Ike Wins Texas, Georgia Delegates

Group OKs Platform After Civil Rights Fight

Lodge Says Ike Will Win on Early Ballot

CHICAGO (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's campaign manager claimed Wednesday night that the 607 to 531 vote which the general's forces polled on seating the Georgia delegation assures his nomination on an early ballot.

The Republican national convention voted by that margin to deny permanent seating to a Georgia delegation favorable to Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Eisenhower's major rival for the GOP presidential nomination.

Lodge Cites Fair Play

Eisenhower's campaign manager, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. of Massachusetts, promptly issued a statement in which he declared:

"The vote on the Georgia case is a decisive demonstration that this convention is determined to decide the issue on the basis of fair play whenever that issue is presented to it."

"It leaves no room for doubt as to what the verdict will be in the case of Texas and it is an unmistakable indication that Eisenhower will be nominated on an early ballot."

Radio Commentator To Be 5th Speaker In Lecture Series

Harrison Wood

Harrison Wood, news analyst and radio commentator, will deliver the fifth summer session lecture on "This Changing World" Monday at 8 p.m. on the south campus of the Iowa Memorial Union.

The lecture will be given in Macbride auditorium in case of rain.

Wood was born in Rising Sun, Ia. He was, for many years, a journalist and correspondent in Europe, Asia, especially China, and has visited Russia several times.

Wood participated in some of the first conferences leading to the signing of the United Nations charter, when he was a journalist.

He attempts, in his lectures, to answer the three most important questions that people have — where we are now, how we got there, and where we are going.

World News Briefs

A Condensation of Late Developments

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Police blamed Communists Wednesday for a midnight explosion that shattered windows, damaged books and dug a hole 20 inches across in the concrete arcade of the Lincoln library, operated by the United States information service. Seven men were arrested and three or four were reported still held Wednesday night.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman Wednesday signed a bill setting up two classes of reservists and limiting his authority to call them into active military service. The measure, passed by Congress last week, divides reservists into "ready" and "standby" groups. The "ready" reserves can be called up by the President during an emergency but Congress decides how many shall be called. This group is limited to a total of 1½ million members.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union Wednesday killed with its 50th veto an American resolution declaring false the Soviet charges of germ warfare and condemning their circulation throughout the world. The vote in the security council was nine in favor of the resolution and the Soviet Union alone opposed.

Allies Begin Pincers As Heavy Fighting Rages on Korea Front

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Heavy fighting for a key ridge on the far eastern Korean front raged into the late afternoon Wednesday.

Allied infantrymen pushed off from directions at dawn in a pincers movement against the ridge paralleling the Nam river and five miles from the sea of Japan coast.

North Korean resistance increased as the pincers began to close. The Reds counterattacked twice. By 3 p.m. the Allied raiders were only 50 yards apart — but separated by forbidding bluffs on the ridgeline and heavy Communist fire.

At the truce parleys' Allied and Communist delegates will confer in executive session again today on prisoner exchange — the last major issue deadlocking the truce talks which started a year ago.

Iron Ore Is Necessary

Iron ore is the principal ingredient of steel. It is refined into iron and the iron, in turn, is refined into steel.

Preparing for Trip Abroad

SCOTTISH HIGHLANDERS CAME back to campus Wednesday to put the finishing touches on practice, packing, and final briefing for their trip abroad. They leave Iowa City on Sunday for Montreal, their port of embarkation. A dozen large packing cases such as the one shown will be required to hold their bagpipes, drums and uniforms. Shown here are (left to right) Bonnie Nicholas, A3, Mason City; Mary Beth Mauer, A4, Le Mars; Bill Adamson, Highlander director; Mary Sahs, A4, Eariville, and Eunice Achenbach, A3, Lisbon.

Steel leaders say if they can't bring iron ore down the Great Lakes in summer, they can't build up the ore stockpiles they need to keep operating next winter when the lakes are frozen. That would mean the mills would shut down months after the current strike of 600,000 United steelworkers is finally settled.

No reaction from USW President Philip Murray is available. Aides said he will have nothing to say about the proposal until he gets it officially from the industry.

Industry Request Near

Steel sources indicated the industry request is only a few hours away.

