South Starts to Clean Up

THE SOUTH STARTED cleaning up Monday after a tornado swept across the area over the weekend killing 235 and injuring 1,100. Property damage was immense. In Henderson, Tenn., Bobby Phillips armed himself with mops, boots and work clothes to attack some of the debris caused by the storms. The Red Cross listed 21 dead in Henderson.

62 on Ballot for Campus Posts

The all-campus elections committee Monday placed 62 candidates for 26 posts on the ballot for the April 2 elections.

The only candidates yet to be included on the ballot are those for Panacea board, Women's Recreation association and married students' representatives on the student council.

They are expected to be submitted to the all-campus elections committee Wednesday.

Candidates placed on the ballot Monday included students seeking posts on the Student Board of Publications, Interfraternity council, Union board, and officers for the YMCA, University Women's association and senior class officers for the college of liberal arts.

Candidates for the Student Board of Publications were announced last week. The rest of the ballot is as follows, with the exception of those to be named Wednesday:

Fraternity members will elect three members to the interfraternity council. Candidates are:

Dale Haworth, A2, Champaign, Ill.; Bill Skaife, A3, Dubuque; Dick Gleichman, P1, Rockford, Ill.; Bob Loots, A3, Clinton; Charles Wheeler, A3, Des Moines and Bruce Gibson, A3, Lehigh.

Union board members will be chosen by the colleges of liberal arts and comerce. Commerce candidates (vote for one man and one woman):

Shirley Smith, C3, Whitten; Barbara Beller, A3, Des Moines; Reed Hartsook, A3, Des Moines, and John Hays, P1, Denison.

Liberal arts students will choose three women and three men from the following:

Virginia Haverkamp, A3, Muscatine; Jo Ellen Lane, A3, Boone; Harriet Lynch, A2, Red Oak; Jo Ann Evans, A2, Moline, Ill.; Joan Bresnahan, A2, Iowa City; Mary Joyce Allison, A3, Olathe, Kan., and Jo Beth Shoeman, A2, Atlantic.

Ted Hutchinson, A2, Algona; Bob Holzapfel, A3, Baxter; Bruce Gibson, A3, Lehigh; Dick Albrecht, A2, Hartley; Carl Zimmerman, A2, Waterloo; Joe Glasman, A2, Des Moines; Dick Surface, A1, Cedar Rapids, and Bob Ballantyne, A2, Iowa City.

YMCA members will elect officers for next year, two students running for each office.

For president: Carla Heller, A3, Appleton, Wis., and Diana Hitchings, A3, Davenport; for secretary: Beverly Colville, A3, New Sharon; and Gwen Moore, A3, Manley; for finance chairman, Sarah Adams, A2, Omaha, Neb.; and for freshman Y adviser, Adele Cockshoot, A2, Atlantic, and Jo Beth Shoeman, A2, Atlantic.

Candidates for UWA offices, tc be voted on by all women students, are as follows:

For president, Mary Ladd, A3, Iowa City and Peggee Lutz, A3, Des Moines; for secretary, Terry Jackley, A2, Des Moines, and Joan Schmidt; for treasurer, Joan Fuller, A3, Centerville, and Sally Yeates, A3, Greenfield; and for sophomore representative, Sally Sue Chastain, N1, Des Moines, and Helen Stoltz, A1, Ottumwa.

Juniors in the college of liberal arts will elect their class officers for next year. The top four vote getters will be named president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively. Candidates, all juniors in liberal arts, are as follows:

Claims Raise Would Injure Price Freeze

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles E. Wilson said Monday night there is no question but that government recommendations for settling the steel wage dispute, if put into effect, would threaten the economic stabilization program.

Wilson, the mobilization director, talked with newsmen on his return from talks with President Truman at Key West, Fla., where he said he had a plan which would avoid the steel shutdown now threatened for next month.

Wilson said he planned to arrange conferences as soon as possible with leaders of the steel industry and the CIO steelworkers union.

Interviewed at Airport

Interviewed at National airport, Wilson was asked if he thought the proposals for settling the dispute which the wage stabilization board made last week broke through the formula for wage increase.

"I won't comment on the formula," he said, "but I'll say this: There is no question in my mind but that if the wage increases contemplated under the WSB's recommendations are put into effect, it would be a serious threat in our year-old effort to stabilize the economy. Of that I am sure."

The wage board had recommended that the steelworkers be given a three-installment wage boost of 17½ cents, plus other benefits which it said would amount to the equivalent of 5 cents an hour. Average wages now are just under $2 an hour.

Steel Strike Threatens

The union, headed by Philip Murray, has accepted the recommendations of the WSB which are not binding on either party. It has said that if industry does not accept them, it will strike April 8.

Industry sources have estimated that steel prices would have to be increased by about $12 a ton to pay for the recommended wage boosts.

Wilson said he had a "whole series of plans," apparently just discussed with Truman in Key West, to meet "various eventualities" in the situation.

Keeps Plans Secret

He declined to answer direct questions as to whether he may ask Murray's CIO union to take less than the 17½ cents hourly pay boost and other benefits recommended by the WSB.

Nor would he say whether he would ask the steel industry to forego a price increase.

Wilson was asked if he thought that the WSB's wage increase recommendation could be put into effect without giving the steel industry a larger price boost than the $2 a ton increase expected under the Capehart provisions of the economic controls law.

"The answer to that has been given by the steel companies, I think," Wilson said. "They said they would have to have further increases, if I read their statement correctly."

DENIES ASKING HELP

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Baltimore liquor dealer, Hyman Klein, who said he parlayed $1,000 cash into a $5 million profit during the World War II shortage of whisky, swore Monday he never asked Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.Y.) or Henry Grunewald to intervene in his tax troubles with the government.

Kefauver Is Choice Of Local Democrats

By RON VALLINE

Sen. Estes Kefauver was the choice of Johnson county Democrats Monday night, as they voted to send 68 delegates to the state presidential convention May 28.

President Truman ran third behind Gov. Adlai Stevenson in the presidential preference poll taken at the Democratic convention in the courthouse.

The result of the delegates' secret ballot was: Kefauver, 38; Stevenson, 26; Truman, 23; Sen. Robert Kerr, 6; Supreme Court Justice William Douglas, 2; Sen. Paul Douglas, 1; Sen. Richard Russell, 1, and undecided, 2.

The convention voted to send results of the poll to Democratic state Chairman Jake More. More said earlier this week that there was little sentiment for Kefauver in Iowa.

The vote Monday night informs, but does not instruct, the 68 delegates and 19 alternates named to the state convention in Des Moines. The convention voted to double the 34 allotted delegates, giving them ½ vote each. This will enable more persons to attend the state convention.

Truman Leads Elsewhere

In other counties reporting, President Truman won four out of six straw votes in democratic conventions. However all sent uninstructed delegations to the state convention.

Heated Discussion

Reference to the atomic bomb in the resolutions report resulted in the most heated discussion of the convention.

The portion of the resolution, as presented by Atty. Edward O'Connor's committee, read:

"President Harry Truman has been pictured as a 'little man' unfortunately miscast for the 'biggest job in the world.'

"Yet such a characterization overlooks tme fact that some of the greatest and most memorable events in the world's history have happened during the Truman administration; namely, the dropping of the first atomic bomb, the Truman doctrine of resistance to communism, the Marshall plan. . . . and Truman's courageous dismissal and firing of insubordinate Gen. Douglas MacArthur."

