Omaha Faces New Flood Threat

Iowa City Guard Unit Ordered To Muscatine

3 Medical Examiners Quit In Row Over State's Ruling

DES MOINES (AP) — Dr. Arthur D. Woods of State Center, chairman of the state board of medical examiners, announced late Friday that all three members of the board have resigned.

Woods said in a letter addressed to Gov. William S. Beardsley that the action of the board members "was precipitated by the latest opinion of the attorney general on the proposed rules for licensing displaced physicians" in Iowa.

The resignations will become effective next July 1.

In addition to Dr. Woods, other members are Dr. M. A. Royal, Des Moines, secretary, and Dr. H. E. Farnsworth, Storm Lake.

Legal Power Lacking

Thursday the attorney general's office ruled that the board has no power by law to enforce citizenship requirements against qualified persons who want to practice medicine in Iowa.

The board for 20 years had a rule requiring foreign medical graduates to become citizens before they could be admitted to practice in Iowa. The board now proposed to let them practice provided they had declared their intention to become citizens.

The attorney general's ruling knocked out both provisions.

Resignation Letter Sent

The resignation letter signed by all three board members said: "To properly evaluate the capabilities of foreign-trained doctors there are many problems that must be carefully considered. It is often very difficult to satisfactorily determine the type of training of such physicians and the standards of the schools from which they have come.

"Therefore, the board has considered it of vital importance that all displaced physicians be required to spend one year in an approved hospital or medical school, where they may be supervised and observed prior to examination by the board.

Exams Found Wanting

"A written and oral examination by the board does indicate, in a limited way, the qualifications of a candidate. However, much more information than that is needed.

"Since the laws of the state of Iowa do not permit us to formulate rules and to exercise the precautions we feel are necessary for the public welfare, we do not wish to be responsible for this program any longer."

To Aid Effort On Mississippi At Muscatine

About 45 members of the 34th reconnaissance company, Iowa City's national guard outfit, will leave Sunday morning by commercial bus for Muscatine to assist in "Operation Force Big Water"—the expected flood crest on the Mississippi river.

The unit was alerted Friday afternoon, with four other eastern Iowa companies, by Brig. Gen. Fred C. Tandy, Iowa adjutant general, at the order of Gov. William S. Beardsley.

The other companies are from Davenport, Muscatine, Burlington and Mt. Pleasant. The five units totaling 350 officers and enlisted men are the first to be sent to the Mississippi zone. Eighteen companies have served in the Missouri river flood area.

Company Ready for Move

Friday night, the Iowa City company met in the national guard armory to receive equipment, orders and vaccinations.

Capt. H. W. Dick, commander of the unit, will leave for Muscatine today to confer with that city's mayor and Lt. Col. Ted H. Corry, Davenport, who commands zone "C" of the four-zone river line.

Zone "C" includes the area bounded on the north by the Wapsipinicon river and south to the Muscatine county line. The Iowa City unit will concentrate its activity in that area.

The crisis on the river is expected between April 20 and May 1. The crest is expected to reach Muscatine April 27, which will give the guard unit approximately one week to assist in the construction, repair and maintenance of levees.

Guard Members Prepare to Leave

Sewer Break Weakens Giant Concrete Dikes

OMAHA (AP) — A new flood threat to Omaha developed suddenly Friday night when the mighty Missouri blew out a sewer line running under the dike.

The tremendous water pressure from the Missouri blew out a big concrete sewer line four blocks from the levee. The water ripped out road pavement for 120 feet and sent geyers spouting into the air.

U.S. army engineers rushed hundreds of men and scores of trucks with sandbags and gravel into the danger area. Water began spilling over a large section of the lowland industrial area.

This heartbreaking development came after the raging Missouri had thrown all the strength it could muster at the Omaha and Council Bluffs levees, failed to smash them, and then began to drop.

It appeared to be a sort of surrender for the mighty Mo until the sewer line blew out and the danger was that the rush of water would rip out the sewer line and undermine the levee — or that water building up behind the levee would weaken the giant dikes already soaked with water.

Mississippi Crest Moves

Still sharing the midwest flood spotlight was the upper Mississippi valley, where an all-time high crest moved downstream below St. Paul to throw thousands of river area residents in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois into various stages of flood preparation.

Forecasters trimmed their estimated downstream Mississippi river crests slightly, but not enough to lift the threat of record high water. Dry air is absorbing a lot of moisture and slowing the river's rise, a meteorologist explained.

At imperilled Winona, Minn., with the Mississippi approaching five feet above flood stage, a 1,700-foot strip of plastic 52 inches wide was stretched along the river side of a critical dike to stop seepage.

Snow fence, 3,500 feet of it, was placed off shore to keep waves off dikes which, if they yielded, would pour water over one third of the city of 25,000.

La Crosse Level Breaks Record

At La Crosse, Wis., the Mississippi reached its highest levels since 1880 with a crest still two days away. Bolstered dikes continued to prevent extensive damage.

Water topped flood stage in the quad-cities area of Davenport, Rock Island, Moline and East Moline with the crest now expected April 26.

Business firms along the industrial riverfront at Dubuque hastened "buttoning up" preparations. Water began seeping into basements both downtown and in a residential area at Clinton, Ia.

BULLETIN

HAMBURG, IA. (AP)—Missouri river flood waters edged closer to Hamburg Friday night and an alert was given residents in the east side of town, although evacuation was not ordered.

About 118 families have been evacuated from the south part of Hamburg and about 100 from bottomlands in the immediate vicinity.

Efforts to save Plum creek dike about 15 miles to the north were abandoned Thursday night, after a 150 foot break in the dike developed.

