Morris Fired, Then McGrath Quits

Steel Talks Fold; Walkout Imminent

NEW YORK (AP) — Steel wage talks collapsed Thursday and CIO leader Philip Murray said he believed a strike of 700,000 steel workers "will definitely take place" Wednesday.

An industry spokesman said the companies would start "cooling their furnaces today."

It appeared a strike could be averted only by government seizure of the industry — and there was a question by both government and industry whether such a move would be legal.

A spokesman said industry would resist such action if it is attempted.

Industry's Offer Rejected

The breakdown of the wage talks came when the CIO United Steelworkers union rejected an industry wage increase offer that failed to meet proposals by the wage stabilization board.

Almost simultaneously with collapse of the talks here, Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall ruled out any "special price increase" for the steel industry.

The industry contends it would need a $12-a-ton increase in the price of steel to meet the WSB proposals. The government has refused to relax price controls that would limit an increase to slightly more than $2 a ton.

Truman Silent

President Truman refused at a news conference to give any hint as to what action he might take in the steel dispute.

Industry leaders estimated their offer to the union at 16 cents an hour, including a nine-cent-an-hour direct pay boost. Murray estimated it at 14 cents an hour.

The WSB recommended a 17½-cent an hour pay increase and other benefits the industry estimated would raise the total cost to it by about 30 cents an hour.

Steelworkers' pay averages about $1.88 an hour.

Murray told newsmen after Thursday's unsuccessful negotiation session that the union was required by agreement to give a 96-hour strike notice to industry.

A little later Murray put it more strongly:

"I am quite pessimistic and believe now that a strike will definitely take place at 12:01 a.m. (EST) on the morning of April 9."

Service Resumed By Western Union In 39 Key Cities

NEW YORK (AP) — Western Union said it has resumed service in 39 of the key cities hit early Thursday by the first nationwide telegraph strike since 1919, but the strikers still called the walk-out 100 per cent effective.

A company spokesman said further expansion of service will be announced shortly.

The striking AFL commercial telegraphers union (CTU) said some 31,000 Western Union employees walked off the job just one minute after midnight (EST) in the climax to a wage dispute.

Strikers 'Out Solid'

Even after the company claimed to have restored much of its service, Joseph J. Lenahan, a union leader in New York, told newsmen that strikers on the eastern seaboard were "out solid."

Private leased wires to government and defense centers were not affected, the company said. Nor were the leased wires that supply newspapers with their out-of-town news. Cables abroad also were going through.

Telegrams Pile Up

The major effect of the strike was felt by the man on the street. Telegrams backed up by the thousands and in many cities Western Union offices were forced to embargo further wires until supervisory help could clear the jam.

Local Telegraph Office Closes

IT WAS QUIET on the Western Union front here Thursday as local office workers continued on strike in conjunction with a nationwide strike of AFL Western Union employees. Dick Lofton, C3, Keokuk, was one of many who tried the local office door at 110 E. Washington st., only to see a terse telegram taped on the window: "This office temporarily closed, account strike." No picketing occurred here Thursday.

Ridgway Sees Progress in Truce Parlays

MUNSAN, Korea, FRIDAY (AP) — Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said today he thought progress was being made in the armistice talks.

He hinted that a compromise may be likely on unresolved issues, but declined to predict the outcome.

Ridgway met with reporters after an unprecedented conference with the biggest array of allied generals and admirals at the UN command truce camp since negotiations began.

Progress In All Phases

The general, in reply to a question, explained that his comment on progress applied to the important question of prisoner exchange, as well as Russian participation as a neutral inspector and construction of airfields.

Asked if there were any elements of compromise, Ridgway said: "That's a difficult one to be precise in answering. You know what the major unresolved issues are. I think there is little probability of either side conceding."

The staff officers meeting Thursday on exchange of prisoners was called off at allied request after nine straight off-the-record meetings.

Airfields Key Issue

The other two key issues are Russia's role in post-armistice Korea and Communist insistence on rebuilding military airfields during a truce.

An Allied-Red subcommittee resumed meetings on these problems Thursday after staff officers had carried the ball through 66 straight sessions.

Meanwhile, in the air fighting, three jet battles blazed across Korean skies Thursday, climaxing three days of furious fighting in which the fifth air force said 15 Red MIGs were shot down for a total of 40 destroyed or damaged.

The snarling, super-speed dog-fights lasted 45 minutes, five minutes longer than the previous record set March 20.

Newbold Morris He Got the Boot James McGranery He Got a Job

Newbold's Not Mad

WASHINGTON (AP) — Newbold Morris, the ousted corruption sleuth, has a message for Howard McGrath, the ousted attorney general:

"Private life is not so bad."

To please a cameraman, Morris sat shirt-sleeved at a typewriter and pecked out this message:

"Dear Howard:

"I am not mad at you.

"I'm only sorry that you do not really want me to clean house. Keep your shirt on!

"Private life is not so bad.

"Respectfully, Newbold."

Retiring Truman Plans Work as Private Citizen

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman said Thursday he is going home to Independence, Mo., to work as a private citizen for peace and prosperity after he leaves the White House next January.

He ruled out any possibility that he might run for the house or senate.

Truman made the statement at a turbulent, overcrowded news conference climaxed by his announcement that he had accepted the resignation of Attorney General McGrath.

Relaxed and affable, Truman opened up with a statement that he and all his advisers have complete and unequivocal confidence in the Allied team conducting truce talks at Korea.

The President told questioners, he hasn't given a go-ahead to W. Stuart Symington, former head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, or anybody else to run for the senate from Missouri.

