Speakers to Explain Creative Arts At 25th Child Development Series

500 Expected At SUI Lectures

The 25th annual Iowa Conference on child development and parent education will begin at SUI this morning, with 500 persons expected to attend.

Interested in child development, an insight into the ways music, art and drama can enrich the lives of children.

The conference is sponsored by the Iowa Child Welfare Research Station at SUI, and will be held today and Wednesday.

Discusses Creative Side
Frank Wachowiak, assistant professor and acting head of art in the University schools will discuss the creative and esthetic side of art activities at the opening session of the conference Tuesday morning at 9:45 in Old Capitol. Manuel Barkan associate professor in the school of fine and applied arts and head of the art education area at Ohio State university, will deal with social and communicative aspects of the arts at the same session.

Lecturer at the 2 p.m. session Tuesday will be Edna Butolph, musical specialist at Bank Street College for Teachers, New York city. Mrs. Butolph's teacher training was at Hunter college and New York university, where she took special courses in school music for kindergarten and primary grades. She is the author of a book of rhythms, games and songs for children, "Rhythm Is Motion."

The New York lecturer will evaluate the use of music in the education of children in her talk Tuesday and will suggest activities in rhythm and basic movement. She will also discuss creative song writing.

Winifred Ward, professor emerita of the school of speech at Northwestern university and for 23 years director of the Children's theatre of Evanston, will discuss "Creative Theatre for Children"

SUI Employees Ask 10-Cent Raise

Non-academic employees at SUI Monday asked President Virgil M. Hancher for a 10-cent an hour wage increase. In a letter to Hancher, George Parks president of local 12 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFLE), cited the high cost of living for the increase. The union asked that the boost be effective July 1.

Hancher was out of the city Monday and other university officials declined comment. The university employees received a $30 monthly raise last year. The current wage scale for non-academic employees is $195 to $215 a month for janitors, while mechanics, plumbers, carpenters and other skilled laborers receive $1.82 an hour.

Supports, No Controls In Ike's Farm Platform

DENVER (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower gave his tentative approval Monday to a midwestern Republican farm proposal calling for federal crop supports without controls limiting prices or production.

The general told the American Agricultural Editors' association at a breakfast meeting that the plan, originating in Iowa, looked good to him, but he wanted to discuss it further with those who are experts on farm matters.

The plan also would limit the authority of the Secretary of Agriculture in making policy judgments, and give more control at the state level. It would reorganize the department of agriculture to bring about greater efficiency, Eisenhower said.

Interested in Farmers
He declared a deep personal interest in the nation's farmers but said he would be "at sea" if he tried to discuss the technical problems of agriculture. He asked the editors' help in adding to his knowledge of farm matters.

A tentative farm program will be presented by Eisenhower to the GOP national convention in Chicago next month as a possible farm plank.

A memorandum from Eisenhower's public relations chief, Robert Mullen, said the program calls for:

1. Constructive and extensive soil conservation.
2. Greater control at the state level, including establishment of a bi-partisan board to take over from the secretary of agriculture the job of exercising policy judgments authorized by congress.
3. Creation of new foreign and domestic outlets, including trading at 8 p.m. Tuesday in a program which will be broadcast over the university radio station WSUI.

Developed Dramatics Course
summary of the children's theatre movement in the United States and explanation of the values of creative dramatics, with illustrations to show what the art can do for children. Miss Ward is the author of three books on dramatics for children and has edited a collection of modern and classical stories for children to dramatize.

Bernice Setzer, director of art education in the Des Moines public schools, will talk at Wednesday morning's session on what crafts such as weaving, leatherwork, ceramics and pottery can do for the child. The Wednesday session will begin at 9 a.m.

Old Age Bill Gets Tentative OK in House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The house Monday shouted tentative approval of a bill providing an increase of at least $5 a month for the 4½ million Americans who received government checks under the Old Age and Survivors Insurance program.

The legislation is estimated to cost $300 million a year. It was passed by voice vote. Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) ruled that a roll call vote on the measure will be taken today. Leaders had agreed not to take any record votes Monday because of the absence of members participating in the Maine primary election.

Under the proposed higher rates, the minimum monthly payment to a person qualified to receive social security benefits would rise from $20 to $25. The maximum that could be paid to any one family would be raised from $150 to $168.75. The senate has not yet acted on the bill.

The bill calls for boosting payments to virtually all retired persons now on the social security rolls by $5 a month or 12½ per cent, whichever is larger. Persons retiring in the future would get an additional $5 a month above the present formula and there would be proportionate boosts for wives, widows, children and other beneficiaries.

Italy Approves Plan To Pool Coal, Steel With 5 Other Nations

ROME (AP) — Italy Monday gave the final stamp of parliamentary approval to the Schuman plan to pool the coal and steel of the West European continent.

It was the sixth and final nation to ratify the revolutionary project for an economic linking unprecedented in European history.

Parliaments of the other nations involved in the plan, France, West Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands, already had endorsed the treaty their foreign ministers signed in Paris April 18, 1951.

Italy wound up the necessary parliamentary action with a 265-98 vote of ratification in the Chamber of Deputies, which beat down determined Communist opposition. The senate approved the 50-year treaty last March.

The revolutionary scheme provides that each of the six nations unite their coal and steel industries, producing and marketing the output for the good of the whole. The Saar, whose economy is linked to that of France, also has ratified the pact.

The plan now awaits a meeting of the foreign ministers of the six nations to work out details of putting the pool into action.

HIS NAME'S TOO SWEET
LOS ANGELES (AP) — For 39 years, Robert W. Hershey has been called such nicknames as "Candy Kid," "Chocolate Kid," and "Hershey Bar Bob." He's tired of it, he said, applying to superior court for permission to change his name to Lee S. Carothers. "Let 'em make something of that," he added.

REDS CLAIM REAPER
LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio claimed Friday that a Russian invented the first harvesting machine but apparently forgot to check its dates. It said Russia's A. V. Vlasenko built his reaper in 1861; America's Cyrus H. McCormick has been credited generally with inventing the first harvester in 1831.

Nickle told reporters the plant is being built by a private company at "tremendous cost" and will be used to supply power to a large U.S. chemical company. He did not specify where in Michigan the plant is located.

He said the plant would use uranium 235 as a source of heat to transform water into steam. The atomic power plant is scheduled to be completed and in operation by the end of the year.

Swedish Flying Boat Shot Down In Baltic By Russian Fighters

Red Light-Bombers Buzz German Barges

TWO RUSSIAN JET PLANES zoom over the Havel river, which forms the border between the Russian and French sectors of Berlin, during a recent incident that preceded the seizure of two border communities. Monday, two Soviet jet fighters shot down a Swedish air force flying boat over the Baltic Sea.

British Party Leader Urges Creation of World Tribunal

Clement Davies, member of the British parliament, said here Monday night that an international law and a tribunal must be created in order to have peace.

The leader of Britain's Liberal party, speaking on "World Government," delivered the opening lecture of the summer session series on the south campus of the Iowa Memorial Union.

Davies said, "We should agree to give up part of our sovereignty and create one central authority, one tribunal that will be respected." He continued that under the existing United Nations there is no law. Nations still resort to war to settle differences.

One Law
"War cannot be humanized. Abolishing certain instruments of war cannot bring about peace. Peace can result only from one law — for the strong as well as the weak nations."

Davies maintained that the great weakness of the United Nations is the veto power, which destroys a concept of one law for all nations.

Under the UN, there has been one improvement over past organizations set up to preserve peace, Davies added. When the situation in North Korea arose, there was unity among more than 50 nations in condemning the aggressor.

Must Submit Differences
Hope for peace, however, rests upon an agreement by all nations to submit differences to a central world legal authority and to abide by the decisions of a tribunal set up under true international law.

