House Moves To Tentatively End Controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — A coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats routed administration forces in the house Wednesday and voted tentatively to end all wage and price controls July 31. The vote was 118 to 87. When it became clear they had lost command of the voting, President Truman's lieutenants called off further consideration of the controls bill Wednesday. They will rally their forces and try today to get wage and price controls back into the measure with a final roll call vote. There was no record made of how individual congressmen voted in Wednesday's tentative action.

Rent Will Remain

If the administration loses today's showdown, all that will remain of the controls bill will be rent curbs, allocations for scarce materials and a request that the President use the Taft-Hartley Act to stop the steel strike.

The house banking committee previously had stripped the bill of all consumer credit controls. Last Friday the house voted provisionally to lift price controls from almost all consumer goods and to abolish the wage stabilization board. These votes are also subject to final roll-call action.

The amendment to let price and wage controls die at the end of next month was sponsored by Rep. Graham Barden (D-N.C.). A few Republicans supported the administration when the question came up.

Act to Expire

The Defense Production Act, with all its control powers, will expire at midnight Monday unless congress acts to extend it.

Barden told the house he chose the July 31 date to allow a full month "to bundle up all their plans and petitions and allow them time to close up their office in an orderly way down there."

The senate has agreed to extend controls until next Feb. 28. So if the house votes to kill them today, a joint conference committee will be handed the task of trying to reconcile house and senate views in a compromise bill.

Taft Tries for Fine's Support

PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE SEN. ROBERT A. TAIT receives a congratulatory handshake from Pennsylvania's Governor Fine after Taft received word that he leads in the race for GOP delegate 483 to 405 over his chief opponent General Eisenhower. Although Fine has not as yet committed himself to either candidate, his backing in the Pennsylvania delegation is considered strong enough to be highly desired by both candidates.

Ike Hits 400-Delegate Mark But Trails Taft in GOP Race

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower passed the 400-mark for the first time Wednesday in the race for delegates to the Republican national convention and now has slightly more than two-thirds of the 604 votes required for nomination.

A new poll of Pennsylvania's possibly "crucial" 70-vote delegation shows Eisenhower has picked up a net gain of six votes over his chief rival, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

The five-star general still trails Taft in the red-hot national battle for delegates, however — and in Washington there was renewed speculation that the GOP convention might become hopelessly deadlocked. In that event, both Taft and Eisenhower might be shunted aside to make way for a "dark horse" compromise candidate.

The latest Associated Press tally, based on a new survey of the Pennsylvania delegation, shows Taft with a nation-wide total of 483 delegates to 405 for Eisenhower.

This is based on delegates pledged, instructed or willing to express a first ballot choice, and on candidate concessions.

After Tuesday's meeting with Taft and found a majority of them favor Eisenhower.

However, he said, he did not regard this as a swing to Eisenhower.

Gov. Fine Remains Silent

Fine himself still maintained a sphinx-like silence on his choice between Taft and Eisenhower. In

New Jersey Magistrate To Present 3d Lecture

Harold C. Kessinger, municipal judge of Ridgewood, N.J., will lecture on "How We Elect Our Presidents" on the south campus of the Iowa Memorial Union Monday at 8 p.m.

He will present the third of a series of summer lectures. In case of rain the lecture will be held in MacBride auditorium.

Kessinger was born in southern Illinois. He has been called "as droll as Will Rogers and as dynamic as Wendell Wilkie."

He received his education at Blackburn college, Northwestern university and the University of Chicago. He earned his way through the various institutions by working as a book salesman in high school and as the "Boy Orator of Chautauqua," through college appearing on the platform with the country's leading lecturers.

He has a background of editor, publisher, educator, bank president, world traveler and civic leader.

Kessinger is now serving his seventh year as municipal judge in Ridgewood, N. J. Following a term as district governor of Rotary International, he was elected director of zone five, the largest of all Rotary zones.

He is a member of the New Jersey Committee on Education in International Affairs and also of the state YMCA Committee on Youth and Government.

He has also been a president of the Chamber of Commerce, a member of the executive committee of the Boy Scouts and he has been active in the work of the Red Cross, Salvation Army and the Community Chest.

Kessinger scheduled a trans-continental lecture tour each winter and has been reported to have won a wide reputation for his unique style of interpretation and delivery.

The public is invited to attend the summer lectures.

Half U.S. Parboiled By Hot, Humid Air; Iowa to Be Cooler

Summer turned up the burners Wednesday and parboiled half the nation.

In Iowa City the mercury climbed to 92 degrees in the afternoon and the humidity was still 80 per cent at 9 p.m. Wednesday was the seventh day the temperature has climbed over 90 degrees here in June.

The weather bureau said Wednesday that cooler weather was moving into the state and should cover the area by today. Highs are expected to range from 75 in the northwest part of the state to 90 in the extreme southwest section.

The hot humid air covered a tremendous section of the U.S. It extended from the gulf of Mexico to the Great Lakes and from Texas to the Atlantic coast.

No quick, widespread relief was in sight.

A cool front stretched from far northern Michigan southwestward through Minnesota to the Texas panhandle. But the weather bureau said it was moving slowly in a southwestward direction.

Crops were burning up in Arkansas. It was the 33rd straight day without substantial rain in that state.

