Partly cloudy with scattered showers and somewhat warmer today. Partly cloudy and continued hot Thursday. High today, 96; low, 64. High Tuesday, 88; low, 63.

Texan Ike Supporters Move to Chicago

Taft Wins Most of Florida's Votes; Radio, TV Barred from Hearings

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio nailed down most of the 18-vote Florida delegation Tuesday in the first victory in the crucial free-for-all over the 72 disputed delegates to next week's Republican convention.

Shortly afterward the Republican national committee, apparently under control of Taft forces, banged the door on television, radio and pictures of any kind at its all-important hearing on delegate contests.

The Florida decision left contests involving 6 states and 54 convention votes still to be processed by the national committee. Georgia, with 4 out of 17 votes tied up in disputes, is first in line today.

Texas with 38 ballots is in the windup spot for later in the week.

Ike Could Appeal

Backers of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower showed no immediate inclination to carry the Florida case any further, but said they could appeal to the convention credential committee and then the convention itself.

What the national committee did was to decide that a "regular" Florida delegation should be seated when the convention raises the curtain next Monday.

It voted unanimously to accredit a delegation selected by the Florida state executive committee. A rival slate was selected in district and state conventions called by a minority group of the executive committee.

14 Votes for Taft

Both groups are instructed but the 18-member "regular" delegation is reported ready to cast at least 14 votes for Taft.

Regarding Florida, Taft said simply he was pleased over the outcome. One of his top leaders said "it came out as we expected."

Nevertheless, it would have been a setback for Taft had the decision gone the other way.

Concert to Feature Student Compositions

Highlighting tonight's concert by the SUI summer session symphony orchestra will be "first performances" of compositions by a university student and a member of the music department.

"Processional Prelude" by James Waery, Iowa City sophomore, and "Symphony in E Minor" by Richard Hervig, assistant professor of music, will be presented along with selections from the works of Tchaikovsky and Khovantchina.

A graduate of City high school in Iowa City, Waery played the cello, tuba and timpani in high school, and won first place with a tuba solo at the state contest in 1946. While serving in the marine corps, he was director of the ship's choir.

Born in Story City, Hervig attended grade, high school and college in South Dakota, but returned to the university to receive his M.A. degree.

World News Briefs
 A Condensation of Late Developments

SEOUL (WEDNESDAY) (AP)—Two Allied raiding parties punched into Communist positions on the Western Korean front Tuesday but the soggy battleline was generally quiet.

B-26 light bombers made 25 close support missions on the battlefield, but rain and low clouds hampered air strikes at supply lines.

There still was no Eighth army estimate of Communist casualties in Monday night's sharp fighting on Heartbreak Ridge in Eastern Korea.

MUNSAN, KOREA (WEDNESDAY) (AP) — The Communists asked for and got a 24-hour recess in the Korean truce talks today on the heels of a painstaking Allied approach, designed to break the long deadlock.

The Reds have no reason for the delay. Some observers expressed the opinion that the Communist wanted more time to study a lengthy review of the prisoner exchange problem given Tuesday by the Allies.

CONCORD, MASS. (AP) — Thirty-four tough prisoners flouted at Concord state reformatory Tuesday but surrendered meekly after holding two instructors and a guard hostages for nearly three hours behind barricaded doors of a store house.

The instructors and guard were released unharmed before the prisoners began pouring out of the store house to return to their cells.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The security council rejected 10-1 Tuesday Russia's demand to invite Communist China and North Korea into debate here on an American resolution for impartial investigation of Red germ warfare charges. The Soviet Union promptly declared it would not take part in the discussion and would veto the American proposal.

American delegate Ernest A. Gross, speaking slowly and emphatically, accused Soviet delegate Jacob A. Malik of pulling a "sit down strike."

Bulletin

NEW YORK (WEDNESDAY) (AP) — A radio writers' union ordered a strike against three major networks early this morning, threatening coverage of the forthcoming political conventions in Chicago.

The strike was called by the Radio Writers Guild, an independent union belonging to the Authors League of America, against the American, Columbia, and National Broadcasting Co. networks.

The guild represents staff news, continuity and dramatic writers. Only 67 writers are directly involved. But, the union said, they will be backed up by more than 1,200 other guild members and by members of several other unions.

Graham Grove, head of the guild's negotiators, said picket lines would be set up immediately in New York.

Picketing will begin in Chicago as soon as arrangements are completed, he said, adding: "It's going to hit the conventions and hit them hard."

7 Get Leaves As 4 Resign From Faculty

The state board of education has accepted the resignations of four SUI faculty members and granted leaves of absence to seven others, according to SUI President Virgil M. Hancher.

Faculty members whose resignations are Dr. E. J. Boyd, associate professor of pathology in the college of medicine, effective June 30; Edith T. Baikie, assistant professor and chief of research in the institute of public affairs, effective Aug. 1; James E. Roohan, assistant professor of history in the college of liberal arts, effective June 10, and David W. Day, assistant professor and assistant director of the bureau of business and economic research, effective July 1.

Cullen Granted Leave

Dr. Stuart C. Cullen, professor and chairman of anesthesiology in the college of medicine's department of surgery, was granted a leave of absence during February and March, 1953. Dr. Cullen will participate in a medical mission to India sponsored by the World Health organization and the Unitarian Service committee.

