Raid Instigators Face Suspension

Clark Declares Koje Bargain Wholly Invalid

TOKYO (THURSDAY) (AP) — Gen. Mark Clark today announced that the agreement between Brig. Gen. Charles F. Colson and Communist prisoners of war on Koje island "has no validity whatsoever."

The agreement resulted in the release last Saturday of Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd, a captive of the North Korean POW's for four days.

Went Beyond Authority
"General Colson's authority to deal with the prisoners in compound 76 did not extend to authority for him to purport to accept any of the vicious and false charges upon which the Communist demands were based," Clark said.

Clark said circumstances under which the exchange of communications with the Red POW's took place "from the very beginning were those of duress involving the physical threat to the life of a UN officer."

Called for Questioning
Clark said today he had called the two former commanders of Koje island prisoner of war camp to Tokyo Wednesday for more factual information on the seizure last week of Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd.

"Speculative press reports to the effect that Generals Dodd and Colson were verbally reprimanded by me at this conference are totally without foundation," the new Allied commander said in a prepared statement.

Clark said both officers now have returned to Korea. Their assignments were not given.

Koje Incident Gives Reds Propaganda

MUNSAN (THURSDAY) (AP) — Communist truce negotiators stepped up their propaganda barrage Wednesday and said they insist on daily meetings. They still rejected the final Allied proposals for a truce.

The Koje island kidnap case gave the Reds more propaganda ammunition on the red-hot issue of prisoner exchange. They no longer talked of a truce but filibustered against the Allied proposal.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il, chief Red delegate, said Wednesday the Communists would insist on continued daily sessions unless the United Nations command "explicitly declares" it wishes to break off the talks.

However, his 20-minute speech made it clear the Reds aimed only at using the high-level meetings to give wider distribution to their propaganda charging mistreatment of Communist war prisoners.

Acheson Warns Russia West Will Stand Firm

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Acheson Wednesday gave notice to Russia that the Western powers will stand firm in Berlin in the face of any new attempt to bring pressure on them by blockade or otherwise.

The United States, Britain and France, he said, are "determined to maintain our position in Berlin and to assist and protect the interests of the people" in the Western sectors of the isolated city.

The Reds, bitterly opposed to plans to bring Western Germany into the Western European defense lineup, have made threatening moves recently suggesting they might be thinking of reviving the 1948-49 Berlin blockade.

A SWARM OF MEN STUDENTS, part of a mob of more than 600, stood outside Currier hall Tuesday night, as Dean of Students L. Dale Faunce attempted to dissuade them from overrunning the dormitory. Many were spectators. Others scuffled with police, forced their way into the building through doors or scrambled through windows, sometimes with a healthy assist from the coeds inside.

No Action Expected Until After Inquiry

University officials Wednesday threatened "immediate suspension" from school for the instigators and active participants in the midnight raid by more than 600 men students Tuesday on Currier hall, Fairchild house and nearby sorority houses.

Statements President Hancher:

"The question posed by the demonstration of a group of students on Tuesday night is whether students are children or young adults. Representatives of the responsible majority who recently argued for the abolition of the no-cut rule have now been made to look ridiculous by this irresponsible minority action.

"The university deeply regrets and views with concern such unthinking actions. It is as much the concern of the mature, sensible student, as it is of faculty and administration, to see that they do not occur. At the best such actions are stupid pranks, at the worst they are tragic.

"The university has repeatedly taken the position that its students are young adults who can be given an increasing measure of responsibility for obtaining an education through the facilities provided here.

"It is regrettable that an irresponsible minority may give the public the impression that the university is not engaged in serious business. This would be unfair to the vast majority of students, staff and alumni. If it should become the prevalent opinion, the mature will suffer with the immature. We propose to do everything possible to prevent such an injustice from occurring."

"We propose to do everything possible to prevent such an injustice from occurring."

Dean Faunce:

"The investigation is proceeding toward more complete identification of the instigators and participants and the assignment of responsibility for the mob action Tuesday night by a group of students.

"Disciplinary action will be taken and every instigator or active participant identified will be subject to disciplinary action, including possible immediate suspension from the university.

"All the necessary elements for serious consequence were created by the irresponsibility of a few students Tuesday night. The university will not condone such activity, now or later.

"Any participants, men or women, in a similar incident will be summarily dismissed from the university."

House Group Favors Aid to Korean Vets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The house veteran affairs committee Wednesday approved a bill extending education and training benefits to veterans of the Korean war.

The bill provides for payments direct to veterans who choose to obtain education or training at qualified schools.

Door Damaged

Damage estimated at $50 was done to the front door at Gamma Phi Beta house when rioters split the wood paneling. No harm was done on the inside of the building but a trophy was removed from one of the rooms.

Several screens were removed from the third floor of Alpha Delta Pi sorority, but no other damage was reported. Two windows were damaged at Tri-Delta house.

Several attempts were made to enter Fairchild house, but these were unsuccessful.

Gerhard Hartman, superintendent of University hospitals, said Wednesday he was pleased that students refrained from any activity at Westlawn dormitory.

"It is extremely important," he said, "that no demonstrations occur in that vicinity."

"The proximity of patients at Children's hospital — many of whom are critically ill — and patients in the Hospital School for Severely Handicapped Children being cared for on the ground floor unit of Westlawn is such that any demonstration might well

Grant Oil Workers 15 Cent Pay Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prospects of an end soon of the nation-wide oil strike brightened Wednesday night after the wage stabilization board decided to allow up to 15 cents an hour in wage increases for 90,000 striking oil workers.

The WSB, with its industry members voting "no," agreed to approve any voluntary wage boosts reached between a score of unions and the nation's major oil companies up to the 15 cent figure. Labor and public members of the board joined in approving the formula.

The union originally asked for a 25-cent raise but recently dropped that to 18 cents, plus other benefits. But the ceiling set by the WSB Wednesday automatically rules out raises over 15 cents an hour, except in extraordinary cases.

Three union leaders immediately called on "all oil companies involved and interested in ending the strike" to start bargaining immediately with local unions "in an effort to reach an early agreement."

At Denver, the policy committee of the striking CIO oil workers said Wednesday local settlements will be sought immediately on the basis of the wage formula proposed by the wage stabilization board.

B. J. Schafer, vice-president of the Oil Workers' International, issued a statement saying the committee has reluctantly approved settlement of the dispute on the basis of 15 cents an hour general increase, plus shift differentials of six and 12 cents and retroactive pay equal to the full amount allowable under WSB regulations.

