Senate Extends Controls But Reorganizes WSB

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate banking committee voted Tuesday night to continue wage-price controls to next March 1 but to strip the wage stabilization board of dispute-settling authority.

The committee also voted to extend rent control and authority to allocate scarce essential materials through June 30, 1953.

President Truman had asked that all controls—wage, price, rent and allocation restrictions—be extended through June 30, 1954. The present law expires June 30 this year.

Action Because of Steel Crisis
The action on WSB power to step into dispute is an outgrowth of the steel crisis. There has been strong criticism in congress of the amount of the pay raises the board recommended in that situation and also of its recommendation for the union shop.

The steel industry has bitterly contested that last part of the WSB proposal. It has also claimed it would have to have up to $12 a ton price increase to cover the proposed pay raises totaling 17 1/2 cents and hour by next January plus some 8 1/2 cents an hour in such items as holiday pay and shift differentials.

The vote on extension of wage-price controls to next March 1 was 8 to 4.

Board to Be All-Public
The vote on stripping the WSB of dispute-settling powers was 7 to 3. The approved plan also calls for reorganization of the board. Among other things, it would be set up as all-public body.

On the present board, the public, labor and industry are equally represented with six members each.

Those voting for extension of wage-price controls to March 1 included Sens. Homer Capehart (R-Ind.) and Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.).

Those against the proposal included Sens. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.) and Blair Moody (D-Mich.). Douglas and Moody told reporters they favored a longer extension.

Plan Strips Board
Those for the Dirksen amendment to strip the wage board of dispute-settling authority include Senators Capehart and Dirksen.

Moody and Douglas voted against the amendment.

The Dirksen plan would make the members of the all-public wage board subject to confirmation by the senate. Confirmation of the present members was not required.

Iowa Farmers Oppose Daylight Saving Time
DES MOINES (AP) — The agricultural committee of the Des Moines Chamber of Commerce Tuesday voted against the proposal that this city go on daylight saving time and move clocks ahead one hour starting June 16.

Kenneth Thatcher, secretary of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation, and Herb Plambeck, farm service director for radio station WHO, urged such action, saying that farmers are opposed to daylight saving time.

"There is no issue on which farmers are more unanimous," Thatcher said. "Des Moines is a farmers' town and farmers are proud of their capitol city. The farmers should be considered before the time change is made."

Davis To Lead Chorus in Spring Concert
Music instructor Charles Davis will conduct the 100-voice SUI chorus in its spring concert at 8 p.m. today in the Iowa Memorial Union.

The program will feature three songs based on verses of A. E. Housman and composed by Alan Aulabaugh, Decatur, Ill., accompanist for the chorus. It also will include a number of selections based on the themes of religion and springtime.

Free tickets are still available at the Union desk. The concert will be broadcast by station WSUI.

Thrift Days Stores Get Ready For Spree

May Thrift days will be Thursday through Saturday in Iowa City. The annual bargain days are sponsored by the retail trade sales division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Joseph K. Schaaf, Thrift days chairman, said, "The idea of the special sales event is to make the entire business district one big store for shoppers."

Many of the stores will use special Thrift day emblems in their windows.

Vickery Appointed Business Manager Of 1953 Hawkeye

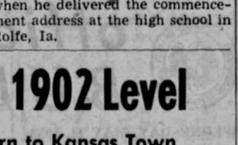

James Vickery, A3, Des Moines, Tuesday was appointed business manager of the 1953 Hawkeye by the Board of Publications.

He succeeds Sally Bailey, A3, Ottumwa, who resigned last Thursday two days after her appointment because of pressing studies.

Vickery, an advertising major, transferred to SUI last fall from Grinnell college, where he worked on the advertising staffs of the student paper and yearbook.

This year he has worked part-time in the advertising department at the Iowa City Press-Citizen. He is a member of Alpha Delta Sigma, national professional advertising fraternity.

Vickery was one of two applicants for the job. The other was Jerry Borlund, C3, Muscatine.

HANCHER SPEAKS AT ROLFE

President Virgil M. Hancher enjoyed somewhat of a homecoming at his birthplace Tuesday night, when he delivered the commencement address at the high school in Rolfe, Ia.

Additional congressional appropriations must be granted to the National Science Foundation if the scientific frontier in the United States is to move forward, Dr. Alan T. Waterman, director of the foundation, declared Tuesday in Macbride auditorium.

Waterman spoke before more than 170 initiates of Sigma Xi, professional honorary science society.

Staff members and alumni of SUI as well as 17 candidates for the University of South Dakota where there is no Sigma Xi chapter were initiated into full or associate membership in ceremonies at Old Capitol preceding the talk.

