The Weather

Fair and warmer today and Sunday. High today, in the 60's, low, 34. High Friday, 56, low, 25.

'Safe' Not So Safe

THE CREAM PITCHER held by Gene Schwade is not being used as a 'safe' by Mrs. John Schwade, Nora Springs, anymore. Gene and his twin brother Gerald removed $250 their mother had stored in the pitcher and distributed the money among their classmates. The money, intended for payment of taxes, was all recovered.

Labor Groups Support Truman's Aid Program

WASHINGTON (AP) - Labor organizations lent their support to President Truman's $7.9 billion foreign aid program Friday, while farm organizations split on it.

The spokesmen appeared before the senate foreign relations committee, which is hearing the end of its hearings on the program for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Several urged more emphasis on economic, rather than strictly military help, to foreign nations.

The Congress of Industrial Organizations, the American Federation of Labor and the National Farmers union all favored continuation of foreign aid on a large scale while the threat of Communism hangs over the world.

The National Grange supported the program generally while suggesting that cuts might be possible in the strictly military aspects of it.

A 25 per cent slash in the program was advocated by the American Farm Bureau federation, largest of the agricultural organizations.

All groups agreed, however, that more economic help and point four technical assistance would raise the standards of living abroad and increase industrial and farm production as a barrier to communism.

Allan B. Kline, president of the Farm Bureau federation, called for reductions running up to $1.9 billion in the bill.

SOLDIER VOTE

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress should act promptly to remove some of the 'many barriers' in the way of voting in this year's elections by about 2 1/2 million servicemen and women, President Truman said Friday.

Stage Set for All-Campus Elections

Campus elections take the spotlight at SUI next week, when 75 candidates will seek major student posts Wednesday for the 1952-53 year.

The elections are as complicated and carefully handled as any regular election.

Students will be running for positions on:

- 1. Student Board of Publications, which is associated with the activities of campus publications. Five students are seeking two-year terms and four, one-year terms.
2. Student council, which group is most representative of the student body. Under a recent reorganization plan, there will be 28 members from the major campus groups, but no delegates-at-large. Four students are running for three posts as representatives of married students and six for three posts as delegates of the interfraternity council.

The other 22 delegates will not be chosen in the all-campus elections. Instead, the other groups are conducting and have conducted their own elections.

3. Panacea committee, which directs activities of the annual musical production. There are four candidates for two one-year positions.

4. Union board, which plans student events of the Iowa Memorial Union. Liberal arts students will choose three women and three men. Commerce students will elect one woman and one man.

5. University Women's association, an organization for under-

West Germany To Join Big 3 In Peace Pact

BONN, Germany (AP) - Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said Friday the western Big Three foreign ministers will sign here in the latter half of May a peace contract giving West Germany almost complete autonomy and permitting her to rearm for western defense.

Adenauer made the announcement at a meeting of his Christian Democratic party at the University of Bonn.

The chancellor said U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman will come to the West German capital to sign the contract on which their governments have been working since last September.

Great Day for Germany "This will be a great day for Germany," Adenauer said.

The peace contract will end nearly all occupation controls, but will permit the three powers to keep troops in West Germany. It will allow the Germans to rearm troops for incorporation into the proposed six-nation European army, which is to be attached to the Atlantic Alliance's European Command.

Adenauer said the European army treaty, merging the forces of West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg, would be signed after the peace contract goes into effect.

Binds Germany and West These agreements will bind Germany politically and militarily to the West at a time when the Soviet Union is bidding to neutralize this key state.

Russia has proposed a Big Four conference aimed at signing a peace treaty with a unified German government. Under the Soviet plan, the peace treaty would permit Germany to arm defensive forces, but would prohibit her from an association with the Atlantic pact or the European army.

Weekend Forecast Predicts Continuing Mild Temperatures

More of the same is the weather picture for Iowa City this weekend.

The forecast calls for warmer readings today and mostly fair and mild Sunday. Highs will be in the 60's and the thermometer is not expected to dip lower than 34.

The very springlike day Friday gave Iowa City a high of 56 and a low of 25. Temperatures ranged from the lower 40's along the Minnesota border to the upper 50's along the Missouri border.

Doctor Gets Grant To Study Arthritis

Charles J. Imig, research assistant in the department of physiology, has been awarded a national research fellowship granted annually by the arthritis and rheumatism foundation.

He is one of 14 young doctors and scientists selected by the foundation to participate in a research program concerned with finding the cause and cure of arthritis.

The fellowships, totaling $64,500 will go into effect July 1. Imig's work will be supervised by Prof. Harry M. Hines of the SUI college of medicine.

New Contract Talks Scheduled Between Steel Firms, Unions Russian Bomber Threat Told

WASHINGTON (AP) - Russia's expanding force of long-range atom bombers is "the most ominous threat this country has ever known," U.S. air force leaders told congress in testimony made public Friday night.

They also said Soviet jet plane production has been four times greater than that of the United States.

Air Secretary Thomas Finletter, Chief of Staff Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg and other USAF leaders presented this grim picture to a house appropriations subcommittee. They were seeking to justify the budget request for $20 billion for the air force in the next fiscal year. Some legislators have threatened to cut the figure.

Although the officials conceded Russia had a long lead numerically, especially in jet fighters, they insisted the quality of American planes is better.

Here are some of the things the committee was told:

1. If the Russian program continues as predicted, within three years most of the Soviet air force will be jet powered and their total number of long-range aircraft capable of carrying atomic bombs will begin to approach ours."

2. The United States is only even, not ahead of Russia in jet engines.

3. In Korea "we have an object lesson which should teach us not to be too complacent about the quality of our machines, and that is the excellent quality of the MIG-15," the Soviet-made fighter battling U.S. F-86 Sabres.

4. Deliveries of U.S. war planes are about 15 per cent behind the schedules set last year. The schedules have since been revised downward.

5. The U.S. goal of 126 wings of modern combat planes won't be attained until December, 1955, under the new "stretch-out" program. The original goal was 1953.

6. The combination piston-jet engine B-36 heavy bomber "alone has the capability to deliver atomic bombs on Russian targets." More will be bought with the funds asked for the next fiscal year.

