Strict Rule Proclaimed For Koje

An Editorial

Possible Solution for Over-Vitalized Students

The blame for Tuesday night's raid can be placed on several doorsteps.

1. Those who organized and encouraged the raid, both men and women students, cannot be ignored.

2. The university administration, or more appropriately, the student council, should have foreseen that such an incident was predictable in view of similar raids around the nation.

3. The weather might be said to have been a contributing influence. Spring is the time of year when a young man's fancy always has and always will turn to things other than, or at least not completely to, studies.

Rioting has become almost a fad — a disgusting and childish fad which endangers many lives and much property — a fad which must be halted.

These riots are most common in the spring because as we all thaw out from a long winter we find we have more vitality than can be burnt up by beating the books.

In the fall we have football games at which our enthusiasm and spirit can be spent. Likewise, basketball games serve the same function during the winter.

But in the springtime there seems to be a lack of planned student activities.

So, as in the case the other night, boys not only will be boys, but sometimes college men also will be boys.

Why not set aside one day during the spring of the year, several weeks before finals begin, specifically for those who are intent upon raising the roof?

We suggest that the student council plan recreation for those with the fighting spirit as is done at some smaller American and European colleges.

During the war the Sea Hawks, who were stationed here, had a form of recreation which we believe to be just the thing for over-vitalized, red-blooded American young men.

They lined up two teams of enormous size on the football field. In the center they rolled a huge push ball. The object was to get the ball into the goal at the end of the field.

As far as we know there were no rules against holding or scuffling — and it is almost guaranteed to take the wind out of the best of men after a while.

Maybe, for those individuals who believe that if you can't get a little dirty you aren't really having fun, a mudfight could be arranged.

Regardless of the type of recreation, the important thing is that, in view of what has happened here, a field day of pre-scheduled sports should not be out of the question.

We recommend that the student council take actions along this line in order that there will be no excuses for future demonstrations endangering human life and property.

Oil Workers Move to End 16-Day Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — O. A. Knight, top strategy-maker of a score of unions involved in the nation-wide oil strike, said Thursday "We are calling off the strike," and government officials foresaw a quick end to the 16-day walkout.

Union and government officials said an actual end to the strike could come only through local agreements between union and management negotiators. Bargaining in the oil industry is on a local basis, involving some 22 different unions and hundreds of their locals.

These officials stressed that an actual end to the strike will come gradually, as local agreements are reached.

Announcement Used

Knight, president of the CIO oilworkers union, voiced his statement in a film for television stations. He said that "with proper cooperation" there will be enough settlements soon to make a start at easing the shortage of aviation gasoline.

The 16-day strike of 90,000 workers has pinched aviation fuel supplies even in Australia where airlines almost halved their customary flight schedules.

Federal conciliators met or scheduled meetings with company and union negotiators in a score of key disputes, seeking agreement on wage hikes up to 15 cents an hour. The wage stabilization board Wednesday set a wage boost ceiling of that amount for virtually all new contracts.

Illinois Plant Settles

The first midwest break in the strike came as a settlement for the 15-cent figure was signed for 400 workers at the Globe Refinery plant at Lemont, Ill.

The wage board, meanwhile, gave its approval to six negotiated agreements submitted to it in the past few weeks. It stuck to its 15-cent ceiling in all cases. None of the six disputes involved workers now on strike.

One touchy question — how much back-pay should be given — was a possible obstacle to quick settlement in some cases. The WSB did not rule on retroactivity. That will be considered by the WSB in individual cases as wage pacts are presented for approval under stabilization rules.

TELEGRAPH TALKS PLANNED

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cyrus S. Ching, director of the federal mediation service, Thursday called a meeting for today between officials of the Western Union Telegraph company and striking AFL commercial telegraphers union in another effort to end the six weeks old telegraph strike.

Massachusetts Governor Named Demo Keynote

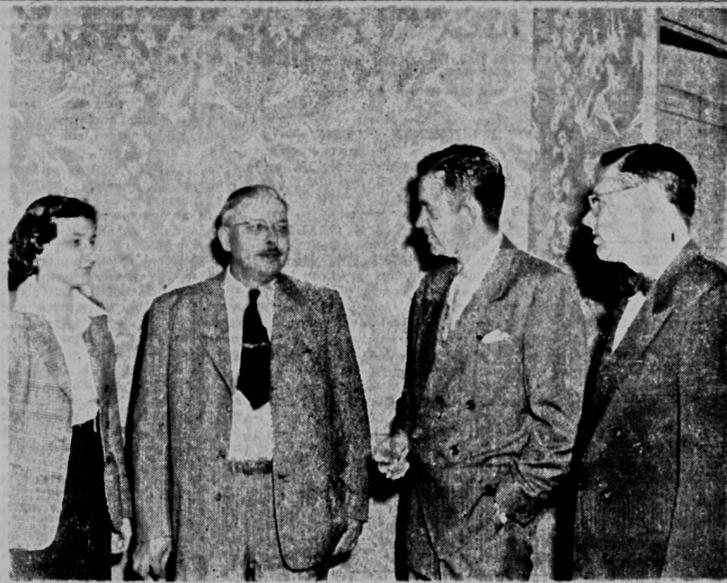

CHICAGO (AP) — Democrats Thursday chose Gov. Paul A. Dever of Massachusetts to deliver the keynote speech at their national convention.

Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas, speaker of the house, was picked to handle the gavel as permanent chairman — a role he filled in the 1948 nominating session.

Congress Approves Military Pay Raise

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill granting a 4 per cent raise and 14 per cent increase in living allowances to members of the military service was passed by house and senate Thursday and sent to President Truman.

If the president signs it before May 31, as he is expected to do, it will become effective with May payrolls. An estimated 3.5 million active and retired personnel are affected.

The increases apply to all uniformed personnel, including aviation cadets, students at Annapolis and West Point, and members of the public health service, the coast guard and the coast and geodetic survey.

The raises are a flat 4 per cent on base pay and approximately 14 per cent on rental and food allowances normally paid to personnel with dependents.

They range from an over-all of $3 monthly for privates and seamen with no allowances to $65 monthly for top-ranking generals and admirals.

Vice Thrives on Weak Citizenry, Dixon Says

A Louisiana newspaper editor, only recently cleared of defamation charges growing out of a crusade against gambling, told an SUI audience Thursday night citizens must find the courage to fight corruption wherever they meet it.

Kenneth L. Dixon, managing editor of the Lake Charles, La., American Press, said gambling and other vices operate in communities only when persons are afraid to defy them.

"If persons would fight corruption and vice at home with the same sort of courage they display on the battlefield, we could preserve our liberties and not have to fight to regain them."

Expendibility Necessary Speaking at the 23rd annual Don R. Mellett lecture in University library, Dixon said expendibility of the individual is necessary if enslavement of the entire society is to be avoided.

"Our fight in Louisiana was won but the sad part is that it need not have been fought," he added.

Dixon and four other newsmen on the Lake Charles paper were acquitted last month of defamation charges growing out of the paper's crusade against gambling. The charges were brought because of the paper's crusade.