Detroit city officials drafting an ordinance curbing the use of water for air cooling systems and for sprinkling lawns.

Cooler conditions were forecast for Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota and upper Michigan.

Police Beat Communist Mobs In Anti-War Riots In Japan; U.S. General Hurt By Crowd

Research Unit To Be Headed By Hancher

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher has been named chairman of a new national committee to study problems of research and education, the American Council on Education announced today in Washington.

The nine-member committee will study the broad problems arising from the impact of government and industrial research programs on colleges and universities, according to council president Arthur S. Adams.

Saying that government-sponsored research contracts alone might exceed $150 million this year, Adams says the committee will study the relationships among various interested groups within individual schools and the correlation of practices among the institutions. It will also study the principles and practices of government and industrial organizations which sponsor research on the campus.

Hancher will call the committee together for its first meeting July 10 and 11.

Other members of the committee are President J. R. Killian Jr., Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Chancellor F. D. Murphy, Kansas university; T. P. Wright, vice-president of Cornell university; J. C. Morris, vice-president of Tulane university; L. R. Lund, comptroller of University of Minnesota; Vice-president J. H. Corley, University of California at Berkeley; Prof. R. F. Bacher, California Institute of Technology, and the Rev. J. B. Macelwane, St. Louis university.

Barber Mice Give Free Shaves

NEW YORK (AP) — Barber mice who shave other mice were described Wednesday in the Journal of Heredity.

The barbers give close shaves by eating all the whiskers off their companions. No haircuts, just shaves, for free. It's an inherited trait. They are born to be barbers.

One barber mouse ate the whiskers off a rat twice his size, with no objection from his big customer.

The study of this peculiar trait is described by Dr. Theodore S. Hauschka of the Institute for Cancer Research and Lankenau Hospital Research Institute, Philadelphia.

He breeds many different strains of mice in basic studies of mysteries of genetics, and of possible links between heredity and cancer.

Out of nearly 2,000 mice, 83 were barbers, he said. The barbers appeared in some strains of mice, but not in others.

The barber trade doesn't seem to stem from unusual hunger needs, Dr. Hauschka says.

There's no report of any barber mouse shaving a cat's whiskers.

Demonstrators Use Acid, Fire; 108 Arrested

TOKYO (THURSDAY) (AP) — Japanese police smashed Communist riots in Tokyo and Osaka Wednesday in a violent climax to Red demonstrations against the Korean war.

Police used tear gas and clubs against the Reds who hurled acid and fire bombs.

More than 60 police and 50 demonstrators were hurt.

Also injured were U.S. Brig. Gen. Carter W. Clarke — burned slightly by acid at Osaka; two American military policemen, and three Japanese newspapermen.

National police headquarters said 108 rioters were under arrest — 76 in Osaka and 32 in Tokyo.

The riots grew out of pro-Communist meetings by 400,000 Koreans throughout Japan on the second anniversary of the Korean war.

Anti-American banners were exhibited at Osaka, Japan's second-largest city. The violence in Tokyo seemed aimed at the government and against the war generally.

American military personnel in the Tokyo area were ordered to remain in their headquarters during the riot.

Petite French Divorcee Convicted of Burglary

CARSON CITY, NEV. (AP) — A petite French divorcee was convicted Wednesday of complicity in the $1,500,000 residential burglary of an eccentric millionaire — a married man who, she said, consented to the robbery in a "bedroom bargain."

A federal court jury of eight men and four women swiftly decided that Mrs. Jeanne D'Arc Michaud, 36, was "guilty as charged" of transporting $147,000 of the stolen property across state lines. She displayed no emotion.

The penalty could be as much as 5 to 10 years in federal prison.

Sentencing Delayed

Federal Judge Roger Foley referred the case to the probation officer for a report June 30. Sentencing was delayed until then.

The jury deliberated only 1 1/2 hours.

The question before the men and women of the jury was whether the peppery, tiny French divorcee had the "bedroom consent" of eccentric millionaire La Vere Redfield to steal his $1,500,000 safe.

That defense was offered by Mrs. Michaud from the witness stand. She spoke of herself as Redfield's sweetheart.

Redfield Denies

Redfield denied her accusation and her contention. But he was so indirect and indecisive in his answers that he stirred the wrath of Judge Foley.

The government had to serve a bench warrant on Redfield in order to get him into court to testify.

Bum Brakes Send Local Driver Over 'Obstacle Course'

Henry Goertz, 524 N. Governor st., was involved in a freak accident about 7 p.m. Wednesday.

Goertz was driving his car down the steep Market st. hill, near the Iowa Memorial Union, when he attempted to use the brakes to slow up. When he put his foot on the pedal, he found he had no brakes.

The car continued down the hill, over the curb, past several large piles of dirt, over a stone wall and ended up near the foot bridge in back of the Union.

Police said the brake fluid evidently had leaked out and caused the failure.

Music Camp Musicians To Perform Friday

When director Paul Van Bodegraven raises his baton Friday night at the Iowa Memorial Union, it will climax one of the most extensive musical experiments in Iowa history.

For responding to Van Bodegraven's baton will be more than 200 high school musicians assembled from all over Iowa for the first All-State Music camp here since before the war.

And for the young musicians, who average 15 years of age, the concert will highlight two weeks of intensive training and preparation.