7. The plan is to use aerial refueling for the new all-jet B-52 heavy bomber, using new tanker planes which the air force proposes to procure. The high fuel consumption of jet engines makes their range well short of reciprocating engines.

New Trial Asked for Fischer; Judge Expected to Rule Today

WEBSTER CITY (AP) - A motion for a new trial, listing 24 reasons for the motion and 23 exceptions to the judge's instructions to the jury, was filed in district court here late Friday by attorneys for 15-year-old Robert Fischer.

Robert was convicted March 14 of second degree murder in the fatal shooting of his father, Al Fischer, superintendent of schools at Jewell, last April.

The 21-page motion declared the verdict was the result of "passion and prejudice" and "contrary to and unsupported by the evidence."

The motion contended the judge erred in admitting into evidence photographs of the body, clothing worn by Al Fischer at the time of his death, the bullets which caused the death, and X-ray films showing how the bullets entered the body.

Lund said that if Judge John M. Schaupp of Ft. Dodge, who is expected to rule on the motion today at 10 a.m., denies a motion for a new trial, the case will be appealed to the state supreme court.

Demos Doubt Truman Can Pick Successor

OMAHA (AP) - A conviction was growing in the Kefauver-Kerr political camps Friday that President Truman has waited too long if he hopes to name the Democratic party's presidential nominee.

People close to Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma agree privately that two months ago Truman could have hand-picked his man. But now they say it may be impossible.

This conviction has spurred the two Democratic presidential contenders to greater efforts in their drive to capture Nebraska's popularity primary next Tuesday.

On the Republican side, supporters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower opened a final big write-in drive to match the campaign being directed by backers of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Nebraska voters will have to write in the names of Taft and Eisenhower as their presidential choices as the only names on the ballot are Harold Stassen and Mrs. Mary Kenny of Lincoln.

Man Kills Self Despite Pleadings

LE MARS (AP) - A Le Mars business man finally killed himself with a rifle Friday, after a minister and a friend had pleaded with him for over an hour by telephone not to take his life.

The dead man, Clarence Milfs, 41, operator of Milfs' Body and Fender shop, had threatened to shoot anyone who made an attempt to enter his shop and stop him, Sheriff Bill Asmussen said.

The sheriff and Le Mars police feared for the safety of a large crowd which gathered outside the shop. After many on-the-spot pleas and two telephone calls failed to calm Milfs, police, as a last resort, fired tear gas into the building.

Milfs was dead when police officials entered. Coroner Sylvester Luken said Milfs shot himself in the temple with a .22 caliber rifle.

4 Firms Make Bids on IC Revaluation

Four outside firms submitted bids on revaluation of city real estate at a meeting of the three local taxing bodies Friday night.

The taxing bodies voted to refer the bids to the committee with final consideration set for Monday, April 7 at 7 p.m. in the city council chambers.

The firms and their bids were: Doane Appraisal Service, St. Louis, $24,200; J. M. Clemenshaw Company, Cleveland, $27,600; J. L. Jacobs & Co., Chicago, $33,600, and E. T. Wilkins & Associates, Cleveland, $36,500.

Wilkins To Change Bid A total of $4,500 in the Wilkins & Assoc. bid was for an engineer's map which isn't required and that firm will submit a new bid in excess of $32,000.

The revaluation contract would include, with variations, a tailor-made cost data book for Iowa City, land value maps and devised cost revision tables to facilitate future assessments.

As set forth in the local taxing bodies specification, revaluation will be made of approximately 7,000 real estate ownerships, but no personal property. Deadline for revaluation has been set for Nov. 1.

Completion in 5 Months Representatives of the four firms mentioned May 1 as a starting date for the revaluation, with completion in five months.

The three groups which establish Iowa City's tax rates each year are the city council, board of supervisors and the Iowa City school board.

Cop Injured in Rome Rioting

AN INJURED POLICEMAN is carried from the scene of a riot in Rome by two colleagues of the Carabinieri, Italian national police organization. The cop was one of several injured in a clash with students and other demonstrators demanding the return of Trieste. The wounded policeman still holds his club and automatic rifle.

House Action to Block Vatican Envoy's Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) - The house appropriations committee Friday voted in effect to cut off funds for any U. S. ambassador to the Vatican unless the senate first approves such a diplomatic mission.

The vote was 19 to 17, with three committee members recorded as "present" but not voting on the controversial issue.

President Truman's proposal to send an ambassador to Vatican City has aroused a storm of protestant opposition.

The house group, which controls the government's pursestrings, took its action in adopting an amendment to the state department money bill. The committee met behind closed doors.

Rep. John J. Rooney (D-N. Y.), a committee member, told newsmen he will attempt to quash the amendment when the house debates the bill next week.

"There is no question that it is aimed at the Vatican," he said. "I will do everything possible to force a roll-call vote in the house on this question."

The amendment, offered by Rep. Prince H. Preston (D-Ga.), does not specifically mention the Vatican, but its effect would be to block any use of state department funds for a mission to the Holy See without congressional sanction.

Iowa Press Women Open 2-Day Meeting

The Iowa Press Women, Inc., will open their two-day spring conference on the SUI campus today.

This morning the women journalists from Iowa's newspapers and magazines will be guests of Theta Sigma Phi, journalism fraternity for women, at a coffee hour to be held in the library lounge.

The afternoon session will be taken up by discussions and speeches by members of the school of journalism faculty, conference hosts.

Prof. William Porter, head of the school's magazine sequence, will deliver the main address of the conference tonight at a banquet in the Iowa Memorial Union.

His speech, "What Makes Time Tick?" will be based on his experiences working for Time magazine.

Sunday morning the women journalists will take a campus tour before adjourning.

Hopes Bright For Avoiding April Walkout

WASHINGTON (AP) - Prospects for avoiding a steel strike threatened for April 8 brightened considerably Friday when major steel firms arranged new labor peace talks with CIO President Murray's steelworkers union.

Six of the industry's largest producers invited Murray and his aides to meet with them in New York beginning Monday to "attempt to work out a settlement." The move, indicating the industry and union may be ready to quit sparring and start talking business, seemed to point to possible government decisions on the steel price situation. Top stabilization officials declined to comment.

Truman Confers With Chiefs

President Truman talked for more than half an hour in late afternoon with Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson, Economic Stabilization Chief Roger L. Putnam and Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall.

