U.S. Judge Rules Steel Seizure Illegal; Workers Begin Walkout

Orders Mills Be Returned To Owners

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge Tuesday voided President Truman's seizure of the strike-threatened steel industry.

U.S. District Judge David A. Pine, in a biting opinion, ruled that Truman's seizure order was "without authority in law" or the constitution. He struck at arguments that the President has broad "inherent" powers authorizing the seizure, saying that for the courts to agree to such an argument "would undermine public confidence in the very edifice of government as it is known under the constitution."

Orders Mills Returned

The judge announced that he was issuing an injunction ordering the government to give the mills back to their owners.

The government was ready to try immediately for a higher court order cancelling out the district court decision.

One almost certain result of the court ruling is an historic test in higher tribunals of just how much "inherent" power the President has in a period of national emergency. And the findings could — though they probably will not — bring an ultimate decision on whether the judiciary can control the executive.

Raps "Inherent" Theory

Judge Pine denounced the whole theory of "inherent" powers of the executive, which was the legal base on which President Truman took over the mills as a mobilization emergency measure April 8. He avoided that the President was not a party to the immediate action in the court and did not have to be one. He held flat-footedly that administrative officers—in this case Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer as government boss of the seized plants—are subject to court order.

Technically, Judge Pine's action was the issuance of a preliminary injunction against carrying out the seizure, directed against Sawyer. His opinion indicated a finding that the industry must go back to and be held in "the status quo as of the day of the wrongful acts complained of."

Ike's Manager Votes in Primary

POSSIBILITIES for putting Eisenhower on almost even terms with Taft were seen by Ike's boosters in the Massachusetts primary Tuesday. One Ike supporter, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., manager of the Eisenhower for President campaign, is shown smiling confidently as he leaves a poll in Beverly, Mass. A total of 28 GOP convention delegate seats are at stake in the election.

Mass. Voters Give Ike Big Margin Over Taft

BOSTON (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower piled up a runaway majority of the popular vote in the Massachusetts presidential primary Tuesday.

With more than one third of the vote tabulated, Eisenhower had 75,087 votes in the write-in section of both the Republican and Democratic ballots.

All the other candidates counted had only about 40,000 tallies.

Eisenhower's vote on the Republican ballot alone—67,951—topped all the other candidates on both ballots by more than 3,000.

At the one-third point Taft had 29,410 Republican write-ins, and 2,782 on the Democratic ballot.

By midnight two Eisenhower delegates to the national convention had been elected in one district contest, and his men were leading in 10 others.

Tennessee's Estes Kefauver was ahead on the Democratic ballot. But both the general and Sen. Taft were scoring a large count in the opposition party, too.

The preferential returns are not binding on delegates to the conventions, however.

Iowa City Sailor Wins Bronze Star

Anthony E. (Eddie) Rocca, Iowa City, navy hospital corpsman third class, has been awarded the Bronze star for heroic achievement while in action in Korea.

Rocca, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Rocca, 718 N. Gilbert st., "remained under fire at the front lines moving about to give first aid to six wounded marines," according to a navy announcement.

The action took place Oct. 2, 1950, near Seoul, Korea, while he was serving as a corpsman with a marine assault rifle company.

He entered the service in September, 1948, and volunteered for service with the marines after serving 15 months at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Annapolis, Md. Rocca was ordered back to the hospital in January, 1952, and is still serving there.

State Society Honors Dr. John McClintock

DES MOINES (AP) — Dr. John T. McClintock, Iowa City, was one of three Iowa physicians who received awards of merit at the annual convention of the Iowa State Medical society Tuesday.

The other doctors are Dr. Daniel J. Glomset, Des Moines, and Dr. W. A. Sternberg, Mt. Pleasant. McClintock and Glomset were honored for their service to medical education, while Sternberg was honored for his service to the society.

Luxury Plane Vanishes

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — A double-decked luxury strato-cruiser with 50 persons aboard vanished Tuesday while flying over the jungles of northern Brazil on the way from Buenos Aires to New York. Pan American World Airways, operators of the $1 1/2 million plane, said it was presumed down in the wilderness.

Mercury Hits 92, Tops Record for April 29

A mercury reading of 92 degrees here Tuesday topped an all-time record for April 29 — a 1901 reading of 89.

A high of 88 is expected for today, and a five-day outlook predicts temperatures six to twelve degrees above a normal 68 for this time of year.

Scattered showers are predicted for Iowa Thursday, with general showers around Saturday.

Reds Attack French Plane

BERLIN (AP) — Two Soviet jet fighters ripped into an Air France commercial liner with cannon and machinegun fire in the Allied air corridor to Berlin Tuesday and wounded four of the 17 persons aboard before the liner could veer from sunlight into cloud cover.

Shocked by the assault, the Westep Big Three delivered a stern note to the Russians protesting the "unwarranted attack" and demanding a full inquiry and compensation for the wounded and damage to the plane.

But despite all the publicity given to the incident and the knowledge that the Western high commissioners were drafting a note, no competent Russian officer could be found to accept the protest at Soviet headquarters.

French high commissioner Andre Francois-Poncet, receiving the news as he lunched with Gen. Dwight Eisenhower in Coblenz, described the attack as "a very grave thing, a sort of provocation." Francois-Poncet said the retiring NATO commander "looks on it as a very important thing." Eisenhower himself declined comment, saying "That's for the state department."

Two German prisoners were injured, one seriously, and two French crewmen were nicked slightly in the attack. The cabin and fuselage of the liner, a four-engine Douglas, were so punctured by shells and bullets it will be grounded several days for repairs. No vital part of the plane was hit. Six crewmen and 11 passengers were aboard.

Air France withheld a list of the passengers, but eight were Germans, two Swiss and one Dutch. No Americans were involved.

3 Enter Bids For Hawkeye, Iowan Posts

Two students filed last-minute bids for the editorship of The Daily Iowan and another for the post of business manager of Hawkeye yearbook Tuesday.

Submitting applications for the Iowan post were Maurie Rosen, A3, Davenport, and Jack Bender, A3, Waterloo. Sally Bailey, A3, Ottumwa, filed for the job of Hawkeye business manager.

The two appointments, together with the naming of the Hawkeye editor are scheduled to be made May 6 by the Board of Publications. The appointments are for the 1952-53 school year.

2 File For Hawkeye

Donald Wallace, A3, Venetia, Penn., has previously applied for the Hawkeye editorship. He and Miss Bailey are the only students seeking the two yearbook positions.

Rosen, a political science major, has been a photographer and reporter for The Iowan since last fall. He has also been employed by the Davenport Times for the past five years, serving as a city, sports and photo correspondent and full-time summer replacement in similar capacities.