"You bet it's going to be a good concert," piped up 15-year-old Bob Burns of Lake Park. "We've sure worked hard enough!"

And the Lake Park trumpeter wasn't exaggerating.

For the students are on a concentrated diet of music. Musical activities extend from eight in the morning until past eight in the evening.

Van Bodegraven, director of band and orchestra at New York university, heads a tutoring staff that includes specialists in every field of instrumental music.

The program ranges from private instruction to ensemble work to small bands, growing larger each step until all 214 gather each evening for the "mass band" rehearsal.

During the past two weeks, Iowa City has become thoroughly acquainted with the energetic students who are as easily identified by their shorts and multi-colored shirts as by the instruments that are their constant companions.

Every available space in Iowa City was pressed into service to meet rehearsal needs. Even town organizations, such as churches and public schools, provided space to ease the musical bulge.

"You take 24 boys and girls and try to find room for them to practice while you're also running a full university summer music pro-

Steel-helmeted Japanese Police Waited Quietly in a Ring around the Crowded Station

Shinjuku station lies along the route between downtown Tokyo and Tachikawa air base. U.S. military authorities promptly banned American vehicles from the area. U.S. military buildings were guarded closely during the night.

Osaka is 350 miles southwest of Tokyo.

General Clarke, commander of a U.S. logistical unit in southern Japan, was splattered by sulphuric acid hurled into his automobile by the mob. He continued the drive to his office.

Yalu Power Attack Will Endanger Peace Says Britain's Attlee

LONDON (AP) — Former Prime Minister Attlee charged Wednesday that the big American bombing of Yalu power plants in Korea carried the "conditions of total war" to Red China and endangered chances of an armistice.

"I think this is a profound mistake in psychology and it is not the first mistake in psychology that has been made in the course of these events," the Labor party leader told the house of commons in a full debate.

In reply, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden said he was "sorry" Britain had been kept in the dark on plans for the bombing but "We give our allies full support in it."

Eden said he would not like to estimate whether the action had lessened the chances of an armistice, adding "If this bombing is intolerable to the Communists they really have the remedy in their own hands. An armistice can be concluded tomorrow on terms which satisfy the honor and interests of both sides if the Communists want it."

World News Briefs

A Condensation of Late Developments

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman vetoed a bill revising all the immigration and naturalization laws Wednesday and denounced it as a threat to both America's strength at home and the nation's moral leadership for peace. The President said an overhaul is needed and there are a few good things in the bill but the features to which he objected make the price too high.

NEW YORK (AP) — A Newsweek magazine poll of 50 newspaper political writers shows that they expect Sen. Robert A. Taft to run for president against Gov. Adlai Stevenson. However, Taft holds only the narrowest of edges over Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as their choice to win the Republican nomination. Twenty-five picked Taft, 24 Eisenhower. In a similar poll May 26, Eisenhower was a heavy favorite 35-11 to beat Taft.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Police late Wednesday said the young Mexican lover of Mrs. Irene Thompson admitted strangling the attractive 32-year-old suburban St. Louis mother whose semi-nude body was found in a downtown hotel room here Sunday. Police Capt. John Buck, head of a St. Louis police district, announced the oral admission of 23-year-old Jose Romero, who surrendered earlier Wednesday on a warrant charging him with the slaying.

MONTEREY, CALIF. (AP) — Pfc. C. Deane Chase, who bawled out Gen. Mark Clark in a letter, got orders Wednesday assigning him to the Far East command—which General Clark heads. He's going over as a stenographer. Chase, a sergeant when he wrote the general, didn't have anything to say when he got his orders. Chase, 24, was convicted last Friday at a court-martial at Fort Ord of disrespect to a superior officer.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — United Auto Workers (CIO) leaders Wednesday called off strike plans for this week and agreed to federal conciliation in Washington on contracts covering 25,000 jet-producing workers at North American Aircraft corporation's four plants. Negotiations here ended after 28 hours of almost continuous bargaining. Despite a new company offer, both sides appeared no closer to a settlement.

"I take it the discussion has come to an end, professor!"

'Attlee Is Like A Burr'; Criticizes Churchill, U.S.

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press Foreign Editor
President Truman—once listed Clement Attlee as one of his problems, along with Germany, Russia, China.

Of course the President never seriously intended to rank the former British prime minister in such company, but the mid-appearing little Britisher has his moments as a burr under the saddle. Much of the time, like the burr, it's because he has been placed in position by someone else.

When Attlee was in office, he got in trouble over things like Egypt and money, Winston Churchill was pretty impatient with him. But Churchill was always careful about American feelings. Now that Churchill is in office, and plagued by things like money and the British relationship to the war in Korea, Attlee is critical — and he doesn't spare the U.S. at all.

Alexander Commends U.S.
When General Alexander, British defense minister, concluded his recent trip to Korea it looked as though he would be able to heal the breach between the U.S. and Britain over Korean policy.

armistice commission. Britishers who are sore about the handling of things just don't know what's going on. That's what the British defense minister said.

But Clement Attlee is in a bitter contest with Aneurin Bevan for control of the British labor (Socialist) party.

Bevan Sore at U.S.
Bevan and his radical left wingers — who are not Communists but who do not cavil over adopting parts of the Communist line at given moments — are sore at the U.S. and everybody else who puts the advancement of collective security ahead of pie in the sky. Attlee compromises with them at times to prevent a break within the party.

