

More Than 100 Dead As Tornado Cuts Through 3 States

Arkansas Toll At 99; Great Property Loss

LITTLE ROCK, ARK. (P) — More than 100 persons were killed by tornadoes which cut a long swath through Arkansas and hit neighboring sections of Tennessee and Missouri.

More than 200 others were injured. There was tremendous property damage.

Ninety-nine were known dead in Arkansas alone in the worst disaster ever to strike the state. Eight were killed in Tennessee and six in Missouri.

Hardest hit in Arkansas was a White River area of several communities about 50 miles northeast of Little Rock, capital city located in the heart of the state. That White county area reported 62 known dead.

Bodies Taken to Searcy
Twenty-seven bodies of White county dead were taken to Searcy, the county seat. Thirteen bodies from Bald Knob were taken to Batesville and nine from Bald Knob to Newport.

Thirteen other bodies were counted at Judsonia, also in White county.

The Tennessee twisters were accompanied by severe electrical and hail storms. At least 23 were reported injured at Bonicord, Roellen, Bruceville, La Platta and Edgewood.

About 25 persons were reported injured at England. Six to eight were hurt at Dierks. Property damage was extensive at Dierks and England.

At Dierks, the tornado missed the business district and the schoolhouse, the latter by only three blocks.

Dierks, situated on highway 70 between De Queen and Hot Springs, Ark., is about 110 air miles southwest of Little Rock.

Twister Wrecks Houses
The black funnel twister first dipped into the Rock Creek community, a mile west of Dierks at 2:45 p.m. Then, it roared into the western edge of Dierks, demolishing three homes, crossed to the northwest corner of the town and smashed nine houses on a hilltop. No one was injured there. Residents saw the tornado coming and scurried to the shelter of underground storm cellars.

A Dierks telephone operator, said the tornado "sounded like a big airplane in trouble."

The storm dipped to earth again in the New Hope community, eight miles north of Dierks. Mrs. Kay Clamply of New Hope said three houses, including her own; barns and other buildings there were demolished but that no one was injured.

Earlier Friday, the U.S. weather bureau warned that tornadoes were likely in southwest Arkansas.

Many homes which escaped destruction in Dierks were damaged. Huge trees were uprooted. Electric service was disrupted briefly, and some telephone lines were knocked out.

Expect Cost Report On Synthetic Fuel
WASHINGTON (P) — Secretary of the Interior Chapman expects to receive before the end of the month an independent report on estimated costs for producing synthetic liquid fuels like gasoline from coal.

A New York firm (Ebasco Services, Inc.) was given a contract to make the study after the National Petroleum Council, an oil industry group, differed materially with the U. S. bureau of mines in cost estimates for a make-believe synthetic plant to be located at Rock Springs, Wyo.

Tourney Rough on Cops, Too

THE REFEREES WEREN'T THE ONLY ONES who "had it bad" during the state high school basketball tournaments, as most of the traffic cops will testify. Frank Myers, North Liberty, was one of the many policemen hired by the university to supervise parking and direct traffic. Friday night's rain and sleet didn't help matters any either.

China Aids Indo-China, Lovett Says

WASHINGTON (P) — Secretary of Defense Robert Lovett testified Friday that "some" Chinese Reds and "substantial quantities" of Chinese equipment have turned up in strategic Indo-China, where Communist-led troops are battling the French.

Some congressmen and others gained the impression that Chinese Communist combat troops had gone into the fighting. But later high Pentagon officials said this wasn't so, so far as they knew. They said Lovett meant Chinese arms supply officers and truck drivers.

Lovett told the house foreign affairs committee there was no indication that "substantial" numbers of Chinese had crossed the border.

But he said it was "always possible" that their entry could mean the same kind of buildup that preceded the first Chinese offensive in Korea last November.

The French ministry for the Associated States of Indo-China said in a statement issued in Paris: "We have received no information allowing us to suppose that Chinese troops have crossed the Indo-China border."

Lovett said the United States had been informed "by good authority" that the Chinese had been in Indo-China "for some time." This was the first official public word, however, that the Chinese had made a long-anticipated crossing of the border, even in small numbers.

At the same time, William E. Draper, mutual security administrator for Europe, told the senate foreign relations committee that he had found far greater strength and stability in Western Europe now than three years ago.

The two committees, still expressing concern over the size of the aid program, will continue hearings Monday. The senate group is scheduled to hear Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, chief of staff to Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, whose testimony may determine whether Eisenhower himself is called.

The house committee probably will hear Draper.

Steel Wage Boost Irritates Industry

NEW YORK (P) — Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson flew here Friday as the steel industry bristled angrily beneath a wage boost recommendation from the government.

The industry heatedly told federal economic stabilizer Roger L. Putnam it can't boost wages without an increase in prices.

After a 90-minute meeting with industry leaders the stabilizer put in a call for help to Wilson in Washington.

The industry did not flatly reject the wage stabilization board's recommendations of Thursday for a 17½ cent wage increase plus a union shop.

A spokesman for the industry, Clarence Randall, president of the Inland Steel Co., said "the best interests of the public would be served by no increase in wages or prices."

He claimed the WSB recommendations would cost the steel companies a billion dollars more a year and would add $12 per ton to the cost of producing steel.

Randall also called the union shop recommendation "a long step backward in the struggle for individual freedom."

Although labelling the recommendations "unfair and unreasonable," Randall said the industry will live up to its promise to consider the WSB formula. It will meet next week with the other party to the wage dispute, the strike-threatening CIO United Steelworkers.

The board also recommended acceptance of the union shop, which would require every steelworker to join the CIO after a definite time on the job.

"We came to no definite conclusion, at least as far as I am concerned," the government man said.

The CIO United Steelworkers union is ready to settle for the WSB's proposed package rather than go through with the strike they have scheduled for April 8. An earlier deadline of midnight Sunday for a nation-wide strike has been postponed.

The CIO United Steelworkers originally sought an 18½ cents an hour wage boost plus almost as much again in other benefits.

2 Panacea Officials Will Be Chosen at All-Campus Elections

Two members for the Panacea board of directors will be chosen from the student body in the all-campus elections April 2.

Persons interested should submit names to Panacea, office of student affairs before Wednesday. No experience is required.

Six names of students at large will be selected by the present board and placed on the all-campus elections ballot.

The board's five members are chosen annually, two from the last year's cast, one from the student council and two from the student body.

The only offices for which all students may vote in the all-campus elections are the two members of Panacea and members of the Student Board of Publications. Candidates for other campus positions will be chosen by the respective groups that are holding elections.

Ten students will seek positions on the Student Board of Publications. Two other students were disqualified as board candidates for failure to meet application requirements.

They were Don Kallenberg, C3, Des Moines, whose signatures on his petition were not all from the college from which he was enrolled, and Barbara Boyd, A3, Cedar Rapids, who had only 15 credit hours at SU, instead of the 26 required for candidates for the Student Board of Publications.

Red Exchange Plan Offers Nothing New

MUNSAN (SATURDAY) (P) — The Communists explained Friday their "compromise" for exchanging prisoners of the Korean war, but the Allies said it did not yield an inch on the Red demand for forced repatriation.

The Communist explanation Friday of what they termed their March 5 compromise proposal on prisoners said:

"After the armistice agreement is signed and becomes effective the Korean people's (Red) army and the Chinese people's volunteers shall release and repatriate all of the 11,599 prisoners of war in their custody and the United Nations command shall release and repatriate all 132,474 prisoners of war in its custody."

A UN command spokesman said the proposal was "unsatisfactory as it represents no departure from the enemy's adamant demand for the forced return of the POW's."

The Allies insist that all captives must be given the right to choose whether they shall go home.