Some 66,000 acres in all were expected to be left under water as the result of this break.

CAA Grounds Airline After Plane Crashes Killing 29 on Board

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Robin Airlines, Inc., was ordered to "cease all air carrier operations" immediately following the crash of one of its C-46 airliners near Los Angeles killing all 29 persons aboard.

The plane, a two-engine transport operated by North Continent Airways, crashed in the Puente hills 25 miles from Los Angeles as the pilot, Capt. Lewis Powell of Los Angeles, was trying to find his way through a thick early-morning fog to the Los Angeles International airport.

A few hours after discovery of the wreckage the Civil Aeronautics administration in Washington grounded the airline.

Administrator Charles F. Horne ordered the line to "cease air carrier operations immediately," stating that the action was predicated upon "an operating history involving violations of civil air regulations and the civil aeronautics act, and by the accidents to aircraft operated by the company."

Horne's telegram was addressed to Robin Airlines, Inc., doing business as North Continent Airline which operated the ill-fated plane.

Harry Bachelor, secretary of the airline, said it was impossible to say what might have caused the crash. The plane left New York Thursday and made stops at Chicago, Kansas City, Amarillo, Tex., and Phoenix, Ariz.

More than 100 high school, junior college and college students were told here by professional journalists Friday that there are plenty of good jobs in all fields of mass communications for those willing to get out and work.

Prospective journalists learned of job opportunities at the opening of a two-day vocational conference in mass communications on campus.

Sixty-six visiting high school, junior college and college students registered Friday, and some 40 SUI students were in attendance at first day sessions.

Editors on Speaker List

Besides members of the school of journalism faculty, speakers Friday included George Williams, executive director of the Iowa Daily Press association; M. A. Fulton, editor of the Davenport Democrat; Hugh Curtis, managing editor of Better Homes and Gardens.

Ralph Shannon, editor of the Washington, Ia., Journal; Emmett Butler, public relations director for Maytag company, Newton; George Yates, chief photographer of the Des Moines Register and Tribune.

Gladys Skelley, home editor, Prairie Farmer; J. B. Birks, circulation manager of the Cedar Rapids Gazette; W. D. Lyon of the W. D. Lyon Advertising agency, Cedar Rapids; Larry Dennis, editorial writer for the Des Moines Register and Tribune, and Edna Herbst, promotion director for station KCRG, Cedar Rapids.

Two More Sessions Today

Tours of the university and two more sessions will conclude the conference today. Here is today's schedule:

8:15 a.m. — Tours of The Daily Iowan, radio station WSUI and the newspaper production laboratory.

Sawyer Says He Will Hike Steel Wages

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Sawyer fired an ultimatum at the nation's government-seized steel industry Friday with the announcement that he will boost steelworkers' wages unless a settlement is reached by next Monday or Tuesday.

Sawyer said he was going ahead with plans for a wage hike because it has thus far been impossible to obtain an industry-union agreement which would "get the government out of the steel business."

Steel industry lawyers were prepared to go into court the instant Sawyer tries to grant the CIO steelworkers a raise over management's head. They were expected to argue that no warrant for such an action is to be found in the constitution or laws.

Sawyer's announcement late in the day came as a group of senate Republicans, quartered back by Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.), opened legislative maneuvers designed to choke off any federal funds for government operation of the seized steel mills.

Knowland claimed some Democratic support for the move in which Sens. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.), the senate GOP leader, Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.) and Karl Mundt (R-S.D.) also joined.

A cross-fire of bitter debate broke out on the senate floor as the Republican group sought to challenge President Truman's 10-day-old seizure of the steel industry.

Economy Ax Ready to Chop GI High-Living in Germany

BONN, Germany (AP) — Free servants and special trains for American soldiers in Germany are getting the ax soon, official sources said Friday.

If the Pentagon doesn't do the chopping right away, these sources averred, the state department will.

The U. S. high commission, a state department agency, has decided to cut by $45 million a year the German-financed fads and frills that hark back to the army's role as a conqueror.

Despite army protests, the cut is to be made next week in the "occupation costs" budget. The Germans have asked that occupation costs of the United States, Britain and France be trimmed to provide more funds for arming Germans in the projected six-nation European army.

Thousands of free servants provided for soldiers from non-coms to generals will be fired, excursion trains to army resorts abolished and other occupation privileges curtailed.

But the GI and his officer still

Telegraph Strike Negotiations Fail

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government sponsored negotiations in the Western Union telegraph strike collapsed Friday after the AFL commercial telegraphers union rejected a company settlement plan.

The company had proposed that the union end the 2-week-old walkout of some 31,000 employees and return to work for a 60-day period without change in previous wages and working conditions pending further discussions.

The company said it would not offer "one red cent" to settle the strike.

Carnival Time at SUI Administration-Faculty Basketball Game to Open Full Evening of Entertainment Tonight

The Iowa field house, which for the major part of each year is the center of athletic competition, will be transformed into a fun arena tonight, as hundreds flock to the huge building for the annual all-campus carnival.

But activities tonight will not be without athletic competition, so say a select group of faculty men and members of the university administration.

The group will square off in a faculty-administration basketball game at 7:30 p.m. as the kickoff of a full evening of carnival activities.

In the four ensuing hours, 34 campus groups will provide entertainment which will include games, dancing, variety shows, a turtle race and the presentation of a number of university awards. And, of course, there will be plenty of refreshments.