Outlines Factors The newsmen outlined the factors which led up to the nationally televised expose of what he termed a "gambling combine" in the Lake Charles area.

Gambling and other vices operated freely because the people were afraid to cry out against the combine, he said.

"The citizens, aware of the corruption, feared for their lives and thus ceased to be expensible," he said.

The violators were sometimes arrested but inevitably found themselves before the same judge. Consequently, he added, they always received light fines and suspended sentences.

Dixon and his colleagues struck out against this corruption among public officials through extensive news coverage of the situation. He said their expose was met with an organized anti-editorial campaign set up by the accused violators.

Dixon said his paper was faced with attempted circulation and advertising boycotts instigated by the gamblers.

The plan failed, however, since street circulation multiplied and some local merchants even increased their usual advertising orders, Dixon related.

No Homers, Please

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Sandlot baseball created an international emergency Thursday when guards found youngsters playing within base-hit range of the 39-story, glass-walled UN headquarters.

With 15 vertical acres of glass in the line of fire, the guards hustled the kids off the grounds and the emergency was over.

Boatner Aims To Show Reds 'Who's Boss'

KOJE ISLAND (FRIDAY) (AP) — A new era of firm rule was proclaimed Thursday for Koje island, ending soft measures that allowed Red prisoners to negotiate with their captors and flaunt "insulting signs."

Brig. Gen. Haydon Boatner made this clear to correspondents 24 hours after he had taken over the prison island — scene of two riots and the seizure of Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd.

Boatner declared he would observe the Geneva convention for humane treatment of war prisoners, but that the Communists behind the barbed wire would have to learn who his boss.

Escape Attempt Foiled Even as Boatner talked with correspondents, three prisoners tried to escape from their compounds and one of them was shot by a guard.

Tanks, some of them equipped with flame throwers, stood ready to foil any mass escape attempt such as the Reds threatened at the height of the Dodd incident. Camp authorities were confident they could prevent any big break by the 80,000 prisoners.

Boatner said he believed the Allies had been too lenient on Koje and had given prisoners "more, in my opinion, than required by the Geneva convention."

Conditions Anger Boatner

Boatner showed irritation at the idea of prisoners taking control inside the compounds and making demands on camp officials.

"Prisoners don't negotiate," he declared.

Correspondents asked if, in his brief tour of duty, he had seen things that needed changing on the island.

"You're damned right I've spotted some things," he snapped. "For one thing, I don't like those insulting signs, and the flags, and the demands."

High Levels React

Boatner's stiff attitude doubtless was bolstered by the dissatisfaction shown by higher authorities in Tokyo and Washington over the way the Dodd kidnapping was handled.

Rep. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) introduced a bill in Washington for a congressional investigation of the incident, declaring "We in the congress must find out who is responsible for this monumental blunder that has so irreparably damaged our military effort and truce negotiations in Korea."

(Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) said after secretary of army Pace was quizzed behind closed doors that the senate preparedness subcommittee would investigate the affair.)

Concessions Repudiated

Gen. Mark Clark, the Allied commander, Thursday repudiated the actions of Boatner's predecessor, Brig. Gen. Charles Colson, in negotiating for Dodd's release. Dodd was seized commander of Koje when he was wounded.

Colson's statements to the Reds that there would be "no more forced screening of prisoners" if Dodd was released unharmed prompted Clark to declare that Colson exceeded his authority.

The UN command insists there have been no forced screenings. Clark said Colson had no authority to accept "any of the vicious and false charges upon which the Communist demands were based."

Clark Denies Reprimand

Clark, called both Dodd and Colson to Tokyo for a face-to-face meeting Thursday. He said the meeting was to get factual information. He denied published reports that he reprimanded either general at the time.

Clark was obviously concerned with the use the Reds would make of the incident in creating propaganda at the armistice talks.

Boatner said he planned no overnight changes on Koje, but he expected prisoners to fulfill their obligations, including obedience to camp authorities.

He declined to go into possible penalties for unruly prisoners. But the Geneva convention allows camp authorities to impose penalties of solitary confinement or restriction of rations.

He started his command with an inspection, from the outside, of several prison compounds and a tour through the prison hospital.

Student Council Suggests Leniency For Most of Those Involved in Raid

The student council Thursday night called for lenient treatment for most participants in the midnight raid on women's housing units, but urged punishment for the instigators and students who assaulted persons of authority.

The council, at its regular meeting in Old Capitol, condemned the "irresponsible behavior" of participants, calling the incident "harmful to the personal safety and property as a detriment to the long-run interests of the student body."

"Under the circumstances," the council said, "we urge lenient treatment for those who participated in this demonstration. How-ing the incident," Faunce said, "because we want to be as fair as possible to everyone involved."

At the same time, local police, who were called to combat the student raiders, indicated that criminal charges may be filed. Several officers were injured in the hour-long demonstration.

Both police and SUI officials are checking pictures, student identification cards, drivers licenses taken during the raid.

Approximately $60 was taken up by the group. It is to be distributed to those in the "greatest need."

Also collected were several articles of women's underwear — "booty" from the raid. They were to be taken over to Currier hall today.

In taking the action the South quadrangle, made it clear that it "did not feel any more responsible for the incident than any other group of men students, but nevertheless feel that we should assume our share."

"It is our hope that other residences will initiate similar action," the group said.

Previous to the meeting, student council by-laws had given the committee power to deal only with "proposed" student organizations.

A full endorsement of previously announced university policy concerning similar incidents in the future was given by the council.

"We call this policy to the attention of all students and emphasize that if any future 'raid' or other mob action of this type occurs, even the minor participants should and will be severely punished by the university," the council said.

University officials have said that every instigator or active participant identified "will be subject to disciplinary action, including possible immediate suspension from the university."

Results Next Week Dean of Students L. Dale Faunce said Thursday that results of the raid on Currier hall, Fairchild house and nearby sororities may be announced early next week.

"We are not going to hurry this investigation for the sake of clos-

ODK President Raps Student 'Raiders'

Peter Everett, president of Omicron Delta Kappa, men's leadership society, said Thursday the midnight raid by students "offers a multitude of repercussions to the university and to us, the students."

Speaking on behalf of Omicron Delta Kappa, Everett said: "Such action as witnessed (Tuesday night) is not upholding the faith that an institution, such as ours, must place in the hands of each student. We are all a part of SUI, and our actions, honorable or dishonorable, reflect upon it as such."

"Besides the poor public respect that it creates toward the university and students, such group actions create the possibility of injury to everyone and to property accented by such groups."

"Leadership involves individual integrity and intelligence, and as possible future leaders of our communities each student assumes the responsibility of doing his share to promote higher ideals and concepts of democratic living."

South Quad Men Give Currier $60

A collection for residents of Currier hall who lost clothing in last Tuesday's raid was taken up Thursday night by residents of the men's South Quadrangle dormitory.

Approximately $60 was taken up by the group. It is to be distributed to those in the "greatest need."