Prof. Paul Engle of the department of English was granted a leave of absence extending from Sept. 1 through May 31, 1953, to accept a Ford Foundation fellowship. Engle will visit several Eastern universities doing work in creative writing, and will devote time to the writing of a new book.

The school of religion's Prof. Marcus Bach was granted a year's leave of absence beginning Sept. 1 to enable him to go to Africa for conference with Dr. Albert Schweitzer, noted Christian leader.

Boone Planning Picnic For Ike

BOONE (AP) — A picnic dinner of corn-on-the-cob and fried chicken is planned for the "old fashioned Fourth of July" visit of General and Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower to Boone Friday afternoon.

Don G. Williams, president of the Boone Chamber of Commerce, said final arrangements call for the GOP presidential contender to arrive in Boone by special train at 12:45 p.m. and remain until nearly 4:30 p.m. when he will go on to Ames for TV and personal appearances.

The picnic in McHose park for the Eisenhowers and their party of about 50 persons is being arranged at the general's personal request, Williams said.

After the picnic dinner, the candidate will make a brief, informal talk to which all Iowans are invited, Williams said.

Boone is the birthplace of Mrs. Eisenhower, and during the stop-over she will revisit some of the scenes of her childhood. They also will visit the home of Mrs. Eisenhower's uncle, Joel Carlson.

Members of the Iowa Republican farm policy committee headed by Harold McKinley of St. Ansgar are being personally invited to meet with Eisenhower at Boone.

Eisenhower Rally To Be Held Tonight In Community Hall

A "Nominate Eisenhower" rally will be held by his Johnson county Republican supporters at 8 p.m. today in the Community building.

Iowa Eisenhower-for-president committee chairman E. R. Hicklin will speak. Hicklin, a Wapello attorney, is a former state senator.

Candidates for county offices will be special guests. They will be introduced by County Atty. William Meardon, who will be master of ceremonies.

The campaign plan is part of the national Eisenhower-for-president plan. The Iowa Eisenhower committee is headed by David Stanley, SUI law student and the Johnson county unit is headed by Mrs. E. L. DeGowin, 1203 Friendly ave.

Assisting Mrs. DeGowin are Mr. L. G. Lawyer, Mrs. Kenneth Gibson, Mrs. Claudia Day, Mrs. Wayne Deegan, Mrs. Clinton Janney, Mrs. Paul Vermillion, Mrs. George Horner, Robert Edberg, and Mrs. Amos Kelso, all of Iowa City.

Also Mrs. Jack Barrows, Coralville; Mrs. E. O. Moss, University Heights; Douglas Spear, Oakdale; Mrs. Clyde Smith and Mrs. Ralph Bihlin, Tiffin; Mrs. Mable Horn, West Branch; Alfred Patton and Richard Greenwald, Solon; Ted Specht and Eldon Cook, Oxford; and I. B. Meyers of North Liberty.

Post-Convention Revolt Threatened By Byrnes

'Twin' Rats Show Hormone Effects

MAN-MADE SIAMESE TWIN RATS produced in SUI's zoology labs for research in inter-relationships of hormones are observed by Saylo Munemitsu, G. Westminister, Calif. Several hormone experiments are being conducted on campus under the direction of Dr. Emil Witschi, zoology professor. The rats are joined so that their blood circulates in a common stream through each other's systems, enabling researchers to find out how the body processes are influenced by internal secretions.

Hormone Action in Rats Studied by Zoologists

The rat population in the loft of SUI's zoology annex may give out with answers to some of the mysteries of the role of hormones in the life cycle of animals.

The rats, properly caged, are used in work directed by Dr. Emil Witschi, zoology professor who has studied extensively the effects of hormones, those body juices which regulate such important life processes as growth and metabolism.

Saylo Munemitsu, G. Westminister, Calif., working toward a doctorate here, assists Dr. Witschi in research on the effects of gonadotropic hormones on pairs of rats joined so that a common blood stream serves them both. Gonadotropic hormones control an animal's sexual characteristics, making females feminine and males masculine.

The common blood stream coursing through the bodies of the man-made pseudo-twins definitely causes physical reactions that would not occur in single rats, Munemitsu says.

For example, when pregnant and non-pregnant co-twins are joined, the non-pregnant one assumes a pseudo-pregnant condition, all because of hormones secreted into the blood by the expectant mother.

Miscarriage by a pregnant twin can occur if the delicate hormone balance is upset when she is joined to a non-pregnant twin who has been castrated.

When a castrated male is joined to a normal male, the first one can get the gonadotropic hormone he needs from the supply secreted into their common blood stream by his partner.

Once joined, the rats can lead an almost normal existence, each eating and drinking as he desires. They soon get accustomed to their artificial Siamese twin and both have a good chance of living a normal life span to the age of about three years.

The experiments of interchange of blood usually begins when the rats are 30 days old, equivalent

Dixiecrats May Split On Civil Rights Issue

HOUSTON, TEX. (AP) — Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina brought out into the open Tuesday the virulent threat of a southern revolt against any Democratic presidential nominee who supports President Truman's civil rights program.

SUI to Apply For TV Outlet

SUI plans to file an application for an educational TV channel before the deadline in July, 1953, President Virgil M. Hancher said Tuesday.

