

Gen. MacArthur Named Keynote Speaker For GOP Convention

Taft Backers Win 3 Other Major Posts

CHICAGO (AP) — The GOP arrangements committee Tuesday named Gen. Douglas MacArthur as Republican keynote. With Sen. Robert A. Taft's forces in complete command, his acceptance was immediately received.

MacArthur is a Taft supporter and his selection for the party-rallying speech at the start of the July 7 nominating convention here was protested vigorously but vainly by backers of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur Taken by Surprise

Arthur for the presidential nomination, was named permanent chairman.

Gabrielson Appoints Millikin National Chairman Guy E. Gabrielson, publicly neutral in the nomination battle between Eisenhower and Taft, then appointed Sen. Eugene Millikin as chairman of the platform-drafting committee. Millikin is a Taft delegate from Colorado.

In accepting the keynote assignment, MacArthur telegraphed Gabrielson from New York that "the invitation to make the keynote address to the Republican national convention takes me somewhat by surprise."

The selection of the almost-solid Taft lineup froze Eisenhower backers out of any major convention post. Their reaction was vigorous.

Charges Rigged Machinery One, Ralph C. Cake of Oregon said.

"The Taft people have rigged the machinery of the convention but any further attempts to steal delegates or take them unlawfully will not meet with the approval of the convention delegates."

In Washington, Taft grinned widely when told of MacArthur's selection as a keynote, saying that he approved the choice.

MacArthur was chosen on a voice vote in which committee members said there were only a few no's.

One of the most unusual and advantageous aspects of Iowa City life is its special theater where films from past days can be requested and re-issued. It seems a shame that more campus students don't take an active interest in this opportunity and submit requests for films they may have missed or have seen and would like to see again.

SINCE A REQUEST FROM only one or two fans for a favored cinema-opus lacks sufficient strength to warrant its re-issue, some kind of group might be organized to draw up a list of films which have been particularly excellent and which still hold audience appeal. This list could be submitted to the theater on the chance that it might be possible for the films to be brought back.

In this movie lover's opinion, the film which should top the list is Paramount's version of F. Scott Fitzgerald's "The Great Gatsby." Having seen it in my pre-Fitzgerald days and having since joined the mob of readers who daily pay homage to the "laureate of the golden age," I feel that this faithful adaptation of the novel is worthy of being seen and analyzed several times.

Being unfortunate in seeing it in a third-run theater when the third reel was shown before the second, I still remember it as being an unusually beautiful picture. Although Alan Ladd might lack the ability to do justice to "Gatsby," Betty Field was superb as the pathetic "Daisy," while Shelly Winters, newly introduced to the screen, did a magnificent job in portraying the promiscuous wife of the garage owner.

IN THE ROLE OF "WILSON," the garage-owner, Howard Da-Silva was just as Fitzgerald created him, as was Ruth Hussey, as "Jordan" who discovered that certain moral principles are more valuable than the winning of awards. The remainder of the cast, including Macdonald Carey as the narrator and Barry Sullivan as Daisy's husband, were modeled and shaped into the mould of '20's mad spirit which only the great Fitzgerald was really able to capture.

The entire picture, with the exception of the ending which followed Hollywood's motto of "crime doesn't pay so don't let it go unpunished," attained a rare perfection in catching the hysteria and wildness of a great novel and period.

OTHER FILMS WHICH DESERVE place on such a list might be Korda's version of "The Thief of Bagdad," a wild potpourri of magic carpets, genies in bottles, harem vamps, giant monsters, evil sorcerers, and enough Arabian Nights magic to overwhelm any imaginative film-goer. . . . some of America's best comedies such as Carol Lombard's "Nothing Sacred," the academy award winning "It Happened One Night," or "His Girl Friday," the hilarious remake of "The Front Page."

ANY OF BETTE DAVIS' OLD films, including "Of Human Bondage," "Dangerous," "Jezebel," and "The Old Maid," are sure to draw a crowd, while such noted films as the silent "Ben Hur," "Wings," "The Great Zigfield," "The Good Earth," any of George Arliss' historical masterpieces, the avant garde "Dreams That Money Can Buy," and the recent "Madame Bovary," are worthy of reissue, capturing a greatness which Hollywood is rarely able to achieve.

My Kingdom for a Horse

U.S. Balanced Economy Essential to Security

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

Maintenance of a balanced economy in the United States is now recognized as just as essential to the national security as development of military strength.

Conduct of the cold war, then, cannot be safely predicated even for a brief time on production of steel for military purposes only. Nor is the steel industry with all its complex something to be turned on and off by degrees like a water spigot.

In the mere matter of costs, a partial operation for any length of time might seriously endanger the health of an industry whose full vigor must be maintained in the face of world threats.

Truman's Alternatives President Truman's emergency message to congress mentioned two alternatives for the government in the present situation. Seizure, which the supreme court said congress could use but the President couldn't. And Taft-Hartley, which the President opposes on the grounds that it would be taking sides against the workers and might not work anyway. At that point he seems to be going against expressed congressional opinion.

The President sticks to the government's contention that the workers must have a raise. He is very vague about any compromise with the industry's insistence that increased costs must be covered by increased prices. The basis of compromise is contained in his exposition, however, with a suggestion that compensation for the industry be considered by a board to be set up under the economic stabilization program.

Cost-Price Business This cost-price business lies at the very root of the whole dispute, despite the fact that negotiations between management and labor revolved around union security and wages.

And this ties right back into the question of a balanced economy. The government has been struggling for years against inflation. For the moment the economy seems to be resting on narrow level ground. On the one side is the crevasse of deflation and possible depression. On the other, the rising cliff of continued inflation leading to money collapse and chaos.

Government is extremely afraid of what any important increase in steel prices will do in such a situation.