Mention of MacArthur brought applause from the floor.

This part of the resolution was amended to substitute "successful completion of unprecedented worldwide war in Europe and Asia" for "the dropping of the first atomic bomb." However, a reference to "development of atomic energy" was added.

8 Amendments Adopted

The convention also adopted eight amendments to the resolutions. It endorsed the Truman administration foreign policy and Secretary of State Dean Acheson, federal aid to education, more effective price control, FEPC legislation, the Point Four program and outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley law.

The other two amendments supported the plan of Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) to plug

Council Issues Beer Permits; DaykinObjects

The city council Monday night renewed three beer permits of local clubs over the strong objections of Councilman Walter Daykin, who said their issuance was illegal.

Receiving the permits were the Fraternal Order of Eagles, 23½ S. Washington st.; the Moose lodge, 112½ S. Clinton st., and the American Legion post, 204 S. Gilbert st.

Daykin maintained that the council had an "understanding" that the applications for beer permit renewals must be submitted 30 days before the expiration date of the old permits.

The Legion beer permit was scheduled to expire Friday, while those of the other two were to run out April 20.

Resolution Passes, 3-1

The resolution issuing the permits was passed by a 3-1 vote, however.

A petition submitted by the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce to extend the parking meter area was placed on file by the council for further study.

The petition asked for the installation of meters on the "engineer hill" on W. Washington st., the 200 block of S. Capitol st., the 300 block of S. Clinton st., and in the half block south of Iowa ave. on Linn st.

It also asked that the College st. parking lot be permanently surfaced and meters placed in the lot.

Paving Petitions

The council also considered several petitions for paving city's streets. The petitions asked that the 900 block of E. Bloomington st., the area between Iowa and Jefferson sts. on Lucas st., and a quarter mile area on Kirkwood ave., be paved.

A petition with 32 signatures objecting to the paving of Kirkwood was also filed with the council.

The council passed a resolution calling for City Engineer Fred Gartzke to draw up plans and specifications for all the paving projects. The council will call a public hearing about April 23 to consider them.

Corporals Convert Tanks

2 Yanks in Korea Reconstruct Old Engines With Montgomery Ward Parts

TOKYO (TUESDAY) (AP) —Two corporals with the U.S. 25th division in Korea have been converting obsolete tank engines into powerful new models without plans and without factory tools.

They're using only a few gadgets they got through a Montgomery Ward catalogue.

The corporals are George H. Marker, Wenatchee, Wash., and Wayne L. Throwbride, Salem, Ore. Both are members of the 725th ordnance company, which is attached to the 25th division for repairing weapons and vehicles.

They started the work as a hobby.

Couldn't Be Done

"Everyone told them it couldn't be done," said chief warrant officer Joseph Trammell of McClean, Va., the company's tank section chief. "But they insisted they could convert the engines and went ahead to prove it."

The problem was to remove a burned-out engine from a Pershing tank — a heavy model later improved into the present Patton model — and remodel the engine to power a Sherman tank, an older and lighter model.

Marker and Throwbridge could not find any conversion plans. Furthermore, they didn't have the special tools required. So, they ordered some materials through a catalogue and forged the rest of the tools in the company's shops.

Drew Own Plans

Using the Sherman engine as a model they drew a set of plans to find out exactly what was needed. Fifteen major changes had to be made before the engine switch was possible.

Marker and Throwbridge spent 60 hours on their first engine. Then a new-powered Sherman was sent up to the line.

"The tank got nothing but praise," said Trammell. "The driver said the new engine had more power than the old one."

The corporals are now working on a mass-conversion basis and have cut the time to 30 hours for each engine.

SUI Doctors Plan to Move Into Westlawn

Resident physicians in University hospitals will be housed in the west wing of Westlawn dormitory beginning sometime this summer.

Hospital officials said the move is necessary because hospital space now occupied by the resident physicians is needed for additional clinical facilities.

Dean Myrtle E. Kitchell of the college nursing discussed the move with the student council of the nurses' dormitory Monday night.

She said that the doctor's quarters would be in the wing immediately above the present location of the Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children.

The quarters will be separated from the remainder of the building and will be served by a private entrance.

Miss Kitchell said the move is a further step in a program to consolidate the living areas of student nurses in Westlawn. Future plans call for the location of all student nurse quarters in the east wing of the building.

Hospital Alteration Approved by State

The state executive council in Des Moines Monday approved a $68,506 alterations program for Childrens hospital.

The authorization was necessary because more than half of the funds for the increase in facilities will come from bequests.

An $8,074 remodeling project for the senate and house chambers of the Old Capitol building was also approved by the council. The west windows of the two chambers will be remodeled and heating units with deflectors will be installed below the window casings.

Ex-Tax Official Finnegan Given 2-Year Sentence, $10,000 Fine

ST. LOUIS (AP) — James P. Finnegan, personal friend of President Truman, was given two years in prison and fined $10,000 Monday by a federal judge who denounced him as a public official who sold his honor for a "dirty mess of dollars."

The 51-year-old ex-internal revenue collector was tense as he stood before U.S. District Judge Rubey M. Hulen. Only a few minutes before the judge had denied him a new trial on his conviction of misconduct in office by a jury March 15.

Finnegan's face flushed as he heard Judge Hulen sentence him to two years on the first count. Then the judge gave him two years on the second count and fined him $10,000, the prison terms to run concurrently.

Finnegan posted a new $5,000 bond, pending his appeal to the U.S. circuit court of appeals. His attorneys said they would appeal the case within the alloted 10 days.

Finnegan, with time off for good behavior, can do his prison term in 19 months. All federal prisoners may apply for a parole after serving one-third of their sentence (in Finnegan's case eight months) but few are granted.

Judge Hulen, calling it a depressing case, said he could not understand why Finnegan had sacrificed his honor for "a dirty mess of dollars."

"There is not enough money in the world to pay, even in part," said the judge, "for that which he has flung away in his greed for money and power."

The burly Finnegan, a former St. Louis university football player, at one time had been a police judge here and later a prosecuting attorney.

College Student Dies After Contaminated Blood Is Injected

SEATTLE, WASH. (AP) — The University of Washington said Monday the death of an 18-year-old student of an injection of bacterially-contaminated blood "just happened to be one of those most unusual cases."

The victim, James Stanley Leedom, a freshman at Seattle university, died Sunday, after he was given the blood during an experiment connected with war research by the University of Washington.

Dr. Robert H. Williams, head of the University of Washington department of medicine, said the blood became contaminated "by some phenomenon" after it had been refrigerated.

The research project was started by the university nine months ago as part of a nation-wide effort to find preservations which would keep blood longer than the 21 days considered safe with the present use of acid citrate glucose.

Ike's Aide Lauds NATO Progress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was quoted by his top aide Monday as saying the defense of Western Europe "must come basically from within" the nations of Europe themselves.

"I am happy to report this effort is now being made in good measure," said Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, Eisenhower's chief of staff in Europe.

Gruenther testified at a closed session of the senate foreign relations committee which is holding hearings on the Truman administration's request for $7.9 billion in new foreign aid funds for the year starting July 1.

There was reported to have been no discussion of politics at the session, although Gruenther's indication of good progress in buildup of Europe's defense forces could mean that Eisenhower considers his task there to be about completed.

When reporters sought to get from Gruenther some estimate of when his boss, North Atlantic Treaty organization commander, might feel free to return to the United States, he replied:

"The boss told me several months ago I'd be of very much more value to him if I stayed out of political matters."