He enrolled at SUI last fall after two years at St. Ambrose college, Davenport.

Waterloo Man Applies

Bender is majoring in journalism and is presently assistant sports editor of the Iowa City Press-Citizen.

He was sports reporter and cartoonist for The Iowan during the 1949-50 and 1950-51 school years. He has also been a sports reporter and cartoonist for the Waterloo Courier.

Miss Bailey, a sociology major, is senior editor of this year's Hawkeye. She was also a member of the staff last year.

She transferred to SUI in 1950 from Lindenwood college, St. Charles, Mo.

After reviewing applications, the Board of Publications will interview candidates. The deadline for submitting applications was 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Cites School Needs On Elementary Level

Gov. William S. Beardsley and two of Iowa's leaders in the field of education gave problems facing Iowa schools a good airing at the first Governor's lay leadership conference on education Tuesday.

Some 200 delegates from 70 state organizations heard:

- 1. Beardsley recommended that a four-year program be established to train elementary teachers at SUI and promise his support for such a program.
- 2. State Superintendent Jessie Parker plea for Iowans to keep in closer touch with their children's schools — and the schools of their neighbor's children.
- 3. SUI President Virgil M. Hancher noted that it is the problem of the schools to prepare students to live in a society whose nature cannot be predicted even 10 years in advance.

Sponsored by Beardsley, the conference was planned by the Iowa Council for Better Education.

10 Discussions

Speakers brought advice and counsel on various Iowa school problems, but the major work of the conference is being done in a series of 10 separate group discussions.

These include such topics as state administrative organization, school district reorganization, state school finance, teacher education, moral and spiritual values in education, sources of revenue, health-safety education, school program, special education and student life.

Beardsley cited the acute shortage of elementary teachers in Iowa, both present and future, and warned that the shortage will become even more serious unless more high school students become interested in the teaching profession and unless facilities are provided for their training.

Describes SUI Facilities

The governor described the various facilities already available on the SUI campus which he said would aid in the preparation of elementary teachers, and estimated that such additional facilities as might be needed for a four-year training program could be provided for $75,000 to $100,000.

"I shall urge the organization of such a training program at this university and the appropriation of adequate funds to carry it out," the governor said.

Citing "certain prohibitive regulatory measures" as the reason why the SUI has not in the past offered a training program for elementary teachers, Beardsley noted that the school situation in Iowa has "changed materially" since these measures were originally adopted.

SUI Interested

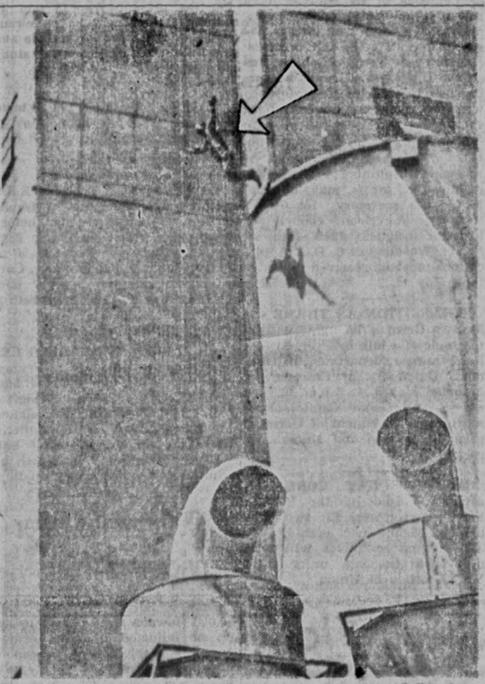

He pointed out that SUI is interested in the organizing of a four-year program of education leading to the bachelor of arts degree and advanced elementary teaching certificate, and stated that such a program "would provide a substantial number of elementary teachers for rural, small town, city and consolidated schools."

Miss Parker, addressing the group at a banquet held Tuesday night in Iowa Memorial Union, said, "If we could raise one generation of children well, the nation would be strengthened everlastingly."

Even the poverty-stricken nations are making education their first priority, she said, and she reminded the conferees that nations with bad intent are quick to recognize the value of youth.

Man Leaps 110 Feet to Death

A FATHER OF FOUR CHILDREN, Merle Bibbs, 38, Negro, dramatically leaps to his death from atop a 110-foot grain elevator at the National Starch Products plant in Indianapolis where he worked. Thirty horrified spectators watched. Police and firemen spread nets and tried in vain for two hours to rescue him. Bibbs refused to come down and jumped so nets could not catch him. No reason was apparent for the leap.

'Package Deal' Is Last Truce Bid, UN Hints

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United Nations package deal on remaining Korean truce issues is "about the last offer we can make," Allied diplomats said Tuesday.

The package deal covering three deadlocked problems was laid before the Red's Sunday at Panmunjom by Allied truce negotiators acting on instructions forwarded from the Truman administration here to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway.

The proposition was put forth in great official secrecy. However, informed officials and diplomats privately agreed that these three proposals, taken together, constitute the heart of the United Nations offer.

1. The deadlock over acceptance of the Soviet Union as one of six "neutral" nations to supervise a truce should be broken by reducing the total of nations from six to four.

2. The UN proposal for a ban on airfield construction in north Korea during the armistice would be dropped.

3. The imasse over exchange of prisoners of war would be solved by Red acceptance of the United Nations principle of non-forcible repatriation, based on a survey of Red POW's in UN camps.

Magazine X New Issue Features 'Spring Love'

A pictorial look at "spring love."

The student in the classroom as viewed by the professor.

Riverbanking—from a new angle.

The backstage life of the Scottish Highlanders.

These will be among the features of the May issue of Magazine X, when it goes on sale today.

The winner of the "name the magazine" contest will also be announced, but the Board of Publications will not officially decide on a name for the new humor magazine until probably later this month.

Amos Two-Point will depict another of his class struggles; this time it's physics. Ads will again fit into the humorous pattern of the magazine, and a new column called "Funnier Than Fiction" will contain anecdotes on campus life.

The magazine will again be sold by campus salesmen, with the publication appearing exclusively on newsstands in a couple of days. The magazine costs 10 cents.

The April issue sold more than 3,000 copies. This was considered quite successful.

Not Spots—Measles!

Those spots SUI students are seeing before their eyes aren't imaginary—they're measles.

About 50 cases, which the student health department called an epidemic, have been reported to the infirmary so far and some of them have entered the isolation ward at general hospital. Others are in isolation at their housing units.

An epidemic of this type arises about every seven years, Dr. Chester I. Miller, associate director of student health, said Tuesday.