The question came up Tuesday when the Federal Communications commission (FCC) began sorting out 315 applications for new TV outlets, planning to release some before the end of the month.

Hancher said SUI had applied previously but the application was invalidated when the FCC changed the channel allocated to Iowa City from channel 2 to channel 12.

Channel 12 is on a very high frequency (VHF) band reserved for educational station use by the commission on April 13. At that time 2,052 commercial and educational channels were allocated across the nation.

The FCC's action increased the present 12 channels to a total of 82. Present owners of sets without a VHF band will be able to tune in the new channels by adding converter units to their sets. Many late model sets have built-in sections for converter units.

In response to the demand for educational stations, the commission reserved 242 for exclusive educational use. Eighty of those allocated were on VHF channels and 162 on ultra high frequency (UHF) channels.

The commission refused to allow any of the stations to operate commercially for a portion of their broadcasting day.

SUI Will Present Mozart Light Opera

A wager that women will not remain true to their departed suitors leads to all sorts of complications in Mozart's lyric comedy, "Così fan tutte," to be presented July 22-24 at SUI.

True to its title, "Così fan tutte" or "Thus do all women," the two-act comedy portrays the flirtatious nature of two ladies toward their disguised suitors.

Don Alfonso, a cynical bachelor, played by Charles Davis, Iowa City, makes the wager with the suitors, Ferrando and Guglielmo, to be played by Stephen Hobson, Cedar Rapids, and Harry Morrison, Douds.

Objects of the unusual bet are Fiordiligi and Dorabella, their fiancées, who will be played by Marilyn Horstman, Odehold, and Dorothy Krebill, Donnellson. Marilyn Hungeit, Indianola, will play the part of Despina, their maid.

College of Commerce Publishes Analysis Of State Tax System

A study in the field of state and local finances has been published by the bureau of business and economic research of the SUI college of commerce.

A Comparative Study of the Tax Systems of Iowa and the Surrounding States was written by Dr. Robert H. Johnston, associate professor of economics, and Lewis E. Wagner, research assistant in the bureau.

The comparative study is focused on the fiscal system of Iowa, but it also presents a comprehensive analysis of the tax systems of Illinois, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, South Dakota, and Wisconsin.

In the introduction, Johnston and Wagner point out that too much attention has been given in recent years to the fiscal operations on the federal level. As a result, the revenues and expenditures on the state and local level have been almost overlooked.

Material in 10 Chapters

Material in the book is presented in 10 chapters which include discussions of fiscal loads, revenues and expenditures, and commodity, personal, corporate and property taxes.

The chapter on fiscal loads points out some of the basic fallacies that lie behind the assumption that taxes are a burden. The authors show that taxes are imposed as payments for actual services and for that reason are not "burdens."

Johnston and Lewis also give consideration to the history of property taxes and the many problems that arise out of this tax. They affirm that equity and justice in property taxation are impossible to attain, but they believe that property taxes will not easily be discarded from our tax structure.

Hippchen Wins Fairall Award

Leonard Hippchen, a graduate student in advertising from San Antonio, Tex., was named Tuesday as the winner of the $750 Fairall scholarship award in the SUI school of journalism.

The award is made to the outstanding advertising student in the school each year on the basis of written presentations prepared by the applicants.

L. R. Fairall, head of Fairall & Co., a Des Moines advertising agency, is donor of the award. Fairall is an alumnus of SUI.

Hippchen is working for his Ph. D. in mass communications at SUI. He received his bachelor of journalism and master of journalism degrees in 1949 and 1951 from the University of Texas in Austin.

Hippchen served as classified advertising manager of The Daily Iowan, student newspaper, during the spring semester. He will take over the duties of business manager in August.

SUI Group Leaves To Tour Europe

Four SUI students and an SUI professor left Monday for a two-month tour of seven European countries.

Prof. O. E. Nybakken, an associate professor of classics, Lianna Cohen, Virgil M. Hancher, A3, Iowa City, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harrison, both graduate students, Iowa City, left for New York city where they will board the steamship, Independence.

Prof. Nybakken is leading the tour under the sponsorship of the Intercollegiate Travel bureau.

SIGN CONTRACT WARREN, O. (AP)

Copperweld Steel company signed a contract Tuesday with the CIO United Steelworkers, ending a walk-out which started with the nationwide strike. The pact—granting a 12 1/2 cent pay boost retroactive to April 1—covers the 2,200 persons employed in the Copperweld plant here.

AIR FORCE MEETS TONIGHT

Flight B 9688th volunteer air reserve training squadron will hold a regular meeting tonight at 7 p.m. in the SUI field house armory. Maj. Graham Marshall, commanding officer of the local unit, will speak on "Reconnaissance Aviation." His talk will be supplemented by a coordinating training film.

Senate Assured Of 4 New Faces In 83d Congress

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON (AP) — So far voters and senators themselves have assured only four new faces among the 96 senators next year. The list probably will increase after primaries and elections from now to November, however. Senators are elected for six-year terms. One third of the senate or 32 members, are automatically up for election every two years. Normally there are 10 to 16 new senators every two years, but deaths and resignations may increase this.