The coordinating committee for CIO-Independent-AFL oil unions coalition has taken a similar position, the statement said. The three union chiefs issued a statement to newsmen in which they said "The workers in the oil industry are entitled to even more" than the 18 cents demanded. But their statement strongly implied that in view of the WSB ceiling the unions would accept 15 cents.

4 Convicts Escape 'Tough Guy' Jail

ANGLETON, TEX. (AP) — Four convicts broke out of the Texas prison system's "tough guy" prison farm in dime novel fashion, and late Wednesday two were still going by the script: hunted by hundreds in the flatlands of the gulf coast.

Elements of the escape and chase were a wooden pistol, home made knife, break from solitary, kidnaped hostages, gun duels in speeding automobiles and a futile effort to steal an airplane. The break went off with precision and smoothness.

Taft Leads Ike 15-1 in W. Va.

CHARLESTON, W. VA. (AP) — Sen. Robert A. Taft climbed back to a 15-to-1 lead over Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower late Wednesday in their contest for West Virginia's 16 votes in the GOP presidential nominating convention.

A late surge of returns from the third congressional district shoved a Taft candidate into the front over an unpledged candidate who had appeared to be holding a firm lead in a field of 5 contestants.

This shift in strength from Tuesday's primary vote put Taft candidates out in front in 11 of the state's 12 district delegate races and in all four of the contests for delegates-at-large.

Government May Ease Controls on Housing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government credit controls may be relaxed soon on new houses costing more than $12,000, housing administrator Raymond Foley said Wednesday.

Foley said the federal reserve board and the housing administration are studying the advisability of relaxing the restrictions to match the easing-up ordered by congress last fall for homes costing less than $12,000.

There is no thought at this time of abolishing the regulation, Foley said.

Horse Meat in Sausage Approved

CHICAGO (AP) — The OPS Wednesday told sausage makers they can put horse meat in their product providing it is clearly labeled as such. The American Meat institute promptly labeled this "an open invitation to crooks and chiselers."

OPS said a 2-month-old ban on horse meat in sausage was working a hardship on processors who have special machinery for making sausage containing horse meat.

New Steel Strike Threatens; Tobin Endorses CIO Claim

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — CIO steelworkers angrily brandished the threat of a renewed steel strike Wednesday after getting a new Truman administration ally in Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin.

The steelworkers union convention shouted approval of a resolution endorsed by union president Philip Murray warning that the workers won't stay on the job indefinitely without a pay boost.

The union speakers gave no indication of any date when the strike threat might mature and another industry shutdown occur.

Dispute Must Be Solved
After delegate followed delegate to the floor with bitter, hours-long warnings that "we'll hit the bricks" and "shut the steel industry down until hell freezes over," the convention unanimously adopted the resolution declaring the dispute must be "promptly resolved" or else.

"We cannot and will not continue indefinitely to work in 1952 for 1950 wages and working conditions; we cannot and will not continue indefinitely to work without satisfactory collective bargaining contracts."

Tobin Jumps In
Tobin, the labor cabinet member and former Massachusetts governor who had previously kept out of the steel dispute, jumped into it with both feet. He told the more than 2,500 cheering convention delegates that he "stood heart and soul with" the workers' union.

Tobin said that he remained silent while the steel wage dispute was pending before the government's wage stabilization board (WSB) for a recommended solution. But he said that after the WSB ruled and "the union has accepted the industry has not, I don't feel any obligation to be impartial any more."

SECRETARY OF LABOR Maurice Tobin (left) told cheering Steelworkers union delegates at Philadelphia Wednesday that he was behind them "heart and soul and spirit" in their wage increase fight. Airline to Suspend Service Temporarily

United Airlines must temporarily suspend service at Iowa City, effective at midnight tonight, due to the oil strike and resultant gasoline limitations imposed by the petroleum administration for defense, it was announced Wednesday by E. D. McWilliams, United station manager here.

McWilliams pointed out that Iowa City still will have the benefit of United service east and west out of Cedar Rapids daily.

Arrangements for a local limousine service to connect with both morning eastbound and westbound flights from Cedar Rapids have been made by United Air lines.

McWilliams said that a wire received from his company's Chicago headquarters assured him the suspension would be of as short duration as possible and service would be restored as quickly as gasoline supplies permitted.

The suspension of local service is part of a nation-wide program of consolidations and reductions in service which the scheduled airlines have found necessary to make since the P.A.D. order went into effect on May 6.

QUEEN HOLDS PARTY

LONDON (AP) — The flash of small and discreetly worn diamonds and pearls was all that relieved the somber dress at Queen Elizabeth's first Buckingham palace party for diplomatic chiefs and their wives Wednesday.

Dixon to Speak Here Tonight

Kenneth L. Dixon, crusading editor of the Lake Charles, La., American Press, will speak at 8 p.m. today in the Shambaugh lecture room of University library.

His address, "The Importance of Being Expendable," is the 23rd annual Don R. Mellett lecture commemorating the Ohio newspaperman who was shot to death in a 1926 anti-corruption crusade.

Among those attending the public lecture will be a number of Iowa editors. All editors in the state have been invited by the school of journalism.

Dixon and four other newsmen of the Lake Charles Press were acquitted in Louisiana last month of defamation charges growing out of that newspaper's crusade against gambling. The charges were brought by three gamblers and 16 public officials who were affected by the newspaper's crusade.

Suggest Action Against Currier Raiders

The Tuesday night raid on the women's dormitory was a disgusting exhibit of college adolescence.

By a stroke of good luck no one was critically hurt — though several were injured. Stones, bottles and firecrackers were thrown, and at times mob hysteria ruled.

It is doubtful that many realized the danger which existed.

To stem off any future incidents of this type we urge the university to draw up a ruling whereby it is clearly stated that any and all persons either leading or taking part in any mob actions, be expelled from the university.

This is the only way in which disgraceful conduct on the part of university students is going to be halted.

To those participants of Tuesday night's affair who can positively be identified, we believe that some form of punishment is due.

If it is found in the investigation that certain organizers set this incident into operation following premeditated planning, then these people should be immediately expelled from the university.

We believe the university should place on probation all of the leaders who did not participate in the planning of the demonstration and those students who were in the front ranks of the action.

Furthermore, the university should find some sort of constructive work for these students who are placed on probation.

