Wilson Warns Steel Shutdown Would Be Mobilization Setback

Says Pay Hike Serious Threat To Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles E. Wilson, who quit as defense mobilizer in disagreement with President Truman over the steel labor controversy, said Monday a 30-day steel shutdown would set back U. S. mobilization by 60 days. With a strike scheduled April 8, Wilson made his statement in response to a news conference question. He otherwise refused to pursue his polite quarrel with the President.

"What's done is done, and that's that," said the man who guided America's defense mobilization for the last 15 months. Quality Better Than Russia's Wilson, saying he was singing his "swan song" as a government official, told the reporters he was leaving the government with this conviction: "From a standing start after Korea, we are now overtaking Russia's production of war materiel. Wilson brushed off a query as to whether his resignation made the outlook for a steel settlement worse.

Wilson said in his letter of resignation made public Sunday that his "sense of justice" has been violated by the government's course in the steel case and that he regarded the WSB recommendations for wage boosts for the CIO steelworkers, "a serious threat to the stabilization of our nation's economy."

"I haven't changed my mind one bit," he said Monday. Truman's letter accepting the resignation said he regarded the recommendations as "by no means unreasonable."

There were signs of other possible changes in the government's production high command. For one thing, defense production administrator Manly Fleischmann and Henry H. Fowler, head of the national production authority, have indicated previously they might leave in June or July.

5 SUI Queens To Promote Magazine X

Five campus queens are going to launch the sale of Magazine X

Wednesday morning stationed at busy campus spots.

The coeds will be identified with title streamers and will sell the new campus publication for 10 cents at intervals all day.

Circulation manager for Magazine X, Will Zuck, A3, Fort Dodge, said Monday that the class in magazine laboratory and other volunteers will assist the queens in selling the magazine.

A survey of the 10 busiest spots on campus has been made, according to Zuck, and salesmen will be stationed at those spots all day Wednesday.

Queens who will sell Magazine X are Mecca queen, Sue Sutherland, N1, Iowa City; Miss Perfect Profile, Toni Rhomberg, A3, Dubuque; Miss SUI, Bobbye Springate, N1, Des Moines; Dolphin queen, Betty Hassen, A1, Moline, and Miss SUI attendant and candidate for Drake relay queen, Marilyn Mosbach, N1, Humboldt.

Magazine X will have that title for one issue only. Students will have an opportunity to name the new publication in the "Name the Magazine" contest. Two cash awards, $15 and $10 will be given for the best names as well as several honorable mention awards.

McGrath Raps Graft Sleuth

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath abruptly jerked the rug from under Newbold Morris Monday, declaring that he would not appoint the administration's corruption sleuth as his special assistant if he had to do it over again.

The attorney general's statement created a situation in which — if it comes to a head — President Truman may have to choose between Morris and McGrath, with one of them leaving the government.

This possibility arose when McGrath told a house investigating committee that he was not sure whether he would fill out the financial questionnaire Morris has prepared for him and 595 other officials in the justice department.

Morris has said he expects the President to fire any government official who refuses to complete the questionnaire and return it. The long, probing document is the first in Morris' search for wrongdoing in the federal government.

McGrath's change of heart regarding Morris — a man he himself picked for the cleanup job — was disclosed when Rep. Kenneth Keating (R-N.Y.) asked him whether he would appoint Morris a special assistant now, in the light of developments.

"I would not," the attorney general said flatly.

Morris Has "No Comment"

Morris refused to see newsmen, sending word from his office that he would have nothing to say about McGrath's statement. He was closeted with his top aides.

Later a small group of reporters managed to meet him as he came out for a late lunch.

Asked if he would appeal to the President in the event of a justice department snub of his questionnaire, he said: "Let's wait and see what happens."

Last Feb. 14, Mr. Truman said he was directing "all departments and agencies . . . to cooperate fully" with Morris and give him "any information he may require."

At the White House, presidential press Secretary Joseph Short said he felt certain Truman would not comment at least until he had a chance to read the attorney general's testimony.

Blew Up at Senate

Morris got in hot water with congress when he blew up at a senate inquiry into his surplus ships deal March 12.

Denouncing the "diseased minds in this chamber," he cried that "down here in Washington in the last three years you have created an atmosphere so vile that people have lost confidence in their government."

The senators had given Morris a raking examination about any responsibility he may have had for the oil trade which the United Tanker corporation carried on with Communist China until a month before the Korean war.

2 SUI Professors Given Fellowships

Prof. Paul Engle of the SUI English department and Prof. Richard Popkin of the philosophy department are among 246 college instructors who have been awarded fellowships by the Fund for the Advancement of Education.

The grants, which total approximately $1.4 million, are being made as part of the fund's program aimed at strengthened liberal education in American colleges.

Rescue Explorers From Arctic Ice

BARROW, Alaska (AP) — Rescued members of a nine-man Arctic expedition, who arrived here by navy plane Sunday night, said they never had a worry over their safety during the four days they were stranded on the Arctic ice.

Their sharpest sub-zero chill, after the wrecking of their own plane in a takeoff attempt last Thursday, came when the rescue plane landed Sunday. They said that on the short, 2,500-foot ice runway, the P2V stopped a bare 10 feet short of an ice barrier.

New Jersey Convicts Hold Out

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — A gang of desperate convicts at the New Jersey state prison sheepishly surrendered late Monday night after rioting and barricading themselves in a segregation building for 37 hours.

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — New Jersey's state prison was starkly quiet Monday night as a gang of 30 desperate inmates huddled in the darkness of a segregation building defying orders to surrender.

The prisoners held out during the day against barrages of water and tear gas. Hungry and cold following a riot they started 36 hours earlier, the convicts refused to leave the building they had all but torn apart.

Prison officials waited patiently for the men to break down under the discomfort of the building in which all windows were broken, plumbing was ripped out, beds were torn apart and mattresses were burned.

On hand was a new weapon to be used in an effort to end the long holdout — a gas that causes nausea. Prison officials hesitated to use the gas, hoping the men would give up without further action.

One official said the convicts, armed with lead pipe bludgeons and blackjacks made from electric cable, turned quiet just before nightfall. There hasn't been a word from them, the official said. Prison guards also have been quiet.

Wisconsin To Decide Taft's Presidential Bid

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Sen. Robert A. Taft's presidential bid hangs in the balance today when about 750,000 Republican-voting Wisconsin citizens step into polling booths to swing the pendulum.

With a million-vote total forecast, Democrats scrambled feverishly Monday for their expected one-fourth share in a race where Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee is regarded as top runner.

Damp weather predicted for the whole state today could cut somewhat the voter turnout in a contest to name 36 Democratic and 30 Republican delegates to party nominating conventions at Chicago in July. The Democratic delegates carry 28 votes.

Stakes Future on Outcome

Taft, buffeted by a defeat at the hands of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in New Hampshire and his own attempted withdrawal from the April 15 New Jersey primary, is staking his position in the Republican presidential race largely on the Wisconsin outcome.