A PRECARIOUS PERCH is held by an unidentified SUI student, one of hundreds who stormed Currier hall Tuesday night in the biggest and wildest demonstration in the school's history. This student was inching his way along a second-story ledge on the south side to gain entrance in a window. He pryed the screen off, but couldn't get in because the window was locked from the inside. He threw the screen to the ground and then started down himself amid boisterous cheers from the other students.

Science Foundation Director Calls for More Federal Aid

Additional congressional appropriations must be granted to the National Science Foundation if the scientific frontier in the United States is to move forward, Dr. Alan T. Waterman, director of the foundation, declared Tuesday in Macbride auditorium.

Waterman spoke before more than 170 initiates of Sigma Xi, professional honorary science society.

Staff members and alumni of SUI as well as 17 candidates for the University of South Dakota where there is no Sigma Xi chapter were initiated into full or associate membership in ceremonies at Old Capitol preceding the talk.

Waterman outlined the work of the National Science Foundation and discussed its organizational structure as a governmental institution.

He said that the most difficult hurdle of the foundation has been money and that the extent of its work in 1953 depends on congressional appropriations.

Increased fellowships and an extensive research support program are the prime objectives of the foundation. The scientist stated that the fellowship program is especially important since there is a great shortage of highly trained scientists and engineers in the United States today.

Backs Exchange Program
Waterman said that the foundation advocates a program whereby an exchange of scientific information between scientists of the United States and foreign countries may be facilitated.

Sigma Xi officers installed at initiation ceremonies were Prof. Robert Hulbary, botany department, president; Dr. Robert Tidrick, head of the surgery department, vice-president; Prof. Chelney J. Posey, head of civil engineering, secretary, and Prof. Robert Hogg Jr., mathematics and astronomy department, treasurer. (List of initiates, page 6.)

Oil Strike Continues With No Prospect Of Quick Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nationwide oil strike continued Tuesday with no firm prospect of quick settlement despite a wage stabilization board (WSB) statement that "considerable progress has been made" towards settling some of the disputes.

A hundred or more oil executives, representing major companies across the country, and top officials of a score of oil unions spent Tuesday in separate meetings with WSB members.

The board itself went to work on six local settlements, to see whether they are approvable under WSB anti-inflation regulations.

Meantime, Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman set up the framework of an organization to deal with spot shortages of petroleum products because of the oil strike. It applies to 15 states, (including Iowa) most of them in the midwest, and goes into effect today at 2:01 a.m. (CST).

The walkout of an approximated 90,000 oil workers, starting its third week, has cut off an estimated 35 per cent of the nation's oil production.

The proposed resolution, which is likely to be adopted at today's session added:

"We cannot and will not continue to work in 1952 for 1950 wages and working conditions; we cannot and will not continue indefinitely to work without satisfactory collective bargaining contracts."

Strike Now Forbidden
The steelworkers are now technically employees of the government, and as such are legally barred from striking. However, President Truman's month-old steel industry seizure is under court attack and the issue has been presented to the supreme court.

Students Storm Dorm, Sororities

Hundreds of men students stormed Currier hall and near-by sorority houses with varying degrees of success Tuesday night in one of the most determined riots in SUI history.

Campus and city policemen and firemen held the mob at bay for several hours before a group broke through the northwest door of Currier about midnight and circulated through the building.

Damage Negligible
Although some rooms were entered, Currier officials reported that damage to property was negligible.

For all of the shouting outside, the students were remarkably well mannered once inside the building. After a quick tour of Currier, the group was herded out and then concentrated its efforts on Gamma Phi Beta, Delta Zeta and Delta Delta Delta sororities.

No admittance was gained at Gamma Phi Beta although some of the rioters climbed on top of the doorway. At Delta Zeta several windows were broken and some of the mob entered through them.

Sorority members fought off the intruders with paddles. Although the mob went through the sorority the only thing reported missing were some bath room scales.

At the Tri-Deltas, windows were broken but no entry was made.

Faunce Tries to Speak
The main break at Currier came after Dean of Students L. Dale Faunce had attempted to quiet the group.

Faunce had just given up the effort when the shouting became too loud and had entered the building when the group rushed the door and quickly pushed back the three or four defenders.

Most of the 600 girls living in Currier retreated to their rooms after the forced entry but a few stayed in the halls and attempted to dissuade the rioters from any damage.

Prior to the main entry in Currier, a group had forced the north door and had started to roam the building before being expelled by law officials.

Fights with Police
There were several brushes with policemen at the two south doors before the group became organized for the successful push. In one, city patrolman Richard Lee and an unidentified campus policeman were involved with a group of about 10 students.

A rioter grabbed the campus policeman and threw him to the sidewalk before Lee came to his rescue. This left the southwest door of Currier momentarily unguarded and about 20 rioters pushed in.

They ripped the handle from the locked door but were repulsed when Lee and the campus policeman returned to the door.