Let them clean up City park, or help build equipment for the Handicapped Children's school, or plant shrubbery.

Maybe twenty or thirty hours of such work would make these collegiate high-schoolers feel less guilty for the destruction and silliness of which they were a part.

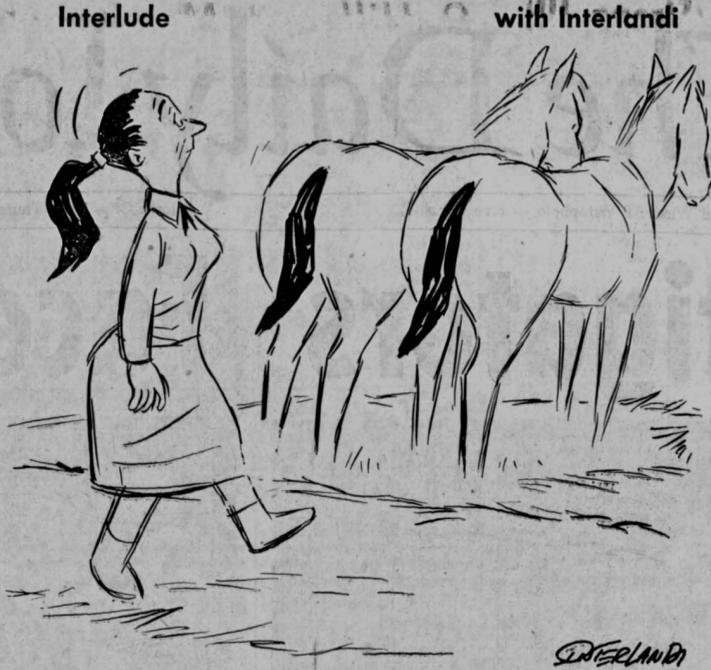

We believe that this punishment would be just and fair. Recently at Nebraska university, 75 students were placed on probation after a riot, and six were expelled after a much tamer demonstration at the University of Illinois.

Until now a student at SUI could be proud that he was part of a student body which the faculty and staff respected.

Abolition of the no-curt rule, which students argued for so fervently, may now fall through because in one brief incident a segment of the campus has proved that many are not ready for this added responsibility.

If SUI is to continue as one of the foremost universities in the country, then the investigation of mob leaders must not be dropped until every guilty party has been dealt with.

We hope the university takes quick and decisive action — action which will leave no doubt in the minds of other students here, and students to come, that unauthorized student demonstrations such as the one Tuesday night will not be tolerated at SUI.

Music Room Features Collection Of Classical Record Albums

The music room in the Iowa Memorial Union at first glance looks like merely a cozy corner. But its chief attraction lies not with its coziness but in the collection of classical records there.

The students who frequent the music room are from no particular department but come from all over campus. Almost any night in the week you can look in on a group of students studying or relaxing to music by Beethoven, Strauss, or another composer of their choice.

An experienced hostess is present to operate the record changer during the hours that the music room is open. Hours are from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.; 3:30-5:30 p.m.; and 7:30-9:30 p.m. The selections are made by the listeners.

Popularity fluctuates. The hostesses get to know the regulars who come to the music room and can anticipate what many will select. Although Beethoven, Brahms and Mozart are often the regular favorites, popularity seems to go in cycles and fluctuates from one composer to another.

Sometimes a teacher will reserve the room and bring a class to hear certain selections. Infrequently in the past patients from Psychopathic hospital have been brought in a group to listen.

This record collection was started in 1938 with the Carnegie Senior Recording library, consisting of a record player and records chosen by a committee in New York city.

Later an automatic record changer was purchased and more records added to the collection. But when long play records came into use, a machine was needed which would play not only 78 r.p.m. but 33 r.p.m. as well.

Classical music has been added to and now comprises a fine selection of classical music. All periods of music are represented and most of the best known composers' works are to be found here.

A few semi-classical albums such as the "Desert Song" and two Gilbert and Sullivan operas are included. However, it is principally intended to be a room where students can have access to classical music for relaxation and enjoyment.

Special features of the collection are the Renaissance and Medieval records, the pre-Bach works, many of which were in the original Carnegie group. Also a fair sampling of Oriental music is available, including some Egyptian, Japanese and Balinese works.

On Wednesday nights when there is no concert at the Union, the music fans are treated to an opera on record. This gives them a chance to hear a complete opera, a happening seldom possible at other times as an attempt is made to prevent one person's selections from dominating a whole period.

The scores of some of the works are available along with the records which enables a listener to follow an opera with the English translation.

EDITORIAL
Every once in a while somebody talks about so-and-so being a "wheel" on the campus. I guess it's difficult to describe exactly what a "wheel" is. Maybe everybody's a "wheel." I don't know. But when word goes round the nation concerning midnight rioting on dorms 'n sorority houses, somebody's likely to think there are a few "wheels" a spoke or so off round.

Most students are not averse to an occasional prank: something which relieves monotony and enhances the self-regard in being one of the group. But if he has been reared to respect property rights and the persons of others he can be expected to adhere to such tenets even in a crowd situation. During the Yale victory celebration some students noticed that the heat from the huge bonfire was scorching the paint on nearby autos: these were moved out of danger.

Those in positions of responsibility may concern themselves about property damage and harm to individuals. But for the most part students are not irresponsible persons. A few may be, either by intent or through thoughtlessness or a desire to exhibit an air of bravado and leadership initiative. Most of the crowd were either participants motivated primarily by a desire to have an evening of excitement on the current "dormitory raid" pattern, which may be considered an incipient craze, or were there as spectators. As all such crazes do, they will run their course and soon be forgotten. It is unlikely there will be, in any of them, any real or serious injury or damage done, any more than ensues from other kinds of student mass activities. To characterize the affair as "mob action" and to place it in the category of a "riot" is in my opinion an exaggeration.

Individual Behavior
A person will behave in a crowd largely as his past attitudes and training have prepared him to behave. There is nothing in the crowd situation other than emotional excitement and a willingness to do what others are doing, so long as that does not conflict radically with his own concepts of behavior.

Dr. N. C. Meier Explains Psychology of Mobs

(Editor's note: The following article was prepared by Dr. Norman C. Meier of the psychology department especially for THE DAILY IOWAN. Its purpose is to clearly explain from a psychological point of view just what causes incidents such as occurred here Tuesday night.)