None of these officials would comment, but it appeared to be a good bet their conference concerned possible steel price boosts to pay for wage increases demanded by Murray and recommended in part by the wage stabilization board.

The industry-union negotiations have been stalemated. In fact, all companies had recessed their separate contract talks with Murray's union, apparently awaiting a decision from Washington on steel price allowances.

Arnall Opposes Price Hikes Arnall was reported making a stiff fight to hold them down, fearing price hikes for steel would blow the controls lid off all along the line and lead to a new inflationary spiral.

The fact that the six big steel companies—accounting for 70 per cent of the nation's steel ingot production—were ready to sit down together with Murray indicated to many observers that they had probably gotten a verdict from the government on prices.

The companies due to meet with Murray and his aides Monday are U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Jones and Laughlin, Inland Steel, and Youngstown sheet and tube.

Murray Stands Pat

Murray is standing pat on the wage and other benefits suggested by the WSB as "fair and equitable" settlement terms. These call for 18-month contracts with a 12 1/2-cent pay boost dating from last Jan. 1, plus two additional 2 1/2-cent boosts July 1 and next Jan. 1. The proposals also call for the union shop, which would require all industry workers to belong to Murray's union, plus a number of holiday and premium pay improvements.

Pay Boost Defeated

WASHINGTON (AP) - The senate turned down Friday a proposal that all military men fighting in Korea be given an extra $50 monthly for combat pay.

The proposal was beaten on a standing vote which did not record how individual senators voted. The division appeared to be about two to one.

Get Out and Vote!

Students at Grinnell college take electing officers to their student council as one of their most serious and important duties.

Recently when they held their elections, the final tabulation of votes showed that 93 per cent of the student body had turned out.

We are bringing this to the attention of the SUI student body because April 2, the day of the all-campus elections here, is less than a week away.

In the past a lot of students at SUI have failed to vote. These people come up with three main alibis, each of which we believe we have an answer for.

The alibis run something like this:

1. We weren't able to make it to the polls.
2. We didn't think our one vote was important.
3. We didn't understand enough about the election or how to go about voting.

In answer to these:

First, polls will be set up for your convenience in eight places on the campus — they include the Quadrangle, Iowa Memorial Union, Currier hall, University hall, Macbride hall, Schaeffer hall, Engineering building and East hall.

The polls will be open next Wednesday, April 2, from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

We do not see how anyone attending classes at SUI can say that it will not be convenient for him to vote.

Secondly every vote is important. During this school year a number of people have complained about unfair representation. When only a fragment of the campus goes about casting its votes, there is going to be unfair representation.

If in a group of 10 people only two vote for a leader, then that leader is not representative. Perhaps if the other eight had voted they would have elected a better qualified person.

In other words, if everyone votes (and we know that is a lot to hope for) then no one can complain about unfair representation.

Your vote is important — everyone's is.

Lastly, several campus organizations are co-operating in order to place before the student body all the pertinent information concerning the elections — everything from who the candidates are and what their platforms are, to how a ballot should be marked properly.

Under the direction of Ralph Cockshoot, A4, Atlantic, and Marilyn McMullen, A3, Dubuque, the student council's election committee has worked long and hard to iron out every detail in an effort to make this SUI's most successful election.

The Daily Iowan is planning full coverage on the SUI election. Plans have been made by which every angle of the election can be presented to the students.

We hope every student at SUI will feel it his duty to vote Wednesday.

MICHIGAN

Students and faculty at the University of Michigan underwent another spring celebration last week, and as usual everything at the university was disrupted during the process.

The evening's escapade touched every housing unit in the school, involved nearly 2,000 students, and finally dispersed at 1:15 a.m. when the roving band of "rioters" was thoroughly doused by rain and water from a fire hose.

During the chaotic night one woman reported that a man, grinning broadly, entered her room with a suitcase in hand. He announced he was the coed's new roommate and asked where he could "stow his things."

In another part of campus during a coed counter-attack, a residential adviser, who is also an instructor, spied one of his women students parading through a third floor corridor. She greeted him by sticking out her tongue, then fled down the corridor.

Britain's Smokers Grow Their Own To Beat Big Tax

AP Newsfeature

LONDON — Some 100,000 Britons are saving the nation's dollars and their own shillings by growing the cultivation of tobacco on amateur plantations.

Ronald Duncan, this country's first commercial tobacco grower in 30 years, said "there is no reason to suppose that this movement will not spread until people come to regard growing their own tobacco as naturally as they now do the cultivation of potatoes and cabbages."

Duncan was lecturing the Royal Society of Arts on the art of growing smokable tobacco under Britain's cold, damp skies.

Most of the growers in this bleak isle are amateurs, he said, but they produced a crop of 200,000 pounds weight last year and "cheated the inland revenue of $1,120,000 in doing so."

Law Limits Crops

Amateur growers are permitted to raise up to 25 pounds weight duty-free under British law. Everybody else pays back-breaking taxes on their cigarettes and pipe tobacco. Twenty cigarettes which retail for about 30 cents bear a tax of 38 cents.

But Duncan's figures still represent only a negligible proportion of Britain's total consumption. Each year 211,000,000 pounds weight of tobacco goes up in smoke here — about 50 per cent of it bought for dollars in America. In 1951 Britain paid America $144,000,000 for tobacco.

Why Growing Was Banned

Soon after Elizabethan seamen introduced the weed into Britain in the 16th century, home-grown tobacco could be bought in shops and taverns all over Britain, and smokers loved it, Duncan said. But government revenue men preferred to collect taxes from imported smokes. In the 18th century tobacco growing was strictly banned by the government.

"It is possible that some of the economic lessons of the last war have permeated the dull wits of orthodox economists," Duncan declared, "and it is more than probable that this country's ever-increasing shortage of dollars, combined with the persistent prodding of the tape-bound growers, will one day stir the government to recognize the national service performed by our tobacco growers."

Duncan began growing tobacco in southwest Britain in 1940. Four years later the government authorized him to turn his venture into a commercial undertaking.

Expect Ike to Resign To Become Candidate

By J. M. ROBERTS JR. Associated Press News Analyst

General Eisenhower will make an exhaustive report Tuesday on the progress of European defense in the past year, and it probably will be his swan song as supreme commander for the Allied Powers in Europe.