Only one present member, Sen. Owen Brewster (R-Me.), so far has failed of re-nomination in a primary. Three others decided against seeking re-election — Tom Conally (D-Tex.), Herbert O'Connor (D-Md.) and Seaton (R-Neb.) Seaton was appointed on the death of Sen. Herbert Wherry (R-Neb.) and said he would not seek election.

Defender Plane May Blunt Atomic Attack

LOS ANGELES (CP) — The first air strike against America in any future war may be sprung with startling suddenness. Federal civil defense officials have been warned by a general staff spokesman that an all-out, slam-bang atomic attack on 16 major United States cities may be the opening of World War III. This attack may come from several directions, at several altitudes, on any target city. It may come at night, on a holiday or in the traffic congestion of late afternoon.

The problems involved in such an attack are unquestionably being studied by shrewd potential-enemy military minds. Our continental defense experts are planning just as carefully the methods of stopping such a blow. For, if completely successful, civil defense men were warned, the war potential of the United States would be reduced to zero. Air force defense strategists sought a continental bodyguard with these problems of attack in mind — a stay-at-home airplane which could seek out the enemy at night or in any weather, and deliver a lethal blow without the pilot ever getting as much as a glance at the foe. Pilot Goes Riding The day of electronic defense in which the pilot of the defender plane merely "goes along for the ride," is close at hand with North American's F-86D continental defender rolling out in production quantities. To understand the F-86D and its role as a continental bodyguard, you must first grasp what it is capable of doing for defense. From a standing start, this nine tons of metal and electronic gear — actually a piloted missile — can stand on its tail and roar into the purple canopy of extreme high altitudes. Altitude Exceeds 9 Miles The enemy may be far up there at an altitude which could exceed nine miles. There the air is thin and human bodies can function only by living in a plastic bubble like a goldfish. There a man must be full oxygen and held rigid in a full length corset-like suit to keep his own internal pressure from exploding him like a bomb in case he should lose the pressure in the plastic bubble. Enemy planes will be seen as "blips," or black smears, on a ground radar screen. They will have no identifiable shape, but will look like pencil marks. Pilots of the F-86Ds will roar away into that area of sky where the "blips" are seen, their own powerful radars groping for them with streams of electrons. Stalks Enemy Each F-86D, or a number of them, will be assigned to one "blip," and once this particular one is found by the radar dish, the dish locks its electron beam on it like a terrier on a rat. From this instant, electronic devices take over and the enemy is stalked. The closing rate may exceed 1,000 miles per hour, and the contact will be over quickly. Much quicker than a hunter can swing a 12-bore on a partridge, 24 rockets, each capable of bringing down the world's biggest bomber, will light it after the enemy. Traveling at over 2,000 miles per hour as the missiles strike, the enemy pilot will have little time to evade the rocket barrage until the time it is fired until it hits. Best Defense Another Plane The best defense against the F-86D is another airplane. However, existing enemy fighters do not have range enough to protect the enemy bomber bound for a strike against the United States mainland.

Our defender is the nation's high-altitude interceptor, and the only one-man interceptor. It was the first jet plane to fire an air-to-air rocket. Its pilot, in fact, can select five different ways of finding his way home by electronic means. Protected From Weather Besides the electronic equipment to aid the pilot in bringing his airplane and himself back to base safely, the "D" is protected completely from weather hazards. A 20-pound refrigeration unit can cool the 500-degree heat of the jet engine (hot enough to melt lead) to a frigid 32. Somewhat like drawing his bathwater, the pilot can mix cold and hot air for comfort in the blazing heat of the western desert, or in the 94-degree below zero weather of extreme high altitudes. Just as startling are figures on the heating system of the F-86D: Hot air is piped to wing, stabilizer and rudder leading edges, as well as intake leading engines, the radome and even the intake vanes of the jet engine to rid the surfaces of ice. North American, first to produce "milled" skins for the wings of its airplanes on a production basis, has designed scores of pounds out of the F-86D through this process.

India Becomes Battlefield in War of Ideologies

WASHINGTON (CP) — Now apparently convinced that revolutionary tactics will not get them anywhere in India, the Russians have changed their strategy and are driving full-blast in the opposite direction. The new velvet-glove approach has been pronounced in many fields. Where, not long ago, the Russians did not hesitate to call Prime Minister Nehru and his government "lackeys of western imperialism" and stayed clear of all Indian affairs, Moscow today has switched to the part of the helpful neighbor anxious to share his wealth and experience. Propaganda At Work With the Soviet propaganda machine working overtime in India ever since the time when our congress delayed sending grain to the starving Indian masses, the United States finds itself increasingly outdistanced and has had to concede many advantages to the ideological foe. On the one hand, sentiment favoring this country is spreading in the government and may culminate soon in a treaty of commerce, navigation and friendship. On the other, the Reds showed significant gains in the recent elections in India and are now busy consolidating their position.