Although Eisenhower, his chief opponent, is not on the ballot, former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota has offered to share with the general one-half of any delegate votes he wins here and one state running for Gov. Earl Warren of California has said it will back Eisenhower if Warren can't make the nomination grade.

A fourth slate, running under the name of Grant Ritter of Monroeville, is supporting Gen. Douglas MacArthur despite the latter's recitation that he isn't a candidate. Perry J. Stearns, Milwaukee lawyer running for himself, heads a fifth group.

Taft Claims 20 Delegates

Because of the confused situation, Taft himself has not gone beyond a prediction that his slate will be tops on the state-wide ballot and that he will get at least 20 delegates. His chief Wisconsin backer, Thomas E. Coleman of Madison, set the figure at 22 to 24 delegates.

Taft said any win would be a victory but observers here think he will have to win big — getting near a majority of the GOP votes cast — if he wants to retrieve prestige lost in New Hampshire and in the New Jersey move.

Asks Mac's Help At Nebraska Polls

OMAHA (AP) — Sen. Robert A. Taft's forces made an open bid Monday for the votes of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's followers as Nebraska's hotly-contested primary campaign drew to a close.

The appeal to shift MacArthur sentiment to Taft's side immediately stirred up a dispute in Republican ranks on the eve of today's presidential "popularity" contest. It is regarded as a touch-and-go affair for both Democrats and Republicans. A heavy vote is expected.

Rep. Howard Buffett (R-Neb.), chairman of the Nebraska "Crusade for Taft," said in a radio address:

"Listen to me, you people who are for MacArthur. If you believe in MacArthur, you should write a vote for Robert A. Taft."

Barkley Bid Seen As Demo Candidate

By the Associated Press

Sen. Walter George (D-Ga.) said Monday he expects Vice-President Alben Barkley to bid for the Democratic presidential nomination now that President Truman has stepped aside.

But the 74-year-old Barkley, normally the most articulate of politicians, would say only that "I have no statement to make" and "I don't care to talk about the convention."

George said "It will be a week or more before the air clarifies and we know who all the candidates are."

Sen. Harry Byrd (D-Va.) said Truman's withdrawal from the Democratic contest "enhances the opportunity for Sen. Richard Russell (D-Ga.) to obtain the Democratic nomination."

Byrd, long a critic of the Truman administration, said that with a 1952 party platform acceptable to the south, Russell would be "a very appealing candidate to all sections of the country, and a great president."

With nothing very conclusive in sight in Washington, the politicians are watching today's primaries in Wisconsin and Nebraska, particularly the situation of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio in the Wisconsin Republican voting.

Young GOP's

Robert Lines, C4, president of SUI Young Republicans, said that Truman's move came as no surprise to him.

"It was his own personal decision and I fully expected it," Lines said. "This will make it a far more interesting election. The voters will have a wider and better choice of candidates since there will be comparative newcomers in the presidential race."

BATAAN SURVIVOR ENLISTS

DES MOINES (AP) — Irvin W. O'Neil, 32, of Fort Madison, a survivor of the Bataan death march during World War II, has re-enlisted in the air force as a private first class after six years as a civilian. "If I have to go overseas I'd rather go to Europe," he said. "I've seen enough of the Pacific."

2 Lawyers Shot After Legal Battle

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — A resort hotelkeeper, enraged over a legal matter, shot down two Wilmington, N. C., lawyers Monday in an elevator at the seventh floor of the law building.

Former state Senator Emmett H. Bellamy, 60, son of a former U. S. representative, was killed as three shots crashed into the car before the operator slammed the door in the slayer's face. Lloyd S. Elkins, 25, Bellamy's law partner, was wounded in the shoulder.

Local Leaders Comment on Truman Choice

Local representatives of the two major political parties had varied reactions Monday to President Truman's announcement that he would not be a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Johnson county Democratic Chairman Edward Lucas said, "I believe the President really means it. I think it will make for better harmony in the party because of the opposition of the southern Democrats to the civil rights program of Mr. Truman."

"I believe that the other Democratic candidates will now be more active and that there will probably be some new ones."

Young Democrats

Margaret McGivern, L3, president of SUI Young Democrats said, "I feel that the President is sincere in this move but it will not affect the party policies."

"Truman was our strong candidate and I'm sure that the Democratic party program will have the continued support of the majority of the voters."

William F. Morrison, Johnson county Republican chairman, expressed regrets over the Truman abdication.

Morrison said, "I'm really sorry that Truman stepped down. I think he would have been the easiest man to beat."

"I also think that this makes it tougher for Taft to get the nomination. Taft always said that Truman was his favorite Democratic candidate. If Taft gets the Republican nomination, he will have to beat a Democrat that isn't hampered by the sins of the present administration."

Who's Your Choice for President?

One of the highlights of this year's all-campus election, which is to be held Wednesday, is the straw vote for presidential candidates.

Every student on campus will have the opportunity of choosing his favorite candidate from a list of five Republicans and five Democrats.

The list includes: Democrats—President Truman; Sen. Estes Kefauver; Illinois' Gov. Adlai Stevenson; Georgia's Sen. Richard Russell, and Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois.

Republicans—Sen. Robert Taft; Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower; Gov. Earl Warren of California; Harold Stassen and Douglas MacArthur.

These names will be on one of the 11 ballots being used in this all-campus election.

Polling booths, loaned to the election committee by the Johnson county board of supervisors, will be set up in the Quadrangle, Iowa

Memorial Union; Currier hall, University hall, Macbride hall, Schaeffer hall, Engineering building and East hall.

If some students feel as though they would like to know a little more about the candidates it might be a good idea for them to attend the pre-election debate tonight.

The two major parties will be represented by three students each. The debate will take place at 7:30 p.m. in room 221A, Schaeffer hall.

The election committee has done everything in their power to make this a successful election. The Daily Iowan is preparing to bring the students the results Thursday morning.

The real success of this election depends on you — the voters.

Whether you like Ike, are wild about Harry, daft with Taft, or in a fever for Kefauver is not with what we're basically concerned.

What we want is to see that you want someone. We'll leave the choice up to you.

TWENTIETH-CENTURY FOX has a new picture out, "Smoke Jumpers," which features more than 2,800 assorted rabbits, bears, elk, antelope, wildcats, horses, goats, and fawns. It employs every trained wild animal in Hollywood except Lassie, Bugs Bunny, and Maxie Rosenbloom.

One of the greatest war pictures ever made, and one which ranks along-side of "All Quiet on the Western Front," is "The Red Badge of Courage," now showing in Iowa City. See it.

THE CIVIC MUSIC association, which sponsors classical concerts on the SUI campus, is holding its membership drive from April 28 to May 4. Those interested should contact Mrs. William Meardon, wife of the versatile band-leader and county attorney, at the Union.

LEST WE FORGET: The Beaux Arts ball — pardon me, Student's Costume ball — will be held April 16 at the art building. Guests will come dressed as cartoon-strip characters, which should result in some ingenious and fantastic get-ups.