The steel industry's move to get iron ore miners back at work is a blow to any hopes that the GOP would set them at whatever levels the secretary of agriculture found necessary to help farmers by setting up a non-partisan board to make farm policies.

Under the subcommittee plan

the secretary of agriculture, who now makes policy decisions within the framework of farm laws, would be reduced to carrying out the board's decisions.

The issue of farm price support levels was met in this way: the GOP would set them at whatever levels the secretary of agriculture found necessary to help farmers get full parity prices at the market place.

It was greeted with a roar of approval as he came to the last line of a statement in which he said "I cast my ballot for Eisenhower."

When the 607 to 531 vote in favor of the pro-Eisenhower delegation was announced, another noisy demonstration broke out.

Platform, Delegation Problems to Be Aired By State Democrats

DES MOINES (AP) — Delegates to the biennial Democratic state convention were converging on Des Moines Wednesday night for a session Thursday which held promise of fireworks.

Possibilities of a vocal airing of differences centered chiefly around the likelihood of at least some fights over makeup of the state central committee, around the struggle of Democratic presidential aspirants for Iowa delegation support, and around the liquor-by-the-drink plank favored by Mayor Herschel Loveless of Ottumwa.

Loveless is the party's nominee for governor and chances seemed strong that he would urge the party to take a clear cut stand on the liquor issue in its state platform.

It was anticipated that younger members of the party would renew their attempt to have the convention take an informal presidential preference poll. A similar move was defeated in the recent Democratic state presidential convention. The defeat ranked proponents of the move.

CHICAGO (AP) — The resolutions committee of the Republican convention approved Wednesday a 1952 platform that gave the North a victory over the South in a bitter battle over the civil rights plank.

Foreign policy, national defense, agriculture, labor and other issues met with the almost unanimous approval of a 90-odd member resolutions committee.

Reflecting largely a bitter feud over how the problem of racial discrimination should be handled, the committee spent six continuous hours behind closed doors — much of it on the civil rights question.

Members Want Commission

Northern members of the committee wanted the GOP to go on record for a federal commission with authority to hold hearings and summon witnesses in cases of alleged discrimination in the hiring ad firing of Negroes and other racial groups.

The northern version was not accepted, but the final draft committed the GOP to enact federal legislation dealing with the problem. Parsons had insisted that the plank specify that such legislation should not compel employers to adhere to non-discriminatory employment practices.

The foreign policy plank — which also will be submitted with the full platform for convention approval today — made this promise:

Will Encourage Forces

"We shall encourage and aid the development of collective security forces there (in western Europe), as elsewhere, so as to end the Soviet power to intimidate directly or by satellites and so that the free governments will be sturdy to resist Communist inroads."

It said "tragic blunders" had grown out of secret agreements made by the Roosevelt-Truman administration at Tehran, Yalta and Potsdam.

The foreign policy plank has been approved by both major candidates for the party's presidential nomination — Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Plank Takes Out Steam

The farm plank as approved by the full committee took some of the steam out of a subcommittee proposal that the GOP promise to take farm problems out of politics by setting up a non-partisan board to make farm policies.

Under the subcommittee plan the secretary of agriculture, who now makes policy decisions within the framework of farm laws, would be reduced to carrying out the board's decisions.

The issue of farm price support levels was met in this way: the GOP would set them at whatever levels the secretary of agriculture found necessary to help farmers get full parity prices at the market place.

It was greeted with a roar of approval as he came to the last line of a statement in which he said "I cast my ballot for Eisenhower."

When the 607 to 531 vote in favor of the pro-Eisenhower delegation was announced, another noisy demonstration broke out.

Captures 16-Vote Lead After Fiery Floor Battle

CONVENTION HALL, CHICAGO (THURSDAY) (AP) — Taft forces, routed in a contest with the Eisenhower camp over Georgia delegates, early today let a heavy pro-Eisenhower Texas delegation be seated in the Republican national convention without a roll-call vote.

On a motion of the Taft-backing delegation from Iowa, the convention made up of 33 Eisenhower backers and 5 Taft supporters.

Taft men had fought earlier for a rival delegation of 22 for Taft and 16 for Ike.