Goal Is Victory In direct warfare there is only one goal, physical victory, and nothing else matters. In cold war, which can be lost through economic upset as well as through permitting a situation which leads to hot war, the factors are vastly different.

When President Truman said the steel dispute involved the issue of peace or war he apparently intended it to be taken broadly rather than specifically, on the premise that American strength is essential to the avoidance of war, weakness an invitation. But the mere fact that the threat of war is still somewhat nebulous, that there is a chance of beating the train to the crossing, can itself complicate thinking.

Congress Group Nears Katyn Massacre Verdict

WASHINGTON (CP)—Millions of Poles throughout the world, in the United States and behind the Iron Curtain, wait today for the verdict that will brand the Soviet Union as the cold-blooded slayer of possibly 15,000 of their brethren.

The verdict will be handed down soon by a special committee of congress following a lengthy investigation which included hearings in the United States and Europe.

It is expected to have widespread repercussions behind the Iron Curtain among the people of Poland and other Soviet satellite nations.

A house committee, headed by Rep. Ray J. Madden (D-Ind.), will accuse Soviet authorities of having deliberately ordered the wartime massacre of at least 9,500 Polish officers. No trace has been found of the remaining 5,500, except for a few hundred survivors. If not dead, they are believed to be alive in Russian slave labor camps.

The committee will formally charge that the officers were ordered slain during World War II because they represented the elite of Poland's intelligentsia, most of them reserve officers who in civilian life were educators, bankers, civic leaders, etc.

The committee, in a formal report to the house late in June, will state:

1. That approximately 4,500 Poles, mostly officers, but including a few hundred civilians, were massacred in the forest near Katyn in the Soviet Union.

2. That approximately 5,000 Polish officers were drowned en masse in the White sea, being placed on barges which were then sunk by Russian artillery.

3. That only 160 survivors have been located of the remaining Polish officers and the balance of 5,500 is also presumed dead or alive in Soviet slave labor camps.

The committee will state that the Katyn victims were wiped out during the terrible winter months of 1939-40 and buried in mass graves near Smolensk, Russia.

The officers met death with their hands tied behind their backs, some with a bullet in the back of the skull, others by suffocation in the sandy soil into which they were thrown. Included were Polish chaplains, among them Catholic priests, the chief rabbi of Poland, and several other rabbis.

The Polish officers were among those captured by the Russians during the Soviet invasion of Poland in Sept., 1939. Most of the enlisted Polish personnel were subsequently released, but the Polish officers disappeared.

John Mitchell, the committee's chief counsel, said that when the Soviet Union resumed relations with the Polish government-in-exile in London, Stalin was handed a list of 15,400 missing Polish officers captured in 1939.

Mitchell added that the list was given the Soviet leader by Gen. Vladimir Sikorski, the Polish premier, who asked Stalin to locate and release them.

However, the fate of the 15,400 officers remained a mystery until, in April, 1943, the Germans started the world with the announcement that they had discovered thousands of Polish bodies in the forests at Katyn.

The Germans accused the Russians of the crime, but the Russians in turn blamed the Nazis.

On the basis of testimony given at hearings in Washington, Chicago, London and Frankfurt the committee has put together the following picture of what happened:

When the Polish army collapsed on the Eastern Front in Sept., 1939, the Russians removed the captured Polish officers to three prisoner-of-war camps in the Soviet Union.

Some 4,500 were interned at Kozielsk, 5,000 at Ostashkov, and the remainder at Starobelsk.

The 4,500 at Kozielsk were taken to Katyn and slain there and the 5,000 from Ostashkov were drowned in the White sea.

Of the approximately 5,500 officers at Starobelsk, there were known to be 160 survivors, some of whom subsequently died fighting with the Allies. A dozen or so survivors testified before the committee.

The committee has been unable to find out what happened to the remaining 5,500 Polish officers. They have disappeared in the great void which is Russia. Most Poles believe they met the same fate as their brethren.

Of the 5,500 at Ostashkov, the committee knows of only one survivor. He is an elderly man, a civil engineer. The committee has not yet decided whether to ask him to testify.

Of the more than 15,000 who disappeared into Russian hands, the committee has been able to find only 400 survivors.

During the course of its hearings in Washington, the committee invited the Communist governments of the Soviet Union and Poland to send representatives to testify. Both refused and accused the committee of trying to shift the blame for a crime which they said the Nazis committed.

The committee may recommend that its findings be turned over to the United Nations.

Rockets Take Temperatures 10 Miles Up

WHITE SANDS, N.M. (AP) — Authorities at White Sands Proving Ground have disclosed a major activity in atmospheric rocket research here is to explore temperatures at high altitudes. Whether those temperatures might have anything to do with possibilities of man-carrying rockets of the future was not mentioned. But the variances in temperature at different altitudes is tremendous.

For instance, at the height of about 10 miles, records made so far show the temperature runs about 80 degrees below zero Fahrenheit. The temperature stays that way up to about 25 miles, then mounts rapidly. By the time a rocket zooms up another 10,000 feet, the temperature is about 190 degrees above zero.

As the rocket climbs on, the temperature again begins a rapid drop until at a point about 75 miles above ground, it hits a mark of about 40 below zero. From there on, the heat rises. At about 100 miles altitude, the temperature is 240 degrees above zero, 28 degrees above the point at which you boil your breakfast egg.

Beyond that is still a mystery, although in Feb., 1949, the so-called Wac Corporal rocket reached a record height of 250 miles. Temperatures to that point and beyond are what technicians of the Evans Signal Laboratory of the Signal Corps Engineering Laboratories of Fort Monmouth, N.J., are trying to discover.

New Products Are Handy Home Aids

NEW YORK (AP) — Animals and insects and handy aids for home and office all come into the new products field this week.