MARILYN HORSTMAN, lovely soprano of "Die Fledermaus" and "The Beggar's Opera," will solo in Wednesday's 8 p.m. chorus concert. Music-lovers won't forget her past performances.

A PLAY-WRITING CLASS, offered by the dramatic arts department, combines literary and dramatic talents with pretty fair results. Students, including keen-witted Britisher Steve Joseph, are now competing for authorship of the department's original summer play.

AL BRUCE, a grad student in the SUI art department and one of the designers for the current exhibit, has received a position as head designer for a furniture factory in Kentucky, a job he'll assume upon completion of his degree.

Editor Says 'Climate of Fear' Threatens Life of Vital Right

By JIM WELLS

CEDAR RAPIDS — "Who speaks for man?" challenged Norman Cousins.

The young (39) editor of the Saturday Review of Literature was one of five top-drawer intellectuals in Cedar Rapids last weekend to speak out for the freedom of the individual man.

"One of the most sacred American rights is the right to be wrong. In the climate of fear of which McCarthyism is a symptom we are losing that right," Cousins declared to an audience of 1,100 that included many SUI students and faculty.

The occasion was Coe college's symposium on human freedoms. On the platform following Cousins' address were Margaret Mead, anthropologist, author of eight books, and moderator of the discussion; Arthur Compton, Nobel prize physicist, director of the development of the atomic bomb, and university president; and Thurman Arnold, former assistant attorney general and author of five books including "The Folklore of Capitalism." Liston Pope, dean of Yale divinity school, was the fifth of the savants on freedom.

Rights Against State

Speaking on the subject "Freedom of Expression" Friday night, Editor Cousins insisted that our chief asset in this age of insecurity is an idea, not native to America but given the most encouragement in this country. It is the idea that man owns his mind and his body and has rights even against the state, especially against the state.

More than our wealth and our military strength, this idea is our source of power. Even if the threat of Russian communism suddenly disappeared, a basic tension-producing issue would remain: "the blistering determination to be free of over a billion people of tinted skins."

More than 400 million people of India mean to keep their independence, and they look with the most suspicion upon the strongest nation of the West, the United States, which could be, they fear, the greatest threat to their freedom, Cousins said.

But we don't recognize that our reputation for encouraging individual freedom is our greatest source of power, the intense editor

TO THE EDITOR:

On Wednesday, April 2, every SUI student can stand up and be counted in a presidential straw vote. This straw vote puts SUI students in just as important a position as the Minnesota and New Hampshire voters who gave such strong support to Dwight D. Eisenhower.

It is literally true that your vote in the straw ballot on Wednesday may be far more important than your vote in the main election next fall. The reason is that the Republican state convention will meet in Des Moines on Friday, April 4. I am a delegate to that convention. If I can go there with proof that an overwhelming majority of SUI students want Eisenhower for president, the vote-conscious Republicans will set up and take notice. If enough of you vote for Eisenhower on Wednesday, this will be another important straw in the wind — and it may be the straw which breaks the back of the Taft campaign in Iowa.

There is little doubt that Ike's ability and experience place him head and shoulders above all other candidates. The presidency is an administrative job. Ike proved his administrative ability when he organized the Allied victory in Europe, served as president of Columbia university, and then returned to Europe where he has tripled the size of the NATO armed forces in only one year.

It's time to bury the two great myths about Eisenhower — myths which have been manufactured by Taft backers:

1. The myth that "We don't want a military man in the White House" ignores the fact that Ike has a civilian mind. He constantly refers to "my hatred of war" and his dislike for "Pentagon thinking." Remember that Ike served for some time as CIVILIAN president of Columbia university.

2. The myth that "We don't know where Ike stands" can't be accepted by anyone who takes the time to read a few of Ike's speeches. Of course Ike hasn't taken a stand on every current issue. But the current issues of today will be dead history tomorrow. Also, specific statements by candidates on current issues aren't worth much. (Witness Taft's rejection of McCarthyism a few months ago, followed by Taft's warm endorsement of McCarthy as soon as he began campaigning in Wisconsin!) He stands squarely for the North Atlantic Pact, European federation, and unification of Allied armed forces under NATO command. He believes that U.S. aid to free nations must include economic as well as military aid. He wants closer unity of the entire non-communist world, and opposes any retreat to our own shores. He believes preparedness is essential now, but believes that lasting peace will require "dis-

A Voter's Guide To All-Campus Elections

9 Bid for 3 Jobs on Publications Board

Nine candidates for three posts on the Student Board of Publications announced their platforms Monday. All students are eligible to vote for board candidates.

Candidates for the one-year post are Maryellen Barba, A3, Bristol, Conn.; Ted M. Seldin, A3, Council Bluffs; Richard B. Swank, A3, Ames, and Carl B. Zimmerman, A3, Waterloo.

Miss Barba, an English major, is a member of the committee for racial equality of YMCA and a member of Town Women.

She said that "all university publications must fulfill their responsibilities for a healthy stimulation of diverse student views concerning relevant university and universal issues."

The Board of Publications, she said, should see that campus publications fulfill their obligations to the university family by:

"1. The publication of all signed student letters as one reflection of university opinion.

"2. More university features of importance to the university family.

"3. Regular constructive evaluations of lectures and movie, concert and play reviews being incorporated as an important area of interest and learning."

Miss Barba added that double editorials should be printed which present both sides of controversial issues, that editorial writers should reflect their own personal opinions and that periodic invitations to the university family be made to advise the Board of Publications on its policy and the composition of publications.

Seldin, an economics major, is on the publicity committee and has served on the Hawkeye staff the past two years.

He advocates: "1. More comprehensive coverage by The Daily Iowan of all campus activities.

"2. Greater student interest in publications by an active solicitation for staff personnel.

"3. Sampling of student opinion by polls in order that the student body may obtain what it desires in publications."

Swank is a psychology major and was a divisional editor of Hawkeye last fall.

He said there is a need for a more equitable financial arrangement in the publications budget for Hawkeye.

"During the past two years, the Hawkeye staff has been forced to produce a yearbook of size and quality comparable to those produced in previous years," he asserted.

"Yet, enrollment is down and costs of production are up as compared to the peak years of enrollment and lower publishing costs. If we are to continue to have a first rate yearbook, Hawkeye must receive more funds."

Swank also emphasized a need for more complete coverage of campus affairs in The Daily Iowan, "without sacrificing coverage of affairs of national and other local interest."

Magazine X, Swank said, must express comedy and humor that is in line with tastes of SUI students.

"It must never," he asserted, "become a fraternity or independent sheet, but rather it must represent the entire body of university students."

Zimmerman is treasurer of the student council and was chairman of the book exchange committee.

He also advocated a greater coverage of campus news, including complete coverage of intramural activities.

"The above should be used to replace some of the wire service copy of minor importance and interest to the students," he said.

Zimmerman added that there should be "a more equitable circulation policy in actual operation, based on the situation prevailing in each housing unit."

He also said that from his service on the student council reorganization committee he is convinced that there should be greater coordination between the student council and the Board of Publications.