Line Changed The Soviet's changed line paid dividends and the Russians stole a march on the western democracies at the recent International Industries fair in Bombay. The United States and Britain were conspicuous by their absence and in fact the only western countries represented on a national basis were those from behind the Iron Curtain. The Moscow delegation, 50-man strong, showed up a full three months ahead of schedule, bringing along tons of attractive-looking exhibits which impressed Indians who are woefully short on machinery. Significantly, next to the Russian Pavilion at the Industries fair, there was a movie house playing Soviet pictures, dubbed into the Hindustani tongue. Movies Favored Because the motion picture is a favorite entertainment in India, and films enjoy a huge circulation — India producers turn out in excess of 200 pictures a year — the Soviet propagandists have concentrated their fire on that industry with varying effects. Not only have they arranged frequent exhibition of Russian films in different Indian cities, but Moscow also invited Indian movie-makers to tour the Soviet Union and visit film studios. Several important Indian film personalities went on the junket and returned home duly impressed. At one of the exhibitions of Soviet film art and technique, a well-known Soviet actor told his Bombay audience that Russian movie players are never asked to play the parts of gangsters, murderers and thieves. This reference was a slap at Hollywood since a segment of the Indian public has voiced objections against violence and brutality in American pictures. No Match For Reds This is not to say that Hollywood movies are not popular in India. They are. But propaganda-wise they are no match for the Russians who have sent into Asia hundreds of pictures designed specifically to further the Russian purpose. In Red pictures there is always the good fellow, who lives by ancient tradition and just happens to be a Communist. And there is the villain who has visited in the west where he has acquired all the worst traits. At the end he usually

Heart Ailments Brought To Doctors Via Phone

OMAHA, NEB. — Ailing human hearts can talk over long distance telephone, telling their troubles to a heart specialist, under a new system announced Monday. The beating heart sends records of its sounds and electrical impulses for quick diagnosis by an expert in another city. The equipment was developed by three University of Nebraska college of medicine staff members. They are Walter E. Rahm, Jr., engineer and assistant professor of experimental medicine; Dr. John L. Barmore, senior resident in anesthesiology, and Dr. F. Lowell Dunn, professor of internal medicine. The heart records are electrocardiograms, the patterns traced by tiny electrical impulses produced when the heart beats. These impulses are converted to FM or frequency modulated signals and transmitted over telephone wires without distortion. On the receiving end, they are recorded on magnetic tape. Then the signals can be converted to sound, or put on a radarscope or paper tape for direct viewing of the pattern of the electrical impulses. The way lines tell the expert how healthy a heart is. Small hospitals could telephone the heart records to medical centers having top heart specialists. A doctor in your home conceivably could talk with the specialist while both physicians watched the electrical performance of your heart.

Europeans Are Skeptical Despite U.S. Assurances

By J. M. ROBERTS JR. Associated Press News Analyst

Secretary Acheson moved rapidly around Europe telling governments and people that the West can win the cold war and that the United States is right in it to the finish.

He has assured Western Berliners that American policy toward them in the face of Russian threats is the same as toward its formal partners in the Atlantic Pact — that they will be defended.

He has told the Austrians that as long as Russia refuses to let Austria resume her place as a unified and free nation, as

ROBERTS long as Russian troops remain in Eastern Austria, American troops will remain in West Austria.

The encouragement has been received about as you would expect. Determination to stand against Russian encroachment is bolstered, although there is always in the background the knowledge of these people that what they do or think is of small weight in a situation such as today's. There is always the futile wish that everybody would leave them alone.

In Western Europe as a whole, while the leaders are conferring about Schuman plans, monetary balances, unified defenses, Germany, and all the things that make headlines over here, there is hesitation about final action on anything that depends on American policy.

Acheson represents a president who says he is about to retire, and the days of the Washington administration as now constituted are numbered. Europe is extremely conscious of that fact. It will be reluctant to move in international affairs until ballots can be analyzed for whatever they will show about American intentions.

Some of this breath-holding may end after the Republican nomination is settled, but it will really not be over until the aims and capabilities of a new administration begin to take shape next year.

Galleries by JIM GOLTZ

A NEW ART GALLERY will open in Iowa City on July 7. The cultural center will be composed of the paintings of five Iowa resident-painters. The gallery plans a well-balanced program of exhibitions of all nature, combining both avant-garde and traditional styles of painting. This is the first time in recent years that a private gallery, unconnected with the university, has been opened in Iowa City, and any individuals interested in contemporary painting are invited to attend the opening.

NEW IN DISCS: Excellent platters now available in Iowa City are: Peggy Lee's "Lover" (which will shake you right off the living room divan with its tremendous impact of contrasting themes and rhythms); several handsome recordings of Strauss' waltz "La Ronde." Particularly nice is Hugo Winterhalter's, known under its English title of "Love Makes the World Go Round."

Currently out is an album of "Motion Picture Music," featuring themes from "All About Eve," "The Song of Bernadette," "The Razor's Edge," and "Wuthering Heights," among others. The "Eve" music also comes on a single. Combining a melody of both symphonic and popular stature is the new Capitol release "Invitation," from the film of the same name.

ATTENTION, all married students! Columbia has just released a new album of "Songs For the Kindergarten Set," selected to "delight and enlighten youngsters of preschool age." The album includes songs about animals, sleepy songs, activity songs, folk songs, singing game songs, and tales of "our friends up high" (the stars, the wind, and the moon). That last item suggests that even if they bore your children, the music might make just the right background for "river banking."

