total to five for the school year. The Illini had previously walked off with football and basketball.

The competition around the conference, though, can take some heart in the fact that the boys from Champaign took a solid last in swimming.

BEST IN 14 YEARS

Iowa's track team made the best showing of a Hawkeye running squad in 14 years in its third place showing.

And whenever track comes into the conversation, with it comes the name of Francis Cretzmeier, who is directly responsible for cinder successes here. Perhaps his squad isn't yet ready to challenge the strength of Illinois or Michigan, but the immediate improvement in Iowa track fortunes since the arrival of Cretz has been phenomenal.

Outstanding in the Iowa showing at the Champaign meet was the mile relay team, which set a new record of 3:18.3. The Hawks weren't conceded a chance of finishing better than third, and to make the task more difficult, were forced to run in the "slow" section of the race.

1st 'Slow' Winner?

Cretz had hoped the Hawks would be able to run in the fast section of the mile (run in two sections to avoid crowding) with teams like Illinois and Michigan, on the theory that these teams would push the Iowans to better times. But in the drawings, in which coaches vote for pairings, it was decided to place Iowa in a race with Michigan State, Purdue, Indiana and Minnesota.

None of the other teams in that section placed in the best times, and it's believed that this is the first time the champion has come from the "slow" heat.

It was also unusual that the mile team won the title with two runners who rarely tackle the 440-yard distance.

'Outsiders' a Help

Ted Wheeler, who had taken third in the mile run earlier with a time of 4:14.1, ran a leg on the relay for the first time and turned in a creditable time of :49.8. He passed the baton to a regular half-miler, LeRoy Ebert, who ran his quarter in 49.3. Those times, combined with Chuck Boylan's leadoff :50.7 and Gary Scott's :48.4 on the anchor, beat second-place Illinois by a half second.

Some of the Iowa track men will compete in the Chicago Relays March 29.

ALL A BAD DREAM

The thing that Iowa basketball followers had feared for the last week took form Saturday night and Wisconsin's seventh place Badgers did knock over Illinois' first place Illini. Many Hawkeye fans chewed nails (or still are) over the fact that the Badgers had to be good enough to beat our Hawkeyes last Monday.

Had Iowa won that game and Illinois lost to Wisconsin, the Iowans would be in a position for a playoff to decide the Big Ten championship. We may console ourselves with the probability that Illinois would not have lost the game if the title was at stake. They rarely do.

Myers Wins Big Ten Title on a Fall

IOWA'S NEW BIG TEN 191-POUND WRESTLING champion, George Myers, registers the only fall recorded in the finals of the conference meet as he pins Willis Wood of Minnesota in 3:58 of their bout. Myers' win in the tournament at Ann Arbor, Mich., gave the Hawks seven of their total of ten points and gave Iowa its 17th individual conference championship in Big Ten wrestling history. Myers won three bouts on the road to the title, including a 6-3 decision over Horne of Michigan and a 10-6 victory over the meet favorite, Fowler of Michigan State.

Iowa Teams High — Over the Weekend

— In Big Ten Meets

Runners Take 3d

Iowa continued its steady move toward leadership in Big Ten track by finishing third in the conference indoor track and field meet Saturday at Champaign, Ill. Illinois' defending champions retained third team title with 59 points. Michigan was second with 52. Iowa's total of 29 was far ahead of Ohio State in fourth with 15 points.

The Hawkeye relay team pulled the meet's biggest surprise by winning the mile relay in the record time of 3:18.3.

Ira Murchison and Glen Hessel-tine boosted Iowa's stock in the 50-yard dash by placing third and fifth.

Iowa also scored heavily in the distance races. Ted Wheeler was third in the mile and Rich Ferguson finished second in the 2-mile. Gary Scott in the 440 and DuWayne Dietz in the low hurdles scored Iowa's other points.

Tankmen Cop 4th

Iowa's swimming team got a rest period Monday after returning from the Big Ten championships at East Lansing, Mich., Saturday where the Hawkeyes finished fourth.

The Buckeyes of Ohio State successfully defended their team title in the conference meet. Michigan State edged Michigan for second place.

Don Watson and Ross "Buddy" Lucas got Iowa off to a good start in the 1500-meter race by placing fourth and sixth.

Bowen Stasforth, Hawkeye co-captain, followed with a second in the 200-yard breaststroke and a third in the 100-yard breaststroke. Coach David Armbruster said Monday that Stasforth was hindered by sickness and was treated for virus influenza when he returned to Iowa City.

Buddy Lucas placed third in the 440 and Bunny Broeder was sixth in low board diving and fourth in high diving to assure Iowa of fourth place.

