

Nearly 10,000 Expected At VA Hospital Dedication Ceremonies

Carl R. Gray, Head of VA, Will Speak

The largest public building in Iowa formally opens its doors Sunday.

Begun in 1949 and completed last December, Veterans hospital will now make Iowa City one of the leading medical centers in the country.

About 400 guests are expected to attend dedication ceremonies at 2 p.m. Sunday in the main lobby of the hospital.

Between 8,000 and 10,000 persons are expected to tour the hospital following the ceremonies. Tours will be conducted from 3 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Carl R. Gray Jr., national VA administrator, will be principal speaker at the dedication. President Virgil M. Hancher will be master of ceremonies.

About 100 guests will be entertained at a luncheon in the hospital dining room at noon Sunday.

Among special guests at the ceremonies, in addition to Gray, are Vice-Adm. Joel T. Boone, chief VA medical director; Dr. Donald McCarthy, assistant VA medical director; Dr. Elmer Andressen, area VA medical director.

Rep. Thomas E. Martin of Iowa City; State Rep. G. M. Ludwig of Tiffin; State Sen. Leroy Mercer of Iowa City; Mayor William J. Holland; City Manager Peter F. Roan.

Dr. Dean Lierle, VA consultant; Mrs. Florence Armstrong, national director of the voluntary services of the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary; A. W. Woolford, director of information service for VA.

Allen F. Bigelow, director of program analysis staff for VA; Phillip Fordyce, of the VA information service; George Dinsdale, confidential secretary to the administrator; Paul Conway, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Evan E. Rowe, state commander of Disabled American Veterans; Herbert Bennett, state commander

Sue Sutherland Crowned Mecca Queen

Iowa Faction Loses Farm Union Fight

DALLAS (AP) — A faction demanding immediate cease-fire in Korea lost a bitter convention floor fight at the National Farmers Union 50th annual meeting Friday.

The losing faction, identified by one of the leaders as the "peace camp," also had asked NFU to condemn the "monopoly enterprise system" and asked that the administration "bring home our boys" from Korea.

Convention action was over vigorous protests of Fred Stover, president of the Iowa Farmers union, and Louis Slocum of Trenton, N. J., executive secretary of the NFU's eastern division, comprising New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

After turning down the resolutions, the convention adopted a constitutional amendment which could result in revocation of the Iowa NFU charter and the ousting of Stover.

Slocum said the amendment, setting minimum membership standards, also threatened existence of his unit.

The amendment authorizes the national executive committee to revoke the charters of state unions with fewer than 3,500 members at the end of 1953. At the end of 1951, Iowa had 1,034 and New Jersey about 1,600.

"Let's be strictly honest," said Stover. "This is directed first and principally at Iowa and generally at the peace forces within the farmers union. We're willing to negotiate and compromise on many things for unity. We've been doing it for some time. But we won't negotiate on something affecting our own survival."

Stover then declared that his efforts to build Iowa membership

5 Romanian Fliers Escape to Yugoslavia, 1 Is Party Member

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Five refugee Romanian army fliers, who fled their country Thursday in a World War I plane, told newsmen Friday night they gambled their lives for freedom "because we had nothing to lose but our chains."

They said there is hard-fisted Russian rule over their homeland and widespread hunger and suffering. They themselves appeared well-fed and clad after arriving here Thursday.

There is an underground resistance in Romania, they reported, and some of the units have several hundred men, but they profess no knowledge of the extent of its organization.

L. Dimitru Piturka, 39, pilot of the German-made Heinkel II, confirmed the statement of Premier Marshal Tito four days ago that Russia is arming Romania with jet planes. He did not know how many.

His companions are Liacupik J. Ducur, 23, medical officer of the 17th bomber regiment, to which all the others belonged. Sgt. George Curea, 23, a trained mechanic; Sgt. Eugen Horrojanu, the plane's mechanic; and L. J. Ghinea, 26, political commissar of the regiment and only member of the Communist party in the group.

They had been planning their escape for a year. In order to get away the political commissar swapped jobs with a colleague assigned to the flight under a rule that an armed officer must accompany all airborne officers who are not perfectly trusted.

Expelled Students Denied Reinstatement

Two SUI students who were expelled from the Quadrangle dormitory March 4 for attempting to throw a coed into a shower were refused reinstatement to the dormitory Friday.

Humphrey Cox, A1, Linn Grove, and Bryon H. Hoffman, A2, Des Moines, had appealed the expulsion to the office of student affairs.

M. L. Huit, men's counselor, issued the following statement: "An appeal committee representing both the office of student affairs and the office of the director of dormitories has studied carefully the request by the Quadrangle association's judicial committee.

"After weighing all of the obtainable facts and evidence, and on the basis of its own independent inquiries, the appeal committee has ruled that the Quadrangle's judicial committee arrived at its decision fairly and after due deliberation.

"Lacking any new evidence, the committee therefore supports the decision of that body."

The prank occurred the night of Feb. 28, when the students grabbed a campaigner for Pi Beta Phi's candidate for Miss SUI. They were stopped by a dormitory proctor.

A representative of the dormitory said Friday night the two must leave the Quad "within a reasonable time of two or three days."

Eisenhower Builds Lead In State GOP Delegates

New Outbreak Of POW's On Koje Island

TOKYO (SATURDAY) (AP) — Twelve Communist prisoners of war were killed and 26 wounded in a fresh outbreak of trouble on Koje island Thursday, the army announced today.

One American officer and one South Korean civilian were injured.

"Quiet has been restored," the army announcement said, "and all prisoners are complying fully with the orders of the authorities. The international Red Cross has been informed and will make an independent investigation."

The army did not say whether the rioting prisoners were Chinese or North Korean, or both.

The latest outbreak, second within a month, started when a work party of cooperative prisoners of war and a detachment of Republic of Korea (ROK) troops under a ROK captain were suddenly stoned while passing an area containing a large number of unruly Red prisoners.

The guard company opened fire.

UAW Chief Calls Union To Account

DETROIT (AP) — President Walter P. Reuther of the CIO United Auto Workers was accused Friday of attempting to purge political opponents in calling in officers of the 65,000-member Ford Local 600 to show cause why they shouldn't be fired for permitting alleged Communists to infiltrate their ranks.

The angry accusation came from President Carl Stellato of the local union, after the UAW international executive board declined a delay in its trial of Stellato and his staff and ordered it to proceed.

Presidents of 39 Detroit area locals were called in as observers by Reuther and his 18-member executive board, and most UAW leaders willing to talk forecast that an administrator would be named to take over Stellato's huge local, which claims to be the largest in the world.

Should the officers be ousted, the local would have to hold elections within 60 days. It would be theoretically possible for Stellato and his officers to run in any special election.

The administrator could be instructed by the board to fire the local's officers, the board could fire them itself, or it could leave the matter of ouster or retention in the hands of the administrator.

The show-cause order to Stellato and his staff grew out of the naming of several officials of Local 600 as Communists before recent hearings of the House Un-American Activities committee here.

Fischer Attorneys Want New Trial

WEBSTER CITY (AP) — A new trial will be asked for Robert Fischer, 15-year-old Jewell boy who was convicted of second degree murder by a jury which returned its verdict at 1:21 a.m. Friday.

Attorneys for the boy said that if a new trial is not granted by District Judge John Schupp they will appeal to the Iowa supreme court.

Robert was convicted of the rifle slaying of his father, Al W. Fischer, 42, March 29 has been set for the youth's sentencing. He faces a term of 10 years to life imprisonment.

Government Attempts To Recover 47 Ships

WASHINGTON (AP) — An officer of the Maritime Administration said Friday the government is trying to recover a fleet of 47 surplus ships it suspects of having been transferred illegally to foreign interests.

Included among the vessels are eight tankers which Joseph E. Casey and a group of public figures obtained with an outlay of $101,000 and later disposed of for $3 1/2 million.

Also on the list are six ships controlled by China International foundation, Inc., an organization headed by Newbold Morris, chief detective of Truman's drive against corruption in government.

The government's efforts to recover the vessels were described to the senate's permanent investigations subcommittee Friday by Thomas E. Stakem, assistant to the deputy maritime administrator.

The senators are winding up a four-week inquiry into the ship deals.

Rev. Dunnington Speaks at GOP Convention

Taft Has Slight Edge In Uninstructed Counties

Republican Delegates Of Johnson County Vote for Ike 2 to 1

By RON VALLINE

Johnson county Republicans will send to the state presidential convention next month 37 delegates instructed to support Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower by a 2 to 1 ratio.

This decision was reached at the GOP county presidential convention Friday during a four-hour session of stump speeches and heated debate in the Community building. Nearly 200 delegates went without lunch to pick a slate, and the convention was marked by an unusual number of motions and amendments.

An uproar over delegates began when a standing straw vote revealed an almost 2 to 1 preference for Eisenhower over four other Republican candidates.

The approximate count was: Eisenhower, 110; Sen. Robert Taft, 56; Gen. Douglas MacArthur, 3; Gov. Earl Warren, 2, and Harold Stassen, 0.

When Dean Mason Ladd of the SUI college of law presented the slate of 37 delegates and 20 alternates his committee prepared during the noon hour there was immediate opposition.

Atty. J. Newman Toomey presented a substitute list, claiming it more realistic in light of the preference poll.

He said his list had been prepared by 15 people who interviewed possible candidates in a county survey. One interviewer said the list "frankly" was composed of persons supporting Eisenhower, 2 to 1.

Heated discussion followed, with some delegates claiming the new list did not represent a cross section of the county. Others said that non-delegates voted in the poll, and added that others present didn't vote at all.

The convention tabled a motion to poll both slates of delegates on their presidential preference, and a compromise motion was agreed upon.

The original slate of delegates will be sent to the state presidential convention April 4 in Des Moines.

DES MOINES (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower built up a 220 to 125 lead over U.S. Senator Robert A. Taft Friday in instructed county delegates to the Iowa Republican presidential convention here April 4.

Reports from 64 of the 99 county presidential conventions showed only 10 instructed their delegates. In 40 of the 54 counties which did not instruct, straw votes were taken and Taft won 22 to Eisenhower's 18.

The final test in Iowa between those two top Republican presidential nominee candidates comes at the state convention. It will choose the state's 28 delegates to the July 7 national convention at Chicago.

3,030 Convention Delegates There will be 3,030 state convention delegates, of which 1,778 will come from the counties which did not instruct their delegates. Two national convention delegates will be chosen from each congressional district and 10 by the state convention as delegates at large.

Eisenhower won all of the 49 delegates from Cerro Gordo, the 24 from Hamilton, the 20 from Emmet, the 19 from Louisa and the 22 from Hancock counties. He took 17 of 28 in Mahaska county, 11 of 22 in Grundy county, and 58 of 104 in Linn county.

Taft got all 26 of the delegates from Winneshiek county and the 35 from Fayette county. He won 10 in Mahaska, 8 in Grundy, and 46 in Linn counties.

Counties Favoring Taft

The counties which were reported as favoring Taft are: Al-lamakee, Muscatine, Delaware, Cherokee, Cedar, Clay, Harrison, Monona, Dubuque, Crawford, Taylor, Jones, Plymouth, Franklin, Iowa, Keokuk, Scott, Howard, Mitchell, Audubon, Jefferson and Kosciusko.

Those reported as favoring to Eisenhower are: Pocahontas, Palo Alto, Buena Vista, Sac, Page, Hardin, Des Moines, Lucas, Polk, Boone, Story, Jasper, Monroe, Johnson, Dickinson, Worth, Wright, and Marshall.

Polk county, which on the basis of last week's precinct caucuses, indicated strong support for the general, was notable among those which did not instruct. It will have 188 delegates to the state convention, the most of any county.

In other political news, Gov. William S. Beardsley and former Lt. Gov. Kenneth A. Evans formally entered the race for the Republican nomination for governor late Friday.

The two filed their nomination papers with the secretary of state only a few hours before the filing deadline at midnight Friday. Along with other latest filings they ran the total to 327 of an anticipated 400.

Secretary of State Melvin D. Synhorst, who also filed late Friday, for Republican reelection, announced he had ruled Rendell Owens, Ottumwa Republican, ineligible for a commerce commission vacancy.

Lacks Petitions

Synhorst said Owens did not file a sufficient number of petitions to qualify himself as a candidate for the office.

Harry B. Thompson, Muscatine Republican, who previously had announced his candidacy, filed his nomination papers for secretary of agriculture.

George E. Cutler, Sioux City Democrat, also filed for congress from the eighth district. He will oppose Republican Rep. Charles Hoeven.

By 7 p.m. among those who had previously announced candidacies but who had not yet filed their required nomination papers were: Joe Miller, Des Moines Republican, for secretary of state; Paul K. Smith, Boone Republican, and Ralph W. Wolfe, Ottumwa Republican, both for secretary of agriculture.

Special Busses

Special busses will carry visitors to and from the new Veterans hospital Sunday.

The busses will leave from the north entrance of the Jefferson hotel, and will run on 20-minute intervals from 2:15 p.m. until 9:30. Visitors are urged to use the busses to minimize parking and traffic problems.

of American Veterans; R. J. Laird, state adjutant of the American Legion; Col. G. A. Finley, resident engineer, U.S. army corps of engineers, and C. W. Newgren, representing Newberg Construction company.