Carnival booths will open at 8 p.m. and awards will be presented at 9:30 p.m. Among the awards will be:

1. Hawkeye man and Hawkeye woman award by Omicron Delta Kappa and Mortar Board, respectively.
2. Ugly Man award to one of the nine candidates.
3. Tallfeather pep club award to the outstanding athlete during 1951-52.
4. Award to the organization sponsoring the best carnival booth.

Groups participating in the carnival include:

Truman Threatens To Keep Congress In Special Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman said Friday that if congress balks at voting the money he thinks is needed for national defense, he will keep it at work all year, calling a special session every day if necessary.

He said "dangerous and destructive" attempts to cut funds for the defense program and for foreign aid will imperil the nation's security if they succeed.

And he accused those who seek to make blanket cuts in these programs of risking the lives of American soldiers in a grab for election year headlines.

Truman spoke at the dedication of a new national headquarters for Amvets.

He said he will see to it that the slash of about six billion dollars which the house has voted in his $52½ billion request for the defense establishment is put back.

Burros Boost 'Ugly Man' Candidate

LAKE CHARLES, LA. (AP) — In decisions stoutly supporting freedom of the press, a judge acquitted Friday five Louisiana newspapermen accused of defaming 16 public officials and three gamblers.

The indictments grew out of a crusade waged by the Lake Charles American Press against gambling in Calcasieu parish (county).

Judge Bernard Cocke took 2½ hours to read his 181 pages of decisions before returning acquittal verdicts in each case.

The controversial cases began last August when the newspapermen were indicted by a grand jury that had been called to investigate gambling.

"Any citizen or newspaper has the right to criticize the public acts of officials," Judge Cocke of New Orleans declared.

"Without that right, we would have a dictatorial form of government and the discussion of important public issues would be only such as might be permitted by those holding authority," the judge asserted.

The newspapermen acquitted were managing editor Kenneth Dixon; publisher Thomas B. Shearman, his son and co-publisher, Hugh Shearman; city editor James Norton, and reporter Carter George.

Beardsley to Ask Interim Committee For Flood Funds

DES MOINES (AP) — Gov. William S. Beardsley said late Friday he will ask the Iowa legislature interim committee for emergency flood relief funds to supplement $40,000 already available.

The governor took this alternative rather than calling a special session of the legislature, which was done in Nebraska. There has been no estimate of how much will be needed in Iowa.

Beardsley first asked Atty. Gen. Robert L. Larson how the state could provide money for Iowa flood victims without a special session. Larson said $40,000 appropriated for the state board of social welfare by the 1951 legislature for emergency relief could be used.

The attorney general first said he thought interim committee funds could be used, then he reversed himself. But he later told the governor this money could be used.

Beardsley asked State Sen. Jay C. Colburn (R-Harlan), interim committee chairman, to call a committee meeting. Colburn said he would report back today.

Meanwhile, the governor said, a survey is being made "so we can present the needs to the committee." He added, "We will need more than $40,000."

"DON'T BE A JACKASS—VOTE FOR FRUDY." is the campaign slogan on the banner being toted through Iowa City streets Friday by Jenny and her three-week-old offspring, Paunchtrain. The burros were being used in a last-minute bit of ballyhoo supporting the candidacy of James Frudenfeld, A2, for Most Ugly Man on Campus. The Ugly Man contest is a feature of the SUI all-campus carnival being held in the Iowa field house tonight. Shown here helping in the vote-getting bid are Gene Foskett and John Beckman.

The Carnival Is Here

Tonight is the night for letting your hair down. The all-campus carnival will open to students and the general public in the fieldhouse at 7:30 p.m.

The sawdust, barkers, gay costumes, cotton candy, and a ferris wheel will give this year's show all the atmosphere found at a county fair.

Thirty-five campus groups have arranged for what we believe to be the best carnival ever held here.

One of the highlights will be a basketball game (and we use the term loosely) between Hancher's Hawks and the Dean's Demons, made up of members of the administration and faculty, respectively.

Those who saw a similar game several years ago will remember it as a panic. We expect the same to be true this year.

During the evening the Hawkeye Man and Woman of 1952 will be presented, by Omicron Delta Kappa and Mortar Board, respectively.

The outstanding athlete award will be made by the Tailfeathers pep club, and the Ugliest Man on Campus will be announced by Alpha Phi Omega.

At 9:30 p.m. the carnival's winning booth will be named. Judges for this are William Coder of the SUI veterans service; Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger of the college of liberal arts; James Kent, photographer, and City Manager Peter F. Roan.

Last year, despite a cloudburst that lasted most of the evening, more than 2,100 townspeople and students attended. This year, with nice weather predicted, we believe that the attendance will far exceed that number.

From Other Colleges

WISCONSIN

At the University of Wisconsin, a graduate instructor in chemistry was working in the lab one evening recently with a fellow instructor. He took a gun from under his coat and said, "I got 97 in that test and I should have had 100." Then he fired twice into the other man, once in the hand and once in the chest.

Students, attracted by cries, called police who shot tear gas into the lab and forced the gun-toter to come out peacefully. He was screaming, "I'll get the professor, I'll get him." He was referring to the adviser of both himself and the man he shot — the professor of chemistry who had given him the 97 score.

Police say there was little personal contact between the shooter and the man he shot. They worked in the same lab, but not on the same project, and the reason for the shooting is still unanswered.

KANSAS
Here's a letter written two weeks ago to the University of Kansas newspaper:

Dear Editor: I hope those several individuals who so inconsiderately snow-balled the band at the pep rally will some day mature enough to realize that fun carried too far can be dangerous.

Expensive instruments could have been damaged and people could have been injured by the impact of a hard-packed, well-thrown snowball. (Signed: An indignant band member.)