Also collected were several articles of women's underwear — "booty" from the raid. They were to be taken over to Currier hall today.

Hancher to Review Cadets

Army and air force ROTC cadets, 1800 strong, will pass in review before President Virgil M. Hancher this afternoon at the fifth annual President's Day at SUI.

The parade and review is scheduled for 3:10 behind the field house, followed by a reception for President Hancher in the field house.

Attending the reception will be faculty and administrative guests, honorary cadet officers and wives of the military department staff.

During the review the President will present several medals and awards including eight Minute Man awards to basic students for highest good citizenship and the university medical ROTC medal to the outstanding ROTC medical student.

The "Little Brown Jug" award will be presented to the Pershing Rifle drill squad, winner of a drill competition with the Pontoniers, ROTC engineering group. Gene Browner, A1, Iowa City, will accept the award for the Pershing Rifles. The group won the competition Wednesday night by a narrow margin.

Four judges, alumni of the two groups, gave the winners 193 points out of a possible 200 for a 10 point victory margin. They said exceptionally good performances by both groups made judging the contest difficult.

Winners of the other awards will remain secret until the presentation.

TO THE EDITOR:

The fervish desire for justice which has been resounding throughout the university so as to punish the parties involved in the raid on the dormitories and sororities must stem not only from the idea of prevention, but also from the idea of retribution and revenge.

The notion that the selected students should pay dearly for their atrocious actions is clearly present. Whether this concept of justice that prevails is to apply only to a limited group is not mentioned. However, to punish only a few unlucky students who happened to be the victims of an arbitrary selection does not ring clearly of justice.

If the university is looking for a scapegoat to appease the demands of their theory of retribution, then maybe only a handful of students will suffice. But this does not reject the very lucid principle of unfairness to them. For one of our higher educational systems to resort to what I have been taught in their classrooms to be an antiquated and out-moded method of preventing such recurrences, is somewhat illogical.

Discreetly, nothing is said about punishment for the hundreds of student spectators and leaning girl admirers who "egged" the participants on which, it cannot be denied, were a strong contributing factor to the raid.

If only 200 or so students who actively participated in the raid had been solely present, it would not be difficult to speculate on the outcome of the raid. The opportunity for the policemen and university officials to "nab" the credentials of these students was ever present.

The ringing editorials, letters and statements as to the "depraved" and "perverted" actions of the juvenile students may pacify the minds of those who have never committed any misdeeds, but it will do nothing to rectify the injustice of having only a few punished.

TO THE EDITOR:

With regard to the student action which occurred at Currier hall and other women's housing units Tuesday evening, the University Women's association general council feels the necessity of total student responsibility. We recognize the enthusiasm which should be a vital part of a student body but we feel that each one of us should assume individual and group responsibility to insure no further occurrence of this type.

We were fortunate in avoiding serious physical damage; however, damage has been done to the standing of the university. It is our hope that each student will take it upon himself not only to compensate for past action but to attempt to prove the value of campus life.

General Council
University Women's association

TO THE EDITOR:

According to Prof. Norman Meier, the raid on Currier hall was not a riot, but more nearly a "mass prank."

Granting that Prof. Meier, in his statement, gives a typical response, it is unfortunate that he should not be more objective instead of trying to play the thing down.

I am no psychologist, but it seems to me that the presence of tear gas bombs, guns, night sticks, black jacks, flying rocks, wild fist fights, robbery, and between 800 and 1,000 men trying to gain unlawful entrance to a women's dormitory might be considered more than a riot.

"Mob action" may be a rather nebulous term, but when one hears a man yell, "Let's go get those cops," followed by an immediate rush toward the police, that should definitely be termed action by a mob. The opposite to mob action would probably be a well-planned attack, but the fact that most of the 200 who gained entrance didn't know what to do other than run through the halls indicates that they had just caught the mob spirit to get inside.

From the description Prof. Meier paints of the episode in the twenties, three policemen weren't struck. He says that it is unlikely that any real or serious injury or damage will be done in such an affair. He evidently was not there when the black jack, which is capable of killing a man, was swung. Or when a policeman tried to drive his way out of a surrounding mob. Or when large screens were dropping two or three stories. Or when large rocks were being thrown. Or when girls were being pushed around.

It appears as if Prof. Meier wasn't there at all.

TO THE EDITOR:

As a student and on behalf of my fellow students I would like to add a few words from the student's point of view to all the many words that have been said about Tuesday night's "raid."

In my opinion, too many words have been said — and all bad. All blowing this incident to such large proportions that the proposal has been made that a large number of students be suspended, turning a prank into a horrible crime. This university seems to have a talent for bad publicity, not that we, particularly, are worse than any other school of higher learning.

Incidents that happen everywhere else become disasters. Instead of accepting students here for what they are, normal and comparable to those of other schools, the administration finds it necessary to make impressive and apologetic statements, so that the public, upon which it depends, will think that we are engaged in "serious business."

Of course, we are engaged in "serious business" or we would not be here, and the public knows it and has faith in it, if the public is straight-thinking. It sounds as though the administration has a guilty conscience. We students certainly do not.

If the public has gained a bad opinion of this university, it is the administration's and the public relation department's own fault. Instead of playing up the good aspects of the university and having good and extensive public relations with their supporters and the public in general to play up the "serious" things done at the university, every effort is made to cover up and denounce the things that the public would not so readily accept.

When there is as much publicity as this incident has gotten and when both the president and the

Busino's Buffoonery

"You do it, Pete—I don't have the heart to turn that painting right side up!"

Dean of students make lengthy statements, of course, John Q. Public is going to look up from his paper and say, "Things must be pretty serious at the state university."

John Q. Public might think differently about SUI if things were handled in a more diplomatic way. Instead of calling this a "panty raid," which it obviously was not, as only a small number of boys came away with feminine attire; if it had been called exactly what it was — a spirited prank and a challenge to those participating, the impression might be otherwise.

Of course, material damage was done, but it was minimal and it was nothing in comparison to the damage done the university by the obviously apologetic and frightened administration. If publicity could be given to the splendid leadership it must have taken to organize 800 boys, get them more than a mile away and keep them together, and have them arrive at approximately the same time for more or less the same purpose, then an entirely different and gayer light would be shed on the whole affair, instead of blackening these boys' reputations with a suspension from school.

The dastardly deed would soon fade into the background without the administration heaping fuel to the fire and making this into a blaze of defamation and notoriety. Let the administration look to itself as well as to the students.

Dorothy W. Walker, A4
824 E. Washington

Furthermore, the university does not tell the newspapers or the wire services what to print. The bad publicity gained on account of this incident can be placed almost entirely on the students who instigated it. Nor did any member of the administration announce this to be a "panty raid." That was a term picked up by one of Iowa's large newspapers — possibly as a word apt to sell more papers than mere "riot." And, since when have we started classifying it as a "spirited prank" when policemen are threatened and windows broken? One stone, aimed a little more accurately, could have meant death of a participant or a bystander! Would this still have been only a "prank?" Maybe for even some college people it takes a death or more than "minimal" damages to teach them that this kind of thing just is not smart!