While the group was milling around outside the building, almost every girl in Currier was leaning out windows watching the proceedings. Many were shouting encouragement to the boys.

Girls Taunt Rioters
Some of the girls taunted the rioters with shouts of "Sissies" and "What's the matter, can't you big strong boys get in?" Others suggested that the boys try the fire escapes as a possible means of entering.

Owners 'Broke Rules' Angry Murray Claims

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The CIO steelworkers tossed out a hint of a possible new steel strike threat Tuesday as Union Chief Philip Murray angrily charged the industry with breaking government labor "rules."

A resolution presented to the union's opening convention sessions by its resolutions committee, apparently with Murray's endorsement, said the union's wage and other demands "must be promptly solved."

The proposed resolution, which is likely to be adopted at today's session added:

"We cannot and will not continue to work in 1952 for 1950 wages and working conditions; we cannot and will not continue indefinitely to work without satisfactory collective bargaining contracts."

Strike Now Forbidden
The steelworkers are now technically employees of the government, and as such are legally barred from striking. However, President Truman's month-old steel industry seizure is under court attack and the issue has been presented to the supreme court.

Murray, in his keynote address to the more than 2,500 delegates, said the steel industry has broken the "rules of the game" by balking at wage stabilization board (WSB) settlement proposals. Murray pledged that the industry won't "get away with it."

In late afternoon, the convention unanimously adopted by voice vote a resolution committing the million-member steelworkers union to an active political action program in the 1952 presidential campaign.

Democratic Leaning Indicated.
This resolution, calling for a congress and national administration to "carry on the battle for human progress in the spirit of Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman," strongly indicated that the union, if not the entire CIO which Murray also heads, will be in the Democratic fold again in the November elections.

Beyond saying that Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) was "inimical to labor," Murray mentioned none of the political candidates. He did, however, say some "hovering over the horizon" have not made their views clear. This was an apparent reference to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Light Polio Year Expected for Iowa; 12 Cases Reported

DES MOINES (AP) — As of now there is no indication that 1952 will be a polio year in Iowa, the state health department said Tuesday.

Dr. Ralph Heeren, director of the department's division of preventable diseases, backed up that statement with a comparison showing 12 cases reported this year against 29 at the same time last year.

The total for all of 1951 was 465 cases reported, as compared with 1,399 in 1950, the record year.

"Polio has been very light in Iowa this year," Dr. Heeren commented. "We have had only 12 cases. There has been one to a county and the counties are scattered, generally in the eastern part of the state."

"Some of the counties which reported a case each this year hadn't had much polio in previous years. There were no cases of the disease reported anywhere in the state last week. This is in contrast to the fact that in recent years the disease has begun to pick up by this time of the year."

TV Coach for Politicians Says —

Arthur Godfrey Could Sweep The Election Via Television

NEW YORK (CP) — A lot of people feel a lot of different ways about the presidential chances of Sen. Estes Kefauver, but before you eliminate him completely, Michael Browne asks that you remember one highly important item: Kefauver is a child of television.

Michael Browne Coaches Politicians

Michael Browne is no political expert and would seem to be a bit out of his depth in discussing the presidency, because he is a 35-year-old Broadway actor.

The fact is, however, Mike is commuting to Washington, D. C., these days to coach a number of politicians and statesmen in the art of speaking persuasively before a television camera.

"Television," Browne says, "is a psychological instrument. It could put an actor in the White House." "Actors Have Best Chance"

Actually, the men with the best chance to win the presidency are actors. That's the way Browne feels.

"Arthur Godfrey could sweep the country, or take a dignified actor such as Lewis Stone, who has the proper background, and I'd say he could win an election if he chose to run," Mike says.

Browne, a Newark native who acts on TV himself, was a special agent in counter intelligence during the war and has a degree in cinematology from UCLA. He doesn't plump for Kefauver as the surefire next president, but he wants people to realize the major role television plays in politics these days. To carry that theme further, he says the man who wins the feminine vote likely will win the election.

"We're a nation built on good looks," he says. "I think men are more rational in choosing a candidate for office. Men think along financial lines; women are appealed to through the emotions."

He points to the election of Rudolph Hailey as president of New York City's council recently as a classic example of television's power in the political arena. It was Hailey who was counsel to the senate committee investigating crime that put Frank Costello and other underworld characters through their paces on TV.

Ike Has Sincerity

Actually, the hazel-eyed Browne would seem to favor the chances of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the presidency, although he won't come out flatly and say so.

"He doesn't need much work," Browne grins. "I caught him in a newsreel recently. He has sincerity. Television is a highly sensitized medium; it picks up any phoniness."

The other big general—Douglas MacArthur — is a bit too "well learned," in Browne's opinion, to become president, when you consider the TV factor. "Erudition, in politics," he says, "is not the best foot to put too far forward. This gives the listener and viewer a feeling that the speaker is insincere."