In addition to President Hancher, those from SUI who are honored guests are Provost Harvey H. Davis, Administrative Dean Allin W. Dakin, Business Manager Fred Ambrose and Dean E. T. Peterson of the college of education, all members of the president's executive council.

Drs. Robert C. Hardin, Stuart Cullen, E. D. Warner, W. M. Fowler, A. W. Bryan, all members of the dean's committee of the college of medicine.

With addition of a third hospital, Iowa City now has a capacity of more than 1,700 patients. University hospitals has 1,000 beds; Mercy hospital, 225, and the Veterans hospital, 490.

The Veterans hospital received its first patients March 3, and at present there are 60 patients. It is expected that because of a limited staff, it will be several months before the patient capacity can be reached.

Among VA patients here will be nine women patients, who will be housed on the third floor.

The 13-story hospital is located at the northwest edge of Iowa City, directly opposite University hospitals and adjacent to highway 6.

Truman Establishes 'Order of Succession'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman has established an "order of succession" among the 17 ranking civilians at the Pentagon "to insure the continuity of operations of the department of defense in the event of disaster."

The succession was set forth in an executive order signed March 7 and published in the Federal Register. Generally the succession order follows the line of seniority in the positions held by civilian defense chiefs.

Should the defense secretary's "death, disability or absence" prevent him from discharging his duties, the deputy secretary—now William G. Foster—would take over. Next in line come Army Secretary Pace, Navy Secretary Kimball and Air Force Secretary Finletter.

VA Administrator Arrives Here

CARL R. GRAY JR. (left), national administrator of the Veterans hospital, is greeted by Dr. Leland Stillwell, director of the Iowa City Veterans hospital on his arrival by train in Iowa City Friday night. Gray and members of his staff will spend today inspecting the new hospital before the dedication Sunday. Gray will be the principal speaker at the ceremonies.

Sunday will be one of the most important days in the history of Iowa City.

With the dedication of the Veterans hospital our city will have completed another step in the direction of becoming one of the greatest medical centers in the nation.

The SUI colleges of medicine, dentistry and nursing, their staffs and facilities for teaching, have established Iowa City with a reputation of a leading medical center.

The coming of the Veterans hospital sees this center advancing from great to greater.

At the same time the new hospital will give a tremendous boost to local businesses. Dr. Leonard E. Stilwell, hospital manager, has estimated that approximately $2 million of additional purchasing power in Iowa City will result from the coming of this new hospital.

Even more important in the establishment of the hospital is the plan for utmost cooperation between it and SUI.

The bridge between the two will be formed by the dean's committee, composed of 5 SUI medical and dental faculty members.

This committee will make recommendations and supervise the attending and consulting doctors at the VA hospital.

Also it has been arranged for the VA hospital and SUI to work together in order to provide a training ground for advanced medical students.

Pending is a plan by which some VA doctors will teach in the SUI college of medicine.

Therefore, the coming of this hospital is not only a boon to the growth of Iowa City, but also for the expansion of our long-established medical center here.

We commend the local chamber of commerce for its inexhaustible efforts in bringing the VA hospital here.

At the same time we welcome to Iowa City those who are to be our new friends and neighbors.

'Reluctant Genius' Draws as Hobby

By GENE RAFFENSBERGER

For a guy whose cartoons have created a mild sensation in the columns of The Daily Iowan this year, Frank Interlandi is a reluctant genius.

In fact, Frank insists that his twin brother Phil, and not himself, is the real cartoonist in the Interlandi family.

"Cartooning is just a hobby with me," he says. "If I think something might be funny to readers I draw a cartoon of it. I'm not much good at it," he dodges, "but you should see some of the stuff my brother does for the Saturday Evening Post. He's great."

Well Read

Frank has been doing cartoons for the Iowan since last fall and his fun-poking glimpses of SUI campus life have become one of the Iowan's best read features.

Frank's round-eyed, pointed nosed caricatures of SUI students and faculty members bring smiles to nearly everyone on campus.

Frank naturally denies that his cartoon faces have their real life derivation in his own but it's interesting to note that twin brother Phil draws almost the same faces for his nationally used features.

Can't Leave Him Out

Iowan staff members have found, much to their embarrassment, that leaving out one of his

Frank Interlandi
... Now My Brother Phil ...

cartoons will always bring in a stack of mail asking what has happened to Interlandi.

Getting Frank to talk about himself is like pulling teeth. He admits being an art major, calls Elmhurst, Ill., home and thinks he would like to teach art when he finishes school. Beyond that, however, he modestly dodges questions about his abilities as a cartoonist.

His start with the Iowan was about as inauspicious as anything could be. Someone recommended Frank to the Iowan staff and he was finally persuaded to draw several sample cartoons.

More, They Cry In early October, the Iowan was drawing three times a week for the Iowan and at present his cartoons appear daily when he can find time from his studies to keep the supply ahead of the press.

No walk of campus life, professor or student, has escaped the satirical stroke of Frank's brush. Once in a great while a group of students in a particular housing unit will complain that Frank is "picking" on them in his cartoons but for the most part the SUI "family" enjoys his good natured

10 Students Add Views To UMT Controversy

By PHIL O'CONNOR

Should the U.S. adopt a plan of universal military training such as the one voted down by the house of representatives early this month?

SUI faculty and administration personnel members displayed their views on this issue in Friday's Daily Iowan. Today, 10 students, polled at random, lend their weight to the problem.

Ken Teller, G. Milwaukee, Wis.: "I'm against UMT. It regimented the minds and bodies of youth and turns them into simpering conformists. That's exactly what our country doesn't need."

Fanny Mae Gilpin, A4, Northwood: "I think UMT is fine, but the bill should have some provisions so that it can be removed in 10 years if the world situation becomes better."

Gene Matthews, A4, Davenport: "UMT during peacetime is another step away from freedom. It gives the government the power to direct and dictate our lives."

"By preserving individual human liberty, we can preserve national liberty and freedom and ultimately universal freedom and liberty. By reducing our individual freedoms, we weaken and destroy the very thing we are trying to preserve."

Bob Henry, L2, Sheldon: "I'm in favor of UMT. This short period of training gives the person an inexpressible sense of maturity."

"It serves as an experience to the young man which will help him determine what regimentation is like and perhaps even create such a dislike toward military life that it will alert him to a public consciousness of duty in later life when faced with the possible imminence of war."

"At the present time, the U.S. has the alternatives of deterring communism or fighting it. Either choice makes UMT or a similar program an absolute necessity."

Harold Yatesler, A1, Modale: "I think UMT is uncalled for in the U.S. at the present time because we have a sufficient number of men going into military service through the draft."

"True, we would have a large reserve of 18-year-olds with six months of training, but statistics show that only about one out of every five will go to the front lines. This means that it will be necessary to train the other four in some other field at a later date.

"As far as having a large reserve is concerned, we already have it with the National Guard and organized reserves."

Vivian Hettrick, N4, West Branch: "I'm in favor of UMT. Critics claim that the morals of youth will decline, but I think if a boy's morals are going to decline, they will be lowered just as easy in civilian life as in the army."

Richard Reggentin, A4, Cedar Rapids: "At the present time with the possibility of an all out war with Russia, I feel there is no way in which we could be more prepared than having every man indoctrinated with the fundamentals of military tactics, organization and policy."

"However if the threat diminishes, it should be discontinued. Military training should only be compulsory during questionable times and abandoned when the world is in harmony."

Roy Barron, C4, Sioux City: "I don't see such sense to UMT. I don't believe the youths would learn much in such a short period of time, except undesirable military discipline. The whole program would be just a waste of time and money."

Susan Boyle, A3, Clear Lake: "I'm not in favor of it. I think many high school graduates today would like to go to college, but to take out time demanded for UMT would interfere with their plans to such a degree that they will feel unable to come back and begin college."

Jay D. Terry, A3, Davenport: "It is doubtful that anyone, other than the military, is eager in anticipation of UMT, but realistically it seems impossible to avoid it."

"If we must have it, it remains the individual's duty to counteract any effort to convert a perhaps necessary program into a wholesale military state."

GOP Convention . . .

Moines with instructions that they follow the will of the convention as revealed in the poll.

Platform Recorded
Earlier in the day, an unexpected fight over resolutions resulted in rewording of the foreign policy, agricultural and government planks.

Five principal resolutions submitted to the convention were prepared by a committee composed of delegates named at the precinct caucus. Toomey, committee chairman, read the resolutions.

The foreign policy debate developed over an amendment which urged that congress should not ratify any pact or treaty which would deny constitutional rights of citizens of the U. S., "nor which would in any way impair or infringe upon the sovereignty of the United States."

Some delegates maintained this would prevent the U. S. from participating in a limited world government.

The convention then voted to strike out the part dealing with U. S. sovereignty, and the amendment was added to the foreign policy resolution.

On the government issue, an amendment to deny federal aid to education was voted down, but a phrase was inserted to insure "state control" of any federal aid. Struck out of the agricultural plank was a reference to the Brannan plan, after some delegates called it a forgotten issue. Planks on statehood for Hawaii and Alaska, civil rights, and labor were adopted as read.

New Campaign Slogan
The convention was highlighted by stump speeches for various candidates. Atty. D. C. Nolan, convention chairman, constantly reminded speakers of the two-minute rule. One delegate even proposed a new slogan, "Be Right with Dwight."

Other convention officers were Mrs. Robert Briceland, recording secretary, and Atty. William Tucker, teller.

Harry H. Ziskovsky, a former banker and merchant from Shueyville, announced his candidacy for the county board of supervisors.

Delegates selected to the state constitutional convention in April were:

William Morrison, Mrs. George Hunter, D. C. Nolan, G. M. Ludwig, George Nagle, R. J. Phelps, Mason Ladd, Mrs. Claudia Day, Mrs. V. A. Gunnette, Edward F. Rate.

J. W. Barrows, H. A. Dunlap, Harold Clearman, T. G. Specht, Lon Adams, Stuart Bell, R. M. Work, Ben S. Summerwill, H. D. Evans.

Career Chances Good, SUI Women, Are Told

If a woman has enthusiasm and is motivated for a career, she can soon work her way into an executive position, said Mrs. Irma Becker, assistant personnel director of the Dayton company, Minneapolis, in an interview Thursday.

Mrs. Becker addressed the UWA vocational conference Friday afternoon on techniques for getting a job.

She said a liberal arts education is the basic background for attaining responsible positions in business. Women have had more opportunity to take executive and supervisory positions since they demonstrated their abilities during the manpower shortage in World War II.

Successful combining a career and marriage is entirely up to the individuals involved, she said.

Attendance Around 500
Attendance at the 10 vocational talks was estimated at about 500. Adviser to the UWA conference planning committee, Helen Barnes, SUI director of business and industrial placement, said the conference was a great success and attendance at the series was considered excellent.

Lt. Col. Mary L. Milligan, deputy director of the Women's Army corps from Washington, D. C., advised students to finish their college work before joining the military service.

She said women to be happy in service should evidence leadership ability, be well-adjusted and like people. Types of jobs in service include clerical, communications, medical, supply and administrative.

Henry B. Hook, publisher of the Davenport Democrat, Davenport, advised individuals interested in mass communications to "give it your best and the best will come back to you, not in money necessarily, but in satisfaction."

Foreign Jobs Exciting
Jobs in far away places were described by Laura Broeksmit, associate in the Institute of International Education, Chicago, Ill.

She said that jobs abroad are very limited especially for women. "You can't expect an exciting job at first, but any job abroad can become exciting."

Speakers from such fields as law, home economics, nursing, teaching, merchandising, and secretarial work also spoke at the meetings.

IN THE "SODA SHOP" SCENES are Candy Kane, A3, Des Moines; June Rotman, A1, Dubuque, Bob Ballantyne, A2, Iowa City, and Lora Jackson, A1, Clinton. The production, entitled "Shy Guy," will hold its opening performance Wednesday night at 8 in Macbride auditorium. Tickets are on sale at the Iowa Memorial Union desk and Whetstone's.

SONG-AND-DANCE TEAM FOR "SHY GUY" are Betty Kanzell, A3, New York, N.Y., and Jerry Mason, A1, Milwaukee, Wis. Miss Kanzell will play a "phys ed" major with a yen for her "college idol," played by Mason.

PUTTING FINISHING TOUCHES TO THE PANACEA SHOW are Dick Caplan, M1, Des Moines, and Rosemary Wayland, A1, Tipton. Caplan wrote the entire musical score and directed many of the musical numbers for the production, while Miss Wayland will appear in the feminine lead.

'Shy Guy' Runs — 1952 Panacea Show

— For 5 Performances

The opening performance of this year's Panacea show, "Shy Guy," will be at 8 p.m. Wednesday night in Macbride hall auditorium. It will be shown through Saturday night, March 22, with an extra matinee on Saturday.

The scene for the musical is laid on the campus of Gladbrook college, a typically mid-western "set of learning." The plot revolves around the attempts of an inhibited "shy guy," a new student on campus, to win the presidency of the student body during strong opposition.