On the insect front is a double-threat killer for the home. It is an oil containing a pyrethrum insecticide that can be burned or sprayed to get rid of flying insects that break up front porch parties or picnics day or night.

The oil is burned in an old fashioned oil lamp with a reflector. That repels the little nuisances. If they persist, unscrew the lamp from the base, fit the base with the hand operated plunger-type spray, and push vigorously. The spray is a contact killer. Distributed by Cubicon Inc. of New York.

Here's a nail clipper with a plus — plus a file, penknife, bottle opener, screwdriver, and a key chain, all in one. Distributor is Tim's Holiday Home of Des Moines.

A plastic one-way viewer that fits any door up to two inches thick is fitted with a shatter-proof wide-angle plastic lens. The distributor, Sales Associates of Newark, N. J., says the viewer can get a full length look at anyone on the other side of the door.

Patricia DeVilbiss Is Wed

Mrs. John Patrick Whitesell

Miss Patricia Ann DeVilbiss and John Patrick Whitesell were married Saturday at 10 a.m. in St. Thomas More church. The Rev. P. J. O'Rielly conferred the nuptial blessing.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen DeVilbiss of Waukegan, Ill., and Mr. Whitesell's parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Whitesell of Wenatchee, Wash.

The bride's gown was of white Chantilly lace over two skirts, one of nylon marquisette and the other a heavy white satin, and a senior train over a white satin hoop. The gown had a fitted bodice with a high neck and long sleeves pointed at the cuff. The veil was of imported illusion edged with matching lace. The bride carried pink roses and Stephanotis.

Miss Diane DeVilbiss, Mrs. Julie Kelly, sisters of the bride from Waukegan, Ill., and Mrs. Patrick Ryan of Port Lavaca, Tex., were bridesmaids. Mrs. Donald Moeller Reported Survey Shows Basic Mix, Quicker Cookies.

Which kind of cookies do women make most? Drop cookies win by a wide margin. In a countrywide survey, 85% of the women said they baked drop cookies most in their home kitchens. And it's easy to see why they do. There used to be a big difference between the time it took to make drop cookies and the time it took to make other types like refrigerator cookies or rolled cookies. But just one product has changed that completely.

Now that there is a basic cookie mix on the market, it would be interesting to survey those women again, and see if they still bake drop cookies so much more than other types.

With basic cookie mix, the dough is mixed in two minutes for refrigerator or rolled cookies. The chilling time for refrigerator cookies has been cut from several hours to one hour, and for rolled cookies, the chilling time is only 10 minutes. Just as important is the fact that the blending technique used in making this mix has produced a dough that does not stick or need added flour when re-rolling. Those used to be bugbears that made women avoid making this type of cookie when they were busy.

Of course, drop cookies are still the quickest to make, even with cookie mix, but their cousin cookie types have shortened the distance considerably with this new product. Drop cookie devotees will find enchanting varieties to make with cookie mix. There are eight different variations on the package, all the easy kind that you spoon onto the baking sheet for speed and ease.

You can make those wonderful chocolate crunch cookies with a mix. That's the most famous of modern drop cookies. And you can make sugar cookies and coconut cookies and oatmeal and date nut, and so many other delicious treats, all in so little time you'll think your cookies couldn't possibly be ready for the oven that quick. Once tried, you will nominate a mix your pet time saver for the pantry shelf.

Top Fashions Are Easy in Cottons, Tailored at Home

There is fashion significance in cottons available to the woman who makes her own clothes with an unlimited choice of smart fabrics for this spring and summer.

There is emphasis on menswear type cotton suitings, piques in both matelasses as well as ribs, woven gingham and a wealth of tissue weights. Woven plaids, dimities in quaint prints, town prints, many embossed, shiny and crisp cottons with wrinkle-resistant finishes are also featured.

The woman who sews can interpret today's smart tailleur in menswear cotton suiting which has body and texture making it easy to cut and handle. Famous American designers are using these suitings for dresses, coats and suits—and their handling can be an inspiration to the home sewer. This fabric is a happy addition to a vacation wardrobe because its wrinkle-resistant finish makes it a good traveler.

Wide Skirts in Vogue Also wrinkle-resistant and therefore ideal for work as well as vacations are the embossed cottons, both printed and plain, the lightweight chintzes and the taffetized cottons in plain colors and prints. All are smart for sundresses, for dress and jacket ensembles, for short date frocks. Their crisp finish interprets today's important wide-skirted vogue, though they are equally good for more moderately flared hemlines.

Many of the cottons popular with high-style designers are old friends. A case in point is denim, long a favorite with everyone in the family. The home sewer will find she can use it for every kind of outfit, including duster coats, jackets and skirts as well as for sun and date frocks. Denim goes smartly to star-studded evening dates. A few rhinestones to outline a neckline, a few yards of black braid or fringe to decorate a circle skirt—these are today's style tricks to dress up denim.

Versatile cottons interpret mix-and-match separates. Blouses, skirts, shorts and pedal pushers are smart in coordinated chambrays in stripes and plaids, in broadcloth and in vivid bold prints or tiny geometrics. For the hottest summer days, sheer cottons in gossamer tissue weights are featured. Gingham in fine cords and satin stripes, tissue shantung and chambray, voiles and dimities offer a variety of textures, weights, colors and prints to the smart woman who makes her own clothes.

Margarine Doubles During Past Decade

American production of margarine doubled in the past 10 years, according to the 1951 census.

From fewer than a half-billion pounds used in 1940, margarine consumption has zoomed to more than one-billion pounds in 1951, closing the gap between butter and margarine consumption to an almost even figure.

This is taken from the report of the chemicals section, industry division, Bureau of Census.

Butter consumption in 1940 was 2½ billion pounds. In 1951 it had dropped down to 1½ billion pounds while 1,036,341,000 pounds of margarine were consumed in the United States.