Davies' activities in parliament include work on the commission on the dispatch of business at common law, the British Broadcasting Corporation Inquiry commission, the committee on third party insurance, the colonial empire marketing commission, and the West African commission.

The next speaker in the summer session series will be Robert A. Smith, editorial writer on the New York Times, who will speak on "What Makes Men Free," June 23.

Canadian Claims U.S. Is Building 1st Atomic Plant
SARNIA, ONT. (AP) — Carl O. Nickle, progressive conservative member of Parliament, said Monday he has learned that North America's first atomic power plant is under construction in the state of Michigan, about 200 miles from this border city.

Angry Swedes Jam Streets To Protest Act

STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN (AP) — Two Soviet jet fighters, one firing bursts from 20 mm. cannon, blasted an unarmed Swedish air force flying boat from the skies Monday, plunging it into the Baltic. The crew of seven, including two wounded, was rescued by a small freighter.

Immediately, an aroused Swedish government, reflecting the anger of shouting, jeering crowds which surrounded the Soviet embassy here, protested this "act of violence" and demanded swift punishment of "those responsible for the outrage."

Monday night, 5,000 enraged demonstrators yelling "We will see Stalin hanged," jammed the street outside the Soviet embassy and set bonfires. They also chanted: "Down with the communistic warmongers." The crowds were forced to retreat by police squads.

Plane Was Searching
At the time of the attack about 60 miles off the Soviet-held Estonian coast, in an area where the Russians are reported to be holding vast sea and air maneuvers, the Swedish plane was searching for a Swedish air force transport plane missing since Friday with eight men aboard. This plane, too, is believed to have been shot down down by the Russians.

Prime Minister Tage Erlander demanded that Soviet embassy officials stop spying activities in this country where seven Swedish went on trial Monday for selling vital defense secrets to Russian agents. At that trial, the accused ring leader pleaded guilty to charges of espionage and making preparations to wreck Sweden's defense plans in case of war.

At Hango, Finland, where the seven rescued Swedish airmen were taken after being fished from the cold Baltic sea by a German freighter, crew commander Capt. Sven Gosta Toerngren said, "We were attacked by two MIG's, but only one of them shot at us." The attack lasted nine minutes, he said.

'Maybe An Accident'
"Maybe it was an accident, maybe the plane was sent to bring us down," he told newsmen. "I don't know."

Toerngren said the plane's pilot, Axel Arbin, and navigator, Bertil Engberg, were injured, "but I don't know if they were hit by bullets or if they were hurt at the crash against the water surface."

The captain was certain, he said, that his unarmed Catalina, was "very far off foreign coastal waters." He had been instructed, in searching for the lost transport plane, to keep 15 miles off the coast of Estonia and Latvia, both of which have been incorporated into the Soviet Union. The Russians claim 12 miles out as their own special territory.

Two years ago an unarmed U.S. navy Privateer aircraft was shot down in this same area with 10 men aboard. The Soviets then claimed that the craft was a B-29 bomber violating Russian territory over Latvia. Russia rejected American protests.

U.S., Reds Confer On Return of Old Lend-Lease Ships

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia Monday agreed to return 186 vessels she got from the United States during World War II and made a bid to buy 167 others, but the purchase offer was rejected.

Monday's offer was the only new proposal injected into the Lend-Lease negotiations that were broken off last August.

The Russians got from this country some 11 billion dollars worth of supplies during the war, including 670 ships. The U.S., in line with a policy of collecting only for the peacetime value of goods which were not destroyed, has offered to settle for 800 million dollars.

When the talks resumed Monday, the Soviets renewed their offer of 300 million dollars. The U.S. previously had rejected this figure.

Year's Worst Battle Rages Against 45th As Chinese Counter

SEOUL (TUESDAY) (AP) — Big Chinese guns began pounding Allied lines again Monday night while a Communist battalion marked time in the 6-day-old battle for a Korean western front hill mass.

The Chinese have counterattacked each day since 45th division infantrymen won the top of the "T" shaped hill west of Chorwon. The Americans drove back the Chinese battalion again Monday morning after seven hours of bloody fighting.

Up to Sunday night, troops from the 108th and 179th regiments of the 45th division had killed and wounded more than 1,000 Chinese, American officers said, making it the fiercest battle for an American division since last November.

Not since the 3d division drove the Reds off "Little Gibraltar" south of Chorwon have American troops fought so heavily.

Allies Call 3-Day Halt To Korean Truce Talks
MUNSAE, Korea (TUESDAY) (AP) — Allied negotiators today jolted the Communists for a second time with a forced three day recess in the Korean armistice talks.

The Allies informed the Reds they would not return to the Panmunjom meetings until Saturday. It was an antidote to days of renewed Communist propaganda pitched to the refrain of Allied mistreatment of prisoners of war.

The recess is in effect a three day walkout by the Allies. The Reds have insisted on daily meetings despite lack of progress.

Iowa Progressives Elect SUI Student

Larry Ross, SUI student from Lake City, was elected vice-chairman of the Iowa Progressive party at the group's third state convention Monday, in Des Moines.

Mrs. Edna Griffen, Des Moines, is chairman. Secretary is Mrs. Cindie Hansen, Des Moines.

Delegates approved the candidacies of Vincent Hallinan, California attorney, for president and Mrs. Charlotte Bass, California publisher, for vice-president.

Weekend's Hot Weather Raises Deaths to 115

Scorching temperatures put new records into weather books Monday and the toll of deaths rose with the mercury in a huge heat-plagued section of the nation.

Steam bath heat during a four-day period that included the weekend took at least 115 lives. Fatalities attributed directly to the strength sapping hot spell totaled 12, with 102 drownings and one Iowa person struck by lightning.

Hot, moist air covered about half the U.S. — from the Gulf of Mexico northward to the southern shores of the Great Lakes, and from Iowa eastward to the Atlantic coast.

13,000 Idled
Some 13,000 people were idled in Detroit when groups of workers walked off the job in three big auto plants because of the heat. The men were working in the Hudson Motor company, Chrysler

High School Musicians Get Instruction at SUI Camp

campus for instructions in band, orchestra, conducting, and music theory and appreciation, opened Sunday and will continue through June 29. Bodegraven will be in charge of all band and orchestra rehearsals and concerts for this music camp, the first to be held since before the war.

CONFUSION MAY REIGN

when a member of the University theater's latest play happens to be rehearsing lines while her roommate chooses to plan a painting for the art department's next student exhibit, but such a confusion is an every-day occurrence to the women-residents of 508 Dubuque st. rather than the conglomeration it may appear to the casual by-stander.

By sheer coincidence, all of the coeds in this rooming house are connected with the fine arts departments of the university, being interested in dramatic arts, music, creative writing, or art. Amidst an atmosphere of line-rehearsing, portrait-painting, typewriter-clattering, and scale-practicing, art thives while aesthetic talents are developed.

Examplifying the artistic talent in the house is Norma Ludens, a sophomore in sculpturing who has had works entered in several student exhibits, Peggy Van Patton, a junior in drama, has taken roles in several University theater plays and sang with Leo Cortimiglia's orchestra last fall.

President of the Student Art Guild is Jean Witte, a grad student and organizer of the art department film series and student-competition exhibits, while Carolyn Beattie, a senior, dabbles with painting in the art department.

Among the Greenwich Village seekers in the "house" are Joan Goldstein, an English Honors student, Miriam Levine, a junior, and Rita Schmor, a sophomore and "honorable mention" winner in the Octave Thanet short story contest.

Almost all of 508's residents hail from the East — New York and surrounding territories — which may or may not have affected their career choices in the intellectual and cultural fields. I'm inclined to believe it did.