In the title role is Jack Ritschel, A3, Peoria, Ill. He has previously appeared in "Ladies In Retirement" and "The Late Christopher Bean" for Bradley university, and was seen in "Alias Sam Skelly," an SUI television show.

Playing opposite Ritschel is Rosemary Wayland, A1, Tipton, as "Kay O'Donnell," a most-dated-girl-on-campus type. Miss Wayland was seen in the leading role in the University theater production of "Stage Door" this year.

In the "second lead" of Delbert Gladbrook III, a "campus snob," will be Bob Ballantyne, A2, Iowa City. Ballantyne was in last year's Panacea production.

Betty Kanzell, A3, New York, N.Y., will play "Wilhelmina Kinsey," an energetic "phys ed" major. Miss Kanzell has done summer theater work in New York, appearing in "Arsenic and Old Lace" and "Spring Green."

Jerry Mason, A1, Milwaukee, Wis., will play "Harry Garson," an all-around "nice guy." Mason was on television programs in Milwaukee and produced a musical-comedy, "Tonia Toppers," for Milwaukee and produced a musical-theater floor show for the Club Cabaret all-university party.

Scenes for the musical will present various college locales — the corner soda shop, the library, and the girl's dormitory.

Tickets are now on sale for 75 cents at the Iowa Memorial Union desk and Whetstone's.

Eldon Miller, Inc. Assessed $2,750 In Accident Suit

Eldon Miller Inc., Iowa City, was assessed $2,750 in damages Friday when a Johnson county district jury returned a verdict in favor of Harold E. Colwell.

Colwell originally had sued for $25,000 but District Judge James P. Gaffney limited the amount that could be awarded to $11,152.

The jury returned the verdict about 1:40 p.m. Friday, having received the case at 6 p.m. Thursday.

Colwell was injured in an accident involving one of the Miller trucks Feb. 2, 1951, and asked damages as a result of the injuries.

Colwell was a passenger of the car driven by Robert E. Bushland, Bushland, an SUI student, died of injuries suffered in the accident.

Koo To Inaugurate 'Philosophy of Life' Discussion Series

A new YWCA-sponsored lecture series titled "Philosophy of Life" will begin at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday with a talk by T. Z. Koo, professor of Oriental studies.

The series which will be held in the senate chamber of Old Cap will include talks by six SUI professors on their philosophies of life followed by an audience participation discussion.

Speakers for the other sessions are: March 25, Walter Daykin, professor of labor and industrial management; April 1, Dr. Helen Dawson, assistant professor of anatomy; April 8, Nicholas Risanovsky, assistant professor of history; April 22, Robert Turnbull, philosophy instructor, and Prof. Wendell Johnson, director of the speech clinic, April 29.

Adele Cockshoot, A2, Atlantic, and Marilyn Adams, A3, Des Moines, are co-chairmen of the program.

Broadway's Allure Fades

Most Dramatic Arts Graduates Prefer Schools and Local Theater to Greenwich

A popular conception which has been strengthened in novels and motion pictures is that all young persons interested in the theater are going to leave their homes at the first opportunity and flock to Broadway to rent flats in Greenwich Village.

This elaborated picture of striving fame-seekers is largely untrue, for statistics in the SUI dramatic arts department prove that a much greater percentage of the graduating dramatic arts seniors find employment in the schools and community theaters of this country's 20,000 small towns.

Some students of the drama are interested only in being able to express themselves on the stage, but they are few in number.

Theater Too Centralized

The undergraduate students in the department agree upon several things: that the acting field is overcrowded, that there are few chances for real advancement on the stage and that the theater should not be centralized in New York, but that people should be able to see a play as often and as casually as they see a movie.

As one sophomore student in the department expresses it: "Too many plays are being written only for Broadway audiences, while the beautiful plays of the past are not being produced anymore. The theater is people and therefore belongs to the people, not to New York."

Typical of the modern viewpoint are Jayne Stewart, A1, Fairfield; Jean Ogden, A2, Cedar Rapids; Mary Patterson, A2, La Grange, Ill., and Tom Herrmann, A3, Rochelle, Ill.

They all agree that the last place they would go is the big city. All are more interested in the community theater field, directing and working on the technical staffs in lighting, stagecraft, sets and designing.

Some Want To Teach

Interested in teaching dramatics to students of high school level are Donna Anphinson, A2, Nevada, and Howard Sible, A3, Clinton. Both are of the opinion that high school speech and dramatic courses are usually nothing more than a disliked chore for the students.

Their primary reason for wanting to teach is to develop a genuine interest within their students in the literature and plays of the past and to thus be able to share this interest with them.

Among the students who have as their goal a career on Broadway or in Hollywood are Elizabeth Engrav, A3, Iowa City; Bill Smart, A1, Fairfield; Jerry Silberman, A1, Milwaukee, Wis., and say, however, that if their hopes are not substantiated they will use their experience to help others develop an interest in the theater.

Not one of these students would be inclined to turn their back on stage fame if an exceptional opportunity presented itself, and many find this opportunity in the new field of television.

But most are able to develop a new interest and pleasure in their career choice through the prospect of making the theater a recognized institution throughout the country.

Sigma Theta Tau Discusses Library

Twenty members of Gamma chapter of Sigma Theta Tau, honorary nurses' sorority, met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. John McCann, 303 Melrose court. Dessert was served preceding the business meeting. Plans were made for sponsoring a library at Westlawn dormitory for nurses. Marian Mausehmar and Irene Miller spoke about activities of Zeta chapter at the University of Minnesota.

Big Ten Sports Heads To Meet with Prexies On Emphasis Problem

Zaharias' 73 Widens Lead

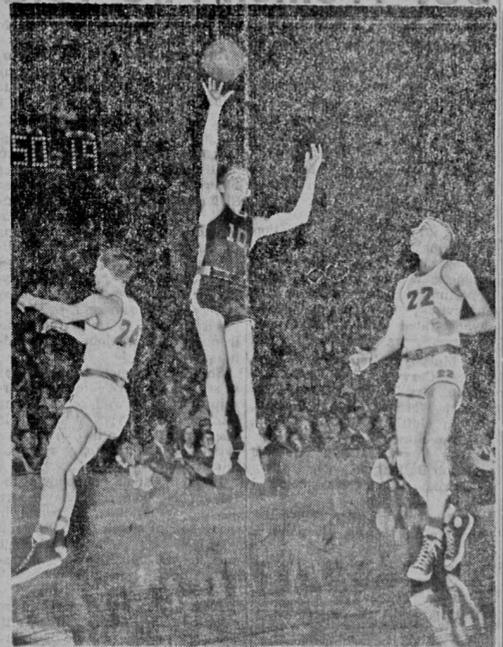

AUGUSTA, GA. (AP)—Babe Zaharias, who recently became a serious, studious golfer, was best in the Titleholders field again Friday.

Her one-over par 73 and a 74 in the wind Thursday give the Babe a 147 total.

Not even little Betsey Rawls of Austin, Texas, was sharp enough Friday to improve on Mrs. Zaharias. Betsey, the National Open champion, had a 75 to take second place with a 152—five strokes behind the Babe.

Louise Suggs, pre-tournament pick to win on the par 36-72, 6,619-yard Augusta country club course, made her second round in 76 for a 153 total and third place.

He Missed It, Anyway

ONE OF THE FEW MCKINLEY shots to get off unheeded in the Class AA sub-state final game Friday night at the field house is this one by Don Sejnoka. Don Robbins (24) of the defending state champion Davenport overcharges the play, and Carmen Carpenter arrives too late with too little. The shot missed and McKinley lost, 80-32.

Tourney Field Completed —

Davenport Favored

By JACK JORDAN Sports Editor

Davenport, as usual, will be here for the boys' state tournament starting next Tuesday, and, as usual, will be the odds-on favorite to successfully defend its title.

The Blue Devils have won the state tournament six times in 15 trips to the finals. They've been among the last 13 teams in the tourney the last five years in a row, and have taken the cup in three of those.

Representing the largest school in the state, the Davenport cagers have rolled to a 20-3 record under the leadership of center Carl Widseth and forward Frank Sebolt. No Iowa team has beaten them since the 1949-50 season. In its easy 80-32 win over McKinley Friday night, Davenport beat the last Iowa team to stop the Imps.

Roland Among Contenders
In the top half of the bracket, Roland, Marion and Keokuk have been granted the best chances of advancing to the final game.

There is a strong possibility of a repetition of last year's final game, which saw tiny Roland come within ten points of scoring the upset of the year against the Davenport powerhouse.

Friday night's game saw several upsets determine the finalists. In Class AA, Dubuque had one of its best nights of the year and stopped Mason City, 54-53.

Spencer, sporting a mediocre 13-9 mark for the season, held a three-point lead against a late rally by favored Boone and advanced, 41-38.

Glenwood Upsets Manning
Glenwood scored the biggest upset of the night, though, by whipping previously undefeated Manning, 36-28. Manning, state champion in 1948, had sailed through 23 straight games before Friday.

Darling To Appear On TV Program
All-American center Chuck Darling of Iowa will appear on the television show "Toast of the Town" from New York Sunday night.

Darling and four other members of the Look magazine all-American team will be guests of Ed Sullivan, the master of ceremonies on the telecast.

The program will be carried on channel four over station WOI, Ames. Darling will go to New York by plane, leaving Iowa City this afternoon.

Joines Keokuk, 14 Other Clubs In State Field

By LEE CANNING

Davenport took the final sub-state step toward its third straight basketball championship Friday night in the field house by smashing Cedar Rapids McKinley, 80-32.

Keokuk also gained a state tourney berth by stopping Ottumwa, 36-31.

Davenport moved in front by a 17-2 count at the end of the first quarter and boosted that margin to 34-15 at halftime. Coach Paul Moon's team started pouring it on in the third period with a 22-point outburst.

The defending state kings finished the game and McKinley with 23 points in the final period.

Rebounding Pays Off
Davenport's rebounding plus its blistering shooting made the Blue Devils' job an easy one. Center Carl Widseth and forward Frank Sebolt controlled the backboards and the Blue Devils hit on 33 of 69 shots from the floor for a sizzling 47.7 percentage.

Widseth was the game's leading scorer with 23 points. Forward John Coughlin added 14 and Sebolt 12 to the Davenport total. Every Davenport player, except substitute forward Bill Jones, made the scoring column.

For outclassed McKinley, it was guard Eldon Kanellis whose drive shots netted 10 points.

Regulars Pile Up Score
Moon left his regulars in during most of the game. It wasn't until two minutes and 40 seconds were left in the final quarter that all the Davenport starters came out.

The Davenport coach did manage to use some reserves late in the first half but it was Widseth, Sebolt, and company most of the way.

Davenport's performance against McKinley, especially its fine shooting, makes it a top heavy favorite over little Danville in the first round of the state tournament.

Keokuk, on the other hand, had a hard time with the Ottumwa Bulldogs and never held more than a 10 point lead.

Ottumwa Held to 11
Ottumwa managed to stop Bill Logan, Keokuk's high scoring center, with only 11 points. Keokuk guard Bob Williams picked up nine corners, four of them late in the third quarter when Ottumwa made a strong bid.

Keokuk grabbed a 6-0 lead and was never behind although Ottumwa's Dick Belvel led the Bulldogs to a strong finish which cut down Keokuk's biggest lead at 22-12.

Belvel paced Ottumwa with 14 but had no scoring support from the rest of his mates.

NEW YORK (AP)—The forgotten men of LaSalle were picked Friday to carry on the longtime underdog tradition and win the championship in the 15th annual National Invitation Basketball tournament.

The inspired Explorers, unranked in the nation's top twenty and ignored by the NCAA selection committee, meet Dayton's Flyers in an all-"dark horse" final tonight at Madison Square Garden.

The tournament, as customary in the last few years, has been swept clean of seeded favorites and two of these, top-placed Duquesne and third-rated St. Bonaventure, clash for consolation honors.

No Time for Holding Hands

GEORGE CLARK (30), Ottumwa guard, holds hands with Keokuk's Bill Logan (second from right) and has to contend with the added guarding of Keokuk guard Bob Williams as he gets off this shot in the first quarter of the sub-state final here. The shot went wild and the Class A Bulldogs lost, 36-31, as Keokuk advanced to the state meet.

Wilt Wins K.C. Mile; Officials Irked at Miler's Default

CLEVELAND (AP)—Fred Wilt, the speedy G-man, sprinted into the lead on the back stretch of the last lap and won the mile run Friday night at the Knights of Columbus indoor track meet.

The sweetness of the victory was marred by the absence of Don Gehrmann of Milwaukee, who pulled out of the meet at the last minute Friday pleading his wife was sick.

Meet officials announced they would protest to the Amateur Athletic Union. But when that was pointed out over a public address system to some 9,000 spectators at Cleveland arena, the announcer was booed.

Gehrmann and Wilt had raced 21 times, Wilt winning five times. The last two contests had gone to the FBI agent.

Wilt first went into the lead 5 1/2 laps from the finish and then fell behind Bill Mack, former Michigan State star, with 2 1/2 laps to go. The FBI agent stayed close behind Mack and made his winning move on the straightaway.

