Expect Delegate Showdown Today

Hoover Warns U.S. To Expand Air Power, Be Ready To Strike

Blasts Europe's 'Phantom Army'

CONVENTION HALL, CHICAGO (AP) — Herbert Hoover pleaded Tuesday night in what he said may be his last appearance before a Republican national convention, for a mighty air force capable of striking back like a rattlesnake if this country is attacked by Russia.

The former president, 77 years old and voicing calm awareness that his days are numbered, received a tumultuous ovation as he appeared before the convention and struck hard at a key endeavor of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower — the West European defense force.

"A phantom army," Hoover called the divisions built up under the direction of Eisenhower before the general took on Sen. Robert A. Taft in the presidential nomination fight that has split this convention into hostile camps.

Hoover received a roaring welcome, considerably greater than the one the delegates gave Monday night to their keynote speaker, Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

While the organ boomed, the flushed ex-president stood with tear-glistened eyes in the glare of floodlights as delegation after delegation fell into a parade around the convention floor — the first such mass demonstration since the convention opened Monday morning.

Hoover, however, lost little time in raking the Democrats with hot fire, accusing them of throwing away the fruits of victory in World War II.

Rips Democratic Bureaucracy

At home, he said, the Democrats have, inch by inch, destroyed the ramparts of freedom. They have created a vast bureaucracy, he continued, and "in Fascist fashion, they dictate and give orders and favors to our citizens."

"The grandeur of a people is corroded by intellectual dishonesty and corruption among public officials," Hoover declared.

In colorful phrases, the former chief executive contended that the Roosevelt and Truman administrations have lost the peace and sacrificed 650 million human beings' freedom in an effort to appease Soviet communism.

Last Chance for Freedom

"The ghosts of the four freedoms and the Atlantic Charter now wander amid the clanking chains of a thousand slave camps," he said, adding, "This election may well be the last chance for the survival of freedom in America."

Hitting at the concept of building up large land armies in Europe, Hoover declared that aside from American and British divisions, the European army is largely a myth because the continent's will to defend itself is weak.

"I am not ashamed to say," he declared, "that our first duty is to defend the United States."

Appropriations Cuts Force Big Reductions In Government Staffs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The sharp congressional economy axe in years is chopping thousands of workers from government payrolls throughout the country.

In the hard hit price, wage and rent control agencies, officials have said that appropriations are hardly adequate to do the job.

No official would estimate Tuesday just how many thousands will be fired in the entire federal service, but the price and wage agencies said more than half of their 17,000 employees will be shoved out within 30 days.

One of the last acts of congress Monday included a $60 million appropriation for the economic control agencies, which had about $100 million last year.

Altogether, congress peeled about $9 billion off the Truman administration's request for $83-778,382,112. Budget bureau officials said the new legislation would have to be studied in detail before an accurate figure on total personnel cuts will be available.

Hervig Accepts Post At California College

Prof. Richard B. Hervig, of the SUI music department, has resigned to accept a position at Long Beach State college, Long Beach, Calif.

Hervig will be an assistant professor of music theory and composition at Long Beach. He will assume his new duties in September.

A graduate of SUI, Hervig received his M.A. degree in 1941, and his Ph.D. in 1947. He has been an assistant professor in the music department since 1949.

Hervig's "Symphony in E Minor," which was presented as his Ph.D. thesis, was performed last week by the SUI summer session symphony orchestra.

Murray Asks Court Action In Steel Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—CIO President Philip Murray Tuesday accused six major steel companies of violating the anti-trust laws and asked Attorney General James McGranery to take "prompt and vigorous action."

In a letter to McGranery, Murray said the six big producers, headed by U. S. Steel, were in "a combination and conspiracy" which was preventing all other strikebound steel companies from signing new work contracts with the striking CIO Steelworkers union.

It was the union's second attack in a week on the steel industry. Last Thursday the union filed an unfair labor practice charge with the national labor relations board making substantially the same accusation Murray made Tuesday.

The steelworkers' president wrote McGranery: "It is my belief, based on the facts available to me, that new collective bargaining agreements could be reached and would have been reached but for a combination and conspiracy which the six larger steel companies have entered into to prevent any of them, or any of the smaller steel companies from separately reaching agreement with the union."

"This combination and conspiracy, in my opinion, violates the anti-trust laws with whose enforcement your department is charged, as well as the national labor relations (Taft-Hartley) act."

The steelworkers went on strike June 2.

Allied Tanks, Infantry Grab Red Positions

SEOUL, (WEDNESDAY) (AP)—Allied tanks and infantry raided Chinese Communist positions on the east-central Korean front early Tuesday and at daybreak were holding the area firmly.

On the central front, southeast of Kumson, 14 Communist tanks supported probing attacks on the United Nations line reported the Reds broke off the action but "remained in the area." It was the heaviest concentration of Red armor seen in a month.

The two clashes were the heaviest along the twisting, 150-mile mountainous front.

Pennsylvania May Back Ike

CHICAGO (AP)—The secretary of Pennsylvania's 70-vote delegation to the Republican national convention said Tuesday night he believes the keystone state will cast 55 votes for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower when the convention roll is called.