On the Associated Press score-board on delegate standing in the Republican presidential nomination contest, Ike went out ahead for the first time with 501 delegates to Taft's 485.

Decide Georgia Delegates

Late Wednesday night, the Republican national convention, sitting as a gigantic, strife-racked jury, seated a pro-Eisenhower Georgia delegation in a decision that could determine the outcome of the whole Taft-Eisenhower fight for the presidential nomination.

The 607 to 531 vote was a powerful and possibly deadly blow to the presidential hopes of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio. It sent a frenzy of joy through the camp of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The 17 votes at stake in the More GOP convention highlights are included on the back page of this issue.

Georgia contest was a tiny portion of the convention's total of 1,206 seats, but the decision was a tip-off on who had the whip hand.

California Shows

Right at the outset, California showed which way it was leaning if Gov. Earl Warren pulls out of the presidential sweepstakes. It laid 62 votes on the line for Eisenhower, eight for Taft.

Another key delegation, Michigan, threw 32 votes to the general, 14 to the Ohio senator.

New York gave Eisenhower's cause 92 votes to 4 for Taft. Pennsylvania split 52-18 for Eisenhower.

It was Virginia that hit the jackpot number — 570 for Eisenhower. That made the political neophyte look more and more like a presidential candidate when the convention gets around to the nominee picking business sometime today.

Strange Jury Sitting

It was a strange jury of frantic partisans that sat in judgment in the massive struggle. Boos and cheers from the delegates rolled through the vast amphitheater at the edge of the Chicago stockyards.

There was at least one fist fight on the floor. That was after Sen. Everett Dirksen, pro-Taft spellbinder from Illinois, pointed a finger at Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and implored the Eisenhower leader to "re-examine your heart."

Georgia, Texas and 13 Louisiana delegates couldn't vote, because contests affecting them still were unsettled. It took 570 votes to put across the fateful decision.

When the 607 to 531 vote in favor of the pro-Eisenhower delegation was announced, another noisy demonstration broke out.

Aid for the Able

Many high school valedictorians never return to the classroom. The President's commission on higher education has reported that for every student who attends college another gifted student does not because he can't afford it.

A proposal providing scholarships of up to $800 a year to between 50,000 to 60,000 high school students is being sent to congress, Oscar Ewing, federal security administrator, announced June 23. At least 60 per cent of the funds would be given to students in fields of study related to national defense. The proposal also would allow students to borrow up to $600 a year from their college, with the government insuring up to 80 per cent of the unpaid balance of the loans.

The President requested a program of this kind last January. Nothing came of it. In the rarified air of debate over billions to be given to foreign countries and the military, a little education program apparently didn't have a chance to breathe.

According to the proposal, those receiving scholarships would be chosen by state scholarship commissions which would set up the standards for qualification. The money would go directly to the student and he would be free to choose his own college. No federal official could exercise any direction over the curriculum of any educational institution.

Surely no one can find even a hint of "federal control of education" with these rules governing the program.

When in full swing, Ewing estimated the aid to students would cost the government about $128 million annually. Last year the nation spent over $4 billion for military bases. It spent $7 billion to aid foreign allies and another $56 billion for maintenance of the armed forces.

It is rash then to spend $128 million annually to prepare a new generation of experts to staff the country's research labs?

Or is it folly to spend $128 million to educate those who have potential leadership qualities?

Indeed, is it wasteful spending to develop the minds of the "neediest of the ablest"?

TO THE EDITOR: "We're the ones that will suffer if these political incompetents elect the wrong party."

Why did we chuckle at Inferlandi's cartoon? To escape as pleasantly as possible its pointed truth? Have we not suffered, and our children also, because "wrong parties" have and will surely in the future come to power?

Is there a right, a really right party in America today? The wrong party, according to such diverse authorities as President Truman, General MacArthur, the Progressive candidates, and indeed myself, seems to be the war party. The right party, then, must logically be the peace party.

Yet the Democrats are prosecuting a war that has come to nothing but the atrocious slaughter of thousands and the waste of the nation it supposedly seeks to "unify." They are fighting for and expect to be defended by the totalitarian war machines of Singhman, Rhee, of the Dutch and French and other imperial powers in the Far East, of Generalissimo Franco and Marshall Tito and behind them the Nazis of Germany.