Teaches Simplicity

Browne says he is tutoring his political pupils in Washington in simplicity. "The bygone arena-style of speechmaking is death on television," he says. "The first rule my pupils learn is: 'Simplicity is equal to truth.'"

The national conventions are to be held this summer in the International Amphitheater in Chicago, and it is expected that more than 50 million Americans will see them on TV.

Three sponsors have paid from $1 million to $3 million each for the rights to the telecasts, while the Democratic national committee, which spent about $15,000 on television in 1948, will earmark about a million for that this summer.

Truman Weak on TV

President Truman, "the common man's man," is not the strongest man in the world for TV work, Browne says.

"I refer specifically to his hands," the actor-instructor says. "The rhythmic movement of the hands — up and down — which block off his face also tends to hypnotize the audience. As a result, they don't listen to what he's saying."

Sen. Robert A. Taft is "too much the college professor type" to be a spectacular success on TV, Browne feels. "The older folks may vote for him, but the younger voters, never, unless he gets off that pedagogue stuff," he adds.

Mystery Still Clouds Korean Prison Trouble

Interpreting the News By J.M. ROBERTS JR. Associated Press News Analyst

I doubt that we shall ever have an entirely clear picture of what's been going on in the prisoner of war camps in Korea.

The precision with which both military and diplomatic brass can form an opaque column of circles around a brother caught with his procedure down is a beautiful thing to watch—if you're not trying to get at the root of things.

Preliminary reports, however, are sufficient to establish that those responsible for camp operations, probably under constant pressure from above to make sure the Communists were given no valid reasons for propaganda about treatment of the prisoners, actually have been working on the basis of appeasement of prisoners.

Red Flags Flying

Communist flags have been flown in the prison compound in violation of rules and nothing done about it for fear that forcible enforcement of rules would make the Allies liable to charges of violating the Geneva convention.

Prisoners have been trading with civilians, and protested when contraband goods such as watches and pens were confiscated. Confiscation was rescinded.

The Communists have gotten away with establishing their own guards to see that non-Communists did not escape.

Reds Force Demands

The Associated Press report of conditions at Koje said: "The Reds have succeeded on many occasions in forcing their demands on camp officials." Now "The Reds hold sway and run things to suit themselves."

In other words, the United States has been so afraid of Communist propaganda that it has not been conducting its business properly.

To climax it all, despite previous riots and efforts by the Communists to capture hostages, the American officers have put themselves in position to be attacked, and a general has undergone a brief imprisonment. To get him released, another has made a very embarrassing reply to a Communist demand.

The upshot of the laxity and appeasement has been to permit the Communists to take the spotlight from their Panmunjon efforts to keep a war going without any great cost to themselves, and from the fact that 75 per cent of the Chinese prisoners would rather be dead than be sent home.

It is hardly surprising that Pentagon officials are reported at a loss to understand how the situation was permitted to develop over what must have been a long period of time.

Medical Aid Given by UN To Refugees

BEIRUT (AP) — A crusty old desert bedouin protested when some United Nations people taking care of Arab refugees sprayed him with DDT powder.

But he came back the next day all smiles. He said he'd had the first good night's sleep in his life. He hadn't been awakened by the itch of lice and flea bites.

United Nations officials say this is just one example of what they've been able to do to improve the health situation of the 800,000 refugees who live mostly in tents in the Arab countries surrounding Israel. The refugees lived in Israel until forced out by the 1948 fighting between Jews and Arabs.

These officials say DDT dusting, after the first experiment in its use, was in greater demand than food. It helped control relapsing fever in Jordan — which now harbors about half of the refugees.

When and if these refugees return to normal life, they will carry with them a vastly increased knowledge of the methods and possibilities of modern medicine, in the view of Dr. Jerome S. Peterson, chief medical officer of UNRWA.

Malaria has been reduced effectively even in such notorious malaria areas as the Jordan valley and the northern coastal strip of Lebanon.

NEWPORT NEWS, VA. (AP) — Come aboard, folks, for a quick look-see at the SS United States, largest passenger ship ever built in this country, before she takes her trial run next week.

Please excuse her appearance; she isn't quite ready, but the 3,000 men you see working like mad will have her ready by June 20. That's the date for her delivery to her owners, the United States Lines. She'll sail from New York July 3 for Le Havre and Southampton on her maiden voyage.

Are your leg muscles in good shape? She's 990 feet long and the 19 elevators that link her 12 decks are not yet operating.

Lifeboats for 3,000

Those 24 shiny lifeboats you see up there are made of aluminum; first time a ship has been equipped with aluminum boats. They could hold the 2,000 passengers and 1,000 crew with room to spare.

Those two smokestacks are the tallest ever built. They too are aluminum.