Measles cases must remain in isolation from five to seven days or until the rash disappears.

A slight cold may develop two or three days before the actual rash breaks out. In this "pre-rash" period, the measles virus may easily be transmitted.

No special diet is required for measles patients, Miller said, but all cases should be isolated.

Industry Slows After Murray's Strike Ruling

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Workers poured out of the nation's steel mills by the thousands Tuesday in swift obedience to cease work orders from President Philip Murray of the CIO United Steelworkers.

They obviously were taken by surprise as a federal judge set aside government seizure of the steel industry.

One union official said the plant shutdown is orderly and that standby crews are remaining behind to safeguard expensive equipment — like iron making blast furnaces — which must be cooled off slowly.

Union Moves Fast

Some fervent unionists laid down their tools minutes after Murray was reported as saying the union had no alternative to working without a contract except stopping work.

Three hours after Murray issued his cease work order, the shutdown of America's great steel industry was well under way for the second time this month.

The industry virtually was shut down by the night of April 8 — to meet a strike deadline of 12:01 a.m. — when President Truman disclosed the government was taking over the steel industry. That action averted a strike and the men went back to work.

Picketing in Chicago

Picketing began in South Chicago and Gary, Ind., plants of the U.S. Steel corp. within an hour after the government seizure was ruled illegal. The action took a company spokesman by surprise. He said:

"It's all happened so fast, I don't know where we are."

In every district union locals apparently are following Murray's orders to permit standby operations to continue. Such a procedure, normal practice by the United Steelworkers, insures the men of jobs to return to when the work stoppage ends. If everyone turned heel and left the steel plants, costly steelmaking facilities would be damaged and production could not be resumed when and if a final settlement is reached.

Steel Head Critical

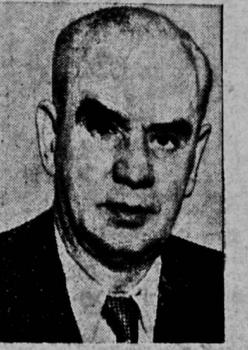

Walter Klis, president of a big local at the Jones and Laughlin Steel corp. plant, said workers still in the steelmaking open hearth department were given "two hours to bank the furnaces and get out."

"This is all the result of congress not having guts enough to back up Truman," he said. "If this wasn't a political year the contract would have been settled long ago."

Embargo Order

Meanwhile in Washington the government clamped an embargo on shipments of steel from warehouses to producers of civilian-type goods and to foreign countries.

The national production authority moved to conserve available steel supplies less than two hours after a court decision nullified government seizure of the steel plants and steel workers started going on strike.

20,000 Iowans Enter Service in 2 Years

DES MOINES (AP) — Nearly 20,000 Iowans have been called up or inducted into the armed forces since selective service operations were resumed nearly two years ago.

A tabulation of the month-to-month quotas starting with September, 1950, and running through next month shows the total is 19,548.

That about compares with the 1950 population of Marshalltown and Muscatine. Marshalltown's total was 19,821 and Muscatine's 19,041. There are only 15 cities in Iowa which have populations of more than 19,548.

$15,000 Suit Filed In District Court

In a suit filed by Edith Wagner in Johnson county district court, Ivan Wagner is charged with negligence in not exercising care and proper safety precautions when moving a grain elevator.

In the petition, the plaintiff seeks $15,000 as a result of the death of her husband, Arthur Wagner, who was killed in October, 1950 when he and the defendant were moving a grain elevator on the farm.

The elevator allegedly fell on Arthur Wagner, resulting in his death.

What an Assel!

It's Esther Williams, Incorporated

AP Newsfeature HOLLYWOOD — U.S. Steel may have more money in the bank but no corporation can match the capital structure of Esther Williams, Inc.

Esther, the all-American girl, and husband Ben Gage are now incorporated into what must certainly be rated as one of the most attractive financial organizations of all time.

Gage gave up a career as a top radio announcer and singer to take over active management of the corporation which includes a thriving restaurant and machine shop among other things.

Chief, of course, among the other things is the 29-year-old Esther herself—probably the prettiest corporate asset in the world today.

Esther gives a logical explanation of the founding of the corporation:

"Rather than have two salaries come and go, we decided it would be better to incorporate and see if we couldn't concentrate on keeping some of our income. Ben has a real knack for business."

Gage spends most of his time running the big restaurant "The Trails" near the Los Angeles International airport or else trying to interest government officials in defense contracts for the machine shop.

'Public Will Tire' When it comes to bathing suits, Esther is the Hopalong Cassidy of that field. She has had a royalty tieup for a number of years with one firm (Cole of California) as both a technical consultant and chief model. But she speaks quite frankly about the time when the public will tire of seeing Esther Williams in a bathing suit picture.

"That's why we formed the corporation," she explains. "We both like to travel and maybe we'll have a little money left to do it in our old age."

If the public ever tires of Esther in a bathing suit, it will come as a shock to the money-counters at MGM. She's been one of the studio's big moneymakers for a decade.

Film Censors To Get Supreme (Court) Test

WASHINGTON (CP) — Within another month or two, the Supreme Court will hand down a decision which may establish, once and for all, whether movie censorship by states and local communities is legal and constitutional, or whether it must be abolished.

The court will rule on the issues involved in one case — the controversial Italian film "The Miracle," which was banned in New York state after it had originally been granted a license and had played at a local theater.

Should the high tribunal come to the definitive conclusion that, in banning the picture, the New York censor has violated constitutional guarantees of freedom of expression and communication, movie censorship as constituted today may automatically come to an end.

At this moment, six states and more than 100 communities have regular censorship boards which review films and delete scenes considered contrary to good taste or in violation of local moral standards. A seventh state, Massachusetts, censors pictures for Sunday exhibition only.

The Industry's Stand The movie industry, chafing under the often arbitrary scissoring done by these boards, has long been anxious to establish that motion pictures are a form of communication and should, like newspapers and radio, enjoy the protection of constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and press, set down by the First Amendment and made applicable to the states by the 14th Amendment.

The last time the Supreme Court ruled on the status of movies was back in 1915 when it decided that films were "mere entertainment," ranking with circuses and sideshows.

Since then, the movies have learned to talk, and Hollywood producers have closed ranks behind their own strict production code which sets down the various do's and don'ts of film making in no uncertain terms.

Changed Attitude? In recent years, members of the Supreme Court have indicated that they are now ready to adopt a different attitude towards motion pictures, one based partly on the realization that the movies, like their audience, have grown up and that many of them embody some social significance which takes them out of the pure entertainment category.