The statement by Samuel S. Lewis was the first public announcement by a responsible member of the delegation on what Pennsylvania will do.

Lewis said it was his own estimate, based on the roll call vote of the delegation Monday. Pennsylvania cast 57 votes to reject a Taft-sponsored amendment to the convention rules then, with 13 votes favoring the change.

Lewis long has been close to Gov. John S. Fine, who only a short time earlier had been reported still delaying announcement of his own choice for the nomination.

SUI's Highlanders Get Set

Scottish Group Schedules Last-Minute Drills Before Leaving Sunday on European Tour

Many hours of intensive practice lie ahead for 60 members of the Scottish Highlanders, all-girl bagpipe band at SUI, before they leave Sunday morning for six weeks in Europe.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday they will spend from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. practicing their piping and drumming and rehearsing the intricate marching maneuvers and dances with which they will entertain audiences in France, England and Scotland.

Sunday at 9:15 a.m. the Scottish Highlanders will leave Iowa City by train for Montreal, Quebec, from whence they will sail Tuesday afternoon on the S.S. Arosa Kullm.

After docking in Le Havre, the party of Highlanders will proceed directly to Paris, where they will "headquarter" for the next five days. During their visit to France they are scheduled to perform for an American army unit of some 3,000 men stationed at Orleans, 70 miles south of Paris.

London on Aug. 1

On Aug. 1 the Scottish Highlanders will sail from Dieppe for Newhaven, England.

Their first London performance will take place the evening of Aug. 2, when the Highlanders will march from Trafalgar square and will be officially welcomed to London when they appear on the Victoria Embankment near Westminster bridge. They will perform twice more at the Embankment, a popular gathering spot for Londoners, Aug. 6 and Aug. 9.

The Highlanders will leave London for a day, Aug. 4, to perform in the southern coastal town of Plymouth, where civic officials will hold a gala reception for the visiting Iowans.

Perform in Glasgow

The Highlanders will appear in Dundee Aug. 19, return to spend a day in Edinburgh, then proceed to Glasgow for a performance Aug. 21.

Iowa's Group Standing Fast On GOP Split

CHICAGO (AP)—Iowa delegates to this rip-roaring Republican convention underwent heavy pressure Tuesday from the battling Taft and Eisenhower forces.

Robert K. Goodwin of Des Moines, delegation chairman, said he expects no changes in the lineup.

"I think those lines will hold," Goodwin told a reporter referring to the 15 to 11 vote Monday for a rule change on contested delegates urged by the Eisenhower forces.

So far Eisenhower has 15 Iowa votes, Taft 8 and 3 are uncommitted although at least one of these is expected by Taft.

Supporters of Gov. Earl Warren of California began button-holing Iowans on the convention floor Tuesday. They ask for Warren support if a Taft-Eisenhower deadlock develops.

George M. Faul of Des Moines, Ike's Iowa manager, was not in the convention hall during Monday's first session. He was sweating with other members of the convention's credential committee hearing appeals from national committee decisions on contested delegates, chiefly from southern states.

Convention Floor Battle Planned By Ike Forces

CONVENTION HALL, CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft rolled up a tentative victory over Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower Tuesday in a hot struggle over 17 presidential nominating votes from Georgia.

Eisenhower forces were ready to carry the issue to a final, angry showdown today on the floor of the Republican national convention.

The Ohio senator's victory was scored when the Taft-dominated convention credentials committee voted 30 to 21 to seat a solid Taft delegation from Georgia.

Above the smoke of this new scorching round in the Taft-Eisenhower battle for disputed convention votes, Republican candidates and orators raised frantic cries for party harmony that so far has been little in evidence in their 25th party meeting.

Former president Herbert Hoover, the party's elder statesman who had failed at pre-convention efforts to unify the GOP, lashed out in another direction in a speech before the convention Tuesday night.

The Democrats have "lost the peace" with their foreign policy and destroyed "in Fascist fashion" the "ramparts of freedom" at home, Hoover said.

The convention itself dropped behind schedule, waiting for Eisenhower and Taft forces to tangle in the crucial floor scrap over delegate contests Wednesday.

Report Expected Today

The convention committee was sitting in judgment on those contests Tuesday, but making slow headway through disputes involving seven states and 98 delegates. Its report, the signal for eruption of the big showdown on the floor, won't be ready until sometime today.

In its first decision Tuesday, the committee voted that a heavily pro-Taft Florida delegation with 18 votes should be seated in the convention. The great Eisenhower-Taft struggle was not involved in this fight, however, and the committee decision on it was unanimous.

Then came Georgia, and the Taft victory. Eisenhower's campaign manager, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., promptly announced an appeal to the whole convention.

1 Seat from Kansas

Next came a scrap over a single seat from Kansas. The Taft contestant failed to appear and the committee unanimously granted the seat to an Eisenhower follower.

The committee next voted to seat the Taft-backed delegation from Mississippi. Mississippi has five convention votes.

The committee still had to deal with the contests involving 13 delegates from Louisiana, one from Missouri, and 38 from Texas.

In the sparring for nominating votes behind the scenes, both the Eisenhower and Taft forces were turning on the heat and pressure.