Eisenhower said last week he was being forced to re-examine his personal position by the results of primaries which show that many Republicans want him to be their party's presidential nominee. He had said in January he would take no part in pre-convention activities, although he would accept the nomination.

Meanwhile, Rep. John McCormack of Massachusetts, house Democratic leader, said Eisenhower "should at once relieve himself of his command and be a candidate for president, instead of being both a candidate and the supreme commander of NATO at the same time."

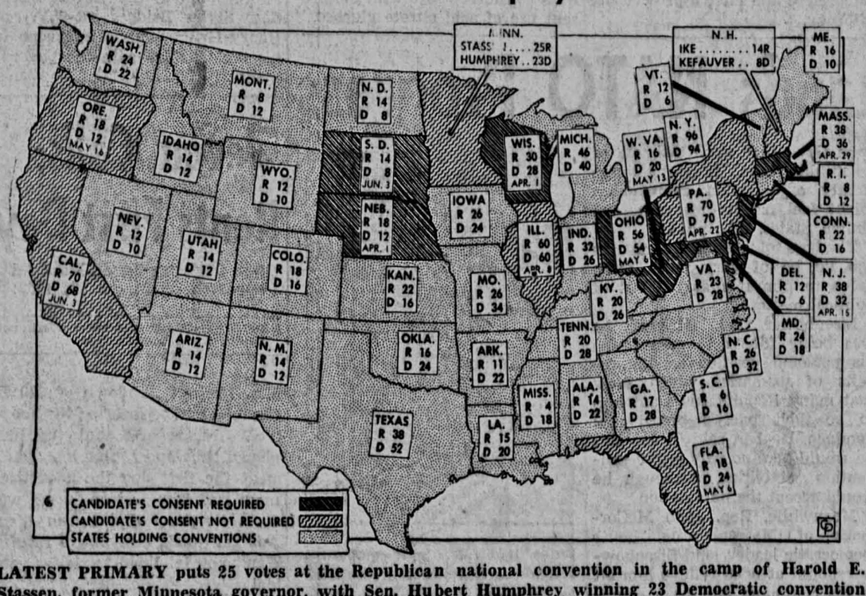
Convention Vote Buildup by Primaries



LATEST PRIMARY puts 25 votes at the Republican national convention in the camp of Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor, with Sen. Hubert Humphrey winning 23 Democratic convention votes to "hold" for President Truman. Each party will pick three more at state conventions. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower ran close behind Stassen in Minnesota write-in votes. His backers will try for the three convention delegates.

TO THE EDITOR:

In the course of recent weeks, I have followed the commentary of your "critic for everything in general," Jim Goltz, with considerable interest.

I have trailed through the muck and mire of his cynical comments on University theatre's productions, and more recently, on Panacea's "Shy Guy." To be fair, I must say that Mr. Goltz's remarks are candid and much more adequate than those of his predecessor.

However, it must also be said that his comments are utterly lacking in good taste, and a conspicuous absence of mature comprehension of what he is criticizing is evident.

In the case of the theatre's production of "The Great God Brown," Mr. Goltz' column makes it quite obvious that he, as well as the audience he so scorns, had absolutely no idea of what the play was all about.

"Shy Guy," an enterprise which ought at least to receive some praise because it is produced through no other compulsion than the incentive of the players themselves, receives contradictory comment in his hands. "IT IS WORTH SEEING TWICE," says the headline, but for the remainder of the article we are confronted with complaints about every phase of the production.

With all due respect to Mr. Goltz, might I recommend the old axiom about "constructive criticism?" Surely he will agree with me that the critic need not always "criticize" and that the wise commentator tempers adverse remarks with kinder thoughts and compliments.

W. Dean Harwood, A2
N211 Hillcrest

TO THE EDITOR:

How long are your readers going to be exasperated by your drama "critic," Jim Goltz? Upon reading his first few reviews, I was certain that the Iowan had sent its sports editor to the plays. However, on second thought, Iowan sports writers are competent.

Regarding his likening of the "Shy Guy" night club setting to the designs of Jo Mielziner: I suggest Mr. Goltz do two things. One, study the most basic ideas of scene design; and two, take a look at some of Mielziner's work. Although Bob Randolph's settings were nothing short of miraculous for a Macbride auditorium production, they were not even vaguely reminiscent of the also-talented Broadway designer's settings.

In saying that Larry Barrett's orchestra and arrangements were "above criticism," Mr. Goltz displayed his musical illiteracy. Even the most casual observer realized the bloodiest conflict in "Shy Guy" was not between characters, but between the singers and the orchestrations.

Instead of giving space to the actors and actresses who performed, Mr. Goltz gave some 70 lines of his 90-odd-line review to his very own "astute" and "cute" commentary. After wading through this egotistical conglomeration of similes, cliches and outright fraud, the weary reader finally reached an oh-so-brief three paragraphs concerning the actual performers, in which the actors of four of the major parts, INCLUDING THE TITLE ROLE, were not even mentioned.

One of a Panacea reviewer's first thoughts should be, "Is the idea of an annual all-university original musical comedy a good one? If so, can I help the organization along, without being too hypercritical?" Panacea has had a hard time at SUI from the start in 1947. Pressure from all directions has, at times, all but killed it.

However, there are still a few students on the campus who want to see Panacea become a traditional production comparable to Wisconsin's "Hare's Foot" show, and Northwestern's "Waa-Mu" production. Let us hope this handful of Panacea supporters win the fight and their successors carry on for years to come.

One man cannot carry much of the load as "author, lyricist, scene-designer and builder, poster printer, dancer, curtain-puller, director" Bob Randolph was forced to do this year, in addition to his studies and a graduate assistantship in the SUI art department.

Orchids to Mr. Randolph and all connected with the success of this year's Panacea show. But poison ivy (or some equally appropriate bit of flora) to "critic" Goltz for doing his best to kill Panacea before it has reached a really firm position in SUI tradition. Here is one reader who is unimpressed and even disgusted by immature would-be critics. Are there others?

A PRIEST WITH WINGS is Father Edward J. Duncan who attempted to make a plane tour of 24 college campuses in Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, and Missouri last weekend to speak to Newman Club chapters on the club's annual convention April 25-27 in Champagne, Ill. Father Duncan, who does his own piloting, planned to spend exactly 45 minutes with each chapter.

SUI was the priest's fifth stopping-place, and due to a typical Iowa blizzard he was grounded and had to spend the weekend here, along with student representative Bob Huspen, who stayed at the Phi Kappa house until Sunday.

GAIL McCLINTOCK, A3, Hingerlands, N.Y., one of the University theater's leading ladies, has traveled extensively throughout the theater-centers of France and England and studied drama with "Oscar"-winner Vivien Leigh's daughter at the London Academy of Dramatic Arts.

The annual festival of high school plays is now being held at the dramatic arts building. Theatrical-minded juveniles from all over the state are currently emoting all over the auditorium stage, with all performances open to the public.

SEEMS THAT AD-LIBBING reached an all-time high with Saturday night's almost full-house performance of "Shy Guy." "Anything goes on closing night" or "Frustrated scene-stealing is better than none at all," as Confucius would put it.

TO READ ONE-ACT PLAY

The Rev. Nancy Forsberg, minister to students at the Congregational church, will give a dramatic reading of "The Terrible Meek," one-act play by Charles Rann Kennedy, Thursday at 8 p.m. in the church. Background music on the organ will be provided by Mrs. Gerald W. Buxton.