Operator of Local Tavern Ordered To Stop Beer Sales

C. J. Michel, operator of Duffy's tavern, 221 S. Dubuque st., Friday was ordered to stop selling beer.

Michel discontinued beer sales following the orders of Johnson county Sheriff Pat Murphy and Chief of Police E. J. Ruppert, who said the tavern's state beer license expired Jan. 31, 1952.

The Iowa City council issued a city beer permit to Duffy's Jan. 8, 1952, but the state board has held up issuance of a state permit because of an old indictment against Michel.

County Atty. William L. Meardon and Assistant County Atty. William M. Tucker directed Murphy and Ruppert in their action.

Awaited Investigation
H. E. Evers, secretary of the state permit board in Des Moines, disclosed that the permit was awaiting further investigation. The indictment in question was a May 12, 1950, charge of having illegal gambling devices in his possession.

According to district court records, Michel pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $100.

Michel said Friday he had no trouble obtaining another permit early in 1951 to continue operation until Jan. 31, 1952, adding that he didn't know why he wasn't investigated at that time instead of waiting until now.

Meardon said Friday that Michel was not investigated at that time because of the leniency of the old permit form.

Roland, Dinsdale Fail In Bid For Championship

By JACK JORDAN Sports Editor

Dinsdale supplied the thrills and Roland the disappointment Friday night in the semifinal round of the boys state high school basketball tournament.

The Red Devils, representing the smallest school in the tourney, bowed to defending champion Davenport, 54-47, but not until they had over 15,000 fans and the Blue Devils thinking a new state king would be crowned.

Logan Sets Record
Bill Logan of Keokuk wrecked Roland, 55-43, with a record-smashing total of 30 points, which put him over the records for one-, two- and three-year tournaments.

Dinsdale, with only 22 boys in the consolidated school, actually led the Blue Devils at the half as a large majority of the fans yelled in unison "Beat Davenport."

The Imps, chosen from 955 boys in the state, started fast and led 4-1 and later 15-9. However, Curt Hoepfner and Dick Fleming closed the gap before the end of the first quarter to 15-13.

Dinsdale Gets Rebounds
With Hoepfner and Red Snow grabbing a majority of the rebounds under both baskets, the Red Devils outscored the Imps 11-7 in the second quarter and went into the rest period leading by a 24-22 margin.

However, Davenport's one-two punch of Carl Widseth and Frank Sebott started functioning as usual and they ran the lead to 41-37 at the end of the third quarter. Dinsdale crept to a 45-44 deficit but the defending kings pulled ahead and stalled out the game.

Widseth was high for the game with 23 points, and Hoepfner, Paul Ehrig and Snow led the Red Devils with 13, 11 and 10 respectively. Sebott played a fine floor game and got 12 markers.

Guards Help Logan
Roland's Rockets had little luck in subduing big Logan because of the great accuracy of his mates on long shots. While no one but Logan got more than seven points, the other four men were hitting enough longs to keep the defense loose around the center.

With Logan controlling the offensive basket, the Chiefs grabbed the lead early in the first quarter and never gave it up. Gary Thompson, Dave Peterson and Stan Tjernagel gave Roland balance in its scoring but the three of them outscored Logan by only three points.

Buck Cheadle's Rockets thus were again stopped short of the title. They lost to Davenport in the final game last year, 50-40.

Shake-up Ordered Among Engineers At African Bases

WASHINGTON (P) — A shake-up among army engineers supervising construction of a series of secret U.S. air bases in North Africa was ordered Friday by Secretary of the Army Frank Pace in the wake of hot congressional criticism.

Pace also told Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) that six private contractors, holding the contract for the projects under the name Atlas Constructors, will be called on the carpet next week.

Johnson is head of a senate armed services subcommittee on preparedness which has been holding hearings on the project involving five bases in French Morocco. He has declared that "waste, inefficiency and downright graft" have marked the project.

Johnson had proposed to Pace earlier that the contracts be suspended unless there is a clean-up. The cost of the project was originally estimated at $300 million, but it has now been raised to about $455 million.

10 Navy Men Die In Bomber Crash

CORPUS CHRISTI, TEX. (P) — Ten navy airmen were killed Friday in the crash of a four-engine Privateer patrol bomber.

No survivors were found after the P4Y-2 splashed into the bay less than a mile off the end of a naval air station runway. Witnesses said the craft took off and climbed to about 500 feet before it crashed.

Divers brought up three bodies, but they said choppy waters hindered recovery of the others.

In Washington the navy listed the names of nine of the men, saying that the tenth would be reported as soon as his next of kin had been notified.

The bomber was bound for the Alameda, Calif., naval air station. Aboard were "four officers, four enlisted men and two cadets.

Probers Cite Maloney For False Testimony

WASHINGTON (P) — William Power Maloney, former justice department official, was threatened with a perjury charge by house investigators Friday after he told his story of his relations with Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.), Henry (the Dutchman) Grunewald, and a $5 million tax case.

Rep. Robert Kean (R-N.J.) accused Maloney, now a New York lawyer, of swearing falsely on a previous occasion that he never borrowed money from Grunewald, a Washington wirepuller and friend of men in high places.

A house ways and means subcommittee investigating tax scandals has produced evidence indicating he borrowed $5,000. It voted to send a transcript of his testimony to the justice department to determine whether a charge of perjury was justified.

Bridges Asked to Intercede
In a stormy session with the committee, Maloney acknowledged that three years ago he asked Bridges as "a friend" to intercede in the tax case of Hyman Harvey Klein, a Baltimore wholesale liquor dealer, against whom the government had placed a $5 million tax assessment.

The committee also heard a former treasury investigator report that sworn evidence uncovered in 1944 linked Grunewald with an attempted $500,000 black market deal in bourbon whisky in Washington.

Maloney testified Friday he had "absolutely no recollection" of ever receiving a $5,000 loan from Grunewald between 1944, when he was a special assistant to the attorney general, and 1948.

Grunewald is an enigmatic figure who has worked behind the scenes in Washington for many years. Maloney is his attorney. It was Maloney who advised Grunewald not to talk before the committee. When Grunewald followed his advice, the committee recommended that "the Dutchman" be cited for contempt of congress.

Kean Accuses Maloney
Kean accused Maloney Friday of perjuring himself at a closed session of the committee when he swore he had never borrowed any money from Grunewald.

The committee has produced a letter from Maloney, addressed to Grunewald's tax accountant, which says that $5,000 of Grunewald's 1948 income represented repayment of a loan by Maloney.

Maloney also testified that he had no recollection of having represented Grunewald while he was working for the justice department.

Against this the committee produced a report by special treasury agents which said Maloney interceded in Grunewald's behalf during an investigation of alleged black market whisky in 1943 and 1944.

Maloney Testifies at House Hearing

WILLIAM POWER MALONEY, New York attorney, testified Friday that he asked Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) as a "friend" to intercede with the internal revenue bureau about a multi-million dollar tax case. Maloney appeared at a hearing of the house tax scandal investigators. Earlier he appeared before them as counsel for Henry Grunewald, Washington mystery man.

Good Job by All

As tournament week at Iowa City nears its finish we can look with pride on the jobs done by several local organizations.

A fine job has been done by the Iowa City police, state highway patrol and university police force. Deployed at strategic points, these units have worked together to hold to a minimum traffic tie-ups and accidents.

Also a word of thanks is due the Iowa City Junior Chamber of Commerce which has seen to it that visiting teams had places to sleep.

Bunks were set up in various school buildings and the Community building for these teams. Members of the Jaycees took turns supervising the sleeping facilities.

The SUI interfraternity council also prepared for the occasion. This group arranged for 57 top Iowa high school football players to visit the campus Friday and today.