You'll find much aluminum throughout the ship. Its use held her gross tonnage down to 52,000 and will enable her steam turbines to shove her across the Atlantic at better than 33 knots. If she doesn't snatch the transatlantic speed record from Britain's Queen Mary there will be great disappointment for her builders, the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company; the United States Lines and the U.S. maritime administration.

There are 12 different color schemes in the staterooms. Some rooms have blue walls and furniture with two-tone green carpets; some have oyster colored walls, red furniture and grey beige carpets; others have green walls and furniture and brown carpets.

Each Room Has Phone

All the furniture in the staterooms is of aluminum — beds, chairs, chests of drawers and dressers. Each stateroom has its own telephone. You can talk to friends in other rooms and to friends ashore.

The United States is the most completely air conditioned ship afloat. This individual thermostat controls the room temperature. The temperature of the air is 55 degrees when it is pumped to each room. Then the air is heated to the desired temperature before it is admitted through the ceiling.

This is the operating room, where the ship's surgeon will remove your appendix if it can't wait. Here's the theater for first and cabin class. It is two decks in height. Tourist class has its own theater, a little smaller.

Champagne Chill Room

These vast refrigeration spaces are where we'll keep your meat, fish, butter and other perishables. Over there is the liquor locker, complete with a chill room for champagne.

Now you're way down in the bottom of the ship. This high pressure steam power plant will turn up more than 165,000 horsepower. The power output of these boilers is more than double that of the next most powerful American passenger ship. The power plant will get a workout when the United States takes her builders' sea trials off Cape Henry May 14-15.

If she should be converted to troop transport she could carry 14,000 soldiers, almost one division.

The only wood aboard is her pianos and butcher blocks.

Russia Demonstrates Her Craving for Peace

Not Too Much

Some sort of comparison can be drawn between the Iowa Hawkeyes and the world champion New York Yankees, but not much of one.

The one thing that both have in common is that right now there is only one Iowan hitting over .300, and last year, the Yanks had only one such man at the end of the season. There the resemblance ends.

The Yanks, it may be remembered, won their conference, whereas Iowa is holding firmly to ninth in the Big Ten. So it would seem that few teams can win a flag with only one steady hitter. It is certain that Iowa won't.

Besides the vacancy in the .300 circle, there are only four other Hawkeyes even above the .250 mark. That, partially explains the fact that there are only three pitchers at or over the .500 mark in won-lost percentages. For those three, a total of three wins have been notched.

Also contributing to the 12 losses during this season has been the lack of good fielding. Three regulars stand alone above the .950 mark, and the team average is .935.

It might be considered that a minor miracle has been performed when one looks at the overall averages and sees that the Hawks have won eight games.

Iowa isn't as bad as it looks on paper, though. Several factors have contributed to the poor record. Some fans have been hollering that Otto Vogel's boys haven't been getting the breaks. We'll discount that on the conviction that breaks are made, and don't just happen.

One big factor is that playing conditions haven't been good around the Big Ten this year because of the weather, thus causing many of the errors.

No one can explain away the hitting slump, because the opposition has got hits on the same afternoons. The pitching? Most of it has been good, and has suffered from weak support. Ed Lindsey, for example, has an earned run average of 1.69, and yet has lost three games while winning only two.

At any rate, the last chance for analysis comes this weekend as the Hawks wind up the home season with three games, one with Northwestern on Friday and two with Wisconsin Saturday. That action, incidentally, is the last and only activity remaining for an Iowa athletic team at home this spring.

Whether or not there is any truth in the matter, charges of "homers" (home team umpires) have been creeping up lately, and the pair that handles the Iowa games is no exception. The Michigan State dugout got in trouble during a doubleheader here for referring to the home plate official as such, and one player was removed from the field for his over-vociferous efforts.

Other teams have squawked long and hard, most notably Notre Dame. Last Saturday it was Iowa's turn to holler, and justly so. A bad call at Indiana may have cost them the first game of a doubleheader. In the ninth inning, with the Hoosiers leading, 3-2, and men on first and third, Jack Hess hit a pop foul behind the dugout. The home plate umpire correctly yelled the ball was out of play, according to the ground rules. However, when a Hoosier caught the ball, the base umpire called Hess out, and long arguments by the Hawks fell on deaf ears.

In this week's issue of Sporting News, Ty Cobb defends his recent much-criticized article, "They Don't Play Baseball Anymore." Denying that he ever criticized a fellow player in print, Cobb insists that he was only trying to help baseball, not hurt it.

He says, "I did not turn on the game. Some said I gave Ted Williams and Joe DiMaggio a blast. That's untrue." In the story, the Georgia Peach had said that the two had not lived up to their potentials.

Deploping the lack of use of the steal and the sacrifice, Cobb says that the homer has a role in modern baseball, but is being overplayed.