The five candidates for the two-year posts on the board are Robert Ballantyne, A2, Iowa City; Robert Doerr, A2, Sioux City; Constance Hastings, A2, Iowa City; John R. Stewart, A2, Cedar Rapids, and Harold R. Winston, A2, Griswold.

Ballantyne, a public relations major, has served on the student council publicity committee, subcommittee of Union board, Frivol and Hawkeye.

He said that students should be informed of the purpose and functions of the board of publications to create a greater interest in campus publications.

"It's my feeling," he said, "that SUI students do not know the purposes and functions of the Student Board of Publications."

Doerr, a journalism major, worked on this year's Hawkeye, was a member of the Panacea cast and served with Campus Chest.

He said he will back the new humor magazine to make it an essential part of student life.

"I will strive for policies that are both advantageous to staffs of all publications and beneficial to the students of the university," he said.

Miss Hastings is a journalism major and is active in Town Women and forensics.

She said The Daily Iowan should have better coverage of campus news, more interpretive editorials and student opinion polls and should encourage letters to the editor.

"I think the student body has a right to expect The Iowan to interpret the news, both campus and non-campus, via the editorial page and to let us know how our paper stands on certain issues," she said.

Miss Hastings said she favors the establishment of an investigating committee made up of students from the Board of Publications to look into methods of bettering the financial situation of publications and thus make them more beneficial to each student.

She added that Magazine X should be representative of the entire student body, and should encourage contributions from students not on the regular staff.

Stewart, a member of the Quadrangle council, has served on the book exchange committee of the student council.

He said he will work for the following, if elected: "1. Greater responsibility of student publications to the individual and the student body.

"2. Increased coverage of activities of direct and local interest.

"3. Greater coordination and cooperation between the Board of Publications and the student council."

Winston, a political science major, is planning to go into law. He has served on the book exchange committee.

He called for an "inexpensive humor magazine that will appeal to the whole student body."

He also advocated a coordination of student governmental functions and a closer cooperation between the Board of Publications and the student council.

Winston said that there should be a better distribution of The Daily Iowan and called for a better arrangement of working hours for reporters, "so they can more adequately cover campus affairs."

Elections at a Glance

Elections Wednesday will include the following:

1. Student Board of Publications. Five students are seeking two two-year terms and four, one one-year term.

2. Student Council. Four students are running for three posts as representatives of married students and six for three posts as delegates of the interfraternity council.

3. Panacea committee. Four candidates are seeking two one-year positions.

4. Union board. Liberal arts students will choose three women and three men. Commerce students will elect one woman and one man.

5. University Women's association. Two candidates will run for each of the positions of president, secretary, treasurer and sophomore representative.

6. YWCA board. Four officers will be chosen from seven candidates.

7. Liberal arts group. Juniors in the college of liberal arts will elect their class officers for next year. The top four vote-getters from among 12 candidates will be named president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer, respectively.

8. Women's Recreation association. Four officers from eight candidates will be elected.

9. Presidential straw vote. Five Democrats and five Republicans are on the ballot.

Students may vote between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Polling places are the Quadrangle, Iowa Memorial Union, Currier hall, Schaeffer hall, Macbride hall, University hall, Engineering building and East hall.

Students must present identification cards before voting.

2 Directors of Panacea Show To Be Picked

The two elective members of the Panacea board for next year will be chosen from a list of four names in the all-campus elections Wednesday.

The board's other three members are chosen by this year's board, two from the east and one from the student council.

The candidates are: Charles Applegate, A3, Jefferson. Applegate is a YMCA member, was a member of this year's Panacea publicity staff.

Robert Doerr, A3, Orange City. Doerr, a dramatic arts major, worked on productions in the dramatic arts department this year.

Carroll Ramseyer, A2, Des Moines. Ramseyer, a pre-law student, is on the Hillcrest council and was with Panacea this year.

William Skaife, A3, Dubuque. Skaife won the Hancher oratorical contest this year, has served as master of ceremonies for Dolphin shows, and is active in debate, Forensics, and Panacea.

All students will vote for the two board members, Panacea and Student Board of Publications being the only posts for which all may vote.

The candidates are: Charles Applegate, A3, Jefferson. Applegate is a YMCA member, was a member of this year's Panacea publicity staff.

Robert Doerr, A3, Orange City. Doerr, a dramatic arts major, worked on productions in the dramatic arts department this year.

Carroll Ramseyer, A2, Des Moines. Ramseyer, a pre-law student, is on the Hillcrest council and was with Panacea this year.

William Skaife, A3, Dubuque. Skaife won the Hancher oratorical contest this year, has served as master of ceremonies for Dolphin shows, and is active in debate, Forensics, and Panacea.

Truman Stays On SUI Ballot

SUI campus election officials said Monday that President Truman's name will stay on the ballot in Wednesday's preference poll.

Truman announced at a Jackson day dinner in Washington Saturday that he will not seek the Democratic nomination.

Members of the election committee said that the ballots were printed last Thursday and that they considered it too late to remove the President's name.

Young Progressives Protest SUI Young Progressives Monday asked students to write in the names of their party's candidates, Vincent Hallinan and Charlotta Bass, on the presidential preference slate.

A statement from Larry Ross, A1, president of the campus Young Progressive group, charged that the interests and needs of the members of the university community were not being served by the absence of their candidates from the ballot.

The text of the statement from the Young Progressives follows: "In organizing a poll on any campus, community or area it is necessary that the interests and needs of all participating members be represented. This has not been the case in the proposed straw vote for presidential candidates which is to be part of the general election procedure April 2.

"Little To Offer" "We Young Progressives feel that the two major political parties, whose candidates alone are represented on this ballot, have very little to offer SUI students and American young people in general.

"Therefore, we believe that the candidates of the Progressive party, Vincent Hallinan and Charlotta Bass, should be alternatives on the student vote.

"Their platform includes: (1) five power peace pact, (2) immediate cease-fire in Korea, (3) passage of an FEPC law, (4) halt to the Smith and McCarran Act prosecutions, (5) end to terrorism against the Negro people, (6) defeat of UMT and cessation of the draft, (7) job training for youth, (8) academic freedom in education and (9) increase in federal scholarships to students.

"Since these two candidates do not appear on the ballot, we feel that the only way students can express their desire for peace and prosperity is to write in the names of Vincent Hallinan and Charlotta Bass. We strongly urge them to do so."

Ralph Cockshoot, co-chairman of the election committee, said Monday that names of Young Progressive candidates had not been received in time to be included on the ballot and that the committee had made no provision for writing in candidates names.

Speakers For Debate The political debate is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in room 221A Shaeffer hall.

The speakers will be Jim Jensen, Peter Van Metre and Richard Paulos, Young Democrats, and Bill Ebert, Dave Stanley and Tom Brown, Young Republicans.

The presidential preference ballot to be used Wednesday asks the question, "Which of the following men would you like to see as the next president of the United States?"