Attlee is acting mad now because the U.S. bombed the Yalu power plants in Korea without consulting Britain. He says he's afraid it might start a big war. Churchill can return at any time that the U.S. is acting in Korea under agreements made entirely by the former Attlee government. But he can't shut the Laborites up. The U.S. senate has no monopoly on free speech.

Americans can take the whole thing calmly if they remember the British internal political situation and stop to think that a lot of leaders in American politics are saying things this year which would be better left unsaid for the sake of international relations.

Campaign Chiefs Head For Chicago

CHICAGO, ILL. (CP) (AP) — About the most imposing array of campaign managers in history of national nominating conventions is set to descend on this city and set up headquarters for the final delegate drives in the Republican conclave opening July 7, and the Democratic conclave two weeks later.

Already these generalissimos have their scouts lining up hotel suites which they hope will become the "smoke-filled rooms" where legendarily the real decisions are made.

Ever since Marcus A. Hanna dedicated himself to marshaling the campaign of William McKinley and did it so effectively that he won overwhelmingly on the first ballot in 1896, at St. Louis, the role of the campaign manager has been firmly established.

Rivalry High
There is ample indication, however, that it never has been developed to a higher degree than in the present battle. The neck-and-neck race for pledged delegates between Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Sen. Robert A. Taft on the GOP side has resulted in record-breaking rival encampments of campaign leaders.

David S. Ingalls, the senator's cousin, in the tradition of Mark Hanna, has been energetically on the job for at least two years. A former assistant secretary of the navy for air, he is credited with being an acknowledged organizational expert.

With experience as the 1940 Taft manager, Ingalls has buttressed himself with other veteran campaigners, including John D. M. Hamilton, architect of the successful Alf M. London nomination drive in 1936.

Johnson Is Taft Chief
Victor Johnson is the Taft director of organization; Tom Coleman teams with Ingalls on specific delegate-getting skirmishes, and Ben E. Tate, Cincinnati industrialist, acts as chief analyst.

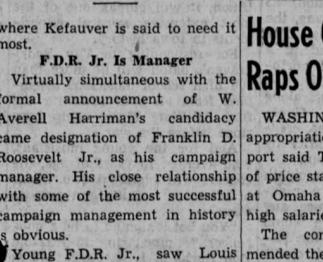

Young F.D.R. Jr., saw Louis Howe, the gnome-like former newspaperman, carefully "groom" his father for the big race, and then witnessed James A. Farley's classic strategy of lining up the delegates in 1932.

Farley's generalship routed another of the great convention managers of all time, John J. Raskob, who brought all his genius as an industrial organizer to the Al Smith campaign of 1928, and afterward to whittling down President Herbert Hoover in the post-1928 "between seasons" phase which almost brought Smith a second chance.

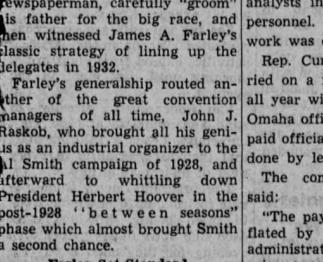

Farley Set Standard
Farley's tireless planning set a standard for the contemporary managers. They are setting up full-scale organizations. In action so far, have been "task forces" for the primaries, fund-raising chairmen, and heads of press relations and speaker's bureaus. Soon the actual floor managers and operators in the smoke-filled rooms will be lined up.

House Committee Raps Omaha OPS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A house appropriations subcommittee report said Tuesday that the office of price stabilization (OPS) office at Omaha was "topheavy with high salaried personnel."

The committee staff recommended the elimination of at least seven of the present 15 business analysts in favor of lower grade personnel. It said much of their work was clerical.

Rep. Curtis (R-Neb.) has carried on a running fire with OPS all year with his charges that the Omaha office has too many highly paid officials whose work could be done by lesser salaried clerks.

The committee's staff report said: "The payroll (at Omaha) is inflated by such employees as an administrative assistant to the price executive, whose activities bear little, if any, relationship to his officially designated duties, and an information specialist whose position appears superfluous."

Employees were hired, the report said, in apparent anticipation of commodity shortages and price measures, and "no attempt has been made to readjust its staffing pattern in this office to the existing work load."

Lincoln's Relative Observes Birthday

DAVENPORT, IA. (AP) — David Warren Hanks of Davenport, believed to be the oldest living relative of Abraham Lincoln, celebrated his 102d birthday Monday.

Hanks, who said he is a second cousin of the famous Civil War president, told a small gathering of friends at the nursing home where he now resides that his formula for long life is "clean living."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

JEROME HERMAN DEAN, better known as "Dizzy" to admiring baseball fans all over the country, is even better behind the mike at Yankee simulcasts than he was on the mound pitching for the old St. Louis Cardinals gas-house gang in the '30s—and higher praise than that hath no diamond enthusiast.

Ted Shane has dug up a Dizzy Dean anecdote I never heard before. Seems the Diz once bet a croxy two hits he could fan Joe DiMaggio's big brother, Vince, every time he faced him one afternoon. Vince obligingly whiffed his first three times up, but on his fourth trip to the plate, lifted a harmless little pop back of the plate. Dean hollered to his catcher, "Drop it, or I'm ruined!" Then he burned over the next pitch for strike three.