Eden Believes Labor's Policy Shows Faults

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

Europeans seem to be a good bit more credulous than Americans about the possibility of a peaceful settlement with Russia.

The British Labor party's executive committee, despite the party's record of cooperation with the American-sponsored containment program, has issued several statements along this line. Most recently it has advocated postponement of Allied-German deals pending exploration of Russia's tongue-in-cheek proposals for a unified Germany.

For this the party has been reprimanded by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. He thinks such a policy would play right into Russia's hands in delaying and undermining the peace contract and European army negotiations.

Eden, however, while accepting for the time being the Allied thesis that this is Russia's sole purpose, indicates he is keeping an open mind, waiting for some proof that Russia really would like some sort of settlement with the West.

Maybe she would. But for how long? And for what purposes?

There are many signs that Russia is really frightened by Allied determination and preparedness. But no sign that she is yet willing to give up any of the things which cause the East-West disagreement.

Militarism, coercion of her neighbors by force or the threat of force, operation of underground subversive movements abroad, totalitarian ability to make war without consultation of the Russian people — all of these things are still integral parts of Russian policy.

Under these conditions, any agreement she may make would be only a part of the system by which her policy zig when it can no longer zag, and the real point of her orientation will remain demonstrably unchanged.

Wilbur Friedman Receives Shulman Memorial Trophy

ANSEL CHAPMAN, LEFT, CHAPTER ADVISER of Phi Epsilon Pi, presented the Sam Shulman memorial trophy Wednesday night to its first recipient, Wilbur Friedman, C4, Sioux City, for outstanding services in campus and house activities. Picture of the late Mr. Shulman, Iowa City business and civic leader, is in the background. A memorial service was held in honor of Mr. Shulman.

Currier to Honor New Dormitory Head At Reception Sunday

Currier council will sponsor a tea Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 in honor of Dorothy Leslie, newly appointed head of women's dormitories and Currier hall.

Staff and residents of Currier and women's dormitories, together with faculty members and Iowa City guests, will attend the tea to be held in the south lounges of Currier.

Those who will pour are Shirley Anderson, A4, Keokuk; Nancy Gause, A3, Lynnville; Chastine Webber, A3, Des Moines; Jenny Lou Dixon, A4, Freeport, Ill.; Marjion Godikson, A4, Manning; Norma Sexton, A3, Des Moines; Beverly Robinson, A3, Des Moines; Fran Salisbury Zern, C4, Waterloo; Flo Schuck, A4, West Point; Marianne Craft, A4, Hudson.

Miss Leslie, who assumed her new duties May 1, comes to SUI from the University of Michigan where she was head of a women's dormitory since 1944.

A graduate of the University of Wisconsin, she was employed in dormitory work at Indiana university for one year and at the University of Illinois for three years before going to Michigan.

Miss Leslie succeeds Lorissa Sheldon who resigned her position earlier this year.

Melodrama Uses Antiques From Local Collections

AMONG THE MANY 1890's PROPERTIES being used in the current University theater production "The Streets of New York" are this "high-boy" bicycle being driven by Jerry Silberman, A1, Milwaukee, Wis.; firemen's boots and helmet; a pipe and wicker cane, worn by Gus Matheakis, A4, Cedar Rapids, looking through a brass telescope, and to the left a wicker baby buggy and a leather fire bucket.

From a wicker baby carriage with spindle wheels to a "high-boy" bicycle the properties used in the current University theater production "The Streets of New York" are articles original in the 1890's.

Special attention-getters obtained from Iowa City sources and the theater property shop include a leather fire bucket, a glass pen-holder with a large quill pen, a brass telescope, a cut-glass wine decanter, several long-barrelled "Derringer" pistols, and an old upright piano.

The bicycle, which is driven across-stage by Bob Smith, Iowa City, was purchased and shipped from the Arnold Schwinn Bicycle company in Chicago.

The baby carriage was loaned to the theater by the family of Robert Paulus, A4, Iowa City. The firemen's rubber helmets and boots are from the Iowa City fire department, just as the boots worn by the Keystone Kops are loans from the Iowa City police.

The brass telescope belongs to the SUI science department, while the wine decanter, pistols, and remaining properties all belong to the drama department.

The play will run through Monday except Sunday because of the large ticket demand. It begins at 8 p.m.

Original Compositions To Be Played Tonight

A program of compositions by SUI music students at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the North Music hall is open to the public without charge.

The original works have been written by Abram Plum, G. Oskaloosa; Leon Wagner, G. Chicago; Robert E. Tyndall, G. Iowa City; Samuel H. Scott, G. Indianapolis, Ind.; Wendell Rider, G. Marshalltown, and Charles Hoag, A1, Davenport.

The musicians submitted their compositions to the midwest music students' symposium at the University of Illinois May 9 to 11.

Girls to Race Canoes Saturday

Canoe races, sponsored by the Women's Recreation association will be held at 9:30 a.m. Saturday on the Iowa river from University high school to the Union foot-bridge.

The races, originally planned for last weekend, were postponed because of rain. In case of rain Saturday the races will again be postponed.

City Petunia Project Nears Completion

Members of the Iowa City Woman's club and volunteer workers planted 200,000 petunias Thursday morning in designated spots throughout the city.

Areas planted included the Washington street boulevard, the Musser and Moose parking lots, Mary O. Colderen home, Child and Public Welfare home, Community building, Police and Fire departments, Rock Island depot and freight office, Nall garage, the armory and the public library.

Mrs. G. E. Grunewald was chairman of the project. Mrs. Robert Caldwell, co-chairman of the project, said "The planting was as great a success this year as it has been the last two years."

Each year the club has increased the number of flowers it has planted.

Brownie troops will plant petunias Saturday morning in City park to complete the project.

Voters' League Elects Miss Halsey to Board

Elizabeth Halsey, professor and head of women's physical education department at SUI, was elected to the state board of directors of the League of Women Voters for a two year term at the last day of the state league convention Thursday at the Iowa Union.

Other officers and board members elected are Mrs. Theodore A. Stroud of Des Moines, first vice-president for a one-year term; Mrs. J. Stephen Westly of Mason City, second vice-president for a two-year term; Mrs. Frederick Leopold of Burlington, treasurer for a two-year term; Mrs. D. D. Dewey of Sioux City, director for a one-year term.

Mrs. Ralph Finkbine of Atlantic and Mrs. A. L. McComb of Ames to two-year terms as directors; Mrs. W. C. Hoffman of Des Moines, nominating committee for a two-year term; Mrs. James Leach of Davenport, nominating committee for a two-year term.

Mrs. David L. Ross, state league president, will serve the second year of her office.

One of the items adopted for the 1952-53 state program was a continued study program of the relationship between state and municipal government, with emphasis on local home rule with action limited to providing information.

machines are amazing
but men are more so

"Young ladies, if you will direct your attention to the complex telephone equipment on the left, I think you'll agree with most folks who tour our telephone offices that it is exceedingly impressive."