These prospective SUI students are being housed, fed and shown around the campus by 19 fraternities. The IFC planned a full schedule including a meeting with Pres. Virgil M. Hancher and later Coach Forest Evashevski, for these young men.

These and many others have cooperated in meeting the problems of the tournament and helped make the week a success. They have all done a grand job.

From Other Colleges

The University of Buffalo daily newspaper made a hasty check last week on campus in an attempt to find reasons "Why I Never Joined a Sorority." They are:

1. I wanted to do as I wished and think for myself instead of being led around by a bunch of sorority sisters.
2. I had never gone into women's clubs and organizations before I came to college and I didn't want to start.
3. I had never danced with a man in my life and I didn't want to.
4. I didn't fill out a sweater and I didn't look very attractive in a sleeveless low-cut gown.
5. I am a male.

U.S. Farm Output Increase Needed 'To Prevent Hunger'

By ROBERT GEIGER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The department of agriculture is warning Americans that there must be a huge increase in farm production to prevent hunger among the millions of people being added to U. S. population.

The increase is the fastest in history, because people are living longer than ever before and more babies are being born.

The production and marketing administration (PMA) has drawn a time table showing how much more the farmers must produce by 1975 if the population expands only to a "medium" degree.

Need 67 Per Cent Increase
The officials estimate that by 1975 the production of all farm commodities will have to be increased about 67 per cent (more than two-thirds) above what it was before World War II. This means an increase of about 20 per cent above 1950.

Here are some samples of how much extra food would have to be produced to meet this goal:
Five and one-half billion pounds of beef, veal, pork, lamb and mutton. This is equal to the entire 1950 pig crop of two important meat producing states, Nebraska and Iowa; or to the entire beef output in 1950 of the big cattle states of Texas, Oklahoma and Minnesota; or to the entire lamb crops of Nevada, Utah, Wyoming and Montana.

Interpreting the News — Could Ike's Contribution Be More as President?

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.

Associated Press News Analyst
General Eisenhower's statement that he is "re-examining" his original decision not to campaign for the Republican presidential nomination was widely accepted in this country as meaning that he actually will come home.

This fits in with the confidence displayed all the time by some of the leaders of his campaign that he would be available for at least two or three speeches before the convention.

It is only in public, you know, and not in campaign circles, that Eisenhower has been represented as a diffident candidate. He wants to be president, all right, but there are a number of things for him to consider.

He went to Europe as a sort of anchor man around which the movement for European military unity, and to some extent political unity, could resolve. He has served the purpose admirably. Though far less dramatic, this role may be fundamentally as important to history as a term or two as president of the United States, though it never will attract as much attention.

Eisenhower can reason, however, that the political implications of European unity transcend the military, and that as president he could make an even greater contribution to that cause than at present.

Where Does He Belong?
He can also consider whether as an actual fact the political figure which he has become still belongs in supreme military headquarters.

He can consider whether his political position in the United States may not actually affect the actions of his opponents in congress on foreign aid legislation and the entire program of international cooperation.

One prime factor among his advisers should be, of course, the actual chances of his nomination and election. It would be a pity for him to leave Europe and then miss a comparable field for service.

Groundswell
There seems to be a great popular groundswell for him. Running into Senator Taft's hold on many of the practical politicians, there is the possibility this could produce a very close fight in which either, or neither, would win at the convention.

Eisenhower has always exhibited very strongly the soldier's tendency to accept the immediate assignment and stick to it until it is done. It is not at all unlikely that this was involved in his "courtsey" call on Foreign Minister Eden of Britain Thursday.

TO THE EDITOR:
Who is this "God" Goltz who has so nonchalantly pasted this year's Panacea in the mouth?

It must be quite a thrill to sit down and dash off in 15 minutes a criticism which could endanger the success of a production which cost Mr. Randolph and "fellow slaves" endless hours of toil to create.

The script was started over a year ago, Christmas vacation was sacrificed by Randolph and others to start the construction of the set which was completed only this week, then there were posters, ticket distributions and hours of rehearsals.

What this child of journalism says may be true when judged by standards of Broadway productions. But Mr. Goltz should remember that Panacea is not the work of professionals, and should be compared to other college musicals.

I would like to know the qualifications of Goltz for his position as "production pastor."

Remember...?

Five Years Ago . . .
Davenport defeated Ottumwa and Sioux City Central downed Danbury in the semifinals of the state basketball tournament.

Jane Leeming was chosen Mecca queen of 1947. Attendees were Elizabeth Stuart, Doris Green, Dorothy Armbruster, Mildred Hawthorne and Sally Mattes.

No More New Lands

In past years it was possible simply to open up new farm lands to feed the increasing population. But with almost all of the good crop land occupied, farmers now are faced with the job of increasing the production of each acre, so it will feed more people.

But again, the farmers already have increased tremendously the efficiency of each acre. Each acre now is producing almost 1/2 more than it did 25 years ago.

Many Job Opportunities Seen for June Graduates

Job opportunities for June graduates are better than ever before, said Helen Barnes, head of the business and industrial placement office, in an interview this week.

Fewer people are available to fill an increased number of jobs because industrial production has been stepped up, and the armed services are taking many men who ordinarily would be working at other jobs, she explained.

The most numerous job openings for women are in secretarial work because they can be immediately useful in this capacity. Firms will spend up to two years training a man for a position, but few women stay with a job long enough to repay the expense of long training, Miss Barnes said.

"A girl should think in terms of a future home, but a wise girl not only plans for a home, but a good balance between work, home, leisure, and community and civic responsibility," she said. "The girl who's prepared can get so much more for the time than a girl who's unprepared or unwisely prepared."

Merchandising ranks second in number of requests for women coming to the office. Fifty per cent of the top jobs in this area are held by women. The chance for advancement is great, she said.

Insurance companies are third in requests for women that are handled by the bureau. Business firms look to college women for supervisory positions, but the graduates must usually serve an apprenticeship in a less responsible position. Salary varies in proportion to the extent a new employee can be useful to the firm at the time she's hired.

Companies began interviewing students the last week in January, and will continue until after April 8, according to the current schedule.

The business and industrial placement offices handles requests for business personnel. It does not ordinarily seek jobs for students in such professions as nursing, engineering, medicine, and law. The office gets requests from about 200 companies every year.

When the office receives word that a company is seeking personnel, it informs qualified students about available positions and secures interviews for them. After the interviews the company official discusses the applicants with Miss Barnes and is given an information folder on the prospective employee.

In addition to its file of job and company descriptions, the bureau keeps a permanent record of all registrants. It also keeps available to students what it considers the best in books and pamphlets on jobs and job-getting techniques.

Each year Miss Barnes tours companies so she can better understand the needs of groups who have used the service and can interest those who haven't. In the past three years she visited 218 firms in 12 states. She also attends an annual conference for representatives of placement services and businesses.

Davenport Or Keokuk . . . Who'll Be State Champ?

Davenport Subdues Dinsdale After See-Saw Battle, 54-47

By JIM COOKE

Five plucky little Dinsdale Red Devils almost derailed Paul Moon's championship-bound Davenport express, but fell short by seven points, 54-47, in Friday night's second semifinal game at the field house.

The win puts Davenport in the championship final against Bill Logan and Keokuk's rangy Chiefs who topped Roland, 55-43, in the evening's opener.

The Davenport-Dinsdale battle turned out to be just that. The tiny little class B school refused to be awed by Davenport's string of 49 straight wins against Iowa competition and its role as heavy favorite to win its third successive Hawkeye high school crown.

Power Paid Off

Jim Snow, Curt Hoepfner, Paul Ehrig, Dick Fleming, and Russ Greiner ran, shot, and rebounded with the Blue Devils for three quarters, but finally succumbed as Davenport experience and power began to pay off.