Justice William O. Douglas has commented that movies "like newspapers and radio, are included in the press whose freedom is guaranteed by the First Amendment." And Justice Hugo L. Black, in 1949, said all instruments of communication, in which he included films, should be free of censorship.

In direct contrast, a federal judge, upholding the ban in Marshall, Tex., of the picture "Pinky," made it clear how he felt about censorship: "We cannot concede that the motion picture industry has emerged from the business of amusement and become propagandists of ideas entitling it to freedom of speech," he wrote.

First Solid Test Although "The Miracle" represents the first solid test case of movie censorship in many years, the film industry is far from happy over the type of picture which is carrying the ball before the Supreme Court.

Movie executives are troubled by the religious overtones which dominated the banning of the film in New York. It was mainly Catholic opposition which forced the censor's action against the picture, Cardinal Spellman denounced it as "sacrilegious," but there were many who did not share his views and, instead, pronounced it a deeply religious work.

Censorship of movies in the United States is practically as old as the industry itself. It started with the peep-show days and public indignation over a one-reeler called "The Gypsy Dance," which played on the board-walk of Atlantic City.

Savings Bonds Revised; Interest Rates Higher

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government bid higher for the public's savings Tuesday by boosting interest rates a bit in a sweeping revision of the savings bond program.

The increases range from one-tenth to one-fourth of a percentage point for the full term of a bond. But the increase is much bigger for persons who want to cash in their bonds the first few years after they buy them.

The treasury offered a new type of issue — which will be called an "H" bond — which will pay off in regular interest checks to individuals.

Sale of the present series of "F" and "G" bonds — sold mostly to institutions and large investors — will be discontinued. New bonds will take their place, at higher interest rates.

Secretary of the treasury John Snyder announced most of the changes will be effective May 1. The new program is designed to bolster sales in the months ahead, when the government expects to borrow huge sums to pay for its defense buildup.

All Types Changed Here are the changes in each of the three major fields of savings bonds: 1. The series "E" defense bond — the type held by most individuals — will be continued. Prices and maturity values will be the same — you still get four dollars for every three you put in, if you hold the bond the full term. But the bond will reach full value in nine years and eight months, instead of 10 years as at present. This amounts to increasing the total interest rate from 2.9 per cent to 3 per cent annually.

Persons on payroll savings plans will get the new terms on all bonds delivered after May 1. Those who want to keep their "E" bonds can be cashed in at 1.07 per cent interest annually after six months, 1.50 per cent after one year, 2 per cent after two years and 2.5 per cent after five years.

Only for Individuals 2. The new "H" bond, like the "E" bond, will be sold only to individuals and will pay 3 per cent interest if held for the full term of nine years and eight months. 3. The present series "F" and "G" bonds, which pay about 2 1/2 per cent interest over a 12-year term, will be replaced by series "J" and "K" bonds respectively. The new bonds will pay 2.75 per cent interest.

Cancer Workers Emphasize Study of Cells

BUFFALO, N.Y. — "The search for a cure for cancer has been so long and heartbreaking that I hesitate to raise false hopes. But we should be able to start a direct attack in about three years."

This is the estimate of Dr. Joseph G. Hoffman, chief scientist at Roswell Park Memorial Institute, the nation's oldest publicly financed cancer research center.

Back in 1898, Dr. Roswell Park, a prominent Buffalo surgeon, convinced the New York legislature that it should appropriate $10,000 to finance a cancer laboratory. He said he thought he could find a cure within two years.

The laboratory has been running 54 years. Its annual research budget now is more than $150,000. But a cure has not been found.

Study Centers on Cells "We are trying to learn how healthy cells grow in the human body," he says. "Then perhaps, we can learn how cancerous cells grow."

That is what cancer is—a disease affecting the basic cells of which the body is made. The amount of the accurate knowledge about healthy cell growth, Dr. Hoffman says, is pitifully small.

"We don't even know how big cells are." First results are expected within a few months on a project to measure certain types of cells. Basic information is necessary, he says, because all the easy approaches and trick cures for cancer have failed.

Radioactivity and Surgery "Radiation and radioactivity will work on a few types—where the growth is near the skin surface or can be easily approached. But radioactivity kills healthy as well as sick cells. It's a little like killing the patient to cure the disease." He says the same objection exists to surgery. It isn't always possible to cut out the diseased part, and even when it is removed, a few of the cancer cells may remain.

TO THE EDITOR: We would like to call the attention of students to the showing of a very timely and important film in the library auditorium at 8 p.m. Sunday, May 4. The picture, "Peace Will Win" is a graphic documentary of the Warsaw peace congress held in November, 1950. This congress attended by 2,065 delegates from 81 countries: scientists, poets, clergymen, statesmen, men and women of many differing political faiths and ideals who were, nevertheless, convinced that the problem of world peace transcended all their differences.

Frederic Joliet Curie, outstanding French physicist and former head of the French atomic energy project; Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the Dean of Canterbury; Abbe Bowler, prominent French Catholic; and Dimitri Shostakovich, world-famed composer, were among the many international figures at the congress who joined in declaring that in our generation, in the atomic age, peace is more than an issue, it is a matter of life and death for all mankind.

The congress unanimously called for a ceasefire in Korea, a pact of peace among the five great powers, and a Big Five meeting to settle their mutual differences and draw up a plan for gradual disarmament.

The strength and universality of the peace movement in Europe and Asia, where the people have experienced the horrors of war at first hand, was convincingly demonstrated at the congress. This universality provides a significant example for Americans; for it is only if students and young people of all creeds and beliefs are willing to work together to defend their common interests in peace, that militarism in the world can be defeated and a peaceful future guaranteed.

We urge all students to see this significant film.

19 Women Receive 3-Year Scholarships For Nurses' Training

Nineteen Iowa women will enter the SUI college of nursing next fall under three-year nurses' scholarships. The awards, given by the American Cancer society, were won by 18 applicants in state-wide competition. The winners will receive tuition, fees, books, and uniforms for three years of nurses' training at any accredited school of nursing in Iowa. Primary considerations in the selections were: rank in upper third of high school class, satisfactory results in pre-nursing tests and acceptance by an accredited Iowa nursing school, need of financial assistance, and personal qualities essential to becoming a nurse. In accepting the scholarships, all must agree to finish their training unless prevented by sickness and to practice their profession in Iowa for two years immediately following their graduation. The scholarships, aimed at relieving the critical nursing shortage in Iowa, are part of a long range program to expand the cancer case finding and home service programs of the society's 102 chapters in Iowa. Award winners who have chosen the SUI college of nursing for their training are: Mary Roberts, Greenfield; Mary Lou Kent, Guthrie Center; Virginia Wohlhueter, Donnellson; Barbara Terry, Ottumwa; Beverly Speed, Greenfield; Meri Hill, Nodaway; Elizabeth O'Riley, Waukon; Roberta Turnwall, Webb; Phyllis Ann Chase, Greeley; Frances Fronk, Spirit Lake; Joyce Pittman, Guthrie Center. Ruth Johnson, Missouri Valley; Lettie Turner, Woodbine; Nancy Howard, Lime Springs; Barbara Hoffman, Monticello; Patricia Johnston, Cedar Rapids; Darlene Anderson, Toeterville; Delsie Harman, Sac City; Glenda Berryhill, Buffalo Center.