The time was 4:10.8 seconds. Dennis Johansson of Purdue was third.

SAXTON WINS 26th
NEW YORK (AP)—Undeclared Johnny Saxton won his 26th straight fight Friday night when referee Harry Kessler disqualified Lester Felton of Detroit for continuous holding. The bout was halted at 1:31 of the sixth round of the Madison Square Garden ten-rounder.

Weary 'Sugar' Faces 2 Bouts, Dodges Others

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An obviously slowed-up Sugar Ray Robinson, still possessed of his middleweight title after Thursday night's hard victory over Carl (Bobo) Olson, looked forward Friday to two scheduled spring bouts—but not much more.

Robinson, although getting the unanimous nod after 15 rounds with the Honolulu challenger, missed often. And his blows lacked the old authority when he connected.

After the fight, staged for the Damon Runyon cancer fund, Robinson conceded it was the hardest dollar he ever earned. His fee was $1 plus expenses.

April 16 he is to fight Rocky Graziano in Chicago and a month later Paddy Young in New York. His staff is talking up a battle with Joey Maxim, light heavy-weight champion, but a wearying Sugar Ray wants no part of that.

Civil War Documents — Add to Lincoln Collection

— In SUI Library

A poster announcing a Civil War draft of men from the state of Massachusetts and Ford theater handbills printed on the day of Lincoln's death are part of the recent addition to the SUI Library Lincoln collection.

The posters, letters and other documents composing the new addition were purchased in New York at a public auction of the Lincoln collection belonging to the late Oliver R. Barrett.

The Ford theater handbills are quite valuable since one of them was printed on the morning of Lincoln's death and the second was printed as soon as it was certain that the president would be present at that evening's performance. It carried a paragraph noting the fact of the president's attendance.

35 Items Added

The new material, numbering 35 items, is the first sizeable addition to the SUI Lincoln collection since it was begun in November. At that time, prominent Lincoln collectors and scholars from throughout the country gathered at the library for the dedication of the 3,500 volume Bollinger-Lincoln collection.

The Bollinger collection, valued at $50,000, consists of manuscripts, books, pictures, and other items associated with the Civil War president. It was a gift of the late Judge James W. Bollinger of Davenport, who spent years assembling the material.

Confederate Speech

Among the newly received documents is a copy of a forged address to the people of the United States by the president of the southern confederacy. The document carried the name of Jefferson Davis and was supposedly his reply to Lincoln's emancipation proclamation.

Also included are three Civil War election ballots, one of which was printed by the National Radical Union party. It ran Lincoln for president and Andrew Johnson for vice president.

Another item is a large poster asking the people of Pennsylvania to help defend their state against the approaching forces of Lee's army.

Truman De'ays Trip, Will Speak Today To Teen-Age Editors

NEW YORK (AP) — President Truman interrupted his Key West vacation Friday for a speech today in New York, his first since his defeat in the New Hampshire primary.

His off-the-cuff speech is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. (Iowa time) today and will be broadcast and telecast.

Whether the President will mention the primary or anything of campaign significance was not disclosed by the title of his extemporaneous address, the broad topic "Citizenship."

The President will address about 3,520 teen-age school paper editors attending a convention of the Columbia Scholastic Press association.

His speech, coincidentally, will be delivered in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel — residence of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, whom he ousted as far east commander.

The general's office said Friday there were no plans for any meeting. Weather permitting, Truman will fly from Washington, where he was spending the night at Blair House with his wife and her mother, Mrs. David W. Wallace, who has been seriously ill.

Henry C. Stine Dies, Services Pending

Henry C. Stine, 78, 110 Franklin st., died Friday morning at his home.

Mr. Stine was a steel construction worker and has lived in Iowa City since 1921. He was born in 1873 to Thomas B. and Nancy Carter Stine, Hamilton, Ill.

Mr. Stine was married to Hattie C. Bump on Jan. 15, 1905 in Minneapolis, Minn. He is survived by his wife and two daughters; Mrs. Gladys S. Bartholow, Iowa City, and Mrs. Harlan Neuhart, Washington, Ia.

The Oathout funeral home is in charge of funeral arrangements which are pending.

CORRECTION

The talk by Prof. Virgil B. Heltzel of the department of English, Northwestern university, is scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday instead of Tuesday, as previously reported. Prof. Heltzel, sponsored by graduate college and Humanities society, will speak on "Elizabethan Patronage" in senate chamber of Old Capitol.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Acheson accused Russia Friday of planning to stage a phony international trade conference in Moscow April 3.

He said Soviet rulers were trying to "confuse and weaken" the west by encouraging such a meeting.

Communist radios and publications have been ballyhooing the approaching meeting for months. They say at least 300 top-rank businessmen, educators and peace-minded citizens from 40 to 50 countries will attend to work for more east-west trade.

About 30 Americans who are known to have been invited have refused to go for fear the conference would develop into a forum for propaganda attacks against the west.

S. Beryl Lush, Philadelphia cotton importer, had announced he was going but in Philadelphia Friday he said: "If my government feels the trip is not advisable, I won't go. I have great respect for Secretary of State Acheson and if those are his sentiments then I'll stay home."

In denouncing the meeting Friday, Acheson called it "a Soviet creation" which is part of Moscow's anti-western propaganda barrage.

"We should be naive, I think," Acheson said in a statement, "if we did not regard misrepresentation of this sort as a stratagem to lure unsuspecting men of good reputation to participate in the Moscow proceedings in order to misuse their name and their public standing."

Zoning Commission Urges Consideration Of Highway Rerouting

The city planning and zoning commission sent a resolution Friday to the city council, urging Mayor William J. Holland to proceed at once in setting up a civic committee to plan toward a system of belt highways around the city.

The commission recommended the formation of such a committee to work with state and county officials in their annual report last March but none was appointed.

The communication said that preliminary surveys have been made in and near Iowa City for possible changes in the location of state highways. Location surveys have been made near the junction of S. Riverside drive and highway 1, and east of the Iowa river south of Iowa City.

The commission said its resolution was made so that civic organizations, city, county and state government units may work together to undertake a highway construction program which will satisfy the problems and needs of the Iowa City area.

In its previous recommendation the commission suggested that individuals from the commission, junior and senior chambers of commerce, city council, SUI, Johnson County Bar association, Iowa City Engineering society, the city manager, city engineer and county engineer be chosen on the committee.

Canadian Heiress Is Still Missing

NEW YORK (AP) — A Canadian real estate heiress disappeared from her Greenwich village artist studio Monday night and is still missing. She didn't even take a compact with her.

Police said Friday they have started a wide search for the attractive red-haired woman, Mrs. Mavis Chaffey Ramus, 32.

Her mother, Mrs. George Chaffey of Montreal, was near collapse here. She could give no reason why her daughter might voluntarily drop from sight.

Mechanical Conference Features 15 Speakers

One hundred newspaper editors and mechanical workers are expected to attend the fourth annual SUI mechanical conference which begins with registration at 10 a.m. today in East hall.

Nearly every phase of newspaper mechanical operation will be discussed on a fifteen speaker, two-day program planned by James Morrison and Henry Africa of the SUI newspaper production laboratory.

Speakers at the Saturday morning session will include: Elmer E. Taylor, Star Clipper, Traer, "Production Costs and Problems of a Weekly," and Dr. Robert C. Hardin, assistant dean in charge of VA affairs, "SUI and the New VA Hospital."

Mason, Schmeichel Speak

Saturday afternoon session speakers will be: Prof. Edward F. Mason, school of journalism, "Pictures that Lose Face," and Art Schmeichel, Daily Iowan mechanical superintendent, "The Teletypesetter and the Weekly."

Rev. Forsberg to Speak At Roger Williams House

The Rev. Nancy Forsberg, minister to students at the Congregational church, will speak at the weekly meeting of the Roger Williams fellowship at 5:15 p.m. Sunday.

Her subject, "Christian Significance of Vocation," will deal with the nobility of every calling.

ning. Leona Jönker, Daily Iowan linotype operator, will tell of her trip to Europe and Dr. I. A. Pierce, department of pharmacology, medical college, will speak on "Quacks and Quackery." Prof. Walter Steigleman, school of journalism, will be master of ceremonies.

Henry Africa, school of journalism, will give a shop demonstration on "How to Reclaim a Damaged Mat" in the newspaper production laboratory Sunday morning.

Speakers at the final session Sunday morning will be: H. L. Harris, Sutherland Courier, "How We Changed from Type High to Shell Casting"; R. O. Burrows, Belle Plaine Union, "The Fairchild Scan-a-Graver," and Robert Hess, A4, Schleswig, "The Schleswig Training Plan."

Farmers May Lease Coralville Dam Land

Farmers in the Iowa City area may submit sealed bids to lease farming land in the Coralville flood reservoir area this year.

Federal officials said Friday that bids will be accepted until 11 a.m. March 26 at the Clock Tower building in Rock Island. The parcels of land are in Big Grove, Jefferson and Madison townships and are part of the area condemned by the government for the Coralville dam.

Lands which may be leased are now open for inspection. The total of 12 parcels of land range from a 13 acre tract with a minimum rental of $25 to a 197.75 acre land and buildings arrangement with a minimum rental of $1,100.

VA Hospital Ready For Dedication Sunday

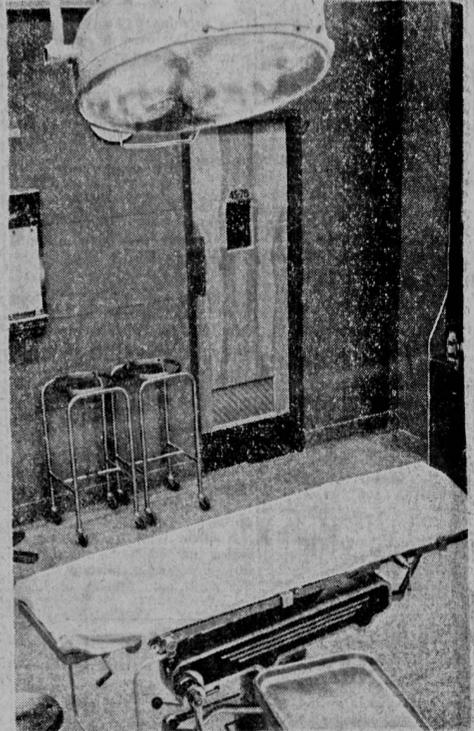

A TENTH OF A MILE long pathway of asphalt and porcelain tile pave the floor and walls of this corridor in the new hospital. Neon lighting reflected from the tiled ceiling provides a pattern of gleaming brightness.

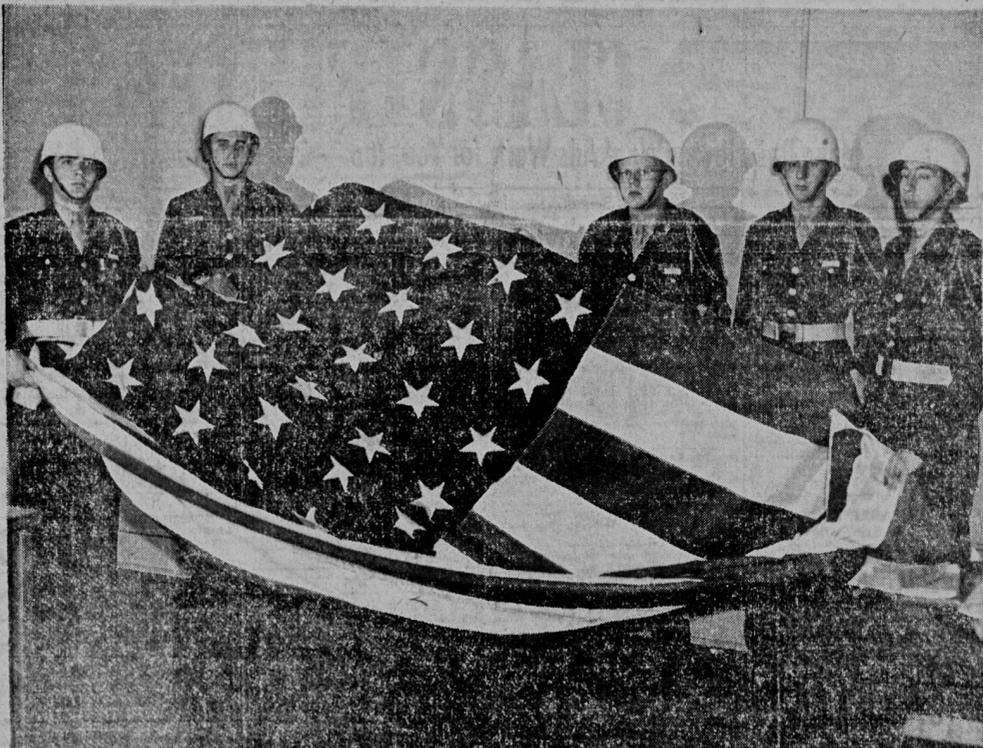

AFTER MORE THAN TWO YEARS OF CONSTRUCTION, the largest public building in Iowa, the VA hospital, has been completed and will be dedicated Sunday. This picture of the building was taken from the University hospitals tower. The hospital was built at an approximate cost of $10 million.