Soon after that the General is expected to ask for relief from that post to become Dwight D. Eisenhower, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Not that he will resign his commission unless and until he is actually nominated. But he is known to be very earnest about his belief that politics and the army should not get mixed up, and that he should set no example which might lead to the practice of army officers "buckling" for positions which would attract political attention.

To enter even the pre-convention campaign he must do some means of making this position clear. He may try to do when he writes the presidential address on SHAPE.

Just when this may come is the general's secret, but the voluntary leaders of the campaign in this country are confident he will get the job in time to make two or three speeches. The middle of May is the target date on which he are basing their hopes.

Thus the general has progressed through several stages of thought about politics. When some suggested the presidency for him after the African campaign in 1943 he brushed it aside with disinterest amounting almost to aversion.

In 1948 he brushed off both Democrats and Republicans — an important one, too — with his contention that the military should keep itself sharply divided from politics. Then the volunteers began boosting him for 1952, and he let them go ahead, but without his active participation.

The changed attitude is expected to be made publicly manifest within the next few days.

Remember...?

One Year Ago...

Nominations began for the honored "Ugliest Man on Campus" election, which was held April 21.

Five Years Ago...

Joe Scarpello remained the only Hawkeye wrestler in the National Collegiate Athletic association tourney at Champaign, Ill. Scarpello advanced to the semifinals in the 175-pound class by defeating Waldemar Van Cott of Purdue, 11-7.

PURDUE

The Purdue symphonic band is currently making a concert tour of Indiana cities, with the primary purpose of giving an incentive to high school students to become better musicians. The concerts are usually given in high school gymnasiums under sponsorship of the home town band.

TEXAS

Examination questionnaires were distributed to the faculty at the University of Texas in an effort to qualify a few feelings about final exams.

The answer to the biggest question turned out to be that 81 per cent of the faculty is in favor of giving final exams. Most instructors gave 33 per cent of the semester grade from final results. One question pointed out that the faculty is not in favor of waiving finals for any person, regardless of his progress in the course. They voted by a margin wider than 81 per cent in favor of keeping the finals.

A professor of chemical engineering said he was "more interested in what a man carried away from his class, rather than how much book learning was acquired." He felt the university is no more than "pure science," and that "while here one should get that certain intangible something that marks an educated man."

Also at Texas the student paper was dismayed because flocks of bathed birds were roaming about Austin. Reason: Someone had stolen the bird bath in front of a fraternity house.

NORTH CAROLINA

A poll of student opinion at the University of North Carolina showed that about two of every three college students say they put in more than 10 hours of study time during a normal school week. Students were asked: Aside from mid-term and final exam week, how much studying time do you estimate you spend during a normal week? The replies:

1. 10 hours or less, 28 per cent.
2. From 10 to 20 hours, 45 per cent.
3. From 20 to 30 hours, 16 per cent.
4. 30 hours or more, 5 per cent.
5. Don't know, 6 per cent.

Those who "don't know" claim a "very irregular" schedule. Said one student, "I've never had a normal week."

MISSOURI

The University of Missouri made a check of police car travel, and found out that Columbia police drive half-way round the world in maintaining law and order for a month.

That's not literally speaking, of course. But the amount of miles traveled in one month equals 14,000 miles, or about half-way around the globe. All this mileage is put on the police department's five patrol cars on just 15 miles of city streets.

The university is opening a traffic engineering short course designed particularly for officials

If Ike Comes Home, Who Will Replace Him?

GEN. DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER'S impact on the U.S. political scene poses the problem of who would succeed him as commander-in-chief, supreme headquarters, Allied powers in Europe. Most observers agree the man would have to be an American, since it is unlikely the European powers could agree on a non-American. Eisenhower is known to favor his chief of staff, Gen. Gruenther, in spite of the fact that he has never held a major command. Others who apparently would be in the running are General Bradley, chairman of the U.S. joint chiefs of staff; General Collins, U.S. army chief of staff; General Ridgway, UN commander-in-chief in the Far East.

Women's Clubs to Perform at Festival Today

PARTICIPANTS IN THE PLAY FESTIVAL, sponsored by the dramatic arts department, are (left to right) Mrs. Lloyd Felzer, Mrs. Truman Romberg, Mrs. Buxton Jones, and Mrs. Bob Hughes, all of Williamsburg, Ia. The women, examining a dress model from the costume shop, presented "Proud As the Heart," a one-act play, on Friday.

The 24th annual Play Production Festival was opened Friday and will continue through Saturday, April 5, inviting community and high school theatrical groups from Iowa.

Afternoon performances today will be by the Woman's club, Mechanicsville, "Ladies of the Mop" and the Woman's club, Waverly, "The Twelve Pound Look."

Tonight the Prince-Men of Friendly House, Davenport, will present "The Romance of the Willow Pattern."

dent groups from 58 Iowa high schools will present their plays. About 300 students are expected to participate.

Sponsored by the dramatic arts department, the festival brings thespians from little theaters, church groups, women's clubs and community organizations, and participants in county contests, as well as authors of new plays.

Each entering group is responsible for its traveling expenses and cost of meals. The dramatic arts department provides the scenery and sets to be used by the participants.

The type of settings provided are governed by two factors: to provide settings that can be used for a great number of plays, and, to provide scenery that may be rearranged easily with a minimum of time and effort.

The scenery is intended to provide a "neutral background." "Suggested play lists" are provided by the dramatic arts department, varying from serious drama to slap-stick comedy.

Because of the great number of high school and community groups participating and the number of plays performed in an afternoon, an "assembly-line" technique is used with the cast of each program made-up and ready to appear on stage 15 minutes before curtain time.

A JUDGE AND AN OBSERVER for the annual Play Festival are Jack Hatfield (right), the director of the Booth Tarkington Civic theater in Indianapolis, Ind., one of the judges selected by the festival's General Committee, and Mrs. E. D. Caldwell, who makes an annual pilgrimage to Iowa City to see the high school students and women's club members perform.

While a performance is in progress, other groups must stay away from the playing area.

After each series of performances, judges, selected by the festival's general committee, critically evaluate each production. The achievement of each group of players is rated as superior, excellent, good, average, or below average.