The following names are listed: Robert T. A. Russell, Earl Warren, Paul Douglas, Harold Stassen, Harry Truman, Douglas MacArthur, Estes Kefauver, Adlai Stevenson and Dwight Eisenhower.

17 Seek 8 Posts On Union Board

College of liberal arts and college of commerce students will choose an eight-member Iowa Memorial Union board from 17 candidates.

Those in the college of liberal arts will elect three men and three women from 13 candidates. Students in the college of commerce will choose one man and one woman from four candidates.

Only students who have been members of committees of the Union board are eligible to run for posts on the board.

The liberal arts candidates are: Virginia Haverkamp, A3, Muscatine, who is on the fine arts committee. She is a member of the YWCA hospital board and the activity card file committee and served as an assistant orientation leader. She is president of Gamma Phi Beta and is a copy writer for Hawkeye.

Robert Holzappel, A3, Baxter, a member of the movies and television committee. He is a student adviser and student counselor and a member of Phi Eta Sigma.

Richard Albrecht, A2, Hartley, who is a member of the bridge committee. He is a member of the SUI orchestra and band, and financial chairman for Sigma Nu social fraternity.

Mary Joyce Allison, A3, Olathe, Kan., who is on the post-ball game committee. She is also a member of the UWA freshman council, Information First committee, student library committee, Westminster fellowship cabinet and is active in Currier Hall association. She served as an assistant orientation leader.

Jo Ellen Lane, A3, Boone, who is on the post-ball game committee. She is a UWA orientation leader and a member of Freshman Y, YWCA hospital board and cabinet, UWA student faculty committee and the All-Iowa collegiate conference entertainment committee. She is Y entertainment chairman for Oakdale sanatorium, publications and feature section editors for Hawkeye and president of Alpha Chi Omega.

Robert Ballantyne, A2, Iowa City, a member of the post-ball game committee. He is on the student council publicity committee, served as an orientation group leader and is a member of Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity. He appeared in this year's Panacea show and has worked for Hawkeye yearbook and Frivol magazine.

Robert Lynch, A2, Red Oak, a member of the publicity committee. She is also on the student council publicity committee, Greek week committee and activity card file committee. She is an assistant orientation leader and is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta.

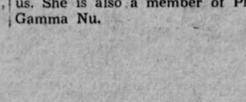

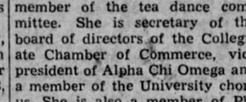

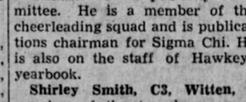

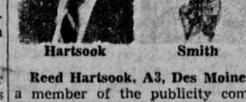

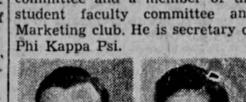

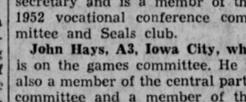

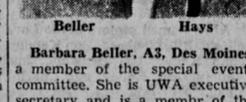

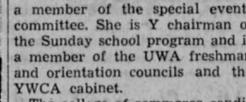

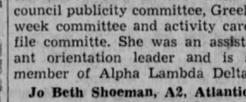

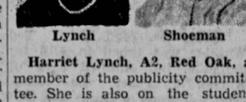

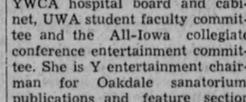

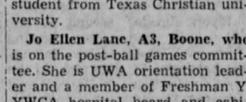

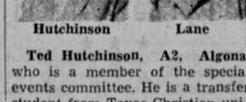

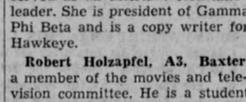

Jo Beth Shoeman, A2, Atlantic, a member of the special events committee. She is Y chairman of the Sunday school program and is a member of the UWA freshman and orientation councils and the YWCA cabinet.

The college of commerce candidates are: Joan Bresnahan, A2, Iowa City, a member of the Union board's publicity committee. She is a member of UWA's orientation council and served as assistant orientation leader. She is a member of the Newman club and works for Hawkeye yearbook.

Jo Ann Evans, A2, Moline, Ill., who is on the games committee. She is a member of YWCA cabinet, UWA student faculty committee, WRA intramurals board, Profile Preview committee and is secretary of UWA's Information First committee.

Bruce Gibson, A3, Lehigh, a member of the fine arts committee. He is president of the Young Democrats and is a member of the United World Federalists. He also is a member of the interfraternity court and was on the staff of Frivol.

Joe Glasman, A2, Des Moines, a member of the movies and television committee.

Student Council To Have Small Part on Ballot

For the first time, the student council will have only a small role in the all-campus elections. Voters will fail to find the customary boxes for the two delegates-at-large. These posts were abolished under the council's recent reorganization plan.

2 Groups in Election The only council seats to be chosen Wednesday are those of the married students and interfraternity council.

Married students will elect three representatives from three candidates. They are Jack Wesenberg, G; Mrs. Barbara Gibson, A4; David M. Stanley, L3, and Peter Van Metre, L3.

Fraternity men will choose three delegates from six candidates. They are Bruce Gibson, A3, Lehigh; Dale Haworth, A2, Cham-paign, Ill.; William Skaife, A3, Dubuque; Dick Gleichman, P1, Rockford, Ill.; Robert Lotts, A3, Clinton, and Charles Wheeler, A3, Des Moines.

Other Delegates The other 26 delegates are being selected outside the Wednesday elections by the groups which they will represent on the council. Delegates already chosen are: Quadrangle—William Isenberger, A1, Sioux City; Kent Forney, A2, Sibley, and Joe Venaglia, C3, Missouri Valley.

Law Commons—Arthur Leftitz, E1, Omaha, Neb. Eastlawn—Jewel Limar, G, Alexandria, La.

Townmen—Ralph Cockshoot, A4, Atlantic; Virgil Hancher Jr., A3, Iowa City, and George Rischoffmuller, C3, McGregor.

Other groups which will elect council representatives, but who have not yet announced them, are Hillcrest, Westlawn, Currier hall, Townwomen, Panhellenic association, all two delegates, and South Quadrangle, Women's Cooperative dormitory, Union board and University Women's association, all one.

Council Meets Thursday All 28 representatives must be chosen by Thursday night, when the new council will take office. The election of the 28 delegates is one of the big moves in reorganization plan. Besides increasing membership from 17 to 28 members and eliminating the delegates-at-large, the plan is expected to cut down excessive work-load and boost the council's powers.

These powers haven't definitely been determined, but one of the purposes of the reorganization is to establish a student judiciary body which would hear appeals from various judiciary bodies of individual units on campus.

In light of this proposal, the University Women's association was given a delegate on the council, because of UWA's judicial arrangement.

16 'Second String' Reds Go on Trial NEW YORK (AP) — Sixteen "second string" Communist leaders went on trial Monday, challenging New York's jury picking system just as the nation's top Reds did three years ago.

Federal Judge Edward J. Dimock delayed proceedings to accept their 42-page written argument. He said jury selecting will start today, although he did not rule out further arguments.