FROM SCREENLAND WAY: In the filming — the career of Eva Tanguay, "The I Don't Care Girl," co-starring Mitzi Gaynor and Oscar Levant. . . a filmization of last season's Broadway melodrama "The Number," with Shelly Winters and Richard Widmark. . . Olivia DeHavilland (and thank heaven she gave up on "Candida") in Daphne DuMaurier's novel "My Cousin Rachel" . . . the life story of impresario Sol Hurok, with a cast numbering Ezio Pinza and ballerina Tamara Toumanova in its ranks. "O. Henry's Full House" is the new title given to Fox's "Bagdad On the Subway," the omnibus production of five O. Henry short stories.

Try and Stop Me

MANY guests have been blacklisted by hotels because towels were found in their suitcases. In the case of Playboy Wartel, however, the charge varied slightly. He had a chambermaid in his grip.

A man who owned a gymnasium in Des Moines recently despaired of getting customers to sign up for his noonday hour of setting-up exercises. A psychologist pointed out the flaw in his approach. "Your sign, 'Young Men's Noon Gym Class' needs just a little alteration," he said. Next day a new sign proclaimed, "Young Executives' Noon Gym Class." Enrollments quadrupled within ten days!

Kansas church had left a village church in precarious condition and the pastor put on a monster rally to promote funds for repairs. Everybody got into the spirit of the occasion but the local skinkfint who grudgingly got to his feet and mumbled, "Okay, I'll contribute ten dollars." No sooner had he spoken than a big piece of plaster from the weakened ceiling became dislodged and conked him squarely on the bean. Panic-stricken, he cried, "Pastor, I want to change my donation from ten dollars to a thousand." "Oh Lord," whispered the pastor, "hit him again!" Copyright, 1952, by Bennett Cerf. PRESS RELEASE of the month department: "I'm Forever Blowing" division — "To help children celebrate the start of the summer school holiday, the managing director of the Roxy Theater, New York, has announced that free Blony Bubble gum will be distributed to all children as they leave the Roxy Theater during the next week." . . . Music Hall might retaliate by arming their usher staff with sling shots.

THE FIRESIDE THEATER selection of the month is Paul Osborn's dramatization of the J. P. Marquand best-seller "Point of No Return." The play is involved with the point that once a man has reached a certain point in his career, there is no return and he might as well accept it. The principal characters are a middle-class couple caught in the husband's campaign for promotion to a bank vice-presidency. Truman Calls Control Bill Big Gamble

Says Without Funds Curbs May Collapse

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman Tuesday labeled the new economic controls law "a serious gamble with inflation." He warned that unless Congress puts up adequate funds, controls may collapse completely.

Truman vented his views in a 1,200 word statement on the defense production act passed by Congress last Saturday. He found a few points to cheer about for about 115 words, and denounced the measure most of the rest of the way.

The President signed the act with reluctance Monday to keep any controls program whatsoever, and the law went into effect Tuesday to replace an expiring program.

Bill Whittles Controls
The new measure whittles down price and wage control powers far below what Truman asked, but extends them for 10 months.

Truman said a ban on price controls over any fruits and vegetables exposes the housewife "to higher prices on fully 20 per cent of her market basket."

He said the law abolishes "for all practical purposes" the powers of the wage stabilization board to try to settle defense plant labor disputes. In this respect, Truman declared, "Congress has opened a dangerous gap in the mobilization program."

Must Ask Wage Board
The law says the wage board may make recommendations in labor disputes only when both sides ask it to step in.

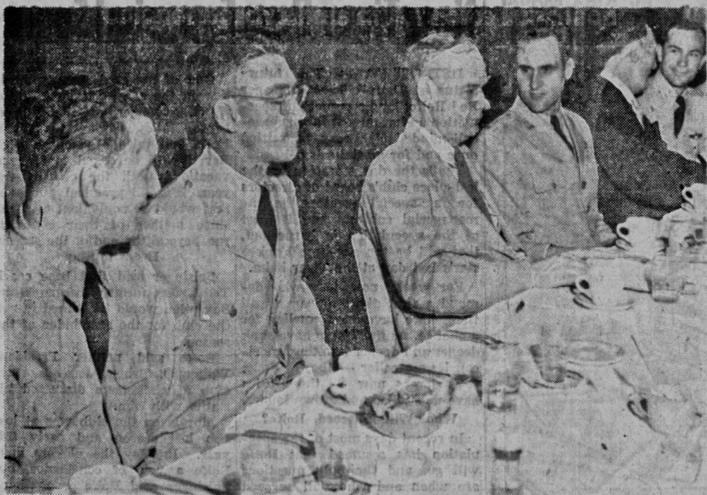

Truman decried a provision abolishing the administration's power to control down payments and time-to-pay on all consumer goods. The federal reserve board recently suspended installment credit curbs, but urged power to put them on again if inflation mounts.

Truman said the law also probably will eliminate any requirements on down payments for houses in about five months.

Controls Important
These credit controls, Truman protested, "have played an important role in stabilizing our economy during this emergency."

Truman said the law "opens the way for increases in rents for some 6 million families if real estate lobbies are able to forestall positive action by local bodies." The act kills rent controls Sept. 30, except in critical defense housing areas or cities where local officials request an extension.

Police Warn Riders Of Motorscooters

Illegal riders of motorbikes and motorscooters will be cracked down on by Iowa City police, Police Chief Edwin J. Ruppert said Tuesday.

Ruppert said that a large number of the vehicles were being operated in the city by unlicensed persons. He added that many of the drivers have permits to go between home and school, but they do not allow other trips.