In addition, "outstanding performer" awards are given to individual players. Among the freshmen in the department who received awards last year are Jayne Stewart, A1, Fairfield, Bill Smart, A1, Fairfield, and Rosemary Wayland, A1, Tipton. Both Miss Stewart and Miss Wayland were in "The Winslow Boy" and "The Beggar's Opera."

Adviser Plans 100 Weddings Yearly

By MARY JO GARVEY
Planning one wedding is usually enough to tire out an entire family.

Mrs. Joseph Wayner, an Iowa City bridal consultant, plans more than 100 weddings a year and she seems to be enjoying herself immensely in the process.

Mrs. Wayner has solved the problems of prospective brides for seven years and is acquainted with all the do's and don'ts connected with the ceremony.

"I sometimes become so enthralled in the details that it's hard to believe I'm not planning a wedding of my own," says Mrs. Wayner.

As a bridal consultant, she deals with the prospective groom as well as his future wife. She says that the groom often accompanies his "spouse-to-be" when she brings her wedding preparation problems to Mrs. Wayner. He gives suggestions about silver and china patterns and other details but is usually content to let the bride have the final say.

One of the first services Mrs. Wayner performs is to register interested clients in a bride's book. Here the bride's pattern preferences in silver, glassware, and other items are entered.

Advice on invitations and announcements is next on the list. The most common questions a bridal consultant is asked concern when wedding invitations and announcements should be sent. The proper procedure is to send invitations six weeks before the wedding and mail announcements immediately following the ceremony.

Mrs. Wayner keeps up-to-date lists on all the Iowa City business places that are concerned in any way with wedding preparations. She can quote nearly all local prices of gowns, flowers, receptions, and other wedding expenses.

Many women have no idea about what type of flowers they want, and that Mrs. Wayner plans an entire wedding from announcements to arrangements for the bride's table at the reception.

She may decide whether the bride's gown will be with or without a train and whether the wedding cake will have three or four tiers. In fact, she can solve

THE TOUGH ONES FIRST

Iowa's baseball team got outdoors for the first time Friday in hopes of getting in shape for a rugged six-game series with powerful Arizona, followed by the remainder of a 27-game series.

At Arizona, the Hawks will face one of the toughest college teams in America, a team that takes spring scrimmage with major league teams each year. And the westerners have 16 lettermen back this year from a team that won 27 out of 29 tilts last season.

But even if coach Otto Vogel's boys lose all six of the games at Tucson, "Ott" feels the trip will be a big success. The warm air and the heavy competition are designed to put the Iowans in shape for its new 15-game Big Ten schedule.

Better Exhibition Setup

The Hawks have been confined to the field house until Friday by the lingering winter, and have only three innings of baseball under their belts. Vogel thinks the Arizona setup will be much more beneficial than the southern jaunt last year because of the more consistent climate and tougher opposition.

While stressing the fact that he hasn't had a chance to really see his men in action, Ott is rather optimistic about this season's future.

In the four-game tourney, Lovellette scored 141 points to bring his career total to 1,888.

Runners to Establish 2 Firsts in Chicago

By LEE CANNING

Iowa's track team establishes two "firsts" tonight when the Hawkeyes run in the Chicago Daily News Relays.

Coach Francis Cretzmeier's mile relay team is entered in the "Champion of Champions" relay, the first time a Hawkeye team has made the select circle.

Ted Wheeler will be the first Iowan to run in the "Banker's Mile" when he competes against four of America's outstanding milers.

The mile relay "Champion" section will have Iowa meeting Big Seven champion Oklahoma and Drake, ruler of the Central Collegiate conference.

Wheeler will have to turn in a peak performance to remain close to the rest of the mile field. Don Wildcat rating the edge. Golliday defeated the Hawkeye pair in a dual meet and at the Big Ten championships where he placed first in the 50.

Record Number Entered in State Class B Track Meet

A record number of Class B high schools, including defending champion Valley high of West Des Moines, will go after the state indoor track and field championship today in the Iowa field house.

The afternoon program begins at 1 with the pole vault. The 50-yard dash preliminaries, to reduce a field of 80 sprinters, start at 1:30. The evening section, capped by the finals in 13 of 16 events, will open at 7.

Meet officials have received entries from 700 contestants from 100 schools, topping the high of 600 which entered the meet last year.

Tigers Rap Reynolds, Whip Yankees, 10-3

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA. (AP) — Raking Allie Reynolds for 12 hits in six innings, the Detroit Tigers ripped the New York Yankees, 10-3, Friday to end their three-game losing streak.

The Tigers jumped on Reynolds for five runs in the first inning, and added two more in the second and another in the third to take an 8-0 lead against the part-Indian righthander.

Reds 5, Nats 3

TAMPA, FLA. (AP) — Hank Edwards, who hasn't been particularly active for the Cincinnati Reds this spring, cracked a two-run homer in the 10th inning Friday to give the Redlegs a 5 to 3 victory over the Washington Senators.

Giants 7, Chisox 4

PHOENIX, ARIZ. (AP) — Davey Williams' second home run of the game, coming with two on and two out in the last half of the ninth inning, gave the New York Giants a 7 to 4 away day victory over the Chicago White Sox Friday.

Stassforth 4th, Relay Qualifies for Finals

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP) — Husky John Davies of Michigan bettered the world's record in the 200-yard breaststroke and Ohio State surged ahead of defending champion Yale Friday night in the race for team honors in the NCAA swimming championships.

The Michigan swimmer was clocked in 2:12.9 in bettering the mark of 2:13.1.

Iowa qualifiers are Bowen Stassforth, who ranked fourth in the 200-yard breaststroke with a 2:17.2 clocking, and the 400-yard freestyle relay team. This showing gave the Hawks five points and seventh place in the team standings.

Davies' surge took the spotlight away from the team race, in which Ohio State piled up 51 points to Yale's 42, thanks to their stellar divers who won all but second place in the one-meter dive.

The three-day meet ends tonight. Ohio State got away to a great start as Dick Cleveland won the 50-yard freestyle spring and Yoshi Oyakawa tied teammate Jack Taylor's American and intrecollegiate record in the 200-yard backstroke of 2:07.3.