Slips Aren't Slips Worn as Dresses

Time was when a slip was a slip.

Not so any more, according to the authorities.

They report cotton slips with skirts with ruffled hems can be worn this season belted for a sun or date dress.

May Have Large Number Iowa Women Lawmakers

DES MOINES (AP) — There's going to be at least 40 new members of the legislature when it convenes next January, possibly more. There could be the largest number of women lawmakers in history.

A survey of the results of Monday's primary election shows that 13 of the 30 senate seats and 27 of the 108 house seats to be filled in the November general election will go to newcomers. This represents a turn-over of about 25 percent.

Among the nominees for the senate are two women. There never has been a time when more than one woman served in the senate at a time. Eight women have been nominated for the house. The highest number of their sex to be state representatives simultaneously is three.

The two women candidates for the senate are Mrs. Marie Buss, Denver Democrat opposing Sen. J. Kendall Lynes (R-Plainfield), and Miss Dorothy Dunn, Mason City Democrat contesting against Sen. Herman M. Knudson (R-Clear Lake).

All of the eight women nominated for house seats are Democrats, with one exception, She is Rep. Gladys S. Nelson (R-Newton), seeking a second term. Her opponent is Charles P. Starrett, a Newton Democrat who preceded Mrs. Nelson as the Jasper county representative.

The seven other women nominees are Mrs. Alfred McWilliams, Aredale; Rep. Helen M. Crabb, Jamaica; Mrs. Percy Neese, Stanhope; Mrs. Carolyn Pendray, Mt. Pleasant; Mrs. Delphine Christensen, Humboldt; Mayme Groetken, Struble; and Mrs. Nona L. Link, Thompson.

Of the seven, five are opposing incumbents. These contestants are Mrs. Neese vs. Rep. John A. Walker (R-Williams); Mrs. Pendray vs. Rep. Raymond Cornick (R-New London); Mrs. Christensen vs. Rep. Edward Oppedahl (R-Renwick); Mrs. Groetken vs. Rep. J. Henry Lucken (R-Akron), and Mrs. Link vs. Rep. Theo Klemesrud (R-Thompson).

Mrs. McWilliams' opponent is Wayne W. Ballhagen, New Hartford republican. Rep. Crabb's opponent is Frank R. Thompson, Guthrie Center republican.

Mrs. Pendray is the first woman ever to serve in the Iowa legislature. She has been a member of both the house and senate.

Of the 11 candidates for the senate who have no opposition in November, six of them will be newcomers. All are republicans. Of the 30 unopposed nominees for the house, seven will be new. All are republicans.

'Leg-O-Genic'

"LEG-O-GENIC" is the word for singer Monica Lewis' legs, not "gams," "pins," or "stems," says the Society of Illustrators, which announced the new word at a party in New York, with Monica to lend emphasis as "Most Leg-O-Genic Girl in America." The society decided it didn't like those slangisms.

Cavarretta Has His Cubs Hustling

Clarence (Pants) Rowland, president of the Pacific Coast league and the man who originally signed Cub Manager Phil Cavarretta to a Chicago contract about 18 years ago, recently said, "Phil is the main reason the Cubs are going so well."

"He has a wonderful personality and the players all like him. I was talking to some of them and they all said, 'If we won't play for Phil we won't play for anybody.'"

DEAN RUSH

"He always hustled himself and now he has all his men hustling."

Wid Matthews, the Cub personnel director, is the first to give Phil all the credit for the Chicago spirit and hustle.

"I've never seen any better spirit on any ball club," says Wid. "Everybody is pulling for each other. Bill Serena, for instance, was wonderful. It looked for a time as if he'd never play a ball game but he was leading the cheering. And whenever Randy Jackson, his rival at third base would hit a homer, Serena was the first to slap him on the back."

There are two rather short tributes to a man who has a team that was well-mixed in eighth last year, fighting for the pennant this year. But they about sum up what has happened to the Chicago National league entry.

Cavarretta has no new key personnel but he has the 1951 cellar-dweller replacing their best instead of just playing.

The success of Hammerin' Hank Sauer and pitcher Bob Rush is the big item in the Cubs' 600-plus-win record. Sauer, of course, is leading the majors in all the important departments—home runs, runs batted in, his batting average—at this writing, and Rush has an 8-2 record with an earned run average of 1.67, second in the league among the hard workers.

Big Hank certainly is no flash-in-the-pan, although ALL MAJOR LEAGUE CLUBS EXCEPT THE WHITE SOX WAIVED ON HIM THIS SPRING. In his four full years in the majors he has hit 35, 31, 32 and 30 homers respectively, and batted in 97, 99, 103 and 89 runs for those seasons. Why everyone passed him up is still a mystery.

He says the big factor in his strong start—he usually does his best hitting in August and September—is that he is more relaxed and is hitting the ball where it is pitched. Sauer probably won't finish in the lofty batting percentage heights because he's due for his yearly three-week average slump soon, but chances are he'll keep hitting homers and batting in those needed runs.

Rush, on the other hand, is always a strong starter, but usually fizzles out about mid-season. Dizzy Dean is one highly-reputed observer who expects Rush to keep up his pace this time 'ho. This profound analysis recently emerged from the lips of the all-time great.

"He finally has developed into a winner because of two things," said Diz.

"One of them is that he has developed rhythm. He was a herky-jerky pitcher last year. He tried to put a lot of extra stuff on the ball with just his arm. Now he's smooth. He has developed rhythm in his delivery and it gives him more power.

"The other reason is that he has stopped trying to throw to spots. Now he's just rearing back and firing."

The aforementioned Matthews in the latest issue of the Sporting News, was asked to give some reasons why the Cubs, that he stubbornly kept together as a unit, had suddenly become a definite first-division threat.