We think so too. But the minds of the men who developed it are even more impressive. Some people use "the human element" to denote weakness. In the Bell System, we believe our greatest asset is our people.

They make headlines in fires, hurricanes and floods. But much more important, they give the world's best telephone service all year round.

As the Bell System continues its growth, new and even more amazing machines are being created. And along with this growth is the need for college men with the right qualifications for work and opportunity in a variety of fields—in engineering, research, operating and administration.

Trucks Wins No-Hitter, 1-0, On Wertz' Homer In 9th

(AP Wirephoto)

Mutual Admiration by Heroes

WITH GOOD REASON FOR A PAIR OF SMILES, pitcher Virgil Trucks (left) and outfielder Vic Wertz of the Detroit Tigers embrace after Trucks pitched a no-hitter and Wertz hit a ninth inning homer to beat the Washington Senators Thursday, 1-0. The win was the first for Trucks this season and the homer was the second such game-winner in two days for Wertz.

Stops Nats for 1st Win; 2 Out as Vic Connects DETROIT (AP) — Fireballing Virgil Trucks, who hadn't won a game this year, pitched 1952's first major league no-hit, no-run game Thursday. But it took Vic Wertz' dramatic two-out, ninth-inning home run to give the Detroit Tigers a 1-0 victory over the Washington Senators.

Trucks, a 33-year-old righthander, didn't give a hint of a hit. He struck out Mickey Vernon, the last batter to face him. The Senators drove 12 flies to the outfield, eight grounders and seven of them struck out.

Wertz came to bat after Pat Mullin drove a fly ball just five feet short of the right field stands. After letting the first ball go by, Wertz drove losing pitcher Bob Porterfield's second pitch into the upper right field stands just inside the foul line 340 feet away. Right fielder Jackie Jensen didn't even bother to run back. He just trotted off the field.

Porterfield Also Strong

Porterfield had a no-hitter going for five and two-thirds innings before George Kell slashed a single into right field. In all, the Tigers got only four hits.

It was a dramatic comeback for Trucks, who had looked miserable this year after winning his last six games of 1951. The 192-pound native of Birmingham, Ala., had lost previous starts to Cleveland, 7-5, and Philadelphia, 10-6, and had failed to finish any of his four previous starts.

The last time out, Trucks gave up 13 hits in eight and a third inning against Chicago but he wasn't charged with the defeat.

2d Tiger No-Hitter

Only one other no-hitter had ever been pitched by a Detroit hurler. George Mullin did it in 1912, beating St. Louis 7-0.

The smallest crowd of the season, 2,215 saw Thursday's no-hitter. It was the second straight victory for the last-place Tigers and equalled their longest winning streak of the season.

Wertz doubled to start the seventh but was picked off second by catcher Clyde Klutts to shortstop Pete Runnels. Trucks himself singled over second base in the eighth.

Trucks walked one runner in the eighth inning and hit two batters with pitched balls in the third and sixth. In the second, Gil Coan reached first safely on second baseman Jerry Priddy's wild throw.

Phils' Refusal to Pay Waitkus' Medical Bill In Shooting Is Upheld

HARRISBURG, PA. (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies were upheld Thursday in their refusal to pay $3,500 medical expenses to Eddie Waitkus who was shot by a young girl in a Chicago hotel three years ago.

The Pennsylvania Workmen's Compensation board reversed a decision of one of its referees awarding medical expenses to the first baseman. The National League club had appealed the referee's decision.

The board said Waitkus was not entitled to workmen's compensation for the injury on the grounds it did not happen while in the course of his employment. Waitkus contended he was.

Trucks Wins in Shoes Houtteman Wore in His Near-No-Hitter

DETROIT (AP) — Just 19 days ago righthander Art Houtteman of the Detroit Tigers almost pitched a no-hit, no-run game. But Harry Simpson of the Cleveland Indians singled with two out in the ninth inning to spoil it.

Just before Thursday's game, Tiger pitcher Virgil Trucks complained of his tight-fitting shoes. Houtteman offered his and Trucks slipped them on. "Feel much better," he said.

Three hours later Trucks struck out Mickey Vernon of the Washington Senators to record a no-hit, no-run victory.

"You've just lost a good pair of baseball shoes," shouted Trucks to Houtteman in the clubhouse after the game.

Later he said a blazing fast ball, always Trucks' strong suit, was his ace in the hole Thursday.

"I used sliders and curve balls most of the time," said Trucks. "But when I did throw the fast ball it was just as fast as ever."

Trucks, who earned the nickname "Fire" as much from his speed as from his surname, said two of his key pitches were blistering fast ones.

One of those struck out Jim Busby in the third inning and the other fanned the dangerous Mickey Vernon with two out in the ninth inning.

But Trucks attributed his success largely to almost flawless control.

Hawks Seek to End Big Ten Losses Today

Northwestern and Iowa baseball teams will try to end Big Ten losing streaks in their single game here today at 1 p.m.

The Wildcats won their first three games then lost five straight, while Iowa has dropped three in a row. Northwestern is tied for seventh and Iowa is ninth.

All five of Northwestern's losses were to Wisconsin and Illinois. The Badgers, now tied for second, won 5-1, 3-1 and 3-1; and Illinois, the present leader, took a double-header last Saturday from the Wildcats, 2-1 and 3-2.

Iowa was rained out at Indiana last Friday, then fell twice before Purdue, 3-2 and 4-1, largely because of weak hitting. Hawk-eyes collected only 10 hits in the two games.

The team now has a season's hitting average of .230 and a fielding mark of .935. Top batters are Ed Lindsey, 317; Bill Vana, 307; Duane Brandt, 292; and Jack Lundquist, 283.

Al Lenski is the probable pitcher today. Although he has lost five of six games, he has allowed an average of less than nine hits per game. Merle Jensen, Ed Lindsey and Bob Diehl probably will be held for the Wisconsin double-header here Saturday.

Charges 'Illegal Conspiracy by Baseball'

LBS Suspends All Operations

NEW YORK (AP)—Gordon McLendon, president of the Liberty Broadcasting System, said Thursday night his system, serving 268 stations throughout the country, would suspend operations Thursday night because of what he termed "an illegal monopolistic conspiracy by organized baseball."

His system (LBS) has pending a $12 million anti-trust suit against 13 of the 16 major league clubs, charging they conspired to keep Liberty from broadcasting games.

McLendon also denounced the justice department because he said it was "too weak to enforce its laws against monopoly."

In Washington, a justice department spokesman had no immediate comment.

'Illegal Agreements' In a broadcast over his network, McLendon said Liberty has tried to bring its public "game of the night" in major league ball but that the stations have been prevented from carrying these games "by illegal agreements within baseball."

Listeners on his network, in the northeastern and midwestern area of the United States, he said, have been prevented from hearing the game of the day as well as the game of the night.

