Steel Attorneys Assail Assertion Of 'Kingly Powers'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government contention that the courts lack authority to strike down President Truman's seizure of the nation's steel mills was bitterly assailed by industry attorneys Friday as an assertion of kingly powers alien to democratic government.

U.S. District Judge David A. Pine at one point asked the chief government lawyer if he was trying to say the government couldn't function within the constitution.

"Do you assail the efficacy of the government under the constitution?" he asked.

"Not at all, your honor," replied the attorney, Holmes Baldridge.

Judge Pine asked the question at the end of arguments on the steel industry's petition for a court order which would void the seizure.

Judge to Consider
The judge did not say when he would rule, although he promised to consider the case "to the exclusion of all other court business."

Indications were that his decision would come within a day or two. Regardless of how he rules, an appeal probably will be filed either by the industry or the government.

It was Baldridge, an assistant attorney general, who told the court: "It is our position that the President is accountable only to the country, and the decisions of the President are conclusive."

Various industry attorneys replied: "Shocking... where are the limits?... a royal prerogative... contrary to all accepted American democratic principles of government."

Government Authorizes Increase
A few hours after the hearing ended, the government cleared the way for the steel industry to get a price increase averaging $3 a ton on top of prices which now average about $110 a ton. The order is effective May 1.

Director Ellis Arnall of the office of price stabilization (OPS) said the steel companies are not entitled to any more under present policy. The industry has estimated its prices would have to be boosted $12 a ton to offset higher costs entailed in a government-recommended wage boost.

Prison Deputy Draws Rebuke From Governor

JACKSON, MICH. (AP) — The young psychologist who negotiated the surrender that ended four days of mutiny at Southern Michigan prison Thursday drew a public rebuke Friday from Gov. G. Mennen Williams for congratulating the rebels.

On the governor's orders, an official reprimand was given to Dr. Vernon Fox. As assistant deputy warden at the prison in charge of individual treatment, Dr. Fox has become a trusted friend of many of the prison's 6,500 inmates.

The mutiny ended at 3 p.m. (Iowa time) Thursday when the 170 rebel convicts gave up their fortress cellblock 15, in the center of the prison courtyard, and freed eight guards held as hostages.

Half an hour before that, Dr. Fox took to the air over the prison radio system. Through every cellblock he spread the word that the mutineers had won all 11 of their demands for changes in the prison setup. He described mutiny chief Earl Ward, a convicted hold-up man, as a "natural leader."

"He and the other boys are to be congratulated on the good faith with which they have bargained... This may presage a new era of good, sound inter-relationship between inmates and administration in American prisons. They have done a service. Congratulations to you, men of 15 block."

Governor Williams said Dr. Fox had done "magnificent work" in bringing about the mutineers' surrender and in sparing the lives of the hostage guards.

"Except for this fact," said the governor, "his choice of language in his address to the inmates would be inexcusable."

June, July Draft Will Call 41,000
WASHINGTON (AP) — The defense department called on the draft Friday for 10,000 men in June and 31,000 in July — all of them for the army — and said August and September calls will also be about 31,000 each.

The marine corps, which has been taking draftees since last August, will get none in June or July, being well on the way toward its authorized strength of 238,000 officers and enlisted men. The air force and the navy have been relying entirely on volunteers, as the marines now plan to do again.

Van Metre and Wife at Home

Applications Due Tuesday for Posts On Hawkeye, Iowan

Deadline is next Tuesday for filing applications for the positions of editor of The Daily Iowan and editor and business manager of Hawkeye yearbook.

The Board of Publications is scheduled to make these appointments for the 1952-53 school year May 6.

Candidates for the three jobs must have had experience on the publications, must have demonstrated executive ability and must have good scholastic standing.

Applications, which should be written, must include a letter from the registrar certifying good scholastic standing and stating cumulative grade point average through last semester.

Forms should be turned in to the office of the school of journalism, N-2 East hall, before 5 p.m. Tuesday. After considering the applications, the Board of Publications will interview candidates.

Correction

In the Thursday morning issue of The Daily Iowan it was inaccurately reported that Dean Elmer T. Peterson of the SUI college of education was the author of an article on flood control.

The article, which appeared in the Country Gentleman, was written by another Elmer T. Peterson. The Daily Iowan sincerely regrets this case of mistaken identity.

New Council President Faces Challenging Year

By RON VALLINE

Peter Van Metre, L3, Waterloo, will guide the SUI student council during what has been called its "year of opportunity."

Since "opportunity only knocks once," Van Metre says 1952-53 should be the year when "student attitudes, needs, and ideas will have an effective voice and become a stronger factor in the thinking of the faculty and the administration."

Van Metre said Friday that "all credit for this year of opportunity must be given to the 1951-52 council and its accomplishment in the way of reorganization."

Has Council Experience
Working with student council is not a new experience for Van Metre.

In 1949-50, he was editor of the Tripod, student paper at Trinity college, Hartford, Conn. At that institution, all funds for the paper were handled by the student council, so Van Metre was "constantly appearing before it to plead for the paper's cause."

He attended Trinity for three years, 1947-50, and received his Dress Right!

AN ARM BAND with the letters "O.D." such as that worn by Dayton Arbegust (above), C4, Oelwein, is becoming the warning sign to air force ROTC students who may be careless about their appearance and military courtesy. The officers of the day were established recently to check on cadets' appearance while in uniform. They will patrol various sections of the campus from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Fridays (when air force ROTC students are in uniform for drill).

Standing room only tickets are available for the final performance of "Death of a Salesman" at 8 p.m. today in University theater. Tickets may be obtained in room 8A, Schaeffer hall, from 8:30 a.m. to noon or at the University theater box office tonight.

Navy Orders Investigation In Gun Blast

TOKYO (SATURDAY) (AP) — An investigation was ordered in the powder blast in a forward turret on the U.S.S. St. Paul Monday that killed 30 seamen as the heavy cruiser stood off the east Korean coast pounding Red targets.

The Navy announcement Friday called it the worst naval disaster in 22 months of Korean warfare.

Even as damage control parties rushed to the turret, the St. Paul continued to hammer away at Communist shore positions. The cruiser rocked to the turret explosion as if it had been struck by a big shore gun, but Communist batteries were not firing at the St. Paul.

The damage control parties found no men alive in the smoking, fire-blackened turret, which fired three of the cruiser's nine eight-inch guns. There were no injured. None of the victims were Iowans.