Taft, Eisenhower, and the other little Republicans seem to disagree in the throes of their convention, but actually differ from the Democrats only in wanting to extend the slaughter throughout Asia.

Hoover Bases GOP Talk On Long Political Career

CHICAGO (AP) — Highlights of former president Herbert Hoover's prepared address to the Republican national convention Tuesday night:

This is the fifth time I have had the high honor of addressing the conventions of the Republican party. From the inexorable course of nature, this is likely to be the last time I shall attend your convention.

Success? They certainly did not make free men.

We may also take a cold look at the second major area of the Truman-Acheson policies. That is — Western Europe. For six years we have listened to a multitude of plans, agreements, pronouncements and promises of great European armies. What is the net result of these efforts?

Aside from American and British divisions, this European army seems determined to keep its phantom quality.

The potential is there (continental Europe), but we must by now realize that the will is lacking. These six nations of Western Europe have no stirring belief in present danger. We have heard no clamor from these countries to spend their lives, their fortunes or their sacred honor to defend their liberties.

Kefauver Forces Claim 403 Votes Of Delegate Total

By The Associated Press

Kefauver-for-President headquarters posted a claim Tuesday night that Sen. Estes Kefauver will go to the Democratic national convention on July 21 with 403 delegate votes — nearly two-thirds of the figure needed for nomination.

At Tehran, Yalta and Potsdam we sacrificed the freedom of 650 million human beings upon the altar of appeasement to communism... The ghosts of the Four Freedoms and the Atlantic charter now wander amid the clanking chains of a thousand slave camps.

There is less freedom in the world today than at any time for a whole century. Have our foreign policies over those years been a success? They certainly did not make free men.

At the Democratic national convention on July 21, Kefauver will go to the Democratic national convention on July 21 with 403 delegate votes — nearly two-thirds of the figure needed for nomination.

Kefauver's campaign manager, Gael Sullivan, said the 403 votes would be "twice as many as any other candidate" would command.

The latest Associated Press tally shows Kefauver far out in front in terms of delegate strength, with a total of 252 compared with 117½ for Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia and 101½ for foreign aid chief Averell Harriman.

Russell himself claims about 300. Nomination requires 616.

Meanwhile, Chairman Frank McKinney of the Democratic national committee called for a plank in the party platform denouncing any attempt to inject racial or religious bigotry into the political campaign.

In a letter to six protestant, Catholic and Jewish leaders, McKinney declared:

"The Democratic party will not condone such activity in behalf of any of its members and will vigorously condemn and disavow any such activity should it develop."

GOP Campaign Strategy Will Be Long Argued

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

As this was being written the Battle of Chicago was proceeding at a pace which precluded any sensible guess as to its outcome.

Only one thing seemed certain: questions of campaign strategy were being raised which could provide the politicians with food for argument for years to come.

The first question came on the opening day, when the Taft organization went through with a losing fight on the matter of the rules.

This effort of the Taft forces to drive through by main strength continued until Wednesday morning.

The initial Eisenhower victory on the rules was very obviously valuable to those who were trying to get his bandwagon over.

Movement to Ike

All reports hinted a quiet movement among non-committed and favorite son delegates toward Eisenhower.

However, it may turn out, the politicians still will be wondering whether steamrollers have not become too unpopular for either side in American politics.

The Taft-controlled national committee, even though Taft had no objections, had ruled out television and subjected itself to wonderment as to what it had to hide.

Taft Against Compromise

Taft continued to go against the appeals for compromise and the expressed wishes of 23 Republican governors. The question was flying: why was the showdown invited?

From the first hours of the convention the reaction seemed apparent to almost everyone. Taft was faced with the proposition of giving up vitally-needed southern delegates or of adding to an unfavorable reaction.

Then, Wednesday morning, the first break came. The Taftites handed Louisiana — or most of it — to Eisenhower.

It was a bid to get back in the good graces of those who put party solidarity ahead of personalities.