Similarly, Truman said, he isn't favoring Gov. Adlai Stevenson or anybody else for the Democratic presidential nomination.

What's he going to do? Why, said the President, he has a lot of things in mind. He said he's going to continue his fight for world peace and for the welfare of the people of the United States.

There was a roar of laughter, in which the President joined, when a reporter asked what he thought of "the Humphrey bill for the disposition of ex-presidents."

It was explained that Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) has introduced a bill which would make all ex-presidents non-voting members of the senate.

Truman said he's thought for a long time that presidents, after leaving the White House, should have floor privileges, including the right to make speeches, in the senate and house.

Federal Judge Appointed New Atty. General

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney General J. Howard McGrath summarily fired the Truman administration's corruption hunter, Newbold Morris Thursday, and then resigned his job in an astonishing two-act political drama.

The firing of Morris, originally appointed by the attorney general, climaxed a row set off by Morris' attempt to delve into the finances of McGrath and other high officials. Less than four hours later, President Truman announced McGrath's departure from the cabinet.

Truman named Federal District Judge James P. McGranery of Philadelphia to be the new attorney general. McGranery, a former assistant attorney general and former Democratic member of the house, announced in Philadelphia: "My job will be to restore the faith of the American people in the government of the United States, and it will be done completely by the department of justice."

Suggests Asbestos Pants

McGrath wired McGranery: "I suggest you bring a pair of asbestos pants with you."

Truman, in announcing McGrath's departure at a news conference, called it a resignation. Asked if it was voluntary, he said it was, but added that all resignations are voluntary.

And McGrath said in a statement that it was a "penalty" for opposing Morris' efforts to delve into the personal financial affairs of government officials, including himself.

"I have stood up for what I believe to be great principles of personal liberty and the fundamental rights of employees of the federal government," McGrath said. "I gladly accept the penalty which in this instance attaches to the performance of duty."

McGrath Had Showdown

McGrath's statement clearly implied that he had had a showdown with Truman on the question of shielding federal employees from questionnaires about their finances, and had lost.

McGrath and secretary of the treasury John Snyder were reported to have raised bitter objections to Morris' questionnaire tactics at a cabinet meeting last Friday.

Morris first heard the news of his ouster when a reporter called to ask him for comment.

'Fire Me in Person'

"Oh, my God!" Morris exclaimed. "You'd think the bum would have had the grace to fire me in person instead of on the news ticker."

Later Morris issued a bitter blast against both McGrath and the Truman administration because of his dismissal as special assistant to the attorney general.

"Everything was cozy, comfortable and cordial until Howard McGrath discovered I meant business," he said. "We can draw this conclusion — official Washington does not want to be investigated."

Morris Leaves Suggestions

"I have no illusions that these recommendations and suggestions will become law during the life of this administration."

Summarizing his brief career in Washington, since his appointment Feb. 1, Morris said "if it hasn't accomplished anything else, we have gotten rid of Howard McGrath. And it took us only two months to do it."

"If we had been given another six months, we would have gotten some more."

McGranery Will Fill Job

The President said the question whether Morris is reinstated as corruption sleuth is entirely up to McGranery.

McGranery, 56, declared he does "not have it in mind" to reappoint Morris, 50, who has many critics on Capitol Hill as well as in the executive branch.

The surprising series of events began shortly after noon, when McGrath sent a curt note to Morris, telling him that he was through "at the close of business today."

Basketball? Faculty vs. Demons In Carnival

First aid and stretchers will be on hand when basketball teams made up of faculty and administrative staff members clash during the all-campus carnival April 19.

The teams, Hancher's Hawks and Dean's Demons, will be captained by Prof. Russell Ross of the political science department and M. L. Huit, men's counselor.

Other Hawks are Prof. Ralph Greenlaw, history; Prof. Nicholas Risanovsky, political science; Prof. Walter Daykin, labor and industrial management; Prof. Clark Bloom, economics; Prof. S. M. Falter, law; and Marvin Sommers, political science.

Demons, besides Huit, are L. Dale Faunce, dean of students; Walter Geiger, business office; Frank Burge, Memorial Union assistant director; and R. E. Sweitzer, foreign students counselor.

Dr. Chester I. Miller, director of student health, will supervise treatment of casualties.

Omicron Delta Kappa and Mortar Board are sponsoring the event.

Students Acquire Voice On 'Code of Life' Group

The student body will for the first time be represented on the committee on student life — the committee which determines the rules for student conduct, it was announced at a meeting of the council Thursday night.

In other business the council named a committee to meet with Town Men on election procedures, and adopted by-laws to its constitution which effect the reorganization of the council.

The announcement that the student body will be represented on the committee on student life came in a letter from SUI President Virgil M. Hancher, which was read at the meeting.

Council on Committees

The new by-laws provide for student council representation on four university committees; calendar, homecoming parade and program, student trip, and library.

They also provide:

1. A student council committee of three on proposed student organization to meet with student groups which wish to set up organizations.
2. Internal committee organization of the council, and that a committee may, if it desires, augment its membership with students who are not student council members.
3. That the council may name a non-member as chairman of the

Taft Is Confident Of Illinois Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — A confident Sen. Robert A. Taft opened his final drive for Illinois votes and delegates Thursday with a prediction he will outdo his recent Wisconsin victory.

Taft and Harold E. Stassen are the only major Republican contenders in the Illinois presidential preference primary Tuesday. However, drives for a write-in vote for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower have been made in several sections of the state.

Taft and Stassen opened a series of downstate speaking engagements that will run into the weekend.

Taft, cheered by victories in Wisconsin and Nebraska this week, was asked by newsmen if he expected an uphill fight from now to convention time.