Defending champions took it easy in the preliminaries at Ohio State (8) and Yale (5) led in qualifiers.

2 Hawkeyes In 2d Round Of Mat Meet

FT. COLLINS, COLO. (AP) — Iowa will have two men in the quarter finals of the NCAA wrestling tournament here tonight as Don Heaton won a 4-0 decision at 167 pounds and heavyweight George Myers received a bye. The third Hawkeye to make the trip, Phil Duggan, was eliminated, 4-0.

Oklahoma university's defending champions, Oklahoma A & M and the Iowa State Teachers college led the way as each of the three schools qualified seven wrestlers for the quarterfinals. There was no other college among the 40 competing here that posed a title threat.

Oklahoma A & M, winner of 16 of 21 previous NCAA meets, lost by one point, 24-23, to Oklahoma last year. Iowa Teachers, the dark horse in the current meet, was 1950 champion.

The preliminary round of 41 matches brought no surprises.

The quarterfinals start at 8:30 p.m. (Iowa time).

Coaches Friday suggested NCAA wrestling rules changes to achieve the objective of "encouraging the competitors to wrestle."

The proposals, all of which will be held under consideration for a year or more, include adopting the Olympic start for mat wrestling.

Ike Williams Faces Forced Recuperation

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois State Athletic commission Friday ordered a six-week suspension of former lightweight champion Ike Williams in Illinois to recuperate from his fifth round technical knockout by Chuck Davey at the Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

Under the recent reciprocal agreement signed between Illinois and New York, Williams would be unable to fight in New York city for the same period.

Jersey Joe, Ezzard Sign For Title Bout

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The return heavyweight title bout between champion Jersey Joe Walcott and challenger Ezzard Charles, which has been on-again-off-again, will be signed and sealed here Monday for a probable June 9 delivery.

Promoter Herman Taylor said the two Negro boxers, Walcott from Camden, N. J., and Charles from Cincinnati, would meet in the city hall headquarters of the Police Athletic league (PAL) to sign the contracts. The scheduled 15-rounder will be fought in the huge municipal stadium in South Philadelphia where 120,757 watched Gene Tunney win the heavyweight crown from Jack Dempsey in 1926.

Although Taylor did not disclose the date of the impending fight he said it would be in early June. A reliable report said it would be the ninth, an open date in the major league baseball schedule here, thus eliminating competition from that source.

Taylor is staging the bout in cooperation with the International Boxing Club of New York. He announced Friday that the PAL also would share in the receipts. The promoter said full agreement on financial terms had been reached with the fighters, each of whom will receive 30 per cent of the gate.

Foreign Center Opening Set In 2 Weeks

Face-lifting operations on the interior of the new International center, corner of Capitol and Market sts., are nearly complete. The two hundred volunteers from fraternities and sororities working on the job expect to have the house ready for occupancy in two weeks.

Formal opening will be early in May, according to Richard E. Sweitzer, adviser to foreign students.

The center, which is intended as a place where foreign student and their friends can relax, is in no way an adjunct of the International club. It will be maintained by contributions from SUI and from people interested in promoting international good will, and will be open to anyone who cares to use its facilities. There will be no membership fee.

Rigid plans for the development of the center have been carefully avoided because, as Sweitzer said, "We want to grow like Topsy."

Final responsibility for management will rest with the office of student affairs but an advisory committee of 20 to 25, to be appointed soon, will make suggestions from time to time.

This committee will include students, staff members from various departments and those with experience abroad, and citizens of the community.

For a start the center will be open from noon till 10 p.m. every day. Later, when a resident director has been nominated, it will be open throughout the day.

Rooms will be available for study and reading but no attempt is being made to set aside special rooms for this purpose.

Literature put out by foreign embassies and information concerning foreign travel will be on display.

Truce Talks Remain Stalled on Russia Observer Question

MUNSA (SATURDAY) (P) — Staff officers appeared ready today to toss back into the laps of top negotiators the stalemated issue of whether Russia may become a truce observer in Korea.

A North Korean colonel was quoted as saying Friday that he was "not interested in discussing among staff officers" the problems of Soviet participation on the neutral terms, which the Allies oppose.

The Allies suggested again that four nations form the neutral teams, which the Allies oppose.

The Allies suggested again that four nations form the neutral teams. These would be Poland, Czechoslovakia, named by the Reds, and Sweden and Switzerland, named by the Allies.

"You can accept these and wrap up the problem," an Allied colonel told the Reds. "There is no need of six nations."

In addition, the Reds had nominated Russia and the Allies, Norway.

Other staff officers continued secret talks on prisoner exchange but an allied spokesman said after Friday's meeting, "We have not reached conclusive results."

Missouri U. Official Visits Engineering Labs

George W. Elliott, director of engineering placement, University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo., is in Iowa City inspecting SUI's industrial engineering laboratories.

The purpose of his trip is to study equipment and methods which can be used in an expanded program in industrial engineering at Missouri.

According to Prof. J. Wayne Deegan, department of industrial engineering, Elliott and Missouri engineering dean H. O. Croft thought a study of SUI's program would be helpful in adjusting the program at Missouri.

Staff Looks Over First Issue of Magazine X

MAGAZINE X STAFFERS show mixed emotions as they get a first look at page proofs of SUI's new campus humor magazine which makes its appearance Wednesday. Viewing their handiwork at a meeting of the magazine laboratory are, seated, Nancy Oyaas, A4, Clinton; Mrs. Carolyn Weitzell (face hidden from camera), A3, Fairfield; Darlene Crouch, A4, Emmetsburg; Ros Jensen, G, Waterloo; Helen Ann Rohret, G, Cosgrove; Tom Essex, A1, Fairfield; Lita Singel, G, Indianapolis, Ind., and Asalee Ferguson, G, Altus, Okla. # New Humor Magazine

Magazine X To Go on Sale Wednesday; Will Be All-Student Publication

If organization and manpower have anything to do with the successful production of a humor magazine, SUI's Magazine X should be the best yet.

Heading the well-founded projects against the hurried last-minute production of earlier SUI magazines, with a handful of staffers responsible for all the content, the school of journalism has set up a 15-student structure to handle the job.