The Hawkeyes' freestyle relay and medley relay teams also placed.

Gymnasts Finish 5th

Coach Dick Holzappel's 10-man Iowa gymnastics squad finished fifth in the Big Ten gym tourney held at Bloomington, Indiana over the weekend. The Hawks' point total was 27 and they ranked behind Illinois, Michigan, Michigan State, and Minnesota in that order.

Iowa placed six men in the finals but won no championships in the final individual competition. Sophomore Bob Hazlett finished highest of the Hawkeyes with a third-place in the tumbling division.

Frank LaDue, previously unbeaten in competition this season, fell off the trampoline in the finals of that event and finished sixth. Bill Sorenson followed with

Clifton on All-Conference 2d Team — Darling Tops Big Ten Voting

CHICAGO (AP) — Five different schools won berths on the 1952 all-Big Ten basketball team picked for the Associated Press by conference coaches.

Sole unanimous choice was Iowa's all-America center, Chuck Darling, who re-wrote the league record book this season.

Champion Illinois contributed guard Rod Fletcher, who missed a sweep by one vote. The other guard was Ab Nicholas of the lowly Wisconsin team which upset Illinois and runner-up Iowa in its last two starts. Nicholas is the only repeater from the 1951 AP all-star team.

Honored at forwards were Paul Ebert, Ohio State's scintillating sophomore, and Purdue's hustling Carl McNulty.

Not Exceptionally Tall — Excepting the 6-foot, 8-inch Darling, whose 364 points in 14 games set all kinds of conference records, the all-star team is not exceptionally tall. Ebert and Fletcher and 6-4 and McNulty and Nicholas 6-3.

But it comes to as close a dream team as any coach would want. The skilled and agile Darling averaged a sizzling 26 points. Ebert, runner-up in conference scoring, clicked at a 21.4 average, while McNulty was good for 20.6 points per game.

Nicholas Rebounds, Scores — Fletcher was an exceptional play-maker and rebounder, the key man in Illinois' title drive. Nicholas not only excelled in the same two departments, but also finished fifth in conference scoring with almost a 17-point average.

Excluding sophomore Ebert, the all-stars were seniors.

Relegated to the second team by this fine quintet were such stand-outs as Iowa's Bob Clifton and

Keokuk, Tipton, Van Horne Win

By LEE CANNING

Keokuk, Van Horne and Tipton moved a step up the sub-state tournament ladder Monday night in the field house by defeating opening round opponents before a crowd of 4,300.

Bill Logan, Keokuk's high scoring center, led the Chiefs to a 58-54 victory over Fairfield in the class AA field. Logan scored 31 points and his rebounding gave Keokuk its edge.

Tipton's center, John Sissel, took high point honors for the night by hitting 36 points as class A Tipton beat Wayland, 69-53.

In class B competition, Van Horne took an easy 55-32 victory over Wellman.

Fairfield gave favored Keokuk a battle during the entire game and it wasn't until the last minute of play, when Larry Koch made a drive-in, that the Chiefs were assured of the victory.

Keokuk started fast and held a 31-24 halftime lead. Fairfield's offensive rebounding during the third quarter pulled the Trojans to a 38-38 tie but Keokuk, with Logan leading the way, built a winning margin in the last period.

Koch followed Logan in scoring for the Chiefs with 10 points.

Fairfield's balanced attack was led by guard Dick Eklund with 13. John Smith, Jim Kaska and Phil Rash all had 12 for the Trojans.

Tipton moved ahead of Wayland early in the first quarter, 24-7, and stayed in front during the rest of the game. Wayland challenged the losers with six minutes left in the fourth period by closing the margin to 52-41, but Tipton scored easily in the late minutes to win. Guard Wally Sheets scored 11 points to give Sissel the necessary scoring help.

2 Points Not Enough for Fairfield

Van Horne's center, Marvin Wilson, led the Hornets to victory with 19 points. Van Horne took an early lead and was never pushed.

NFL, Canada Loop Teams Bid for Karras

CHICAGO (AP) — Halfback Johnny Karras of Illinois is busy shopping for a post-grad school career.

No. 2 draft choice of the Chicago Cardinals, Karras has been dickering with both the National Football League club and the Saskatchewan Rough Riders of Regina of the Western Canada league.

In addition, he is considering an offer from an industrial concern in Indianapolis which wants him to pass up pro football.

Last week, Karras conferred at Champaign, Ill. with Walter Wolfner, managing director of the Cardinals, and also Glenn Dobbs, coach of the Roughriders.