"Uphill, no," he laughed. "It will be a downhill fight."

He predicted he will win the Illinois primary by a "much larger margin" than his victory in Wisconsin.

Stassen made a bid for support from Illinois backers of Eisenhower and others opposed to Taft's policies.

Rock Island Jury Indicts 6 for Bribery In Horsemeat Deals

ROCK ISLAND, ILL. (AP) — The Rock Island county grand jury Thursday returned true bills charging six men with bribery in connection with illegal horse meat operations.

The grand jury which will complete its investigation next Wednesday took the following action:

Charged Matt Klaersch, Oak Park, Ill., and Robert Klotz, Chicago, with giving $200 in bribes to Edward F. McCarthy, Chicago, and Charles D. Hunter, Alledo, Ill., both former state food inspectors.

Named McCarthy and Hunter for allegedly accepting bribes from Klaersch and Klotz to go easy on meat inspections at the Tri-City Packing company at Silvis, Ill.

Charged Fritz E. Lindsogk of the Moline Packing company, with giving $70 in bribes to McCarthy and John C. Malone, Chicago, also a former state meat inspector to not process meat samples taken from Lindsogk's establishment.

Malone was charged with accepting a bribe.

1st District GOP Picks Taft

DES MOINES (AP) — First congressional district Republicans chose two Taft men as their national convention delegates at an informal caucus Thursday. Johnson county is included in the first district.

The two chosen are State Rep. Ernest Palmer, Jr., Fort Madison attorney, and George Foerster of Middle Amana, general manager of Amana Refrigeration, Inc.

The only other nominee was William B. Anderson, West Branch undertaker, who declined to express a preference for the Republican presidential nomination.

The vote was 351 for Palmer, 294 for Foerster and 161 for Anderson.

The first district delegates to today's Republican state presidential election met informally to make their selections which will be made formally at the congressional district caucus this morning.

Harold Thuenen, Davenport attorney, and rated as a supporter of U.S. Sen. Robert A. Taft for the presidential nomination, was slated to be the first district representative on the convention nomination's committee.

The nomination convention, to be composed of one representative of each of the eight congressional districts, will present the slate of delegates-at-large for the consideration of the full convention today.

Wow! Germ Pancakes

TOKYO (FRIDAY) (AP) — Now the Communists are saying U.S. planes are dropping exploding pancakes on unsuspecting Koreans.

Peiping said two U.S. warplanes near the front on March 12 dropped a batch of pancakes, which broke open in air, scattering germs all over everything.

Russia Breaks Relations With Cuban Government

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Russia cut off diplomatic relations with Cuba Thursday over Cuba's refusal of entry to two airborne Soviet diplomatic couriers carrying bags of documents from Mexico City.

Cuban sources have reported the Russians were trying to use Havana as a way-station for secret Communist documents and propaganda to Latin America Red centers via Mexican and other foreign places.

4 More Council Members Picked

Three campus groups Thursday announced representatives to the student council, elected outside the all-campus elections.

The representatives are: from Westlawn, Violet Gordanier, N3, Postville, and Barbara Hoffman, N1, Monticello; from Women's Boarding cooperatives (Fairchild, Howard and Russell houses), Anne Saxton, A3, Clinton, and from University Women's association Mary Ladd, A3, Iowa City.

PLANNING THEIR TRIP TO SCOTLAND are three members of the SUI Scottish Highlanders. They are (left to right) Sharon Brown, A3, Iowa City; Jean Slavata, A4, Iowa City, and Marjha Hale, A3, Burlington. The all-women bagpipe band will tour France and England this summer. Tonight they will appear at the Kansas City Reserve Officers Training Corps circus and will return to the SUI campus Saturday.

Scholarship Bids Open for 1952-53

Students wishing to apply for new scholarships or renewal of scholarships now held may obtain application blanks from the office of student affairs.

All scholarship applications must be submitted by June 4 to be eligible for the 1952-53 school year.

Dean of students L. Dale Faunce advised applicants to secure the blanks before spring vacation to allow parents to fill out required sections over the Easter holidays.

Application blanks are available for the following scholarships: university merit, LaVerne Noyes, student aid, Carr and I-Club.

Congratulations, Magazine X

For a number of years the SUI humor magazine has been kicked around by various individuals and groups.

At one time there was so much dissatisfaction with the magazine that the men of one dormitory collected hundreds of copies and brought them back in protest.

We realize that there never has been and never will be a magazine which will please everyone. There are those students who want clean jokes and those who want something on the rougher side.

There are those who want more pictures and those who want more stories.

There are those who want an inexpensive magazine, and those who want to see the magazine printed on slick paper and with a stiff cover.

Trying to please everyone is impossible.

The next best thing is trying to please as many as possible.

It seems to us, from the way sales have been, that the new MAGAZINE X has come as close to hitting a happy medium as any magazine we've had in the last four years.

Granted, there is room for improvement. But no one realizes this better than the MAGAZINE X staffers.

Judging from comments which were chosen from SUI students at random it appears that the majority of the campus thinks this was a good beginning for the new magazine.

Generally, the jokes and feature stories were good. The two-page spread of the professor was terrific.

We congratulate the MAGAZINE X staff and are looking forward to next month's issue with enthusiasm.

The Pickerel Comes Up

APPEARING TO LEAP completely out of water, the U.S. submarine Pickerel surfaces at a 48-degree angle off the Hawaiian island of Oahu. The Pickerel is coming up from a depth of 150 feet. Picture was taken by a navy photographer on an accompanying submarine, the Sabalo. The Pickerel was kept under sonar "observation" as it neared the surface, enabling the photographer to have his camera focused on the approximate spot where the Pickerel would appear.