Darling, Reichardt Honored by Alums At Chicago Dinner

Iowa's Chuck Darling and Bill Reichardt, the Big Ten's most valuable basketball and football players this season, were honored by Iowa alumni of Chicago at a dinner in the Windy City Wednesday night.

Erwin Fraese, end on Iowa's famous "Iron Men" football team of the 1939 season, was in charge of the program. Johnny Lujack, former Notre Dame quarterback who led the Irish to football victories over Iowa, was the master of ceremonies.

Head basketball coach Bucky O'Connor and assistant football coach Chalmers "Bump" Elliot represented their respective sports.

Roberts Wins No. 6 over Reds

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Robin Roberts' spaced five Cincinnati hits Thursday night to register his sixth win against one loss as the Philadelphia Phillies downed the Reds, 5-1. Roberts' only real mistake was a home run ball offered to Joe Adcock in the sixth. Jackie Mayo clouted a round tripper for the winners in the second.

Bosox Get 3 Hits, Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Boston collected only three hits, but one was a pay-off single by Ted Lepcio for a 1-0 win over the Chicago White Sox in a thrilling pitchers duel which ended a six-game Red Sox losing streak Thursday.

Ray Scarborough registered his first victory against two defeats by limiting the White Sox to four hits.

The hard-luck loser was Ken Holcombe, making his fourth start in quest of his first victory against two losses.

Bums' Rookie Wins, 2-0

BROOKLYN (AP) — Billy Loes, 22-year-old Brooklyn bonus pitcher, made his first start Thursday night and shut out the groggy Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-0, allowing only six hits.

The Dodgers got to loser Murry Dickson for their runs in the first inning on singles by Pee Wee Reese, Jackie Robinson and Roy Campanella a walk and an out-field fly.

Kellner Blanks Browns

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Alex Kellner pitched a four-hitter, shutting out the Browns for the second time in eight days, as the Philadelphia Athletics scored a 6-0 victory over the St. Louis Browns. Kellner hit safely three times, drove in two runs and scored two in making it a personal triumph, his third of the season.

Track, Golf Teams In Action Saturday

The Iowa track team, at near full strength for the first time this season, will leave today for Minneapolis, Minn., and Saturday's dual meet with Minnesota.

Coach Bucky O'Connor's golf team also will leave today for a dual meet Saturday against Notre Dame at South Bend.

Minnesota officials have set the starting time at 1 p.m., so the meet will not conflict with a football scrimmage, closing spring practice for the Gophers.

Runners in Top Shape

Coach Francis Cretzmeier said Thursday that his entire squad, except quarter-miler Bob Clark, was in good physical condition. Several other Hawks have been bothered by leg injuries earlier this season but will be ready to run against Minnesota.

Clark injured a knee during the state AAU indoor meet and has not run since. The Oelwein freshman was state high school 440-yard champ in 1951 and was regarded as one of Iowa's most promising newcomers at the quarter-mile distance.

Hurdler DuWayne Dietz, and sprinters Len Sykes and Ira Murchison were Cretzmeier's big worries. All three reported Thursday in top condition.

7 Get High Ranking

Statistics released this week showed seven Hawkeys listed among the top Big Ten performers in their events.

Murchison leads the Iowa runners with his 9.6 seconds time for the 100-yard dash. This mark also is held by Jim Golliday of Northwestern whom the Iowa sprinter beat last Saturday.

Gary Scott is ranked No. 3 among conference 220-yard runners with a time of 21.8 seconds. Scott is tied for second in the 440 with a time of 48.8 seconds.

Rich Ferguson in the two-mile, Clyde Gardner in the discus, and broad jumpers Bob Henard and Stan Levinson are the other Iowans ranked among the best in the conference.

Longden Gets Win, Hits 4,000 Mark

INGLEWOOD, CALIF. (AP) — Jockey Johnny Longden rode his 4,000th winner Thursday, the second man in racing history to reach the mark.

The 42-year-old veteran of 25 years on the turf brought in Fleet Diver in the third race at Hollywood Park.

The other 4,000-man is England's Gordon Richards, who rang up No. 4,431 Thursday. Richards has been riding several years more than Longden.

Water Therapy Begun — Palsied Children Swim

— Coordinates Muscles

SUI graduate students, Robert Bjork, G. Albert City, and Robert Mark, G. Knoxville. Members of the hospital staff and a registered nurse are always present so that there is an adult to watch each child in the pool.

Several children are on the verge of floating now and it won't be long before they can swim several strokes without sinking. "It's a long, hard pull for many of the handicapped children," Ray remarked, "because they have trouble coordinating arm and leg muscles."

Program Successful in U.S. He said the water therapy program, which has been very successful in other parts of the United States, has great potentialities in the treatment of physically handicapped children.

The hospital school wants to make swimming therapy a permanent part of its curriculum and hopes to sponsor it in conjunction with a similar program being developed by the American Red Cross.

If such a connection is possible hospital staff members will study under Red Cross swimming instructors and will then be able to carry out a regular water therapy program for the patients.

Luper says the group's purpose is to bring to the public worthwhile music of earlier days and other music which is not so frequently heard.

Using a piano instead of an organ, the Musicum will present "A Fantasia Suite" in D minor, for two violins, cello and organ, by William Lawes, English composer of the 17th century.

Two solo cantatas by Dietrich Buxtehude, for tenor voice and strings, will comprise the second group. Buxtehude, known through Germany for his evening musicals on the five Sundays preceding Christmas, had among his proteges G. F. Handel and J. S. Bach.

Chamber music by Handel and Bach also will be played. The Musicum will perform a sonata for two clarinets and French horn, composed by Handel.

Concluding the program will be three sections of Bach's "The Musical Offering," written three years before his death. Portions to be heard are a three-part fugue for piano, a trio sonata, and a final six-part fugue. The latter will be conducted by James Dixon, Iowa City.

Publicity and personnel chairman, Bill Ross, G, Shelby, O., and music chairman, Charles Smith, E4, Fort Madison.

Four Iowa industrial executives and four SUI engineering professors will give short talks at the "Industry and Education" conference to be held on campus May 28. Two other faculty members will lead general discussion after the talks.

Purpose of the one-day meeting is to seek ways to alleviate the shortage of engineering graduates, to find further means of encouraging Iowa engineering graduates to join Iowa firms, and to discuss engineering services available to Iowa industry from the college of engineering.

The meetings, open to all Iowa businessmen interested in the problems, will be held in the engineering building on the university campus.

Speaking on "Industry's Ideas" will be L. E. Anderson, works manager, Pittsburgh Des Moines Steel; G. L. Weissenberger, president, Keokuk Electro Metals company; Alex Black, manager, Solar Aircraft, Des Moines; and L. P. Boudreaux, president, Penick and Ford, Cedar Rapids.

Engineering, "Graduates and Job Offers"; A. V. Donnelly, electrical engineering, "Summer Internships"; Karl Kammermeyer, chemical engineering, and A. B. Cambel, mechanical engineering, "Cooperative Research."