WELL, THEY'VE DONE IT AGAIN — the dramatic arts department has again changed their schedule of productions, omitting "Affairs of State," "Candida," and "Rough-Shod up the Mountain," and replacing them with "Second Threshold," which is probably one of the most beautiful plays ever written and which flopped on Broadway, and "The Constant Wife," originally Ethel Barrymore's vehicle which enjoyed a revival this season with Katherine Cornell and Brian Aherne.

I am particularly grieved about the department's omission of the "Rough-Shod" piece. I was looking forward so to seeing the building crew construct mountains on stage (probably out of paper-mache and putty.) They could do it, I know.

A VALUABLE LOSS to SUI organizations is Ann Lawson, a June Grad, who is still in Iowa City keeping posted on What's-what and Who's-who. Ann, one of the most active girls on campus in her day, was chairman of the Cancer Crusade drive, on Central Party Committee, an energetic sorority leader, and in practically every other activity mentioned. Several well-received activities and drives owed their success to her energy and enthusiasm. It's a loss that that keep this campus going! — a memorable quote I owe to Benjamin Franklin... or is it Orson Welles?

State Department Papers Reveal Stalin's Views on Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (CP) — United States-Soviet Union relations started sizzling less than two years after the United States recognized the Soviet Union, and our diplomats weighed the pros and cons of a diplomatic break. And Generalissimo Joseph V. Stalin before World War II unmasked some of the roots of today's Soviet foreign policy.

Vital importance of our relations with the Soviet Union today has motivated the department of state to release a 1,034-page volume of documents covering the relations of the two nations from before United States recognition of the Soviet Union in 1933 until after the outbreak of World War II in 1939.

Russo-American relations reached a crisis in the summer of 1935 when the congress of the Communist International at Moscow disclosed that the Soviet Union already had broken solemn promises not to engage in political activities in the United States. American Communists at the Moscow congress boasted that Stalin was their leader, and that Communists were already agitating strikes in the United States.

Communist motives, methods, and objectives were unmasked at that congress to an extent that United States Ambassador William C. Bullitt included his warning in a long telegram to the secretary of state:

"The leading orator of the congress (Dimitrov) laid down the course to be pursued by Communists of the United States and all other democratic countries. Communists in all democratic countries have been ordered by the Communist congress in Moscow to worm their way into the labor unions, farmer organizations, the women's peace organizations, all organizations of youth, all liberal, political, social and religious organizations, and into the ranks of the intellectuals, there to work as bosom friends of their fellow members of these organizations until the day comes when they hope to be able to establish Soviet tyranny in the United States and destroy their fellow workers who have trusted them."

"The American Communists are also directed to work especially among the Negro fellow citizens to the end that they may be incited to a massacre of their white brothers. And all of this is to be accomplished by Communists wearing the mask of peace and anti-Fascism while the intended victims of the Communists are to be lulled into brotherly friendship by appeals to their American devotion to peace and love of democratic liberty."

Stalin Expounds Policy
Joseph Stalin expounded Soviet foreign policy along similar lines three years later, but in a somewhat academic manner, in a letter dated Feb. 12, 1938, to Comrade I. Ivanov:

"The problem of the Soviet Union's external relations and the complete protection of our country," Stalin wrote, "can be solved only by uniting the serious efforts of the international proletariat with the still more serious efforts of our whole Soviet people. It is necessary to strengthen and fortify the international proletarian connections of the working class of the U.S.S.R. with the working class of the bourgeois countries."

action, without first giving any assurances that Russia has any other purpose for the conference at all. His long range effort will be to work against the Anglo-American coalition which is so important in containing Russian expansionism. The most dangerous weapon which Russia could use now would be the sheep's clothing of reasonableness. Western peoples are going through travail over rearmament and over the revival of German military strength. Any apparent decrease in tension, in the feeling of necessity, might cause them to waver. This applies particularly to France and Germany.

Repressive Measures Used
The Kremlin has tried increased tension, through repressive measures along the iron curtain, through the threat of a new Communist offensive in Korea, through military preparations in East Germany, and through purg-

Party Convention Rips For Dark Horse Victory

This Was Scene of Deadlock

CHICAGO (CP) — The prospect that both the Republican and Democratic national conventions, opening here respectively on July 7 and 21, may be headed for deadlocks have put this host city into a dither.

Such stalemates usually mean dark horse candidates to the politicians; to arrangements committees they mean mixed up hotel reservations, restaurants running out of food, and a thousand other added complications in a city bursting with delegates and visitors whose nerves wear thin.

Old hands at the game of forecasting the outcome of political conventions are agreed that the seeds of prolonged conflict are in both the Democratic and GOP contests this year.

Marathon in 1924
The spectre of that nightmarish 103-ballot marathon the Democrats staged in 1924 at New York before picking John W. Davis as a compromise between William Gibbs McAdoo and Alfred E. Smith rears its frightful head. The roll calls were not the only delay then, because it took five days to adopt platform planks on the then burning issues of the League of Nations and the Ku Klux Klan, the counterparts of today's international policy and FEPC debates.

The struggle in the GOP between Senator Robert A. Taft and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower presents that classic pattern of two powerful contenders evenly matched, with only scattered support held by two or three others. Such a delicate balance, however, sometimes shifts more quickly, than the dilemma confronting the Democrats, with a score of hopefuls boasting some delegate strength, but none close to the needed 616 votes.

Unusual Situation
For both major parties to be so up in the air is relatively unusual, most nominations in history having gone to fairly clear favorites in advance. However, dark horse winners frequently have swept to the fore in races just like those now going on.

The first surprise winner probably was James K. Polk, nominated by the Democrats after the great historian, George Bancroft, decided to stop writing history long enough to make some himself by engineering the Tennessee's nomination to break a deadlock between former President Martin Van Buren and Lewis Cass.

The Democrats then required their nominees to garner at least a two-thirds majority. Van Buren in 1844, Stephen A. Douglas in 1860 and Champ Clark in 1912 were direct victims of it, each having polled a clear majority but still failing of nomination.

Two-Thirds Rule Out
The two-thirds rule will not hamper either convention this year, the Republicans never having followed it and the Democrats having abolished the rule in 1936 and showing no inclination to reinstitute it.

Neither McAdoo nor Smith came near to even a bare majority during the 1924 classic deadlock, however, and points of similarity are being pointed out between that bitter battle and the present.

A number of conventions have gone entirely outside the field of active contenders to select a nominee once they got hung up. The Democrats picked Franklin Pierce of New Hampshire in 1852 after despairing of a four-way scramble for 35 ballots between Cass, Douglas, James Buchanan and William L. March.

GOP Picked Harding
Warren G. Harding was settled on by the GOP in 1920, after Gen. Leonard Wood, Gov. Frank Lowden, and Senator Hiram Johnson deadlocked — with 13 others, including Herbert Hoover, showing some delegate strength.

The political box score shows the GOP nominating more dark horses than the Democrats. Both Rutherford B. Hayes in 1876 and James A. Garfield, in 1880, were nominated without staking any pre-convention campaign.

In fact, Garfield as manager for John Sherman, was chosen without shouting that he did not want the nomination. Gov. Horatio Seymour of New York was named by the Democrats as he, like Illinois' Adlai Stevenson today, protested to the end that he was not a candidate.

By a historical quirk, however, Garfield is the only successful nominee who ever personally witnessed his own nomination, all the others being absent at the crucial hour of their selection.

Which may be a hint to this year's hopefuls who want the lightning to strike. On this basis they might stand a better chance if they remained aloof and away than if they venture too close to the actual proceedings.

Ridgway Visits Italy To Inspect Command
ROME (AP) — Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway arrived Monday for a visit of the southern flank of his NATO command. Heavily armed police and troops kept the capital under tight control against possible anti-Ridgway outbreaks by the Communists.