Easter Fluctuates —

All Because of the Moon

— By 35 Days

By Central Press
Easter this year falls on April 13. If you have ever wondered why Easter moves about the calendar from year to year, science has the answer. It is due to that most capricious of all heavenly bodies, the moon.

Unlike most other momentous events, Easter, the day celebrated by one-third of the world as marking the Resurrection of Christ, does not fall on some fixed date, but is determined by the majestic movement of the heavenly bodies through space.

When the church council of Nicea met in 324 A. D. to fix the date of Easter it was decided that "Easter day" always is the first Sunday after the full moon which happens upon, or next after, the 21st day of March; and if the full moon happens on a Sunday, then Easter day is the Sunday after.

For more than 100 years, efforts have been made by religious leaders and world statesmen to agree upon a fixed date for the celebration of Easter. Twice the League of Nations, in 1923 and again in 1928, attempted to reach an agreement on the date. At both of these sessions, while no official action was taken, there was practically unanimous agreement on the second Sunday in April.

England Acted
England was the only nation which took any action. In 1928 the British parliament passed its famous Easter act, providing that England recognize Easter day each year as the second Sunday in April, on the condition that the other members of the League of Nations and also the United States agreed upon the same date. However, no other nation took similar action.

In ancient days months were reckoned by the phases of the moon. The practice of reckoning time in this way was so universal that the Christian, Jewish and Moslem faiths all computed their holy days according to the phase of the moon.

The Jews in Jerusalem set the date of the Passover, which corresponds to the Christian celebration of Easter. For the Jews the day began at dusk when all three stars of the third magnitude were visible. In order to determine the phase of the moon they watched for the first sign of the crescent new moon.

Sometimes the new moon was visible just at dusk. Then the question would arise as to which was seen first, the moon or the three stars. If the moon was seen first it belonged to the day just ending. However, if the three stars were observed first the moon would belong to the new day and the morrow would usher in the new month.

Fictitious Moon
To get away from this uncertainty

the method was simplified. Instead of the actual moon a fictitious moon was imagined to be in the sky which would have a uniform motion and always circle the earth in the average length of the month.

Thus it became possible to predict the appearance of the new moon with mathematical accuracy. The idea of a fictitious moon is neither new nor novel. Astronomers use a fictitious sun to calculate the length of the day.

Modern Christian nations in determining the date of Easter Sunday are thus following the practice of ancient peoples in measuring time. No layman can determine the date in advance, anyone than he can predict the moment of an eclipse of the moon or sun. This only can be done by the calculations of astronomers.

Wide Variation
In following the method laid down by the church council of Nicea the date of Easter may fall on any one of 35 days of the year. It is this wide variation that has influenced both church and secular organizations to stabilize the date of Easter.

The second Sunday in April is the day most generally suggested, as increased knowledge and recent discoveries indicate April 7 as the date of the Crucifixion. This is the date agreed upon by scholars as a result of a study of the Babylonian calendar.

"It is generally known that after the exile the Jews adopted the Babylonian calendar," says Dr. Albert T. Olmstead of the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago.

Babylonian Calendar Found
"What is not so well known is that thanks to astronomical tablets lately discovered, we can establish a calendar of events in the late Babylonian period with rarely the probability of error of a day.

"We can extend the calendar through the early years of the Christian era down to 45 A. D. by the repetition of cycles proven hitherto correct.

"We thus have a knowledge we never had before—an exact knowledge of the dates of the great events of the life of Christ, extending from His birth down to His Crucifixion and His Resurrection. The world can now retrace the dates of these events with an assurance it never possessed before."

Minister Tries New Approach

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—A minister has stopped trying to persuade folks who don't go to church to mend their ways. Instead he just hands them a list he calls "Why I Don't Go To Movies," which lists these reasons:

1. The manager of the theater never calls on me.
2. Every time I go they ask me for money.
3. Not all the folks live up to the high standards of the film characters.
4. I went so much as a child, I've got all the entertainment I need.
5. The performance lasts too long. I can't sit still for more than an hour.
6. I don't care for some of the people I meet at the theater.
7. I don't always agree with what I hear and see.
8. I don't think they have very good music at the theater.

See Japanese Request For Ships from U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—One of the first requests Japan makes after the peace treaty goes into effect probably will be for a substantial number of small armed ships on a lease basis.

The craft would be used for a coastal patrol.

The navy says it "will consider" the proposal when it comes in.

Scope of NATO Cited In Reply to De Gaulle

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

Gen. Charles De Gaulle is criticizing the North Atlantic Treaty organization as being based on an overly narrow concept of defense.

What's needed, he says, is to meet the world danger on a world scale, not merely in the North Atlantic. "It should be organized by the three great western powers — the U. S., Britain and France — in cooperation with Germany in Europe and Japan in the far east."

Well, where has the general been for the last six years? In that period the United States alone has given $35 1/2 billion to other countries, in one way or another, to fight Russian imperialistic communism. Until recently, hunger and economic derangement have consumed the most.

Direct economic aid has gone to 22 nations with a population of nearly 450 million people. Point four aid, a slightly different thing designed to help underdeveloped countries help themselves, goes to 31 nations with a population of 650 million. Military aid goes to 26 nations with a population of nearly 500 million.

Next year's program calls for nearly six billions for Europe, half a billion for Africa, half a billion for Latin-America, half a billion for the south Pacific, a billion for Asia. And this is merely the contribution of the United States.