Ike's Successor?— It'll Be an American

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

Indications that General Eisenhower is about to quit the job of supreme Allied commander in Europe have produced the inevitable round of speculation about his successor.

For a long time it has been understood that, so far as Eisenhower was concerned, he was grooming Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, his right hand man at SHAPE.

ROBERTS

From Washington has come considerable talk of General Ridgway, who succeeded General MacArthur as supreme Allied commander in the Far East — a job which will end soon with the implementation of the Japanese peace treaty — and as United Nations commander of Allied forces in Korea.

Then Gruenther was reported to be thinking that things had progressed to the point where a European should head SHAPE, and the groundwork of another international dispute was laid.

Tom Connally, Texas Democrat who heads the senate foreign relations committee and who formerly was a member of the U.S. delegation to the United Nations, hopped right up with a statement that an American should command in Europe.

Well, whether it should or shouldn't be that way, it likely will be.

However much one of the European countries might like to see its own man as boss, the chance that they could ever agree on anyone but an American seems very remote. In the Benelux alliance, a strictly British and European forerunner of SHAPE, they tried it and didn't get far. The French and British won't take orders from each other.

Aside from needing an American because they can't work it out among themselves, the Europeans also have a reason for actually wanting one. It means an additional insurance of continued American support.

Local Florist Suffers Damages of $12,000 In Greenhouse Fire

Aldous Flower shop was doing "business as usual" Monday following a $12,000 fire at its greenhouse, Dodge and Church sts., Sunday.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a wooden building, small shed, four vehicles, some equipment and a number of plants.

Most of the flowers intended for Easter use were saved, Mrs. Frank Lee, wife of the owner, said Monday.

Firemen answered the alarm at 6 a.m. Sunday. Fire Chief Al Dolezal said the blaze apparently started near the furnace or boilers.

The wooden building, which contained the heating plant, was nearly destroyed when firemen arrived, so they concentrated their efforts on saving the other buildings.

The ends of several greenhouses adjacent to the burned building were left exposed by the fire. Plants which were left in the open air were moved to other greenhouses.

Those plants were protected by small charcoal burning stoves during the day until heat was restored in the greenhouses later in the evening.

A number of Cedar Rapids florists assisted the Lees in moving the plants and adjusting tarpaulins over exposed areas of the greenhouses.

The destroyed vehicles included a tractor, station wagon, flat bed truck and a panel truck.

Insurance covered part of the loss.

Moscow Attempting To End Distribution Of U.S. Magazine

By EDWARD E. BOMAR

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new struggle is building up between the United States and Russia over a last-remaining chink in the Soviet Iron Curtain.

Signs are increasing that Moscow would like to end the distribution of the state department's magazine Amerika in the Soviet Union, and has started pressure to cause it to fold up.

Amerika is a richly-illustrated, slick paper monthly which undertakes to tell the Russians in their own language about the American way of life, mostly steering clear of politics. It is about the one remaining American link with the Soviet man in the street, aside from the Voice of America radio which Moscow has long been trying to silence by jamming.

Started in 1945

The Kremlin agreed in 1945 to let the magazine circulate in the Soviet Union, when W. Averell Harriman was U.S. ambassador. Indications are that the Russians have undergone a change of heart.

First, distribution of the publication, which Moscow controls, was sharply cut. Now censorship of the magazine's contents has been tightened. For the first time entire articles have been turned down as "not objective" and have had to be omitted.

Repeated requests made by the American embassy in Moscow for circulation audits have gotten nowhere. The foreign office has said the magazine is offered for sale in 70 cities but has furnished no breakdown.

$218,416 Asked

Congress has just been asked for a new $218,416 appropriation to meet the expense of publishing Amerika for the next 12 months. Copies are sold over Russian newsstands, so that it is figured that the net cost to the U.S. taxpayer will be $120,216 for the year.

Amerika is printed in New York and shipped to Russia. Each issue of 50,000 copies presumably was sold out entirely until the Soviet distribution agency Soyuzpechat two years ago unexpectedly served notice that sales had fallen off to 25,000 copies or less.

The Russians pay five rubles a copy. At the official exchange rate that is $1.25, but officials contend a more realistic measure in American currency is about 30 cents.

Currier Hall Organizes New Freshman Council

Currier hall general council has set up a new freshman council for the purpose of orienting new students into Currier life.

The organization consists of freshmen and transfer students chosen by members of the general council.

It provides an opportunity for all new students to participate in Currier activities and to gain a knowledge of the functions of the Currier association. It also acts in an advisory capacity by offering suggestions on problems concerning new students.

Each girl on the new council will be an active member of one of Currier's five boards: judiciary, activities, social, public relations, and orientation.

The president of the newly formed organization will also be allowed to sit in on the meetings of the general council. In this way, the girls will be given an opportunity to understand the working machinery of Currier government.

The council will be mainly concerned with problems faced by new students and will keep them informed on all current activities of the dormitory.

The new group will also be in charge of one or two main projects each year, this year's project being the Currier Mother's day program.

Officers of the new council are Rayne Gutz, A1, Hampton, president; Dee Fisher, A1, Ames, vice president and Jeannne Hotz, N1, Fort Dodge, secretary-treasurer.

Other members of the council are Martha Beebe, A1, Bedford Barbara Behrens, A1, Oelwein Sally Sue Chastain, N1, Des Moines; Marjorie Frank, A1, Clayton, Mo.; Shirley Highland, A3, Pasco, Wash.; Vivian Hochstetler A1, Galona; Grace Kaminkowitz, A1, New York; Peggy MacLoed N1, Greene; Harriet Miller, A1, Sioux City; Mary Schroeder, A3, LeMars, and Jeannnette Seigel, A1, Council Bluffs.

'Angel' Sleeves Decorate Blouse

A BE-RUFFLED "ANGEL" sleeve blouse is made of white shirting. For accent, Hubert de Givenchy, blouse designer, creates ruffles edged with black eyelet embroidery. A tailored skirt of honey colored cotton ottoman with a "rising" stitched belt and side pockets is ensembled with the blouse.

Religion in Life Program To Hear 13 Iowa Citians

The United Student Fellowship has assembled 13 men all residents of Iowa City for its speakers for Religion in Life week to begin Sunday.

These men, 11 of whom are members of the SUI faculty and administration and two of whom are local pastors, will speak at the Congregational church at various times during the week.

The theme of the week will be "The Nature of Belief," and on four successive evenings, March 31 through April 3, at 5:30 p.m., the following men respectively will make a profession of their faith in a series entitled "This I Believe": T. Z. Koo, professor of oriental studies; N. V. Riasanovsky, assistant professor of history; M. Willard Lampe, director of the school of religion; and President Virgil M. Hancher.

There will be two panel discussions, one at 5:30 p.m. March 30 on "What is Belief?" the other at 4 p.m. April 4 on "Why Believe Anyway?" The first will feature C. P. Berg, professor of biochemistry; the Rev. J. G. Craig, pastor of the Congregational church; and E. C. Mabie, head of the dramatic art department. Ralph H. Ojemann, professor of educational psychology will moderate.

The second will feature Marcus Bach, professor of the school of religion; the Rev. P. Hewison Pollock of the Presbyterian church, and Joseph Baker, associate professor of English. Richard E. Sweitzer, counsellor to foreign students, will moderate.