THIS OPERATING ROOM, one of six at the hospital is equipped with a electric conductors in the floor to dissipate static electricity. A glassed-in gallery (not shown) allows observation of surgery.

Daily Iowan Photos By Carl Foster

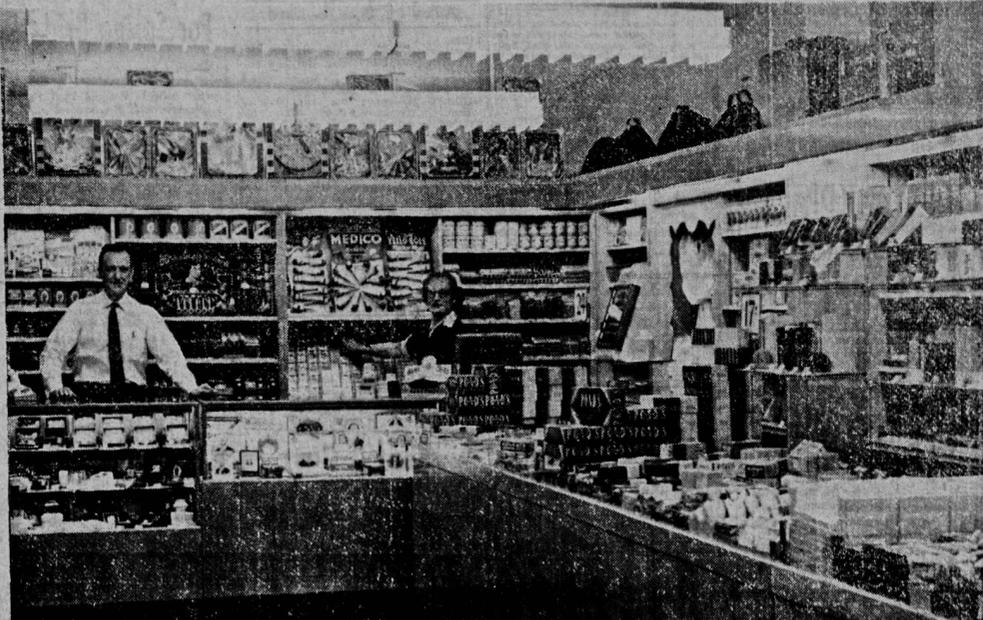

EXHIBITING THE 19-FOOT FLAG TO BE USED in the dedication ceremonies at the new Veterans administration hospital are five members of the Pershing rifle color guard. The group will raise the colors at 2:30 p.m. Sunday afternoon. They are (left to right): Howard Hill, A2, Iowa City; Steve Greenberg, A2, Omaha, Neb.; Eugene Patterson, A1, Des Moines; Wayne Petersen, P2, Jacksonville, Ill., and Joe Conklin, A1, Marquette.

THE CHAPEL, LOCATED ON THE NORTH END of the main floor, is perhaps the only such place of worship ever designed to accommodate three types of services. By use of sliding doors on the altar, Catholic, Jewish or Protestant services may be performed.

THE HOSPITAL CANTEEN, a self-sustaining, non-profit service agency is one of the first in the midwest to feature open counter display as shown at right. W. R. Selby, (left) operator of the canteen, said the canteen will soon offer ward service to bedridden patients as well as barber service. At right helping Selby to ready the canteen for operation is his wife, Mrs. Anna K. Selby.

PATIENTS MAY LOUNGE and entertain guests in solariums like the one above. Two are located on the general medical floors, which also include two 16-bed wards, four rooms with four beds, each, eight private rooms, service rooms and a nurses station.

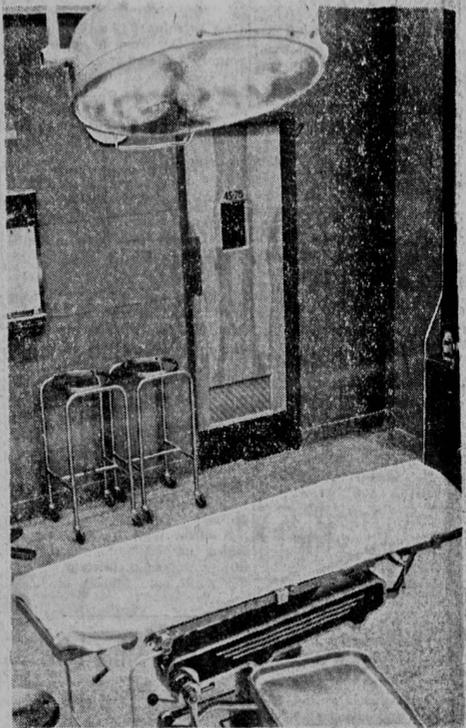

SHOWN IN HER NEW DUTIES as chief of the physical therapy department at the Veteran's Administration hospital, is Mrs. Anna K. Selby. The physical therapy department is located on the main floor. About 15 staff members will be hired in this department to take care of the more than 400 patients expected when the hospital reaches its capacity.

$1.5 Million Payroll Will Boost Local Business

The new Veterans hospital will bring approximately $2 million of additional purchasing power to Iowa City. Dr. Leland E. Stilwell, hospital manager, estimates.

At full operation the hospital is expected to employ nearly 600 persons with an annual payroll close to $1.5 million.

The need for 600 employees is estimated on the basis of present Veterans administration practices which may require approximately 1.2 employees for each hospital bed depending upon the physical plan and functions of the hospital.

The Iowa City hospital will have a capacity of 490 beds.

Half Million in Supplies

In addition to the payroll, supplies and services which are not furnished by government supply depots, may amount to as much as a half million dollars a year, according to John W. Thomas, supply officer. Such purchases will be made on competitive contracts for which local businesses will have an opportunity to bid.

Another source of income to the community pointed out by Stilwell derives from the fact that the Iowa City hospital is a general medical and surgical hospital.

Past experience has shown that up to 10 per cent of the patients may be so critically ill that their relatives will want to remain close by in Iowa City. This may provide additional income of several thousand dollars a year.

Patronage by Patients

Ambulatory patients will also be able to visit the Iowa stores when on pass and make purchases if they desire.

At present the hospital has 310 employees. Of these, 176 came to the hospital from previous employment in Iowa City, 18 came from an area within a radius of 35 miles of Iowa City, 44 more came from the state of Iowa outside these limits and 32 came from adjoining states. The remainder were drawn from 17 other states.

Pay scales at the hospital will be as follows:

The Cover

With the modernistic contour of the Veterans hospital towering over him, Dr. Leland E. Stilwell, hospital director, looks ahead to a bright future in his new job here.

A native of Rochester, N. Y., and a graduate of Columbia university medical school, Stilwell has been with the Veterans administration since 1946. Before coming to Iowa City he was chief of professional services at the Veterans hospital in Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

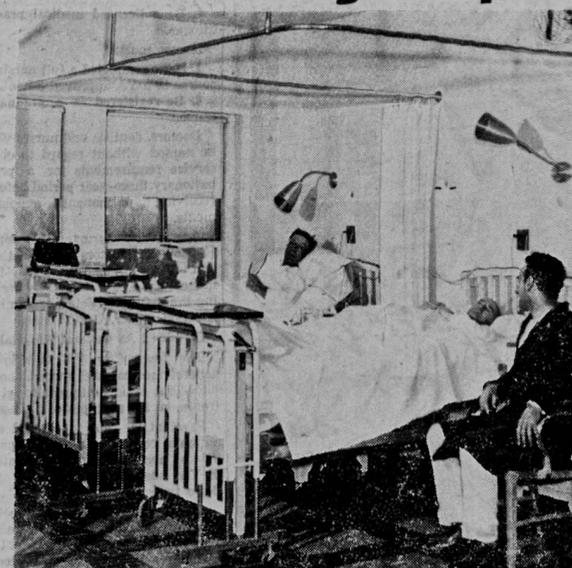

Stilwell was in private practice in Hollywood, Calif., from 1932 to 1940, and during that time was also a member of the faculty of the University of Southern California medical school.

He is a member of the American Medical association, the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology, the Association of Military Surgeons and the American College of Hospital Administrators.

Stilwell is married and the father of three children, Donald, 15, Margaret, 13, and Christopher, 4. (Cover Photo by Carl Foster).

Hospital Called 'Bright Spot'

1,279 Tons of Steel, 1.3 Million Bricks Go into Its Making

By RON VALLINE

Iowa City's new Veterans hospital, once called the "bright spot in the whole VA construction program," fulfills that description.

It's a shining 15-story plant of stainless steel, bricks, glass, glazed tile and Yellowstone marble. It is modern throughout, from the coloramaic walls and radioisotope laboratory to the Charles Eames chairs in the glass-walled lobby.

Located on 12 acres of land once owned by SUI, the hospital is on Iowa City's northwest edge, directly opposite University hospitals and adjacent to highway 6.

Contains 15 Floor Levels

Although there are three buildings in the hospital plant, the main unit dwarfs the other two. The second building houses the garage and laundry while the third has apartments for personnel.

The hospital itself is 160-feet high, 400-feet long; has 310,000-square feet of floor space and 2,030 windows. It rises 10 stories above the ground, but actually contains 15-floor levels.

Three are above the main roof level in a penthouse which houses the mechanical equipment. This includes an air conditioning unit on the first floor, elevator operating machinery on the second and a water reservoir on the top floor of the building. A basement and sub-basement complete the levels.

Faced with 1.3 Million Bricks

The concrete structure is reinforced with 1,279 tons of steel and faced with 1.3 million bricks. Most of its 1,500 rooms have painted plaster walls, but operating room walls are of glazed glass. Ceilings are of removable acoustical tile to allow access to pipes and conduits. Floors are asphalt tile over concrete slab, and terrazzo.

The sub-basement houses three high pressure coal fired boilers with a normal rating of 250 horsepower and a maximum output of 500 horsepower. Automatic coal and ash conveyors handle all service to the boilers. It has been estimated that the boilers consume from eight to ten tons of coal in a 24-hour period.

Located on the basement level are the hot water heating system, and water softeners, utility shops, supply warehouses, patients' clothing room, sterile central supply, and an oxygen storage system supplying pipes throughout the building.

3-Way Altar

On the main floor are the many administrative offices, the lobby, central kitchen and a brick-walled chapel with a three-way wooden altar which can be changed for Catholic, Jewish and Protestant services.

The physical medicine and dental units, laboratories, and X-ray department occupy the second floor. The new equipment includes stainless steel therapeutic tanks, an animal research and operating unit, and a $3,000 Scopiccon. Ten persons can sit around this instrument and simultaneously view an enlarged image of a slide under a microscope.

On the third floor are the main dining rooms, medical and patients' libraries, a canteen, rooms for women patients, a barber shop, a recreation lounge and radio station.

Operating Suite on 4th Floor

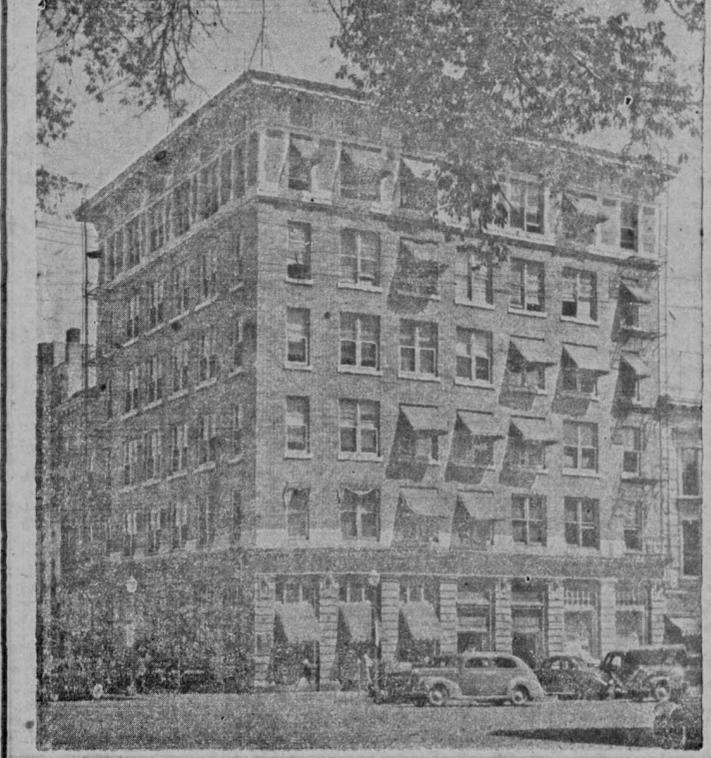

An operating suite of eight surgical units is on the fourth floor, along with two nursing units, each large enough for 40 patients.

The fifth to tenth floors house patients' wards, including single and double rooms and 16-bed wards. The hospital has ward space for 490 beds: 40 TB, 150 psychiatric and 300 general medical and surgical.

The hospital is completely furnished with the most modern equipment to insure the care and treatment of the patients and the efficiency of the hospital personnel.

Throughout the building are ultraviolet germicidal lamps which purify the air. Even that pure air is constantly changed by two air conditioning units equipped with 25-exhaust fans.