Michigan Is Key

In the key Michigan delegation, with 46 votes on the day of decision, Taft leaders tried to stiffen their lines. Taft's convention floor manager, Thomas E. Coleman, reportedly ordered Michigan aides to sign up at least 12 of the 46 delegates.

Thirteen Taft votes are three more than most experts on Michigan political affairs have been figuring for the Ohio senator.

Eisenhower backers locked the doors at a hotel meeting room and huddled on strategy for the big floor fight today. The word that seeped out was that they would not challenge the credential committee's decisions on Florida and some of the other smaller contests but would limit the war to 68 votes wrapped up in the Georgia, Louisiana and Texas feuds.

Civil Rights Issue Stalls Platform

CHICAGO (AP)—Republican platform drafters failed Tuesday night to bring Northern and Southern forces together on a civil rights platform. This raised the prospect of a fight over the issue on the convention floor.

Sen. Eugene D. Millikin of Colorado, chairman of the convention's resolutions committee, conferred for nearly two hours with leaders in the struggle over a plank, and then announced that no agreement had been reached.

Importance of Autopsy Stressed by Examiner

Medical evidence is playing an increasingly important role in detecting cases of violent death, according to Dr. Milton Helpert, deputy chief medical examiner for the city of New York.

Dr. Helpert, one of the nation's foremost pathologists, was a main speaker Tuesday at the second session of the 16th annual peace officers short course being held on the SUI campus.

In stressing the importance of the autopsy, Dr. Helpert pointed to the many cases of homicide detected each year where no external signs of violence are evident.

Wounds Are Concealed

Medical investigations will reveal those small penetrating wounds that are concealed by virtue of their location on the body, he added. Scientific investigators, such as the microscope, will also quickly establish the pattern of wounds and type of weapon responsible for the death.

To illustrate his point, he cited the varying "muzzle stamps" which enable the laboratory crime fighter to determine whether the death weapon was a revolver or automatic pistol. Tire marks, the thread marks of a lead pipe, the impression of a woven belt around the neck are also quickly identifiable in the laboratory.

Dr. Helpert, with the use of slides, also familiarized the Iowa peace officers with normal post-mortem to obscure violence or are confused with violence.

FBI Man Talks

Also on Tuesday's program was J. S. Dalton, special agent of the federal bureau of investigation in Omaha. Dalton gave an "off-the-record" talk to the officers on Communist tactics in the United States.

A talk on "Organized Crime" by Virgil Peterson, operating director of the Chicago Crime Commission, is a feature of today's program. The conference's second "off-the-record" session, this time dealing with six recent major Iowa crimes, is also scheduled for today.

Police Officers Learn New Tactics

HOW TO ROUGH UP A POLICEMAN without fear of reprisal is shown by C. E. Lowery, Iowa Falls, as Don Cooper, Corning, serves as willing subject. Both are police officers in their respective cities and are attending SUI's police officers' short course held on campus this week. The program includes daily sessions in hand-to-hand combat in the field house, where this shot was taken. Mike Howard, retired wrestling coach, provides instructions.

World News Briefs

A Condensation of Late Developments

MUNSAN (WEDNESDAY) (AP)—Korean truce teams go to Panmunjom today for their sixth straight secret session. The meeting was scheduled for 11 a.m. (8 p.m., CST, Tuesday). The Allies entered into the executive sessions July 4 in hopes that some face-saving formula might be worked out on the crucial prisoner exchange issue—major obstacle to an armistice. Such a formula probably would provide for the return of all military prisoners—as demanded by the Reds—but only after changing the status of anti-Communist prisoners held by the Allies, perhaps to provide for their release as political refugees.

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Trygve Lie, United Nations Secretary General, said Tuesday he hoped for a solution of the Korean truce negotiations "by the end of July or the beginning of August." The two delegations have shown "a certain positive willingness" to reach an agreement on the deadlocked questions, he said, and he "hoped without certainty" that a successful conclusion might be reached within a month. Lie arrived by air at Fornebu airport for a week's vacation before going to Helsinki for the summer Olympics.

HONOLULU (AP)—The last of three F-84 Thunderjet squadrons flying across the Pacific to Japan and Korea landed here Tuesday after a 2,408 mile hop from California. The 18 jets started landing at Hickam air force base at 12:04 p.m. Honolulu time (4:04 p.m. CST), six hours and four minutes after taking off from Travis air force base near San Francisco. The planes were refueled from B-29 aerial tankers en route. The non-stop flight to Hawaii was history's longest mass hop by jet fighters.

editorial Time Pays Tribute to Hancher

Leading off the "education" section of last week's issue of Time magazine is an article, and picture, of SUI President Virgil Hancher.

The national news weekly pays a much deserved tribute to Hancher, whom it calls "one of the top state university presidents in the U. S." It lauds him for his work in establishing a "broad and solid" liberal arts program at SUI which Hancher himself calls "humanology."

In upholding the ideal of the contemplatives, Hancher says, "They possess an integrity, a calm and assurance, a wholeness of mind and body that is a kind of holiness."

Occasioning the article was the appointment two weeks ago of Hancher to head an American Council on Education committee which will study government scientific research grants to universities.