To drive the vehicles anywhere in town, the driver must be 16 years old and have a regular driver's license similar to those issued to drive a car.

IOWA CITIAN IN PACIFIC

Robert J. Morrissey, quartermaster seaman in the navy, is now serving aboard the patrol frigate, USS Gloucester near the Philippine Islands. He is the son of Mrs. Mable Morrissey, 628 N. Linn. Morrissey enlisted in the navy in January, 1951, and received his recruit training at San Diego, Calif.

Potential Buying Power Is Down, Index Reveals

Potential buying power measured by the Iowa economic index has turned downward, according to preliminary figures for recent months, the Iowa Business Digest reports in its July issue.

The index recorded a two-per cent decline in the first four months of this year.

Each of the six components of the index, computed by SUI's institute of business and economic research, contributed to the decline. They are cash receipts from farm marketings, average daily department store sales, bank debits in 11 Iowa cities, manufacturing pay rolls, electric power production by utilities, and valuation of construction contracts awarded.

Of prime importance was the drop in cash receipts from farm marketings which constitute 30 per cent of the state's realized income. These receipts totaled $749 million for the first four months of 1952, $42 million less than during the same period of 1951. Livestock and livestock products made up 88 per cent of the total cash receipts from farming.

Meanwhile department store sales were 10.5 per cent lower in the first third of 1952 than they were for the January-through-April period of 1951. But they were only 1.7 per cent lower than sales for the first four months of 1950 in the pre-Korean war days.

Bank debits were off 1.3 per cent in the four months year-to-year comparison between 1951 and 1952.

Seasonally adjusted data for both manufacturing pay rolls and electric power production revealed drops during the initial four months of 1952.

Trade Analysis Made Of Iowa Community

A trade area analysis of Jefferson, Iowa, has been released by the SUI bureau of business and economic research.

The reports analyze the income, population and trade center preferences of the towns and nearby country persons for 31 goods and services.

This is the third in its post-war series of trade area analyses, the first one covering 11 south-west Iowa towns and the second covering the town of Osage.

Communities can discover through these reports which retail functions it is performing satisfactorily and which it is not.

The Jefferson report shows that larger towns are the major source of competition for style-line items, while smaller near-by towns make up the competition for goods such as farm equipment and repair parts.

Senate Ratifies Pacts To Make Germany Ally

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Tuesday overwhelmingly ratified peace agreements bringing West German as an armed ally into the free world's mutual defense organization.

The United States thus became the first nation to approve all documents, hailed by sponsors as ushering in a new era of European cooperation.

The agreements do not become effective until ratified by parliaments of the other nations involved, including West Germany — a process sure to spark stormy debate and one that could consume many more months.

One agreement between the U.S., Britain, France and West Germany ends the allied occupation of West Germany and returns the Federal Republic of Germany to the family of nations as an almost equal member.

A second document in the network of pacts signed in Europe last month would create a European defense community with a single army of units from France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. The Senate was not called upon to ratify the EDC contract, but it approved an agreement tying EDC — and thus West Germany — to the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

Senators View Bill
Approval came after day-long debate in which Chairman Tom Connally (D-Tex.) of the foreign relations committee urged approval of what he called a move toward European unity unparalleled in history.

Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) urged "resounding" bipartisan approval so that Russian propaganda could not say the U.S. was divided. He said rejection would amount to "recklessly issuing an invitation to Russia to take over all of Germany."

Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper (R-Ia.) said ratification means "we've tied up in a European entanglement for 50 years — we've hooked ourselves for 50 years." He didn't vote against the agreements but said "I think we ought to realize what we are doing."

Sen. Everett Dirksen (R-Ill.) opposing ratification, questioned whether the U.S. was getting involved in pacts "that must be expiated by holy young American blood" in some future war.

Engaged

Theodora Stiarwalt

Texan, Buckeyes Gain Berths On U.S. Olympic Diving Team

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK (AP) — Dave "Skipper" Browning, a lithe blond from Dallas, Tex., turned in a spectacular performance at Astoria Park pool Tuesday to win the No. 1 spot on the United States three-meter Olympic diving team.

His teammates will be Robert Clotworthy of Westfield, N. J., and Miller Anderson of Columbus, Ohio. Both Ohio State products and pupils of Mike Peppie, Ohio State and Olympic diving coach. Anderson was competing for the Coca Cola swim club of Cincinnati.

Browning, a 21-year-old senior at the University of Texas, rolled up an impressive point total of 1,037.45 in coming out on top in the day long competition which drew 29 competitors.

Clotworthy, in second position, scored 942 points, and Anderson, 29-year-old World War II veteran who wears a steel plate in his thigh as a result of an injury, finished third with 923.90.

U.S. Women Grab Semi-Final Berths In English Tourney

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Defending champion Doris Hart was shunted to the sidelines but Americans still filled all four semi-final berths Tuesday in the women's singles of the All-England Lawn Tennis championships.

Shirley Fry of Akron, O., joined three Californians in the round of four for Thursday's semis. She will meet Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., reigning American champ, in a rematch of last year's U.S. finals. Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., will face Mrs. Pat Todd of La Jolla, Calif., upset conqueror of Miss Hart.

The men, who play their singles semi-finals today concentrated on the quarter finals of the doubles.