The Communists claimed the federal court panel of prospective jurors discriminates against "manual workers (and the poor) and against Negro and Puerto Rican citizens, and in favor of the owning, well-to-do classes in the community."

The same argument was lost by the nation's 11 top Communist leaders before they were convicted in 1949 of conspiring to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the U.S. government.

Eight of these 16 now are in prison. Three are fugitives from justice.

The 16 now on trial are alleged by the government to have taken over party reins when the others went to prison.

The 16 face the conspiracy charges, and, if convicted, the same maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine each.

George Heiring Elected Head of Wesley Players George Heiring, A1, Marshalltown, has been elected president of Wesley Players for the coming year.

Joyce Miller, A3, North English, retiring president, was elected to Footlight Reporter, official publication.

Other officers elected were Ruth Coon, A2, Mason City, vice-president; Doris Green, N2, Eureka, Ill., secretary; Larry Hart, A2, LeMars, treasurer, and Dean Michel, A1, Iowa City, chaplain.

Group Keeps Close Tab On Rules, Procedure

The student elections Wednesday are only campus-wide, but they are as carefully handled as a regular election.

An elections committee representing groups holding elections has been working for the past month preparing the ballot and checking closely on candidates.

To insure the best handling of the voting, Prof. Robert Ray of the institute of public affairs and his staff will supervise the counting of the ballots.

The elections committee has issued to candidates a list of instructions, which must be followed to the letter.

For instance, candidates will not be allowed to campaign within 100 feet of the polls. Campaign literature to be posted must be approved by the office of student affairs.

Candidates to the Student Board of Publications are the only ones who may actively campaign, and they must limit their expenses to $18.

Members of the elections committee are: Ralph Cockshoot, A4, Atlantic, and Marilyn McMullen, A3, Dubuque, co-chairmen; Francine Appleman, A4, Elmhurst, Ill., Union board; Ann Wells, A3, Story City, Student Board of Publications; Virginia Vavra, A3, Cedar Rapids, Panhellenic association.

Kathryn Beckman, A3, Grundy Center, University Women's association; Sally McCormack, A4, Marshalltown, Women's Recreation association; Louise Bekman Larew, A4, Ottumwa, YWCA, and Bill Merner, A3, Cedar Rapids, Interfraternity council.

Tito Demands Equality In Governing Trieste

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Premier Marshal Tito demanded Monday that Yugoslavia have an equal hand in governing disputed Trieste. He warned the West it risked losing Yugoslav "sympathy" by supporting Italian claims to all of the free territory.

In a fighting speech before parliament, Tito called for joint administration of the territory by Yugoslavia and Italy and "protection" of the Yugoslav minority in Italy.

At one point he called on Italy's Premier Alcide De Gasperi to answer whether "you wish to be friend or enemies." Only a fair settlement of the Trieste question, Tito declared, "can avoid disaster between us and Italy and that would be disaster for the whole world, too."

The premier protested the recent British-American decision to consult with representatives of Italy over Trieste. Such action, he declared, might lose the Western powers the sympathy of the Yugoslav people.

Triste belonged to Italy before World War II. Now both Yugoslavia and Italy claim the Adriatic port and its surrounding territory.

The United States, Britain and France urged that Trieste be returned to Italy in a 1948 declaration when Yugoslavia belonged to the Moscow-dominated cominform. They have not pushed the issue since Tito's break with the Kremlin.

4 Organizations To Choose Officers

Thirty-six candidates—not quite half of the candidates in the all-campus elections—are running for posts as officers of senior class of the college of liberal arts, University Women's association, YWCA and Women's Recreation association.

Juniors in the college of liberal arts will elect their class officers for next year from 12 candidates.

4 Top Vote-Getters The four top vote-getters will be named president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Candidates, all juniors in liberal arts, are: Juanita Bethke, Cherokee; Joan Fuller, Centerville; Eleanor Glick, Creston; Mary Ladd, Iowa City; Peggie Lutz, Des Moines; Marilyn McMullen, Dubuque; Robert Mau, Charles City.

Herb Thompson, Forest City; Jim Turk, Waukegan, Ill.; Peter Van Oosterhout, Orange City; Sally Yates, Greenfield, and Carl B. Zimmerman, Waterloo.

Undergraduate women will choose four officers from eight candidates—two candidates for each post in the University Women's association election.

The candidates: For president, Mary Ladd, A3, Iowa City and Peggie Lutz, A3, Des Moines; for secretary, Terry Jackley, A3, Des Moines, and Joan Schmidt, N2, Charles City.

For treasurer, Joan Fuller, A3, Centerville, and Sally Yates, A3, Greenfield, and for sophomore representative, Sally Sue Chastain, N1, Des Moines, and Helen Stoltz, A1, Ottumwa.

8 YWCA Candidates Eight students are seeking four offices in the YWCA. The candidates: For president, Carla Heller, A3, Appleton, Wis., and Diana Hitting, A3, Davenport; for secretary, Beverley Colville, A3, New Sharon, and Gwen Moore, A3, Manly; for finance chairman, Sarah Adams, A2, Omaha, Neb., and Janice Anthony, A3, Sioux City, and for freshman Y adviser, Adele Cockshoot, A2, Atlantic, and Jo Beth Shoeman, A2, Atlantic.

8 Seek WRA Posts Two students are running for each of four posts in the Women's Recreation association. They are: For president, Joan Myers, N2, Rochelle, Ill., and Jean Metzger, A3, Davenport; for vice-president, Carolyn Caulk, A2, Clayton, Mo., and Betsy Garrett, A2, Des Moines.

For treasurer, Jo Ann Murray, A1, Galesburg, Ill., and Marilyn Falk, A1, Washington, Ia., and for secretary, Mary Ann Chanez, A3, Davenport, and Ruth Ashton, A1, Iowa City.

Reed Hartsook, A3, Des Moines, a member of the publicity committee. He is a member of the cheerleading squad and is publications chairman for Sigma Chi. He is also on the staff of Hawkeye yearbook.

Shirley Smith, C3, Witten, a member of the tea dance committee. She is secretary of the board of directors of the Collegiate Chamber of Commerce, vice president of Alpha Chi Omega and a member of the University chorus. She is also a member of Phi Gamma Nu.

THE AMERICAN LEAGUE

The sun has been known to shine and produce 60-degree weather recently, and the first thing associated with such climate is baseball.

Iowa will have an improved team this year, but before the Hawks grab the majority of space, let's review the prospects for the major leagues, starting with the American.

Back as strong as ever are the defending world champions, the New York Yankees, and they're the team to beat in the American league. Despite the loss of Joe DiMaggio, a loss that can't be taken too lightly, the perennial bombers from the Bronx have groomed six other outfielders, any three of which can match the outfield of any other team in the league. One veteran observer recently said that Casey Stengel's hardest job this year will be deciding which three he'll play.