Though almost any considerable assemblage of persons bent on achieving some objective is popularly regarded as a "mob" and the event itself as a "riot" it is hardly correct to use these terms as applying to the Tuesday evening affair. There is little reason to consider the episode as much more than a student mass activity with a tinge of the daring or unusual, partaking of the nature of a mass prank, suggested by the pattern set at other universities recently. It is little different from the "riotous" celebration after win-ping a particularly important football game.

In the twenties when Iowa defeated Yale, students deserted classes; "stormed" into others in session, even interrupted one class which was on the air; blocked traffic; raided movie houses and built a huge bonfire in the middle of downtown town in the evening. Probably more persons were involved in that affair than in this, certainly a very large proportion of that smaller student body.

Individual Behavior
A person will behave in a crowd largely as his past attitudes and training have prepared him to behave. There is nothing in the crowd situation other than emotional excitement and a willingness to do what others are doing, so long as that does not conflict radically with his own concepts of behavior.

West Germany Moves Toward Unified State

By J. M. ROBERTS JR. Associated Press News Analyst

The Allies continue to shadow box with Russia over an extremely nebulous unified Germany while going right ahead with plans for the incorporation of Western Germany into the European defense community.

Reports from Bonn are that a number of items in the new peace contract have been ironed out to the satisfaction of some of the querulous German politicians who were threatening to block Chancellor Adenauer's agreement with the West. Secretary Acheson plans to leave for Europe soon to sign the contract with the Germans, to sign mutual security protocols between Britain, the U. S. and the EDC required by Germany's new association with the Atlantic pact countries, and to witness the hoped-for signing of the EDC treaty itself.

All of this is preliminary to the contribution by Germany of 400,000 troops to the projected one-uniform European army, and it is this which has Russia so agitated.

Meantime, the latest Allied note to Russia on the German problem follows their usual line of keeping the door open without committing themselves to any more Russian delaying actions. If Russia still wants to talk about unification they are willing — provided a neutral commission is permitted to investigate the possibilities of a free election and finds there are some prospects. To establish the basis for a free election in all Germany, the Russians would have to relinquish their terrorist police hold on the eastern Germans, free thousands of political prisoners who would have a right to vote, and in general trade their hold on East Germany for a neutral whole Germany where they would have no more privileges than anyone else.

You can judge the probabilities of that yourself. But the Allies, by not insisting on investigation by the UN elections commission chosen for the purpose and rejected by Russia, maintain a certain air of reasonableness calculated to help them with the Germans to whom unification means everything.

Russian threats against Germany if she goes ahead with the Western alliance seem to be booming. There is less German equivocation than a week ago. Germans are remembering the Berlin blockade and how foolish the Russians were finally made to look, and how proud the Berliners were made to feel that they could withstand the pressure with Allied help.

Now Secretary Acheson has told them that the help is still available if it should be needed again. The Russian threat of formation of an East German army means less than nothing to Germans who know it already exists.

One thing the Allies need to decide on right now is whether to permit any closing at all this time of the corridors between Berlin and the West. A good many people believe that the airlift never would have been necessary in 1948 if the Allies had pushed the trains and trucks through under military convoy right from the start.

TO THE EDITOR:
It has finally hit SUI. The latest lark to hit the national college scene settled last night upon the shoulders of a goodly number of the men around campus. It has been termed spring fever by newspapers across the nation. Here at Iowa it might be called pre-summer fever since we are closer to that season than to early, blood-thawing spring.

Why were we so late? Is it because we here at Iowa are so much more sluggish than in other sections of the U.S. in that we thaw more slowly or is it because there were a few adolescent schoolboys who thought it would be just the thing to get the school going and who were able to get a little excitement started which in turn led to bigger things and finally into another mass demonstration.

In the last few years writers and editors have been complaining about the attitude of the current crop of college students. They say that they are losing their individuality; turning it in for a passive attitude toward most ideas and in cases even more alarming, following the leader without question or thought.

An example of this was seen last night and previously in other demonstrations of this sort nationally. The group which started the uprising undoubtedly did not have the individuality to think of an original twist — they simply followed the trend. On a small scale such as witnessed here at SUI it does not seem alarming; when repeated many times in many minds across the country it can indeed appear ominous and threatening. On such stuff politics of one type thrives. . . .

I suggest that the next time something like this gets started it would be ideal to persuade the leaders to march the 800 strong into the Iowa river, cool evening preferable. The shock might clear a few minds.

TO THE EDITOR:
Buried to the rear of Tuesday's Press Citizen was a small article about a GI in New York who returned his tax-refund check to the government in appreciation for the assistance given him in his education.

People perform grateful acts every day, but at a time when embittered persons are returning congressional medals, and cartoonists are eager to depict the blunders and misdeeds of our government, it is refreshing to learn that not all of our citizens have resorted to contemptuous criticism.

While political differences are being discussed with increasing fervor it is also good to remember that the GI Bill of Rights, like many other programs, was sponsored and supported by both parties. No prospective candidate can champion it as his own ingenuity, nor in fairness can anyone question its value.

However, the educational benefits should not be restricted to veterans of World War II. At present there are as many as five bills before congress sponsored by outstanding members of both parties, proposing that the educational provisions of the GI Bill be extended to Korean veterans.

Let us hope that such acts of appreciation as that expressed by the student in New York will induce congress to extend and continue a program well begun.

TO THE EDITOR:
The student art guild film series will show the Italian picture "Open City" Friday night in the Shambaugh lecture room. Because of the Art Guild's success with film attendance this semester, there will be three showings of the picture — at 6, 8, and 10 p.m. Starring Anna Magnani and directed by Roberto Rossellini, it concerns a group of Italian partisans resisting the Nazis during the war.

DISC NEWS: Columbia Records has introduced a new three-speed record-playing attachment priced at $12.95, the first low-cost three-speed machine ever marketed by a major manufacturer. Little larger than a Manhattan telephone book, it contains an all-purpose sapphire needle specially designed for use with all three record speeds.

BOOK NEWS: Due for publication on May 28 is "Art and Technique" by Lewis Mumford, the author of books on philosophy and architecture. The book traces the relationship, throughout history, between two conflicting impulses within man: the artistic, which is subjective, and the technical, which is objective.

To illustrate his thesis that there has always been a struggle between the internal and external, Mumford reaches into the history of painting, sculpture, engineering, architecture, and printing, to show how one or the other of these forces has always been predominant.