But the scope of Time's comments is not limited to Hancher's appointment. The magazine goes on to outline other major achievements of President Hancher. Among those that they point out are the recently built $2 million library, the construction of new buildings for a communications center and a hospital school for handicapped children, and the setting up of a full-fledged college of nursing.

Nobody knows more, nor appreciates as much, the achievements of President Hancher than the students, alumni, and the faculty.

And we realize, too, that no one person is more responsible for the "high rank" of Iowa colleges, as Time puts it, than President Hancher.

So while the magazine article brings to the attention of the country the accomplishments and abilities of Hancher, it actually tells nothing to us at SUI which is not already known and which is not fully appreciated.

Magazine Lauds Hancher's Accomplishments

(Reprinted from the July 7, 1952 Issue of Time Magazine)

Virgil M. Hancher grew up on an Iowa farm, went from the State University of Iowa to Oxford for his M.A., and eventually turned himself into a successful Chicago lawyer. But today at 55, Hancher is renowned neither as farmer nor lawyer: he is one of the top state university presidents in the U.S.

In twelve years, the State University of Iowa (enrollment: 7,200) has come to know him as a friendly, bookish man who rises at 6:45, spends the next ten hours hurrying about his campus, charging purposefully into all sorts of projects. But he is also a familiar figure far beyond his own 700 acres. Last week, when the American Council on Education wanted someone to head a new committee to study Government scientific research grants to universities ($100-150 million a year), it could think of no able man than Virgil Hancher.

More Practitioners In a way, it was an odd choice, for Hancher's own interests are anything but scientific. "We teach," says he, "and as a university always will teach the physical sciences. . . . But our unique concentration of power focuses upon those things which concern men and women as men and women." Hancher calls these things "humanology," and in the last twelve years Iowa has seen quite a bit of that.

Started Early Even before the famed Harvard Report, Hancher was busy remodeling his curriculum, slashing away the hodgepodge of vocational courses in favor of a broad and solid liberal arts program ("What our cultural life needs today is more general practitioners.") He strengthened Iowa's flourishing school of fine arts, started a library where undergraduates for the first time could browse at will. Though he never neglected his budget (he tripled his appropriation to more than $10 million), or his plant (he established a full-fledged college of nursing, built a communications center, a hospital-school for handicapped children), Hancher hammered at other things. Even the university's research program — from its studies in psychiatry to its project in geriatrics — came under the head of humanology. "It is more than a problem of statistics," says Hancher. "It is a problem of human kindness."

Calmness and Assurance

Over the years, Iowa and its ten colleges have climbed to high rank in the Midwest. More important, the university, under Hancher, is one of the boldest crusaders against the vocationalism that plagues U.S. state universities. "Somewhere," Hancher tells his students, "the art of contemplation has been lost. An occasional mystic or band of mystics have preserved the art. . . . They possess an integrity, a calm and assurance, a wholeness of mind and body that is a kind of holiness. This wholeness, this holiness, I crave for you."

TO THE EDITOR:

Since the inception of the column captioned, WORLD NEWS BRIEFS, in your newspaper, I have been following it with great interest and critical observation. From what has been appearing in the column in question as WORLD NEWS BRIEFS, I have every reason to believe that the title of the column is a misnomer.

I think, in a column with such a title, the public would expect to find news from all parts of the world, such as Europe, Asia, and Africa. Instead, what has been incessantly appearing in this column is news from Washington, Chicago, New York, and other cities of the United States of America with news from other parts of the world only once in a while.

May I suggest we change the title to NATIONAL NEWS BRIEFS, or make it more attractive by making it serve its purpose. We can make this column of your newspaper one of the most interesting ones by publishing in it news from other parts of the world.

TO THE EDITOR:

What is this I hear about $7,000 taken in for admissions at the City Pool?

Too bad one can not say somewhat the same for the animals and the birds at the park. Maybe no one cares whether the poor creatures are fed, watered and the cages kept clean.

I make two suggestions: either turn those animals over to another zoological park where they can be cared for, or clean up the place.

GOP's Rejoice As MacArthur Rips Democrats

CONVENTION HALL, CHICAGO (P) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the figure who attracted nation-wide comment on his "old soldiers never die" speech, received nearly a continuous round of applause Monday night when he gave the keynote address at the Republican national convention.

Reproduced here are some of the highlight quotes from his address that served as the kickoff for the already turbulent GOP convention and prompted the enthusiastic applause from the convention floor:

"Perhaps it is unnecessary here to indict the present administration for all its tragic blunders. For that indictment has already found full expression in the resentments which have poured from the hearts of the American people, from north to south, east to west, with no distinction of race, creed, color or political affiliation. I know."

"Many of the people do not fully comprehend the nature and degree of the policy misdirection which has brought us to fiscal instability, political insecurity and military weakness."

"They view with dismay the tragic weakness of our leaders reflected in their tolerance of corruption or worse in the higher positions of the public service."

"Our people are desperate for a plan which will revive hope and restore faith as they feel the oppressive burden of the tax levy upon every source of revenue and upon every property transaction."

"They look to their leaders, but their protests are silenced by the grim warnings of the disaster of a possible total war."

"They witness, instead, only a ceaseless effort to spend and spend, to tax and tax, only a salacious indifference to mounting disclosures of graft and corruption and waste in the public administration."