STENDEL

Stengel Maneuvers Pay

But Stengel has earned wide recognition for his maneuvering of players and parlaying various combinations into three straight world's championships. Even Ty Cobb, who has few kind words for anyone connected with baseball today, thinks Casey is one of the all-time great managers. We might note here that Cobb did take issue with Stengel's platoon system, when Casey evidently believes that's the secret of his success.

At any rate, the Yankees remain as usual—the team to beat.

Giving the Bombers their toughest competition for the flag should be the same teams as a year ago. Cleveland's Indians will have the best chance of upsetting the dope, and only if Tribe hitters begin to shape into a class with the pitchers.

Good Pitch, No Hit

Bob Feller, Early Wynn, Mike Garcia and Bob Lemon are usually better than any team's mound staff, but lack of hitting has given the Tribe an acute case of one-runitis.

Against the Yankees a year ago, the Indians dropped six vital games by one-run margins. This spring Al Lopez' boys have lost six by one run, and the team has taken on the "good pitch, no hit" tag.

The Red Sox will remain in contention if Ted Williams remains in civilian life. His case, which comes into review Wednesday by the marine corps, centers around the left arm injury he sustained in the 1950 all-star game when he crashed into a Chicago fence while chasing a long fly.

50-50 on Williams

Williams was back in action before the end of that season, but the injury left several aftermaths. One result is that the Red Sox can't turn his arm a full 360 degrees, and the left arm is now shorter than the right. Chances are 50-50 whether or not the marines will recall him to active duty as a pilot, but it is fairly certain he won't fly. And the service has little to gain in the way of favorable publicity by recalling him as a non-flyer.

With Ted, the Sox are conceded a chance of winning the flag. Without him, they are conceded a chance of staying in the first division.

Paul Richards' White Sox, the team that amazed everyone by leading the league more than half of last season and finished fourth, will have basically the same personnel this year and should finish somewhere between third and fifth.

Chisox Pitching Off-Form

Pale Hose' pitchers have been far below par this spring, and may not be as good as they looked last year. Even the Cubs, who always look good in the spring, have completely mastered their crosstown rivals to date, and Richards will have to hustle to keep his boys in the first division.

Detroit's Tigers, who move any way but like their namesakes, haven't found the answer to improving their speed and will be hampered again by the lack of same. The Bengals have enough overall strength to remain within reach of the first edition, though.

Philadelphia, under the managership of Jimmy Dykes, showed real possibilities in the closing weeks of 1951, but have made a poor showing this spring. The Athletics won't even approach the pennant but may knock one of the top teams out of the race.

Browns Rebuilding

Despite Rogers Hornsby's vow, "We'll surprise 'em," it will definitely be one of the major wonders of modern baseball if the St. Louis Browns finish above fifth. Even fifth would be a large accomplishment for the last place

Walcott, Charles Sign for Return

(AP Wirephoto)

HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION JERSEY JOE WALCOTT and Ezzard Charles square off just after signing Monday for a title match June 5 in Philadelphia. After losing the title to Walcott last year, Charles will get the same as the champion—30 per cent—for the 15-round rematch. The receipts, besides the regular revenue from the 120,000-seat Municipal Stadium, will include payments for television, radio and movie royalties. Jake Mintz, one of Charles' co-managers, said Monday he expects the fight to gross $600,000. Both fighters will start training about April 15.

Kansas, Peoria In Olympics; Clyde Hits 40

NEW YORK (AP)—Clyde Lovellette, a giant with a feather basket touch, poured in 40 points Monday night to lead Kansas' NCAA champions to a 70-65 victory over fired-up LaSalle and qualify the Jayhawks for the U.S. Olympic basketball team.

The Peoria Caterpillars, who meet Kansas in tonight's finals, also gained Olympic berths by trouncing the Phillips Oilers, 64-50, at Madison Square Garden.

In a phenomenal shooting exhibition, the 6-foot-9 Lovellette, the nation's leading scorer, sent 18 field goals through the mesh and sank four foul shots.

Hits 15 in Row

He tallied 15 in a row for his team in the last eight minutes to wipe out a lead which the scrappy Philadelphia gained in the opening quarter and held until 6 minutes and 40 seconds were left in the game.

Under this year's Olympic rules, each of the finalists places seven players on the U.S. Olympic squad which invades Helsinki this summer.

Coach Warren Womble of the Caterpillars said he would request five members of his squad and two from the other top teams of the AAU.

Played Without Regular

Jackie Moore, the rebound star of the Explorers, had been assigned the main job of trying to stop Lovellette but he was lost to the team early Monday when his mother died in Philadelphia.

The National AAU champion Caterpillars broke the game wide-open with a 10-point rally in the third period and trounced the Oilers of Bartlesville, Okla., 64-50, Monday night to qualify for the U.S. Olympic basketball team.

Caterpillars Romp

After a rough and tumble first half in which the score was tied nine times the Caterpillars went on a scoring binge in the first four minutes of the third period to break the game open.

Grid Great Bo McMillin Dies

BLOOMINGTON, IND. (AP)—Alvin N. (Bo) McMillin, who coached four college and two professional football teams after calling the signals for Centre college's "Prayin' Colonels" of 30 years ago, died Monday. He was 57.

His 35-yard touchdown run in 1921 for Centre college inflicted Harvard's first defeat in six years. He was Walter Camp's all-American quarterback of 1919.

McMillin coached Indiana university to its only Western conference football championship in 1945 after successful coaching careers at Kansas State, Geneva college of Pennsylvania and Centenary college of Louisiana. The 1945 team was undefeated.

He died of a heart attack induced by cancer of the stomach, which forced his retirement last fall as coach of the professional Philadelphia Eagles of the National football league. He had given up a lifetime job at Indiana in 1948 for a $30,000 annual salary as coach McMILLIN of the Detroit Lions. A mid-season slump ended his connection with the Lions after three seasons.

Inventor of the "Crazy T" and the five-man backfield, McMillin was known in the profession as a brilliant improviser with often inadequate player strength. He was president of the National Football Coaches association in 1940.

McMillin was one of the busiest after-dinner speakers in his profession and one of the most quoted.

Never Lost Drawl

The compact, white-haired, Irishman never lost his drawl from a boyhood in Fort Worth, Texas. His annual lament about the sad prospects of "mah pore little boys" was a standard football season preliminary.

He told banquet audiences, "Give me the kind of boy who hunts bears with a switch."

He made Indiana a respected opponent in the Big Ten in his 14 years there after it had hit rock bottom in football prestige. His Hoosier elevens won more conference victories than I.U. had won in its previous 34 years as a Big Ten member.

'We'd Have Died'

Billy Hillenbrand, one of a long line of outstanding Hoosier backs developed by McMillin, said Monday, "Why, we'd have died for Bo!"

McMillin did not swear and plastered his locker rooms with signs such as, "You can be tough as nails and still be a gentleman."

He was voted "Football Man of the Year" for 1945 by the Football Writers Association of America. Fellow coaches polled by the New York World-Telegram named him "Coach of the Year."

Myers, Stassforth Star — Over the Weekend

— Runners Place High

Swimmer Bowen Stassforth and wrestler George Myers were the outstanding Iowa performers in NCAA meets over the weekend.