The author maintains that if each individual will seek within himself the seeds for a spiritual rebirth, we shall reverse the steps already taken toward world annihilation.

Women Voters Hear Need for Strong UN

MRS. JOHN G. LEE, national president of the League of Women Voters, described the league's "View of '52" to 160 delegates attending a league state convention here Wednesday night. She spoke at a banquet in the Iowa Memorial Union climaxed opening day sessions. The meeting continues through today with election of officers, panel discussions and addresses by SUI President Virgil M. Hancher and Dr. Robert Ray.

At no time since 1945 have there been as many attacks on the United Nations or as many evidences of a new isolationism as in the months since Korea. Mrs. John G. Lee, national president of the League of Women Voters, told 160 delegates attending a state League convention here Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Lee spoke at a banquet in the Iowa Memorial Union climaxed opening day sessions. The convention continues through today.

Her reference to the UN followed an explanation of a resolution adopted by the national convention of the League in Cincinnati, May 1. The resolution "emphasizes international economic advancement and maximum use of the UN for achieving world peace."

She said it is logical that Americans might ask, "Are we doing the right things?" but she said the question suggests its own answer.

"Our own business, whether we like it or not, stretches around the globe. The U.S. is totally involved and by inaction as well as by action we influence the day to day events in the far corners of the world," she said.

Mrs. Lee said the viewers-with-alarm tend to look at the cost, but not at the results; at the discomfort, but not at the alternative.

Seated with Mrs. Lee at the speaker's table were retiring presidents of local leagues in Iowa. They were introduced to the group. Earlier Wednesday, Mrs. Lee and the candidates for state officers were honored at a reception.

The delegates will elect state officers today from 9 to 10 a.m. Today's meetings will be held in the River room of the Union.

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher and Dr. Robert Ray, director of SUI's Institute of Public Affairs, will speak today.

Hancher will address a general session at 9:15 and Ray will speak to the group on "State and Local Relations" at a noon luncheon. The state budget will be adopted during the morning session.

The new officers and board members will be introduced at the afternoon meeting which begins at 1:30. The 1952-53 state program will be adopted at that time.

Hawkeyes Give Coe 12-1 Trouncing

Iowa's Hawks came through with a 12-1 win over Coe college Wednesday night, a hopeful forecast of the outcome of their game with Northwestern's Wildcats Friday.

4 Run Homer
Ed Lindsey and Merle Jensen shared the mound duties for Iowa, Coach Otto Vogel electing to give Jensen a little more experience on the hill. Lindsey was never in serious trouble during the first four innings.

One third of Iowa's score was carried on the big bat of Jerry Hilgenberg. The first baseman walloped a home run with the bases loaded in the sixth inning.

Hess Hurts Leg
One casualty marred the evening for the Iowans. Second baseman Jack Hess hurt his leg and may not be fit for action Friday. Coach Vogel was not sure as to the seriousness of the injury and commented only, "It might be cracked, we hope not."

He said he would not name the hurler for the first Wildcat game until he knew definitely the number of righthand hitters in Northwestern's lineup.

Salas Swipes Title From Jimmy Carter

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Slender Lauro Salas, an overstuffed featherweight from Mexico, pulled the upset of the year Wednesday night when he wrestled the world lightweight championship from Jimmy Carter of New York in 15 blistering rounds at the Olympic auditorium.

Salas, a 1-4 underdog getting his second crack at the title in six weeks, scored a close decision over the eastern Negro as a crowd of about 8,000 fans almost tore down the place when the verdict of the officials was announced.

Referee Frankie Van voted for Carter, 83 points to 82, but judge Mushy Callahan gave it to Salas, 84 to 81, and the other judge, Joe Stone, put on the clincher, 83½ to 81½, for the 24-year-old fighter from Monterrey.

Salas weighed 131 and Carter 134.

Cards Split Brooklyn Series, Yanks Topple Cleveland, 5-3

Cards Win, 5-1

BROOKLYN (AP) — Shortstop Solly Hemus hammered home three tallies with a home run and triple Wednesday to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-1 victory and a split of the two-game series with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Hemus and third baseman Billy Johnson also performed brilliantly on defense as righthander Gerry Staley handcuffed the Dodgers with six hits to record his sixth triumph, half of the total victories of his club. He has lost once.

Yanks Top Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP) — Hank Bauer paved the way with a homer, a double and four runs batted in as the New York Yankees defeated the Cleveland Indians, 5-3, Wednesday night. It was the Yankees' first victory of the season over the Indians, to whom they had dropped four straight.

ChiSox Nip BoSox

CHICAGO (AP) — The sagging Boston Red Sox absorbed their sixth straight licking Wednesday as the Chicago White Sox jolted rookie southpaw Bill Henry for a six-run sixth inning topped by winner Saul Rogovin's homer, for a 6-3 victory.

The game was called after seven innings because of rain following a delay of one hour and 19 minutes.

The 24-year-old Henry, up from Shreveport, shut out Chicago on two hits for the first five innings and looked as if he would breeze to his fifth consecutive win against no defeats as his mates gave him a 3-0 cushion.

Braves Hit Bucs

BOSTON (AP) — Shortstop George Strickland juggled Pete Whisenant's bases-loaded grounders just long enough to permit Jack Daniels to register the winning run with two out in the 10th inning Wednesday as the Boston Braves nosed out the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3.

Giants Whip Reds

NEW YORK (AP) — Undefeated Sal Maglie's six-hit pitching and a 12-hit attack by his teammates sent the flaming New York Giants on to their fifth straight victory Wednesday by an 8-3 count over the Cincinnati Reds.

By scoring their 16th triumph in the last 18 games, Leo Durocher's spirited, league-leading crew shot two games in front of Brooklyn's Dodgers, who lost to St. Louis.

Detroit Wins, 3-2

DETROIT (AP) — Vic Wertz' eighth inning home run into the upper right field stands broke up a tie game and gave the Detroit Tigers' Art Houtteman a 3-2 victory over the Washington Senators Wednesday. The Tigers rapped 11 hits off loser Sid Hudson.

U-High Keeps Loop Outdoor Track Crown

University high school retained its Eastern Iowa loop outdoor track crown Tuesday, piling up 67½ points on the university track and outdistancing its nearest contender by a 15-point margin.

This performance repeated the Bluehawk conquest of the conference indoor championship earlier this year. Mt. Vernon pulled up behind the victors with 52½ points. West Branch was third with 32 and West Liberty out of the money with 30½.