The St. Louis Cards are probably prone to agree after Tuesday's game with Brooklyn, in which Stan Musial hit two round-trippers and Larry Miggins got one. Brooklyn won, 14-8.

VOTED THE NATIONAL LEAGUE'S Most Valuable Player for 1951, Roy Campanella, Brooklyn Dodger catcher, receives his award Tuesday from Warren Giles, (left) National league president. Dodger manager Chuck Dressen is on hand to congratulate his star receiver, who celebrated by getting three hits as the Dodgers beat the Cardinals, 14-8.

Louis, 38, Now Satisfied With Kids, Golf Game

CHICAGO (AP) — Joe Louis Tuesday celebrated his 38th birthday, a tall, heavy-set insurance man with a good golf game and a typical dad's fondness for his two youngsters.

Balding and admitting to 230 pounds, the former world heavyweight champion snatched a quick "No" when asked if the urge still isn't there to try his once devastating fists again in the ring.

"I play golf a lot more than I even just watch fights anymore," said the one-time Brown Bomber, chopped down for keeps by Rocky Marciano last October.

Pushing Business Not quite as taciturn and deadpanned as when he moved down 25 title challengers in a 12-year regime, Louis changed the subject to his insurance business.

"It's the Joe Louis insurance agency, 841 East Sixty-third st. here in Chicago," briskly volunteered Joe. "841, that is."

About his birthday? "Well, I'm on my way to a game of golf right now. Tonight, I'll have a little dinner party with my two youngsters—Joe Jr. and Jacqueline.

Referees Wrestling "Little Joe is going to be five on May 28. Everybody asks me, 'Is he going to be a fighter?' That's up to him. And there's plenty of time. Jackie, you know, is nine. They're both swell."

Louis is listed as a member of the International Boxing Club board of directors with the title of director of boxing.

"I'm supposed to be those things, but I'm not working at it," commented Joe. "I'm refereeing, mostly wrestling matches." He was taken into the IBC family when he resigned as undefeated champion March 1, 1949 and the IBC was organized. It was a temporary retirement, but his title was gone for keeps when Joe's successor, Ezzard Charles, beat him in a 15-round championship match Sept. 27, 1950.

LONGDEN NEARS 4,000 INGLEWOOD, CALIF. (AP) — Jockey Johnny Longden moved closer to his 4,000th win in horse racing Tuesday. He bagged number 3,998 on Sir Abbey in the fourth race at Hollywood Park opened its summer meeting.

Amputees Succeed in Softball

(AP Wirephoto)

GETTING SET TO OPEN the softball season Tuesday, amputees Ike Peterson (left) and Jim Larkin (right) talk over the chances of their team in the Spokane, Wash., league with the club's manager. The amputees lost the game, 11-6, but won the sentiment of the crowd. Peterson, a former Gonzaga university football player, lost an arm in a lumber accident while Larkin lost an arm in the Korean war. Batboy, 12, lost his left leg in a car crash.

Cards, Reds, Nats Move Players as Limit Deadline Nears

NEW YORK (AP)—Major league clubs continued to do business at a brisk pace Tuesday in an effort to pare down to the required 25-player limit by midnight tonight.

In an 11th hour deal, the St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds completed a two-for-two player exchange that figures to help both clubs.

The Reds shipped outfielder Dick Sisler and shortstop Virgil Stallcup to the Cards in exchange for outfielder Wally Westlake and third baseman Eddie Kazak.

The Cards also optioned first baseman Steve Bilko to their Rochester farm in the International league subject to 24-hour recall. That left the Redbirds with 26 players, one over the limit.

Washington got down to the limit by selling utility outfielder Sherry Robertson, a nephew of owner Clark Griffith, to the Philadelphia Athletics. That put the A's one over the limit.

Only Cincinnati and the Chicago White Sox, besides the Senators have trimmed their squads to 25 players. Detroit, Pittsburgh and the St. Louis Browns must cut loose four players each.

Says Sooners Will Leave Big Seven

OMAHA (AP) — The Omaha World-Herald said Tuesday night that there are rumors, in advance of the spring meeting of Big Seven faculty representatives, that the University of Oklahoma is moving toward an exit from the league.

The paper said Oklahoma reportedly wants to enter the Southwest conference or "go it alone."

The move is blamed on the argument over the Big Seven non-recruiting rule which the Sooners have indicated they cannot observe.

Despite Musial's 2 Homers —

Bums Smash Cardinals, 14-8

BROOKLYN, N. Y. (AP)—Brooklyn bats finally sung as advertised Tuesday, rousing up six St. Louis pitchers for 14 hits in a 14-8 victory that spoiled Eddie Stanky's Ebbets field "homecoming" as Cardinal manager despite a pair of two-run homers by Stan Musial.

Preacher Roe, the Dodgers' starting pitcher, let most of an early 6-0 lead slip through his fingers.