The newly appointed Supreme Allied Commander in Europe arrived at noon by plane from Paris for a four-day visit of Italy "just to get acquainted."

'Car of Tomorrow' In Experimental Stage

DETROIT, MICH. (CP)—Automobiles that Americans will be driving during the next 10 years are not likely to be radically different from those which crowd the highways during the current tourist season.

However, there definitely will be big changes. Secreted in shops around this motor capital are the experimental models which determine tomorrow's styles. Occasionally, one of them spins out on the streets and gives passersby a thrill like that which swept through the town when Henry Ford's Model A, successor to the classic Model T, appeared.

A glance into the carefully guarded shops of the Wetzlauffer Manufacturing company here is a look into tomorrow. This fabulous and little-known concern for years has specialized in design and experimental work for many of the big manufacturers.

Since early in the century when the first general auto patents were broken, development of the American auto has been a helter-skelter scramble. Each car maker is a unabashed copycat of the others, yet the great premium is on originality.

Consequently no single automobile can claim to be the typical United States motorcar style. Although the hunt for the $1,000 small car goes on fruitlessly, the range of cars is from the smallest — made by Crosley, Kaiser, Willys, and Nash — to the high-powered big cars which get speedier and more powerful all the time.

Never has the tug-o-war for design been stronger. The safety-conscious argue that the designs give too little attention to that facet of driving, considering that more than a million people have died in accidents.

They point out that insurance claims are up 30 per cent because of the fancy fenders in body designs, elaborate radiator "jewelry," elimination of running boards and myriad chrome gadgets.

A peek at plans for the future assures that the width of selection will continue to be so great that almost every type of motorist will be able to find his own particular kind of car. The paradox of the greatest mass-produced product being that it also is one of the most individually-styled.

Chief concessions to safety and comfort will be in designs for better brakes, easier steering, improved roadability, and enhanced visibility.

A transition to higher-powered fuels, including alcohol in the latest models, will continue the evolution from the steam and electric autos up to 1910 to the internal combustion engines using highly volatile fuels.

Projected superhighways encourage the designers to drop their conservatism of a decade ago, and to aim again for the 100 mph sustained speed.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AN APPLE-CHEEKED youngster of eight looked up from a fashion magazine and piped, "Hey, mom, what's a troussseau?" Mom shot a look of pure venom at her spouse, listening to a ball game on the radio, and answered in a shrill voice that drowned out the announcer, "A troussseau, honey, is what your mother has been wearing ever since she married your father."

U. S. Army educational aides have been making a study of the effect infiltration of American soldiers has had on native languages.

In France, for instance, words like be-bop, jitterbug, starlet, best-seller, groggy and cover girl are now part of everyday Parisian jargon.

In Italy gomma Americana is chewing gum, kalabush means jail (or calaboose), and teghedizi approximates "just hold your horses." The Japs have taken over our slang by the wholesale. It's particularly intriguing to hear them prod underlings by urging "hubba-hubba," meaning "get a move on." It has replaced once and for all the Chinese "chop-chop."

Ellen Sideman Is Married

Mrs. Richard Melvin Caplan

Miss Ellen Sideman and Richard Melvin Caplan of Des Moines were married Sunday at 1 p. m. in the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. L. Toubes in Des Moines.

Under a floral archway the Rabbi Irving A. Weingart performed the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Sideman of Des Moines and Mr. Caplan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Caplan of Los Angeles, Calif.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a white lace ballerina length dress that had been worn by her sister. Her headpiece of orange blossoms had been worn by her maternal grandmother, her mother, aunt, and sister. She carried a bouquet of Spathyllum.

The bride's mother wore an afternoon dress of navy lace and chiffon. Mrs. Caplan wore an afternoon dress of rose-colored lace. A reception for 250 guests was given in the Terrace Room of the Hotel Savery in Des Moines. Hostesses were the mesdames Alfred Ginsberg, David Pidgeon, Stanley Barman, Leonard Greene, Marvin Pomerantz, Marvin Dubansky, and Miss Bettyann Dubansky.

After a six-week's trip through western Europe starting June 20 the couple will return to Iowa City, where Mr. Caplan is a medical student.

Mrs. Caplan is a graduate of SUI where she was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity, and president of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary society. Mr. Caplan was graduated from Iowa State college in 1949, received his master of arts degree from SUI in 1951, and is now a medical student at SUI. He is a member of Alpha Epsilon Pi social fraternity and Phi Beta Pi medical fraternity.

More Prize Money Offered at Fair For Baking Entry

Iowa housewives will have a chance to win 30 per cent more prize money in the state championship bread baking, jelly making, preserving and other kitchen products competition at this year's Iowa State Fair Aug. 23-Sept. 1, according to new expanded classes for women's competition announced today by exposition officials.

Nearly 250 different classes of competition have been announced for this year's events, with increased prize money offered in almost all the contests. The show will be open exclusively to Iowa housewives.

Major prize offerings by divisions include: bread and rolls, $168; cakes $206.50; frosting with cake mix $26; cookies $97.50; homemade candy $66; spiced goods, pickles and condiments $137.50; jellies $79; jams $79; preserves $40; canned fruits $150.50; butters $40; preserves $85.50; canned vegetables $85.50; canned meats $53.

In addition, the State Fair board has announced a special contest for baking, canning and cooking where honey is used for sweetening. This competition will offer $124.50, including classifications for cookies, bread, cake, candy, and pickles.

In announcing plans for the 1952 show at the state fair, exposition officials emphasized that the event is open only to amateurs. Women who sell their homemade products will not be permitted to compete.

Mrs. James Dwyer of Des Moines has been named superintendent of the show.

Included will be discussions of committee organization on both the state and local level as well as finance and membership.

Participants in the conference include Mrs. David L. Ross, Grinnell, state president; Mrs. Ralph Finkbine, Atlantic, member of the League's state board; Mrs. James Leach, Davenport; and Mrs. J. H. Vondracek, Cedar Rapids.

Other participants are Mrs. Walter Betsworth, Waterloo; Mrs. John Henke, Burlington; Mrs. Fredrik Leopold, Burlington; and Mrs. E. L. De Gowan and Prof. Elizabeth Halsey, Iowa City.

Practical Gifts At Kitchen Shower

With June upon us, the season of showers for the bride-to-be is now in full swing. Of the variety of showers now popular, none is more welcome than the kitchen shower. But keep in mind that at kitchen showers practical gifts are always first choice. Almost every bride needs plenty of cooking equipment, and she will especially appreciate gifts which will help make her meals a success.

On the inexpensive side are highly helpful gifts such as cooking thermometers, which take all the guesswork out of cooking. Depending on the budget, you can give the bride-to-be one or more thermometers. Among the most practical and useful are the new sanitary, stainless steel roast meat thermometer and a companion thermometer which can be used in making candy, jelly or frosting, and for deep fat frying.

Both these thermometers are available in the new, easy-to-read design which features a round, clocklike face. Another practical feature is the pointed stem on the roast meat thermometer which permits it to be inserted in the meat without making a preliminary hole with a skewer.

MEET THE MAN whose life you saved...

LADY... he's home again... whole again, thanks to your blood.

It was close for a while. Between the time he stopped a mortar fragment on some nameless Korean ridge and the time they gave him your blood at the field hospital... it could have gone the other way for him.

But your blood swung the balance. You should feel proud... mighty proud that like so many Americans... so many manicurists and milkmen... bankers, bakers and pretty homemakers... stenographers and steeplejacks... you, too, rolled up your sleeve... and gave your blood. Yes, lady... you earned that kiss.

What happened to that pint of blood you were going to give?

Watch for notice from your Red Cross for dates when Bloodmobile will be in town.