Britain is fighting the Communists in Malaya, France in Indo-China, and the U. S. heads the list of 17 cooperating nations fighting in Korea.

As an example of what De Gaulle is talking about, France, Britain and the United States are helping Yugoslavia, a Communist but not a Russian satellite state.

Japan, Australia and New Zealand are tied to world defense by treaty. Germany is now the main mobilized base for European defense, and treaty arrangements for her direct participation are being pushed.

Canada, Burma, the French satellite states of Indo-China, the British satellite state of Malaya,

Cuba's Batista Is Jack-of-All Trades

A 51-year-old former carpenter, barber, tailor and stenographer is back in power in Cuba after a lightning coup d'etat.

Stocky, black-haired Fulgencio Batista returns to a familiar job. In a similar move in 1933 the then staff sergeant took over shortly after President Gerardo Machado was overthrown.

Born of poor parents in Cuba, he worked in the fields before learning a trade. He joined the army at 20 and rose to the highest non-commissioned rank. He studied stenography at night for seven years. He became stenographer to the Cuban general staff, a post which revealed to him the inside workings of the military.

After the 1933 coup, Batista became a colonel and chief of staff, meanwhile exercising control from behind the scenes. In 1939 he retired as a major general and was elected to a four-year term as president in 1940.

Alfred University, still without an ROTC unit, is doing the best thing for its students, helping them enroll in a local army reserve training unit.

Staff Leads SUI Race For Red Cross Funds

With reports still coming in on the Johnson county Red Cross drive, the results so far show the faculty and staff at SUI leading the University race for funds.

To date $2,124.60 has been donated by the faculty and staff. This is 90 per cent of their quota, which has been re-set at $2,400.

The annual drive is in its fourth week of operation, but the recent tornado in the southern states has caused all quotas to be raised.

The original quota had been set at $19,844, but an additional $1,215 has been assigned to Johnson county by the National Red Cross organization to make the goal $21,059. Contributors have been asked to increase donations at least 10 per cent over previous amounts.

Due to the increased goal, no reports are yet available from the other University groups. These include the University hospital, women's and men's housing groups.

A complete report on the drive's progress is expected by Monday.

Sally Yeates Given Adelaide Burge Bond

Sally Ann Yeates, A3, Greenfield, was given the Adelaide L. Burge award at the University Women's association Recognition day Thursday afternoon in the River room of the Iowa Union.

June Marken, A4, Des Moines, last year's winner, presented the award which is granted annually to a junior woman for her scholarship, leadership, service and contribution to financing her own education.

Mrs. Burge was SUI dean of women for 23 years and the bond is furnished by Mrs. Burge's sister, Katherine LaSheck, SUI instructor in voice and music.

Sue Orsborn, A4, Red Oak, past president of UWA, was mistress of ceremonies for the occasion.

Juliana Says World Needs U.S. Guidance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Queen Juliana of the Netherlands told a cheering congress Thursday that if nations work together and develop confidence in one another, peace may come to "this poor world."

The 42-year-old queen, here on a three-week tour to thank the U. S. for the aid it has given her country, warned that the road to peace may be rocky.

"Mankind in its distress has to trust largely to your good judgment for its deliverance," she told congress.

"This places on each of you the full burden of a responsibility. Nobody will envy you, as your decisions have enormous repercussions all through the world."

The Queen's husband, Prince Bernhard, came in unannounced, but he was recognized and the applause started.

The amazing height of Remington Feeny

Remington Feeny's money went to his feet. Being extremely cautious, he hid his money in his shoes so he could always keep it with him. By the time he was 48, he was nine feet tall.

Money can be used to grow on, but not necessarily by Mr. Feeny's method. For instance, more than 1,100,000 people have shown their faith in the future of the Bell Telephone System by investing their money in it. About one-fifth of them are Bell employees who bought stock through a payroll savings plan.

It takes both money and people to keep the Bell System growing and improving to meet our country's telephone needs. That's why college men with the right qualifications can find interesting opportunities with us—in engineering, research, operating and administration.

AHA! A LETTER!

I'd just about given up hope of getting a letter commenting on this column, but Thursday one was left on my desk. And, as may be expected, the letter was from a Giant fan.

Thursday morning I renege on the prediction I'd made the day before — that the New York Giants would win the National league pennant. I did so because Monte Irvin broke his ankle sliding into third and may be out for the rest of the season.

The letter, which came from Jack Wiggins, a student from Chicago, criticizes my action. I expected someone to. Most people don't change their predictions, but since the season hasn't started I'm taking that liberty.

Other Losses Considered
Another person stopped me on the street and asked me why I didn't lower the Yankees and Red Sox too, since Gerry Coleman and Ted Williams won't be around to help. Before making my guesses, I took into account that the two would be recalled into the marines. But no one could foresee that Irvin would make a foolish slide and cripple the Giants.

Wiggins, by his own admission, is a "die-hard Giant fan," and thinks that the loss of any one man will not cripple the New Yorkers to the extent that they will blow the pennant.

Well Exhibit A for the defense will be Laraine Day, wife of New York manager Leo Durocher. Miss Day or Mrs. Durocher, whichever is correct, wrote an article for Quick magazine this week telling why the Giants will win the pennant.

'Few Better'
She gave the majority of credit for last year's success to Monte Irvin, also mentioning that Leo may have had something to do with the team. She expressed the belief that Monte should have been chosen the league's Most Valuable Player, and made him No. 1 when talking about this year's team.

She said, "As for hitting, the Giants have a powerhouse in heavyweights like Monte Irvin, Bobby Thompson and Alvin Dark. There are few better ball players than Irvin. Last year he led the league in runs-batted-in, hit a home run in every park he played in, and helped Leo win many close ones."