Taft was willing to sacrifice for that purpose. How far he would go, and whether it was sufficient to stop the reaction against him, were matters still to be seen.

New Products Hit Market This Week With 'Thimble Pen'

NEW YORK (AP) — A pen that fits right over the end of your finger like a thimble and curtains that smell like a flower garden are a couple of the new products on the market this week.

The Tenite plastic finger pen — called "thim-ball" — has a ball point. You insert your finger in the thimble-like holder and write as usual.

A small lever retracts the point when not in use. An ink refill can be inserted in five seconds, says the maker, A. J. Carlson Inc. of Berkeley, Calif.

The perfumed curtains are made of a plastic developed by Monsanto chemical's plastic division in Springfield Mass. The scent is in the plastic itself. The curtains, and the same material in yard-goods, are distributed by Plastron Inc. of New York.

Pearl-Wick corporation of Long Island City has a new model clothes hamper on the market featuring a recessed cupboard in the back for storing a toilet brush and various cleaning items. The storage space is concealed when the hamper is in its normal position against the wall.

A new adhesive to bond rubber tile to concrete has been developed by Pioneer Latex & Chemical Co. of Middlesex, N. J. The company stresses that the adhesive will not deteriorate with dampness which is so often present when concrete is in contact with the ground.

Proper Foot Care Eliminates Trouble In Summer Weather

This is the season when many a girl who has spent long weeks dieting and exercising to look glamorous in her new bathing suit suddenly realizes that her glamour stops at the ankles.

Bunions, corns, calluses and similar foot disfigurements may not be the chief cause of blasted summer romances, but they certainly don't help. Besides, they can make life miserable during working hours.

Summer time is tough on the feet from the point of view of both beauty and health. Warm weather brings your feet out of your shoes, and onto the beach, where everybody can see them.

Moreover, the extra activity most of us engage in during the summer, and the unsuitable shoes many of us wear, play hob with our feet.

The American Foot Care Institute has this pertinent advice on the subject: "Devoting a little extra time and thought to the selection of shoes can eliminate foot trouble and make for a happy summer. Wear all-leather shoes which fit properly. Buy shoes that are roomy, since your feet will inevitably swell towards the end of a hot day. Make certain the shoes are well constructed with supple leather uppers and flexible leather soles. Leather's breathing qualities will cool the feet by means of rapid evaporation of moisture."

Dr. Benjamin Kauth, the institute's director, has a special word to say about play-shoes and casuals. He doesn't suggest that we never wear them, but he warns that "constant wearing of flimsy play-shoes is bad for the feet. Canvas or cloth shoes provide insufficient support and are usually treated with starch to make them rigid. The starch fills the spaces between the fibers and prevents air from entering, or moisture from evaporating. In addition, the rubber or composition soles of such shoes are likewise impermeable to cooling air and are heavy to boot."

A sewing machine cabinet built like a home desk is the newest model of the Necchi Sewing Machine Corp. of New York. The machine folds out of sight in the center of the desk. The company also has a companion chair with a drawer under the seat for sewing accessories.

Weddings Approach For SUI Students

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cooper Armstrong of Cedar Rapids announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Mary Helen, and Dr. Edwin Ralph Dusek of Fayetteville, Ark., son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Dusek of Rowena, Tex.

The marriage will take place in August.

Miss Armstrong took post graduate work at SUI after she was graduated from Cornell college. This last year she has done remedial teaching in the public schools at Elgin, Ill.

She is 28 and married. Her husband has gone through medical school and is in residency and taking the training to become a psychoanalyst.

Someday she hopes to devote her entire time to painting. Now she experiences the pleasure of buying paintings with her proceeds.

Private Art Gallery Opens

"5," a gallery of the contemporary paintings of five Iowa City artists, opened Tuesday evening in the Burkley hotel.

The gallery, which is the first private art gallery to be opened in Iowa City for many years, is the creation of four graduate students taking courses in the SUI art department, and one individual unconnected with SUI. The four students are Jack Roth, who studied in San Francisco and sponsored several "one man" shows in San Francisco art galleries; Rachel Chester, who studied in Washington, D.C. and at Hood College in Maryland; Peter Witwer, a student in the SUI art department; and Dominick DiMeo, who was associated with the Momentum Art group in Chicago, and Chris Shelton, who studied at Bradley University in Peoria, Ill.