"That party (the Democratic party) of noble heritage has become captive to the schemers and planners who have infiltrated its ranks of leadership to set the national course unerringly toward the socialist regimentation of totalitarian state."

"We defeated the North Korean armies; but, when the Communist armies of China struck, our leaders lacked the courage to fight to a military decision, even though victory was then readily within our grasp."

Club Women Boost Sen. Margaret Smith For Vice-Presidency

CHICAGO (P) — A movement was underway Monday to nominate U.S. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine for the vice-presidency on the Republican ticket.

This would be the first time in history that a woman's name won consideration for the nation's second highest office by a major political party.

The move has the consent of Senator Smith, who is serving her first term in the senate after eight years in the house.

The plan is an aftermath of action taken by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs at its recent convention in Boston, Mass.

That convention endorsed the "veep" nomination of Mrs. Smith on the Republican ticket and Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas, Tex., a past president of the federation, on the Democratic ticket.

Mrs. Isabella J. Jones, delegate from Pennsylvania, was named head of a special committee set up by the federation to "get things going" at the Republican convention.

Rough Going for Gabrielson

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CHAIRMAN Guy Gabrielson tries desperately to bring the first session of the 1952 Republican convention in Chicago to order. After an hour and two minutes of arm waving and gavel pounding the delegates finally came to order and the 25th GOP national convention got underway. The order was shortlived, however, as the Taft-Eisenhower forces soon began battling it out over the proposed change of convention procedure.

Foreign Aid Program Has Stumbling Blocks

By J.M. ROBERTS JR. Associated Press News Analyst

There are always some members of congress who think that American foreign aid should be limited to those countries which are willing to completely subordinate their policies to those of the United States.

In 1951 they advocated a strict ban against aid to any country which refused to accept the U.S. embargo on furnishing strategic materials to Iron Curtain countries. Instead, legislation known as the battle act finally "authorized" the President to withdraw all financial and military aid when the embargo list was violated.

The club has largely gathered dust, although its presence within the president's reach has had its effect at times. In two cases of direct violation of the nations involved — Italy and Holland — have been told to go and sin no more. Now the same thing seems likely to happen to Denmark.

In 1946, long before mutual security and before the world had fully realized what the cold war was all about, Danish interests agreed to build an oil tanker for Russia. Nobody thought about it when the mutual security agreements were being made. When the time came for delivery, the U.S. protested. Denmark said there was no legal way of voiding the contract, and made delivery.

Now Washington officialdom is in a stew. Officials don't want to run any risk of offending congress even if it is not in session.

They're looking for a way out. Denmark is a good friend of the United States. She doesn't get a lot of aid as those things go these days, something like $300 million being involved at the moment. But she is a sector in the Allied defense front, in which all sectors are important. She can't be knocked in the head over such a mixup.

The only point seems to be that attempts to legislate international cooperation frequently turn out to be mere stumbling blocks.

IN THE MAIL Monday morning was a letter from a justifiably irate reader who was a trifle "hot and bothered" about my university orchestra review last Thursday.

The reader says: "In your review of the State University of Iowa Symphony concert of 2 July, you made a strong point of the fact that Richard Hervig and James Waerey were student composers. It may interest you to know that Dr. Hervig is an Assistant Professor of Music in the University and neither he nor his music are of student quality."

It seems to me that any newspaperman should first of all be sure of his facts. In view of the fact that the bulk of a critic's writings are subjective in nature, it is even more important that he present accurate factual data. . . . In giving inaccurate facts you tend to minimize the authority with which you voice your personal opinions."

I can hardly disagree with this reader's statements. I can only offer my sincerest apologies to Dr. Hervig for confusing him with the student classification. My only excuse for the confusion regarding Dr. Hervig's rank is the simple defense that I neglected to refer to his name in the university directory.

Half-Million Buy Game Licenses

DES MOINES (P) — More than half a million persons bought licenses to fish, hunt and trap in Iowa during the last permit year, and they paid more than a million dollars for the privileges granted.

The state conservation commission said statistics for the license year, ended last March 31, show 557,384 permits were issued and $1,020,893 was collected on their sale.

However, the figures both show declines from the previous year. For the 1950-51 license year, 577,021 permits were issued and $1,060,443 collected. Thus the decrease in both instances was slight.

Hickerson To Attend Idaho Conference

Loren Hickerson, director of the SUI Alumni association, will leave Thursday for Sun Valley, Idaho, to attend the 37th general conference of the American Alumni Council which begins July 14.

The Alumni Council is an organization made up of alumni office administrators of colleges and universities throughout the country.

Hickerson, director of offices for the national organization, will speak on the first day of the three-day conference.

They Raise Funds

Alumni associations are organized by colleges and universities to raise funds to enable the educational institutions to engage in activities that would not be covered by institution funds.

Public relations, student loans, scholarships, special publications and other special projects are financed by these funds.

The associations serve their members by promoting various programs in their interest. The SUI Alumni service publishes a bi-monthly magazine entitled The Iowa Review consisting of news of SUI alumni. It also contains news of SUI activities that may be of interest to the alumni.

Send Sports Letters

Throughout the various athletic seasons, SUI coaches send association members reports concerning current sports activities. In addition members get priority in stadium seats when they order football tickets.