Wiggins continues, "I'd be the first one to admit that the loss of Irvin will hurt the Giants but nobody can say at this point that the loss will cause the Giants to lose the pennant." That may be true, but by the same token no one can say they'll win without him.

Must Have Aptitude
The writer also refers to Willie Mays as being a reason why his team will come in ahead. That's wishful thinking, I believe, because no draft board will continue to believe that a man who is a good major league outfielder can't pass an army aptitude test.

The fact remains that Leo Durocher is short an outfielder and will either have to call one in from the minors or move Whitey Lockman into the outer gardens and find a first-baseman somewhere. Right now, Brooklyn's outlook is brighter.

Lucas Withdraws From NAAU Swim; Stassforth Only Hope

Iowa's entry list in the National AAU swimming championships at New Haven, Conn., was shortened to one Thursday as distance man Buddy Lucas withdrew from the meet and returned to Iowa City.

Lucas said that Coach David Armbruster had left the decision about his entry up to him. Lucas felt that he was missing too much school and needed to catch up.

The New Zealand freshman had been entered in the AAU's 1500-meter race before changing his mind.

Last week he swam in the NCAA championship meet but failed to place in the 1500-meter event. His time of 19:25.3 was a new Iowa record.

Giant Star Is Out Indefinitely

Thomson Gets Irvin's Place In Left Field

DENVER (AP)—"I heal fast," solemn-faced Monte Irvin, injured New York Giants outfielder and batting star said Thursday from his hospital bed.

"I feel maybe I can be back playing in eight or ten weeks." Then, as if realizing the situation might be more serious than he thinks, he added: "I hope I can get to play a few games, anyway."

Propped on a pillow of his corner bed in a four-man ward at Mercy hospital was his right leg, rigid in a cast from ankle to above the knee.

Could Ruin Giants
The cast might well be the iron collar that chokes off the Giants' hopes for a second straight National league pennant. Irvin's ankle snapped in a compound fracture as he slid into third base in the second inning of Wednesday's exhibition game with the Cleveland Indians in Denver Bears stadium.

A Denver surgeon who set the ankle declined to say when the stellar Negro left fielder might be able to use it again. It's a serious fracture, he said, and everything depends on how the mending process progresses.

To get an idea of what Irvin's loss means to the Giants, look at his last year's figures: batting average .312; home runs, 24; runs batted in, 121.

1st Broken Bone
This is the first time I ever got a broken bone," Irvin said. "I can't tell you how I broke it. But I think I did it just as I started my slide. Must have caught my spikes in the dirt."

Irvin said he couldn't recall that Al Rosen, Cleveland third baseman, made any motion that he was about to catch a throw from the outfield—a throw which was cut off and made the slide unnecessary.

"Rosen was just standing there," the Giant swatter said. "I thought I'd better slide to get to that base, so I slid."

Won't Make Trade
Meantime, Manager Leo Durocher said Bobby Thomson, hero of the 1951 playoffs with the Brooklyn Dodgers, would take over Irvin's left field spot.

Thomson started as an outfielder with the Giants but was shifted to third base last season and became a star. Thomson, whom Durocher replaced at third, will get the infield job, Durocher said, with Willie Mays, fleet center fielder, moving up to the clean up spot on the batting list.

Durocher added "that as of now, we are not seeking a trade to get a replacement for Irvin."

ALL-STARS TRAIL

Mays, Simpson Express Anxiety

GRIEF-STRICKEN OVER THE INJURY of Monte Irvin are Willie Mays (left) New York Giant centerfielder and roommate of Irvin, and Harry Simpson of the Cleveland Indians. The two Negro stars watch as Irvin was carried from the field after breaking his right ankle, thus seriously impairing Giant pennant hopes.

2d Auto Tragedy — Pitcher's Daughter Killed

— For Art Houtteman

CLEVELAND, TENN. (AP)—The life of baseball player Art Houtteman was rocked by a tragic automobile accident for the second time when his only child was killed near here Thursday.

Cheryl Lynne, 7-month-old daughter of the Detroit Tiger star, was thrown to earth when a large, new Cadillac automobile plunged from a highway 16 miles north of here.

The pitcher's wife, child and mother, Mrs. Rosamont Houtteman, had been motoring north in advance of the team, which breaks spring training at Lakeland, Fla., today.

Suffer Minor Injuries
The women were hospitalized due to minor injuries and shock.

Highway patrolman Charles Tate quoted the younger Mrs. Houtteman as saying she was driving at about 60 miles per hour when the automobile touched a soft shoulder on U. S. highway 411.

The car spun from control, crashed through a farm fence and

East to Defend State Class A Title Saturday

By LEE CANNING

Defending champion East Des Moines goes after its third straight state Class A high school indoor track championship Saturday in the field house.

Finals in the pole vault, 440-yard run and the two-mile relay will highlight the afternoon events which start at 1:30. The evening starting time is 7.

East's biggest challenge probably will come from Des Moines Roosevelt, which topped the defending titlists in the junior division of the state AAU. Davenport, winner of the Mississippi Valley conference crown, also rates as a contender for the state championship.

Ottumwa's Bulldogs, recent victors in the Little Six indoor meet, could push all three teams for first place.

East is led by sprinter Fred Lucas, winner of the 50-yard dash in 1951.

Centerville's Larry Thomas and Davenport's Ira Dunsworth will be back to defend 880-yard titles won in 1951. The broad jump champions of last year, Dick Stuber of Ames, Bill Soltau of Davenport and Bruce Penquite of North Des Moines also have returned.