"Building up their confidence, I believe, has been an important factor," said Matthews.

"It began when we sent out the 1952 contracts. We finished last in 1951. Our attendance was down under a million for the first time in seven years. We had every reason to cut salaries, but we didn't."

"It was my desire not to have a single dissatisfied player reporting at camp. But primarily I wanted to deal out raises in the face of the team's last-place finish so that they would realize it was an expression of our confidence in them," explained Matthews.

"Along with this building of confidence there was the assurance right from the outset that every job was wide open. Everybody was going to be given a shot at a regular berth. Phil Cavarretta has done marvelously. He has no favorites.

"As a matter of fact, Cavarretta himself is the only Cub, exclusive of several pitchers, who hasn't been in a starting lineup. I noticed the other day that Lew Fonseca cited this fighting for jobs as perhaps the biggest reason for the success of the team."

Actually, I don't care to whom or what goes the credit for the winning of the Chicago Cubs. The fact remains that they are winning regularly and the baseball world is cheering for them, just as they did their cross-town rivals, the White Sox, last year. It's healthy for baseball, so—go you Cubs!

Braves Have 6-5 Mark Since Grimm Took Pressure Off

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Charley Grimm says he's loosened up the Boston Braves in his first week back in the majors and "we're doing all right now."

He counted six wins and five losses since being surprised with the managership.

Asked what was wrong with the Braves that they weren't winning and needed a change, the once great first baseman commented:

"I'm not sure yet. I'm still new around here and for the moment all I've done has been to loosen up the club a little by taking off the pressure."

The Braves grabbed Jolly Cholly from the pilot post of their Milwaukee Brewers for his third job as manager in the big leagues. Grimm, won the American association pennant last year and his club led the loop upon his shift to succeed Manager Tommy Holmes.

"What was the matter with Holmes?"

"Tommy's a good baseball man," said Grimm, "and he'll go a long way in the game. He's still in the organization. I suppose he was pressing with things going wrong. When you're young in this business you can let it get you down. I've been through all of that."

Grimm is nearing 54 and has a big league career stretching from 1916. Told that he didn't have many gray hairs apparently because he doesn't worry and has a good sense of humor, Charley replied:

"I worry some. You have to when you lose but can't run and hide. And I don't let it knock me out. I had a good ball club in Milwaukee and that helped."

Vecek Axes Rajah; Marly Marion New Brownie Manager

By JOE KELLEY
BOSTON (AP) — Outspoken Rogers Hornsby was fired as manager of the St. Louis Browns Tuesday by Bill Vecek, club president, who named Marly Marion as the team's new pilot.

"I blew one," said Vecek in a huddle with baseball writers after making the change. "I shouldn't have signed him (Hornsby) in the first place."

"I had the change in mind for some time."

He contended Hornsby, one of baseball's all time greats, was "unreasonable" in dealing with players.

"Only as Players" — "He doesn't consider them as individuals, only as players, something to be manipulated," said Vecek.

"No one is going to tell me how to run a ball club," said Hornsby before taking off for St. Louis where he will go to his home in Chicago.

"I'm not going to go for any of his screwy ideas," said Marion, who was fired after managing the rival St. Louis Cardinals last season.

"One reason I went with the Browns was because no one could say I was after the manager's job, not with an experienced fellow like Hornsby as manager."

Hornsby has a three-year contract which will be paid in full over an unspecified period.

Marly Marion was signed for three years — to finish out this season as playing manager and for two additional years as bench manager.

Both Vecek and Hornsby affirmed they parted friends.

"I think I did a good job. The boys played well for me. We got off to a good start and had the crowd with us in St. Louis and that's what Bill wanted. I'm not sore at anybody."

Said Vecek, "It's better to have 25 players and no manager than just a manager. Baseball is a team game. Things must be amicable and they weren't."

"To My Own Mother" — "I called Rogers Sunday and he said to me 'Maybe you don't like my managing' and I said 'I didn't — that I'd come to Boston to talk with him."

"It's something I had to do and I'd do it again — if it was my sainted mother."

None of the players seemed unhappy in a hasty poll made on condition there be no names used. Said one, "I woke up today with a bad headache. Well, the headache's gone now."

Marion said he planned no immediate changes but hoped to get a "set ball club" — a lineup that will be more or less the same every day."

He also said he planned to have Cass Michaels play third, a post that has been handled by three or four players most of the season.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington advanced the tying run to third base with none out in the ninth inning Tuesday night, but Early Wynn, Lou Brissie and Mike Garcia pitched out of the jam as Cleveland escaped with a 4-3 victory over the Senators. Wynn got his seventh win against four defeats while dealing Washington a fifth straight loss.

Wynn was slammed for a triple by pinch-hitter Mel Hoderlein to start the senators' ninth. Wynn took pinch-hitter Clyde Kluttz pop fly but when he walked Eddie Yost, Wynn was yanked for Lou Brissie.

Brissie disposed of Frank Campos on a pop fly to Bobby Avila at second base and then Mike Garcia came in to retire Jackie Jensen in the same manner.

ChiSox Win, 15-4

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sam Mele equalled the modern major league runs batted in mark for a single inning with six and the Chicago White Sox almost wore out the base paths in a 12-run fourth inning flareup Tuesday night as the Sox swamped the Philadelphia Athletics 15-4. Mele, Hector Rodriguez and Al Zarilla clouted homers in the big frame. Mele, who equalled a record held by five others, belted a home run (his 8th of the year) with two on then cleared the sacks with a triple as 15 batters faced three Philadelphia hurlers during the White Sox's big spurge.

Lopat Tops Tigers

NEW YORK (AP) — Yogi Berra clouted a pair of home runs Tuesday night to lead the New York Yankees to a 4-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers. Lefty Ed Lopat blanked the Tigers on four singles to square his record at 3-3.