A recent survey of 394 colleges and universities with more than four and a half million college graduates, indicated that the main interest of the graduates concerning their alma mater was interest in other classmates.

Second in interest was current news concerning athletics. In the past five years the mem-

LOREN HICKERSON, director of the SUI Alumni association, shows Pat Hutinger, a clerk in the association office, one of the display cards he will take with him when he goes to Sun Valley, Idaho, to attend the 37th general conference of the American Alumni Council.

Student Group To Televis Original Play

A one-act phantasy, "George and the Dispeptic Dragon," will be presented by the all state speech and dramatic art high school workshop group on WOC-TV's University Hour Sunday, Carolyn Silverthorne, workshop television director, has announced.

The play, written by Helen Baird, Indianola, a graduate dramatic art student at SUI, is centered about a young lover and a young dragon. Both have been sent out into the world to prove their manliness, the former to secure a dragon's tooth, the latter to get a man's sword.

Several radio scripts are also being rehearsed for presentation over station WSUI in Iowa City, Miss Silverthorne said. In addition, members of the 21st annual workshop will present a three-act play by J. B. Priestley, "Time and the Conways," the week of July 13.

Reds Blockaded After Berlin Kidnapping

BERLIN (AP) — Aroused by the kidnaping of an anti-Communist lawyer, the West Berlin city government decided Tuesday night to blockade all roads leading into the surrounding Russian zone.

The kidnap victim was Dr. Walter Linse, 48, chief of the economics branch of the League of Free Jurists.

Three men abducted him from the American sector in broad daylight Tuesday and raced by motor car into the Soviet zone, firing pistols and strewing nails to slow pursuers.

Send Protest

Maj. Gen. Lemuel Mathewson, the U.S. commandant in Berlin, sent a sharp protest to the Russians against the kidnaping. He demanded the immediate release of Dr. Linse.

The League of Free Jurists has been a thorn to the Communists for about three years. The league is composed of almost a thousand attorneys and judges who fled to West Berlin from the Soviet zone. Its primary work is to record violations by East Germany's Red government of basic German law.

The kidnaping followed a series of border incidents.

Streets Barricaded

Mayor Ernst Reuter's cabinet decided to barricade all the streets that touch on the Soviet zone border, which is nearly 90 miles long. The border between West Berlin and East Berlin, it was announced, will be guarded with special patrols.

The government called on all Berliners to help the police by increased watchfulness. The orders are to turn the Allied sectors into a virtual armed camp after a month of pressure during which the Communists have been building a "death zone" around the city with the excuse that they had to protect themselves against spies.

Cross at Unguarded Place

The border crossing was made where the U.S. sector and the Russian zone meet near Teltow, unguarded by West Berlin police. In the past two years, the Soviet regime's German Communists have engineered the disappearance of several hundred West Germans on their "wanted" list.

None was so bold, however, as Tuesday's.

Jean Benoit, chief of personnel for the French high commission in West Berlin, was seized Sunday while walking along the border at Frohnau. He was returned after 24 hours of captivity.

Workshop Plans Use of Resources

Social studies teachers from eastern Iowa communities are meeting at SUI this week for a geography workshop. The meeting will extend through July 19.

The first of its kind to be held at the university, the workshop is planned to promote greater use of community resources in the teaching of social sciences. With the exception of daily lecture sessions, the participants will spend their time preparing methods designed to meet the needs of their own teaching situations.

The two-week session is sponsored by the SUI department of geography.

bership of the SUI alumni organization has increased from 800 persons to the present membership of 3,700.

Any graduate, former student or staff member of the university may join the SUI Alumni association.

Justice Official Perlman Quits Government Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Solicitor General Philip Perlman, who unsuccessfully pressed President Truman's claim for power to seize the steel industry in a historic supreme court test, resigned from government service Tuesday. Announcing the resignation, Truman said he accepted it with "sincere regret" and wished Perlman success on his return to private law practice.

Widely recognized as one of the top trial lawyers in the country, Perlman personally handled 61 government cases in the supreme court during his five-year term, winning 48 of them.

Won Anti-Red Case

Among his victories were cases establishing the validity of an anti-Communist oath for union leaders and contempt action against leading Reds.

Perlman, 62, is the fourth high justice department official to quit since James P. McGranery took over as attorney general on May 27 following the ousting of J. Howard McGrath. McGrath was fired April 3 within a few hours after he had sacked Newbold Morris as the administration's anti-corruption chief.

The earlier resignations involved H. Graham Morison, head of the anti-trust division; Harold I. Baynton, head of the alien property office; and William A. Underhill, chief of the lands division. McGranery himself announced the resignations of Morison, Baynton and Underhill. All three were assistant attorneys general.

'First Real Vacation'

Perlman, who had served as acting attorney general after McGrath stepped out and until McGranery took over, told newsmen his immediate plans call for taking "my first real vacation in five years."

Obviously aware that he is leaving at a time when the justice department has been under heavy fire, Perlman emphasized in his letter of resignation that the work of his office has been carried on without pressure from any quarter "and without criticism."

A native of Baltimore, Md., he was originally a newspaperman

there and long identified with public life in Maryland before entering federal service. He had been city solicitor for Baltimore, Maryland's secretary of state and its assistant attorney general.