North Des Moines will bring the largest squad, 39 runners, to the meet. Newton is second with 35 entries while Roosevelt of Des Moines has 31.

Big Names Trail In Masters Golf

AUGUSTA (AP)—Ray Gafford, a tall, thin Texan, who plays in comparatively few tournaments, and Johnny Palmer the pudgy North Carolinian who plugs along but seldom wins, got out in front Thursday in the opening round of the "mystery" Masters Golf Tournament.

They shot scores of 34-35-69 over the long, treacherous Augusta National course to take a one stroke lead over three of the ranking favorites, defending Champion Ben Hogan, Sammy Snead and Al Besselink.

Although the golfers weren't bothered on a day of low scoring, the 16th Masters tournament drew the "mystery" tag in the present because of a strike of Western Union telegraphers. This hampered the efforts of a big corps of writers in getting out the news of the tournament. They were forced to resort to telephones, radio and even air mail.

Braves Edge Brooklyn, 5-4, In 13th Inning

MOBILE, ALA. (AP)—Ebba St. Claire's ground rule double into the right field crowd drove in the winning run Thursday as the Boston Braves nipped Brooklyn 5-4 in the 13th inning.

Boston had gone into a one-run lead in the fifth, 4-3 with a four-run outburst.

Brooklyn's Roy Campanella tied the count at 4-4 in the seventh with a home run.

Cubs Win 17th
The Chicago Cubs won their seventh consecutive victory and their 17th triumph in 25 games Thursday by lathering the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10-5.

The Cubs hammered four Pirate hurlers for 11 hits and clouted seven runs in the first three innings.

Chisox 2, Browns 1
SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS (AP)—The Chicago White Sox, playing under the direction of coach Doc Cramer, Thursday defeated the St. Louis Browns, 2-1, at Mission Field.

Phils 4, Cards 3
WAYCROSS, GA. (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies whipped the St. Louis Cardinals 4-3 Thursday with Russ Meyer going the route for the winners.

It was the first time since the Grapefruit league opened exhibition play that the Phillies have let a hurler go the full nine innings.

Reds Stop Nats, 5-1
CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds spotted Washington one first-inning run but rallied to defeat the Nats, 5-1, in an exhibition baseball game here Thursday.

Sportsmen Pay Tribute to Bo

BLOOMINGTON, IND. (AP)—The men who played football with, for and against A. N. (Bo) McMillin met at his funeral Thursday and told one another there never was anybody else quite like the Texas Irishman.

James (Red) Weaver of Ashland, Ky., a lineman with the Centre college team of 1919 on which Bo was all-America quarterback, wanted to know, "who else carried the ball 75 per cent of the time and backed up the line on defense?"

Frank Leahy, head coach at Notre Dame, commented that he had talked to many players coached by McMillin and thought it was a little unusual that every one of them loved Bo.

Greatest Influence
"There probably has not been a coach in recent years who had a greater influence on his players," Leahy said.

Cal Hubbard, a huge man who once beat Harvard almost single handed while playing for Bo at Geneva college, said flatly that McMillin was "one of the greatest coaches of all time and one of the greatest men!" Hubbard is an American league baseball umpire now.

Hubbard and A. B. (Happy) Chandler, former commissioner of baseball, were wiping tears from their cheeks when they walked from St. Charles Catholic church near the Indiana university campus.

4 Weekend Recitals Here

SUI Students To Present Numbers By Handel, Mozart, Wagner, Schubert

Charles Hoag, A1, Davenport, will be featured in the first of four recitals scheduled for this weekend at SUI.

Accompanied by pianist Lynne Belville, A2, Winona, Minn., Hoag will play a base viol concerto by Handel and a sonata by Fuchs in North music hall at 7:30 p.m. today.

Caryl Wamsley, G, Freeport, Ill., and Beryl Pettigrew, G, Ottumwa, will play violin duets by Bartok, and pianist Shirley Moran, A4, Clutier, will play "Fantasy and Fugue in C Major" by Mozart on university station WSUI's "Recital Hall" at 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

Tenor Malcolm Westly, A4, Manly, will sing selections by Benigni, Schubert, Brahms, Marx, Wagner and Gilbert Venter in North music hall at 4 p.m. Sunday. He will be accompanied by pianist Norma Cross of the music faculty.

Following at 7:30 Sunday will be a recital of vocal and clarinet selections, Contralto Marjorie Buckman, A3, West Liberty, accompanied by pianist Arthur Lambert, G, Iowa City, will sing selections by Schubert, Chausson, Debussy, Engel, Horn and Moir.

SUI Librarian To Speak At Iowa State College

Louane L. Newsome, mathematics and physics librarian, will take part in a secondary education conference at Iowa State Teachers college Saturday.

She will join other Iowa librarians in a discussion of the question, "How will your library be evaluated by the North Central association?"

Senate Votes Boost For Disabled Vets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate Thursday voted to boost veterans' pensions and disability payments by $173 million a year to meet the increased cost of living.

It boosted benefits in a house-passed bill by $25 million a year but defeated several efforts to make much more liberal allowances to veterans and their dependents.

The bill now goes back to the house for consideration of senate changes.

The measure would make a 15 per cent hike in compensation for service-connected disability to veterans of all wars who are rated at between 50 and 100 per cent disability. Those with disabilities rated up to 49 per cent would get a 5 per cent increase.

Rotary Club Elects Officers, Directors For Iowa City Area

Dorr Hudson, insurance agent, was elected president of the Iowa City Rotary club by the club's board of directors Thursday.