Once again it was the one-two punch of the Blue Devils, Carl Widseth and Frank Sebolt, that supplied the offensive spark for Davenport. Big Carl slammed in

Results of the first preliminary session include:
Trampoline — 1. Dick Gutting, Florida State, 268; 2. Verne Evans, Minnesota, 260; 3. Frank La Due, Iowa, 251; 4. Bob Hazlett, Iowa, 250; 5. Bill Sorenson, Iowa, 244.

Duquesne Rally Beats Princeton; Kentucky Swamps Penn State

CHICAGO (AP) — Duquesne broke a 39-39 tie with the fourth quarter surge to whip Ivy league champion Princeton, 60-49 Friday night and gain the finals of the NCAA regional basketball tourney at the Chicago stadium.

After a first half which wound up with Duquesne ahead, 28-24, the Dukes from Pittsburgh gradually wore down Princeton with a fast break and excellent control of the boards.

A little chap turned the tide in a battle of giants as Illinois ton in the Chicago NCAA regional basketball tourney.

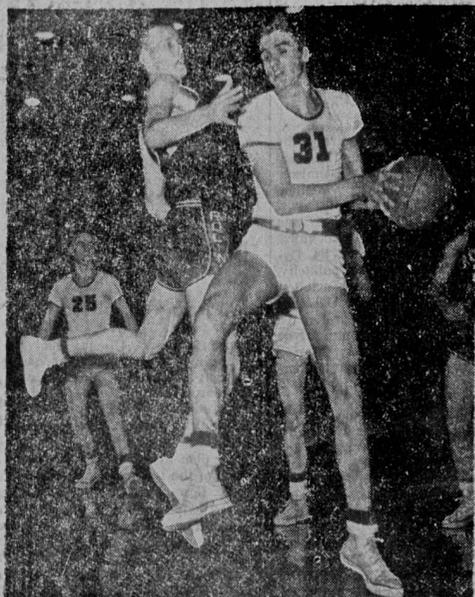

Illinois and Duquesne will meet at the Chicago stadium tonight for a berth in the NCAA semifinals at Seattle next week.

At Raleigh . . .

High scoring Kentucky, opening the defense of its NCAA title, beat down an early surge by Penn State and swept to an easy 82-54 win Friday night in the NCAA eastern regional basketball playoffs at Raleigh, N. C.

St. John's was matched against North Carolina State in the second game of the playoffs.

A crowd of 11,000 in Reynolds coliseum saw the amazing Kentuckyians get their 22d consecutive win and their 29th in '31 games.

Boston's Got the Kids . . .

Youngster's May Replace Ted

By JACK HAND

SARASOTA, FLA. (AP) — June 15 is the do-or-die day for the old style Boston Red Sox. If the Fenway millionaires aren't in the race, Manager Lou Boudreau will ditch the oldsters and go all the way with the kids.

Ted Williams, Mr. Big of the American league, holds the key to his teammates' future. With his big bat swinging on their side, the Sox might stick in the race. If he passes his physical exam for the marines April 2 at Jacksonville, the old regime will be doomed.

"Nobody knows about Ted," said Boudreau. "I can't count on him definitely."

Few Picked Red Sox

"I hope to find a happy medium of experienced players and kids—at least until June. If I see we can't catch the leaders, we'll go with the kids from June 15 on."

in sharp contrast to recent years, few pick the Red Sox to win this season. They have been spectacular failures for five straight seasons. Doubt of Williams' availability has scared off the most stubborn die hards.

Boudreau has the kids to take over.

Iowa Girl Cagers Play AAU Champs In First Session

WICHITA (AP) — The national champions and entries from Mexico and Canada will meet first-round opponents Sunday in the national Women's AAU basketball tournament.

The title-defending Hanes Hosier team from Winston-Salem, N.C., will meet the Marshalltown Gasoline Alley in an afternoon contest at 2:30 p.m.

The Oskaloosa Van Zees will meet the Jackson, Miss., State Board of Health team Monday at 1 p.m. Other Monday games: 4:30 p.m.—Iowa Wesleyan college, Mt. Vernon, vs. Atlanta, Ga., Tomboys.

6:30 p.m.—Davenport, American Institute of Commerce vs. St. Joseph, Mo., Goetz.

10 p.m.—Kansas City, Kans., Dons vs. Omaha, Neb., Commercial Extension.

Kansas Makes NCAA District Finals, 68-64

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Kansas Jayhawks, powered by Clyde Lovellette's record-equaling 31 points, defeated Texas Christian university 68-64 Friday night to join St. Louis university in the finals of the NCAA district playoffs.

Lovellette's 31 points tied the previous NCAA tournament record set by George Glamack of North Carolina in 1941.

A crowd of more than 10,500 sat in on the double bill that saw the St. Louis university Billikins of the Missouri Valley Conference trim the Border Conference New Mexico A & M Aggies, 62-53 in the first game.

St. Louis and Kansas will meet at 9:30 p.m. (CST) today for the right to represent district one of the NCAA's western setup in the national finals at Seattle next week.

They Seldom Lose —

Roland's Calm in Victory

By STAFF WRITER

Roland may not win all its games but when they do win they're like the New York Yankees—the calmest bunch around.

The Rockets, as are the Yankees, are used to winning. They've taken 152 out of their last 160 games (not including the state semifinal game against Keokuk Friday night). And when they win, it comes as no surprise to either the Rockets or coach Buck Cheadle.

The Story county Norwegians don't know what it is to go into a game expecting to lose. Last year when they surprised everyone else by making it to the final game against Davenport, the casual observer would have called them cocky as they prepared for the game—they expected to win against the biggest odds of the year.

Gary's Even Better

Leading the Roland team into the finals has been Gary Thompson, who's a veteran at the ripe old age of 16, besides being the most improved player in the tournament, and that's saying something considering the fact that he was chosen on the all-tournament team last year.

Last year against the Blue Devils, the then-unheralded boy of 15 countered Davenport's tight zone defense with eight field goals on long shots, pulling the defense out and enabling his team to come within 10 points of the championship.

This year he's grown two and a half inches (now 5-8½) and has become one of the best rebounders in the tourney. He has a wide variety of shots, and is an excellent guard.

Gary's surrounded by veteran this season, and will face a real test next year as all the regular but himself graduate. Stan Tjernagel has blossomed into a good center, though, and he too has an other year.

Cheadle has come through with 98 wins and four losses since he took over as one of the most competent coaches in Iowa as well as one of the most popular. He's a good tactician and a good technician. Don't bet against seeing Roland in Iowa City next year.

Small and Smaller
Roland high school has only 41 boys in its enrollment of 84 students, but is large compared to Dinsdale. The Red Devils represent an enrollment of 45, only 21 of which are boys.

Ames coach Ron Norman, former Iowa State basketball and football star, said after the defeat of his team by Davenport that the zone defense of the Blue Devil was the deciding factor in the game. He added that the Little Cyclones usual shoot as man shots from the outside as the were forced to do in the game against the Imps, but that the inside help wasn't there.

Stanky Demands Hustle From St. Louis Cards

By JACK HAND

ST. PETERSBURG (AP) — Under the driving leadership of Ed die (The Brat) Stanky, the St. Louis Cardinals can be an important factor in the 1952 pennant race.

New signs on the clubhouse walls remind the Cards to "think" and "be alert." The new skipper, realizing the dream of a lifetime, will condone strikeouts and errors but demands 100 per cent effort.

A disciple of the Leo Durocher school, Stanky puts great store in the "intangibles" such as will to win, hustle and aggressiveness.

Camp visitors leave with new respect for the heady little player-manager who seems to know just what he is doing every minute of the day. Step by step, he attacks the Cards' many problems with keen logic. The years spent in briefing himself with Jimmy Wilson, Charlie Grimm, Billy Southworth, Milt Stock and Durocher stand him in good stead.