JACK BENDER'S COLUMN SPORTS LOG

GOOD-BY RED SOX—

Was in Chicago Saturday and Sunday watching the White Sox-Easton series and from that fleeting observation it seemed that the Red Sox are bound to drop out of contention before long.

And it looks like the White Sox may really have it now. The same thing seems to be wrong with Boston that caused the White Sox' downfall last year — no dependable RBI men, no clutch hitters. When Boston traded away two of the league's top men in that department, Walt Dropo and Don Lenhardt, to get George Kell and Hoot Evers, neither strong clutch men last year, they traded away their best chances for all current indications.

Lou Boudreau's men had plenty of chances to score in the series, but even when a long fly would have scored a run, an infield grounder was produced. Last year the White Sox had the league's top hitting team on basis of batting average, but they were far down in RBI column. Every team needs two or three consistent long ball threats. The Red Sox just don't have them now.

How about Vern Stephens or Clyde (The Clutch) Vollmer? Stephens has slowed down rapidly, he has only two homers all year and not many RBIs. His fielding is hurting too. In fact, he's so disgusted with himself that when he doesn't get a hit, which is often, he heaves his bat in disgust toward his own dugout as he runs to first.

For some reason Vollmer just isn't playing often enough to return to his hero form of 1951. It's tough to play your best when you don't play all of the time.

On the other hand, the White Sox seem to have that punch this year and could go all the way if they can start beating the Yankees now and then. The trade bringing them clutch-hitting Sam Mele, who batted in 92 runs last year, for Jim Busby, probably the top fielding center fielder in the league, has paid big dividends.

Mele has come through when needed, and, batting before Eddie Robinson and Sherm Lollar or Eddie Stewart, he helps for a dangerous one-two-three punch which the Go-Sox didn't have last year.

The main trouble right now seems to be a poor fielding outfield in contrast to the 1951 ball hawks. But their infield is the best in baseball. They have speed, great arms, and sticky fingers. It looks like the third place prediction given by most at the beginning of the year stands as a good bet.

This Jimmy Piersall, Boston's rookie shortstop-outfielder, has surely got the makings of a magnificent screwball.

He's in a fielding class with the aforementioned Busby when playing the outfield, making several fine catches in the series. These snags included Eddie Robinson's line drive to the right centerfield fence in Saturday's game and Chico Carrasquel's long liner in the ninth of the final game which would have meant two runs and a tie ball game.

Piersall's definitely an adequate hitter, although not a powerful one. But his actions most of the time when not down to the serious business of the play at the moment are really funny. Eventually, fans will probably get sick of them, but now they go over well.

When a rookie is greeted by boos from time to time in a visiting park, he's accomplished something.

Here are some examples — When he was driven to the dirt by one of Saul Rogovin's inside fast balls, he got up grinning and crossed himself. Then a couple of pitches later, he ducked back from another one but the ball hit his raised bat and blooped into right field (he's a right handed batter) for a bloody single. As he pulled up at first he stopped and again grinning at Rogovin, he stood at attention, placing his cap over his heart in an "in memory" position.

Another time when the fans groaned a ball-strike decision Piersall looked up and gave the fans a vehement "oh, yourself!" expression.

After making a long run to back up the centerfielder who caught the fly, he spread his arms airplane fashion, "bunked" and ran back to his position. He pulled a boner at bat — popping out on a bunt attempt — but when he returned to rightfield at the end of the inning, he doffed his cap and bowed to the booping approval of the fans.

Piersall's a good ball player all right, but the fans like color, too, and he gives them plenty of that, the by-laws.

Jack Dittmer is getting another chance to make good with the Braves now that Charley Grimm, his manager at Milwaukee this season, is the Braves' head man. He was hitting .350 when called up and I hope he can stick for several years, becoming the first Iowa alum to do this in a long, long time.

U.S. Woman Champ, 5 Other Americans Fall in British Meet

TROON, SCOTLAND (AP) — Dot Kirby, U.S. champion, and five other Americans failed to survive the first two rounds of the British Women's amateur golf championships tournament Monday as the field of 10 American entrants withered to four.

Mae Murray of Rutland, Vt., Claire Doran of Cleveland and Polly Riley and Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Ft. Worth, Tex., were the only U.S. women left in the play over the 6,500 yard seaside course.

Miss Kirby of Atlanta, Ga., was eliminated in the first round by Pat O'Sullivan of Orange, Conn., 3 and 2, but the New England girl joined her on the sidelines after a second round loss, 4 and 2, to Philomena Garvey of Ireland.

The British girls, who won their first Curtis cup victory over the U.S. nine days ago, were out to prove it was no mistake. All the American Curtis cup players, except Miss Kirby, sailed through the first round but four lost their second round matches.

Miss Murray had little trouble in eliminating her two English foes. After trouncing Mrs. Zara Bolton, 3 and 2 in the morning, she came back from lunch to rout Mrs. A. C. Allen, 6 and 4.

Miss Doran had to come from behind in the afternoon after trouncing Jean McCullough of Scotland, 6 and 5 in the first round. Trailing most of the way in her match with Jean Donald of Scotland, she won the 17th and halved the 18th to win, 1 up.

After an easy first round victory over Mrs. John Wylie of Scotland, 4 and 3, Miss Riley conquered Mrs. Alex Kyle of England, 3 and 1 in the afternoon.

Mrs. Goldthwaite, non-playing Curtis cup captain, drew a first round by and then whipped Mrs. Jean Murray of Scotland, 3 and 1. Grace De Moss of Corvallis, Ore., downed Mrs. John Beck of England, 1 up on the 19th in her first round match.

In the afternoon Miss De Moss fell before Jane Machin of England on the 19th hole. Marjorie Lindsay of Decatur, Ill., bowed to Elizabeth Price of England, 3 and 2, after defeating Mrs. John Morland of England, 3 and 2 in the opening round. Miss Price had clinched the Curtis cup June 7 by defeating Miss De Moss in the final singles.

Grand Slam Beats Cards

NEW YORK (AP) — Minute man Bobby Thomson came through in the clutch again Monday, slamming a grand slam home run in the ninth inning to give the New York Giants a dramatic 8-7 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Thomson, hitless in 17 previous times at bat, slammed rookie relief pitcher Willard Schmidt's first pitch over the left field roof just inside the foul line to clear the bases. The eleventh hour victory moved the Giants to within three games of Brooklyn's idle pace-setting Dodgers, and they owed it all to Thomson, just as they did when he smashed his historic homer to win the final 1951 playoff game against the Dodgers.

By coincidence, Monday's big hit in the clutch came with one out, just as there was one out when Thomson pulled one of Ralph Branca's pitches into the left field stands near the home run.

A fly by pinch hitter Bill Nicholson tied up the contest in a two-run sixth inning rally that knocked Pirate starter Ronnie Kline from the mound.

Jim Konstanty, the third pitcher for the Phils, took the victory, his third this season against one defeat. The loss was charged to Paul La Palme, who relieved Kline.

Steve Ridzik started for the Phils, gave up all the Pirate runs before he went to the showers in the sixth in favor of southpaw Ken Heintzelman. Heintzelman gave way to Nicholson who drove in the tying run.

The Cards broke into the run column with a pair of runs in the fifth at the expense of Monte Kennedy. They drove Kennedy out in favor of Sal Maglie in the sixth with two more runs to take a 4-3 lead.

Westrum's poke evened matters but the Red Birds came right back in the seventh with two more on a pair of hits and two errors. That drove Maglie to cover — for the fifth straight time — and former Card Max Lanier took over. Lanier ran into trouble in the ninth. The Cards nicked him for a run and loaded the bases with one out.

George Spencer hustled in and quickly subdued the rally, including Del Rice to ground into a doubleplay, the fifth of the game for the Giants.