Hospital to Have Own Shows

A four-channel-type radio system allows the hospital to send four different programs into different parts of the building at once. They can be any combination of recordings, radio programs, or live shows from the hospital's own studio.

A pneumatic tube system with more than two miles of tubes connects 33-stations in all parts of the hospital with a central terminal. One wall in the terminal, called the "breathing wall," is full of thousands of tiny holes to produce circulation without any noticeable draft.

If a fire were to break out, a ticker tape system could instantly pinpoint the origin and relay the message to the fire station in the garage. Physicians can be pinpointed as quickly as fires by lighted call boards and voice intercom.

Telephones Will Be Portable

Bedfast patients can make telephone calls by using the portable telecart. Patients able to be up and around can watch 16 mm. movies in a 100-seat room equipped with a stage.

There are a dozen elevators of various types.

Four stainless steel-lined elevators, equipped with the latest safety devices and controls, operate off the main corridor at speeds up to 500 feet per minute.

One elevator is for freight only, and three hydraulic elevators operate between the basement and first floor. Four dumb waiters — small electrically operated elevators — are used by the medical and dietetic divisions.

A separate 13,800-volt power line from the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company serves the hospital, which also has its own 25-watt generator for use in an emergency.

TWO COOKS stand in front of a grill in the hospital's kitchen. They are Ed Paulsen (left), assistant to the chief cook, and Ralph Tines, second cook. In the foreground are steam kettles. The head dietitian at the hospital is Dorothy Ruggles.

Beginning Monday, visiting hours at the Veterans hospital will be:

Monday, 7 to 8 p.m.; Tuesday through Sunday, 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 8 p.m.; and holidays, 2 to 4 p.m.

Patients will be allowed two visitors at one time, but children under 15-years of age will not be allowed to visit the wards. Parents are requested not to bring small children because no nursery is provided.

Payroll Will Boost Local Business

Iowa City hospital is a general medical and surgical hospital. Past experience has shown that up to 10 per cent of the patients may be so critically ill that their relatives will want to remain close by in Iowa City. This may provide additional income of several thousand dollars a year.

Patronage by Patients

Ambulatory patients will also be able to visit the Iowa stores when on pass and make purchases if they desire.

At present the hospital has 310 employees. Of these, 176 came to the hospital from previous employment in Iowa City, 18 came from an area within a radius of 35 miles of Iowa City, 44 more came from the state of Iowa outside these limits and 32 came from adjoining states. The remainder were drawn from 17 other states.

Pay scales at the hospital will be as follows:

VA Hospital Sought Here 20 Years Ago

Promotion of Iowa City as a site for a Veterans hospital was begun 20 years ago by the local chamber of commerce.

Pictures taken in 1932 have been found with captions reading, "Proposed site for new Veterans hospital near Iowa City."

Nothing came of the venture then, but interest was intensified after the start of World War II. The local chamber appointed a committee to work in behalf of the issue at that time.

The VA's choice lay between expanding the already existing hospital at Clinton and building a new one in another city. A new policy of locating Veterans hospitals near medical schools helped swing the decision toward Iowa City.

The special committee of the local chamber concentrated its efforts on these Iowa City advantages:

1. Iowa City is the home of a Class A medical school, a great hospital center, and great medical library and medical laboratories.

2. Iowa City is in the heart of a rich midwestern agricultural district.

3. Iowa City is a university town, free from industrial activity and related social and economic problems.

A brochure was prepared with pictures of university and business buildings, and maps showing Iowa City's proximity to other cities.

The VA was apparently convinced; plans were formulated and construction was begun Sept. 3, 1949.

The hospital was built under the supervision of the U.S. army corps of engineers with G. A. Finley, Rock Island, as corps supervisor.

Construction was by Gust K. Newburg, general contractor, Chicago. Architects were the Ellersb company, St. Paul.

Final inspection was made Dec. 15, 1951. The structure was accepted by the VA last Jan. 15.

Cost of the building was approximately $6.5 million with $3.5 additional being required for the site and furnishings.

PARKING SPACE PROVIDED

Parking space for an estimated 150 cars has been provided at the Veterans hospital.

Plans Approved For Alleviating Black Smoke

New plans and specifications designed to aid in alleviating the black smoke from the Veterans hospital heating plant have been approved by the Veterans administration in Washington, D. C.

The project calls for the installation of a summer load boiler and a modulating type zone heating control.

Full details of the work to be done has not been received at the hospital, but it is believed that a small gas or oil fired boiler will be installed for use in the summer.

Oil and gas produce less smoke than coal.

The modulating type of heating control will eliminate the brief periods of heavy black smoke. These periods are the result of a sudden call for steam which produces heavy firing until the steam pressure is regained.

The VA hopes to have all work completed by Sept. 1.

A four-channel-type radio system allows the hospital to send four different programs into different parts of the building at once. They can be any combination of recordings, radio programs, or live shows from the hospital's own studio.

The Cover

With the modernistic contour of the Veterans hospital towering over him, Dr. Leland E. Stillwell, hospital director, looks ahead to a bright future in his new job here.

A native of Rochester, N. Y., and a graduate of Columbia university medical school, Stillwell has been with the Veterans administration since 1946. Before coming to Iowa City he was chief of professional services at the Veterans hospital in Jefferson Barracks, Mo.

Stillwell was in private practice in Hollywood, Calif., from 1932 to 1940, and during that time was also a member of the faculty of the University of Southern California medical school.

He is a member of the American Medical Association, the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology, the Association of Military Surgeons and the American College of Hospital Administrators.

Stillwell is married and the father of three children, Donald, 15, Margaret, 13, and Christopher, 4. (Cover Photo by Carl Foster).

Dean's Committee Will Link SUI With Hospital

By DON MAPES

A dean's committee has been set up to provide the "utmost cooperation" between the VA and SUI in the selection of medical personnel for the Veterans hospital.

The committee is made up of doctors and dentists from the colleges of medicine and dentistry.

The committee's purpose is to supervise and recommend consulting and attending doctors and dentists for the new hospital.

It was organized early last year, a time when there was fear that the VA would raid SUI for professional personnel.

Will Screen Applicants

Applications for appointment to the professional staff of the hospital are screened by the dean's committee. Attending and consulting physicians are screened as well as staff doctors and dentists.

After applicants are screened and approved for appointment by the committee, they are referred to the VA in Washington, D.C., for final approval.

Attending physicians make rounds and assist in the care of the patients. If they are surgeons, they may perform operations.

Consulting Doctors From Here

Consulting physicians recommended to the VA by the committee will be practicing doctors from Iowa City and surrounding areas or members of the college of medicine.

They will see selected patients at the hospital and help to supervise the residency training program.

The hospital and the university will work together to provide a training ground for advanced medical students. Some of the VA hospital's doctors may teach in the college of medicine.

ENOUGH FOR A HIGHWAY

The concrete work on the hospital itself contains enough cement to pave a 22-foot wide highway from the outskirts of Iowa City to Tiffin, six miles west.

The dean's committee will assist in the supervision of research carried on at the hospital. The hospital's large research laboratory will be open to all staff and resident doctors.

Committees in Most VA Hospitals

Deans committees are now functioning in approximately 120 of the 156 VA hospitals now in operation.

The members serve without compensation.

Doctors, dentists and nurses are appointed by the VA in Washington under the provisions of U.S. public law 293, which has been in effect since Jan. 3, 1946.

In order to be eligible for appointment a doctor and dentist must:

1. Be a citizen of the United States.
2. Have a medical degree from a college or university.
3. Have completed successfully an internship in a VA approved hospital.

4. Be a licensed medical practitioner.

Nurses must:

1. Have completed a full nursing course in a VA approved school.
2. Be registered as a graduate nurse.

Doctors, dentists and nurses will be named without regard to civil service requirements for a probationary three-year period before receiving permanent appointments.

Application forms (VA form 10-2850 for doctors and dentists and VA form 10-2850-A for nurses) may be obtained by writing the manager, Veterans administration center, Des Moines.

Classified As General Hospital

The Iowa City VA unit is a general medical and surgical hospital, but it is equipped to give treatment for all types of diseases.

Psychiatric and tuberculosis patients requiring extended periods of hospitalization are treated in VA hospitals specializing in those types of ailments.

Clinic facilities here include 10 examining rooms, an orthopedic brace shop, a five-chair dental unit, three X-ray rooms, one deep and one superficial therapy room, pharmacy, research, radiotope and general laboratories, six major and three minor operating rooms and a medical rehabilitation section.

An apartment building with apartments for the manager and four staff officers and quarters for 31 interns and 13 nurses is located just east of the main building.

Located in Needed Areas

It is the stated policy of the VA that hospitals be located in accord with needs of the veteran population in the area, and where possible they are to be located close to medical centers where the existing pool of medical specialists can be utilized cooperatively.

Dr. Robert Hardin, associate professor of medicine at SUI and assistant dean of medicine for the Veterans administration affairs, is chairman of the deans committee for the Iowa City hospital.

Other members are: Dr. W. M. Fowler, professor of internal medicine and chairman of the executive committee on medicine; Dr. E. D. Warner, professor and head of the pathology department; Dr. Stuart C. Cullen, professor of general surgery and chairman of the division of anesthesia; and Dean A. W. Bryan of the college of dentistry.

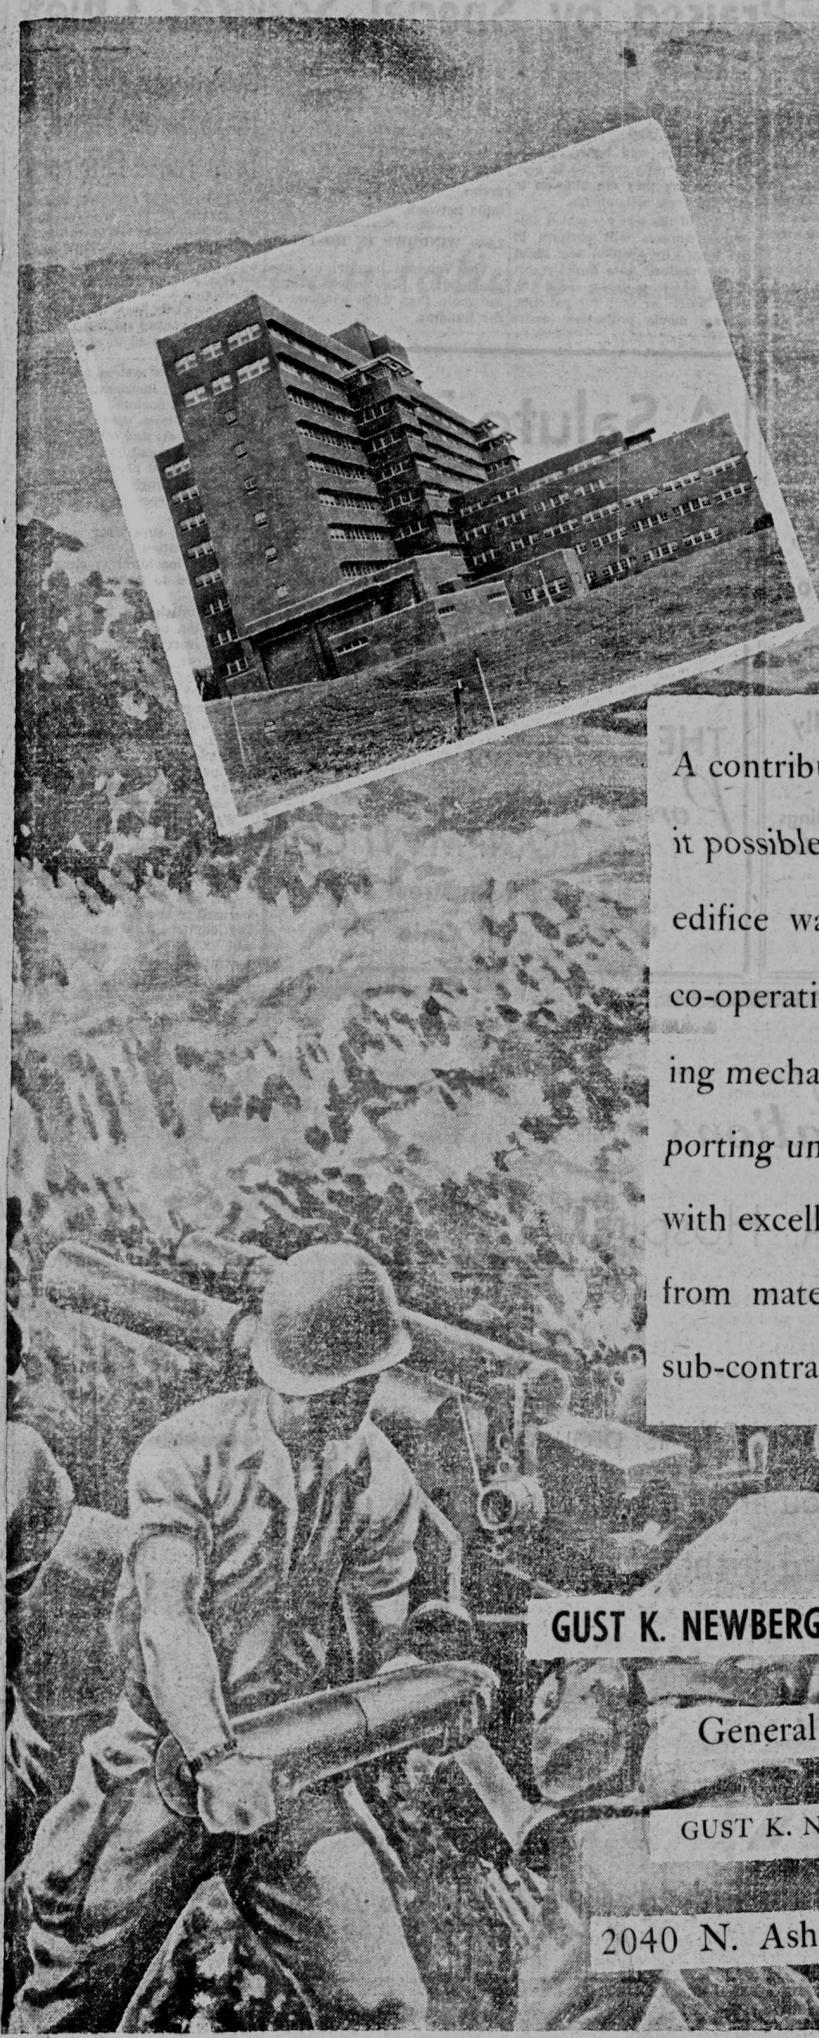

Doctors from SUI who have already taken positions with the hospital include:

1. Dr. Edgar S. Brintnall, chief of surgical service, who was associate professor in the department of surgery.
2. Dr. Robert C. Hickey, assistant chief of surgical service, who was associate professor in the department of surgery.
3. Dr. Walter M. Kirkendall, chief of medical service, who was assistant professor of internal medicine.
4. Dr. Richard D. Eckhardt, assistant chief of medical service, who was an associate in the department of internal medicine.
5. Dr. Duane W. Lovett, chief of dental service, who was professor of oral diagnosis and radiodontia in the college of dentistry.

A number of SUI nursing graduates have also taken positions with the hospital.

Volunteer Workers Praised by Special Services Chief

Volunteer workers play an important part in the treatment program of the hospitalized veteran, according to L. E. Hunn, chief of special services at the Veterans hospital.

"Past experience has shown that the volunteer worker can contribute much to bring comfort, cheer and the spirit of the community to the individual patient," Hunn said.

Voluntary services in hospitals are not new, but in VA hospitals they are an integral part of the hospital program and its services.

The Veterans administration voluntary services advisory committee, with Hunn as its chairman, is made up of representatives of all organizations who wish to take part in the hospital program of voluntary service. The advisory committee will meet once each month.

All individual posts, chapters or auxiliaries in the area serving the Iowa City hospital will work through their representatives with the chairman of voluntary services.

Voluntary workers are given a course in hospital orientation and indoctrination and instruction in the specific duty they are to perform, before they are allowed to take up their assignments.

Some of the services which volunteer workers will perform in the Iowa City hospital are: assist at the visitors' pass desk; escort wheel chair patients; read to, write letters or shop for patients; operate movie projectors; assist chaplains; assist in occupational therapy, physical therapy, and corrective therapy; assist librarians; do social work; serve as hostesses for recreation and sports; and help to produce radio programs for the hospital bedside radio network.

2,000 WINDOWS IN HOSPITAL

The Veterans hospital has approximately 1,700 rooms. There are more than 2,000 windows in the building.

Centralized Dictation, 1st To Be Used Here, To Increase Efficiency

Installation of a central dictating system at the Veterans hospital will increase stenographic efficiency and make available complete medical records in a shorter period of time than previously possible.

The Iowa City hospital is the first to use the central system, although it has been tested in another VA hospital.

With the new system, telephone-like dictating instruments will be located in doctors' offices, on wards, in clinics, operating suites, autopsy rooms and other strategic places throughout the building.

These special phones will route dictation through a switchboard to a central recording and transcribing pool.

The pool supervisor will distribute dictation from the central recording machines to clerk-typists trained to transcribe medical dictation.

It is anticipated that with the use of the new equipment complete transcripts may be returned to doctors within two to three hours.

Also, by enabling doctors to dictate immediately following an operation, examination, ward tour, autopsy or consultation, a more complete medical record may be obtained than would be possible if the doctor were forced to rely on notes or memory.

Ward clerical personnel and nurses will be freed from the necessity of taking dictation and will be able to devote more time to additional duties.

The new instruments may also be used in the same rooms as X-ray equipment, which is impossible with conventional dictating machines.

2,000 WINDOWS IN HOSPITAL

The Veterans hospital has approximately 1,700 rooms. There are more than 2,000 windows in the building.

Centralized Dictation, 1st To Be Used Here, To Increase Efficiency

Installation of a central dictating system at the Veterans hospital will increase stenographic efficiency and make available complete medical records in a shorter period of time than previously possible.

The Iowa City hospital is the first to use the central system, although it has been tested in another VA hospital.

With the new system, telephone-like dictating instruments will be located in doctors' offices, on wards, in clinics, operating suites, autopsy rooms and other strategic places throughout the building.

These special phones will route dictation through a switchboard to a central recording and transcribing pool.

The pool supervisor will distribute dictation from the central recording machines to clerk-typists trained to transcribe medical dictation.

It is anticipated that with the use of the new equipment complete transcripts may be returned to doctors within two to three hours.

Also, by enabling doctors to dictate immediately following an operation, examination, ward tour, autopsy or consultation, a more complete medical record may be obtained than would be possible if the doctor were forced to rely on notes or memory.

Ward clerical personnel and nurses will be freed from the necessity of taking dictation and will be able to devote more time to additional duties.

The new instruments may also be used in the same rooms as X-ray equipment, which is impossible with conventional dictating machines.

A Salute To Iowa City!

Our heartiest congratulations to the new Veteran's Hospital at Iowa City. We are proud to have been a member of the team in this worthy contribution to modern medicine.

Recreation To Play Big Part In Care Of Patients

By BILL CLABBY
A bedside radio network, a newspaper, a barber shop and a chapel are just a few of the special services which will be offered to the patients of the Veterans hospital.

Such luxuries as a music room, library, and a recreational room also will be available.

Each of these activities is part of a program designed to supplement medication and therapy. L. E. Huhn, director of special services at the hospital, said.

Although these facilities are administered through the office of special services, close coordination with the medical services is maintained at all times.

Includes Varied Opportunities
The recreation program will aim to provide recreational opportunities for every patient, with emphasis on group activities and patient participation. It will be in charge of George B. Smith, who formerly held the same job at the VA hospital in Des Moines. Smith will be assisted by Edmund J. Osgood, recreational and sports technician.

Movies, to be held in the hospital's own little theater, will be shown twice a week. The features will be the same as those which will be showing in theaters in Iowa City at the same time. Included will be the latest newsreel.

Other activities planned and organized by the recreation officers will include table games such as cards, checkers, chess and bingo. Musical and vocal ensembles, patient shows, creative writing and discussion groups and spectator events will also be part of the extensive program.

Patients to Produce Shows
The bedside radio network is a major function of the recreation department. Many of the programs will be produced in the hospital studios and these, along with those received in the control room, will be carried by special earphone to each bed.

Three types of speakers will be available to the patient.

The first is a diaphragm type which fits in, or underneath, the pillow. The second is a type similar to a stethoscope, while the other is the old-fashioned type of earphone which clamps over a person's head.

Each receiver is equipped with an individual volume control with in handy reach of the patient and a ratchet-type switch mounted so that the program outlet allows the patient to select programs from four different channels or to turn his set off by merely pulling a chord.

Plan Disc Jockey Program
In addition, radios will be available in all of the recreation rooms in each ward and in the main recreation room on the third floor.

Present plans call for the hospital to have its own disc jockey program.

Murvin H. Perry will serve as radio program director.

Also under Perry's direction will be the hospital newspaper. It will be mimeographed and published twice each month. Patients will help produce the paper.

Two libraries will be in use, one for the patient and another for the medical staff. All the newspapers from the area served by the hospital will be on hand for reading in the patient's library.

Book Service Is Mobile
A mobile book service will allow bed-ridden patients to check out the books and current literature.

A sound-proof room where music can be played without disturbing other patients will be at the disposal of the hospital's residence. Here music prescribed by the medical staff will be administered. This room and the libraries will be under the direction of Jeanette Huston.

A unique chapel, located at the west end of the hospital, has a three-way altar which can be changed within five minutes for either Catholic, Protestant, or Jewish services.

Chaplains of all Faiths
Both full and part-time chaplains will be there for patients of all faiths. They will be on 24-hour call and will be available for consultation with patients' families.

Present plans call for a religious program under the direction of one of the chaplains to be broadcast over the hospital network each morning about 8 o'clock.

Funeral services will also be permitted to be heard in the chapel. It is one of the few hospitals in the United States where such services can be held, hospital officials said.

Canteen Service Available
A canteen service will be headed by William R. Selby. Included will be a retail store which will be located on the third floor of the building.

In it such things as toilet supplies and other incidentals will be sold. Also on sale will be gifts for the patients.

Under the canteen service will be a dry cleaning and pressing plant in the basement of the structure. It will handle all the staff and patients cleaning needs.

A flower shop where flowers may be ordered by telegraph, and a barber shop are two other services offered patients and visitors.

Will Feed 1,100
One of the biggest jobs under the canteen service will be the handling and distributing of the food services throughout the hospital. When the hospital has reached full capacity the food services must be prepared to serve more than 1,100 patients and staff members.

Three cafeterias have been set up to handle the job, the medical staff, patients able to walk, and the maintenance crew will each have their own. The three cafeterias, however, will be served by a huge kitchen on the first floor of the building.

All of the canteen services will be operated on a non-profit basis.

Volunteer workers will assist the professional staff of the special service department in carrying out the program of organized recreation in a manner resembling as closely as possible the normal community and home recreation pattern. These workers will also be under the direction of Huhn.

Other duties of the special services department will be the assisting the hospital manager in a public relations capacity, and the conducting of tours through the hospital.

ROCK FROM YELLOWSTONE

The verdantique marble used in the lobby comes from a veined rock obtained in Yellowstone Park. It came in slabs and was matched by the workmen.

A MAJOR FUNCTION of the recreation program will be a bedside radio network, with many of the programs originating from studios within the hospital. Murvin H. Perry, who will serve as radio program director, is pictured here looking over some of the equipment in the radio studios.

VA Is Independent Agency of Government

The Veterans administration is an independent establishment of the U.S. government, charged with administering benefits provided by law for veterans of all wars, their dependents and beneficiaries.

It was created in July, 1930, to unify the work of the bureau of pensions, the veterans bureau and national home for disabled volunteer soldiers.

Ex-servicemen and women, with their families, now constitute about one-third of the nation's population.

The VA operates the largest chain of hospitals in the U.S.; one of the largest mutual life insurance projects; a mass education and training program; a multi-billion dollar loan guaranty program, and a pension and compensation program that provides financial aid.

$750 MILLION PROGRAM

The Iowa City Veterans hospital is included in a $750 million VA hospital construction program. It will result in 66 modern hospitals with a total of 37,000 beds.

Hospital Has Special Facilities Not Found In Private Institutions

The Veterans hospital will have special facilities and equipment required for treatment of disabled veterans, which are not included in services offered by private hospitals.

These include a physical and medical rehabilitation unit; a dental unit, equipped with laboratories; an orthopedic brace shop, and special facilities for care and treatment of mental patients.

Nearly one complete floor of the hospital is devoted to special services such as a chapel, a library, recreation facilities, a canteen, and a bedside radio system.

Also provided are research laboratories and medical teaching facilities, and patient social services.

Transportation for beneficiaries is arranged by the hospital, and there are offices for investigating patients' claims against the Veterans administration.

Average length of stay in hospitals is slightly longer for veterans than for patients in private hospitals.

Private patients usually undergo diagnosis and examination before entering hospitals, and they are inclined to leave as soon as possible to spend convalescent periods at home.

"There must be some mistake — I just have a mild case of malaria!"

Facilities Planned For 75 Mental Cases

Two wards of the Veterans hospital will include 75 beds for neuro-psychiatric patients.

Treatment will include direct counseling and psychotherapy, narco-therapy (drugs) and shock therapy. Both electric and insulin shock treatment will be used.

Plans are also ready for use of group therapy as it is needed.

Patients needing active psychiatric care will be admitted to the hospital, if examination by the admitting psychiatrist indicates there is a possibility of recovery within six months.

Patients requiring prolonged treatment may be transferred to other hospitals with more adequate facilities.

One of the wards for neuro-psychiatric patients will be open and one closed. Patients will be separated according to age, sex and mental condition.

5 Communications Are in Building

The Veterans hospital contains five communication systems. They are:

1. Paging system, which is a visual type with central controlled board for paging medical personnel.

2. Voice system, which is used by dietetics and nursing service.

3. Pneumatic tube, which includes 11,000 feet of tubes and 33 stations to carry messages from the various services and offices.