Those who had survived the blinding flash had perished quickly in the poisonous air of burning gases. The navy said most of the victims died of asphyxiation.

The 13,500-ton St. Paul, a veteran of the Korean war, was on one of its target-plastering missions when disaster struck.

Early in the day the St. Paul dove to off Kojo, a Red target about half way up the coast between the eastern end of the battlefront and the besieged Communist port of Wonsan.

The St. Paul had fired 86 rounds from the eight inchers when the turret was shaken by the internal explosion at 3:55 p.m. (12:55 a.m. Monday, Iowa time).

The navy report blamed the blast on a "gunpowder fire of undetermined origin."

The bodies were removed quickly from the smoking turret. Artificial respiration teams toiled over the bodies for two hours without success.

The worst previous naval disaster of the war was last June 12, when the destroyer Walke hit a mine off the east coast, killing 26 and injuring 40.

Legislator Suggests Presidential Censor

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich.) proposed to the house Friday that congress create the post of "advisory censor to the President."

The peppery Michigan congressman said the new official's sole duty would be to advise the chief executive "as to the accuracy or inaccuracy of statements he makes, before he makes them."

Hoffman made clear he had reference to President Truman's statements at a news conference Thursday about an ultimatum to Premier Stalin, later "clarified" by the White House.

Truman Rips Congress For Flood-Control Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman Friday denounced a house slash of $128 million in flood control as "false economy." He said the recent midwest flood disasters showed the urgent need for such funds.

Appealing to the senate to wipe out the house cut, the President declared that the $600 million budget he originally submitted to congress for flood control and river and harbor development had already been trimmed down to bedrock.

In a letter to Chairman Kenneth McKellar (D-Tenn.) of the senate appropriations committee, Truman reminded congress that he flew over the flood area last week and said he wishes every member of the senate and house could see the destruction and "walk through the devastation that floods leave behind."

"There is no economy in spending less than we can afford on our efforts to stop these disastrous floods," Truman said.

The President added that the havoc left by flood waters of the Missouri, the upper Mississippi and the Red river of the north presented "inescapable evidence that we must move ahead with flood-control projects as rapidly as we can afford to in these times of budgetary stringency."

Problems Confront Iowa Communities In Wake of Flood

ONAWA (AP) — The city council voted Friday to tear down the seven-mile levee built last week during the Missouri river flood here.

The seven-mile dike completely encircles the town. In voting to tear down the dike, the city council disregarded a request by the army engineers that the dike be left up until the Fort Randall, S.D., dam is completed.

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP) — Youthful James F. Mulqueen, who took over as mayor just before the Missouri river flood emergency, Friday turned down a request that he accept the position of city manager.

Mulqueen, 35, has been given much of the credit for the city's victorious fight against the Missouri river. He was asked to take the job by a citizen's committee.

ONAWA (AP) — Production and marketing administration officials Friday were pondering what to do about 240,000 bushels of damaged government-owned corn stored at Blencoe.

All bids on purchase of the corn were rejected as too low.

Guardsman Patrols Lonely Muscatine Levee

A LONELY GUARDSMAN watches Mississippi backwater push against the flashboard-surmounted levee at Muscatine. Fifty Iowa City national guardsmen have been on emergency flood duty at Muscatine since last Sunday. The picture was taken by Daily Iowan photographer Leo Zeithamel, A4, Iowa City, who is a Sgt. 1st class serving with 45 other members of the 34th reconnaissance company and four members of the 109th medical battalion.

House Passes New Immigration Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill revamping immigration law and abolishing all racial barriers to American citizenship was passed by the house Friday and sent to the senate.

Among other things the measure makes all Asiatics eligible for naturalization. At present Japanese, Indonesians, Burmese, Siamese and persons from some Pacific islands cannot become citizens.

Vote Was 206-68
The measure, passed by a standing vote of 206 to 68, is similar to a measure already approved by the senate judiciary committee.

The bill's backers said it removes all racial barriers from existing law.

The measure would permit 134,637 aliens to enter the country

each year for permanent residence. This total, which is only 380 more than existing law allows, would be distributed among 85 nations and areas under a quota system based mainly on national origin of the United States' population in 1920.

Largest annual quota would be 65,361 for Great Britain and northern Ireland combined. Smallest would be 100 for each of 57 areas, including some Pacific islands and 12 small nations put on a quota basis for the first time.

2,697 Russians Can Enter
Russia's quota would be 2,697. Japan's would be 185 while Indonesia, Burma and Siam would have quotas of 100 each.

If past custom is followed in the future, not all the eligible aliens will enter this country. Many nations don't use their full quotas, but the house refused to pool the unused quotas and permit their redistribution among other groups.

The bill does not affect citizens of other western hemisphere nations, who may enter the United States without quota limitations if approved by their own and the United States governments.

The measure gives special preference to aliens whose particular abilities and skills are needed in this country.

It provides for more careful screening, for security purposes, of aliens seeking admission and broadens the grounds for exclusion and deportation of undesirable aliens.

It allows reformed totalitarians to enter this country for residence, but not for citizenship.

MUSICAL NUMBERS PLAY a large part in the YWCA talent show at the psychopathic hospital. Program chairman Elsie Jerdee, N2, Clermont, said audience response has been very good and the patients thoroughly enjoy the programs. Above, patients are shown watching girls who appeared recently in a talent show. Singer Phyllis Channer, N1, Oelwein, is accompanied by Janet Brant, A1, Oelwein. (Posed by staff members)

A TALENT SHOW AT THE PSYCHOPATHIC hospital is sponsored by the YWCA every other Wednesday night. SUI students provide entertainment in the form of song and dance routines, readings, and other numbers. Shown discussing a reading to be given as part of a talent show are (seated, left to right) talent chairman Elsie Jerdee, N2, Clermont; Cherie Walkup, A2, Perry; (standing left to right) Ellen Goen, A2, Manchester, and head of psychopathic recreation department, Judy Foster, A3, West Branch.

THE YWCA MEMBERS SPEND MUCH TIME reading to absolute bedrest patients. This is one of the few things such patients can do as recreation. The girls serve in the hospital programs on a voluntary basis between classes and after school. The name tag identifies them as Y workers. Shown here are students on the children's reading committee: Mary Lou Ehlers, A2, Mason City, on the left and Helen Stoltz, A1, Ottumwa, are reading to polio patient Carolae Homewood, 12, West Union.