Dizzy Dean thinks he knows how Red Russia could be brought into line. "I'd get me a buncha bats and balls and learn them kids behind the Iron Curtain how to play baseball instead of totin' rifles and swallerin' lies. And if Joe Stallion ever learn how much dough there was in the concessions at a ball park, he'd quit communiem and get into a honest business." Copyright, 1952, by Bennett Cerf. ## French Reds Unload Cargo Of U.S. Arms

LA ROCHELLE, France — The Communist longshoremen of France are moving United States army cargoes across their docks with fewer interruptions than experienced in America.

That is the report of the man directing the U.S. army's port activities: Col. S. F. Hyde of Boston, commander of the 7703d Transportation Major Port (port battalion) with headquarters at Rochefort a few miles south of here.

In the 16 months of U.S. army operations in the French Atlantic ports — principally at Mordeaux and La Pallice — there have been only three or four brief strikes. Both the army and the dockers say these strikes were for higher wages, not for political reasons.

Bigger Work Load
"We are handling 2 1/2 times our planned work load," Colonel Hyde said. This means that 2 1/2 times more cargo is coming in than planned for this date. Cargo tonnage is a military secret, although the Communists who handle it must have a good idea.

"What do the Communist dockers think of the return of the U.S. army to France? Henri Poindron, a tough docker of La Pallice, said: "We were allies in the last war and we still are. That's all there is to it, nothing more. I'm a bulk of the Communists in France and with their "U.S. Go Home" signs. However, it seemed to be the general opinion of Poindron's fellow dockers.

68 Francs An Hour
The dockers are paid 68 francs (about 20 cents) an hour by the French company having a contract with the U.S. army. With various benefits the pay per hour actually is about 100 francs (about 29 cents). Overtime calls for a pay increase of 75 per cent over an eight hour day, and 100 per cent for work after midnight in addition to an eight hour day.

The average docker works 250 days a year, earning about $1,285. trucks."

Equally nightmarish is Charlotte Perkins Gilman's "The Yellow Wall Paper," which will make you abstain from gaudy wall paper and long for painted walls from now on.

For an evening of true horror, which is a rare experience for most of us, the book is a rewarding investment. Only one warning: refrain from its pages if the witching hour is near at hand.

ON THE CAMPUS SCENE
Prof. Hoyt, of the history faculty, interjected a slight anecdote into one of his lectures for an Ancient History course the other day which I consider worth passing on.

In an earlier class, Prof. Hoyt had patiently explained that early Greek civilization was advanced because of the work accomplished by the slaves, or "helots" as they were called. For the course final, one of his prize female pupils, probably a blonde, answered a question: "Early Greek civilization was enriched by the exploitation of thousands of harlots."

The very pretty Miss McGivern is in her second year of law school while acting as capable president of the Young Democrats organization. Although the lawyer business is restricted to some extent, she intends to plot a future in the field.

13 TALES for the "Witching Hour"

"But then, of course, you don't believe in ghosts! . . . Or do you?" is Philip Van Doren Stern's final blood-curdling comment in his introduction to a new pocket book of 13 "ghost" stories, all designed to "produce that superb quality of horror which enforces a general quivering of the nerves upon the reader."

The book, "Great Stories of Haunting and Horror," contains tales gathered with loving care by Van Stern. "America's foremost authority on ghosts, ghouls, and eerie things that move in the dark and are part of the night itself." The collection, probably the best accumulation of ghost stories that exists from the point of view of sheer literary merit, contains tales by Alexander Woolcott, Rudyard Kipling, Edith Wharton, Hugh Walpole, and Oliver Onions, among others.

Van Stern, elaborating upon the outgrowth of supernatural phenomena, says: "Ghost stories are fairy tales for grownups." The opening story, "The Beckoning Fair One," by Oliver Onions, although hardly comparable to a fairy tale, is one of the most terrifyingly effective of such pieces to be written and is the type of story that one wants to forget as soon as one has read.

Equally nightmarish is Charlotte Perkins Gilman's "The Yellow Wall Paper," which will make you abstain from gaudy wall paper and long for painted walls from now on.

House Follows Senate In Strike Halt Request

Southern Democrats, Republicans Join in Recommending T-H

WASHINGTON (AP) — The house voted to go along with the senate Wednesday in asking President Truman to use the Taft-Hartley law to halt the steel strike.

The President was silent, however, on whether he will heed the congressional request. Under T-H, Truman could apply for an 80-day court ban against continuing the shutdown of the nation's most basic industry.

The 24-day-old strike was cutting deeper into the nation's economy, including defense production. Besides the 650,000 striking CIO steelworkers, nearly 125,000 other workers were idle in industries depending on steel.

The number was growing fast, with heavy layoffs starting in the auto industry.

Both Parties Request
Most Republicans and almost all southern Democrats joined in voting 190 to 133 to request that Truman bring the T-H emergency strike machinery into play. The senate had previously voted the same request, 49 to 30.

The senate had acted on June 10 — the same day that the President had personally addressed a joint session of congress on the steel situation. Truman said congress could choose either of two courses — authorizing the seizure of the industry or the "Taft-Hartley approach."