NEW YORK
A raise in tuition at New York university will force 41 per cent of the day students to quit next semester, according to the NYU Commerce Bulletin. But, the school chancellor says, only ten per cent will have to drop out of school as a result of the tuition hike.

TEXAS
Throwing a jaundiced eye on coming student elections, the Daily Texan printed this "unclassified ad": "Wanted: Several thousand voters who won't be led like sheep this spring, but will vote for campus political candidates on the basis of their merits."

MICHIGAN
Campus interest in student government reached an all-time high in the Michigan campus election last week as a record 45 per cent of the student body went to the polls during the two-day all-campus elections.

In breaking the campus record, 7,164 of the university's 15,994 students cast ballots. Actually, however, only about 15,000 students had the opportunity to vote, since about 1,000 students at the Rackham school in Detroit were not furnished with ballots.

The high percentage broke the 42 per cent mark set in the spring of 1950 when 7,919 students voted, but the university enrollment has dropped considerably since then.

The recent student "riot" involving nearly all the students at the University of Michigan caused the university about $180 in damages. Less than a week later, seven campus groups joined in paying the money to the university for the seven-hour riot demonstration.

The organizations, representing both dormitories and fraternities, accepted financial responsibility for the damage at a special meeting called by the student legislature. All contributions were voluntary and most collections came from individual contributions at the housing areas.

The dean of students was pleased with the unsolicited restitution. "It is a great satisfaction to know that, through our student government and particularly as it operates within our student residences, the damage has been paid," he said.

'Song in My Heart' Is Exciting

By JIM GOLTZ

NOTES FROM CINEMA-LAND: "Title - changing department - "Land of the Trembling Earth" has been changed to "Cry of the Swamp"; "Darling, I Am Growing Younger" to "Monkey Business"; "The Condor's Nest" to "The Treasure of the Golden Condor"; "How High is Up?" to "The Problem of Love." Before we know it, "Death of a Salesman" will have been changed to "Murder of a Fuller Brush Man."

CAPSULE REVIEW: "With A Song in My Heart," the motion picture life-story of singer Jane Froman, is one of the most exciting musicals to be filmed in a long time. Now showing in Iowa City, the picture is glorified with color, songs, a plausible plot, and a moving performance by actress Susan Hayward.

Also showing is a superior British import "The Inheritance," starring the exquisite "Ophelia" Jean Simmons. The picture is a suspenseful "who-dunnit" and is co-billed with one of the funniest comedies of all time—Thorne Smith's "Topper."

A Controlled Press In U.S.? — Impossible

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

President Truman obviously doesn't want to make a point over his hypothetical answer to a hypothetical question regarding his hypothetical power to seize the American press and radio as he has the steel industry.

The preamble to the constitution says it is designed to promote the general welfare. The president is sworn to uphold the constitution, and so claims the power to act when a steel shutdown is threatened during a period of world tension.

He was asked if he thought he could seize the press and radio. Under similar circumstances, he said, the president has to act for the best of the country.

His hearers, a special gathering of reporters and editors, took it to mean he thought he had the power to seize the press. The White House has formally declined to amplify. There is no analogy between press and steel. So the argument is academic except for one thing.

Past presidents have used quotations of past leaders as precedents for their acts, and future presidents will undoubtedly continue the practice.

No president has ever tried to tamper with free speech and free press, though they have at times tried by various means, usually concealment, to prevent publication of what they didn't want.

MIAMI — Columnist Jack Bell of the Miami Herald reports that a Key West hotel's super-service backfired in this way: Hotel guests who asked to be called in the morning were awakened not by a strident telephone bell but by a sweet-voiced girl with a breakfast tray.

But one morning a phone rang just when girl and tray arrived. "See who it is," the guest commanded.

"He's still in bed; I'll call him," the girl told the caller — who happened to be the guest's wife in Albany, N. Y.

The girls now have orders to answer no phones.

Most persons driving between New England and the south and west pass through the state.

Heavy truck and bus traffic between the densely populated areas of New York and Philadelphia was placing an almost intolerable burden on the state's highway system, delaying out-of-state as well as local drivers.

The turnpike was designed not only to take the pressure off the state highway system, but also as a link in a proposed national network of express highways.

Already, drivers using the turnpike can make connections through New York's parkway system with Connecticut's Merritt Parkway and express highways as far north as Portland, Me.

Completion of a 38-mile link between the New Jersey and Pennsylvania turnpikes will extend the network to the Ohio-Pennsylvania border.

Projected highways, such as the New York State Thruway and the Maryland Expressway will afford direct non-stop communication with Albany and Buffalo, N.Y., and the nation's capital.

To date, the New Jersey Turnpike has been a great success. Since it was put into full operation last January, it has been serving 37,600 vehicles daily.

The turnpike was financed by 35-year, 3 1/2 per cent revenue bonds, mostly held by a group of insurance companies. With revenues running at $33,000 a day, the turnpike management is already planning extensions and improvements.

New Jersey has long been known as a traffic "corridor." Most persons driving between New England and the south and west pass through the state.

New Jersey Turnpike Opens 5 Years Early

AP Newsfeature

TRENTON, N.J. — The New Jersey Turnpike — 118 miles of superhighway without a red light or intersection between New York and Delaware — is in full operation, and is handling traffic volume five years ahead of expectations.

With a speed limit of 60 miles an hour—10 more than allowed on other highways in the state—it has cut the driving time up and down New Jersey to two hours.

It used to take drivers from four to six hours to make their way through the state.

The average motorist pays $1.75 to drive the turnpike's full length. Trucks and buses pay up to $5 depending on the type of vehicle.