"Pitching is my big problem, if I have a big problem," said Stanky. "Gerry Staley (19-13) and Cliff Chambers (14-12) are my only sure starters. Harry Brecheen (8-4) and Al Brazle (6-5) can be used only in spots."

Pitching Promising

"Joe Presko (7-4) and Cloyd Boyer (2-5) are question marks. Both had shoulder trouble last year. So far they have been all right. We'll have to wait until later to know for sure."

Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, a fire-balling rookie from Houston (16-14) with a sensational record of 257 strikeouts and a 1.96 earned run average, can "make" the staff. The Cards expected to lose this new "lefthanded Dizzy Dean" to the army but he recently was classified 3-A for dependency reasons. Vinegar Bend has been hot and cold in the exhibitions, striking out five Boston Braves in three innings of one start and yielding five runs to Washington in the first inning of another day.

Under the lights Mizell figures to be a real sensation in the majors.

"Everybody seems to be concerned about Red Schoendienst except me," said Stanky. "Red is a big league infielder and outfielder. He'll be in the lineup but I don't know where."

Stanky On 2d

Stanky expects to play second base himself. A key man on last year's New York Giant pennant winners he got 127 hits and 127 walks. Solly Hemus will be the shortstop and Billy Johnson, ex-Yank, on third.

Big Steve Bilko got a full shot at first in the early games, but failed to hit. Herb Gorman, drafted from Hollywood as a first baseman-outfielder, also got a look.

After all the tryouts are over, Schoendienst probably will move to first base and take over. An agile natural athlete, the redhead has been practicing for the change all spring.

The big man of the club, of course, is Stan Musial who goes after his sixth batting title from his left field post.

Wally Westlake, a power hitter acquired from Pittsburgh last summer, will play center with old dependable Enos Slaughter in right.

Rice Catching

Del Rice probably will do most of the catching again. Les Fusselman, a 30-year-old rookie from Houston, has hit enough to give Johnny Bucha and Bill Sarni competition for the second string job.

For infield reserves, Stanky has Tommy Glaviano, Eddie Kazak and Earl Weaver, a youngster from Omaha who is a sure bet for the future second base job.

Hal Rice, Peanut Lowry and Gorman probably will back up the first string outfielders.

The Cards lost a fine-looking prospect when Vern Benson suffered a leg fracture sliding. He won't be back until June or July. Although he came up as a third baseman, Stanky was playing him in right field.

If Presko and Boyer come back and Mizell makes it big, the Cardinals can be in the race right up to the wire.

Logan And Keokuk Dump Rockets, 55-34

By JACK JORDAN Sports Editor

Center Bill Logan of Keokuk nearly completed his raid on state tournament scoring records-Friday night as his team knocked little Roland from the running, 55-34.

Logan broke his own record for the most points for one tournament as his 30 for the evening stretched his total to 88 for this year's tourney. He also smashed both the three-year and four-year marks for his play through the years 1950 to 1952.

His total of 179 tops the three-year record of 169 set by Ray Fontana of Ankeny and the four-year total of 175 by Marcellus McMichael of Roosevelt Des Moines in the early 1930's.

Chiefs Hit Long Ones

The game was a question of whether the Chiefs could hit consistently enough on their long shots to pull the pressure off Logan — and they did. Roland had three men around the new state scoring leader but couldn't keep them there as guards Bob Williams and Larry Koch and forward Jack Jones hit the long ones.

Roland, who got as far as the final game last tournament and finished second, will have to settle for at least third this year as they meet Dinsdale for the consolation championship at 6:00 p.m. today.

The Rockets, sparked as usual by 5-8½ Gary Thompson, hit well on their long shots but had difficulty when they tried to get the ball into the center where Logan was standing guard. They showed good balance and divided the scoring evenly while hitting 32 per cent of their shots, but the Chiefs hit 39 per cent and had Logan.

Logan got five points on the hook shots and a free throw. Keokuk moved on to a 17-9 advantage going into the second quarter.

The Chiefs started the second period by stretching its lead to 21-10 in two minutes, but the Rockets rallied to pull the score to 32-25 on long shots by Thompson and Peterson. Logan was the chief contributor for the Chiefs during that time with nine points, the other six all the result of long shots.

Keokuk hit six points in the first two minutes of the third quarter on two tip-ins by Logan and a long shot by Williams to make the score, 38-27 as Peterson scored from the side for Roland. Then Tjernagel got four baskets on four tries and Thompson added one, but the Rockets could gain only two points as Logan hit for four points and Jones shots he tried as well as rebounding favorably with men over feet, scored the last point of the game on a free throw.

Roland's scoring honors went to Peterson with 12 markers, followed by Tjernagel with 11 and Thompson with 10.

In the Chiefs' scoring column Logan completely dominated the figures. Gamman took second place with seven, and Jones, Williams and Koch all got six.

periods, the Rockets could never gain back the lost ground.

After forward Jim Gammon opened the game with a free throw for the Chiefs, Stan Tjernagel and Dave Peterson countered with the same for Roland. Then Williams hit a long shot and guard Don Holland got one for the Rockets. That made the score 4-3 in favor of Roland, but Koch hit a long one to put the Chiefs into a lead they never relinquished.

Hospital School Applauds Students Who Serve As Foster Brothers and Sisters

A big brother or sister can have a wholesome and enduring influence in the life of a child, particularly if the child is separated from parents and family.

Few have been more aware of this than officials at the Iowa Hospital-School for Severely Handicapped Children. Last October, with this thought in mind, they undertook to provide each student-patient at the school with his own "big brother" or "big sister."

These big brothers and sisters are university students representing all segments of campus life — volunteers who devote a portion of their time toward making life a little brighter for the handicapped children.

Helpers entertain children. Each of the children at the school has at least one make-believe big brother or sister who visits him during the week to play games, read books, go for walks, take rides or go window shopping.

David Ray, assistant director of the school, says the big brother-sister plan resulted from a feeling that the child, even though he has many group activities, needs a great deal of individual attention — from someone he can "call his own."

The present plan was tentatively drawn up and explained to various student groups on the campus. Response was "immediate and gratifying," Ray said. Among organizations represented by big brothers and sisters are fraternities, sororities, young people's church groups and student nurse organizations.

Always Waiting List. Ray said there has always been a waiting list of students who want to serve as big brothers and sisters.

One young woman who asked to be placed on the list said she had no brothers or sisters of her own and felt that in this way both she and some handicapped child could enjoy a new and rewarding experience.

Ray feels training at the school has benefitted as a result of the program. It also has eased the work load on hospital-school personnel, Ray said.

During the football season several of the children attended games with their big brothers or sister. It has been a popular pastime, too, to watch the university marching band and the Scottish Highlanders practice in the big parking lot beside the Iowa field house.

Marshalltown Plant To Cease Operation

MARSHALLTOWN (AP) — The Marshalltown plant of the Marshall Canning Company Friday informed its employees that it is going to close down, possibly by July 1.

The plant has from 140 to 150 full-time employees. A company announcement said it is advising employees of its future plans in order that they will have time to find other employment prior to the shutdown.

The company said the Marshalltown plant has had a continually increasing overhead due to taxes, sewage charges and other items. Other factors include distance from markets and lack of producer contracts for fresh pack vegetables such as corn, tomatoes and pumpkins.

Harvard Chemist To Speak Here

Dr. E. G. Rochow of Harvard university will speak before the Iowa section of the American chemical society at 7:30 p.m. Monday in room 300 of the Chemistry building.

Rochow will discuss polymeric omofams. The talk will be preceded by a dinner at 6 p.m. at the Jefferson hotel.