THE LIBRARY IN GENERAL hospital is perhaps the most popular place in the entire building, especially for the younger children. Here the patients obtain reading material to help pass the long hours of convalescence. Books and magazines are available for patients of all ages and head librarian, Mrs. Leota Stagg, is always on hand to help in the selection of reading material. She also helps the Y girls choose books to be used in their reading program. Above, Donald Burke, 8, Lansing (left) and Paul Rees, 12, Knoxville, enjoy a story being read in the library by Ann Townsend, A4, Sac City, chairman of the reading program in General hospital.

Trained Readers Help Cheer Convalescents

"When are the Y girls coming?" Patients at University hospitals ask this question many times during their convalescence in anticipation of the frequent visits by YWCA members.

SUI members of the Young Women's Christian association have organized an active reading program at University hospitals. The program has played a major role in Y work for several years and, according to reports from hospital librarians, Mrs. Leota Stagg, it has achieved a great measure of success.

The girls work on a volunteer basis and read to patients between classes and after school. They spend a great deal of time with absolute bedrest and handicapped cases since reading is one of the few recreations these patients are able to enjoy.

Orientation Program Used
Each YWCA worker participates in a brief orientation program conducted by Mrs. Stagg. The program includes a discussion of hospital ethics, the part the reading program plays in patient recuperation, types of books provided for various wards, and techniques for harmonious reader-patient relations. After orientation discussions are completed, the girls are ready to enter into the bedside reading program.

Children Given Care
Girls who participate in the children's reading program sometimes help prepare the child for bed. This makes the small patient more responsive to the reader and to the stories she tells.

Chairman of the hospital reading program is Ann Townsend, A4, Sac City.

Others participating in the program are Beverly Wren, A2, Cedar Rapids; Eleanor Staves, A1, Fairfield; Louise Blaul, A3, Cedar Rapids; Phyllis Channer, N1, Oelwein; Barbara Peterson, A3, Estherville; Pat Thomas, A3, Traer; Janice Grant, A3, Rockwell City; Jean Stevenson; Betty Garten, A2, Des Moines; Maxine Wolf, A4, Sheffield; Sally Rehberg, A1, Clinton; Dorothy Widmann, A1, Cedar Rapids; Ruth Rowland, N1, Waterloo; Marilyn Ruhl, N1, St. Augustine, Ill.; Mary Lou Ehlers, A2, Mason City; Mary Krause, A3, Fort Dodge; Carolyn Miller, A4, Des Moines.

EVERY SUNDAY MORNING, patients at Children's hospital attend a Sunday school session directed by YWCA chairman Jo Beth Shoeman, A2, Atlantic, and members of her committee. The children hear Bible stories and are taught simple prayers after attending a church service held for patients of all ages in the hospital gymnasium. Here, the children listen to stories told by Miss Shoeman and Susan Eversmeyer, A2, Woodstock, Ill.

'Disk Jockeys' Spin Story Music

THE YWCA SPONSORED story music program has proved popular with patients of all ages at University hospitals. The Y girls spin platters for patients in the fourth floor maternity ward every Friday afternoon and for the burn ward on Sunday afternoon. Story records are played at Children's hospital every Tuesday night. Records are loaned by a local music store and individual Y members. Hospital librarian Mrs. Leota Stagg is shown listening to a record used in the program with story music chairman Jan Anthony, A3, Sioux City.

THE YWCA READING PROGRAM in General hospital has played an important part in the convalescence of patients. SUI members of the Y participate in the project on a volunteer basis and each girl does reading several times a week. Above, Louise Blaul, A3, Cedar Rapids, reads to burn patient Mrs. Christine Swanson, Des Moines.

You don't often find a disk jockey with a well-turned ankle and engaging smile. However, the YWCA story music program at University hospitals boasts many.

The Y girls spin platters for patients in the fourth floor maternity ward every Friday afternoon and for the burn ward on Sunday afternoon. Story records are played at Children's hospital Tuesday.

Girls who work in the maternity ward play albums from current Broadway and Hollywood musicals such as "American in Paris," "Call Me Madam," and "With a Song in My Heart." These records are loaned by a local music store and individual YWCA members.

Before playing the records, the girls tell the story behind each one and carry on a line of patter that would equal the most intent efforts of a professional disk jockey.

Jan Anthony, A3, Sioux City, chairman of the story music program, says that the patients enjoy the recordings very much and are enthusiastic about the project.

Story music Y workers include Lou Schultz, A3, Ossian; Betty Thomas, A1, Sioux City; Mary Luce, A1, LaGrange, Ill.; Leona Boog; Emma Lou Fuller, A1, Altona; Marylene Shadle, A2, Boone; Sara Thomsen, A2, Red Oak; Doris Cullen, A2, Burlington; Gail Hamilton; Jill Haekkel, A3, Davenport; Helen Stoltz, A1, Ottumwa; Sally Brody, A1, Centerville; Pauline Glass, N1, Sac City; Maribeth James, N1, Belle Plaine; Jayne Stewart, A1, Fairfield; Betty Klein, N1, Hospers; Nola Carpenter, A1, Cherokee; Jean Weems, A1, Waterloo; Kay Tyrrell, A1, Spencer; Marjorie Hahn, A1, Cedar Rapids; Mary Wilson, A1, Spencer; Virginia Holland, A2, Elkader; Joan Michaelson, A2, Park Ridge, Ill.; Joan Bury, A1, St. Louis, Mo.; Donna Jeck, A2, Fairmont, Minn.; Mary Rierson, A2, Ames.

Talent Shows Help Build Morale

"The YWCA talent show series has been very popular with our patients and has done a fine job in building up their morale," says Judy Foster, A3, West Branch, head of the recreation department at psychopathic hospital.

Every other Wednesday night, the YWCA girls sponsor a talent show in the pleasant day room of the hospital. These programs range from dramatic readings to song and dance routines.

Talent used in the shows is not limited to Y girls only, since many SUI students have performed during the year.

Program chairman Elsie Jerdee, N2, Clermont, said audience response at the hospital has been very good and the patients seem to thoroughly enjoy the programs. Those in charge of the talent show are anxious to interest other campus groups in organizing some form of entertainment at the psychopathic hospital.