Since the $255 million turnpike cost much more to build in the heavily populated districts of North Jersey, tolls are proportionately higher in that area.

A system of 17 interchanges affords connection with various parts of the state.

The turnpike has been touted as the safest express highway in the world. It was built to take 70 mile-an-hour travel.

Bridges were built at all intersections. Curves and grades are gradual and shoulders were designed both as an additional safety factor and to provide for future expansion.

The turnpike is patrolled by a special force of state police, using the most up-to-date communication equipment. It is paved with macadamized concrete — regarded as a good nonskid surface.

Record Flood Surges Southward

MAP LOCATES principal cities in flood path of the Missouri, Big Sioux, Red and Mississippi rivers. On the Missouri, waters are gradually receding from Sioux City after 600 blocks had been flooded. The metropolitan district and water supply were menaced at Council Bluffs. Omaha was similarly threatened and a dike at Dakota City, Neb., gave way. On the north-flowing Red, 1,000 persons were evacuated from Fargo, N.D., and Moorhead, Minn. Along the Mississippi, a melting six-inch snow spilled the flood into La Crosse and Prairie du Chien, Wis.

AAUW Concludes State Convention Today

A TEA AT THE HOME OF PRES. AND MRS. VIRGIL M. HANCHER concluded Friday afternoon's activities of the state AAUW convention. Mrs. Hancher (left) pours a cup of tea for Bertha Wellhausen, Sioux City, past president of the state division, and Mrs. Lloyd Knowler, president of the Iowa City branch. Mrs. Walter F. Loehwing and Mrs. Harvey H. Davis were co-chairmen of the tea committee.

Reports by state chairmen will be given at closing sessions of the state convention of the American Association of University Women today on the SUI campus.

Special guests at a luncheon in Iowa Union will be two holders of AAUW Fellowship awards — Chi Ye Sano, G. Tokyo, Japan, and Kwan Hsu, G. Shanghai, China.

Addresses by Pres. Virgil M. Hancher and Cecil Hartung, regional director of the National Citizens Commission for the Public Schools, were highlights of Friday's program.

Higher education must regain the historic confidence and trust of the people which the complexities of life today have undermined, Hancher said in a talk entitled "Challenges for Higher Education." He explained that the goal of higher education should be the development of wise, urbane, sufficient and self-sufficient citizens of a great democracy—a goal which is much the same as that of founders of early educational institutions in the United States.

In explaining the work of the National Citizens Commission for the Public Schools, Hartung said that the great need for more teachers and classrooms in the next few years makes it imperative for women's organizations, civic and business groups, and citizens' committees to help school administrators meet this need and other pressing problems.

Hartung urged that such groups sponsor workshops to analyze problems in their own local schools. Though such problems are nationwide, they can and will be solved only at the community level, he said.

Three common denominators of the most successful citizens' committees are membership representing a complete cross section of community points of view, a program starting with fact-finding and study rather than preconceived ideas of problems and solutions, and close cooperation with school administrators and school boards.

Significant features of AAUW educational activities to which Hartung referred included their emphasis on the collection of facts and the analysis and discussion of these facts before making recommendations. He summarized the most outstanding activities reported to the National Citizens Commission for the Public Schools by presidents and educational chairmen of state divisions of AAUW.

Hartung explained that regional offices of the commission serve as clearing houses to pass along reports of successful projects sponsored in support of education by such groups as chambers of commerce, Kiwanis clubs, the National Association of Manufacturers, the League of Women Voters, and many other groups.

Fruit Desserts, Cookies Are Spring Favorites

PEANUT BUTTER COOKIES WITH COFFEE are a favorite dessert of the members of Chi Omega sorority. Fruit and cookies make an excellent treat for springtime meals.

Desserts are best if planned as part of a meal, not an after thought.

Mrs. Clarice G. Waterman, housemother of Chi Omega sorority for five years, likes to plan desserts according to the type of meal she will serve. She places a light dessert on the menu if the meal is a heavy one, and a more substantial dessert if the meal has been light.

"The spring weather," she said, "brings requests and opportunities for fresh fruit desserts. A fresh pear or peach, served at lunch or after a heavy dinner with cookies, is an ideal dessert."

"However, the girls never tire of peanut butter cookies no matter what time of year it is," Mrs. Waterman said.

When Mrs. Polly Kaufman, who has been cooking for Chi Omega a year, bakes cookies, she usually makes several batches for they are grand for snacks or cozies. Here is her recipe for peanut butter cookies which is one of the favorite dishes of the women of Chi Omega.

Peanut Butter Cookies

- 1 cup shortening
 - 1 cup white sugar
 - 1 cup brown sugar
 - 2 beaten eggs
 - 1 cup peanut butter
 - 3 cups flour
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 2 teaspoons soda
- Thoroughly cream shortening, vanilla and sugars together. Add beaten eggs, beat again. Stir in peanut butter, then sift dry ingredients.

Form small balls, place on greased cookie sheet. Press with back of fork to flatten and form a criss-cross pattern on the cookie.

Bake in moderate oven from 10 to 15 minutes. Makes approximately 40 cookies.

The conference programs will focus on the major functions of the director of nursing service, according to Dean Myrtle E. Kitchell of the college. This arrangement will permit study and discussion of possible solutions to current nursing service problems.

Miss Kitchell said the work conferences are part of the university's long-range program to develop interest and secure better qualified personnel in nursing service administration.

"She said there is a marked need for educational programs which will prepare graduate nurses for administrative positions in nursing service."