He was nominated by President Truman in January, 1947.

AIR SQUADRON TO MEET

Flight B of the 9688th volunteer air reserve training squadron will meet at 7 p.m. tonight in the SUI field house armory. The program will feature a talk by Capt. Robert Castater, a member of the unit, who will speak on "Concept of All Weather Flying." There will also be a coordinated training film.

National All-Stars Win, 3-2, In 5-Inning Tilt

Sauer's Homer Decides Game

SHIBE PARK, PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Hammering Hank Sauer, major league leader in home runs, smashed a tremendous two-run, 430-foot homer atop the left field roof Tuesday to give the National league its third straight all-star victory, 3-2, in a bob-tailed game halted by rain after five innings.

After waiting 56 minutes while the rain turned the uncovered infield into a huge mud pie, the umpires finally called the game at 2:14 p.m. (CST). It was the first time an all-star game had been curtailed by weather in its 19-game history.

Jackie Robinson's first-inning home run started the Nationals on their way and Sauer nailed down their seventh win in the fourth inning.

1950 Episode
Sauer, the "black sheep" of the squad in 1950 when Manager Burt Shotton tried vainly to remove him from the starting lineup, crashed one of the longest homers in all-star records — a poke that landed on the left field roof and bounced into the street outside Shibe park.

Since Sauer's blast came after Bob Lemon nicked Stan Musial on the left arm with a pitched ball, that was the ball game.

The muscle boys of the Nationals, using only three hits to win, overshadowed the brilliant one-inning pitching job of Bobby Shantz, half-pint lefty of the Philadelphia A's.

Shantz Fans 3
Little Bobby came into sight in the fifth and promptly struck out Whitey Lockman, Jackie Robinson and Stan Musial with his darting knuckler and singing fast ball. Shantz wasn't even supposed to pitch because of a chest muscle injury.

The soggy remnants of the sell-out crowd of 32,785 that paid $108,762.40 into the player's pension fund, gave the idol of Philadelphia a rousing ovation.

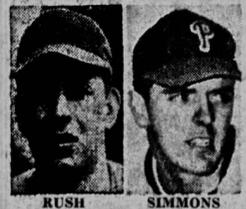

That was their last chance to cheer for the rains came down in earnest in the top of the sixth. Bob Rush of the Chicago Cubs, who turned out to be the winning pitcher, had thrown only two pitches to White Soxer Minnie Minoso when play was halted. It never resumed.

In Festive Mood
The big crowd was in a festive mood after hometown Curt Simmons, the Phillies' blazing southpaw, struck out two in a burst of first-inning fire.

Simmons drew a roaring ovation after he ended his three-inning stint with a 1-0 lead. A double by Boston's Dom DiMaggio with two out in the third was the only American league hit up to that time.

But the picture changed suddenly in the fourth when the Americans ripped into Rush, second national pitcher, for two runs and a 2-1 lead. Uncertain fielding on the slippery turf hurt the National cause.

Minoso Doubles
Minoso slashed Rush's first pitch into the right field corner for a double. After Cleveland's Al Rosen sen walked on a 3-2 count, Rush staved off mounting disaster by making Yankee Yogi Berra foul out.

Eddie Robinson of Chicago bounced a slithering single past Jackie Robinson that scored Minoso with the tying run. It looked like a sure fire double play ball, but Robinson, unsteady in the heavy going, let the ball slip past him.

Bobby Avila of Cleveland put the Americans out in front, 2-1, with a rap through the box that

MINOSO ROBINSON

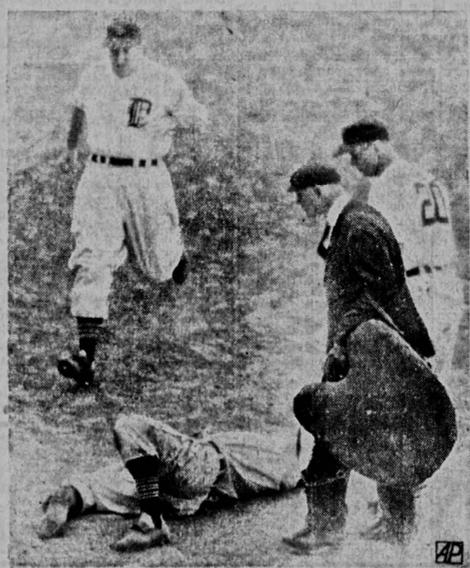

Robinson deflected with a diving try. It went for another scratch single.

The Sauer Hits
The 2-1 lead didn't last long enough to get it into print. With one out, Lemon hit Musial. Then came Sauer's crusher.

Although Rush was the winning pitcher, Simmons actually pitched better ball with a one-hitter for three innings. Rush gave up four hits in two frames.

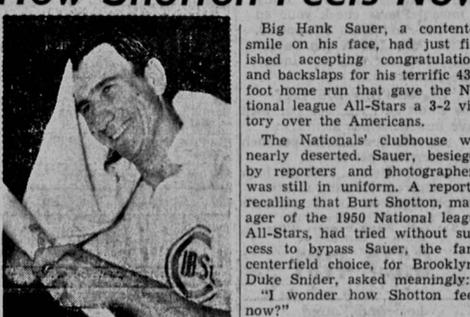

Raschi, although tagged for Robinson's homer, also struck out three in his two-inning stay. Lemon, Sauer's victim, was the loser.