State Medical Society Honors Dr. McClintock

Dr. John T. McClintock

Dr. John T. McClintock, a member of the SUI college of medicine, was honored Tuesday by the Iowa State Medical society for his record of service. He became the first full time professor in the SUI college of medicine in 1902. He is a past president of the Johnson county medical society. In making the award to Dr. McClintock, the trustees said: "You have been an inspiration to medical students for many years and a source of wise counsel for doctors of medicine. Through your teaching and your example, you have helped produce the Iowa men of medicine today." The other two doctors who received awards of merit were Dr. Daniel J. Glomset of Des Moines and Dr. W. A. Sternberg of Mt. Pleasant. The award system was begun by the medical society last year to honor physicians with long records of service to the society and the profession. Dr. McClintock received his medical degree from SUI in 1898 and a doctor of science degree from Parsons college at Fairfield. He took graduate work at Rush Medical college, University of Vienna, University of Berlin, and University of Leipzig.

Johnson Describes Self as Optimist In YWCA Lecture

Prof. Wendell Johnson, of the psychology and speech pathology department, described himself as a long-range optimist and a short-range pessimist to approximately 50 people in his "Philosophy of Life" lecture Tuesday evening in the senate chamber of Old Capitol. This was the last in the series of lectures sponsored by the YWCA. Johnson expressed these points as some of his tentative conclusions regarding life: People in general are kind except when they lack information or are acting in keeping with loyalties (as to family, school or country). People find co-operation more congenial than competition when circumstances are favorable for the development of co-operation. People overestimate the degree to which they as individuals are responsible for their misbehavior, social ineptness and ability to get along with others. In regard to this last tentative

Dr. Ponsetti to Address Iowa Nutrition Council

The Iowa State Nutrition council will hold its spring meeting Thursday in Lecture Room 1 of the medical laboratories. Dr. F. V. Ponsetti, associate professor of orthopedic surgery, will open the discussions at 10 a.m. with a talk on "Scoliosis and Protein." The panel members will include Dr. Genevieve Stearns, research professor, Jewel Graham, professor of foods and nutrition and Dr. Erel Eppright, professor of foods and nutrition. A representative from the food and drug administration will discuss chemical additives to foods. At 1 p.m. Dr. William Bean, professor and head of internal medicine at university hospitals, will speak at 2:15 p.m. on chemical additive to food and their effect on nutrition. At 2:30 p.m. Harriet Stevens, instructor in home economics, will tell about the New York state nutrition council and department of health. Lindsey Leads Iowa Past Western, 7-0

Hits 3 Doubles, Single; Fans 9 in 5 Frames

By JACK JORDAN
Sports Editor

Ed Lindsey staged a one-man show here Tuesday afternoon that overshadowed one of the sharp-shooting Iowa performances of the season as the Hawks beat undermanned Western Illinois, 7-0.

The Iowans had things their way all afternoon, climaxing a slugging attack with four runs in the big seventh inning, including Jack Lundquist's home run. Hawkeye pitching was equally effective in holding the Illinois team to four hits and striking out 13 enemy batsmen.

Principally, Lindsey pitched the first five innings and struck out nine batters while allowing only three hits and one walk. In the fourth, fifth and sixth frames, seven of the nine outs were registered as whiffs, and in the latter two innings the side was retired on strikes.

Hawks Show Slugging
In addition to his mound feats, Lindsey boosted his season's batting average to an even .400 as he led the heavy Iowa attack with three doubles and a single in five trips to the plate. Batting in the cleanup spot, he also knocked in two runs.

The offensive and defensive chores were not left solely to Big Ed, though. Iowa pounded out 10 hits for the afternoon, six of them for extra bases.

Lundquist got the first home run on the Iowa field this season with a long smash to right center, and Jack Hess got a long triple to start the big seventh. Bill Vana also got a double to round out the Iowa slugging attack.

Fellow Davenport hurler Merle Jensen took over for Lindsey in the sixth when it appeared that the starter had Western completely buffaloed, and he moved to left field. Jensen gave up only one hit and struck out four in the remaining four frames.

None Past Second
Neither he nor Lindsey allowed a Western runner past second as the Hawkeyes gained their seventh win against eight defeats. The only thorn to the Iowa hurlers was left fielder Kenny Thomas, who picked up three of Western's four safeties.

Iowa started its onslaught in the second with a run on only one hit, and that double by Lindsey didn't figure in the scoring. After he'd opened the frame, the Western shortstop hesitated in throwing to first after fielding a ground ball from the bat of Jerry Hilgenberg, and Hilgenberg reached base on a fielder's choice as Lindsey moved on to third.

Vana also hit a grounder, and he too reached first on a fielder's choice as Lindsey was caught in a rundown between third and home. Then first baseman Frank Bok hit a sharp bouncer to the shortstop that went through for an error, and Hilgenberg scored from second.

1 Run in 5th

In the bottom of the fifth, Hawk shortstop Tom Stenger opened with a walk and stole second. He advanced to third as Hess grounded out to the pitcher, and scored on Gus Brandt's single to right.

Lindsey kept the rally going with a single, but the effort died as he was hit by a single off the bat of Lundquist while running for second, resulting in the third out.

Iowa again tallied in its half of the sixth, this time on a passed ball and a wild pitch. Vana started with a double, and advanced to third as the Western catcher let a pitch go through to the backstop. The next pitch was in the dirt, and got away long enough to let Vana score standing.

Ed Lindsey
Heavy Bat, Strong Arm

Close Play on Homer
In the deciding seventh, Hess led off with his triple and scored on Lindsey's third double along with Brandt, who had walked. Then with the bases empty, Lundquist hit his home run.

The drive was very deep in right center, and sailed just beyond the glove of the Western centerfielder at the end of a long run. Lundquist was nearing third by the time the fielder got control of the ball, and slid in under the tag of the catcher in a close play at home.