Gray Lady Service Planned for Hospital

Mrs. George Easton and Mrs. George Frohwein are in charge of the new Gray Lady service for the Red Cross.

A STRING OF IF'S
If you want to get the longest string of "if's" you've ever heard, just talk to tennis coach Don Klotz about this year's chances.

The head man of Iowa's winningest active athletic team, Don isn't making excuses or alibis. He doesn't have to — his boys have won five meets in a row this season. On top of that, he's gone through 12 dual meets without a defeat, the best Iowa tennis record in history.

But this success came as no surprise to Klotz. He's one of the hardest working coaches in the business, and his players are also among the workers. All winter long, the present team has ground out the practice hours, and heading into the season, Don predicted an addition to the record.

"There's No Telling"
The if's Klotz uses are in connection with Hawkeye chances in the Big Ten race this year. He sums up Iowa chances this way:
1. IF the rest of the schools haven't improved,
2. IF the kids keep coming, and
3. IF the team doesn't fall into a two-day slump.

There's no telling what might happen.
That set of statements might not sound too cheery, but in talking to Klotz one gets the idea that he's definitely optimistic about the team's chances.

Took 3d in '51
The Iowans took third in the Big Ten last season, and, as Don readily points out, this year's squad is quite a bit better.

"I'd say that we're definitely better in the No. 1, No. 2, and No. 3 spots, and at least equally good in the No. 4 position," he says. "Then, if (again) Rog Kroth's arm comes along we'll be better in No. 5, and right now we're stronger in sixth spot."

Kroth's arm was injured in an auto accident a year ago last Thanksgiving, and a very delicate operation was performed last fall. The arm healed faster than was considered possible and Kroth is now undefeated for the season.

Good Road Trip
Another reason for Klotz' guarded optimism is the success the Hawkeyes had on their southern trip last week. The team took on some very good outfits. Washington university, for example, had won 11 straight dual meets before the Iowans took its measure, 5-4.

Kansas and Kansas State are among the net powerhouses in the Big Seven, but Iowa trimmed both quite handsily. The players also met some of the outstanding individual players of the area, and won 27 of 32 singles matches and 13 of 16 in the doubles.

Several pleasing aspects came out of the trip, things that amazed even a tennis veteran such as Klotz. Foremost was the manner in which the players adapted themselves to the outside courts after being penned inside the field house for their drills. The coach said he's never seen a team that adjusted so quickly.

Spirit Gets Credit
This he attributes chiefly to team spirit, which also gets the lion's share of the credit for the winning streak.

Another pleaser has been the performance of Dave Van Ginkel, who has advanced "even beyond a coach's dreams." Dave's the No. 6 man on the squad.

The greatest advancement on the team has been made by the doubles team of Gordy Chapman and Bruce Higley. After playing the No. 3 spot (there are only three) since the year started, the duo has shown so much in easily beating all opponents that they will get the nod for No. 1 today against Illinois Normal.

The Great Comeback
The story behind Chapman's return to form is one of those fables of sports. In the fall of 1951, just as Gordy was preparing to return to school, he took ill and was brought to the University hospitals. It was learned here that he had polio, and he was bed-ridden for several months.

Chapman went home to Des Moines for the remainder of the semester, but returned to school in the spring although very weak. During the summer he played occasionally as he worked on the Birdland courts in Des Moines, but wasn't too sure if he'd try for a comeback on the Iowa team.

By gradually building himself up and working incessantly, he has now reached the point where he can play on the No. 1 doubles team on a good squad. He's held out of the singles, for despite the fact that he plays a good match, two long ones would be too much.

The singles have been shifted very little. Bob Richards started in the No. 1 spot, but has given way to Norman Barnes. There is still little to choose between them. Higley gets the call at No. 3, and football star Dusty Rice is No. 4. Kroth and Van Ginkel round out the squad.

Pafko's Homer Beats Giants, 7-6

Hits in 12th After Dodgers Stage Rally

BROOKLYN (AP) — Andy Pafko climaxed Brooklyn's come-from-behind surge Friday as he hammered a home run over the right-center field scoreboard in the 12th inning to give the Dodgers a 7-6 victory over the New York Giants in their season's opener at Ebbets Field.

A crowd of 31,032 saw the Dodgers overcome a 5-0 first-inning deficit for their fourth straight victory. The triumph partially eased the hangover of last year's final playoff loss to the National league champions.

Pafko's homer, his second of the game, snapped a 6-6 tie and gave young Billy Loes his first major league pitching victory.

The four-bagger came at the expense of relief pitcher George Spencer, who was charged with his second straight overtime loss. The former Ohio State football star threw a home run pitch to Connie Ryan in the 11th inning Thursday that gave Philadelphia a 5-3 win at the Polo Grounds.

Marrero Spoils Yanks' Homecoming by 3-1

NEW YORK (AP) — Conrado Marrero, Washington's little Cuban curver, with the accent on slow stuff, spoiled the New York Yankees' coming out party at Yankee Stadium Friday by humbling the world champions, 3-1, before a paid crowd of 45,240.

The stocky Marrero gave up eight hits but managed to muffle big Yankee bats when the situation became threatening.

His job was made easier by sensational fielding on the part of the Senators' second baseman, Cass Michaels. Michaels pulled off a leaping stab of a liner in the second inning and a brilliant stop in the sixth — when the Yanks scored their lone run — to put down incipient New York uprisings.

The losing pitcher, victim of his own wildness, was Allie Reynolds, the big Oklahoman who was honored in pre-game ceremonies for the two no-hit efforts he fashioned last year.