There will be a short business meeting in room 300 of the Chemistry building after the talk.

John C. Ransom To Speak Tuesday

John Crowe Ransom's speech on "Why Critics Don't Go Mad," cancelled this week, will be given at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Old Capitol. Ransom will spend two days in Iowa City, visiting the creative writing department and meeting its faculty and students on Wednesday.

Ad Club To Offer Week in St. Louis

Two SUI advertising students will have a chance to be guests of the St. Louis advertising club during the week of April 28-May 2.

They will be chosen in a contest open to advertising seniors and graduate students who write the best 250 words or less on "Why I Feel I Should be Selected for the St. Louis Award."

The St. Louis trip will enable the students to see all phases of advertising work and meet and confer with advertising leaders. All expenses will be paid by the advertising club.

A list of all advertising courses completed, grade point average, and date of graduation should accompany the entries which are to be turned in to Prof. Ellis H. Newsome, head of the school of journalism advertising sequence, by 5 p.m. March 28.

Greta Grossman and Marshall Nelson, both 1951 graduates, were last year's winners.

Iowa Law Review Features Articles On Civil Liberties

Articles by nationally-noted authorities on civil rights legislation will be included in the Iowa Law Review's "Civil Rights Symposium" which will be published within the next few weeks.

The Review is edited by senior students in the college of law. J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, is the author of one article on "Civil Liberties and Law Enforcement: The Role of the FBI."

Osmund K. Fraenkel, member of the New York bar and prominent civil rights attorney, has written "Law and Loyalty" and Prof. Walter L. Daykin, SUI law economist, contributed "The Employer's Right of Free Speech Under the Taft-Hartley Act."

"Freedom and the Businessman" has been written by Whitney R. Harris, professor of law at Southern Methodist university, and "The Iowa Civil Rights Act: A Problem of Enforcement" was prepared by Robert S. Gossetree, University of Maryland political scientist and SUI graduate.

Student notes in the forthcoming Iowa Law Review also will cover rights, Foster said.

$285 in Bad Checks Passed in Iowa City

A false check artist passed $285.20 worth of bad checks at four local firms last Saturday, police said Friday.

One check was for $53.30 and the other three were for $76.30, Detective Harland F. Sprinkle said. All four checks had been perforated by a check protector device and were written on Cedar Rapids banks.

The checks were signed by a "Eugene Moore" and were made out to a "Paul Wagner," Detective Sprinkle said.

The man who passed the checks gave his address at one firm as R.R. 1. He was described as being of stocky build, five feet, nine inches tall, weight 165 pounds, 24 to 28 years of age, with brown hair and eyes and was wearing striped or gray overalls.

TV PROGRAMS TONIGHT. Programs to be carried by Iowa Memorial Union television sets tonight include Arturo Toscanini conducting the NBC symphony, and the Illinois state basketball finals. The symphony will begin at 5:30 p.m. The basketball finals will be on from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Committee To Plan Accounting System

DES MOINES (AP) — A special committee which is attempting to establish a new uniform public school accounting system held its third meeting Friday and said it hoped to have a report by next January.

The committee was set up by the state department of public instruction. The old system, set up in 1934, must be revised, the department said, because of school matters which have come up in recent years. These include state aid to schools for transportation, special courses now carried by many schools, and the establishment of the school lunch program.

Camera Club Exhibits Photographs at Union

Thirty-six photographic prints by the Blackhawk Camera club of Davenport will be on exhibit at the Iowa Union until April 1.

The Blackhawk club is affiliated with the Photographic Society of America and at the present time ranks fifth in competition with clubs from all over the nation.

SUI Band To Begin Tour

SUI's concert band will hold its annual spring tour next week with about 60 of its members visiting high schools in 11 Iowa towns and cities.

The tour will open Monday with a concert for the Marshalltown high school, and will end Friday with concerts in two Des Moines high schools. The band will also visit the high schools of Iowa Falls, Clarion, Hampton, Mason City, Algona, Emmetsburg, Spencer, Storm Lake and Carroll.

Under the direction of Prof. Charles B. Righter, the university band is now in its 71st year, having been founded in 1881. It is believed to be the oldest musical organization in Iowa in point of continuous service.

Membership in the band is drawn from students in all of SUI's colleges and departments. A student need not be a music major, the only requirements being ability to read at sight, average or above technical skill and musicianship, and personal dependability.

As a service organization, the band provides music for athletic contests, pep rallies, commencement ceremonies and military review. It serves as a practical laboratory for music majors and those training to become band directors.

Among the numbers the band will perform on the tour are Creston's "Legend," Bennett's "Rhapsody in Rhumba," Debussy's "Serenade for the Doll," Tansman's "Carnival Suite," Holst's "Jupiter," and Grieg's "Piano Concerto."

HS Students to Appear On Engineering Program

A dozen Iowa high school students who toured engineering exhibits at SUI this week will appear on an "Information Engineering" broadcast at 8:45 a.m. today over station WSUI.

Highlights of their engineering tour, to be described on the broadcast, include visits to the university's wind tunnel and demonstrations of a dynamometer and twin turbines.

They will be chosen in a contest open to advertising seniors and graduate students who write the best 250 words or less on "Why I Feel I Should be Selected for the St. Louis Award."

The St. Louis trip will enable the students to see all phases of advertising work and meet and confer with advertising leaders. All expenses will be paid by the advertising club.

A list of all advertising courses completed, grade point average, and date of graduation should accompany the entries which are to be turned in to Prof. Ellis H. Newsome, head of the school of journalism advertising sequence, by 5 p.m. March 28.

Greta Grossman and Marshall Nelson, both 1951 graduates, were last year's winners.

OPERATION WHATZIT WASHINGTON (AP) — Secrecy on the upcoming atomic tests at Eniwetok is so tight that the Atomic Energy commission won't even tell the code name for the operation. Other tests have been dubbed "operation sandstone" and "operation greenhouse."

Iowa Law Review Features Articles On Civil Liberties

Articles by nationally-noted authorities on civil rights legislation will be included in the Iowa Law Review's "Civil Rights Symposium" which will be published within the next few weeks.

The Review is edited by senior students in the college of law. J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, is the author of one article on "Civil Liberties and Law Enforcement: The Role of the FBI."

Osmund K. Fraenkel, member of the New York bar and prominent civil rights attorney, has written "Law and Loyalty" and Prof. Walter L. Daykin, SUI law economist, contributed "The Employer's Right of Free Speech Under the Taft-Hartley Act."

"Freedom and the Businessman" has been written by Whitney R. Harris, professor of law at Southern Methodist university, and "The Iowa Civil Rights Act: A Problem of Enforcement" was prepared by Robert S. Gossetree, University of Maryland political scientist and SUI graduate.

Student notes in the forthcoming Iowa Law Review also will cover rights, Foster said.

$285 in Bad Checks Passed in Iowa City

A false check artist passed $285.20 worth of bad checks at four local firms last Saturday, police said Friday.

One check was for $53.30 and the other three were for $76.30, Detective Harland F. Sprinkle said. All four checks had been perforated by a check protector device and were written on Cedar Rapids banks.

The checks were signed by a "Eugene Moore" and were made out to a "Paul Wagner," Detective Sprinkle said.

The man who passed the checks gave his address at one firm as R.R. 1. He was described as being of stocky build, five feet, nine inches tall, weight 165 pounds, 24 to 28 years of age, with brown hair and eyes and was wearing striped or gray overalls.

TV PROGRAMS TONIGHT. Programs to be carried by Iowa Memorial Union television sets tonight include Arturo Toscanini conducting the NBC symphony, and the Illinois state basketball finals. The symphony will begin at 5:30 p.m. The basketball finals will be on from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Committee To Plan Accounting System

DES MOINES (AP) — A special committee which is attempting to establish a new uniform public school accounting system held its third meeting Friday and said it hoped to have a report by next January.