Several nice fielding plays were made during the game. One came in the sixth when Hess moved back from his second base post to haul in a Texas leaguer as he fell. In the sixth, Mike Sestak also hit the turf to make a catch of a probable hit after coming in from right field.

Vana joined Lindsey and Brandt as a 300 hitter with his two hits in three trips, which raised his season mark to .315.

Maglie Hurls 3-Hitter, Wins Game on Single
CINCINNATI (AP) — Sam Maglie pitched a three-hit game, then singled home the winning run in the ninth inning here Tuesday night as the New York Giants hung the season's third consecutive defeat on Cincinnati's one-time ace, Ewell Blackwell, 2-1.

Wildier than usual, Blackwell had walked Alvin Dark in the final frame. The shortstop advanced on Wes Westrum's grounder before scoring on Maglie's hit to left center.

The Giants' first run was the result of the only extra base hit off Blackwell, who yielded only four hits. In the third inning Wes Westrum doubled and two successive sacrifice bunts, by Maglie and Dave Williams, sent him the rest of the way home.

Hank Edwards had tied the game up in the fifth inning for the Reds with a home run into the right field bleachers.

The crowd of 19,531 saw Maglie score his third consecutive victory against his losses.

Spahn Hands Bucs 10th Straight Loss
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Lefty Warren Spahn allowed the punchless Pittsburgh Pirates only five hits Tuesday night as he pitched the Boston Braves to a 5-1 triumph over the National League's cellar dwellers. It was Spahn's first victory of the season. The defeat was the 10th in a row for the Pirates.

The Pirates used three pitchers trying to halt the Braves' 11-hit attack. The defeat was charged to right-hander Bob Friend, his third loss against one victory.

The Braves sewed up the contest in the second inning by scoring two runs on four hits, all singles.

Ol' Diz Gives Out with Advice

SOME POINTERS THAT MUST have proved right were passed from the old master, Dizzy Dean, to Curt Simmons (center) of the Phils before Simmons' first start of the year Tuesday against the Cubs. Dizzy, who once was the peer of National League pitchers as a member of the St. Louis Cards' Gas-House Gang, is now a broadcaster. Simmons evidently took the lesson well, and turned back the Cubs, 8-2, to celebrate his return to baseball after a hitch in the army. Watching is manager Eddie Sawyer.

Simmons' Return Successful As Phils Wallop Cubs, 8-2

CHICAGO (AP) — Ex-Sgt. Curt Simmons, three weeks out of the army, Tuesday made a smooth comeback to big league baseball with a seven-hit performance which gave the Philadelphia Phils an 8-2 win over the Chicago Cubs.

The 22-year-old left-hander, who had made his last previous start for the Phils on Sept. 9, 1950, showed much the same effectiveness that made him a 17-game winner in his shortened 1950 campaign.

The entire Philly bench rushed out to congratulate Simmons when he had retired the last Cub homer.

Simmons had expected at least a month's work would be needed in conditioning to shake off the effect of 19 months and 5 days in service.

But Phil manager Eddie Sawyer apparently knew Curt was ready. So did the Cubs after solving Simmons for only one extra base ball, rookie catcher Harry Chitt's first major league homer with none aboard in the seventh.

Simmons didn't seem quite as fast as before his service hitch but his curve ball was masterful and his control was extremely steady. He issued only one walk, that in the seventh after Chitt's

Roe Beats Cards For 8th Time, 4-1, In Strike-Delayed Tilt
ST. LOUIS (WEDNESDAY AP) — Preacher Roe, Brooklyn's left-handed master, beat the St. Louis Cardinals for the eighth straight time as the league-leading Dodgers scored a 4-1 victory in a game which began Tuesday night and ended at 12:30 this morning (EST).

The start of the contest was delayed 65 minutes because electricians refused to cross picket lines thrown up around Sportsman's park by members of another labor union.

The veteran Roe, gaining his third triumph of the season, was touched for nine hits, including four by Solly Hemus, but as usual he was tough in the pinches and was backed by brilliant support. The Preacher beat the Cardinals seven times last year en route to a 22-3 season.

The Dodgers, who beat St. Louis in 18 of 22 tries in 1951, collected 10 blows as they pinned defeat on little righthander Joe Presko. Andy Pafko drove in two Brooklyn runs with his first of two hits. Billy Cox, Duke Snider and Carl Furillo also had two safeties apiece for the one-beaten Brooks, who have won eight games.

The Cardinals scored their only run in the eighth on the fourth hit by Hemus, who has had seven blows in his last nine trips, but Roe stopped Peanut Lowery. Only one was out at the time, but Roe stopped Stan Musial and Steve Bilko and then was saved in the ninth when, with two on and none out, Gil Hodges made a fancy backhanded grab of Johnson's line drive to start an unassisted double play.

QUITS UNDER PRESSURE
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Elwin (Doc) Romnes resigned Tuesday as hockey coach at the University of Minnesota. He said "continued criticism" by Athletic Ike Armstrong is "affecting my health."

3 Ex-Wildcat Greats Get Suspended Terms In Point-Fixing Case

NEW YORK (AP) — Judge Saul S. Streit Tuesday dealt suspended sentences to three former University of Kentucky basketball stars for shaving points in a game but whaled away at the U. of K. and cage coach Adolph Rupp.

The players, Olympians Alex Groza and Ralph Beard, and Dale Barnstable, members of the university's "Fabulous Five" of 1948, were placed on "indefinite probation" by Judge Streit in general sessions court.

In a statement before sentencing the trio, Judge Streit detailed the rise of Kentucky in the collegiate athletic world and how its costs for maintaining basketball and football teams jumped "far in excess of the normal and average cost of the operation and maintenance of a first-rate professional football or basketball team."

'Got the Devil'
The judge said Barnstable had testified that in the Sugar bowl game with St. Louis in January of 1949, he had missed a shot, following which "Rupp came back and gave me the devil and said that the shot I missed just cost his friend, Burgess Carey, $500."

St. Louis won the game, 42-40. Beard, Groza and Barnstable were given light sentences at the request of District Atty. Frank Hogan's office. The district attorney had recommended clemency because "of substantial aid to our office."

They had pleaded guilty to fixing the point spread in a National Invitation game with Loyola of Chicago in Madison Square Garden, March 14, 1949. Loyola won 67-56, in a sensational upset. Rupp's talented crew had been favored to sweep the tourney.

Spivey Available for Arrest
For conspiracy, a misdemeanor, each of the three could have been sentenced to a maximum term of three years in a New York city penitentiary.