Track, Tennis, Golf Squads Active Today

By LEE CANNING

Iowa's track, tennis, and golf teams will return to action today.

Coach Bucky O'Connor's golf team leads the way at 8:30 a.m. by meeting Bradley on the Finkbine course. At 2 p.m., the tennis team will go after its sixth straight victory of the season against Illinois Normal here.

The track team will make its first outdoor appearance of the season in the Kansas Relays at Lawrence, Kan.

The Hawkeye golfers will be seeking their third victory in six starts. Iowa held an experienced Arizona team to a split "in five

Closed Practices
Head football coach Forest Evashevski announced Friday that closed practices held in the stadium would be open only to the following groups:

1. The student body by showing ID cards.
2. "T" club members by showing membership cards.
3. Press and radio men by showing passes issued by Sports Information Director Eric Wilson.

Evashevski said that the first stadium practice would be held Thursday at 2 p.m.

Matches during its spring trip to Tucson, Iowa won two matches, lost two and tied one against the Wildcats.

Tennis coach Don Klotz Friday gave sophomore Norman Barnes the No. 1 spot for today's matches although both Barnes and letterman Bob Richards have alternated in that position most of the season. Richards will take the No. 2 position with the pair coupled for one doubles match.

The rest of the Iowa lineup has Bruce Higley in No. 4; Dusty Rice in No. 5; Roger Kroth in No. 6, and Dave Van Ginkel in No. 7.

Coach Francis Cretzmeier's track team left Friday afternoon for Lawrence with a larger entry list than had been announced earlier. Cretzmeier added DuWayne Dietz to the 400-meter hurdles and Bob Henard in both the broad jump and hop, skip and jump events.

The Hawkeye coach had to drop broad jumper Stan Levinson who has been bothered by a sore leg since the Big Ten indoor meet in March. Levinson also had been counted on to run on Iowa's mile relay team.

Feller Hurls Indians Past Tigers, 5-0

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bob Feller pitched the Cleveland Indians to their fourth straight victory Friday — a six-hit, 5-0 shutout over the Detroit Tigers, before a home opener crowd of 56,068.

Now each of the Tribe's big four has won a game, but Feller was the first of the quartet to need help. His control went sour in the last inning and with one out he walked Cliff Mages, Matt Batts and Johnny Ligon. Bob Lemon came in and retired the side by getting pinchhitter Steve Souchock to ground into a fast double play.

The loss was the fourth straight for Detroit, and Tiger misplays figured in all the Indians' scoring. Until the seventh inning, southpaws, Ted Gray and Dick Littlefield limited Cleveland to three hits, all off Gray in the first two frames.

This was Feller's 10th home or road opener and his seventh inaugural victory. The Tigers, whom he beat in all four tries last season, got only one man as far as third prior to the ninth. Feller struck out six, getting outfielder Viv Wertz three times.

Until Feller's three walks in the ninth, Pat Mullin was the only Tiger to reach third, and his double leading off the fifth was the only extra base blow Feller yielded.

Bob Friend Blanks Reds on 5-Hitter

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bobby Friend, 21-year-old sophomore fireball righthander for the Pittsburgh Pirates, shut out the Cincinnati Reds, 3-0, Friday on five hits before a home-opening crowd of 29,374 shirt-sleeved fans.

Friend, a 6-10 winner for the seventh-place Pirates last year, got off to a shaky start but settled down in the late innings and finished by striking out four of the last five batters.

Ewell (the Whip) Blackwell, veteran righthander, started for the Reds but yielded to a pinch hitter in the seventh after giving up all of the Bucco runs and five hits, four of them extra base knocks.

Coach Francis Cretzmeier's track team left Friday afternoon for Lawrence with a larger entry list than had been announced earlier. Cretzmeier added DuWayne Dietz to the 400-meter hurdles and Bob Henard in both the broad jump and hop, skip and jump events.

The Hawkeye coach had to drop broad jumper Stan Levinson who has been bothered by a sore leg since the Big Ten indoor meet in March. Levinson also had been counted on to run on Iowa's mile relay team.

With Them It's a Habit

Browns Win Again, Belt White Sox, 7-1

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Playing before the home folks for the first time this year, the revitalized St. Louis Browns belted the Chicago White Sox 7-1 Friday for their fourth straight victory of the season.

A crowd of 12,573 saw Duane Pillette become the fourth straight Brownie pitcher to go the nine inning route. He allowed but five hits.

In reverse, it was the fourth consecutive setback for the White Sox. Chuck Stobbs was the loser. Chicago went ahead 1-0 in the second inning when Eddie Robinson doubled and scored on a long fly after advancing on a ground-out to first.

The Browns tied it in the fifth, however, on Less Moss' second homer in two days. Dick Kryhoski doubled home a run in the sixth to put St. Louis in front, 2-1.

Stobbs was replaced in the seventh by Luis Aloma but he in turn gave way to Bill Kennedy in the eighth when Roger Hornsby's boys put on a five run-storm.

Jim Rivera singled to left and went to second on Jim Delsing's bunt. Rivera then stole third. With one out, Gordon Goldsberry doubled off Kennedy, scoring Rivera. An intentional walk filled the bases and Clint Courtney then batted a triple, scoring all three. Pillette drove in the final run with a single to short right.

Cubs Stop Brecheen, Edge Cardinals, 5-4

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs chased their old nemesis Harry (the Cat) Brecheen, and pushed across four runs in a wild ninth inning rally to open their home season with a 5-4 win over the St. Louis Cardinals Friday.

Pinchhitter Bill Serena delivered the decisive blow, a two-bagger to left field which drove across the Cub's fourth and fifth runs.