Myers finished second in the 191-pound class after beating Princeton's Bradley Glass, defending heavyweight champion, in the semi-finals. Toledo's Harry Lanzi defeated Myers in the finals for the title.

Stassforth gained two places in the breaststroke. The Iowa captain placed fourth in the 200 and third in the 100-yard breaststroke. The Hawkeyes' 400-yard freestyle relay team finished sixth. Stassforth's points plus the boost from the relay team gave Iowa eighth place in the final standings.

On the track scene, Coach Francis Cretzmeier's mile relay team ended up third in the Chicago Daily News "Champion of Champions" relay behind victorious Oklahoma and second place Drake.

In the "Banker's Mile," Ted Wheeler was timed in 4:16 for the mile, but finished back of Warren Druetzler, the victor, Dewey Johnson of Drake and Don Gehrmann.

Iowa's Ira Murchison placed third in the 50-yard dash behind Northwestern's Jim Golliday and Illinois' Willie Williams. Valley high of West Des Moines repeated as the state Class B high school indoor track and field champion by scoring 37½ points. Lamoni was second with Lake

Allen Chooses Squad For Olympic Games

NEW YORK (AP)—Coach Forrest (Phog) Allen Monday night named the seven players of his National Collegiate champion team for the 14-man Olympic basketball squad while Willard Womble of the AAU champion Peoria Caterpillars deferred selection of his nominees.

Allen named seniors Clyde Lovellette, Bill Lienhard, Bob Kenney, John Keller, Bill Hoagland, and juniors Dean Kelley, and Charley Hoag.

Womble said he had recommended to the Olympic committee that five of his players be selected along with two others to be chosen from the Phillips Oilers, Hollywood McGees, and air force base of Tinker Field, Okla. The four AAU teams competed in the Olympic trials.

Browns, and judging from their spring record, they are capable of turning the trick.

With Bill Veeck as boss, the Browns are insured of a more steady flow of good material, and with Hornsby as manager it will be more properly used. But the transformation probably won't be nearly complete this year.

Not much can be said for the Washington club except that it will be at or near the bottom of the league. The Senators finished seventh a year ago, and haven't touched the Browns on improvements.

American league predictions:
1. New York
2. Cleveland
3. Boston
4. Chicago
5. Detroit
6. Philadelphia
7. St. Louis
8. Washington
Tomorrow's column will be devoted to the National league outlook.

Gardner Van Dyke, University high's all-around star, won the 50-yard dash and placed second in the pole vault.

Penalty for City Taxes Begins Today

Penalty for late payment of Iowa City property taxes starts today.

Monday was the last day the first-half property taxes could be paid without the three-fourths of 1 per cent penalty being added to the regular tax payment.

Property taxes are lower this year as a result of a reduction in the city budget. Last year's tax figured $32.25 per $1,000 of property evaluation. This year's millage rate, 58.436, means a tax of $58.43 for each $1,000 of property evaluation.

A tax increase is expected for next year.

City High Places Several in Finals of State Music Contest

Iowa City high school placed 28 soloists and 24 ensembles in division 1 of a music contest at Mar-rango over the weekend.

These students will compete April 25-26 in the final solo and ensemble contest at Vinton. Division 1 ratings were awarded to the following:

Janet Schultz, violin; Joneal Boyle and Mary Ann Grolmus, viola; Debbie Welt and Mary Barnett, string bass; John Sunier, piano; Judy Hamilton, flute.

Bill Webster and Carmen Warner, oboe; Bill Kern and Karina Jolliffe, bassoon; Mary Patterson, Miriam Forbes and Karen Paris, clarinet.

Marvin Keefer, alto sax; Merry E. Beatty, baritone sax; John Wicks and Jerry Johnson, coronet; Susan Paulus and John Croy, French horn; John Strabala, tuba.

Ruth Ann Hemsted and Karen Camp, girls' medium voice; Richard Boyle, baritone voice; Graham Crow, Paul Harris and David Wagner, tenor voice.

3 Noted Artists to Speak at Art Conference

Three nationally-known artists will speak at the 22d annual high school art education conference at SUI April 25-26.

F. Louis Hoover, director of art education at Illinois State Normal university, will serve as critic for the high school art exhibit and will speak April 25 on "Teaching High School Art: An Everyday Adventure."

Guest designer Bruce Goff, head of the University of Oklahoma architecture department, will speak April 26. Goff, the designer of a controversial round house which was shown in Life magazine recently, is one of the few United States architects praised by Frank Lloyd Wright.

Guest artist Arnold Blanch, painter from Woodstock, N. Y., will speak on "Art as a Belief" at the afternoon session April 26.

The conference is directed by FAUNCE ATTENDS MEETING.

Dean of Students L. Dale Faunce is in Los Angeles today attending a meeting of the American College Personnel association. The two-day session began Monday.

provide constructive sharing of ideas for the enrichment and growth of art programs in Iowa high schools.

High school artists from all over the state will display work in the main gallery and foyer of the Fine Arts building. Both teachers and students have been invited to attend the showing and special sessions for discussion and criticism of student work.

In addition to lectures and high school exhibits, the program will include films and art demonstrations.

Final Services Today for Mrs. Elsie Soukup

Funeral services for Mrs. Elsie Soukup, 53, who died in an auto crash on highway 218 south of Cedar Rapids Saturday morning, will be held at the Jones funeral home in Washington at 2 p.m. today.

Clayton Soukup, 25, driver of the car in which Mrs. Soukup was riding, and Marcella Soukup, 16, are both in Mercy hospital at Cedar Rapids.

The Soukup car collided with one driven by Daryl W. Gire, 21, of near Fairfield. Gire and two passengers, Alice DeVault, 19, of Libertyville, and Betty Brown, 19, of Fairfield were also taken to Mercy hospital.

Rites in Perry for A. L. Conner

Funeral services for Arthur L. Conner, 50, 941 Iowa ave., will be Wednesday morning at the Workman funeral home in Perry. Conner died Sunday morning after suffering a fatal heart attack while driving on highway one, six miles north of Kalona. Authorities were told by Ursula Martin, Oskaloosa, Conner's companion in the car, that Conner received the attack while driving. The car swerved into a ditch and came to a stop when it collided with a fence. She received no injuries.

Conner was born August 28, 1901, at Perry. He had been a resident of Iowa City for the past 10 years and was employed at Grafts Bottling works. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Fred Laughlin of Iowa City. His parents died previously. The body will be at the Hohen-schuh mortuary here, until this morning when it will be taken to Perry.

SUI to Sponsor Welfare Institute

Several hundred Iowa workers in welfare, probation and parole are expected to attend the fourth annual social welfare institute at SUI April 24-25.

Each conferee will attend one of ten continuous sessions covering some specific problem in social welfare work. A banquet program will feature an address by a national officer of the American Association of Social Workers, and a general session will conclude the conference.

On display during the institute will be a number of furniture and textile items produced by institutions under the state board of control.