Today also will bring the men's semi-finals with top seeded Frank Sedgman meeting fellow Australian Mervyn Rose, who conquered defending champion Dick Savitt of Orange, N. J. Monday. Herbie Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., the only American survivor in men's singles plays Drobny. The United States has won the men's title every year since world war II, except 1946.

The men's singles final will be played Friday and the other finals Saturday.

Indians Edge Browns In 19-Inning Tilt

Ties Major League Record for Length

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians scored two runs in the 19th inning Tuesday night off reliever Satch Paige for a 4-3 win over the St. Louis Browns. The contest equalled the longest night game in major league history.

A pinch single by Hank Majeski with two out brought in Al Rosen in with the winning run. Rosen's double had scored Bob Avila, who singled as the Tribe tied the Browns' third run, which was scored in the 19th.

Paige had hurled 10 scoreless innings. The Browns' final score came off Lou Brissie, who had hurled nine scoreless innings of relief.

Yanks Up Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Brown, playing his next to last game at Yankee stadium for the New York Yankees, doubled home Mickey Mantle from first base in the eighth inning Tuesday night to give the world champions a 3-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox before 48,797 fans, largest crowd of the season in Yankee stadium.

Brown was notified before the game to report for duty as a doctor in the army a week from today.

The victory knocked the Red Sox out of second place in favor of the Washington Senators who defeated Philadelphia. The Senators trail the Yanks by four games.

Dodgers 3, Phils 2

BROOKLYN (AP) — Pee Wee Reese, benched by a pulled muscle, came through with a pinch single with two out and the bases loaded in the ninth inning Tuesday to give Brooklyn a 4-3 win over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Reese went up to bat for Bobby Morgan and promptly broke up the ball game with a single to right.

Cards Win Again

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Enos Slaughter drove in five runs with two homers Tuesday night to become the second active National leaguer to total 1,000 or more runs batted in as his St. Louis Cardinals coasted to an 8-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds on the 6-hit pitching of rookie Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell.

Field Hockey Team Taken From Olympics

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States will not have a field hockey team in the Olympic games at Helsinki this month.

Henry Kirk Greer, chairman of the Olympic Field Hockey committee, said Tuesday the team had been withdrawn from the games after a "hassle with the

New Tiger Boss Expected Soon

DETROIT (AP) — The future status of Detroit Tiger Manager Red Rolfe, long a subject of speculation and argument in this baseball-minded city, may be settled once and for all Saturday.

That's the day set aside by the last-place club's board of directors for a special meeting on the managerial subject. And if most of the speculation is borne out, that will be the one-time Yankee star's last day at the Tiger helm.

For weeks now fans who demand a first division team at all times here have been howling for a change. As the Tigers have sunk deeper and deeper into the American league cellar — they're down 18 1/2 games now — those cries have multiplied and grown louder.

Who Will Succeed Rolfe? In recent days most of the speculation has assumed that Rolfe will go, and the only questions are when and who will succeed him.

One of the city's best authorities on the subject, Sports Editor H. G. Salsinger of the Detroit News, said Tuesday that both Rolfe and third base coach Dick Bartell will be asked to "take a vacation" until the end of the year. For all practical purposes, that would be equivalent to firing since neither of their contracts run beyond the end of the season.

Lyons to Stay
Salsinger said first base coach Ted Lyons, former Chicago White Sox pilot, would be named to run the club for the remainder of the season.

Rolfe said neither President Walter O. Briggs, Jr., nor other club officials have discussed his status with him.

Morale on the club was at low ebb last season and early this year. In May the players gave Rolfe a vote of confidence, but Salsinger said Rolfe "won back only part of the ball club."

Wilks Whips Cubs On 2-Hit Relief Job

CHICAGO (AP) — Thirty-seven-year-old Ted Wilks, making his 29th relief appearance, pitched the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 3-2 victory over Chicago Tuesday by stopping the Cubs on two hits during the final two innings.

The Cubs had a run home, the bases full and none out when Wilks rescued starter Forrest Main in the Chicago eighth. After Manager Phil Cavarretta fouled for the first out, Gene Hermanski was credited with a pinch single as Bobby Del Greco and Gus Bell collided attempting to field his sinking liner.

DON'T BE FOOLED!

DON'T BE FOOLED!

Look out for the strings! No one — government included — is going to give you a handout unless you give something in return! But that's not the way you hear it.

According to some men in the nation's capital and other parts of the country, government could provide guaranteed housing, clothing, medical service and other "benefits" and it wouldn't cost you a cent! They are demanding that you be "given" government electricity... government rent houses... government education... government transportation and government say-so over how much you can earn, regardless of whether your employer can stay in business on those terms or how deep the nation plunges into debt.

The Sing Sing "lifer" has that kind of security — free board, room and laundry with a haircut thrown in twice a month. Not a thing to worry about except his freedom. Drop in some time — ask him how happy he is.

What is this "welfare state" business anyway, this "planned economy"? It's a sugar-coated name for Socialism, sweetened up by men who don't dare give it the proper title.

The prisoner wouldn't call it "security." Before we invest our lives in it, let's investigate the proposition of the "Welfare Staters." One thing certain — after the swap is made, there'll be no refunding of your freedom in case you aren't satisfied with what you've bought. Watch out for the strings!