Meanwhile, Bill Spivey, Kentucky basketball all-American of 1950-51 who was indicted for perjury by the New York grand jury Monday, said in Lexington he would be available for arrest when Fayette county officials receive the necessary papers from New York.

The seven-foot star has steadfastly maintained his innocence. The indictment charges Spivey with falsely denying he had discussed deals with alleged fixers and accepted $1,000 in the winter of 1950-51 to arrange the point spread of games. The district attorney said Spivey's testimony in a voluntary appearance here in February was not borne out by that of the others questioned.

Rosen Hits 3-Home Runs —

Indians Club A's, 21-9

— 18 of 43 Hits Off Feller

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Led by Al Rosen and rookie Jim Fridley, the Cleveland Indians went on a scoring rampage Tuesday night to whip the Philadelphia Athletics, 21-9, in a game that saw two teams pound out 43 hits. Rosen blasted three home runs and batted in seven runs, while Fridley had six hits in as many trips to the plate.

The A's, though, got 18 hits off Bob Feller. In winning, Feller received a better stroke of luck than he did last week when he lost a one-hitter to the St. Louis Browns. The win is his second against one defeat.

Cleveland took a 6-0 lead as the Indians sent 11 men to the plate against Alex Kellner in the opening inning, combining five hits with two walks and two errors for their runs. Philadelphia got a singleton in their half on a triple by Elmer Valo and Bob Avila's fielding misue.

Throwing Error
Rosen's first homer of the game touched off a three run second inning Cleveland uprising with the two other tallies crossing on Fridley's single, a double by Bob Kennedy and a two base throwing error by Eddie Jost. Rosen's second home run of the game in the third inning, off relief pitcher Harry Byrd, came after a walk to Feller and a fielder's choice.

After Philadelphia picked up a run in the third on two singles and a walk, the Tribe scored twice more in the fourth on three hits and an error.

Big 7th for A's
Philadelphia then got to Feller for four runs in the seventh on six hits but with rookie Tex Hoyle pitching for Philadelphia, Cleveland tallied seven times in the eighth on three-run homers by Birdie Tebbetts and Rosen, the latter's third round-tripper of the game. They had countered once prior to Tebbett's circuit clout on a walk and two hits.

Hank Majeski's home run after a Gus Zernial single gave Philadelphia two runs in the eighth while they picked up their final marker of the game in the ninth inning on three hits.

Last Home Tennis Slated for Saturday
Iowa's tennis team closes its home schedule Saturday with a non-conference match against a strong Bradley squad.

The Hawkeyes, unbeaten in 15 dual meets over a two-season period, will be looking for their ninth straight victory of 1952 against Bradley.

Leading the way for Iowa are Norman Barnes, Cedar Rapids sophomore, and Bob Richards, Moline, Ill., junior.

Cadets See 150th Anniversary at West Point

TWO SUI ARMY ROTC STUDENTS meet Col. John K. Waters, commandant of cadets at the U.S. Military academy, West Point, N.Y., during a visit of the cadets last weekend. The two students are Edward F. Diekmann, E4, Ottumwa (center) and John W. Brake, G, Sioux City (right). The visit of the two students was part of the 150th anniversary program of the academy. It was designed to bring the West Point officers to be closer to their ROTC counterparts.

ROTC Cadets Return From West Point

After obtaining a first-hand glimpse of life at the U.S. Military academy, West Point, N.Y., two SUI Army ROTC cadets returned here early Tuesday. The two students, John W. Brake, G, Sioux City, and Edward Diekmann, E4, Ottumwa, were picked by the military department to represent SUI at the academy's 150th anniversary celebration.

More than 400 ROTC students from colleges throughout the nation are expected to participate in the program before it ends next month. While at the academy the two men were each given a West Point cadet escort with whom they ate, roomed and attended class. Special tours and demonstrations were included in the visitor's programs.

Teachers Plan . . .

President Hancher touched upon the problem of the greatly increased enrollment which will hit the schools within the next few years. The nation's problem is how to educate these increasing numbers, he said.

He cited methods of coordinating several state institutions of higher learning within each of several states and compared them to the joint board system which exists in Iowa.

The conference Tuesday also heard Samuel S. Gale, vice-president of General Mills Inc. and a member of the National Citizens Commission for the Public Schools describe our entire system of public education as one "based upon the necessity for enlightening the citizenship."

A special research committee reported on school finance Tuesday night. With their objectives being to assure an acceptable educational opportunity for every boy and girl in Iowa and to provide an equitable plan for financing such opportunity, the committee reported on its efforts to develop a "Foundation Program" for public school finance in Iowa.

Local Community Chest Elects 3 New Directors

M. C. Boyer, Sig N. Nelson and Mrs. W. T. Hageboeck have been elected for three-year terms on the Iowa City Community Chest board of directors.

That organization's annual financial report showed receipts of $27,920 and expenditures of $25,508 during 1951, leaving a balance of $2,412 at the end of the year.

Activities of the Visiting Nurses association during the year were reported by Rev. John G. Craig. Visits during 1951 increased 550 over the previous year making a total of 2,193 calls.

Beside care was required in 1,355 of these instances. Maternity service totaled 265 visits and 404 cases called upon for health guidance.

Consolidation plans for the Iowa River valley and the Waubeck council of the Boy Scouts of America were explained by Dean Allan W. Dakin, vice-president of the Iowa River Valley council and chairman of the committee on consolidation.

The committee plans to form the two groups into a new council to be called the Hawkeye Area council. This council will head the Boy Scout activities of Washington, Johnson, Iowa, Benton, Linn and Jones counties.

A field executive would be located in Iowa City and the administrative headquarters in Cedar Rapids. Consolidation would give the organization a chance to provide more professional service to the unit and reduce administrative costs at the same time.

The Waubeck council's large permanent camp would be available to the Iowa River Valley council units.

Bunche Takes Life in Stride

By JOHN SEQUEIRA

There was nothing of the eminent man of affairs about Ralph J. Bunche as he talked informally with representatives of press and radio Tuesday, before leaving for a talk at the University of Arkansas.

Bunche, director of the United Nations department of trusteeship and non-governing territories, spoke Monday night in the final major university lecture of the school year.

Relaxed on a settee in the office of Prof. Earl Harper in the Iowa Memorial Union after a busy day of conferences and meetings Tuesday, Bunche moved over a wide range of topics as he answered questions about his work and his interests.

Not Too Busy to Live

The most striking impression one gets of him is that he is not too busy to live. He confirmed this when he said, "I guess I take life in my stride. There's nothing like staying relaxed. You only get hurt when you're always tense."

Bunche said in reply to a question about his philosophy of life that he believes in the essential goodness of men.