At the start of the Cubs' last inning it seemed that the 37-year-old Brecheen, with a 4-1 lead, had scored the 32nd victory of his career against the Bruins. Then the first two Cub batters, Hank Sauer and Ransom Jackson, singled.

That was all for Brecheen, and his successors — Dick Bokelmann and Al Brazle.

2 Homers in 9th Win for Braves

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ninth inning homers by Sid Gordon and Willard Marshall, on successive pitches, gave the Boston Braves a 3-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Friday and turned loser Russ Meyer's shutout two-hitter into a four-hit defeat.

Brave starter Jim Wilson gave up all the Phil's hits, including a two-run fifth inning homer by Stan Lopata, that for eight and one-third innings loomed large enough for victory in the Phil's first home game at Shibe Park.

Lew Burdette relieved Wilson in the eighth, gave up no hits and received credit for the win.

Iowa's New Good Luck Scoreboard

GOOD LUCK ON THE HOME DIAMOND and the appearance of the new portable electric scoreboard may be just a coincidence, but since the arrival of the machine the Hawks took two games from Notre Dame, a team that beat them twice last year. Here Darrell Brown, who pushes the levers that control the flashing lights, signals a ball on a Notre Dame batter in the top of the eighth inning in the second game with the Irish, which Iowa won, 3-2. The machine replaced an old antiquated model that showed only runs.

Myers, Duggan Eliminated In Olympic Trials' 3d Round

AMES — Iowa's Phil Duggan and George Myers were eliminated from Olympic trials here Friday when both lost third round matches.

Duggan was pinned by Bill Borders of Oklahoma in 3:54. The 125-pound Hawkeye wrestler also was pinned in the second round by Joe Kimura of San Francisco. In his first round match, Duggan pinned Dave Barker of Portland, Ore.

Myers' third round loss came at the hands of Toledo's Harry Lanzi who also defeated the Iowan in the finals of the NCAA tournament.

In the first round, Myers lost a split decision to navy man Gene Leatherman of Newton. He gained a second round victory over Jim Heusborough of the U. S. air force to move into Friday's third round.

Each time a wrestler wins on a decision, he is penalized one point. Each time he loses, whether by fall or decision, he is penalized three points. A total of five penalty points eliminates a wrestler from the meet.

A 43-year-old San Francisco veterinarian, Dr. Melvin A. Northrup, and several national champions became leading favorites Friday to win places on the 1952 Olympic team.

SPRING CAGE PRACTICE
Spring practice for Iowa's basketball team will start next week, head coach Bucky O'Connor said Friday.

A meeting for all interested students will be held Monday at 3 p.m. in Room 200 of the field house, O'Connor announced.

Vollmer's Single in 10th Puts Bosox over A's, 5-4

BOSTON (AP) — Clyde Vollmer regained his timely-hitting form and singled in the winning run that enabled the Boston Red Sox to open their home season with a 10-inning, 5-4 win over the Philadelphia Athletics Friday.

The Red Sox were unable to do much against starter Bob Hooper until the ninth, when they scored thrice to pull into a 4-4 tie.

Well-Rounded Menu —
Dorati Balances Programs
 — And Good Background

Antal Dorati, conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra which will perform in Iowa Memorial Union main lounge next Tuesday and Wednesday, is noted for his ability to plot a balanced program for his audience.

Dorati has been widely-acclaimed by critics and public in all parts of the country. He is known both for his talent as a program arranger and for his individual interpretations of music.

His architecture falls into three distinct stages. First, each program must be a well-rounded unit. Secondly, a single season must present something from all schools and ages of music.

And last, his course over a period of years is to fill in without repeating so that his listeners have a well-rounded background from what the world of music has to offer.

Dorati commits scores to memory and conducts with or without a baton. Not a stunter, his deportment on the podium is functional, utilizing no more in the way of gestures than is required to bring the music from the ensemble.

Dorati believes that musical knowledge is not necessary for the enjoyment of music. What is necessary, he says, is that young and old alike should bring an open mind to the concert hall and should be ready to enjoy many kinds of music.

Tickets to each one of the symphony's three concerts are on sale to university faculty and staff at $2 each.

On Monday all remaining tickets will be available to students or others and on Tuesday students who have already obtained a ticket for one of the night concerts may secure an additional

Tremendous Impact — 'Death of a Salesman'

— Accomplished Cast

By JIM GOLTZ

"Death Of A Salesman," which wielded a tremendous impact to an appreciative audience Friday night, is a powerful and skillfully-contrived play, enriched by the direction of a master artist and the performances of an accomplished cast.

Prof. Gregory Foley's sensitive direction reveals the touch of a man who knows and loves theater, his interpretation being far superior to the motion picture version of the same play.

Robert Paulus is to be commended on the discretion with which he handles the physically-exhausting role of "Willy Loman." Paulus — discarding the raving, ranting, and teeth-gnashing which has turned the part into a "ham's holiday" for many professional "salesmen" — does a distinguished piece of under-playing while retaining the necessary tenseness and strain of Miller's broken figure.

Nancy Burnam, in the role of "Mrs. Loman," displays warmth and tenderness. In the pathetically-beautiful "Requiem" to the dead salesman, Miss Burnam's performance can be described only as "poetic," her movements and inflections perfectly tuned to an extremely requiring part.

As "Biff Loman," Jerry Silbermann manages to occasionally tone-down his bellowing "Repent ye brethren!" style of acting.

As the young "Happy Loman," Gerald Tippit, displaying animation, ardour, and over-exaggerated facial expressions, does everything but cart-wheels across the