Cyrus R. Pangborn, instructor in the school of religion, will preach at vespers in the little chapel April 1 at 5 p.m. and at 8 p.m. April 3 "In the Shadow of His Cross," a pageant written by the Rev. Nancy Forsberg, minister to students, will be staged in the sanctuary.

4 Faculty Members Attend Meetings on Physical Education

Four members of the women's physical education department are attending physical education meetings in Topeka, Kan. this week.

Dr. M. Gladys Scott, Dr. Dudley Ashton, Muriel Webster, and Louise Roloff are present at the meeting of the central association for physical education of college women which ends today.

Dr. Scott will preside at a discussion of new teaching methods during today's session.

At the Monday meeting, Dr. Ashton reported on research papers from the Lake Geneva workshop, sponsored by the national association of physical education for women.

The group will also attend a meeting of the central district of the American association of health, physical education, and recreation to be held in Topeka Wednesday through Saturday.

Miss Webster will speak in the dance section Thursday morning on "Characteristics of Various Types of European Dance." Thursday afternoon, Miss Webster will address the women's physical education section on "Modern Trends in Physical Education in Britain."

Advertising Award Open to SUI Students

Senior and graduate students in advertising may apply for the $750 Fairall scholarship, awarded annually to an outstanding student in the field by Fairall and Company advertising agency.

The student must be a native and resident of Iowa and have been enrolled at SUI not less than two semesters prior to receiving the award.

He or she must have maintained a high scholastic level and have shown skill in advertising work. A sample of the student's work must be prepared and submitted with the application.

Application forms may be obtained from Prof. Ellis H. Newsome, N-106 East hall. The deadline for applications is 5 p.m., April 21.

A committee of commerce and journalism faculty will select the candidate.

32 Liberal Arts Students Earn All 'A's for Term

A total of 32 students in the college of liberal arts made straight "A" averages in their last semester's academic work.

Dean Dewey B. Stuit, college of liberal arts, has sent congratulatory letters to these students in which he said their achievement showed "evidence of ability, application, and devotion to duty."

"This achievement is now, and will continue to be, a source of genuine satisfaction to you, your parents and friends, and will serve as a solid foundation for future achievement," Stuit wrote.

Last semester's liberal arts enrollment was approximately 3,500. This places the 32 honor students in the upper one per cent of the liberal arts student body.

Straight "A" students include: Jo Ann Johnson, A4, Ackley; David Owen Rife, A1, Anamosa; Adele B. Cockshoot, A2, Atlantic; Bonnie Lee Beekman, A3, Atlantic; Wayne Allen Danielson, A4, Burlington.

Scholarship Aspirants From Iowa Schools

About 170 Iowa high school seniors will participate in a SUI sponsored competitive examination April 2 to determine freshman merit scholarship winners for the 1952-53 school year.

Students have been nominated by their high school principals, each school being allowed one nominee for every 100 students in its graduating class.

At least 87 scholarships will be given which pay the total fees for the freshman year at SUI. The test will be administered by SUI faculty members in 11 cities throughout the state.

Scholarship winners will be selected on the basis of test scores and their high school academic and activity records.

2 Groups to Meet At Wesley House Today

Two discussion groups are scheduled to meet at Wesley house today.

At 12:20 p.m., the Christianity and Current Affairs Luncheon club will consider the problem of "Security, Secrecy and the Advancement of Science."

At 9 p.m., a general meeting of members of the Wesley foundation will discuss "New Light on Old Themes," a review of the basic beliefs of the Christian faith.

The Rev. Robert Sanks, student director, will moderate both discussions.

At 8 p.m. this Saturday there will be an "After St. Pat's Day" party for all members at Wesley house.

Be Happy-GO LUCKY!

I play my trumpet here in school;
My roommates raise a howl—
But when I give them Lucky Strike,
They smile instead of scowl!

Gerald Osheroff

In a cigarette, taste makes the difference—and Luckies taste better!

The difference between "just smoking" and really enjoying your smoke is the taste of a cigarette. You can taste the difference in the smoother, mellower, more enjoyable taste of a Lucky . . . for two important reasons. First, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco . . . fine, mild tobacco that tastes better. Second, Luckies are made to taste better . . . proved best-made of all five principal brands. So reach for a Lucky. Enjoy the cigarette that tastes better! Be Happy—Go Lucky! Buy a carton today!

If smoking seems to get you down,
Try switching from your brand
To better-tasting Lucky Strike,
The finest in the land!

TOURNEY NOTES

Calm has once again descended on Iowa City.

The satin jackets are gone, along with the Civil war caps, traffic jams, and those money-spending mobs.

The reason they were here is the state tournament, and they and the teams they came to watch left several impressions — most good, but some bad.

The most surprising teams in the tournament were Dinsdale and Keokuk. Dinsdale, coming out of the northeast to represent a student body of 46, finished a strong third in the tournament. While everyone was watching Roland and Davenport as the probable finalists, Jim Snow, Curt Hoeppner, Dick Fleming and their mates sent chills up Davenport's spine before losing, 54-47, in a semi-final game. Then they beat Roland's Rockets in the consolation.

Keokuk came into the spotlight as it beat Roland going away in the semis and then pushed mighty Davenport around in the final game until Bill Logan fouled out and the Blue Devils came on to win by three points.

The 'Boo Devils'?

Davenport's Blue Devils might also be called the Boo Devils after the exhibition Saturday night. Usually the favorite when it gets to the state tournament because of being so strong and the largest school in the state, the school is also the most unpopular for the same reasons.

As the booing increased during the game, center Carl Widseth finally lost his composure long enough to fail to raise his hand when called for a foul and to talk back to the referee, and received a technical foul for his efforts. The wise guys in the stands immediately took up cries of "Snarling Carl" and "Mad-dog Widseth" but he still scored 23 points.

Officials Also Booed

The riding of the Blue Devils went hand-in-hand with the beating the officials took. Most agreed that the game was poorly refereed, as was the whole tournament. Particularly in question were the third, fourth and fifth fouls called on Logan, and several Keokuk players also questioned their validity.

The deportment of the Davenport team in general was one of the highlights of the tourney. Such booing and sniping is too much to subject a high school player to, and the Imps came through fine except in one or two instances.

The saddest part of the whole affair is the case of the three misguided Keokuk reserves who chose the night before the final game to quit the team. Jack McIntyre, Jim Breakbill and Dick Bragg were the three top replacements, and might have filled the gap left by Logan when he was waved out of the game.

Of course, the boys will probably be forgiven even though they haven't apologized, because of what continued condemnation could do to their lives. But I think they'll probably find life a little tedious in Keokuk for a while — basketball fans love to win, and the state title is no exception to the rule.

Not Enviable Spot

The man we felt sorriest for, besides Keokuk coach Don Shupe, was Stan Davis, the Glenwood guard who had a chance to put his team into an overtime against Dinsdale in the quarterfinals. The time had run out and the Red Devils led by two points, but Davis had two free throws coming.

The pressure was just too heavy for most mortals, and Stan missed the first shot to give Dinsdale the game. Then, as an anticlimax, he carelessly tossed the second one up and it went through without touching the rim.

The most symbolic event of the games was the fact that Roland's popular coach, Buck Cheadle, discarded his good luck shirt after the team lost to Keokuk. The red shirt, which was worn in last year's tourney, was all that most fans had seen on the upper regions of Buck. Then, as the coach sat on the bench nattily dressed in sweater and sport coat, the Rockets lost their second game in the consolation.

Would Chiefs Have Won?