Ben Wade rescued the Preacher in the fourth and bobbed and weaved home with his first big league win. In fact, Wade made like a slugger by hitting his first major league homer in the sixth and a double in the eighth.

Outfielder Larry Miggins of the Cards also hit his first big league homer with Wally Westlake on base in the fourth.

From the moment Gil Hodges drove his third home run into the lower left field seats, following Duke Snider's double in the second, the Brooks never were headed.

Simmons Tames Cubs, 6-0

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Curt Simmons, Philadelphia Phillies southpaw recently returned from army duty as a sergeant, treated the Chicago Cubs like a squad of buck privates Tuesday night, striking out 12, including the last four men to face him. It marked Simmons' second victory in three decisions this season. Gran Hamner started the Philadelphia scoring with a one-run homer in the first inning.

Giant's Hold NL Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Thomson batted in five runs with a home run and a bases loaded double to lead the New York Giants to a 7-4 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday night. Larry Jansen went the distance for the Giants for his third triumph without a defeat.

The victory enabled the Giants to retain their one-game National league lead over the Brooklyn Dodgers, who had whipped the St. Louis Cardinals earlier in the day.

Tribe Dips Yanks Again

CLEVELAND (AP) — Larry Doby, Dale Mitchell and Ray Boone of the Cleveland Indians hit home runs as the Tribe defeated the New York Yankees, 10-6, in a three-game series' opener Tuesday night before a crowd of 21,576. The Indians' 7-5 lead was cut to 7-6 in the eighth inning, but Boone clinched matters by slamming a three-run homer in that inning. Steve Gromek was credited with the victory, although he was chased in the seventh.

Shantz Whips Browns

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A three-run fourth inning, highlighted by a powerful triple to center field by pitcher Bobby Shantz, gave the Philadelphia Athletics all the runs they needed Tuesday night to defeat the St. Louis Browns, 5-1. Shantz, tossing a five-hitter, allowed just one safety after the third inning.

The triple by Shantz, who picked up his fifth victory, followed a leadoff double by Skeeter Kell and sent the Athletics out front, 2-1. By the time the inning ended, the A's had nicked starter and loser Duane Pilette for two more runs on a walk to Eddie Joost, a single by Elmer Valo and a sacrifice by Dave Philley.

Chisox Stop Boston, 5-0

CHICAGO (AP) — Minnie Minoos drove across four runs, two of them with a 415-foot homer, as the Chicago White Sox and lefty Billy Pierce handed the Boston Red Sox their fifth straight loss, 5-0, before 38,861 Tuesday night.

Nats Edge Tigers, 4-3

DETROIT (AP) — Two wild throws by Detroit Tiger infielders broke up a pitchers' duel Tuesday night and gave the flash-fast Washington Senators their ninth victory in 10 games, 4 to 3. Squat Conrado Marrero gave up only four hits to beat the Tigers for the second time this season.

Marlin Stuart gave only five hits to the second-place Senators but absorbed his first loss.

Bickford, Braves Win

BOSTON (AP) — After three previous failures, Vern Bickford, the Boston Braves' ace right-hander, gained his first 1952 triumph by keeping nine hits scattered Tuesday night as the Tribesmen opened their home floodlight season with a 3-1 victory over the lowly Pittsburgh Pirates. The Braves made the most of six hits, including Ed Mathews' homer against Howie Pollet.

Runners Gunning for Gophers

By LEE CANNING

Coach Francis Cretzmeyer sent the Iowa track team through a light workout Tuesday as the Hawks began preparations for a dual meet with Minnesota Saturday at Minneapolis.

The Hawks will be ruled as favorites against the Gophers for four reasons:

1. Iowa defeated Minnesota 65-44 in an indoor meet this season and the Hawkeye score would have been higher but Iowa's mile relay team was disqualified, giving the Gophers 10 points.

2. Iowa has greater team balance and better individual performers than Minnesota as shown by the Hawkeyes' decisive victories over Wisconsin and Northwestern.

3. Iowa has an old score to settle with the Gophers. Four years ago, the Hawkeyes, then the Big Ten's weakest team, went to Minneapolis for a dual meet and were soundly defeated as the Gopher coach raised the final score as high as possible.

4. This season's Iowa squad rates as one of the best in recent years. The Hawkeyes already have broken seven SUI indoor and outdoor records and might better four more before the season ends.

Ted Wheeler has broken two individual marks to lead in that department. Wheeler has been credited with a new indoor record for the mile with his time of 4:15.5 and a new outdoor record for the same distance with a time of 4:18.1.

The Hawkeye sophomore also has an unofficial non-winning time of 4:14.1 for the mile.

Many Records

LeRoy Ebert broke the indoor record for the 800 and Rich Ferguson topped the old indoor record for the two mile. Iowa's mile relay team got the other indoor record in the Big Ten meet with a time of 3:18.3.