Tops Qualifying in Western Open— Miss Rawls Medalist with 74

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — Betsy Rawls, relaxed sophomore pro with the Midas touch, was on the money mark again Monday with a medal-winning 74—one under par—to take the qualifying round of the 23rd Women's Western Open golf tournament.

The 22-year-old Austin, Tex., lass, already at the head of the 1952 pro class with $9,450, posted the only sub-par round over windswept Skokie Country club for a two-stroke margin in the battle for 32 berths in today's match play inaugural round.

Knotted at 76 were defending champion Patty Berg, seeking an unprecedented fifth round, and Louise Suggs, both pros.

A starting field of 125 matched strokes over Skokie's par 37-38-75.

The high caliber est will pay a professional winner $1,000 and a pro runner-up $500.

Two pros, Betty Jameson, 1942 Open champion, and Betty Kirk a perennial campaigner, plus amateur Bonnie Randolph, slim, pretty blonde from Columbus, O., were bracketed at 77.

3 Amateurs Post 7's
Mary Ann Villegas of New Orleans, winner of the 1952 Collegiate Women's tourney last weekend at Columbus, O., posted 78 as did two other formidable amateurs, Mary Lena Falk of Thomasville, Ga., and Mrs. Dwight Anagnoux of Hinsdale, Ill.

Qualifying limit was 88 at which three players deadlocked. Pro Shirley Spork of Detroit, however withdrew to turn her attention to a teaching job on the west coast that left a sudden death scrap between highly-rated amateur Barbara Romack of San Francisco and Mrs. Frank Fuller of Elgin, Ill. for the last qualifying berth.

Miss Romack fired a birdie on the first overtime hole, sinking a 4-foot putt, to eliminate Mrs. Fuller.

Eight pros and 24 amateurs thus advanced to match-play skirmishing.

Miss Rawls, who plays as though she doesn't have a care in the world, zipped over the par 37 first nine in 34 strokes.

On the par 38 back nine, however, Betsy needed a 40.

Miss Berg was out in 37 and took 39 on the way back.

'Rolfe Not to Blame For Tigers' Play— Salsinger Column

DETROIT (AP) — Sports Editor H.G. Salsinger of the Detroit News declared Monday that Manager Red Rolfe could not be blamed for the performance of the Detroit Tigers, American League cellar dwellers.

Salsinger's comments came in his daily column at a time when many fans were increasingly persistent in demands that Rolfe be replaced.

The veteran sports editor, long has been acknowledged as one of the persons closest to Tiger affairs.

"Rolfe cannot be blamed for what the players have failed to do," Salsinger wrote. "Perhaps he could have last year, but not this year."

"He has been patient and hopeful with a collapsing ball club, tolerant and considerate."

Salsinger said the Tiger players "thoroughly disliked" manager Red Rolfe last year but that "the same is not true this year."

Salsinger said that since the start of this season Rolfe has been a "changed man" and his handling of players has been "just the reverse" of a year ago.

Salsinger said it is "not likely" that Detroit could have done any better in the first two months of this season "under any other manager."

Salsinger asserted that "Rolfe cannot be blamed for what the players have failed to do . . ."

Sugar Ray After Another Title

By FRANK ECK

NEW YORK (AP) — It has been years since a good thin man fought a fair heavy man.

That's what Yankee stadium and theatre television fans will see when Ray Robinson tries to pry loose Joey Maxim's world light-heavyweight title on Monday night, June 23.

Maxim has the edge all around — except in the important items such as reach, fist, punch and boxing ability.

Both Have 72½" Reach
Both have a reach that stretches 72½ inches despite the fact that the 6-foot-1-inch Maxim is 2 inches taller than Sugar Ray, the pride of Harlem now that Joe Louis appears to have retired for good.

Robinson expects to scale 162, heaviest in his career. Maxim must weigh no more than 175, the limit for light-heavyweight title bouts. Last April 15th, when Robby stopped Rocky Graziano in three rounds in Chicago, he scaled 157½.

Chest measurements show Maxim with a 5-inch advantage in girth and 8½ inches when expanded. From the waist down, Maxim is beefier. The same holds true for the arms but in the fists Robinson holds a slight edge with a 11½-inch fist.

After 3d Crown
Come the night of Yankee Stadium's first light-heavyweight fight Maxim might think Robinson even has a bigger pair of hands.

If Robinson wins he will be the second fighter in modern times to have won three titles. Rob-Henry Armstrong won the feather, lightweight and welterweight titles. Years ago Bob Fitzsimmons was middleweight champion and heavyweight champion. He came out of retirement to take the light-heavy title.

Ex-Brave Skipper, Holmes, Officially With Dodgers Now

BROOKLYN (AP) — Tommy Holmes, deposed manager of the Boston Braves, was all smiles Monday as he officially became a Brooklyn Dodger.

Holmes signed as a pinch-hitter and utility outfielder with the National league leaders for the balance of the season, although it was reported the 34-year-old Brooklyn native and the Dodgers also have reached a player's agreement for 1953.

"I think I've got a few years left as a player," Holmes said after he had worked out Monday for a full hour in Ebbets field. "I feel too good at 34 and 183 pounds to manage in the minors."

Holmes, who compiled a .303 lifetime batting average during nine full campaigns with the Braves, was replaced as Braves' manager by Charley Grimm on May 31 after his team had lost a doubleheader in Ebbets field for their seventh and eighth straight setbacks at the hands of Brooklyn.

The Braves' officials gave "inexperience" as the reason for Holmes' firing.

Despite this, President Lou Perini of the Braves sought to have Holmes remain in the organization.

SUI Colonel to Teach at Cadet Camp

Lt. Col. Roy W. Arrowood will be training officer for over 150 ROTC cadets at Reese air force base, Tex. this summer. The 49-year-old lieutenant colonel is assistant professor of Air Science and Tactics at SUI.

The summer training at the Reese base will include orientation, flight planning, weapons and marksmanship, physical training, leadership, drill, exercise of command and function of base activities.

After graduation from Excelsior Springs high school, Col. Arrowood went to Warrensburg college, Warrensburg, Mo., where he got a B.S. degree. He then went to San Marcos Teachers college where he got his M.A. in supervision.

He was a school administrator until 1942 when he entered the army. Immediately he went to Officers training school and later to the Civil Affairs training school at the University of Virginia.

After he had studied Japanese at Northwestern university, Col. Arrowood went to Tokyo for 26 months. While there he served with the civil information and education section in general headquarters and the chief liaison section there.

Arrowood and his wife, the former Mamie Moriarity, lived at 1034 Marcy st., Iowa City, before Col. Arrowood's summer assignment.

Students, Teachers Receive Instruction At SUI Music Camp

Musical activities got into full swing Monday for the nearly 225 Iowa high school students attending SUI's all-state music camp in Iowa City.

Musical instructors who are also attending the camp being receiving instruction in the music education workshop, held in conjunction with the student-camp.

The students attended rehearsals for orchestra and were divided into red, white and blue bands. Individual ensemble and section rehearsals also got underway. Classes in baton twirling, music appreciation, reed work and dance band rehearsal also began functioning.

A supervised recreation program has been designed for the camp-students to occupy their leisure time.

Instructors who are attending the music education workshop began seminar and other workshop activities. Some of them are receiving two semester hours of graduate credit for the workshop session.

Arrowood Checks New Duties

LT. COL. ROY W. ARROWOOD (right), newly arrived training officer for the air ROTC summer camp to be held at Reese AFB, Tex., checks the regulations governing the activities of the camp with Lt. Col. Edward J. Culleton (left), 3560th pilot training wing comptroller and commanding officer of the summer camp. Air ROTC cadets attending the camp will receive 4 weeks of training.