He succeeds SUI Administrative Dean Allin W. Dakin, who becomes an ex-officio member of the board of directors.

Frank R. Burge, assistant director of the Iowa Memorial Union was chosen vice-president. Both of the new officers will take office July 1.

Newly-elected directors are Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of the SUI school of journalism; Dave Cannon, secretary-treasurer of Economy Advertising company, and the new president and vice-president.

Cedar Rapids Police Arrest Bail Jumper

A man wanted here for jumping a $500 bail bond last November will be arraigned today in Cedar Rapids in connection with false check charges, local police said Thursday.

He is Gail Parker, formerly of Iowa City, who jumped the bond which he had put up on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Cedar Rapids and local police have been seeking him since he was reported seen in a taxicab here Wednesday night. Cedar Rapids police arrested him there Thursday.

2 SUI Professors To Attend Meeting On PreMed Studies

Two educators from SUI will attend the second national conference of a subcommittee on pre-medical education at Buck Hill Falls, Pa., Sunday through Wednesday.

They are Prof. Ralph Ojemann of the Iowa Child Welfare Research station and W. W. Morris, assistant dean for student affairs in the college of medicine.

The subcommittee on pre-medical education is part of an entire survey organization to study medical education. The organization is supported by the John and Mary R. Markle foundation.

It is under joint sponsorship of the council on medical education

Iowa Mountaineers To Show Movies Of Alaskan Trip

The story of the Iowa Mountaineers' expedition to Alaska's McKinley park last summer will be shown in a travelogue in Macbride hall at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Joe Stettner, Chicago guide and photographer who accompanied the group, will show a film of their camping and climbing trips in the Silver Twins mountain region.

The mountaineers left Iowa City Aug. 10 and traveled to Alaska and back by bus, train, and steamship, returning Sept. 10. Several trips were made to the head of Sunset Glacier and some of the 6,200 foot peaks in the high camp area were climbed despite bad weather.

The motion picture and narration will be followed by a showing of color transparencies of the trip taken by John Ebert, expedition leader.

Tickets may be obtained at the door for 80 cents each or by presenting membership cards.

Christian Mission Group Plans Fall Program, Counsels Here

Preparations are afoot for the visit of a University Christian mission to the SUI campus Nov. 9-13.

The Christian mission organization, a department of the National Council of the Churches of Christ, provides campuses across the country with groups of speakers conducting programs similar to a Religion in Life week.

These men and women, recognized primarily for their Christian commitments, are also prominent in business, the professions and education.

The mission coming to SUI will comprise about 20 individuals, according to the Rev. P. Hewison Pollock, executive secretary of the organizing committee.

SUI Grad to Do 'Ike' Publicity

Howard Chase, a 1932 SUI graduate, has been named public relations consultant to the National Citizens for Eisenhower organization.

He will be right hand man of Walter Williams, chairman of the organization, and make his office in the New York national headquarters.

He has served as editorial writer for the Des Moines Register and Tribune and was later employed as an associate editor of the Whaley-Eaton news service in Washington.

ROT Engineers Inspect Arsenal

Thirty-six members of the SUI ROTC engineers went on a field trip to the Rock Island arsenal earlier this week. The group was accompanied by three members of the military staff.

A tour through the arsenal's warehousing and tank rehabilitation facilities was conducted by members of the army engineering office at the arsenal.

Talks were also given by the civilian heads of the department visited.

Also included in the field trip was an inspection of the locks on the Mississippi river at Davenport. The functions and design of the locks were special objects of interest of the inspection.

Transportation to and from the arsenal was furnished by the engineering office at Rock Island.

School Alteration Bids to Be Let

Contractors' bids for alterations to Dean house, former women's dormitory and proposed child welfare preschool laboratory, will be received at a public hearing at 1 p.m. April 18.

According to George L. Horne, superintendent of planning and construction at SUI, contracts will be let for interior remodeling to provide preschool labs on the first floor and experimental rooms on the second.

11 SUI Profs To Attend Coe Meeting

Eleven members of the political science department will attend a conference of Iowa political scientists at Coe college Saturday.

Prof. Kirk H. Porter, head of the department, will lead a discussion on "A National Presidential Primary?" at the opening session. George F. Moore, a political science instructor, will take part in the discussion.

Prof. Russell M. Ross, a member of the committee for drafting a constitution for the conference will participate in a panel on "Iowa Government in Political Science Courses."

The closing session will feature a panel discussion on "International Politics in an American Presidential Year," with Prof. Vernon Van Dyke participating.

Other members of the political science department include: Prof. Francis R. Aumann; James Jensen, G. Missouri Valley; Marvin Summers, G. Iowa City; Donald B. Johnson, instructor; Prof. Lane Davis; Lynn W. Eley, G. Zearing; and Prof. Dean Zenor.

Air ROTC Group Given High Rating After Inspection

A rating of "satisfactory" was awarded to the SUI air force ROTC department after its annual inspection last Friday, an announcement from the department said Thursday.

The rating was the highest possible.

The inspection, held on March 27 and 28, was highlighted by a parade and review of all air force ROTC students.

In addition to the review, the inspecting officers visited classrooms and appraised the facilities of the department.

The inspecting party, President Virgil M. Hancher, and several members of the SUI staff were guests of the air ROTC staff at a luncheon held on the last day of the inspection.

The inspecting officers were Col. Kermit D. Stevens, military department commander at the University of Minnesota; Lt. Col. J. S. Smith, director of operations, headquarters 10th air force, Selfridge, Mich.; and Capt. Steven W. Connors, College of St. Thomas, St. Paul, Minn.