The committee was set up by the state department of public instruction. The old system, set up in 1934, must be revised, the department said, because of school matters which have come up in recent years. These include state aid to schools for transportation, special courses now carried by many schools, and the establishment of the school lunch program.

Camera Club Exhibits Photographs at Union

Thirty-six photographic prints by the Blackhawk Camera club of Davenport will be on exhibit at the Iowa Union until April 1.

The Blackhawk club is affiliated with the Photographic Society of America and at the present time ranks fifth in competition with clubs from all over the nation.

SUI Band To Begin Tour

SUI's concert band will hold its annual spring tour next week with about 60 of its members visiting high schools in 11 Iowa towns and cities.

The tour will open Monday with a concert for the Marshalltown high school, and will end Friday with concerts in two Des Moines high schools. The band will also visit the high schools of Iowa Falls, Clarion, Hampton, Mason City, Algona, Emmetsburg, Spencer, Storm Lake and Carroll.

Under the direction of Prof. Charles B. Righter, the university band is now in its 71st year, having been founded in 1881. It is believed to be the oldest musical organization in Iowa in point of continuous service.

Membership in the band is drawn from students in all of SUI's colleges and departments. A student need not be a music major, the only requirements being ability to read at sight, average or above technical skill and musicianship, and personal dependability.

As a service organization, the band provides music for athletic contests, pep rallies, commencement ceremonies and military review. It serves as a practical laboratory for music majors and those training to become band directors.

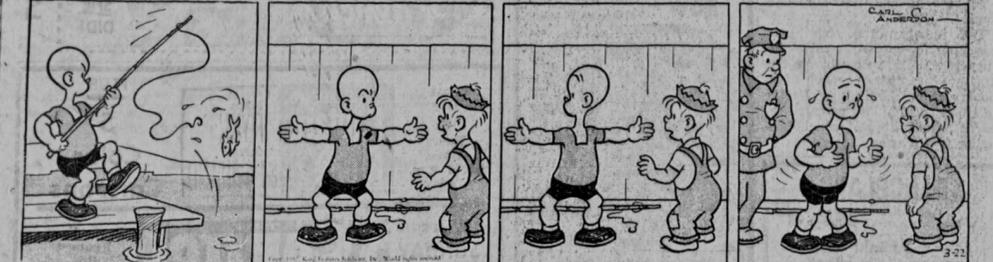

Among the numbers the band will perform on the tour are Creston's "Legend," Bennett's "Rhapsody in Rhumba," Debussy's "Serenade for the Doll," Tansman's "Carnival Suite," Holst's "Jupiter," and Grieg's "Piano Concerto."

HS Students to Appear On Engineering Program

A dozen Iowa high school students who toured engineering exhibits at SUI this week will appear on an "Information Engineering" broadcast at 8:45 a.m. today over station WSUI.

Highlights of their engineering tour, to be described on the broadcast, include visits to the university's wind tunnel and demonstrations of a dynamometer and twin turbines.

Synhorst Reviews Applications For State Office Nominations

DES MOINES (AP) — Secretary of State Melvin D. Synhorst said Friday he has decided against certifying Stanley Baker, Waterloo, as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for third district congressman.

Synhorst explained that a thorough check of Baker's nomination papers showed that Baker did not legally qualify as a candidate. The affidavits on Baker's petitions all were signed by a resident of Black Hawk county. State law provides that such affidavits be signed by an elector who is a resident of the county in which the petitions are circulated.

Synhorst said he had attempted unsuccessfully to reach Baker by telephone but would notify him by registered letter. Synhorst said his ruling as to Baker follows an attorney general's opinion.

Earlier Check Missed Error

The secretary of state emphasized that a preliminary check was made of Baker's petitions when they were filed, but the legal technicality found later was such as would not ordinarily be caught in a preliminary check.

Synhorst said the later check was made by himself, and that he could not have made the preliminary checks personally.

Previously, Synhorst had announced his decision not to certify Ernest J. Seemann of Waterloo as a Republican candidate for governor. The secretary of state still is checking on the legality of petitions filed by Louis J. Rehm, Davenport, a candidate for the Republican nomination for secretary of state. Synhorst is a candidate for republican renomination.

Still Three Governor Candidates

Elimination of Seemann means there still are three candidates for the Republican nomination for governor. They are Gov. William S. Beardsley, Lt. Gov. William H. Nicholas, and former Lt. Gov. Kenneth A. Evans.

Dropping of Baker means that George R. Laub, Cresco, is the only remaining candidate for the Democratic nomination for third district congressman.

Aside from Rehm and Synhorst, other candidates for the Republican nomination for secretary of state are David B. Long and Edward J. Kallemyr, both of Des Moines.

The secretary of state certifies the official list of candidates to the county auditors.

Oscar Upset

Bogart Nabs Award With Gay Role

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Movie town, mulling its annual Oscar awards binge, Friday reached some conclusions — Academy members just don't give a hang, when marking their ballots, what outsiders around the county may choose in polls. And maybe they're tired of tragedy and messages.

Humphrey Bogart surprisingly carried off the best-acting trophy for the lighthearted role — of a gin-swilling riverboat captain adventuring through Africa with Katherine Hepburn. All his opponents were in grim roles.

And "An American in Paris," upset victor among best-picture candidates, was the sole entry that sparked with merriment. "A Place in the Sun," one of the two hottest advance favorites, was about a youth drowning his pregnant sweetheart. The other, "A Streetcar Named Desire," depicted a tragic southern woman going mad in shabby surroundings with her in-laws.

Other results went more according to expectations.

The starring-actress choice was Vivien Leigh in "Streetcar." She won a previous Oscar in 1939's "Gone With the Wind," playing in that case also a southern belle.

Two other "Streetcar" players won Oscars as supporting players. They are Kim Hunter, as the wife, and Karl Malden, as Miss Leigh's disillusioned suitor.

Editor Predicts Sales To Stay High in '52

DES MOINES (AP) — The time is coming for a "stemwinding sales drive that will probably surpass anything in the whole long history of United States salesmanship," Kenneth Kramer, executive editor of Business Week, said Friday.

Kramer told Des Moines chamber of commerce members they should not worry "just because it looks like the easy days of selling are coming to an end."

He predicted that business as a whole will carry on throughout 1952 at a high level without significant changes either in total production, total employment, total income or total sales.

Federal Court Clerk C of C Luncheon Honors Participants Of State Tournament

GENE POSTON, Corydon, was named Friday to succeed N. F. (Nick) Reed, retiring clerk of the federal court for the southern Iowa district. Poston, an attorney and widely known Democratic leader, has represented Wayne county in the Iowa house of representatives since 1941.

A total of 210 persons attended a Friday luncheon at the Jefferson hotel in honor of the teams and coaches participating in the state high school basketball tournament.

Directors of the Iowa High School Athletic association, Iowa High School Insurance company, and members of the SUI coaching staff were special guests at the event sponsored by the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce.

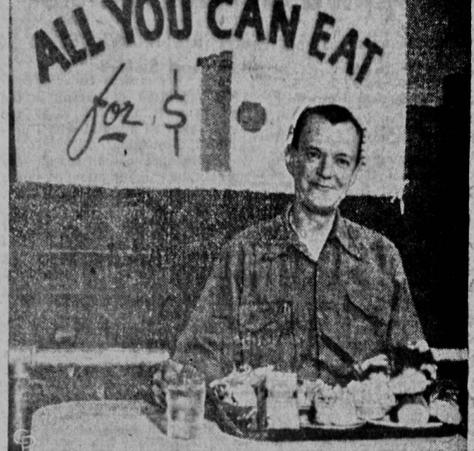

After an official greeting by Mayor William J. Holland, SUI Athletic Director Paul Brecher introduced all-American Chuck Darling and a host of SUI athletic coaches to the group.