Prof. J. W. Howe, head of the department of mechanics and hydraulics, and Prof. P. F. Morgan of the sanitary engineering department will moderate the discussions. Prof. F. G. Higbee, acting dean of the college of engineering, will extend a welcome to the group.

At a luncheon meeting of the conference Provost Harvey H. Davis will speak. After the last afternoon discussion students of engineering will hold a coffee hour for the visitors.

Gubernatorial candidate Otha D. Wearin, Hastings, was in Iowa City Thursday conferring with county Democratic leaders. Wearin will give a speech in Cedar Rapids Monday, and said that he may return to Iowa City to speak at a later date.

Value of Milk Shown in SUI Study on Rats

Substitution of milk, a beverage high in food value, for carbonated drinks or coffee, which contribute little or nothing to the diet, can make a dramatic difference in health and well-being.

A current experiment with beverages in foods and nutrition classes of the home economics department at SUI shows graphically the value of milk in the diet. In the experiment, which is one of a number conducted by students for demonstration purposes, four groups of baby white rats hold the spotlight, used because reactions to varied diets are similar to those of human beings.

Rats in group one get an "ideal" diet of milk and whole wheat flour. Those in group two are on milk only. A third group is given whole wheat flour plus a carbonated beverage, while rats in the fourth group are coffee drinkers, also getting their quota of whole wheat flour.

Margaret O. Osborn, assistant professor in the home economics department at the university, said the weight of baby white rats in the first group — fed on milk and whole wheat flour — increases in 10 weeks to between four and five times their weight at the beginning of the experiment. Those on milk only do far better than rats assigned to coffee or carbonated drink, but still fall short of gains made by group one, tipping the scales in 10 weeks at only three times their original weight.

4 Given Awards For Scout Work

Raymond E. Culp, of Coralville, and SUI graduate Carl F. Moerschel, of Homestead, received Silver beaver awards at the Iowa River valley council Boy Scout appreciation dinner in Kalona Wednesday night.

Frank R. Burge, director of the 1951 Scout-O-Rama and Frank J. Havlicek, director of the 1952 Scout circuit, were also given awards of appreciation.

Culp was cited as "having given many years of service to scouting, proving himself to be a friend of all boys and showing many evidences of being a service minded and public spirited citizen."

2 SUI Women Given Lowden Classics Awards

Winners of this year's $25 Lowden awards in the classics are Betty L. Thomas, A4, Delta, and Patricia L. Caldwell, A1, Iowa City.

Miss Thomas won the award in Greek; Miss Caldwell, in Latin. The awards are based on the scores of a competitive examination among those students who have reached a level of learning determined by the classics department.

Collegium Musicum To Present Music Of 17-18th Century

Compositions from the 17th and 18th centuries will be performed by the Collegium Musicum of SUI in a chamber music concert in North Music hall at 8 p.m. next Friday.

The group, organized two years ago and directed by Albert T. Luper of the music faculty, consists of some 17 music students and staff members.

Luper says the group's purpose is to bring to the public worthwhile music of earlier days and other music which is not so frequently heard.

Using a piano instead of an organ, the Musicum will present "A Fantasia Suite" in D minor, for two violins, cello and organ, by William Lawes, English composer of the 17th century.

Two solo cantatas by Dietrich Buxtehude, for tenor voice and strings, will comprise the second group. Buxtehude, known through Germany for his evening musicals on the five Sundays preceding Christmas, had among his proteges G. F. Handel and J. S. Bach.

Chamber music by Handel and Bach also will be played. The Musicum will perform a sonata for two clarinets and French horn, composed by Handel.

Concluding the program will be three sections of Bach's "The Musical Offering," written three years before his death. Portions to be heard are a three-part fugue for piano, a trio sonata, and a final six-part fugue. The latter will be conducted by James Dixon, Iowa City.

Professors to Show Mayan Film on TV

A documentary film, "The Maya Through the Ages," will be presented as a part of the University Hour series over WOC-TV, Davenport, at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The hour-long program produced by Prof. E. C. Mabie, head of the department of dramatic arts, will feature comments on the film by representatives of the fields of art and anthropology.

Taking part in the discussions will be Roy Sieber, university art instructor; Prof. David Stout, of sociology and anthropology, and moderator Sam Becker, speech instructor.

The film is a pictorial record of aboriginal achievement and present-day life of the Maya Indian tribe. Filmed in northern Central America, and southern Mexico, it pictures Mayan achievements in architecture, agriculture, astronomy, mathematics and chronology.

Prof. John Ross Winnie is assistant producer of the program.

Interlandi Covers For Magazine X Liked By Students

"More covers by Interlandi," was the students' request to the editors of Magazine X as indicated in a survey conducted by Helen Ann Rohrer, G. Oxford, as a part of a thesis project.

One thousand students were asked to give their opinions on the various aspects of the magazine. Five hundred students chosen from the four classes plus graduates from all of the university departments were questioned on each of the first two issues in regard to size, cover, articles, cartoons, jokes, pictures and ads.

One Liked Salesgirls
As to what students liked best, answers ranged from 732 who liked the covers best to one person who liked the girls selling them.

Most popular items included the pictures, price, cartoons, jokes and ads. Over half the students indicated they liked the type of humor.

Carl Turk's picture stories were second in popularity to the covers. The students said they remember and liked the cartoons by Red Watson, Jack Bender and Dean Norman.

Reaction to the articles favored the Amos Two-Point stories, Old Capitol, the Highlanders and Jim Goltz's account of "The Streets of New York." Many of the students thought the articles too dull, but they liked Jim Bowermaster's humorous ad idea.

Disliked Stale Jokes
In the first issue the most unpopular items were the "stale jokes" and the "Match the Legs" contest. Jokes in the second issue were considered much better.

The format was mentioned as being the least liked by most students but 60 per cent liked it better for 10 cents than a slick format for 25 cents. Sixteen per cent of those questioned indicated they would like to see more pages even if it meant paying 25 cents. Equipped with the information found in this survey, the editors hope to give the students the kind of magazine that they want now and in the future. With success, Magazine X plans to expand to include more pages and a slick format.

Content Counts
At present the editors' primary concern is in the majority of the students' answers to the question about the format: "It's what's in it that counts."

The graduation issue will appear May 21. It will sell for 10 cents, feature a cover by Interlandi, picture stories by Turk, jokes, ads and more "campus life" fillers.

Police Still Seek Clue to Assailant Of Wyoming Coed

LARAMIE, WYO. (AP)—Twenty-four-year-old Virginia Anderson, University of Wyoming graduate student and victim of a mysterious beating, remained unconscious for a fourth straight day Thursday at Iverson Memorial hospital.

Miss Anderson, who was found brutally beaten on a lonely prairie north of Laramie Sunday, sits restlessly at times, mutters and then shudders, according to friends, but she has not yet regained consciousness.

A deputy from the Albany county sheriff's office is in the room constantly awaiting for a change in her condition which might give officers some scant lead in seeking her assailant.

Authorities were reported to be studying the possibility she may have been kept somewhere else between last Friday night, when she disappeared, and Sunday noon when she was found. There was no direct information regarding the basis for this possibility.