Berra drove in three runs. The homers were the fifth and sixth of the season for the Yankee catcher and losing pitcher. Ted Gray was the victim of both. The defeat was the first for the Tiger lefthander after a run of five straight victories.

Browns 7, BoSox 4

BOSTON (AP) — Marly Marion's American league managerial debut was an extended success Tuesday night as his St. Louis Browns toppled the Boston Red Sox from first to third place by gaining a 7-4 victory. A series of three heavy thunder showers spread the game over four hours, 35 minutes.

Little Ned Garver, with timely help from Satchel Paige, managed to snap a six-game losing pitching string, thanks to a 10-hit attack that included homers by Bob Young and Bob Nieman, the latter's a two-run affair.

Cards Win in 10

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Solly Hemus reached first after being hit by a pitched ball and Red Schoendienst brought him across with a triple to break up a 10-inning pitching duel Tuesday night and give the St. Louis Cardinals a 1-0 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Cards got six hits, the league-leaders five. Joe Presko took the win and Chris Van Cuyk the loss as both pitchers went all the way.

Cubs Beat Phillies

CHICAGO (AP) — Paul Minner proved as potent a hitter as he did a pitcher here Tuesday in leading the Chicago Cubs to a 10-5 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Minner checked the Phillies on eight hits as he breezed to his sixth victory, but it was his hitting that stole the show. A left handed batter as well as pitcher, Minner belted his first 1952 home run into the left field bleachers to break a 3-3 deadlock as the Cubs continued to their 13th victory in the past 17 games.

Bucs Beat Spahn

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates scored five runs in the first inning over starter Warren Spahn Tuesday night, then went on to defeat the Boston Braves 7-5. Home runs by Ralph Kiner, George Strickland and Pete Castiglione accounted for four of the Buc runs with two of the Braves' markers coming on a circuit clout by Bob Thorpe.

The win was credited to Ted Wilks who entered the game in the fifth.

Giants Win in 14

CINCINNATI (AP) — Grady Hatton slammed the game winning single in the bottom of the 14th inning this morning as the Cincinnati Reds edged the New York Giants, 6-5, to break their four-game losing streak. The Giants got 15 hits to Cincinnati's 12. The losers led 5-1 after six innings of play but the Reds tied it up in the eighth.

Comiskey Feud Ends; Chuck In Old Post

CHICAGO (AP) — Charles A. Comiskey II Tuesday returned to the vice-presidency of the Chicago White Sox, harmoniously ending a 143-day feud with his mother, principal owner of the club.

Comiskey, 26, whose grandfather, Charles A. Comiskey — the famed "Old Roman" — founded the club 50 years ago, returned to his post under the same circumstances and conditions as existed at the time he resigned last January 18. He angrily resigned and stalked out of a stockholders meeting after a salary dispute and because his contract was extended only from year to year.

Meanwhile, young Comiskey joined the former Liberty broadcasting corporation as vice-president in charge of covering sports events.

He returned to his home in suburban LaGrange two weeks ago. The statement announcing the decision was signed by Mrs. Comiskey, who had called for her son to return at the time he stormed from the meeting room of the stockholders.

Bill Spivey Booked

BIG BILL SPIVEY, FORMER ALL-AMERICA basketball star from the University of Kentucky, stands before a desk in a New York police station as he is booked on a perjury charge in connection with the basketball bribe scandal. With the seven-footer, who flew here voluntarily from Louisville to face the charge, are his attorney, Harold Frankel (left) and Detective John C. Conway. Spivey later pleaded innocent at his arraignment and was released in $2,500 bail pending trial.

3 Key Fixers Admit Bribing

NEW YORK (AP) — Three of the key fixers in the big college basketball scandal broke down Tuesday and admitted bribing some of the game's brightest stars.

Two of the fixers, Joseph Benintende, 43, and Jack (Zip) West, 39, interrupted their trial before an all-male general sessions court jury to plead guilty.

A few minutes later, Jack Rubinstein, 35, offered his own guilty plea.

Benintende's gang was so close to the 1949-50 Bradley squad — one of the nations' top teams — that his agents allegedly were able to go right on to the basketball floor to signal the crooked players.

The testimony of Saul Feinberg, a confessed go-between in the fixes, was so damaging from the outset that Benintende and West threw in the towel.

Iowa Art To Be Theme At SUI Summer Exhibit

"Art in Iowa" will be the theme for this summer's art exhibit at SUI which is scheduled to open Sunday. The showing will include both works created by Iowans and art collected within the state.

Outstanding paintings from private and public collections throughout Iowa will be brought together for daily exhibition in the Iowa Memorial Union. Works will be obtained from collections in the Des Moines art center; the Blandin Memorial Fort Dodge; Davenport municipal art gallery; and the private collection of James S. Schramm, Burlington.

Grant Wood's painting, "Young Corn," will be borrowed from Wilson high school, Cedar Rapids, for the showing.

Among well-known artists whose works will be represented in the exhibit are Pablo Picasso, Henry Mattson, Karl Mattern, Ben Shahn, Max Weber and Fletcher Martin.

The second part of the contemporary art show will feature works of art created by students and faculty at SUI. In addition to paintings, visitors will see sculpture, prints, designs, silverware and furniture done in the university art department.

Formal opening of the art show will mark the beginning of the SUI annual Fine Arts festival. The eight-week festival will also offer an opera, four plays, the summer lecture series and concerts by the university symphony orchestra and the all-state high school band and orchestra.

All attractions are open to students, faculty and the public. Admission will be charged only for the plays and opera, according to Earl E. Harper, director of the SUI school of fine arts and of the fine arts festival.