Truman said he favored seizure but couldn't seize without sanction from congress since the supreme court had ruled his two-month-long seizure without a law was unconstitutional. Congress rejected several proposals to give him seizure power in steel.

Truman Isn't Committed
Truman, although asking congress to choose between seizure and the T-H law, never said he would follow the advice.

The T-H law says the President "may" invoke its provisions in big strikes, but it is not compulsory. The house defeated a proposal Wednesday to "direct" Truman to invoke T-H.

Truman always has opposed and fought the repeal of T-H law, passed five years ago over his veto. He has particularly wanted to avoid invoking T-H against his close political friend, President Philip Murray of the striking steelworkers. However, Truman now might take the position he has little choice now.

State Bookmobile Comes to SUI Campus

THE IOWA STATE EDUCATION ASSOCIATION'S BOOKMOBILE is visiting the SUI campus this week. This traveling library, featuring children's books, arrived here Wednesday and will stay through today. It is located in the rear of East hall on Jefferson ave. The people inspecting the books are (left to right) Dick Blowe, of the I.S.E.A. library service; Donna Long, of the SUI reading clinic, and Maydean Gettys, a liberal arts student from Ft. Madison.

SUI Summer Symphony Will Present Concert

The SUI summer session symphony orchestra, conducted by Philip G. Clapp, will present a concert at 8 p.m. Wednesday, July 2, in the Iowa Memorial Union lounge.

The concert is one of the featured musical presentations to be offered during the 1952 Fine Arts festival at the university.

Included in the program will be Moussorgski's "Introduction to the opera, Khovantchina"; Tchaikovsky's "Variations on Suite No. 3, Opus 55, and Hergiv's "Symphony in E Minor."

The concert will mark the first performance of the selection by James E. Waery, an Iowa City sophomore. Another university composer, Richard Hergiv, assistant professor of music, will conduct the first complete performance of his symphony, although the finale was broadcast over an NBC program in 1948.

Faculty, students and the public are invited to attend the Wednesday evening performance. Free tickets will be available at the Memorial Union desk beginning Saturday until the concert.

The concert will be broadcast over university station WSUI.

PRICES LOWERED
WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has taken controls off the prices armored car companies can charge for transporting and guarding money. The office of price stabilization said lifting these controls will have "little or no significance in the cost-of-living."

Iowa City Boy Gets $2,500 In Damages

District Judge Harold D. Evans ordered Tuesday that the Koss Construction company of Des Moines pay $2,500 to Allan Bream of Iowa City. Young Bream was injured in an accident on highway 1 southwest of here on July 21, 1951.

The petition charged the construction company with negligence in not providing proper warning devices near a road barrier. At the time of the accident Bream was a passenger in a car driven by William D. Fuhrmeister Jr., of Iowa City. The vehicle struck a barricade erected on the highway by the construction company.

Young Fuhrmeister was awarded a judgment of $1,700 in district court on June 16, as a result of a suit brought against the Koss company.

Magazine Features SUI Art Graduate

Sarah Sherman, a graduate of SUI's art department, is one of several young artists featured in an article appearing in the July issue of Mademoiselle.

Dealing with the artists' problem of supplementing their incomes, the article contains the observations of a number of painters and sculptors "who have become known while still young."

According to the story, Miss Sherman's paintings are being recognized in New York after her first showing won the young artists' competition in 1950.

Miss Sherman received her master's degree in fine art at SUI in 1945. She was recently awarded a Fulbright scholarship to study art in Italy.

SUI Professor Receives Grant to Study Finance

Gilbert P. Maynard, associate professor of accounting at SUI, has been awarded a summer fellowship by the joint Committee on Education for Corporate Finance Research in New York.

He will join nine other college teachers from all sections of the country in a three-week study of the New York stock and curb exchanges as well as securities firms. Maynard hopes to begin his study August 11.

The program is planned to provide the fellowship holders with an understanding of the organization of the financial district by enabling them to watch the day-to-day operations of several types of securities firms.

The fellowships are offered annually by the committee in the belief that they will lead to an interchange of ideas and to research which will benefit the fields of both finance and education.

ENLISTMENT BACKFIRES
LOUISVILLE, KY. (AP) — Oscar B. Decker, 22, tried to reenlist in the army. But he used blue ink instead of black, the FBI says, and wound up in jail Wednesday. He is charged with forging a government document. The FBI said that Decker, whose original discharge was labeled undesirable, presented a forged discharge certificate.

Maxim Gets TKO In 103-Degree Heat

Temperature Forces Ref to Quit in 11th

NEW YORK (AP) — Joey Maxim dramatically saved his world light heavyweight title Wednesday night, after taking an early round beating, when Sugar Ray Robinson was unable to come out for the 14th round of their title bout in the steaming 103-degree heat of Yankee stadium.

Reelin to his corner in sheer exhaustion after the 13th, Robinson's bid for ring immortality as a triple champion ended on his stool in his own corner, a technical knockout victim. It was the first time in the brilliant 137-bout career of Robinson that the Harlem sugar dandy had been stopped.

The soggy sweatbox that was Yankee stadium had already exacted its toll of referee Ruby Goldstein in the first 10 rounds

ROBINSON HAD BIG LEAD

NEW YORK (AP) — Score cards for the Joey Maxim-Sugar Ray Robinson light heavyweight title fight could not be located immediately.