SUI performers at the talent shows include pianists Loah Lunan, N1, Chariton; Betty Darling, A1, Decorah; Marilyn McCain, A2, Ironton, Ohio; Marilyn Edwards, A2, Burlington; Jean Jewsbury, A2, Iowa City; Jim Taggart, A2, Des Moines.

Dancers Jan Trimble, A1, Kellerton; Sue Stokely, A2, Perry; Friscilla Jewell, A2, Coon Rapids; Jerry Mason, A1, Milwaukee, Wis.; readers Ellen Goen, A2, Manchester; Shirley Nichols, A1, Sidney; June Rotman, A1, Dubuque; Lorraine Gutz, A1, Hampton; Ann Harbison, A2, Keosauqua.

Handicapped Take Special Trips

The youngsters at the Iowa Hospital School for the Education and Treatment of Physically Handicapped Children are getting what might be termed a type of visual aids education via the help of YWCA girls.

The Saturday afternoon programs, under the chairmanship of Pat Roseland, A2, Clear Lake, provide the children with trips through local museums, zoos and the like.

The trips are made possible by borrowing cars from campus fraternity groups. In this way, 10 to 20 children may participate in the program each week.

During this school year, Y girls have taken the children to station WSUI for the Saturday afternoon children's broadcast, through the museum at Macbride hall, and to a dress rehearsal of the SUI Seals club water show.

The girls are now planning trips through a local dairy and a zoo. Picnics and other types of recreations are also on the agenda for the next few weeks.

During the winter months when transportation was not available, members of the program assisted in indoor recreations for the children such as games and reading.

Active participants in the program other than the chairman are Shirley Nichols, A1, Sidney; Phyllis Channer, N1; Mary Ellen Wylie, A3, Clarksville, and Bonnie Schilling, A2, Jamaica.

PAT ROSELAND, A2, CLEAR LAKE, chairman of the YWCA program at the Iowa Hospital School for the Education and Treatment of Physically Handicapped Children, plays with two youngsters at the hospital, Burt, 6, (on the ground) and Curly, 5.

Helpers Enjoy Sandboxes Too

PAINTING AND OTHER EDUCATIONAL activities are encouraged in the therapy program at Children's hospital. YWCA volunteer workers have initiated a recreational therapy project at the hospital designed to assist the young patients in organized play. The Y workers enjoy their program as much as their small charges. Recreational supervisor Nancy Dinges (left) is shown examining a painting with Y therapy chairman Pat Pew, A3, LeMars.

Paint smeared faces and sand filled shoes are "old stuff" for YWCA girls who participate in a recreational therapy program at Children's hospital.

The girls reserve Monday, Tuesday and Friday afternoons for their bout with the sandboxes, easels and other recreational activities.

The program is held in the occupational therapy rooms at the hospital and is under the direction of Nancy Dinges, hospital recreational supervisor.

The small patients enter into organized play and creative activities such as painting under the supervision of the Y girls. The volunteer workers also perform small "extra-curricular" tasks such as playing records for the children and helping them write letters home.

HOLD YOUR BETS

There is a theory that pops up every year at this time that "the pitchers are ahead of the hitters." Generally speaking, that's about right.

It's been a rarity so far this season for the total runs in a game to exceed five, and there have been a lot of games below that mark.

Take, for example, the game Wednesday night between St. Louis and Cleveland. There were only two hits in the ball game and the score was 1-0. The hit charged to Bob Feller, a triple in the first inning, should have been caught, in the opinion of the sports writers at the game.

A No-Hit Loss?
As it happened, the Indian left fielder evidently misjudged the ball and was standing motionless as the ball sailed over his head. On the next play, an infielder made an error on a routine ground ball and the runner on third scored.

Suppose that the left fielder had discovered his bad judgment in time to go back and get a glove on the ball and it had been called an error. Feller would have lost a no-hitter.

At any rate, the game produced sensational pitching very rarely seen at any time during the year. Only once before in the long history of baseball has the feat been duplicated, and that was on July 4 (1906), a time of the year when pitchers are supposed to be in better condition for such goings-on.

Darkness an Advantage
And not only was the time of the year unusual for such a great performance, but the weather was adverse. The temperature was only 50 degrees and the air was damp. The one favoring factor the pitchers had was that it was a night game, and the hitters very probably aren't used to playing under the lights yet.

That's a bundle of proof that the pitchers are ahead of the hitters. Generally speaking that holds up, but they aren't ahead of all the hitters. Averages released Thursday show that of the top 10 batters in the National League, none is below .360 and in the American the top 10 are all over the .345 mark.

Even more obvious is the fact that four men are over the .400 level. Despite the youth of the season, these averages are still phenomenal. Leading the list is Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals. In 27 trips to the plate, Red has 13 hits which proves that he's a little ahead of the pitchers he faced.

Good Hitters Hitting
Others in that group are Jackie Robinson of the Dodgers, Floyd Baker of Washington and rookie Ed Pierson of Boston. Most of those in the top 20 are established as good hitters, but there are others who are probably enjoying a bit of luck.

Bob Ramazotti of the Cubs, for instance, is listed as having a .360 average. It would certainly be nice if he could even approach that mark for a whole season's work, but Bob isn't known as a heavy hitter in any league.

So let it be resolved that the pitchers are ahead of the hitters in a few isolated cases, and in the next few weeks will probably be even farther ahead.

Take Heart from Yanks
Well all hear managers' wails on the subject, but there's one place it won't come from — the New York Yankees. They win one year without pitching, the next without hitting, the next with a carload of injuries. Last the managers become downright fed up, let them look at last year's results, when the Yanks took the world championship with only one .300 hitter.

The team standings, and the batting and pitching averages resemble in no way what they'll be in September. The Browns are on top in the American and Chicago and Cincinnati are tied for second in the National. All three teams are perennially in the second division and aren't conceded much chance of making the grade this year.

Another example from last year can illustrate what may be expected in 1952. About the first of May, a team known as the Giants were floundering around in eighth place in the National and had lost 11 games in a row. In the American, a Chicago team was tearing the league apart in first place. Hold your bets, boys.

IOWA STATE LOSES, 7-0

COLUMBIA, MO. (P) — Don Boenker, University of Missouri righthander, limited Iowa State college to two hits Friday as the Tigers won their third Big Seven conference victory in three starts, 7-0.