U-high's Gardner Van Dyke took three first places, winning the high jump and pole vault. Two others were double winners—Bluehawk Mel Rittger in the hurdles events and Ken Jehle of West Liberty in the discus and football throw.

Five new marks were established. Rittger skimmed the 120 high hurdles in :15.5, bettering his own record of :15.9 set last year, and won the 180 low hurdles in :21.3, topping the mark of :21.6 established by Wapello in 1951.

Phils Beat Cubs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Russ Meyer dodged the hard luck that trailed him in four previous defeats to win his first game of the season Wednesday as the Philadelphia Phillies to a 9-2 win over the Chicago Cubs.

Meyer was hit harder than in any of his losing chores but managed to scatter 11 Chicago hits as the surging Phillies won their fourth in the last five games. Shortstop Granny Hamner and third baseman Willie Jones led the Philadelphia attack on four Chicago pitchers.

Browns Clean A's

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Browns, who had gone without an earned run in three successive defeats, collected 16 hits off four Philadelphia pitchers to beat the Athletics, 12-7, Wednesday night.

A Medal for Darling — 2 Athletes Win Awards

The Big Ten medal for excellence in scholarship and athletics at Iowa has been awarded to all-American Chuck Darling. John Dinzole, baseball player, has been named winner of the 1952 athletic board cup for his outstanding record in athletics and scholarship.

Announcement of the spring awards was made by Director Paul Brechler, following vote by the board in control of athletics. Darling, from Dearborn, Mich., will graduate in June; Dinzole, of Omaha, Neb., received a degree last February. For the basketball player, it is another in the long line of athletic and scholarship honors. Darling last week was given the Chicago Tribune's silver basketball symbol of the most valuable player in the Big Ten and previously was announced as a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic society.

The center broke 11 records last season, setting a new conference mark of 364 points and a three-year record of 716. He was selected on at least seven all-American teams. In track, he won two letters as a weightman.

3-Letter Captain
Dinzole finished his baseball competition in May, 1951, after winning three major letters as a catcher. He was a steady performer and fair hitter and in 1951 he captained the Hawkeyes. He had an outstanding scholastic record in the civil engineering course.

SEEKS OLYMPIC PLACE
Rich Ferguson, Iowa distance runner from Toronto, Canada, will be a prominent candidate for the Canadian Olympic team in trials at Hamilton, Ontario, June 27 and 28. Ferguson, the fastest two miler in Iowa history, probably will try out either in the 1,500-meter or 5,000-meter run.

SUI Senior Has — 900 Miles To Go — To Graduation

How would you feel if you asked a prospective SUI graduate how much longer he planned to spend in school and he came up with the answer, "only 900 more miles to go."

To Ed Kouba, A4, Cedar Rapids, mileage is the first thing that comes to mind when graduation is mentioned. He hitchhikes daily between Cedar Rapids and Iowa City.

It took a bit of calculation but Ed figured the distance he covered so far in school. "In the three and one-half years spent in college of commerce, the total comes to 42,300 miles," he said.

"But I spent one term in summer school that I didn't count. That should take care of all my absences and leave some extra."

The dark-haired senior went on to explain his method of calculation. "I travel about 30 miles a day between home and my first class, and five times a week, including my return trip home, totals to 300 miles weekly."

"Then," he said, "if there are 36 weeks in a school year, three and one-half years plus 15 weeks gives the total. Bad weather has never caused me to miss classes, not once in all the time."

"Of course," he added, "I have missed school, but not because of the weather or the road."

Ed has ridden in about every conceivable kind of vehicle—and even took one ride on a motorcycle. The usual ride is with a salesman or student, and Ed claims to learn much about the world in this manner.

So with his fingers still crossed in hopes of avoiding accidents, and with 42,300 miles (or more than one-and-one-half times around the earth) behind him, Ed Kouba will graduate in 900 more miles.

Ed Kouba

Prof. Howe Writes Engineering Article

Prof. J. W. Howe, head of the mechanics and hydraulics department, college of engineering, is the author of an article entitled "Wind Pressure On Elementary Building Forms Evaluated By Model Tests," which appeared in the May issue of Civil Engineering magazine.

The article is based on tests made under the direction of Howe, Prof. Hunter Rouse, director of the Iowa institute of hydraulic research, T. T. Siao, research associate at the institute of hydraulic research, and several former graduate students.

The article contains information useful in the designing of buildings and fastenings for roof coverings. Howe explains salient facts discovered in the investigations and shows how they may be applied in practical problems of builders.

Des Moines C of C Against Daylight Time

DES MOINES (AP) — The Des Moines Chamber of Commerce went on record Wednesday as opposed to establishing daylight saving time for Des Moines.

Voices in Exact Control —

Mixed Chorus Sings Well

By JIM GOLTZ

The University mixed chorus concert, performed Wednesday evening, demonstrated the capabilities of the chorus when attempting extremely difficult compositions.

Charles Davis' conducting seemed to keep the many voices within exact control. The various sections of the chorus are distinguished for their ability to blend beautifully when required to perform a work of intermingling melodies.

Static Selection

The concert's main fault was the static selection of music. The theme of most of the numbers seemed to be either complete tranquility, complete despair, or a violently expressed affirmation of religious faith. An excess of melancholy might have been replaced with a more balanced program.

Bach's "So There Is Now No Condemnation" and Burcell's "Soul of the World," a moving, spiritualistic work, were both well done. Tcherapin's "Cherubim Song," closing with a tremendous "Alleluia," and Strawinsky's solemn "Pater Noster" were equally good.

"Jesus and the Traders," by Kodaly, added the only sour note to the evening, the vocal sections seeming to add dissonance not written in the music.

Finest Works

The finest works performed were accompanist Alan Aulabaugh's three songs adapted from the verses of poet A. E. Housman. The final song, "With Rue My Heart is Laden," was the best performance. Although all three were extremely short, they seem indicative of Aulabaugh's exceptional musical talent. The songs were greeted with applause from the chorus and audience alike.

Raid Story...

result in one or more tragic consequences."

The raid by residents of Quadrangle, South Quadrangle, Hillcrest and a number of fraternity men was apparently spontaneous.

It was originally scheduled for last Sunday night, but certain circumstances interfered. The demonstration was then set for tonight, but for some reason it took place Tuesday night.

The idea of staging a raid was probably taken from similar incidents on other college campuses within recent weeks.