The official in charge of the cards said he passed them on to another official who apparently left Yankee stadium with them, but Judge Harold Barnes, one of the three officials, said he had Robinson ahead, 10 rounds to 3, after the 13th. The Associated Press score card also had Robinson in front, 9-3-1.

of the struggle before a whopping shirt-sleeved crowd. Overcome by the heat, Goldstein had to give way to sub-referee Ray Miller in the 11th.

The heat and the 15 1/2 pounds he gave away to pal Joey from Cleveland suddenly caught up with Robinson in the 13th. The crowd was stunned when Sugar Ray, the sure footed dancing master of the first 10 rounds, fell flat on his face in the 13th as he threw a wild haymaker right. The sight of Robinson on his face from a missed punch was an indication of his desperate plight.

Robinson Collapses in 13th
As the 13th ended, he collapsed against the ropes near a neutral corner and had to be dragged to his own stool.

Dr. Alexander Schiff, ringside physician, climbed into the ring and asked Robinson, "Can you go on?"

The middleweight champion replied, "I can't get up on my feet. I'm all in."

Dr. Schiff then signalled referee Miller it was all over on Robinson's own word.

Dr. Schiff said "Robinson suffered from heat exhaustion similar to that which effected referee Goldstein early in the fight."

Robinson was an artist of perfection in the early stages and it looked like he would laugh off the weight advantage the 30-year-old Maxim held, but it finally caught up with him.

Ray Takes Early Lead
Weighing only 157 1/2 to Maxim's 173 in a second weigh-in for this bout that was postponed 48 hours because of rain, Sugar Ray out-punched Maxim to pile up a wide early lead. Time after time he danced into the attack with his stinging combinations and slipped away from Maxim's jabs.

Under New York rules it was listed as a 14-round TKO.

Davey Stops Vejar in 5th

DETROIT (AP) — Chuck Davey, fleet-footed scholar of pro boxing, knocked out young Chico Vejar in the fifth round of their scheduled 10-round welterweight scrap at Olympia stadium Wednesday night with a barrage of body blows. Davey, 147 1/2, flattened Vejar 149 1/2, at 1:58 of the televised battle.

Davey, with a cheering section from his alma mater of Michigan State, pounded New York university student Vejar with a left to the body that doubled Vejar up at 1 minute of the round.

Davey, who held a slight edge at that point, chased his dazed foe around the ring and finally dropped him.

Davey appeared as fast as he had in his May 7 decision over Vejar at Chicago. His speed and bothersome right jabs to the head won him the first two rounds and gained an even split in the fourth. Vejar took the third round.

Missed This One—But Not Title

JIM TURNESA, Briarcliff Manor, N.Y., appears to be trying to beat the ball into the cup during play in the national PGA golf tournament at Louisville, Ky., Wednesday. His antics were unavailing, and the putt missed. It turned out that it wasn't needed, however, as Turnesa went on to win the crown from Chick Harbert, 1-up.

Turnesa Snares PGA Crown on 36th Hole

LOUISVILLE (AP)—Tight-lipped little Jim Turnesa came charging from behind with a blazing pitter Wednesday to whip Melvin (Chick) Harbert, one up, for the PGA golf championship.

The 39-year-old son of an immigrant Italian greenskeeper won on the 36th hole when Harbert, bull-shouldered pro from Northville, Mich., poked his drive into an almost unplayable lie under an evergreen tree on the left of the fairway.

Harbert had to crawl under the tree and chip into the fairway. It took him three blows to reach the green and Turnesa, down the middle on the carpet, won with a steady, par four.

It was an ironic ending for Harbert, who as a veritable links magician had scrambled from trees, roughs and deep sand to pile up a three-hole lead at the end of the morning round and hold his advantage until the 32nd hole.

It was there that Turnesa pulled even with a birdie three after sinking an eight-foot putt. Then the two antagonists went down the wire, stroke for stroke, until the final hole.

Harbert missed two excellent opportunities to recapture control of the match when he flunked off five and eight foot putts on the 34th and 35th holes.

Turnesa Oldest Winner
Turnesa became the oldest man in history to capture the PGA championship. He is 39 years and six months old. Sam Snead, the previous oldest, was a month over 39 when he prevailed a year ago. The defeat was a second heart-

Pro Football Season To Open Sept. 28

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The National Football League will open its 1952 season on Sunday, Sept. 28, with games in Green Bay, San Francisco, Cleveland, Dallas and Pittsburgh.

NFL Commissioner Bert Bell announced Wednesday that a night game in Chicago, Sept. 29, between the Washington Redskins and Chicago Cardinals would complete the first series of games in the league's 33rd season.

On that first Sunday, the Chicago Bears will be at Green Bay; Detroit at San Francisco; Los Angeles at Cleveland; New York Giants at Dallas and Philadelphia at Pittsburgh. The game at Dallas will mark the debut of the Texas team in the NFL. Dallas took over the franchise of the defunct New York Yanks.

In 12 teams, six in each of the American and National conferences, will play a total of 72 games during the season which ends on Dec. 14. The championship game, to be played in the home city of the American conference winner, is scheduled for Dec. 21, barring playoffs for conference titles.