Under the new setup, Norman hands down the appointments for each issue. Except for three or four key positions, the assignments change from issue to issue. Each issue has a new managing editor, a new chief of editorial content, a new art editor and so on.

Norman points out, "this constant change will make a livelier, more colorful magazine. This way we learn the maximum about all the phases of magazine work, and at the same time new blood goes into each of the many departments."

Norman is quick to point out, however, that all student talent is welcomed by the new magazine. Sale of the new magazine, which begins Wednesday at 10 cents per copy, marks the first appearance of a humor magazine on the campus this year.

Spring May Bring Missouri Flood

OMAHA (AP) — Army engineers said Friday that the threat of a Missouri river flood this spring is more serious than it was a month ago.

The engineers based their conclusion on a new snow depth survey of the upper area. An earlier one had been taken in late February.

Survey crews found that the moisture content of snow over large areas of the Dakotas and northeast Montana has increased in the meantime.

Brig. Gen. Don G. Shingler, Missouri river division engineer, said not only does the snow cover remain, but it has been increased by new cover over part of the area.

The lateness of the season and the depth of the snow combine to make the threat more serious, he said as the spring progresses — and fast runoff are the principal ingredients of flooding.

Gen. Shingler described the present snow and ice accumulation over the plains area as the heaviest in three years.

Men Give Selves Up After Manhunt

MASON CITY (P) — Gaylord Miller, the second of two men who was the object of a wide-spread manhunt throughout north central Iowa Friday, gave himself up Friday night.

Cerro Gordo county sheriff Cal Dwan said Miller surrendered to him at the sheriff's office here.

The sheriff quoted Miller of Mason City, as saying he spent the day in a barn in the Floyd area and forced an unidentified motorist to drive him here Friday night.

Don L. Butterfield, 30, of Mason City, gave himself up earlier Friday as a mass search directed from an airplane was started Friday morning.

Sheriff Dwan said Butterfield had admitted that he and an accomplice had gone on a crime wave Thursday night in which they:

1. Held up a filling station at Waterloo, where they obtained $565.
2. Held up another filling station at Denver, obtaining about $150.

3. Stole a car belonging to Floyd Klemz, a farmer living near Denver; forced Klemz into his own car at gunpoint when they met him on the highway as he was going to report the theft of his car.

4. Took a gun from a Charles City policeman, Gale North, 25, who tried to stop them, and ripped the police radio out of North's squad car.

5. Butterfield, after fleeing from his own car near Floyd, drew a gun and held Neil Deegan, 23, of Waterloo, prisoner for about an hour after he hitched a ride with Deegan into Mason City.

Koo To Attend Meeting At Cornell University

Dr. T. Z. Koo, professor of oriental studies, will speak at a foreign students conference at Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y., this weekend.

The conference, which is an annual affair, will be attended by about 150 foreign students from universities in the surrounding area. It will deal with the problem of why America is not appreciated sufficiently in many foreign countries.

SUI Political Groups Trade Word Blows

Attack Each Other's Party Platforms In Debate Warm-Up

By JOE MEYER

SUI Young Democrats and Young Republicans said some uncomplimentary things about each other's party platform Friday.

Statements issued from campus headquarters of these political groups set the pattern for a public debate scheduled for Tuesday, on the eve of the all-campus elections.

The debate between three representatives from each party is designed as a preliminary stimulant to the presidential preference straw vote to be included in the Wednesday elections.

It will be held in room 221A, Schaeffer hall, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Foreign Policy and Corruption
Pre-debate statements indicate that foreign policy, domestic policy and corruption in government will be the principal points in the arguments.

Young Democrat representatives, Jim Jensen, Peter Van Metre and Richard Paulos, Friday called Republican foreign policy "negativistic, erratic and vacillating."

Bill Ebert, Dave Stanley and Tom Brown, who will represent Young Republicans in Tuesday's debate, said that the Korean war is a direct result of Democratic stupidity.

The complete texts of statements made by the two campus parties follow:

Young Democrats' Statement:
"Republican foreign policy, if negativism can be called a policy, is erratic and vacillating, phrased in terms of expediency and temporary political advantage.

"One win of the party, realizing that the rest of the world does exist, reluctantly acknowledges the realism and wisdom of Democratic policy. Republicans in congress, however, are overwhelmingly isolationist, with a substantial group eager to plunge into Asiatic adventures, heedless of the risks of another world war.

Inept Domestic Policy
"The domestic policy of the Republican party, implemented by Republicans in congress, is both inept and destructive of the national interest. Republicans have consistently fought effective price control, sabotaged development of our oil and water resources for public benefit, and selfishly sought to turn back the clock in industrial relations and social legislation.

"The complete bankruptcy of Republican ethics is shown by the cynical sanction given to McCarthyism by congressional Republicans in a reckless attempt to disguise their complete negativism by indiscriminate smearing with the 'Big Lie' technique, and by their reluctance to support the necessary government reform for which their speeches have cried."

Young Republicans' Statement:
"These are the three great failures of the Democratic party:

"1. The Korean war. In Europe, U. S. foreign policy has been largely ineffective, because Republicans such as Vandenberg and Eisenhower were given a major voice in planning it. But the Korean war is a direct result of Democratic stupidity. Acheson invited the Communists to move into Korea when he announced early in 1950 that Korea was outside the U. S. defense line. Democratic Sen. Tom Connally confirmed this invitation in May, 1950, when he said that we could not hope to defend South Korea.

"2. Domestic policy. The Democratic party is the party of inflation. Truman and Snyder, with their cheap money policy, have tried to hamstring the federal reserve board's efforts to prevent inflation. The recent 'natural gas grab' bill was sponsored by Democratic Sen. Robert Kerr. As for labor legislation, how can Truman condemn the fair and moderate Taft-Hartley act as a 'slave labor law' when it was the same Harry Truman who wanted to draft striking railroad workers in 1946?

"3. Corruption in government. The American people are shocked by the great number of Democratic grafters who have been exposed. But Truman's reluctance to punish his crooked cronies is even more shocking. A president who keeps influence-peddlers as his advisers is not fit to govern."

Field Takes Stand in Red Probe

(AP Wirephoto)

FREDERICK VANDERBILT FIELD, financial angel of left-wing causes appeared before the senate internal security subcommittee Friday. The senators questioned him about operations of the Institute of Pacific Relations and his connection with it. In an earlier appearance, Field would not say whether he had ever been a Communist.