The other records belong to Clyde Gardner in the discus and Ira Murchison in the 100-yard dash. Gardner's throw of 154 feet, 5 1/2 inches broke an Iowa record which had stood for 25 years.

Murchison's time of :09.6 and his victory over Jim Golliday, Northwestern's great sprinter, has boosted the Iowa freshman into the national track spotlight. Murchison's win was the first time that any American had beaten Golliday.

The Hawkeyes also have good chances of breaking four other outdoor records. Gary Scott in the 220 and 440, Wheeler and Ebert in the 800 and Ferguson in the two mile are rated chances of breaking those records.

5 SUI Students Get Science Scholarships For Summer Study

Five SUI students and a student from Iowa State college have been awarded Thomas H. Macbride scholarships in natural science for study at the Iowa Lakeside laboratory this summer.

Recipients of this year's awards include Franklin L. Myers, Sheldon; Jean M. Voegeli, Iowa City; Charles North, Corydon; William H. McArthur, Atlanta, Ga., and Marion Ervin, Indianapolis, all of the university, and Marilyn Kern, Iowa State college.

The two five-week sessions, scheduled from June 9 to Aug. 16, are expected to attract students from all parts of the country to the Lake Okoboji field station, according to J. H. Bodine, head of the university zoology department. Planned for students and teachers of zoology, botany and biology, the laboratory program is designed to supplement formal class work by giving students an opportunity to study the Okoboji area's many varieties of plant and animal life in their natural conditions. The 100-acre laboratory is located on the west shore of the lake.

Students may register for either one or both sessions and may earn five semester-hour credits for each term, Bodine said.

Operated by the Iowa state board of education, the laboratory is directed by a scientific advisory committee composed of Bodine, chairman of the committee; Prof. H. M. Harris, Iowa State college; and Prof. C. W. Lantz, Iowa State Teachers college.

General administration of the laboratory project is conducted by Dean Bruce E. Mahan of the university's extension division. The Macbride scholarships, established as a memorial to Prof.

2 Prisoners Trick Sheriff; Break Out Of Cherokee Jail

CHEROKEE, IA. (P) — Sheriff Carl Schlee said Tuesday that Clifford Cox, 20, and Don O'Bannon, 18, used trickery in effecting their escape from the Cherokee county jail late Monday.

The two escapees still are being sought. Both were employees of the Cherokee State Mental Health Institute when jailed last week on charges of the statutory rape of a 12-year-old girl.

Schlee said he brought the pair their supper and also had a pay check for Cox from the institute. Cox asked for cigarettes and was told he would have to endorse his check so it could be cashed. While the sheriff was computing the amount, Cox slipped by him and slammed the door shut on Schlee.

The pair then stole the jail keys and left. Mrs. Schlee, who saw them depart, called a deputy who sounded the alarm.

Riot...

Some followed this advice but were quickly removed by lawmen. Many of the Currier residents unlocked windows. Several actually helped students gain entrance to the building.

About 11:15 a sound truck was called to the scene and an attempt was made to quiet the mob. Dean Faunce tried to speak but was booed down.

At various times during the melee, lights broke out amongst men students, some of whom were trying to protect women's quarters.

About 1:30 this morning the small group which had not cleared out of Currier was given coffee and cookies by the Currier staff.

Screens Dropped

Earlier a number of screens were taken from windows and at least one window broken in Currier. Some of the screens were dropped from second and third story windows.

Police were able to pick up a number of identification cards and drivers licenses from students who weren't cooperative. These cards were turned over to Dean L. Dale Faunce. There were no arrests made.

By one o'clock this morning the mob started dispersing. Officials indicated that they would stay on duty all night to prevent any recurrence of the riot.

The local riot follows a series of similar disturbances on campuses around the country. Unlike these other riot, the SUI students didn't seem to be concentrating on obtaining feminine undergarments, although a few were taken from the rooms entered.

Toll Road Unfeasible In Iowa, Sweeney Tells Kiwanis Club

Prof. Leo Sweeney of the college of commerce told the Iowa City Kiwanis club Tuesday that toll roads are no feasible in the state of Iowa.

Sweeney, who said the idea of building toll roads is gaining popularity throughout the state, held that the proposed roads are "exceedingly expensive." He said one north-south road and one east-west road across the state would cost between 100 and 125 million dollars.

"The user would be charged the equivalent of 16 or 17 cents per gallon of gas to drive on the proposed roads," he said.

The commerce professor said, "It would be the next thing to impossible" to build a road in Iowa that people will use enough to cover the cost of construction. Estimating it would take 3,500 to 5,000 cars per day to cover toll road costs, Sweeney said no place in the state would draw that kind of traffic.

"The project would devalue present property adjacent to highways and require use of good farm land," he added.