The question of whether or not Davenport would have won the game if Logan had stayed in the game is being widely discussed. Personally, I don't think the Imps would have. The fact that the Chiefs were beating the kings while he was in there and the apparent fact that Logan had what it took to handle Widseth are the bases for the argument.

At any rate, I don't think the Blue Devils will win next year after losing Widseth, Carpenter, Hatfield, Robbins and Coughlin from the first six, and such reserves as LeBuhn, Jones, Trissell and Knaack.

And I definitely believe that the Blue Devils would win much less if the Iowa High School Athletic association would wake up and let the strongest teams reach the state tournament.

Logan Chosen Tourney's No. 1 Player

Joins Widseth, Thompson on Iowan's Team

Center Bill Logan of Keokuk was unanimously chosen Tuesday as the outstanding player in the state tournament by a poll of The Daily Iowan sports staff, and joined five others on a mythical all-tournament team.

Unanimous choices on the team were Logan, Carl Widseth of Davenport and Gary Thompson of Roland. Rounding out the "dream team" were Frank Sebolt of Davenport, Curt Hoeppner of Dinsdale and Hugh Leffingwell of Marion. Champion Davenport thus led in the balloting with two men on first team and two on honorable mention.

The team shows good balance, with all six excellent shooters and each a good defensive man. The average height per man is over 6-2 despite the presence of Thompson, who measures only 5-8½. Logan, Widseth and Thompson are all repeaters from the Iowan's tournament team of last year.

Logan Smashes Records

In the balloting for the outstanding player, Logan's name was the only one mentioned by the six writers despite the large number of individual stars in the tourney.

Bill Logan
Points Bring Honors

Bill, the tallest player in the meet at 6-5, broke all scoring records except the single game mark.

The Keokuk star established new tournament records for one-year, two-year and three-year participation. His single season total of 104 broke his own mark established last year; the 195 two-year figure tops that of 169 set by Ray Fontana of Ankeny, and the same total beats the three-year mark of 175 by Marcellus McMichael of Roosevelt Des Moines.

Logan didn't have a bad night in this year's meeting. Against Hull on opening night he got 32 points, just four shy of the one-game record set by Fontana in 1950. Thursday in the quarterfinals he stopped Marion with 26 markers, and outdid Roland in the semifinals with 30 points.

Scores Well Against Kings

In the final game against Davenport, big Bill got 16 points although he sat out eight minutes of the game. And equally important was his guarding of Widseth, who scored only 11 points while Logan was in the game.

Widseth has been the star performer fore the Blue Devils in their last two tournament wins, relied upon mainly for his scoring punch and rebounding. He also has the edge over most centers in the fact that he is a good floor man and can bring the ball down the court when necessary.

Standing 6-4, Widseth's best shots are tip-ins and hooks. He scored 30 points against Ames, 23 against both Dinsdale and Keokuk and 15 against Danville's ball-control style.

Thompson Improved

Thompson, the only man under six feet on the team, showed much improvement over his play of last year which earned him second-team all-state honors. He displayed a greater variety of shots and rebounded with the six-footers after growing 2½ inches since the last tourney.

Gary Thompson
A Junior Repeats

Gary was probably the best man, inch for inch, in the competition. His floor play was outstanding, and observers said that his main fault was that he didn't shoot enough. Nevertheless, he averaged 14.5 points a game in the finals and ranked third for high scoring.

Sebolt was the No. 2 man of Davenport's one-two punch this season. A well-built 6-3 forward, "Ott" has been outstanding as a rebounder and ball handler, as well as taking runnerup honors to Widseth in the scoring department.

All-Round Athlete

Frank is an all-round athlete and is busy in school activities. He is a star 220 and 440 man in track and is president of the Davenport high student council. Sebolt is only a junior and will be No. 1 man for the Imps next season.

Leffingwell is one of the outstanding shooters in state tournament history, even though he did not get much of a chance to prove it this year as his team lost in the second round. He was the state's top scorer during the season and was the backbone of the Marion squad that came to the finals with a 32-1 record.

Dinsdale's Hoeppner was outstanding in his team's amazing third-place play. He finished fourth in tournament scoring with 56 points in four games, and furnished his team with a large part of its rebounds. The voters remarked that his selection was mainly as a result of his team play in addition to his individual accomplishments.

Strong Seconds, Too

The second team includes such stars as Jim Snow, Hoeppner's running mate at Dinsdale; Rattie Williams, the flashy Keokuk guard who scores well; Bob Carpenter, Spencer center who got 32 points in a first-round game; Wayne Wagner, Danville's scoring ace who staged a one-man attack against Davenport; Dave Peterson, stellar Roland forward, and Stan Davis, Glenwood guard who missed a free throw after time had run out that would have put his team into an overtime against Dinsdale.

CARL WIDSETH SHINES UP the newest addition to Davenport high's collection of trophies, the 1952 state championship cup. Widseth has played on three title teams, the only player in history to do so.

BULLETIN

ROLAND (AP) — A. M. (Buck) Cheadle, 33, Roland high school coach, Monday announced his resignation effective at the end of the school year.

Cheadle's teams have gone to the state championship tournament for the past two years, finishing second in 1951 and fourth this year.

During his three years with Roland, Cheadle has compiled a record of 95 wins and six defeats in basketball. His baseball teams have won 54 games and lost 9 and his girls' basketball teams have won 50 games and lost 14.

Cheadle did not announce his plans for the future.

Indiana Prep Star Threatened

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A bribe attempt and threat against a 17-year-old star of the Indiana high school basketball tournament were reported by police Monday.

Police Inspector Howard Sanders disclosed that plainclothesman were assigned to watch over Joe Sexson of Indianapolis Technical high school during the semifinal tournament games March 15 and the finals last Saturday.

SEXSON

Sanders said a younger brother of Sexson related that one caller told of losing $15,000, because of Joe's playing and warned: "Your brother is going to foul out this Saturday, if you know what I mean. And if he doesn't he's liable to get a broken leg."

Joe received a call a short time later from a man who asked him "how much it would take" to get him to throw a semifinal game to be played against Shelbyville March 15. Sexson notified authorities.

Joe scored 27 points in the Shelbyville game, leading Tech to a 60-33 victory. In the final game Saturday, he was the leading scorer for Tech with 26 points as Muncie Central won the title, 68-49. He won the tournament sportsmanship award.

Iowa Swimmers Beat Cyclones in State AAU

By LEE CANNING

Iowa continued its domination of the state AAU swimming meet Saturday by outpointing the only other team entry, Iowa State, 78-44.

Hawkeye co-captain Bowen Stassforth set a new American 220-yard breaststroke record in the feature race. Stassforth was timed in 2:38.8 for the 220, almost three seconds better than the mark of 2:41 set by Princeton's Bob Brawner in 1951.

The Iowa co-captain missed in his try for a new record for the 200-meter breaststroke.

6 Meet Records Clipped

New meet records were set in six events. Iowa broke meet marks in the medley relay, free style relay, 440-yard freestyle relay, 100-yard freestyle and the breaststroke. State's Bob Brown got the other record in the 50-yard freestyle.

The Hawkeyes took eight first places and missed a clean sweep when State's Brown won the 50 and Bill Anderson won the backstroke.

Iowa showed its greatest strength in the 440-yard free style. Buddy Lucas placed first with teammates Don Watson in second and Lee Hoeft in third.