Charges of Forgery, Concealing a Weapon Dismissed by Evans

Charges against two persons were dismissed on a motion by William L. Meardon, county attorney, in hearings before District Judge Harold D. Evans Monday.

One involved James C. King, South Dakota, who had been indicted by the grand jury for carrying a concealed weapon. The other charge was against Bernard Woods of Iowa City, who was indicted for forgery.

King was arrested in May, 1947 on the concealed weapons charge, and entered a plea of guilty on June 17, 1947. The case was then continued for sentencing.

Attorney Meardon, in asking for a dismissal, told the court there appeared to be no further need for continuing action against King. Inzalvis Swisher was attorney for King.

Woods had been arrested and arraigned on two indictments charging him with forgery. His first arraignment was on March 9, 1951. At that time he was granted a continuance to enter a plea.

On March 26, 1951, he was sentenced to serve up to 10 years in the state penitentiary at Ft. Madison but was paroled on good behavior to the Iowa parole board while the second forgery indictment was continued for one year.

Meardon told the court Monday that the parole was up and that he saw no further need to continue the case.

Historical Society Plans Boat Trips

Invitations were mailed Saturday to the 4,200 members. The trips are planned for June 28 and 29, July 4, 5, and 6 and July 12 and 13.

Constable Candidates Confirmed by Canvass

Preston Koser, former mayor of Iowa City, and Glen G. Helmer were confirmed Tuesday as Democratic candidates for the city's two constable posts in an official canvass conducted by the county board of supervisors and assistant county auditor W. L. Kanak.

An error in the unofficial count of the June 2 primary was discovered during the canvass. The new figures give Koser a total vote of 510 instead of 533 and Helmer a new total of 523 instead of 500.

The change came in the first precinct of the fourth ward where Koser's total now stands at 64 and Helmer's 87. The figures had been reversed in the official count.

'Dead Man's Curve' Takes Another Life

SHENANDOAH, IA. (AP) — A dangerous spot on highway 2 a mile east of here, known as "dead man's curve," claimed another life Tuesday.

Phyllis Swank, 16, of Shenandoah, was injured fatally about 4:15 p.m. when a pickup truck she was driving failed to make the curve and rolled over in a ditch on the north side of the highway.

Her sister, Anna May, 19, and Robert L. Maca, owner of the truck, escaped with minor injuries. Both live in Shenandoah.

Prof. Wylie Reports 2 Recent Meteors

Two meteors have been reported around this area in the past few weeks, according to Prof. C. C. Wylie, of the SUI astronomy department.

A yellowish-orange meteor about one-fourth the diameter of the moon was reported in Wisconsin about 9 p.m. Friday. Since it was reported in the southern sky, it was probably visible here, too, Wylie said.

The other meteor was visible May 27 about midnight. A brilliant green fireball, it was reported seen in Madison, Wis., and also in Ames. Although no one in this immediate vicinity has reported seeing it, it should have been visible here, Wylie said.

BEEES INVADE LONDON

LONDON (AP) — A swarm of bees invaded London's busy Baker street Tuesday blocking traffic and chasing pedestrians in and out of stores. An emergency call to Scotland Yard brought out a police bee expert who collected the bees in a box and restored order.

Army General Warned About 'Loose Talk'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Maj. Gen. Daniel H. Hudelson, who returned from Korea saying the Communists can overrun United Nations forces whenever they choose, said Tuesday the army has warned him that any further public statements he makes should be released through regular military channels.

The reserve officer, who commanded Southern California's 40th division in Korea, stirred up a furore with his statements on Red strength in Korea. Hudelson said he was called on the telephone Tuesday by Gen. William B. Kean, commanding general at Ft. MacArthur, Southern California army headquarters. Earlier Hudelson had been asked to report at Ft. MacArthur but the phone call apparently took care of the matter.

Hudelson said Kean "reminded me that there was a policy on press releases with which I should be familiar." General Hudelson said he did not consider this a direct attempt to gag him. Hudelson said it was suggested that any public statements should be issued through regular channels.

Asked if he considered this a gag, Hudelson replied to a reporter: "Well if I'm separated from the army within a day or two I wouldn't." Hudelson said that if his separation from the services is delayed the action might be subject to some other interpretation.

Secretary of the Army Frank Pace Jr. immediately expressed a rough disagreement with Hudelson's views. Pace said any opinion that UN forces would be defeated if the Communists should attack "is contrary to everything that our highest military leaders in the field—the men who know most about the situation—have to report."

Annual Lutheran Church Synod To Discuss Merger of Branches

DES MOINES (AP)—The 93d annual synod of the Augustana Evangelical Lutheran church opened Tuesday night with a service for 450 delegates and nearly 400 visitors.

The delegates represent 41 states, the District of Columbia and Canada.

A plan for merger of five branches of the church now federated with the American Lutheran conference will be one of the major subjects before the six-day synod.

Other major business will include consideration of a budget of $904,800 for the benevolent work of the church and a plan to raise $296,800 for Lutheran world action, a church agency to support orphaned missions in Europe, Asia and Africa.

Business Session First business session of the synod will be this morning at 10:30, at which the agenda for the convention will be adopted and floor committees will be named. The annual message of synod president Dr. Oscar A. Benson of Minneapolis, also will be delivered at this session.

Possibility was seen that the synod might not go along with the merger proposal unless it included all the eight general bodies of the National Lutheran council.

One of the eight bodies, the Evangelical Lutheran church, approved the merger at Minneapolis last week. The Lutheran Free church will act on it this week at Fargo, N.D., and the United Evangelical Lutheran church next week at Albert Lea, Minn. The American Lutheran church will consider the proposal next October.

Merger Proposed But the Augustana Lutheran Church Synod committee on Lutheran unity has proposed that the merger proposal embrace all bodies of the council, including the United Lutheran church in America, which has two million members and is the largest Lutheran group in the country.