Priddy Injured in Slide

Des Moines Bruins Whitewash Cubs, 2-0 With 2-Hit Pitching

DES MOINES (AP) — Joe Kuncel pitched a two-hit shutout as Des Moines of the Western league defeated the parent Chicago Cubs, 2-0, in an exhibition game here Tuesday night.

Kuncel struck out seven batters and walked three as he went the full nine innings. The Cubs failed to advance a man past first base. Nearly 5,000 fans watched the Bruins post their second victory in five exhibition games with the Cubs and get their second shutout in 82 contests this season.

Chicago's two hits came on a ground single to right field by Bill Serena in the fifth inning and Gene Hermanski's lead-off blooper to short left field in the seventh. Serena was thrown out trying to steal second, and Hermanski was stranded.

A single by Hank Nasternak, an infield out and Bob Dant's line single accounted for the first Bruin run in the second inning.

In the third, John Magliolo led off with a bunt, advanced on a single by Ed Lavigne and scored on Fred Richards' hit through the pitcher's box.

The Bruins were held hitless in the last five innings by Turk Lown and Bob Schultz. In the eighth Schultz walked three Bruins in succession, but a double play snuffed out the rally.

Stengel Tells Scribes After 3d Loss—

'Maybe It Was the Rain'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "I ain't blaming anybody," Casey Stengel replied as he polished himself briskly with a towel in the American league locker room after the damp and abbreviated contest which the Nationals won, 3-2.

"Maybe it was the rain," he ventured.

His melange of athletes from the various clubs already were shedding sodden uniforms, although the game officially had not been called off. They were quiet, attending strictly to business, and you wouldn't have known whether they won or lost.

Wee Bobby Shantz, who had fanned Whitey Lockman, Jackie Robinson and Stan Musial in order in the one inning he worked, possibly because the National leaguers weren't used to having the ball rise out of the ground that way, still was in uniform, ready to go out there again if by chance play was resumed.

"What league would you like to pitch in?" someone asked the thin-

Casey Stengel
A Three-Time Loser

facied, dead-panned little guy. He grinned.

"The Western," he said, playing it safe.

"I was going to use him just one more inning, then maybe put in Satchell Paige and end up with Mike Garcia," Stengel explained.

The Yankee pilot also defended his own strategy in letting Bob Lemon hit for himself with men in scoring position.

"How did I know it was going to rain," he exploded. "Sure, I had good men I could have used for pinch hitters sitting on the bench, but I might have needed them later. And besides, Lemon is a pretty good hitter. I know he hit six home runs off my team."

Asked to give a pithy summary of the game, the gnarled old skipper said there wasn't much to say except that the National leaguers got the home runs, and they were ahead when the five innings were over.

Will Harridge, American league president, came in to thank Stengel for his efforts.

"Thanks, sorry I couldn't do more," Casey said.

At Olympic Games — 1st Meeting Is A Flop

— Between Soviets and U.S.

HELSENKI (AP) — American Olympic athletes had their first encounter with the Russians Tuesday. It was a social flop.

Both groups just stared at the other. No one spoke.

The Americans insisted, however, that there was no intentional slighting.

"Everybody seemed to be just waiting for the other to make the first move, and nobody did," said Edgar White, 22-year-old American yachtsman from New York city.

The encounter happened this way:

Tied Nearby
Both the American and Russian Olympic yachts are moored at the Nylandsak Yacht club in Helsinki's harbor. In fact, the Russian 5.5 meter yacht is tied up right next to the American 5.5 entry, the "Complex II."

The two crews passed each other as they took their boats out for a trial run.

The Russians peered at the Americans and at their boat. The Americans stared back.

Waving Stage
"We hope to work up at least to the waving stage on our next meeting," said Edgar White's twin brother, Summer.

This yacht club appears to be the only place in the entire Olympic setup where Americans and

3 Iowans Deadlocked For Medalist Honors

WATERLOO, IA. (AP) — A three-way deadlock developed Tuesday in the battle for medalist honors in the state amateur golf tournament.

Dick Bruns, 20, Waverly, playing in the meet for the first time, Harlan Benshoos, 24, of Des Moines, and Veteran Walt Hodge, of Dubuque, shared the front spot with par 72.

They were the only players in the field of 134 to equal perfect figures for the stubborn 6,065-yard Byrnes park course.

Jim Rasley of Des Moines, who had an appendectomy only a month ago, was hot after the leaders at late day but faltered to finish with a 73 after being two under par for 13 holes.

Iowa City Athlete To Enroll at SUI

Jim Freeman, outstanding Iowa City athlete, said Tuesday that he plans to enroll at SUI this fall.

He had earlier indicated that he might enroll in either Indiana or Wisconsin. Many other colleges were known to be interested in the youth.

An all state football choice for two years while playing end and fullback for the Little Hawks, Freeman stands 6-3 and weighs 220. He was the state champion shot putter in track this spring, and was the top scorer on the Iowa City basketball team.