Reading Rate Class Opens

Comprehension, Speed To Be Stressed; Films To Help Increase Eye Span

By VIRGINIA VAVRA

The attraction in room 6 of Schaeffer hall one day this past week was anything but a normal class session. It was the first meeting of the reading improvement class this semester.

It was a scene of congestion. All the available chairs were taken and people were standing in the hall. Curious passersby peered in the door to see just what was going on.

William F. Anderson, the man who shows the films and gives the quizzes, was all that was in sight—the and 61 eager students.

Loud protests accompanied the announcement that there were more students than could be accommodated. One man said that he had waited two years to work it in his schedule.

Several persons who were seniors wanted to take it as soon as possible in order to make use of it during their school careers.

The reading improvement class uses Harvard films. These films are shown to the class first at a slow rate, and at each subsequent meeting they are accelerated a few words per minute.

The films are based on the correct method of reading. After each showing, the class takes a 10-question quiz to test reading comprehension. The films are designed to improve not only reading rate but also comprehension and study habits.

Can See 2 Words

The reader can see only two words at a time which prevents looking back. Increasing the eye span is the way to improve speed. The starting span of two words is eventually increased to five words, the eye span normally possible.

College students usually have eight to ten eye fixations per line when they should have only five to six.

The average rate of those beginning the class is 250 words per minute; average rate at the end of the course is 400. Some of the class will be reading as fast as 600 words per minute.

700 Words A Minute

Anderson cites students who have increased from 285 at the beginning of the course to 700 in one case, and from 185 to 480 in another.

The class meets three times a week for five weeks and is usually offered twice a semester.

United Airlines Signs Contract With IC Airport

A second five-year contract has been signed by United Airlines with the Iowa City airport commission, Graham Marshall, chairman of the commission, announced Friday.

The contract is for the use of the airport's facilities and is a renewal of a contract signed by United Airlines in 1947.

Under the terms of the new contract, which is in accordance with the first one, the company has an option to renew at five-year intervals for a total of 20 years.

It calls for payment of $2,400 yearly to the city.

The renewal of the contract follows an announcement by the city that it will provide modern facilities at the airport.

Included in these plans is a $130,000 administration building which is now under construction.

It also follows an announcement this week by the commission that a $64,000 project to pave a roadway from highway 218 to the administration building, and provide plane parking aprons and parking facilities is to begin soon.

Also under the terms of the contract the city will rent facilities in the administration building to United, and in return will acquire the title to the United Airlines building at the airport.

The company had previously built a $65,000 building at the airport and has been using it for an administration building.

U.S. Should Double Education In Germany, Mosse Warns

We must redouble our educational program in Germany, or face the possible consequences.

Drawing upon his observations as a lecturer in Europe last year, Prof. George Mosse, of the SUI history department sounded this warning Friday afternoon to educators and historians attending their 30th annual conference at SUI.

Tracing the spread of Nihilism in modern Germany, Mosse pictured it as "a denial that man is a rational animal." Instead, he said Nihilists believe that "man is an impotent being, driven by blind impulses and abandoned to the play of mechanical forces over which he has no control."

Mosse went on to warn against a policy of withdrawing much of our educational effort and concentrating instead on the "creation of armed might." He suggested to conferees that we should do well to "redouble our educational program to strengthen those forces within Germany which provide a barrier against the Nihilist."

Other speakers on Friday's program were Daniel J. Boorstin, University of Chicago history professor, and Hajo Holborn, professor of history, Yale university.

The historians will conclude their meeting this noon at a luncheon in the Iowa Memorial Union.

Prof. Fred A. Shannon, University of Illinois, and Burr W. Phillips, University of Wisconsin, will present talks during the morning session.

Comm. Skills Staff Attends Conference

Several members of the staff of the communications skills program are attending the National Council Teachers of English conference on college composition and communication in Cleveland, O., today.

Staff members attending are: Prof. John C. Gerber; Prof. Harry Crosby; Prof. Alma Hovey; Prof. Carrie Stanley; Phillip L. Gerber and Robert Thorstensen.

Designs for Living

When you are driving along a modern highway, enjoying a smooth ride, give a thought to the traffic engineers who designed such roads for your safety.

Overhead crossings and underpasses, cloverleafs, traffic circles and smoothly graded curves all are modern examples of highway designs that have prevented countless accidents and saved many lives.

Remember that good traffic engineering is real economy. It builds safety into streets and highways, and it need not be costly.

Often a few dollars wisely expended by a competent engineer can drastically reduce a serious death and injury toll—eliminate traffic congestion. Warnings, markings, safe speed limits and danger zones tell you how to drive with safety. The rest is up to you.

Our great new highways are Designs for Living. Play fair, use them safely—and LIVE!

N.Y. Papers Praise SUI Art Students

Several students from the SUI art department who have prints entered in the Brooklyn museum's print annual art exhibit have been mentioned by the New York Times and the New York Herald-Tribune as being student-artists who are "dynamic in form" and "fanciful and often exuberant in feeling."

Prof. Maurice Lasansky; Phyllis Sherman; G. Elyria; Karl Mochl; G. Elyria, Ohio; Harry Brorby; G. Elyria; Ann Dydik; Nye, N. Y., and Irving Marcus, G. Minneapolis, Minn., of the art department, have prints entered in the exhibit.

The Times describes Lasansky as "opening a new path in prints, making an emphasis on new and mixed techniques." Phyllis Sherman's print, "A Stage of Life," is described by Times reviewer Howard Devree as "movingly depicting a group of hospitalized in wheel chairs."

The Times describes Mochl's print as having "tragic expressionism" and Brorby's as "producing a decidedly decorative and quite realistic impression."

comments on Lasansky as being "a leader in the field" and an "illustrious print-maker."

A print is made by cutting into a copper plate with acid or a hand tool and reproducing the engraved picture onto paper by filling the depression in the plate with ink. Any number of reproductions can be made, a print being considered a "multiple original."

The Brooklyn museum, now holding its sixth annual print exhibition, has done important service in assembling contemporary graphic art that reflects the progressive effort of the country today.