"There is more good in people than bad, but the pressures of organized society frequently prevent the good from asserting itself. The instincts of most men are sound," he said.

Says UN Merits Confidence

Asked about his work in the UN and whether he thought the organization was worth the confidence of the world, Bunche said, "I am a congenial optimist. I don't care about cynics and dispensers of gloom."

Bunche is convinced that the UN has done solid work towards the achievement of a better world.

"No miracles can be expected," he asserted. "We have to teach people to be patient. You know how difficult it sometimes is to iron out disputes in a family. Well, you should not be surprised when it takes time to iron out disputes between sovereign, independent nations."

Takes Interest in Sports

He takes an interest in baseball and track and, when he is down in Mexico, takes time off to watch the bull-fights.

Bunche is not an enthusiastic movie-goer, but he likes theater. His tastes in music are wide enough to include high-brow opera and the hottest jazz. "I was reared in a musical family," he said, "but I don't have any special aptitude for music."

Thursday Services Set for Mrs. Glick

Funeral services for Mrs. Ida May Glick, 65, 223 E. Benton st., will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at the Oathout Funeral chapel.

Mrs. Glick died Monday at Mercy hospital after a long illness.

She was born on Sept. 17, 1886, in Johnson county, the daughter of John and Josephine Boegler Wieneke.

On Aug. 25, 1905, she was married to George Glick. The couple lived on a farm in Graham township until 1916 when they moved to Wisconsin. They moved to Iowa City in 1932.

Mrs. Glick is survived by her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Alfred Loken of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., and Mrs. Elmer Rotter of Middle Amana.

Four sons, Elmer of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., Cpl. Harold Glick, serving with the army, Louis of Des Moines, Robert at home; 19 grandchildren, one great-grandchild. Four brothers; John Wieneke and Pirl of Coralville, Bert of Iowa City and Guy of Chicago.

The Rev. W. W. Benzinger will officiate at the services. Burial will be in Memory gardens.

UN Official Talks to the Press

RALPH J. BUNCHE, DIRECTOR of the UN trusteeship department, is shown as he talked informally Tuesday to Jean Norris (left) WSUI reporter and John Sequeira (right) Daily Iowan reporter. 4 More Guards Resign From Michigan Prison

JACKSON, MICH. (AP) — Four more prison guards resigned Monday and Dr. Vernon Fox said he would fight for his job at the state prison of Southern Michigan.

The new resignations and Dr. Fox's rebuff to criticism marked the fifth day of the restoration period at the big prison following last week's disastrous riot.

Six guards now have resigned as a result of the riot. One convict was killed and about a score of inmates and guards injured. The prison employs 475 guards.

Dr. Fox, prison psychologist and assistant deputy warden, was relieved of duties for his congratulatory speech to prison mutineers as the latter prepared to surrender.

The assistant warden was a friend of many of the convicts. He was a leading peacemaker in the four days of rioting.

At his home here Dr. Fox made clear he would not accept removal.

"I could get a nice, easy job teaching," he said, "but I intend to fight this out."

Dr. Fox, 36, presumably was referring to a college teaching job. He received his doctor's degree from the University of Michigan.

Dr. Fox' exact capacity since he was relieved of duties has not been made clear. Officials said he was being transferred to duties outside the prison.

Two of the latest resignations came from guards who had been held hostages in notorious disciplinary cell block No. 15 of the 170-odd prison mutineers.

The two, Joseph Dzal and H. W. Curry, resigned quietly like the others — without comment.

NAMED POLICE CHIEF

DES MOINES (AP) — Capt. Howard R. Eide, 46-year-old former marine, was appointed Tuesday as new chief of the Des Moines police department. The appointment was announced by City Manager Leonard G. Howell.

Tension Grows As Oil Strike Draws Nearer

DENVER (AP) — The deadline for a nation-wide strike of 100,000 refinery and pipeline oil workers drew ominously closer Tuesday. They will go out at one minute after midnight Tuesday night unless leaders order otherwise.

The strike has been postponed three times since March 3, but union officials said this time it is going through unless wage demands are met.

Short hours before the deadline, negotiations continued Tuesday between management and union representatives at a number of refineries.

Secretary of the Interior Chapman told a news conference he was hopeful the strike, which he said "could be most serious," but might still be averted.

He expressed doubt that the government would seize the oil industry as it has steel.

The strike, if prolonged, apparently would hit the civilian motorist the hardest. A spokesman for the oil workers international union (CIO), with headquarters in Denver, said the union is convinced the strike would not interfere with national defense.

"We aren't claiming the strike would bring a complete shutdown of all refineries in the country," he said. "There will still be production of petroleum products and, naturally, government needs will come first."

The unions have demanded a wage increase of 25 cents per hour plus increases in extra pay for night work, but in some recent negotiations have shaved their asking figure to 22 cents. Pay rates now average $2 to $2.10 per hour.

THORNTON TO SPEAK

Prof. H. J. Thornton, SUI history department, will participate in the Grinnell college commencement weekend as principal speaker at an alumni-senior chapel June 7. Thornton was graduated with a B.A. degree from Grinnell college in 1925.

Flood Crest Holds Steady In Southeast

MUSCATINE (AP) — The long flat crest of the Mississippi river was holding steady all the way from Davenport to Muscatine Tuesday and although levees were intact some concern was felt due to waves washed up by a brisk breeze.

Muscatine, where the river went into its second day at an all-time high of 21 feet, was the chief critical point along the Iowa border although Clinton still was having sewer backup troubles.

The city of Muscatine itself reported that the levees there seemed to be in good shape but the Drury drainage district levee across the river was being closely watched.

After the flood crest leaves Muscatine, the Mississippi will have completed most of its mischief along Iowa's eastern border.

The weather bureau said that during the next day or two the river would drop about half a foot a day from Guttenberg to Bellevue, 3 or 4 inches a day from Bellevue to Dam 14 and 2 or 3 inches a day from Dam 14 to Muscatine. The river is expected to drop below 18 feet at Davenport about Friday.

Westminster Group To Give Banquet

Members of Westminster fellowship will give a banquet in honor of their graduating seniors at 5:30 p.m. Sunday at the Presbyterian church.

Fred Bergman, G. Austria, will be toastmaster. Speakers at the banquet will be Helen Montgomery, N2, Iowa City, and the Rev. P. Hewison Pollock.

Tickets at 85 cents each are available at the church. Reservations should be made not later than Friday noon.

Friday at 6:15 p.m. the Mr. and Mrs. club, married student group of the Presbyterian church, will meet for a potluck supper. After the supper two films, "Boundary Lines" and "Families First," will be shown.