Miss Anderson, a graduate of Cornell college, Iowa, had been working as a part time waitress while working on a master's degree in English at the University of Wyoming. She disappeared last Friday after leaving the hotel where she worked.

Winner Is Announced In Lefevre Speech Contest

Alvin Smith, A1, Gary, Ind., won the first place award of $10 in the Samuel L. Lefevre Memorial Oratorical contest, held Thursday afternoon at 3:30 in room 7, Schaeffer hall.

Second place winner was Nan Albee, A1, Davenport. Prof. Orville Hitchcock and Robert Largent, of the speech department and Carl Dallinger, instructor of communication skills, were judges.

The contest is limited to freshmen. A preliminary contest was held on May 6.

Opens 4-Day Run — Ice Show Good Musical

— In Iowa Fieldhouse

"The Ice Vagues of '52," which began a four day engagement Thursday in the Iowa Fieldhouse, is a combination of the grandeurs of the Ziegfeld Follies with the Olympic games.

Extravagant costumes, sets, lighting effects, and music are put together to produce an excellent musical, set upon a pond of glistening ice.

Many of the production numbers, each one seeming to rival the other in spectacle and lavishness, were sometimes comparable to Broadway's most noted musicals.

Opening Number
The opening number, "Swanee," consisted of the two chorus lines, the Glamour-Icers and the Ice Squires, wearing black-spangled tuxedo costumes while performing complicated maneuvers on skates.

In a "Candyland" skating sequence, the performers were costumed as peppermint sticks and twin soldiers, wearing red and white striped uniforms and marching in military maneuvers.

An Oriental harem number exhibited the artists wearing exotic costumes with golden headdresses. A "tropical bird" scene had the performers with enormous feathered headdresses and fans, the number's star wearing a costume of ostrich plumes. Billed as the "most spectacular sequence" was the "Reflections In Gold" number, which would have been equally good without skates. The Glamour-Icers wore gold costumes decorated with glass discs which cast reflections on the seemingly-colored ice surface.

Soft Shoe Dance
Also among the seemingly-endless succession of numbers were a soft-shoe dance on skates, the show's chief comedian burlesquing the operatic aria "Pagliacci," twin sisters doing acrobatic stunts, a hilarious adagio dance duo mocking the French "apache" dance, a satire on ballet featuring male performers costumed as women, and a jungle number done to the beat of a tom-tom.

Accountable for the greatest applause was Kay Farrell, whose juggling seemed miraculous. Among his many stunts, he throws a rubber ball to the audience and, requesting that it be thrown back, catches it on the end of a pipe, while later balancing the ball on the point of a slender needle.

The most ingenious of the sequences was a "Wizard of Oz" number, showing the famous characters of Baum's novel skating to a medley of songs from the motion picture version of the same name.

Tickets are now on sale at the fieldhouse box office and at Whetstone's for $1.50, $2, and $2.50. There will be performances nightly and a matinee Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

Delegates to Attend Missouri Assembly

Five members of the Iowa City Church of the Nazarene will take part in the 13th Quinquennial assembly of their church in Kansas City, Mo., June 19 to 28.

They are A. M. Christensen, a delegate from Iowa district; Mrs. A. M. Christensen; Mrs. Dyle Brennenman, young peoples' delegate; and Rev. and Mrs. I. J. Hoover. Rev. Hoover is the rector of the Nazarene church in Iowa City.

Approximately 10,000 delegates and guests will attend the international convention from the United States, Canada and the British Isles.

The assembly will consider plans for a funded pension program for Nazarene ministers. Delegates will elect five general superintendents for four-year terms and take action on policy, program and budget requirements for the next quadrennium.

A mass observance of the Sacrament of the Lord's supper, at which more than 10,000 will participate simultaneously on Sunday, June 22, will be one highlight of the assembly.

Newcomers Club To Hold Potluck

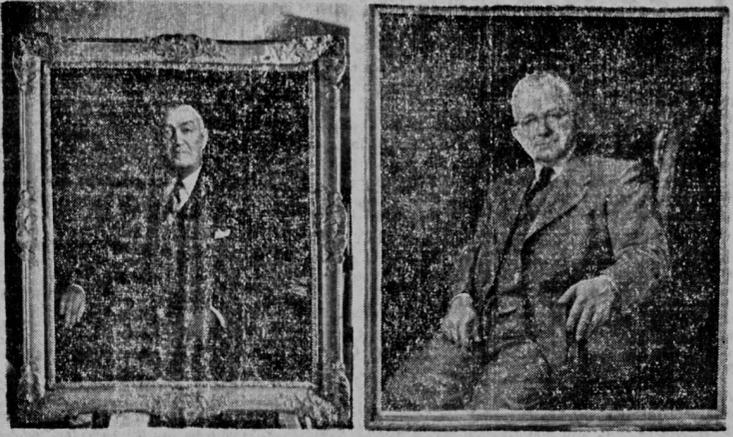

University Newcomers' club will hold a pot luck supper at 6:15 p.m. Monday in the University club-rooms in the Iowa Union. Bridge and canasta will be played at 8.

The sponsors of the club will be guests at the supper.

The three incoming sponsors are Mrs. Ralph H. Ojemann, Mrs. Elmer T. Peterson, and Mrs. Robert M. Featherstone. Four continuing sponsors are Mrs. Harvey Davis, Mrs. F. M. Dawson, Mrs. Kirk Porter, and Mrs. Ralph E. Ellsworth.

Three retiring sponsors are Mrs. Homer Dill, Mrs. Baldwin Maxwell, and Mrs. Chester I. Miller. Each member is reminded to bring her own service including cup, plate, silver, and serving dish.

Paintings of Shull, Updegraff on Exhibition

THESE PAINTINGS OF HENRY C. SHULL, 25-year member of the state board of education, and Clarence M. Updegraff, 25-year member of the college of law faculty, will be on exhibition at the Iowa Memorial Union before commencement. The Shull portrait (left) was painted by Harold Brett, Boston and the Updegraff portrait was done by Mrs. James Kent, Iowa City. Both were presented to the university at last week's Supreme Court day banquet.

City High Music Group To Sponsor Carnival

The Iowa City high school music auxiliary will sponsor a carnival tonight and Saturday on the north parking lot of Iowa City high school.

The rides will include a ferris wheel, merry-go-round, swings, and a train.

A dinner will be served in the cafeteria from 5 to 8:30 p.m. Movies and games will be featured both nights.

A concert by the junior high music students will be given tonight and a senior high concert Saturday night.

C of C to Hear SUI Study Report

Iowa Chamber of Commerce executives will hear a report on "Labor Market Surveys" by an SUI research worker when they convene for their spring meeting June 13 at Ft. Dodge.

Everett Refior, Donnellson, research assistant in the SUI bureau of labor and management, will explain how a labor market survey is conducted and how it can be utilized by a community.

Refior is one of the directors of the Henry county manpower survey which the bureau is completing.