Student Council Reorganization Will Mean Added Responsibilities

Only Traces of Ballet —

Dance Company Performs

By VIRGINIA VAVRA

For those expecting ballet, there was a surprise in store when the Jose Limon dance company performed to a less-than-capacity audience in Macbride hall Monday night.

With only vestiges of ballet showing, the dance troupe gave an interpretation of Bach preludes and fugues for its first number. Black and white costumes added to the mood of precision and repetition. The audience applauded, but was not as enthusiastic as for later numbers.

"The Story of Mankind," a dance sequence from a cartoon by Carl Rose, had the audience spasmodically laughing and applauding from start to finish.

The choreography for this number was done by Doris Humphrey, and had a different touch from the other three numbers, of which Limon was the choreographer.

This sequence was performed by Limon and Pauline Koner, guest artist. They portrayed in humorous pantomime the rise and fall of man. The six divisions were "In the Cave," "Greek Palace," "Medieval Castle," "Brownstone House," "Penthouse" and "The Cave."

The number was enthusiastically received and enabled Miss Koner to exhibit her skill as a comedian. Limon and Miss Koner wore the same costumes throughout the entire number with different accessories added to indicate a change in period.

The dance troupe was composed

— Small SUI Audience

of Limon, Miss Koner, Lucas Hoving, Betty Jones, Ruth Currier and Simon Sadoff, musical director.

Limon was born in Mexico and a Spanish touch is noticeable in some of his work. He first gained recognition while with the Doris Humphrey dance troupe.

Lincoln Items

SUI Adds Play Bills To Collection

Original play bills advertising the Ford theater performance at which Abraham Lincoln was assassinated are included in a recent addition to the SUI Lincoln collection.

The material was purchased in New York at a public auction of the Oliver R. Barrett Lincoln collection.

One of the play bills was printed early on the morning of April 14, 1865, the day of Lincoln's death. As soon as it was settled that the president would attend the evening performance, a second bill was printed which carried a paragraph noting the fact of the president's attendance.

Also added to the Lincoln collection was a poster offering $400 to men who would act as substitutes for person's unable to serve in the war between the states.

Another item is a large poster asking the people of Pennsylvania to help defend their state against the approaching forces of Lee's army.

A copy of Lincoln's proclamation calling out the state militias to meet the coming crisis of the Civil War also was purchased by the library.

An additional shipment of Lincoln articles is expected to arrive this week.

SUI Red Cross Drive To Begin This Week

The Johnson county chapter of the American Red Cross will start its annual SUI drive on the campus this week.

Representatives of the faculty and student body will sell $1 memberships in all departments and housing units.

Otis Walker, Johnson county fund drive chairman, said, "Red Cross membership is a way of directly aiding our troops in Korea and helping needy people anywhere, anytime, regardless of race, creed, religion or color."

The drive in rural areas was started late in February. The Iowa City drive began last week. The SUI goal of $2,400 is part of the county goal of $19,844.

21-Month Burns' Child Buried Here Monday

Funeral services were held Monday at the Hohenschuh mortuary for Charolett Ann Burns, 21-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Burns, R.R. 6.

The child had been ill about two weeks and died of tetanus at Mercy hospital about 12:25 a.m. Sunday.

She is survived by her parents and two sisters, Cheryl and Sharon.

The Rev. Mr. McCoy of the Downey Baptist church officiated at the services. Burial was in Memory Gardens.

By BOB HESS

SUI's student council is going to take on a new air of importance this month.

A rebirth of student government is expected within the next two weeks and comes as an answer to a charge by last year's council president that the group is "a spineless tool of the administration."

The student council will keep the wheels of reorganization moving Thursday evening, when it discusses the method of adding the new responsibilities.

Final Action March 27

John Bunce, L3, Des Moines, president, said Monday it is doubtful if the council will take action this week on the proposed recommendations. He said discussion and approval of the suggested powers will probably come at the March 27 meeting.

The first step in the reorganization program was realized 10 days ago when the council approved a constitutional amendment which increased the membership on the governing body from 17 to 28 delegates.

The plan eliminates delegates-at-large, usually chosen at the all-campus elections, and puts the council on a representation basis with the larger housing units entitled to three delegates.

Eliminates Over-Work

The increased membership, planned for the purpose of eliminating an excessive work-load with the new powers, will be put into effect next month when the housing units choose their council representatives.

Bunce declined to disclose what new powers the council may have, saying only that the recommendations are the result of months of "bargaining" with the faculty and administration.

At a council meeting two weeks ago, Bunce hinted that some of the responsibility would include representation on the calendar and library committees.

Under the present setup, the calendar committee, which sets the dates for vacations and university functions, is made up of only faculty and administrative personnel.