Cavarretta Sparks Teammates; Cubs End Losing Streak, 4-1

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Manager Phil Cavarretta inserted himself into the Chicago Cubs lineup at first base in desperation and the strategy paid off as the Cubs downed the Philadelphia Phillies 4 to 1 to end a nine-game losing streak.

Cavarretta had only one hit, an infield safety, but he seemed to give the floundering Cubs enough spirit to pull them out of the doldrums. The Phillies' Gran Hamner contributed a pair of costly errors that permitted two Chicago runs to cross the plate.

Starter Bob Kelly and reliefer Dutch Leonard helped the Cubs' cause by limiting the Phillies to five hits.

Dodgers Clip Cards

BROOKLYN (AP) — Carl Erskine, who hurled a no-hit, no-run game in his previous start, was reached for eight hits Wednesday but hurled the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 3-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Brooklyn obtained only four hits off Gerry Staley, but one was a home run by Roy Campanella which provided all the runs. The slugging catcher smacked his 10th round tripper after a walk to Billy Cox and a single by Jackie Robinson in the fourth inning.

Erskine walked only one batter as he registered his seventh victory against one defeat.

Stan Musial, singled in his first time at bat to stretch his hitting streak through 22 straight games.

Braves 5, Pirates 2

BOSTON (AP) — The combination of Max Surkont's five-hit pitching and Sid Gordon's slugging Wednesday enabled the Boston Braves to sweep a three-game series from the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-2.

Gordon's 12th homer of the season off Howie Pollet broke a 2-2 tie in the sixth inning. Gordon also stroked a double and a single while pacing the Tribesmen's 11-hit attack that resulted in Pollet's eighth setback against two victories.

Barnes, Kroth Lose In NCAA Tennis Meet

EVANSTON, ILL. (AP) — California's Rupert and Rufe Ricksen defeated Norman Barnes and Roger Kroth of SUI, 6-1, 7-5, Wednesday in second round doubles play in the NCAA tennis tournament here.

Barnes, Big Ten singles champion, was eliminated Tuesday in singles competition, 6-1, 6-3, by Don Kaiser of Miami. Kroth also lost in the singles, 3-6, 6-0, 6-3, to Roger Coad of Kansas State.

U.C.L.A. jumped into the favorites role Wednesday by advancing three men to today's fourth round in the singles and sending both its doubles teams into the quarterfinals.

Nats Slip By ChiSox Again

CHICAGO (AP) — The Washington Senators virtually strolled to a 10th inning, 9-6, victory over Chicago Wednesday, sweeping their third straight and capturing fourth spot in the American league from the White Sox.

The Nats had two four-run innings, the third in which Gil Coan's triple and Jackie Jensen's homer produced the runs, and the 10th in which the fourth Sox pitcher, Marv Grissom, got wild and practically handed the win to Washington with some shoddy support.

Tom Ferrick, third of four Washington hurlers, was the winner, his third win against two losses.

The Senators moved into fourth spot with a .533 percentage on a 32-38 record, while the White Sox dropped to fifth with .530 on 35-31.

Cleveland Loses, 11-9

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Philadelphia Athletics came from behind with a six-run burst in the eighth inning to whip the Cleveland Indians Wednesday, 11-9, before a heat-wilted crowd of 6,261.

They scored all six runs after Mike Garcia replaced Bob Lemon in the eighth inning to whip the Cleveland Indians Wednesday, 11-9, before a heat-wilted crowd of 6,261.

The victory was credited to Harry Byrd, who hurled two-thirds of an inning after replacing George Kellner in the seventh.

Browns Slap Yanks, 10-9, as 'Ol Satch' Saves Game in 9th

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bob Nieman boosted his stock as a candidate for rookie of the year with an eighth-inning home run that gave the St. Louis Browns a 10-9 verdict over the New York Yankees Wednesday.

The 24-year-old outfielder's game-winning blast was off Bob Hogue, fourth Yankee pitcher, with none on and two out. Nieman also drove in Bob Young with a double that tied the score 9-9 in the sixth.

Satch Paige went to the rescue of Gene Bearden in the ninth. Giving up no hits after taking over with none out and a 3-0 count on pinch batter Johnny Sain. He fanned Sain on three pitches.

BoSox Dump Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — George Kell and Hoot Evers of the Boston Red Sox each battered a home run down the throats of their former Detroit Tiger teammates to hike the BoSox back into second place in the American league with a 10-3 victory over the Tigers Wednesday.

Giants Sweep Reds

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Giants took a 3-2 decision from the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday to make a sweep of the three game series and remain four games behind the pace-setting Brooklyn Dodgers.

Alive today!

...like so many other Americans who went to their doctors at the first sign of one of cancer's danger signals.

By showing Americans what they can do to protect themselves and their families against cancer, the American Cancer Society is saving thousands of lives today. By supporting science and medicine in the search for the causes and cures of cancer, the Society hopes to save countless more tomorrow. Do you know the seven common danger signals that may mean cancer: (1) any sore that does not heal (2) a lump or thickening, in the breast or elsewhere (3) unusual bleeding or discharge (4) any change in a wart or mole (5) persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing (6) persistent hoarseness or cough (7) any change in normal bowel habits.

To guard yourself, and those you love, against cancer, call the nearest office of the American Cancer Society or address your inquiry to "Cancer" in care of your local Post Office.