The synod committee said it found "no valid barrier" to complete organizational union of all member bodies of the national council.

Other matters expected to come before the synod include a proposal to ask the government to include members of the clergy under the federal social security act, and the question of changing the synod's meeting dates from an annual to a biennial basis after 1954.

Over 4 Million Women in Offices

There are now more women stenographers, typists and other office workers in America than there are women in any other occupation. In the last 20 years, according to government figures, the number of women in these clerical jobs has risen from a few thousand to over 4 million.

The women who work in offices in the United States now receive a considerable part of all income earned by women, and account for much of the saving and spending which women do. Their average income during a recent year was around $2,000 even when the incomes of part-time workers were included and the incomes of women who worked only a few weeks or a few months during the year.

Volunteer Air Reserve To Hear Capt. Ruppert

Flight B 9688 volunteer air reserve training squadron will hold a meeting at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the armory, in the SUI field house.

There will be a talk by Capt. Leo Ruppert, a member of the group, on new developments in aircraft.

A Pre-Fabricated Story

LONDON (AP)—Russia's super-men turned Tuesday from inventing things like automobiles and television to building—but fast. Moscow radio said eight men have just put up a six-story apartment house in Kiev in 63 days.

The whole thing was pre-fabricated, the broadcast explained.

Farm Bureau Women Pledge to Examine County, State Finance

DES MOINES (AP)—More than 300 Iowa Farm Bureau Federation women Tuesday adopted their work program for the coming year, including a pledge to study local, county and state finances, including taxation.

The action concluded the women's three-day summer conference. Specific points mentioned in the finance study were school aid, roads, homestead credit, agricultural land tax credit, and other state-allocated funds. In a broad goal on schools, the women voted to make a continuing study of state and national school legislation, to encourage driver training in high schools, and to help build a better attitude toward the teaching profession.

In the field of international relations, the women decided to continue their study of foreign countries. In the field of citizenship, the women will continue to encourage people to study campaign issues and candidates to enable them to vote more intelligently.

55 School Personnel To Attend Workshop

Fifty-five teachers and school administrators from Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska, and Texas will attend opening sessions today of the third annual workshop on economic education at SUI.

During the three-week workshop, nine out-of-state speakers will join SUI faculty members and other Iowa business authorities in analyzing economic facts and theories which the visiting teachers may discuss with their students when they return to their classrooms.

Prof. Clark C. Bloom of the SUI college of commerce is director of the workshop, which is centered in the law commons on the university campus.

Individual sessions during the three-week study and discussion course will be open to the public.

Council to Accept House Razing Bids

The Iowa City council will accept bids at its meeting Monday night on tearing down and removing a house at 319 Iowa ave.

The site will be part of a new municipal parking lot. The old Van Meter hotel, just west of the above location, has already been razed for the parking lot.

The city plans to pave the entire lot after the second building has been torn down, and the ground cleared. Lights will also be placed on the lot, which is expected to be ready for use about Sept. 1.

CIGARET PERMITS EXPIRE

All cigaret permits issued to Iowa City business establishments will expire June 30, City Clerk George J. Dohrer said Tuesday. The city council must approve renewals for permits. The next council meeting is scheduled for next Monday.

Grads Keep Stork Busy

1942 College Classes May Be First Groups To Produce Sufficient Replacements

WASHINGTON (AP)—The trend among college graduates is definitely toward keeping the stork busy, a recently completed survey shows.

Men and women of the class of 1942 can boast 39 per cent more children apiece than could their brother and sister graduates of the class of 1936, the population reference bureau of Washington found in its annual study of fertility among college graduates.

According to the survey, the 1942 graduates may be the first in the recent history of American colleges to produce enough children to replace themselves. In the 10 years since leaving college the 1942 graduates have almost equalled the reproductive record found for the class of 1927, 25 years after graduation.

Sixteen thousand men and women of the class of 1942, polled 10 years later as to their reproductive accomplishments, reported the record high of 1.51 children per male graduate and 1.23 per woman.

This increase from the 1.02 per man and .95 per woman graduates of 1936 represents a steady climb during the seven years covered by the bureau's survey, and places the class of 1942 well ahead of any of the classes recently reviewed in their 10th reunion year, the bureau said.

Top "large family" honors in the nation among 1942 graduates go to Brigham Young university of Utah. Its 59 alumni report 2.58 children apiece. The alumnae of St. Xavier college, Ill., are the winners among 131 classes of women graduates of the class of 1942, with 2.12 babies apiece.

In Iowa, the alumni of Cornell college at Mount Vernon take top honors among the 1942 men graduates of the five colleges in the state which participated in the study. With an average of 1.96 children apiece, they rank eighth in the nation, above the national average.

Women graduates of Luther college at Decorah place first in the state for 1942 alumnae with an average of 1.77 babies each. This ranks them sixth in the United States.

Psychiatric Nurses End First Meeting

The first of a series of psychiatric nursing conferences at the SUI college of nursing closed Tuesday with a joint planning session for the next conference to be held in October.

Psychiatric nurses from all over Iowa attended the two-day institute during which they discussed methods of providing better care for the state's mentally disturbed patients.

Earlier the nurses heard a summarization of discussion group reports and recommendations led by Richard Seaman, associate professor in the school of social work, and participated in a general discussion of recurring problems encountered by the Iowa psychiatric nurse, led by Dr. Wilbur Miller, director of the Iowa Psychopathic hospital and the Iowa mental health authority.

Local Church Members To Attend Conference

The Rev. and Mrs. Ira Hoover and Mrs. Dale Brenneman, of Iowa City, will represent the local church at the June 19-21 convention of the church of the Nazarene young people's society in Kansas City.

About 10 members of the congregation will also attend as visitors.