Gophers Blank Iowa, 6-0, In Loop Opener

Hope Illinois Becomes —

Netmen Beat Badgers, 9-0

— 15th Straight Victim

The Iowa tennis team took its Big Ten opener against Wisconsin Friday, 9-0.
The victory was the Hawks' seventh straight this season and fourteenth consecutive win in a string stretching back through the last two years.

After a faltering start Iowa first singles man Bob Richards dumped Jim Deloye, 6-6, 6-1, 6-3. Team-mates Norman Barnes and Bruce Higley had an easier time of it, Barnes winning his single match 3-6, 6-0, 6-1, from Ken Ohm, and Higley defeating Bill Rudelius, 6-1, 10-8.

Army 2-Miler Saves Soggy Penn Relays

PHILADELPHIA (P) — Cadet Dick Shea, of Army, Princeton's tall Albin Rauch and a couple of sparkling relay heats saved the 58th Penn Relays from being a complete washout this dreary, rainy opening day.

Running under the double handicap of a rain-soaked track and an ankle injury suffered earlier this week, Shea scored his third straight victory in the two-mile run.

His time of 9:33.5 was creditable under the conditions. He finished a good 25 yards ahead of Penn State's freshman, Lamont Johnson.

Rauch had to run when the weather was at its worst in the Harry Hillman memorial 400-meter race and he splashed through the huge puddles on the muddy track to win by some seven yards over Edward White of Army.

Two standout relay performances were turned in by Manhattan's defending 440-yard champions and by Morgan State's half-mile team in the trial heats. Finals of both events will be held today.

Manhattan's quartet won its heat in 42.8 seconds. Morgan State was one-tenth of a second slower in winning its heat.

Cubs Win ...
CHICAGO (P) — The Chicago Cubs parlayed extra-base power and Bob Kelly's five-hit pitching to whip Cincinnati, 7-3, Friday and break their second place tie with the Red Legs.

It was the Cubs' third straight victory and their sixth in eight starts.
Ewell Blackwell, the Reds' 16-game winner last year, blew a 2-0 lead and was charged with the loss as he left after six innings with the Cubs ahead, 4-2.

Kelly's 1st Win
Kelly, who like Blackwell was hunting his first victory of the year, got bristling Cubs' batting support, including Hank Sauer's third homer, a triple and two doubles in a nine-hit attack.

A pair of three-run Cubs' innings, the fifth and the seventh, settled the issue and ended a four-game Cincinnati winning streak.

The Cubs' extra base activity included Frankie Baumholtz's triple in the third and Toby Atwell's two run double in the fifth. Sauer's two-run circuit blast came in the seventh off reliever Niles Jordan.

2 Home Runs Spoil No-Walk Pitcher's Duel

MINNEAPOLIS (P) — A pair of University of Minnesota outfielders erupted with homers to break up a beautiful pitcher's duel here Friday as the Gophers downed the Iowa Hawkeyes, 6-0, in the Big Ten season opener for both teams.

Rightfielder Frank Larson homered with no one on base and Center Fielder Bob Thompson walloped one with two men on to drive home four runs in the Minnesota five-run fifth. One Iowa error contributed to the other Gopher tally in that frame.

Neither Pitcher Al Lenski, of the Hawkeyes, nor Ken McGonagle, for the Gophers, walked a man. The shutout marked 21 scoreless innings pitched for McGonagle and was the Gophers' sixth straight win. The two teams meet today in a doubleheader.

Umpire Squelches Resignation Rumor

CEDAR GROVE, N.J. (P) — Umpire Douglas (Scotty) Robb, fined and disciplined this week by National League President Warren Giles, denied from his home Friday night he may be planning to resign.

"I came home just to finish up some business," said Robb, who owns a printing firm in this north New Jersey community. "I asked for permission from Mr. Giles a couple of days ago. He said okay. 'It's just a coincidence that it came at this time. I'm flying out of here for St. Louis where I'll work the St. Louis-Chicago game tonight.'"

Reports that Robb may be planning to quit bobbed up when the umpire failed to work his regular assignment in the St. Louis-Pittsburgh game at Pittsburgh Friday.

LAKERS WIN NBA
The Minneapolis Lakers chased out the long pro season Friday night by taking the National Basketball Association crown with an 82-65 win over the New York Knickerbockers.

The vaulting was won by Charles Argenta, of Davenport, with an 11 foot, 1 1/4 inch leap.

Lucas Sets Record
Fred Lucas, of East Des Moines high school, set a new relays record by running the 100-yard dash in the interscholastic division in :09.9 seconds.

The old record was set by Dick Atkins, also of East, in 1947, at :10.1.

Des Moines high school entries took all except one of the five placings. Second was Don Graves of Tech, third, George Brewer of North, fourth, Don White, of Lamoni, and fifth, Curtis Baker of Roosevelt.

Davenport's half mile relay team, running in the first heat, built a 20-yard lead and then staved off a great anchor leg by Lucas to win by five yards in 1:32.

Smith Steps
Another of the great performances in the morning schedule was a blistering 2:01.6 unofficial anchor leg on the spring meter by North Des Moines' Cesar Smith.

It was unquestionably the best prep race for the distance in the state this season. North, added greatly by Smith's effort, won the first of seven heats in 3:41.2, over a full second under that school's winning time of last year and over two seconds faster than Davenport's time in the second heat.

Cards Defeat Bucs On Staley's 3d Win

PITTSBURGH (P) — Gerry Staley, 28-year-old curve ball artist, pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 6-4 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates Friday for his third victory of the year.

Staley needed help from Al Brazie in the eighth when the Pirates scored three runs.

Wally Westlake, former Pittsburgh outfielder, and Stan Musial led the Cardinal 12-hit barrage against five Pirate hurlers with three hits apiece. Enos Slaughter collected two hits for the winners.

Only 1,945 chilled fans watched the contest.

Robinson Spurns Battle with Maxim

IOWA'S ANCHOR MAN TED WHEELER snaps the tape far ahead of a University of Illinois runner Friday to hand Iowa the crown in the Drake Relays university sprint medley relay. The Hawk quartet made up by LeRoy Ebert, Gary Scott, DuWayne Dietz and Ted Wheeler ran the 440-220-220-880 in 3 minutes, 23.5 seconds, five tenths of a second off the relays record. Illinois and Oklahoma, both of which ran in the section with Iowa, placed second and third. Notre Dame, which won its section, was fourth.