4. Multiple channel radio, consisting of studio and central control room. It is possible to bring to each bed a choice of five programs, one of which can originate in the studio.

5. Fire alarm system, which is a recording ticker-tape type with alarm boxes throughout the hospital and other buildings to fire station in garage.

Building Is on Caissons 3 to 5 Feet in Diameter

The hospital rests on concrete caissons three to five feet in diameter which are set in solid rock.

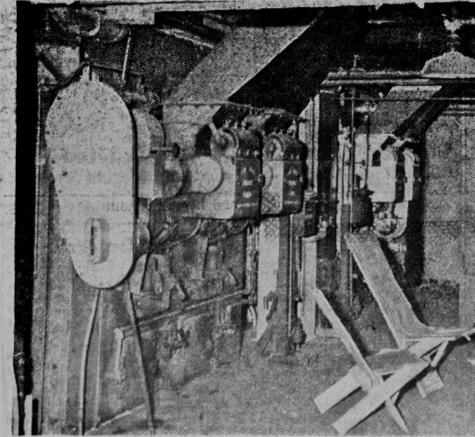

The entire building is tied together by steel buried six feet in the concrete caissons and extending to the roof.

11,000 Feet of Tubes End Here

THE TUBE ROOM is the termination of the 11,000 feet of pneumatic tubes shown above. Messages, drugs and small equipment can be sent through the system to any point in the building from here. One wall in the room is known as a breathing wall, because it has thousands of tiny holes capable of producing circulation without any noticeable draft.

Heat for 1,700 Rooms

THREE STOKER-FED BOILERS, two of which are shown above, will heat the 1,700 room structure. The boilers, located three levels below the main floor, are expected to consume between eight and 10 tons of coal every 24 hours. Also on this level is the hot water heating system and the water softening tanks.

2 Types of Eligibility

There are two types of eligibility requirements relative to applicants to a VA hospital:

1. Medical eligibility. This term is practically self-explanatory and means that the applicants must require hospitalization as indicated by the findings of the hospital's admitting system.

2. Legal eligibility. Any former member of the armed forces who has a disability incurred or aggravated in service may be hospitalized for that condition or any other condition without regard to service dates, if hospitalization is medically necessary. Any person declared eligible for admission to a VA hospital must be a member of the armed forces who has a disability incurred or aggravated in service.

"PROUD TO BE SERVING ON THE STAFF ..."

...of Iowa City's New Veterans Hospital!

All concerned are to be congratulated on the completion of the new $10,000,000 VA hospital here in Iowa City.

Providing, as it does, the last word in modern, efficient therapeutic facilities, the new hospital marks a great step forward in the care of the country's war veterans.

In addition, it further establishes Iowa City as one of the outstanding medical centers of the nation.

Because of the importance of gas and electricity in operating much of the hospital's remarkable new equipment, this company feels that it plays a very definite part in the good work carried on.

As a "member of the staff" of the VA hospital, the Iowa-Illinois organization pledges its best efforts in providing adequate, dependable gas and electric service at all times.

2. Legal eligibility. Any former member of the armed forces who has a disability incurred or aggravated in service may be hospitalized for that condition or any other condition without regard to service dates, if hospitalization is medically indicated.

Any person who served during a war period and who has been declared in need of hospitalization for a non-service connected ailment may be hospitalized if a bed is available.

Service-connected disabilities receive top priority.

Transportation for veterans eligible to enter the hospital is supplied by the VA.

Patients at the Iowa City hospital come from an area of eastern Iowa, western Illinois, and northern Missouri.

Site Purchased For $133,000

The federal government obtained the 13.7 acres of state-owned land on which the hospital is built on Feb. 11, 1949, for $133,045.21.

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher presented the land patent for the property to Andrew J. Murphy Jr., special department of justice attorney attached to the lands division, at a brief ceremony in Old Capitol.

TO BE SERVING THE STAFF . . ."

...of Iowa City's New Veterans Hospital!

All concerned are to be congratulated on the completion of the new $10,000,000 VA hospital here in Iowa City.

Providing, as it does, the last word in modern, efficient therapeutic facilities, the new hospital marks a great step forward in the care of the country's war veterans.

In addition, it further establishes Iowa City as one of the outstanding medical centers of the nation.

Because of the importance of gas and electricity in operating much of the hospital's remarkable new equipment, this company feels that it plays a very definite part in the good work carried on.

As a "member of the staff" of the VA hospital, the Iowa-Illinois organization pledges its best efforts in providing adequate, dependable gas and electric service at all times.

8 Teams Open First Round

The boys' state basketball tournament, an event which annually drives otherwise normal citizens a little crazy and attracts thousands of persons here from all over Iowa, opens this afternoon in the field house.

Wales-Lincoln, a class B team from western Iowa, and AA Spencer start the proceedings at 1:30 p.m. Following that Roland plays Readlyn, Marion opposes Ogden and Keokuk meets Hull to complete the first day.

Then on Wednesday it's Grundy Center vs. Glenwood, Dubuque vs. Dinsdale, Davenport vs. Danville and Cherokee vs. Ames.

Davenport As Usual
As has been the case for recent years, the big question is who can stop Davenport. A majority of participating coaches polled Monday answered that no one could beat the Blue Devils who are bidding for an unprecedented third straight title.

A few others didn't think that Davenport should be regarded as unbeatable but also admitted that the Blue Devils would be tough to eliminate.

That seemed to sum up other thought on the eve of the tournament. Once again it's to be Davenport against the field.

In this field are 15 other teams who have battled their way in some cases through as many as six tournament games. Some of the class AA entrants had to win only three games for admittance but in the process sidelined some strong teams.

Town Will Be Packed

Regardless of the trend of the tournament, the town will be clogged all week with adults and high schoolers alike who come to see the games first of all but also to sample the holiday atmosphere. All hotel rooms have been reserved for weeks and finding a place to eat down town will be a feat. Traffic, both automobile and pedestrian, will be heavy.

Parking regulations have been set up to ease the traffic burden around the field house but even so

Easter Suspension Of No-Cut Rule Gets OK Of Deans

The no-cut rule has been suspended for Easter vacation—and perhaps permanently. And again it's up to the students.

This note of optimism came Monday from liberal arts Dean Dewey B. Stuit, who said, "We will suspend the no-cut rule for the Easter vacation and if class cuts are not excessive, we might feel inclined to suspend permanently the no-cut rule."

Students will have an opportunity to make the "third time a charm" following earlier tests at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Previous Tests 'Inconclusive'
The deans' committee investigating attendance found those tests "inconclusive."

Instructors did two things when making up attendance reports: first, they listed the names of all those absent, and second, indicated the average rate of absences for other days in the semester.

These reports were then tabulated in the registrar's office.

Pre-Christmas Cuts Heavy
On the basis of these reports, Stuit said absences before and after Thanksgiving, and after Christmas, were not excessive, but they were excessive before Christmas.

He said he hopes the Easter vacation will be a final criterion by which to measure fairly the success of suspending the no-cut rule.

That rule requires class attendance 24 hours before and after regularly scheduled holidays. Penalty for failure to comply with the rule heretofore has been the addition of one hour per cut to the student's graduation requirements.

Weber Named Head Of School Board

Irving B. Weber was elected president of the Iowa City school board at a reorganization meeting Monday night. He succeeds Alva B. Oathout who held the position for the past year.

Weber's selection as head of the board came two weeks after his reelection to the board for a second consecutive term. Oathout was elected to a second term in the March 3 election.

Weber, 51, who has lived in Iowa City all his life, is vice-president and manager of the Sidwell Ice Cream company, and lives at 421 Melrose court.

He is a graduate of SUI and former staff member of The Daily Iowan.

Weber's mother, Mrs. Edward Weber, served as head of the school board from 1925-26.

1 Killed, 12 Survive Texas Plane Crash

DALLAS, TEX. (AP) — Fourteen servicemen bailed out of a flaming marine transport plane on the Dallas outskirts Monday, but one was dragged to death and another was missing.

An hour after the crash, officers still searched for the body of one man, whose parachute apparently failed to open. They found the body of another who had been dragged by his parachute.

The craft was en route from the Cherry Point, N. C., and had army, navy, marine and air force personnel aboard. It was attached to headquarters, 2nd marine air wing, Cherry Point.

Political Poll To Highlight SUI Elections

The annual all-campus elections April 2 will feature a straw vote to determine student preference in the coming presidential election.

The Young Republicans and Young Democrats will each choose five candidates, one of which may be checked in answer to the question, "Which of the following would you want to be the next president of the United States?"

Candidates will be elected to the following campus positions:

1. Student Board of Publications.
Three posts are open on the board, two for two-year terms and one for a one-year term.

The only announced candidate for the board is Carl B. Zimmerman, A2, Waterloo, who is seeking a one-year term.

Petitions to campaign for these positions are available in the school of journalism office and must be returned by 5 p.m. Wednesday.

2. Student council representatives. For the first time, no representatives-at-large will be elected, under the council's recent reorganization plan.

The married students candidates are the only student council candidates which will be on the ballot in the all-campus elections. The other representatives will be chosen by the various groups sometime before the elections.

3. Union board. Students in the colleges of liberal arts and commerce will choose representatives to this board.

The two college of commerce representatives elected will automatically become members of the board of directors of the Collegiate Chamber of Commerce.

4. Officers for Young Men's Christian association, University Women's association, Women's Recreation association and class officers for the colleges of liberal arts and commerce.

The only offices for which all students may vote are the three positions on the Student Board of Publications. Candidates for these positions are the only ones who may actively campaign and they must limit money spent to $18.

All other candidates for positions will be chosen by members of the particular groups for which they are campaigning.

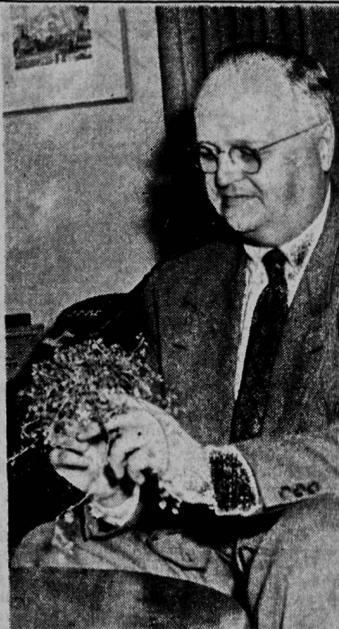

All groups holding elections April 2 must submit the list of candidates by 5 p.m. next Monday to the office of student affairs or the student council office.

An election committee will meet that afternoon and make up the ballot.

Prof. Youtz Addresses Parent-Teachers Group

DISPLAYING THE EVIDENCE that Irish shamrocks in Iowa loam just as heartily as in the Old Sod SUI administrative dean, Dakin's shamrocks, grown in Ireland last summer, were worn by members St. Patrick's day Monday.

Shamrocks SUI Lapels Sport Irish Plants

Sure an' many a true Irish shamrock was seen sproutin' from SUI faculty lapels on St. Patrick's day Monday — thanks to Allin W. Dakin, administrative dean, and Dean Walter F. Loehwing of the graduate college.

It all started last August when Dakin bought a pack of shamrock seeds while he was touring Ireland.

Just for a joke, he gave them to Loehwing, who is also head of the botany department.

Loehwing planted them in the university greenhouse on the west side of the botany laboratory, and with true Irish luck, the seeds sprouted and began to spread.

Loehwing gave the delighted Dakin a flower pot full of shamrocks, and Dakin in turn gave "runners" to his friends at a recent party.

Several of the guests planted the "runners" and on St. Patrick's day sure an' many a student smiled to see his professor proudly wearin' of the green.

U.S. To Speedup Assistance to Chiang

TAIPEH, Formosa (TUESDAY) (AP) — The U.S. plans to double its military advisory group this year to speed the training of 500,000 troops for the defense of this Nationalist Chinese stronghold, American experts said Monday.

Now at 360 officers and men, the military assistance advisory group (MAAG) needs more specialists to get field teams out with combat troops. Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, chief of MAAG, has returned to the U. S. to select more men.

That step and more military equipment are the major requirements in whipping Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's army into shape for a sustained defense of Formosa against Communist forces on the mainland.

The Reds repeatedly have asserted their determination to cross the 100-mile Formosa strait and wrest the island from the Nationalists. However, this has been discouraged by the U. S. seventh fleet which has patrolled the strait since early in the Korean war.

Seemann Invalidated Of Nomin

WATERLOO, Wis. — Seemann, a candidate for governor, failed Monday to win the State Melvin D. Seemann.

Shortly after Synhorst's victory from the Republican gubernatorial campaign said he "wrote of mandating state official to on the primary."

"Furthermore," "I intend to Synhorst for $2 failure to adhere to nominating and conspiracy off the ballot."

Seemann, who as his own attorney expected to start the next few days, "I'm going to Seemann insist."

Synhorst said of a ruling from general's office find that Seemann's petitions were not to permit him to be on the primary.

This narrow candidacies of Beardsley, W. Mason City and Emerson.

Synhorst said his wife notarized counties in which culated, whereas been notarized each of the respo.