Short talks were given by Frank "Bucky" O'Connor, basketball coach, Forest Evashevski, head football coach, and Darling.

Appreciation for hospitality extended by the university and the people of Iowa City was expressed by Lyle Quinn, secretary of the Iowa High School Athletic association.

Robert F. Ray, director of SUI's institute of public affairs, was master of ceremonies.

Mountain-Climbers Try To Save Trapped Dogs

DARRINGTON, WASH. (AP) — A mountaineer rescue party worked upward on snow-covered 7,150-foot Mt. Pugh Friday to reach three marooned hunting dogs in a dramatic gesture to aid "man's best friend."

The valuable animals, trapped on a narrow ledge 15 days ago while chasing a cougar, were still alive Thursday because hungry eagles were seen circling near them and not landing, their owner, Cleo Riddle, said.

Owner Maintains Hope

"We expect to get them down," Riddle, a logger and part-time cougar-hunter, said before he left for the peak 20 miles east of here in the western Cascades. He has been there every day but one since the animals were marooned. One animal leaped to safety several days ago.

The climbers carried several hundred feet of rope to let a man down to the ledge from above.

An Everett, Wash., private plane flew here Friday forenoon and the pilot said he would try to fly near the ledge and drop food. Down drafts and an overhanging ledge, however, were expected to thwart the attempt.

Good Climbing Weather

Friday had the best climbing weather of the search. Heavy fog and winds have been handicaps other days. So have the three feet of snow near the summit and the treacherous rocky overhang which turned back rescuers earlier this week.

Riddle, 44, has described the animals as "fine cougar hounds," of mixed Airdale and Bloodhound strains. His dogs have flushed out 25 cougars in the past few years.

Mexican Family To Occupy House Despite Threats

MOLINE, ILL. (AP) — Three native Texans of Mexican extraction have decided to move into the house they purchased despite telephone calls protesting the sale, their lawyer said Friday.

The family — D. S. Olvera, 27; his brother, Ramon, 21, and their sister, Clara, 24 — said they hope their moving "will not cause trouble."

The Olveras are among 23 families facing eviction May 1 from an area of nearby Davenport which is being cleared for industrial development. They have lived in Davenport since 1947.

Recently, they made a $550 down payment on a $3,925 dwelling in a new housing area south of Moline. A few days ago, the contractor who sold it to them offered to return their down payment because, he said, he had received several telephone calls questioning his "judgment" in the sale.

The contractor, Richard Collignon of Davenport, said the decision on whether to accept the offer or to go ahead with plans to move in was up to the Olveras. The family, saying it was "shocked," hired a lawyer to advise them.

"Our friends say the protests which have been received do not represent the true feeling of people in the area," D. S. Olvera said.

Sheriff Maurice Muhleman of Rock Island county said he had assured the Olveras "protection against any difficulty that might arise" from moving into their home.

Teachers Meeting To Be March 28-29

History and social studies teachers from Iowa high schools and colleges will gather on campus March 28-29 for their 30th annual conference.

Sponsored jointly by the extension division, history department, college of education and graduate college, the weekend meeting will feature lectures in Old Capitol and dinner and luncheon in the Iowa Memorial Union.

Historians from a number of Midwest colleges are scheduled to appear on the program. Guest speakers will include Daniel J. Boorstin, University of Chicago; Hajo Holborn, Yale university; Fred A. Shannon, University of Illinois; and Burr W. Phillips, University of Wisconsin.

Conference visitors will be invited to observe social studies classes in the University high school during their meeting.

Lattimore Accused Of 'Untruths' by Senate Subcommittee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate internal security subcommittee gave Owen Lattimore a bitter tongue lashing Friday and unanimously accused him of uttering "untruths" under oath.

Chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) read a 7-page statement bristling with bitterly worded accusations against the Johns Hopkins university professor, far eastern specialist, and one-time state department consultant.

He did so as the subcommittee wound up 12 days of sessions at which Lattimore was questioned intensively about his views and about his denials under oath that he was ever a Communist, as previous witnesses had testified.

Lattimore opened the hearings a month ago with a 50-page statement in which he attacked the subcommittee in language just as sharp as that which McCarran used Friday. He said he knew in advance that he would not receive a fair hearing.

McCarran said in reply to Lattimore that it "stands clear on the record that he has uttered untruths." He added that Lattimore "did, on many occasions, stand in contempt of the committee."

Asked whether any legal action would be taken, McCarran told reporters that was a matter for the subcommittee to take up later.

Lattimore sat silent while McCarran read the lengthy statement, which he said was endorsed by the full 7-man subcommittee.

He said he had no immediate comment.

The subcommittee has been searching for any subversive influences on U.S. policy in the Pacific, and has directed much of its inquiry at the Institute of Pacific Relations (IPR), a private research organization of which Lattimore is a trustee.

VA Gets Boost

The house cut an additional $22,718,550, but partly offset that by giving the Veterans' administration $5,795,830 more than the committee had recommended.

The bill is for the fiscal year 1953 beginning June 30, 1952.

More than half the bill's total, $3,827,828,960, is earmarked for the Veterans' administration. Even so, the VA allotment is $236,844,540 less than the President had requested.

The bill prohibits the public housing administration from starting more than 5,000 new low-cost housing units during the coming year or in any following year without specific congressional approval. The President wanted 75,000 new starts next year and the appropriations committee pared that to 25,000. The house itself trimmed the total to 5,000.

Agency Personnel Cut

Also added to the bill, by a standing vote of 157 to 108, was an amendment designed to cut personnel of most of the agencies to 90 per cent of what the appropriations committee had approved. This would be accomplished by filling only one out of every four vacancies, with some exceptions.

Sponsored by Rep. Ben Jensen (R-Ia.) and known as "The Jensen rider," the job-cutting amendment is similar to one added by the house last year to most budget bills.

Cost-Living Index Reflects Drop in Retail Food Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's cost-living index Friday showed a drop of 0.6 per cent in February, largely due to a sag in retail food prices.

It was the first price drop since last June and the biggest for any month since December, 1949.

The decline means that 1,150,000 trainmen and non-operating railroad workers, whose wages are tied to the federal index, will automatically take a one-cent hourly pay cut. Their wages fluctuate as the index goes up or down. About 40,000 aircraft workers also will get a penny an hour less.

The bureau of labor statistics said retail food prices declined 2.1 per cent.

The index was still 10.4 per cent higher than it was at the outbreak of the Korean war in June, 1950, and 2.2 per cent higher than a year ago.

As recorded on Feb. 15, the index stood at 187.9 compared with the 1935-39 yardstick which is figured as 100.

Government economists forecast that the index for March will also show a slight drop.

Sonja Henie Cancels New York Ice Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Sonja Henie Friday cancelled a scheduled two-weeks appearance here of her ice skating troupe because of a demand for a $1 million bond against audience seating bonds.

At a performance of her review in Baltimore March 7, a temporarily erected seating stand collapsed, injuring hundreds. Her attorneys said 300 suits for nearly $5 million in damages have been filed as a result.

The ice show was to open here next Wednesday night at a Bronx national guard armory.

She said she plans to continue the tour of her 200-skater troupe another six or seven weeks, at unscheduled points.

Wellman Man Fined For Drunken Driving

Carl A. Emde, Wellman, pleaded guilty in Johnson county district court Friday to a charge of drunken driving.

District court Judge James P. Gaffney levied a $300 first-offense fine.