Quarter Mile Relay Runners Reach Finals

Iowa's sprint medley relay team won that event at the Drake Relays Friday, topping Illinois, Oklahoma, Notre Dame and Wisconsin, who placed behind the Hawks in that order.

The winning time was 3:23.5 and was put together for Iowa by LeRoy Ebert, Gary Scott, DuWayne Dietz and Ted Wheeler.

Rich Ferguson, Iowa two-miler, ran second in that distance to Bob Fox, of the University of Missouri. Fox came in with 9:18.2 and the two mile crown.

The quarter mile relay team, consisting of Ira Murchison, Glen Hesselstine, Leonard Sykes and Scott, ran the best qualifying race of :41.7. Houston was second, with Oklahoma and Illinois dropped to third and fourth.

The University of Kansas' sensational four-mile relay team climaxed the opening of the relays by establishing a new American collegiate record in the punishing distance event.

The Jayhawk quartet, Lloyd Koby, Arthur Datzell, Herb Semper, and Wes Santee, sped the distance in 17:15.9, defeating the crack eastern entry, Georgetown university, by three yards.

Kansas also snagged another American collegiate record in Friday's assault in which four Drake marks fell.

Bob De Vinney, Anderson, Ind., captain of the Kansas team, established a collegiate record in the 440-yard hurdles. He skinned the barriers faultlessly in :52.4 to blot out the mark of 52.7 by Lee Hofacre, of Minnesota, at Drake in 1948.

The quartet from Howard Payne university, Brownwood, Texas, shattered the Drake record for the college distance medley relay — 440, 880, 3/4 mile and mile. The Texans sped the distance in 10:15, to clip 11 seconds off the mark hung up by Loyola (Chicago) a year ago.

In the qualifying test, North Texas State of Denton cracked its own record in the college 440-yard relay, reeling off the distance in :41.9, a tenth of a second lower than its 1951 performance.

In vaulting exhibition, Don Lar, former University of Illinois star, thrilled the spectators with a vault of 15 feet, the best performance ever made at Drake. The Rev. Bob Richards, also a former Illinois, was scheduled to appear with Lar but missed airplane connections.

A pair of Negro speedsters, James Golliday of Northwestern and Ollie Matson, University of San Francisco, served a booming warning they will be tough to keep off the U.S. Olympic team.

Golliday qualified for today's 100-yard dash finals with a sizzling :09.6, while Matson was timed in :09.7.

Publisher To Open 1952 Drive For County Cancer Funds

The 1952 Johnson county cancer drive will receive its formal kickoff Monday when H. B. Hook, director at large for the Iowa Cancer Crusade, addresses crusade workers in the River room of the Iowa Memorial Union at 7:30 p.m.

Hook, an SUI journalism graduate and now publisher of the Davenport Democrat, was state chairman of the Iowa Cancer Crusade from 1947-50, during which time the state quota was exceeded each year by a considerable margin. Campaign volunteers are urged to attend this meeting.

Johnson county's quota in the drive has been set at $6,713, part of which SUI students and faculty members will be asked to raise. Prof. Charles W. Davidson of the college of law is chairman of the university drive. He is currently organizing various departments and housing units at SUI.

Funds to Be Used for Education
Dr. Donald E. Metzler, college of engineering, is county chairman. He said Friday that the funds from this year's crusade will be used extensively for cancer education of the people of Iowa so that citizens will be able to detect whether or not they have an early case of cancer.

Metzler said that last year 62 persons in Johnson county died of cancer. One out of every five persons in the U. S. will have cancer during their lifetime, and one out of every six will die of it. Iowa had about 4,000 deaths from cancer last year with 220,000 Americans dying nationally.

Robert Alderman, Iowa City insurance salesman, is drive chairman for the local business and residential districts. His assistants are the Rev. Alfred Hendrickson, Unitarian minister; Mrs. Whitney Foster, student housewife; and Mrs. Walter Dewey, faculty housewife.

Cedar Rapids has been selected as the national "symbol city" because its population almost matches the number of Americans saved from cancer by X-ray, radium and surgery during the last year.

14 Law Students Join Phi Delta Phi

Fourteen freshman law students have been initiated into Phi Delta Phi, international legal fraternity. They are:

David J. Butler, Li, Mason City; Elden W. Colton, Li, Cedar Rapids; William R. Donovan, Li, Belle Plaine; Gordon J. Forsyth, Li, Colfax; Robert M. Gunn, Li, Waterloo; Richard W. Jensen, Li, Audubon; Jordan C. Kern, Li, Oakland, N. J.

Boy Scouts To Present Circus

More than 6,000 persons are expected at the Iowa River Valley Council Boy Scout circus which will begin at 8 p.m. today in the Iowa field house.

Tickets for the event are now on sale and may be obtained from any Boy Scout or Cub Scout in the area and at the door of the field house tonight.

Mayor William J. Holland has invited the mayors of all towns in the Iowa River Valley council to be his guests at the circus.

Parade Will Open

The circus will get underway with a Grand Entry parade including all cubs, scouts, explorers, and adult scouts. A band will be on hand to usher in the paraders.

Then the 600 scouts expected at the circus will give the Boy Scout oath, the Cub promise, the Pledge of Allegiance, and sing the National Anthem, under the direction of Ringmaster William Coder.

Next on the schedule is the "Cub-Bub," a series of games, and also featuring chariot racing, walking on stilts, and weight lifting.

Following the "Cub-Bub" a rope act will be presented by scout Ted Rehder. It will offer rope spinning, knot tying, and rope making and weaving.

History of Communication
Next a history of the development of communication will be given, with Francis Suellep as director. The group will present Indians with tom-toms and smoke signals, a pony express, the stringing of telephone lines, and an exhibition of the use of signal flags and blinkers.

A pet parade and a demonstration on bicycles will precede an act which is designed to show how

Liberal Arts Seniors To Take Exam Tuesday

Seniors in the college of liberal arts were reminded Friday of the graduate record exams which will be given Tuesday in Macbride auditorium.

All seniors in the college will take the first half of the exam, a general scholastic aptitude test, from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. Seniors taking the second half, a comprehensive achievement test in their major field, will report at 1:30 p.m.

United Air Lines To Alter Schedule On East-West Flights

United Air Lines will change the schedule of their east and west-bound flights Sunday.

The east-bound flight, non-stop to Chicago, will leave Iowa City at 1:20 p.m. and arrive in Chicago at 2:35 p.m. The flight will provide passengers with better connections for eastern flights.