Civil Defense Is Alerted to Begin Watch

WASHINGTON (AP) — Orders went out from the defense department Monday to watch the border skies 24 hours a day beginning July 14.

Hundreds of thousands of civilian defense workers were alerted to man their airplane-spotting stations on an around-the-clock basis next month to look for possible intruder planes.

A vigilant chain of volunteer ground observers will go on duty in 27 states, stretching north along the coast from North Carolina to the Canadian border and thence west to the Pacific coast and south to San Diego.

Maj. Gen. Frederic H. Smith, Jr., deputy director of the air defense command, told a news conference the 24-hour guard is essential because "The Soviets have had the capability for some time to attack us."

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, acting chief of staff for the air force, added this comment:

"Our intelligence people estimate that the Russians can launch today more than 400 TU-4's (four engine bombers) carrying enough atom and conventional type bombs to hit all of our metropolitan industrial target areas."

The skywatching program was decided on Monday at a conference of civil defense directors from all the states and territories.

Gen. Smith said the ground observer corps would augment the Canadian-American radar network, watching especially for planes flying below 5,000 feet, which are hard to pick up on radar.

3 to Air Program Over Station WSUI

An SUI music student and two university music faculty members will present a program of chamber music on this week's "Wednesday Evening Music Hour," to be broadcast by university station WSUI Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Donald McGinnis, clarinetist and student from Columbus, Ohio, will join music professor Hans Koelbel, violinist, and assistant music professor John Simms, piano, on the program.

The three will play Beethoven's "Trio in B Flat Major, Opus 11," and Brahms' "Trio in A Minor, Opus 114." Koelbel and Simms will offer Schubert's "Sonata Arpeggione."

The program will be broadcast from studio E of WSUI, located in the engineering building, and a studio audience is being formed.

Tax Revaluation Begins in Iowa City

Field men of the J. M. Clemmshaw company, of Cleveland, O., are in the first phase of making a revaluation of real estate for tax assessment purposes in Iowa City.

They are measuring the outside dimensions of buildings in the fourth ward. Work began May 21. Two teams working in ward four expect to continue measuring there for a week or 10 days.

Within the next two weeks another group will begin obtaining all necessary data on commercial property in the city. During that time they will check the inside of buildings, question owners on property income and seek other information, City Assessor Victor Belger, said Friday.

Accidents Result In $1,000 Damage

Two automobile accidents involving five cars resulted in damages in excess of $1,000 in Iowa City Monday morning.

No injuries were reported in either accident. The most serious accident happened when three cars collided about 7:45 a.m. at the intersection of Clinton and Davenport streets.

The second accident occurred when a car and a gasoline semi-truck trailer sideswiped as they started up from a stop sign.

Authorities Identify Body of Amana Man

The identity of a body discovered south of Iowa City Saturday was found today by county and city authorities to be Ernest Carr, 48, a laborer at the Amana farms at Homestead.

Funeral services and burial for Carr were held Saturday afternoon at Oakland cemetery here. Police said that Carr had been working on the Amana farms for about 20 years. It is believed that he had no relatives.

Identity was made by a shotgun found lying under Carr. It is believed that the death was a suicide.

The body was found about one-half mile west of the Sand Road south of the Gay locker plant.

Kerr Tells Labor Leaders Here GOP Conflict Will Aid Democrats Outlines Plan To Cut Down Auto Mishaps

Sen. Robert S. Kerr, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, spoke to a group of state labor leaders and party workers at a 7:30 breakfast here Monday.

Attending the breakfast were Mayor William J. Holland, William Summerwill, James Liek, Harry Shulman, and R. P. White, Iowa City and Mrs. Edith Burgess, Tipton and about 35 other persons.

He said he felt the Ike-Taft conflict will aid the Democratic cause.

Asked what he proposed to do about cutting down the high death toll on the highways, Kerr said he would

1. Work to improve the roads,
2. Educate the people in the various traffic rules and regulations and
3. Call for stricter enforcement of traffic rules and regulations.

Accompanying Kerr in his swing through the Hawkeye state were Carl V. Rice, Kansas City, Kans., Democratic national committeeman from the state, Grant MacFarland, Salt Lake City, Utah, Utah's state Democratic chair-Iowa Democratic chairman.

Kerr, an Oklahoma oil millionaire flew in Monday morning in his private plane and left after his brief address and meeting. He also attended a luncheon meeting in Des Moines and a dinner meeting in Sioux City.

In his Iowa City address, Kerr, said he was for repeal of the Taft-Hartley law, and he would vote to sustain the president's veto of the tideland's oil bill.

He said he would vote for the St. Lawrence waterway bill and he is flying back to Washington today to be in Washington to vote for it.

Air Patrol Searches For Illinois Couple Missing on Flight

DES MOINES (AP) — Civil Air Patrol planes from four midwest states continued their search Monday for a Danville, Ill., couple missing on a flight from Albert Lea, Minn., to Danville.

The couple, Nagle C. Humble and his wife Helen, have been unheard from since leaving Albert Lea Thursday in their yellow Fairchild airplane.

Capt. Scott Johnson of the fourth air rescue squadron, said a heavy concentration of aircraft was sent over southwestern Wisconsin Monday after a man reported hearing a plane circling over Seneca, Wis., last Thursday afternoon.

Lloyd Eddings, McGregor, Ia., flying over the area Sunday reported seeing a shiny object south of Bagley, Grant county, Wis. A thorough air search of the spot Monday failed to turn up anything, Johnson said.

CAP planes from Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois and Minnesota will go up again Tuesday, he said.

City Visiting Nurses Raise Cost of Calls

The Iowa City Visiting Nurses association has raised the charge of a one hour visit from $1.50 to $2, starting July 1, the association's board announced.

The increase was decided upon after a cost study revealed that each visit actually costs $2.55.

The board also granted Mrs. Paul Herrmann, director of the association, a two month leave of absence. During this time Mrs. B. W. Smith will be in charge of the nursing service with Mrs. James Osburn as her assistant.

Mrs. Leo Chopek will work part time during July and in August.

Bullet Fired Into Local Man's Car

Willard Spencer, 209 Main st., reported to police here Monday that a bullet struck his car as he was driving from Iowa City early Saturday.

Spencer said he had just left Iowa City when he felt something strike his car. When he arrived in Cedar Rapids he found a hole in the left rear fender, he said.

He reported the incident to Cedar Rapids police who found a .32 caliber bullet in the rear seat cushion.

Iowa City police are investigating the incident.

13 Iowa Cities Represented At Labor-Management Course

Labor representatives from 13 Iowa cities and Rock Island, Ill., convened at SUI Monday for a four-day short course in labor relations, economics, and law sponsored by the university's bureau of labor and management.

The conference is designed to explain to employees the basic economic and legal framework—the "ground rules"—for labor-management relations.

SUI faculty members are joining with visiting lecturers in conducting classroom meetings for the short course in University hall. Today the labor group will hear reports on the national labor relations act and the functions of the national labor relations board by C. E. Knapp, NLRB regional director, Minneapolis.

Walter L. Daykin, Iowa professor of labor economics, described the history of labor and labor law in America; Clarence M. Updegraff, professor of law, detailed the history of labor and labor legislation in Iowa, and Norman C. Meier, associate professor of psychology, reported on labor and public opinion at Monday's sessions.

The labor short course ends Thursday and is followed by the Labor-Management conference Friday and Saturday. Also sponsored by the bureau of labor and management, the conference will attract Iowa industrial officials as well as labor leaders for meetings on wage stabilization, labor-management relations and public interest, manufacturing, motor transportation, and farm safety.

Senate Committee OK's $1.5 Million For Keokuk Lock

KEOKUK, IA. (AP) — Rep. Thomas Martin (R-Ia.) announced Monday the senate committee on appropriations has approved money to start a Keokuk lock project.