SUI students first began gathering outside the Quadrangle about 10:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Army Issues Ike's 'Homecoming' Orders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Formal orders to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to come home have been issued by the army, Pentagon officials revealed Wednesday.

They state that the five star supreme commander of North Atlantic Treaty forces may come home in late May or early June, the exact time to be set by him. His official assignment will be under the army chief of staff, in Washington, but he will be stationed without command in New York city. In effect, he reverts to the status he held while president of Columbia university. He was called away from that position to the NATO command in Paris.

Angry Sea Ends Yacht Trip

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A "dream cruise" to the South Pacific ended abruptly Wednesday for some amateur sailors because their old yacht began leaking before it got out of sight of land.

"Leaking — no engine," said a sign aboard the 86-foot schooner-rigged Eloise when coast guard rescue craft reached it some 22 miles off the Golden Gate, put a line aboard and headed back to port.

The Eloise left San Francisco Monday night. It was to reach Honolulu in 15 days, then wander among the South Pacific islands for five months.

But it ran into heavy ground swells about 10 miles out.

Wind ripped through the riggings, tore one sail and carried the other away.

ONE OF THE COMEDIANS in the Ice Vogues opening today in the field house is Doc Carlin. The two-and-one-half hour variety ice show will be making its second appearance here.

BOBBY BLAKE AND ANNE SCHMIDT will perform a real Balinese dance on the huge ice stage. Miss Schmidt is line captain of the Glamour "Iceers."

JEAN SAKOVITCH is another of the artists who will perform on a lake of real ice. The cast has just returned from an extensive tour of Europe.

SUZANNE LAVONNE will fly through the air as a member of the adagio duo including husband Tommy LaVonne and James Caesar.

TONY LEMAC will gyrate at 165 revolutions per minute in a breath-taking number. LeMac is one of the featured stars and does a number with Donna Jeanne.

Ice Vogues to Open Tonight in Field House

Preparations are nearly completed for the four-day engagement of the Ice Vogues of '52 which begins at 8 p.m. today in the Iowa field house. There will be performances nightly and a matinee Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

The two-and-one-half hour variety ice show features the Glamour Iceers, the Ice Squires and a cast of 75 in 26 acts. The performances this year will mark the second year that the show has appeared in Iowa City.

The company will arrive today from a stay in Marion, Ohio.

Ice Vogues is presently touring the United States following a season in Europe. Long runs there included three weeks at the Paris "Madison Square Garden," the Palais de Sports and a month in Rome.

The ice show will tour Mexico and South America upon completion of the American run in September.

Tickets are now on sale at the field house box office and at Whelstone's. A special student rate of $1 is being offered for tonight only, officials of the show said. On other nights, however, general admission tickets will be $1.50 each and reserved tickets are $2 and $2.50.

Frank Havlicek, business manager of athletics at SUI, said that 6,000 general admission tickets and 3,500 reserved seats will be available for each performance.

Production numbers in the all-new Ice Vogues include a minstrel show, candyland scene, Persian escapade, tropical bird number, swing waltz, reflections in gold, night in gay Paree, and a Wizard of Oz scene.

While in Europe, the Vogues hired Kay Farrell, often billed as "Europe's greatest juggler." In his solo number he stokes on his hands while juggling one rubber ball behind his neck and another on a tube held in his mouth.

Protein Company Employees Reject Teamsters Union

Employees of Protein Blenders, Inc., Iowa City, and its subsidiary, English River Concentrates Corp., Riverside, voted Tuesday to reject the teamster union which previously had represented them.

The election was conducted by the National Labor Relations Board's field examiner Lyle C. Howe. Seventeen ballots were cast against and six for the union.

The only question before the employees was whether or not they desired to be represented by the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America, AFL.

As a result of the employees' rejection of the Teamsters, no union can demand another election in the mills for at least one year.

Flight of Bombers To Help Celebrate Armed Forces Day

Six air force bombers are scheduled to fly over the Iowa City area Saturday morning as a special event in celebration of Armed Forces day.

The appearance of the planes, three B-25 and three B-26 bombers, depends, however, on the current gas shortage, military officials here said. A lack of gas may force cancellation of the flight, they announced.

Military groups from Iowa City will also participate in the nationwide event.

The local groups will have displays of their equipment Saturday at Clinton and Washington sts., near Schaeffer hall.

Both units of the SUI ROTC will take part in the program.

Other units observing the day are the national guard, the naval reserve electronics company stationed here, the American Red Cross, American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Note Slight Change in Book Circulation Between Libraries

Consolidation of the circulation and reserve books in the University library during the past semester has not greatly changed the amount of use they have received.

Comparative figures show a total of 46,083 circulation books checked out from the old library from September to February, and 49,372 checked out from the new library during the same period this year.

Monthly comparisons listed from old to new show: September, 4,625 to 4,187; October, 8,607 to 8,892; November, 9,274 to 9,087; December, 7,578 to 7,490; January, 9,071 to 11,249; February, 6,928 to 8,467.

However, the monthly comparisons vary more for the months reported than did the circulation books. Going from the old to the new University library the report shows:

September, 155 to 91; October, 1,071 to 616; November — no report; December, 601 to 576; January, 1,991 to 919; February — no report.

Hilliard was one of two Iowans selected by the committee on state Fulbright scholarships. Candidates were entered by all colleges and universities in the state.

The educational exchange grant under the Fulbright act will cover all Hilliard's travel, educational and living expenses for the year beginning in September, 1952.

A. Craig Baird
June Commencement Speaker

Delta Pi Epsilon To Admit Members

Omicron chapter of Delta Pi Epsilon, honorary business education fraternity for graduate students, will initiate new members at its annual spring banquet at 6:30 p.m. Saturday in the Iowa Memorial Union.

Prof. Leonard Keefe, coordinator of the high school work experience program at Iowa State Teachers college, will be guest speaker.

Approximately 1,225 students will receive degrees at SUI's spring commencement June 6.

Prof. A. Craig Baird of the SUI speech department, will deliver the commencement address at exercises to be held at 9:30 a.m. in the Iowa field house.

A number of lunches, meetings and reunions are planned for graduates and alumni groups during graduation week.

Degree candidates will be honored guests at university band concerts Tuesday and Wednesday evenings before commencement and at the University Senior party in the Iowa Memorial Union Thursday.

Members of the University Emeritus club, made up of all classes of 1900 and earlier, will gather for their sixth annual dinner party Friday evening.