The west-bound flight will leave Iowa City at 1:50 p.m. and will also improve connections at Des Moines and Omaha for north and south-bound travel.

United's station manager here, E. D. Williams, said that Iowa City's revenue loads during the first quarter of the year were record breaking. Passenger loads were 17 per cent higher than those of the same period in 1951. Other increases were noted in air mail and air freight.

The new trans-oceanic low cost fares have received considerable interest in the Iowa City area.

Final Film of Season To Be Shown Sunday

Films of a 5000-mile trip through tropical waters into the equatorial jungles of Brazil will be shown at the season's final meeting of the Iowa Mountaineers at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in Macbride auditorium.

Curtis Nagel, veteran travelogue producer, will present a film and narration on bird and animal life of the wilds as well as views of Rio de Janeiro and other major cities of the area.

The program is open to the public for 80 cents and to members of the club.

According to John Ebert, president of the Mountaineers, bulletins on the 1952-53 travelogue series are now available, and tra-

Bunche, Nobel Prize Winner, To Talk At Closing Lecture

Ralph J. Bunche, United Nations official and Nobel Peace prize winner, will speak at the Iowa Memorial Union at 8 p.m. Monday. The speech is last of the annual lecture series.

Bunche, a Negro, won world acclaim and the Nobel Peace prize for his work as UN mediator in Palestine after the assassination of Free tickets are still available at the Iowa Memorial Union desk.

Swedish Count Folke Bernadotte. Currently director of the trusteeships department of the United Nations, Bunche's international experiences include that of assistant secretary of the U.S. delegation at Dumbarton Oaks and technical adviser to the first U.S. delegation to the UN general assembly in London in 1946.

Grandson of a Slave. Bunche was born in Detroit in 1904, the son of a barber. He is the grandson of an American slave with Indian strains in his lineage.

Orphaned at 14, he worked his way through school and through the University of California at Los Angeles on athletic scholarships. He got his master's degree at Harvard in 1928 and received a doctorate there in 1934.

While at UCLA, he was a star on three championship varsity basketball teams, participated in other sports as well, and also took part in other extra-curricular activities including oratorical and debating contests.

Received Phi Beta Honors. Besides his many outside activities, Bunche was graduated with Phi Beta Kappa honors in 1927.

8 SUI Doctors To Deliver Papers At Medical Meet

Eight SUI faculty members of the college of medicine will deliver scientific papers at the 101st meeting of the Iowa Medical Society in Des Moines Monday and Tuesday.

Those who will deliver papers are Drs. A. L. Saha, head of neurology; T. Lyle Carr, assistant professor of internal medicine; William E. Bean, head of internal medicine; Robert G. Carney, associate professor of dermatology; Robert T. Tidrick, head of surgery; Hubert L. Cline, assistant in otolaryngology; Glenn L. Walker, associate professor of ophthalmology; and Hunter Comly, assistant professor of psychiatry.

In addition, Dr. John H. Randall, head of obstetrics and gynecology at the university, will serve as chairman of the society's obstetrics section meetings. Exhibits will be sponsored by the medical college's departments of ophthalmology, orthopedics, radiology, internal medicine, pediatrics and anesthesiology as well as the college of medicine administration.

Other units which will exhibit at the three-day meeting include the Iowa Hospital-School for Severely Handicapped Children, University hospitals, the radiation research laboratory and the state hygienic laboratory in conjunction with the state department of health.

Hunt'ng Accident Victim Is in 'Fair' Condition

Ralph Lumpa, 22, R.R. 5, injured by a gunshot wound suffered in a hunting accident Thursday, was reported in "fair" condition at Mercy hospital Friday. Lumpa was reportedly shot in the back with a 22 rifle by his cousin, Wayne Lumpa, 16, while the pair was hunting squirrels on a farm near Oasis.

Ralph J. Bunche For his race, honor

After obtaining his doctorate he did post doctoral work in anthropology and colonial political science at Northwestern university, and the University of Capetown.

In 1944, he joined the state department as a social science analyst on African and other colonial areas. He was the first Negro desk officer in the history of the department.

Attended International Gatherings. Bunche attended numerous international conferences. He was a technical expert attached to the U.S. delegation to the security conference at San Francisco in 1945 out of which the United Nations charter grew.

In April of 1946 Bunche went on "loan" from the state department to the United Nations secretariat and became an international civil servant. He resigned from the state department in March of 1947 in order to remain with the UN.

A little more than two years later he declined an offer of a top ranking state department post. He had been asked by President Truman to become an assistant secretary of state. It was one of the highest official positions ever offered to one of his race.

Report Refusal Based on Race. There were reports that racial segregation in Washington was an important factor in his decision. "It is well known there is Jim Crow in Washington," Bunche told a reporter. "It is equally well known that no Negro finds Jim Crow congenial. I am a Negro."

20 Graduated Friday In Hospital Laundry Management Course

Members of the second annual hospital laundry management training course at SUI were awarded certificates of achievement Friday at special ceremonies in the Iowa Memorial Union.

Presenting certificates to the 20 members of the course — representing hospitals in 12 states and Canada — was Dean Bruce E. Mahan of the extension division. Special guest at the ceremonies was Howard Cook of the American Hospital association.

The course is sponsored annually by the American Hospital association and the extension division of the university. Instruction is provided by regular university staff and faculty members, although classes are of a special nature suited to needs of those enrolled.

The seven weeks' course featured intensive study in chemistry, textiles, personnel management, production management, record keeping, accounting, hospital organization, engineering and preparation of oral and written reports.

The American Hospital association, through the cooperation of Pacific Mills, textile manufacturing company, provided 10 scholarships of $275 for the course.

WSUI Will Air 3 Student Recitals

A recital by three SUI music students will be broadcast over WSUI at 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

James Taggart, A2, Des Moines, will present Mozart's Sonata in A Minor; Allegro moderato, Andante cantabile con espressione and Presto. Morel's Piece in F Minor will be presented on the trombone by Merle Hogg, G, Lincoln, Kans. Concerto, Opus 45 (1st movement); Allegro moderato by Schroder will be presented on the trumpet by J. Robert Hanson, G, Osakis, Minn.

Welfare Workers Observe Child Clinic in Action

Welfare workers attending the fourth annual Iowa Welfare institute on campus Friday had an opportunity to watch the pediatric department's new child development clinic in action on an actual case.