Accepted for Olympics

Lucas' time of 5:02.3 was good for a record. The Hawkeye freshman from New Zealand was supposed to try for a spot on his country's Olympic team in Saturday's meet but New Zealand officials already had accepted his time from the Big Ten meet. Lucas covered the distance in 4:47.5 in the conference meet.

Dick Labhn, Iowa senior, was the meet's only double winner. He edged Brown for first in the 100-yard free style and also won the 220-yard freestyle. His time of 53.5 in the 100 yas a meet record.

Ron Johnson in the individual medley and diver Otto Breeder scored Iowa's other firsts.

Iowa Citians, Hawks Place in Invitational

Ken Peters, City high freshman took individual honors for the 17-year-old and under class at the Invitational AAU swimming meet in Kansas City Saturday.

Peterson won the 220 and 100-yard freestyle to gain an early lead over his rivals. He insured his victory with seconds in the 50-yard backstroke and 50-yard freestyle.

Hal Braley, another Iowa City boy, placed fourth in the 50 and 220-yard freestyle and third in the 100-yard freestyle in the same division.

Denny Roberson, an SUI freshman, was second in the 150-yard individual medley in the men's division. Roberson was fourth in the 220-yard freestyle.

Paul Hutinger, four time letter winner at Iowa and now a graduate student, rounded out the group of finishers from Iowa City. Hutinger was second in the 50, 100 and 220-yard freestyle. He also grabbed third in the 440-yard freestyle.

Iowa Riflemen Fire 6th in Regionals

The Iowa rifle team fired sixth in the Madison, Wis. region of the National intercollegiate rifle tournament Saturday.

Top team honors went to Minnesota with 1,400 out of 1,500, while Illinois placed second with 1,399.

Iowa's teams score was 1,380, with Bob Best firing 282; Jim McLaughlin 279; Bob Doctor 275; Don Green 274, and Stan James 270.

Snead Forfeits Chance At Playoff on Ruling About Debated Stroke

JACKSONVILLE, FLA. (AP) — Doug Ford and Sam Snead tied for the Jacksonville Open golf title Monday; then two hours later Snead forfeited his chance at the top $2,000 because of an out of bounds ruling in his favor.

After the 28-year-old Ford and the veteran Snead played to the wire in a tense finish at 280 each for the 72 holes, it was announced they would play off today. The winner would get the top $2,000 and the loser second money of $1,400.

Frank Caywood, PGA tournament supervisor, said Snead's forfeit makes Ford the champion of the Jacksonville Open. It is the biggest title yet for the young Harrison, N.Y. golfer who turned professional only two years ago.

The out of bound ruling which benefited Snead came Saturday in the second round. His second shot on the long dog-leg 10th hole was behind out of bounds stakes.

However, after checking, Caywood had said the ball was in bounds on a technicality.

"I want to be fair about it," Snead said in announcing his forfeit. "I don't want anybody to think I am taking advantage of the ruling."

Memorial Fund Established To Honor Beth Lucy Wellman

A memorial fund has been established in honor of Beth Lucy Wellman, professor of child psychology in the Iowa Child Welfare Research station. She died Saturday morning in Iowa City.

The fund will be used to purchase and maintain current literature and research tools in the field of measurement and prediction of intelligence. It will be available to all persons studying at the research station, Boyd R. McCandless, director, said Monday.

Miss Wellman's family has asked that contributions be made to the fund in lieu of flowers for her funeral, which will be held at 10 a.m. today at the Hohenschuh mortuary.

Such contributions may be sent directly to the research station or to Provost Harvey H. Davis.

Miss Wellman was born June 10, 1895, in Clarion, the daughter of Alonzo and Hannah Esta Wellman. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Hannah Wellman, of Iowa City and two sisters: Dr. Rowena E. Wellman, Greensboro, N.C., and Mrs. M. J. Johnston, Waterloo.

Miss Wellman was guardian of and raised in her home the three children of the late Dr. Bird T. Baldwin, the first director of the Child Welfare Research station, following his death.

They are Jervas Baldwin, Des Moines; Mrs. Patricia Brookschmidt, La Grange, Ill., and Alan Baldwin, Washington, D.C.

After graduation from Ames high school in 1912, Miss Wellman attended SUI, where she received a B.A. degree in 1920 and a Ph.D. degree in 1925.

She served as secretary to the director of the Iowa Child Welfare Research station on the SUI campus in 1920, and was a research assistant from 1921 to 1924.

She was a research associate in Lincoln school, Columbia university, from 1924 to 1925.

Miss Wellman returned to the

research station here in 1925 where she was a research assistant professor of child psychology until 1929. In 1929, she became an associate professor and in 1937 was appointed full professor.

Miss Wellman wrote "Child Psychology" in 1934 and "Manual of Child Psychology" in 1938, both in collaboration with Dr. George D. Stoddard, formerly director of the station and now president of the University of Illinois.

McCandless says of Miss Wellman: "She was a tower of strength to us all and a source of support and inspiration in the movement for welfare of children. She believed in the cause of doing good research and this was a basis for solid knowledge for the betterment of mankind.

To this President Virgil M. Hancher added, "Miss Wellman was a very able, devoted member of the faculty her whole life. She had done some very significant research in the measurement of intelligence in children. I feel that I've lost a personal friend as well as a faculty colleague."

Prof. Manry To Speak On Pakistan's History

Dr. James C. Manry, an SUI alumnus, will speak on "The Birth of Pakistan" in the senate chamber of Old Capitol Wednesday at 4 p.m.

Manry received his Ph. D. in philosophy here and for a time, some 20 years ago, was a member of the faculty. For the most part since 1915, however, he has taught in various colleges in India and Pakistan. He is at present on leave from Forman Christian college, Lahore, Pakistan.

In addition to his address in the senate chamber, Manry will speak before the Kiwanis club Tuesday noon at the Jefferson hotel on "What Hope in Kashmir?"

On Thursday, from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. he will join the Rev. and Mrs. Henry W. Lampe in a discussion on Christian missions in the Orient at the Presbyterian church.

During his stay in Iowa City Manry will be the guest of the Rev. and Mrs. P. Hewison Pollock.

Services Held for Mrs. Louis Carter

Mrs. Louise Carter, 77, who was associated with SUI from April, 1928, to December, 1947, at Eastlawn, Currier hall and the Quadrangle, died Friday in Wilmette, Ill.

Mrs. Carter was born September 1, 1875, and during her youth lived in Dubuque. Her husband, Samuel P. Carter, preceded her in death.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon in Wilmette.

SUI Poetess Wins 3d

A poem by Sarah Adams, A2, Omaha, Neb., won third prize in the college division of the annual Iowa Poetry association contest. Other college winners were Carol Pitts, Grinnell college, Grinnell first, and Ervin Krause, Iowa State college, Ames, second.

Employer's Rights Viewed by Daykin

"Effects of the Taft-Hartley act on the Employer's Right to Discharge" is the title of a new booklet published this week by the SUI bureau of labor and management.

Walter L. Daykin, university labor economist and author of the publication, says that in general the act "has failed to make any substantial changes in the employer's right to discharge for just cause.

"The law still protects jobs by giving the worker a sort of property right in his job," according to Daykin, a veteran arbitrator and chairman of the advisory board to the Iowa Employment commission.

Copies of Daykin's booklet are being distributed throughout the state to Iowa labor, management, educational, and public groups. Single copies are available upon request to the SUI bureau of labor and management.