The amount approved was $1.5 million as contained in President Truman's budget for river and harbors. The amount was eliminated earlier by a house committee.

The proposed new 1,200 foot lock would replace old, obsolete lock No. 19 at Keokuk. The present lock is only 400 feet long and is referred to here as a bottleneck to upper river traffic.

The proposed new lock has been before congress since 1930, has been approved many times, then turned down.

Surprise Strike Ties Up NYC Commuters

NEW YORK (AP) — The Long Island railroad, busiest passenger line in the nation, was struck Monday, stranding 150,000 commuters. They jammed themselves onto highways, buses and subways.

Thousands never got to work at all — unwilling to buck the frightening confusion of bumper-to-bumper highways, fume-reeking, overloaded buses and rush hour subways already jam packed beyond capacity.

The surprise strike of motorists and engineers started at 2 a.m. (Iowa time).

A Surprise To Commuters
Few commuters, who make up most of the bankrupt railroad's round trip total of 300,000 fares a day, were unaware they were stranded until they showed up at LIRR stations.

Federal mediators were trying to iron out the dispute over working conditions under a new national railroad agreement of last May 23.

Wages were not an issue. The union said it feared the elimination of many jobs.

Says Law Violated
The LIRR asked that President Truman be advised of the strike, which it branded "wholly unauthorized, a clear violation of the National Railway Labor act."

Federal mediator Ross Barr added that the strike of 360 members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers (Ind.) "looks like a more or less wildcat affair."

However, a union official said the strike was based on "a disagreement over operating rules, seniority and distinctions between freight and passenger service."

May Be More Strikes
In Cleveland, the Brotherhood's chief engineer, James Shields, said he had authorized the strike.

He claimed the LIRR was one of 64 roads not included in last May's national settlement. Shields said strikes would be called against others if necessary.

The LIRR fans out from Pennsylvania station and from Brooklyn, the main link for hundreds of thousands of people who live on Long Island but work or shop in New York city.

It operates 600 trains a day, some of them as far as Montauk Point on the eastern tip of the island, 125 miles from New York.

59 Law Graduates To Write Exams

Fifty-nine newly graduated law students began Monday to write Iowa bar examinations at the SUI college of law.

Under the supervision of Clarence Kading, first assistant attorney general and chairman of the Iowa board of law examiners, students will write examinations until Wednesday noon, after which the tests will be graded.

Oral examinations will be given Thursday morning, and the new lawyers will be sworn into the Iowa bar early that afternoon.

Scripps-Howard Papers Will Back Eisenhower

NEW YORK (AP)—The Scripps-Howard group, national newspaper chain, Monday put its 19 newspapers behind the presidential candidacy of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

One of the nation's biggest groups, Scripps-Howard lists itself as independent politically. Four years ago it backed Republican Thomas E. Dewey for president.

Ray Named Head Of Chest Campaign

Robert Ray, director of the institute of public affairs at SUI, Monday was named chairman of the 1953 Community Chest fund campaign in Iowa City.

He was named by the Community Chest board at a meeting of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce. Elbert Beaver, president of the board, made the announcement.

Ray succeeds Sig Nelson, chairman of this year's campaign.

SUI Astronomers Seek Meteor Data

Information on six meteors — one of them seen within the past week — is still being sought by astronomers at SUI.

According to Professor C. C. Wylie of the university department of mathematics and astronomy, the information is needed to enable him and his research assistants to complete a current study of meteor speed and direction.

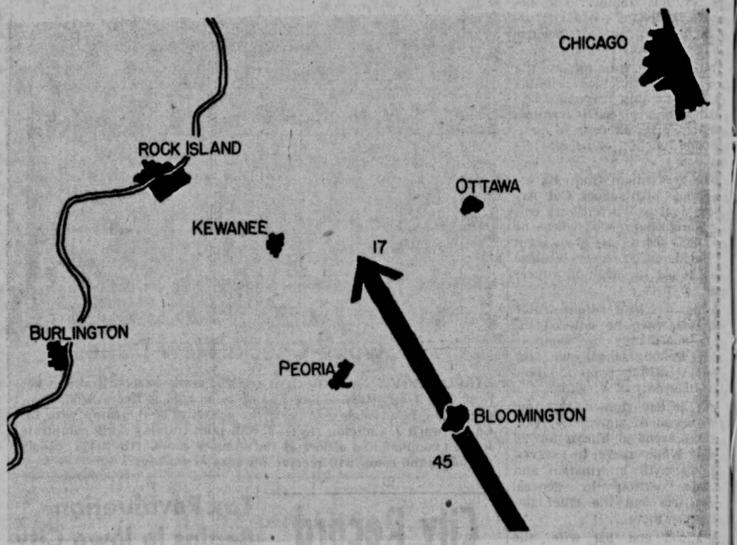

When Wylie and his staff get word of a meteor being observed, they interview persons who saw it, checking closely on time and measuring the angles of the path which the observer saw the meteor take through the sky.

Data Is Important
Data on the flight of meteors is especially pertinent at present, Wylie says, because much of it is comparable to current military experiments. Warren Thompson, Wylie's principal assistant during the past year, has calculated air resistance on five recently-observed meteors and found the "drag coefficients" to compare closely with those of supersonic firings of small cubes and spheres, using shaped charges, by naval technicians.

The most recent meteor to be observed in Iowa was seen June 7 at about 9 p.m. Observed in the southeastern sky, it reportedly was nearly as bright as a quarter moon.

The previous night, June 6, at approximately the same time, a meteor was reported from three different points in the Milwaukee, Wis., area. Yellow-orange in color, its size seemed to be approximately one-quarter of the moon's diameter. Wylie feels certain that it must have been observed from northern Illinois, since the Milwaukee observers saw it in the southern sky.

Only Few Reports
Only a few reports have been received from northern Illinois concerning a meteor observed on the morning of May 30. It was seen at approximately 2 a.m. A brilliant, "greenish" meteor

Path Which Meteor Followed May 12

ROUTE OF A METEOR OBSERVED May 12 over Illinois and Iowa. The meteor disintegrated at a height of 17 miles, over a point some 15 miles south of Princeton, Ill. It was first noticed coming out of the southeast, passing over Bloomington, Ill., at an estimated height of about 45 miles.

was reported seen from Ames and Maquoketa in Iowa and from Madison, Wis., just at midnight on May 27. The Maquoketa observer said it made the landscape as light as day during its passage.

Persons near Geneseo, Ill., and Portage, Wis., saw a "daylight" meteor at approximately 7 p.m. May 19.

Passes Bloomington
Numerous points in Iowa, Illinois and Wisconsin reported to Wylie on a meteor seen May 12 at 10 p.m. Attracting attention as far east as the Ohio-Indiana line and as far north as northern Michigan, the meteor reportedly cast a light in northern Illinois equal to a full moon. Coming out of the southeast, it passed over Bloomington, Ill., at a height of 45 miles.

After 40 Years — Italian Marries Neighbor — And 6000 Miles

HAZLETON, PA. (AP) — There was much trouble with arguments but Antonio Perera and Sophia Tombasco Imbric finally are married.

Forty years ago in Italy, the Pereras and the Tombascos arranged a match between Antonio and Sophia, but Tony, an independent lad, sailed for America instead. Here he met and married an American girl and settled down in Hazleton.

Ten years later, in 1920, new neighbors moved into a house down the street from where Antonio and his wife lived. They were Sophia and her Italian husband, Joseph Imbric. They had also come to make their home in America.

Perera's wife died 14 years ago and Sophia became a widow in 1950. On his death bed, her husband, Joseph, whispered a wish. "Marry Antonio," he said.

Antonio had similar thoughts.