The clinic members, led by Dr. Julian Boyd, professor of pediatrics, "staffed" the case of a nine-year-old boy before the last general session of the two-day institute. The boy had been referred to the development clinic with a complaint of nervousness and poor eyesight.

The clinic found nothing physically wrong with the child, and found evidence for attributing his troubles to the conditions under which he had lived. In all, a pediatrician, social worker, speech and hearing specialist, clinical psychologist, teacher and expert in special education pooled their resources to establish the diagnosis.

Clinic Makes Diagnosis. Boyd told the institute that once a diagnosis has been formulated through the combined efforts of the clinic staff a child is generally referred to a specialist or proper local or state agency for treatment.

Earlier, in introducing the staffing session to the institute, Boyd said the child development clinic was established because pediatricians are not just interested in the physically "sick" child. Yet understanding the child in his total situation goes beyond the scope of the physician and requires the help of specialists in other fields.

If a child brought to the pediatric clinic in Children's hospital deviates noticeably from normal in any phase of his growth and development, it is felt he should be referred to the special clinic, Boyd said.

Determines Cause. There, for example, if the child is smaller than other children, it can be determined whether or not this is an inherited tendency or a result of the condition in which he has lived. Or, if the child has not been doing well in school, the specialists can find out if the trouble is physical or, if not, what are the emotional strains behind it.

In the morning the conferees completed work in the 10 continuous discussion sections devoted to special welfare problems. More than 425 welfare workers from throughout the state registered at the institute.

Rabbi Lavine to Be School of Religion Speaker Monday

Under the auspices of the school of religion and the Jewish Chautauqua society, Rabbi Bernard H. Lavine of Des Moines will speak on "What One Should Know About Judaism" in the senate chamber of Old Capitol at 4:10 p.m. Monday.

Lavine received his B.A. degree from the University of Cincinnati in 1937. He was ordained a rabbi by the Hebrew Union college, from which institution he obtained his master of Hebrew letters degree in 1942. During the war he served as a chaplain for three years, one of which he spent in the Philippines.

He is a lecturer in religion at Drake university and is a member of the Central Conference of American Rabbis.

Coralville to Get 10 Storage Tanks, Tripling Capacity

Ten additional storage tanks each with a capacity of over a million and a half gallons will be built at the Coralville terminal of the Great Lakes Pipe Line company.

A brick service building, new loading machines, a new driveway and additional piping are also included in the company's expansion program.

Construction will begin about May 1 on a 22-acre slice of land immediately northeast of the present site of the pipe line company's operations in north Coralville.

The program will more than triple the company's gross tank capacity at the terminal. The ten welded steel tanks will each have a 1,680,000 gallon capacity and give the terminal a total capacity of over 24 million gallons.

The new tanks will be about twice as large as those now at the terminal. They will bring the total number to 25. The installation of new machines will make it possible to load four transports simultaneously. Other equipment now in operation makes it possible to load 10 railroad cars at the same time.

Nominations For SUI Mother Due Monday

Nominations for the representative SUI mother must be in to the office of student affairs by Monday. The mother will be chosen for the annual Mother's day weekend, May 9 to 11.

Both mothers and fathers will be entertained as part of the program sponsored by Mortar Board, women's honorary leadership society.

Any student may enter a nomination in the contest. Nominations should include the name and address of the nominee, the school she attended, the names of her children who have been or are attending SUI, and a brief summary of her accomplishments while in school and in community service.

Festivities will begin with canoe races on the Iowa river. Some 140 representatives of university housing units are expected to participate.

Other weekend highlights will include Mortar Board "tapping" (naming) of new members at an assembly on the west approach to the Old Capitol, a Mother's day tea in the home of President Virgil M. Hancher and final competition for the "university sing."

Open house in the Iowa Memorial Union and production of "The Sidewalks of New York" at the University theatre will also be features of the weekend program.

Parents will be invited to the annual Art guild showing of student art in the art building and the Iowa City Craft guild exhibit in the Union. Open house tours will include the home economics department, University library and the Veterans hospital.

Quad-City Persons To Select Topics

Quad-city residents will be "participants once removed" on the fourth program of SUI's International series of television programs over station WOC-TV, Davenport, Sunday.

Prof. John R. Winnie, producer-director of the series, says a number of residents of the Davenport-Rock Island-Moline-Bettendorf area will be called at random before the program and invited to indicate topics for the panel of students to discuss.

Winnie said this method will enable the panel of students representing England, France, Germany, Greece, Poland, Italy and the U.S. to discuss topics of particular interest to the viewers of the program.

The show will be telecast at 12 noon this week instead of the former 1 p.m. program time.

Pangborn Speech To Open Meeting

An all day conference of Unitarian church school workers from several Iowa communities will begin at 10 a.m. today at the church with an address by Mrs. Cyrus Pangborn on "The Philosophy of Religious Education in the Beacon Curriculum."

The Rev. Alfred J. N. Henriksen, host to the conference, will also speak at the morning session. His subject will be "Leading Children in Worship."

During the afternoon session there will be a discussion of teaching methods and curriculum as applied to several age groups. A demonstration will be given of the use of arts and crafts in a church school program.

High Schools, University Trade Education Ideas

In a three-way exchange of ideas university students, high school teachers and university instructors talked over the basic problems of writing, speaking and reading instruction at a work-conference on campus this weekend.

Featuring a series of workshops in which the conferees discuss their mutual problems, the conference is designed to improve coordination between the university and Iowa high school programs.

In stating their views, two SUI freshmen agreed that the term papers they were required to write in high school provided valuable training for their college work. In noting some of the shortcomings of their high school training, organization of themes and discussion of written work had been neglected.

Friday, the teachers attended a dinner at the Iowa Memorial Union and heard addresses by Harlan Miller, columnist, Des Moines Register, and J. D. Cox, office manager, Maytag company, Newton. Today's meetings will include four workshops in the morning and two general sessions in the afternoon.

The conference will give high school teachers a chance to compare and improve their teaching standards as well as gain suggestions for new methods of instruction. The annual conference is sponsored by the university's communications skills staff. Those from Iowa City attending the conference include Mrs. Mary Wessels and J. Day, both of University high school, and Alice Kemp, Mrs. Marion Powers, Katherine Mears, Dorothy Hagemeyer, Ann McManus, Helen M. Opsahe, all of City high school.