On the day after commencement, June 7, the annual meeting of the university alumni association will be held in Old Capitol. Graduation classes of 1927 and 1942 will also hold their Silver Jubilee and 10th anniversary luncheons that day.

Last of the scheduled social activities are an all-alumni coffee hour in the Union and the sixth annual Golden Jubilee dinner, planned for members of the graduating class of 1902. These events will be held Saturday afternoon and evening.

According to Registrar Ted McCarral, commencement instructions will be mailed to degree candidates May 21.

SEATED AT THE LINOTYPE KEYBOARD, above is Miss Ethel Dorsey of St. Ansgar, making galley corrections. Watching her is Miss Ginny Crain, of Iowa City. Both are students in the linotype school, operated by the SUI school of journalism. Students in the school receive a one-semester course in linotype care and operation.

2 Women Learn Linotyping

Former Cashier, Nurse Near Completion Of 17-Week Course in 'Man's Work'

Women linotype operators are becoming increasingly important to the backshops of newspapers and print shops throughout the country, since manpower is still in such short supply.

Two women now enrolled in the SUI school of journalism's course in linotype operation and care are Ethel Dorsey, St. Ansgar, and Ginny Crain, whose home is on a farm near Iowa City.

Both of them admitted that they had always considered linotype operation as a "man's job." But advertising and a series of events led them both to the linotype course in which they are now enrolled.

Injured in Fall

Miss Dorsey was for several years a cashier in a store in Des Moines. A fall on the ice, injuring her leg, caused her to look for a type of work in which she would not be required to stand.

She noticed an advertisement of the SUI course in several papers and talked to the editor of her home-town paper, the St. Ansgar

Enterprise. He advised her to try linotype operation and told her of the tremendous demand for trained operators.

Now with the 17 week course nearing completion, Miss Dorsey is hoping she will find a job on a weekly newspaper in northern Iowa.

Ginny Crain was graduated from University High school in 1950. Not definitely decided about her future career, she enrolled in the SUI college of nursing the next fall.

After studying nursing for one year, Miss Crain worked on the Iowa City Press-Citizen selling advertising. It was through her work with advertising that she first heard of the linotype course.

"I didn't even consider it a possibility when I first heard of it, because I thought that men always did things like that," Miss Crain said. "But the more I thought and talked to my friends about it, the more it appealed to me."

2 Get Story Writing Awards

Sheldon Tannenbaum, A4, North Bergen, N. J., was announced Wednesday as the winner of the Octave Thanet annual short story contest sponsored by the SUI creative writing department. Receiving the "honorable mention" award was Rita Schmor, A2, Manhasset, N. Y.

Tannenbaum's prize-winning story, entitled "An Orchard Street Gift," concerns the failures of a middle-class businessman. Miss Schmor's story, "The Park in the City," has as its theme a woman escaping from a materialistic world.

Contest judges, Profs. Verlin Cassill and Hansford Martin, will make a formal announcement of the winners at commencement exercises in June. The first-prize award, $50, will be given Tannenbaum by the Iowa chapter of Colonial Dames.

The two stories awarded were selected from a field of 25 manuscripts, the majority of them submitted from students in the SUI Writer's Workshop.

Out by a Foot

DES MOINES (AP) — Peculiar marking on a shoe sole led to the arrest of three Des Moines junior high school boys in connection with a series of burglaries.

Detective Chief Robert E. O'Brien said detectives found a peculiarly marked footprint both inside and outside the window of a store burglarized here.

A police expert, followed the footprints from the store to near the home of a boy the store owner later recalled as having acted suspiciously in the store the previous day.

O'Brien said the boy was arrested and he implicated two other boys. The trio admitted a series of burglaries which included thefts at sorority houses, grocery store, a school, a hardware store and an auto supply store.

Russians Lift Ban on Berlin Highway Patrols

BERLIN (AP) — The Russians lifted their ban of Allied military patrols from the Berlin-Helmstedt autobahn Wednesday as suddenly as they imposed it last week. A patrol car was permitted to pass the Soviet barrier on the Berlin end at 5:30 p.m. (10:30 a.m. CST).

Uneasy West Berlin took new heart from this development and Secretary of State Acheson's declaration in Washington about the same time that the United States is determined to maintain the position of the Western powers in this isolated city.

On the anxious seat under Communist pressures against a peace contract the Bonn republic is due to sign with the Western Allies late this month, the West Berlin government was jubilant at Acheson's promise in a news conference that the Allies would hold fast to protect the people here as well as in West Germany.

The Soviet ban against Allied patrolling of the 110-mile long highway linking Berlin and West Germany across the Soviet zone was imposed May 8, as the Red campaign against the peace contract heated up. The Russians gave no explanation.

But the issue of the peace contract remains.

In Bonn, Allied and German officials said Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has quelled a revolt within his three-party government against the terms by which West Germany will be granted near sovereignty in return for lining up defensively with the Western powers.

Communist East Germany, re-arming against what it calls "a threat of civil war," has warned that the Allied sectors of Berlin will feel the consequences of the day after the contract is signed.

Berliners think this means one big thing: blockade.

Herbert Hoover Says Semantics Experts Ran FDR's Campaigns

NEW YORK (AP) — Herbert Hoover, the only Iowan to become president, said Wednesday that Franklin Roosevelt's "brain trust" turned lying into an art in the 1932 presidential campaign.

Writing his memoirs in Collier's magazine, Hoover, a native of West Branch, Ia., said of his successor in the White House:

"Roosevelt's campaign has historical importance because of the new techniques he introduced, which have affected all campaigns since. They mostly revolved around an abandonment of many facts in a huge number of speeches ghostwritten by irresponsible men.

"... There was one common element in the Roosevelt 'brain trust': they were experts in the art of semantics and in raising mendacity to an art. Our response required painstaking exposition based on dreary facts and figures."

Hoover noted that he, himself, has "never delivered a ghost-written public statement of importance."

Contrary to the facts, Hoover said, Roosevelt and the Democrats blamed him personally for the depression and alleged he did nothing about it. Hoover added:

"Probably the greatest tactic of all used against me was the distortion of the story of the bonus march on Washington in July, 1932. . . . Almost every Democratic speaker in the 1932 campaign implied that I had murdered veterans on the streets of Washington."

Hoover said the "Communist-organized" veterans were fired upon in Washington by district police, not by federal troops who took charge later.