Sheriff Finds Items Missing from Old House

Two pistols and other items reportedly stolen from an empty house at Cou Falls were found by Johnson county sheriff Pat Murphy during an investigation Sunday.

This brings the number of pistols recovered to four, including: Remington cap and ball pistol made in 1858, an old .31 caliber Colt cap and ball pistol, and two tiny pistols.

The furnished house, vacant for many years, now belongs to Mrs. Jennie Lenicek, Fairfax.

Murphy began his investigation last week after old coins were found in circulation in Shueyville and Swisher. He attributed the theft to boys living in the vicinity.

Coins recovered in the two towns include a five-dollar gold piece, reputedly worth $18 now, an 1842 penny, and an 1865 three-cent piece.

Damage Suit Asks $208 In District Court Action

An auto accident damage suit asking for $208 was filed in Johnson county district court Monday by Geneva Steckelberg against Kenneth L. Karnes.

The judgment is being asked to settle for damages to her auto in a collision at the intersection of Dubuque st. and Iowa ave. Oct. 30, 1951.

Damages to the auto allegedly amount to $158, while the remaining $50 is asked for loss of use of the vehicle for 10 days.

6 Students from Near East Will Appear on TV Sunday

Thousands of Iowans will have an opportunity Sunday to find out just how "near" America the Near East is in matters of custom and tradition.

SUI students from six Near-Eastern countries will be the source of information when they appear on the University hour at 1 p.m. over WOC-TV, Davenport, in the third of the university's International series of television programs.

Countries to be represented at the "conference table" will include Jordan, Iran, Syria, Egypt, Turkey and Palestine. There will be two Egyptian students and one from each of the other five countries, as well as an Iowa student to present the American point of view.

Prof. John R. Winnie of the department of speech and dramatic arts, producer-director of the series, says the participants will not wrestle with the major problems which have turned the Near-East into a "powder keg" in the last year and a half.

Considerable emphasis, however, will be placed on discussing where the foreign student gets his information about and impressions of this country before he comes here. Some time will also be spent discussing the impression left by American travelers in foreign countries.

This will be the second program of the International series designed to consider problems of a specific geographic area of the world. The March 16 program included participants from the Far East, while succeeding programs will concentrate on the European area and Latin America.

Donald P. Schrader, journalism instructor, is assisting Winnie and moderating the entire series. Students in classes in cinematography and television at the university are responsible for preparing, writing, designing and rehearsing the shows.

Applications for Advanced ROTC Due April 10, 15

Applications and reports of physical examinations for entrance into advanced army ROTC for September, 1952, must be in by April 15.

Deadline for applications into the air force advanced course has been set for April 10.

Requirements for acceptance into the advanced courses are completion of the two-year basic ROTC course, or at least one year of active duty in one branch of the United States armed services.

The applications will be considered by a board consisting of ROTC cadets and members of the faculty. Students accepted will be notified by the military department in time for registration next year.

13 Escape Serious Injuries

12 PASSENGERS AND THE DRIVER of this River Trails Transit lines bus escaped serious injury and death Monday morning near Dubuque. The left front tire blew out sending the bus down a 50 foot embankment where it hit a boulder and rolled over. All but two of the passengers were released from a Dubuque hospital after being treated for minor cuts and bruises.

24th Iowa Play Festival To Be Held This Week

Seventy-five members of nine Iowa community drama groups will participate in the 24th annual Iowa Play Production festival at SUI Friday and Saturday.

The community players sessions will be the first of three parts of the community and high school play production festival and high school forensic contests to be held on the campus March 28-April 5.

The festival is sponsored jointly by the extension division, the department of speech and dramatic art and the Iowa Federation of Women's Clubs drama committee.

Prof. Edward C. Mabie, director of the University theatre and festival chairman, says the festival is held annually "to develop a widespread interest in the theatre by encouraging the organization of amateur players in communities and schools."

High school students will have their play production festival March 31-April 5. The high school forensic league contests will be held April 3-5. All play sessions will be in the University theatre, most forensics sessions in the senate and house chambers of Old Capitol.

Community players performing Friday will be the Marcia Federated club, Williamsburg; Little Theatre group of women's club, Fairfield; women's club, Iowa City; Drama department of women's club, Fairfield; Community Theatre Starlighters, Monticello; Effective Speaking class of women's club, Sioux City.

Saturday performances will be by the women's club, Mechanicsville; women's club, Waverly; Prince-Men of Friendly House, Davenport; community theatre, Sioux City, and the First Presbyterian church, Mechanicsville.

Annual Design Show Of Art Department To Open Wednesday

The SUI art department's annual design show will open Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the main gallery of the art building, bringing a display of "new forms in the 20th century" to the public.

The display will be divided into four main sections. First will be an exhibit of modern hand-screened fabrics, showing step by step, from the first idea to the finished product, how the process is developed and executed.

The second division will be the graphic designs section, with the graphic and advertising design students showing examples of lettering, posters, and experiments in visual communication.

The industrial design section will present contemporary furniture and many objects for the home and everyday use, while the architecture division will be a display of model homes, complete to scale, and designs of restaurants, homes, and buildings "to suit 20th century man."

The public is invited to attend the display. A student or instructor will be available to answer questions. The main objective of the display is to point out how the spirit of art can be extended to all forms of everyday living.

'Minute Man' Awards Applications Available

Applications for the Minute Man award are now being accepted by the military department.

Deadline for the applications has not been set but is expected to be shortly after Easter.

Winners of the awards will be announced around May 1 and the awards will be presented on May 17 during President's day.

Given by SAR

The awards are given each year by a national society, Sons of the American Revolution, and the medals which the cadets will receive are donated by Col. J. B. Ladd, United States army reserves.

A primary purpose of the society and presentation of the awards is to promote patriotism within the ranks of future army and air force officers.

The qualities on which judgments concerning the students are made, are the so-called "ten commandments of good citizenship." These are dependability, cooperation, leadership, patriotism, discipline, courtesy to the U.S. flag, defense of the constitution, inspiration, duty, and hope.

Must Take 2 Tests

The men who are to receive the awards are selected by this department on the basis of their performance in two tests, one written and one oral.

To pass the tests the men must be able to recite the regulations governing the hand salute and the position of the soldier at attention, general orders for a sentinel on post, the American's creed, and the preamble to the Constitution.

He must also have a knowledge of the Bill of Rights.

A maximum of 42 medals, one for each platoon in the army and each flight in the air force, can be given.

Only 2 Cases Left on Feb. Court Docket

Judge James P. Gaffney said Monday that settlements of two civil cases complete the jury trials scheduled for the February term of the Johnson county district court.

The May term opens here May 7 and the jury is not to be called for duty again before that date.

Judge Gaffney added that 13 non-jury and equity cases are still to be heard before him.

Judge Harold D. Evans will take over to complete the February term on April 7 when Judge Gaffney goes to Marengo to begin a new term in the Iowa county court.

Daily Iowan Salesman of the Week

Bill Daniel, A4, Fort Madison, received a merchandise award and recognition as Daily Iowan Salesman of the Week at the regular meeting of the Advertising Sales and Promotion class Monday afternoon. The presentation was made by Ellis Newsome, Advertising Advisor of the Iowan.

The Daily Iowan has introduced a program of recognition for those individuals that make the publication of a newspaper possible, the advertising salesmen. Without advertising no newspaper could long remain in business. Unless advertisers get results from their advertising they will soon stop advertising. Support your newpaper, The Daily Iowan, by patronizing those merchants using the Iowan advertising columns.