Another power, which the reorganization committee hadn't bargained for, is the appointment of the five student members of the Student Board of Publications.

Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, chairman of the board, sent the council a letter which was read at the last council meeting. The two-paragraph note told of the board's interest in seeing that student members of that group will eventually be chosen by the council.

The five students presently are picked at the all-campus elections, and with four faculty members formulate the policy of The Daily Iowan.

Establish Higher Judiciary

In its report on reapportionment, the committee said, "One of the ends of reorganization is to establish, through the student council, a student judiciary body which would hear appeals from the various judicial bodies of the individual units on campus."

To aid this suggestion, the University Women's association was given a delegate on the council because of UWA's judicial arrangement.

The groundwork for the reorganization program was laid by the 1950-51 council under the direction of President Jack Whitesell, but no concrete plans were formulated.

This year's council took up the work last fall with Dick Turney, A4, Oelwein, as committee chairman. Tom Ungs, G, Dyersville, headed the work on reapportionment.

City Council To Meet Thursday in Session To Consider Parking

A special session of the city council has been called to consider the city's enforcement policy against parking of autos between sidewalk and curb along the city's streets.

The meeting, called by Mayor William J. Holland, has been set for 8 p.m. Thursday.

The meeting came as a result of a petition filed Friday with Holland asking that the city council repeal the parking law forbidding the curb-to-sidewalk parking.

The petition which was signed by more than 100 persons who maintain that the law is "detrimental to our business."

The law referred to, however, is believed by Holland to be a state law which states that the right wheels must be within 18 inches of the curb and faced in the direction of traffic.

If this is true, about the only thing the council could decide Thursday would be whether or not to enforce the law, Holland said.

The appeal to the council came as a result of the authorization of the council a week ago to the police to enforce the law.

Holland said that the council took the action because of several complaints from pedestrians that they were unable to get around cars that were blocking the sidewalk without going into the street.

Holland also commented that the proposed enforcement of the law would not affect those persons and businesses who possessed permits which allowed them to use the parking for driveways or loading zones.

Lawson Parries Moody; Calls Details Trivial

WASHINGTON (AP) — "God, boy, if you want me to tell you all these things, you'll wreck my mind."

With this beginning, Alfred William Lawson, 82-year-old founder of the University of Lawnsomy, Monday launched a series of replies to questions by Sen. Blair Moody (D-Mich.) at a senate small business committee hearing.

Moody, 50, was trying to get the facts behind a machine tool deal which he said netted the University of Lawnsomy, Des Moines, a $115,000 profit.

But about all he got from Lawson after an hour's questioning was this:

"I'm thinking great philosophical thoughts for the benefit of the mankind that comes after me. I don't go into figures. They're minor details."

Pressed further on whether he had an interest in the deal, Lawson told the senator:

"I'll tell you where my interest is. I'm interested in where your soul goes after you die."

Moody said the University of Lawnsomy has sold for $120,000 about 45 machine tools from a lot of 62 it bought from the federal government in 1947 for $4,480.

They were part of a surplus distributed to educational institutions after World War II for instructional purposes and on condition that they not be resold for at least three years.

Lawson testified he understood the three-year period had elapsed when the tools were sold. He denied he profited from the deal, saying:

"May God strike me dead if I did."

The whole thing, he said, was handled by the school's board of trustees. He couldn't remember the names of all nine trustees but said two of them are George Sorenson, secretary of the university, and a man named Hayter, who is president. He couldn't recall Hayter's first name.

Both Sorenson and Hayter were ordered subpoenaed for appearance before the committee at a later date.

ALFRED WILLIAM LAWSON, 82-year-old founder of the University of Lawnsomy at Des Moines, reaches for papers in his coat pocket during his appearance before the senate small business committee Monday.

Baby's Death Termed Accident

The death of three-months old Gregory Allan Huxford early Saturday has been termed accidental.

In a joint statement issued Monday, County Attorney William L. Meardon and Dr. George D. Callahan, county coroner, stated:

"An investigation of the circumstances surrounding the death of Gregory Allan Huxford indicates that it was accidental. The cause of the death was shock due to burns."

The baby, son of Mr. and Mrs.

Jack Huxford, 209 Harrison st., died at Mercy hospital, after fire was discovered in the basket crib in which he was sleeping at his home.

Fire Chief Al Dolezal said the fire, which never broke into an open blaze, apparently had been started by a cigaret ember.

Funeral services for the baby were held Monday at the Oathout funeral chapel with the Rev. John Craig, of the Congregational church, officiating. Burial was in Memorial Gardens.