The gallery was founded by these five with the idea of exhibiting the work of local artists, as well as bringing the work of more nationally known artists to Iowa City.

Later exhibits will include one man exhibitions by the founders of the gallery, periodic exhibits of New York, Chicago, and west coast artists, competitions for Iowa artists as well as a grand Christmas exhibit of jewelry, furniture and silk-screened draperies and fabrics made by local craftsmen.

The gallery also plans to sponsor chamber music concerts, poetry readings, and art films.

The four stars (left to right) Curt Simmons, Philadelphia Phillies ace lefty, who blanked the American league squad for the first three innings; Bob Rush, Chicago Cubs, the winning pitcher; Hank Sauer, also of the Cubs, whose two-run homer in the fourth gave the Nationals their winning runs, and Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn Dodger second baseman who scored the game's first tally when he homered in the first inning.

Play in 3d Round

Iowa Amateur Golf Champion Advances

WATERLOO (AP) — Defending champion Rodney Bliss, handsome Des Moines insurance executive, Wednesday smashed his way into the third round of the Iowa amateur golf tournament.

The 40-year-old sharpshooter, opening match play with a 3 and 1 victory over young Jack Stewart of Fairfield on a 2-under-par job, followed through in the afternoon with a similar decision over Jim Rasley, often his links companion at home.

Rod was one over par against Rasley but was in command all the way. Little Jack Webb of Spirit Lake, the 1949 champion, also came up with two successes over the dangerous 18-hole, 6,065-yard Byrnes Park course.

Wins Second Round

Webb started with a morning 3 and 2 triumph over John Schutte of Waterloo and edged young John Barton of Davenport 1 up in the second round.

Herb Klontz, the 17-year-old state junior champion from Ottumwa, dropped out in the afternoon when he lost to Merle Bruns, the 48-year-old Waterloo campaigner, 1 down in 19 holes.

Stimson, three times a state finalist, squared the match with a 15-foot putt on the 18th green after he had three putted on 17 to go one down. The big fellow won the extra hole with a par four after Herb's second shot caught some tree branches. Both had par 72's for 18 holes. Klontz was two under par in licking Bud Dunn, Mason City, 3 and 2 in the first round.

Waterloo Hope Wins

Art Koch, another Waterloo hope, also was a double winner.

The former co-holder of the Iowa open title, played even par to eliminate Gordon Cunningham of Davenport, 4 and 3, following his 4 and 3 win over Harold Stone of Waterloo.

Harlan Benshoof the Des Moines city champion, was the only one of three players to share medalist honors to survive Wednesday, and he had to work overtime to do it.

Benshoof went 20 holes for a victory over Tom Davis, 16-year-old Cedar Rapids lad, then took 19 holes to stop Wayne Herrrell of Boone.

Early Leaders Fall

Walt Hodge of Dubuque and Dick Erns of Waverly, who had low 72's with Benshoof in the qualifying business, failed to make it through the opening tests.

Hodge defeated Bob Nygren of Waterloo 1 up but lost to Dan Molineaux of Davenport 1 down in the afternoon. Bruns fell in the first round, losing to Fred Denman of Des Moines, 1 down.

Fred Gordon of Belmond, the 1947 champion, also a first round victim. The veteran lost to Dick Anderson of Boone, 3 and 2, and Anderson promptly was defeated by George Lee of Humboldt, a finalist in the 1948 Kansas state tournament, 2 and 1.

Stimson, three times a state finalist, squared the match with a 15-foot putt on the 18th green after he had three putted on 17 to go one down. ### Yanks Fall in British Golf Meet

Shantz to Be Treated For Chest Condition

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — X-rays confirmed Wednesday that little Bobby Shantz, southpaw pitching ace of the Philadelphia Athletics, is suffering from a muscular condition in his chest.

The 14-game winner, who Tuesday fanned three of the National League's finest hitters in his one inning All-Star game stint, will receive diathermy treatments for the next few days and is not expected to work in the three-game Cleveland series which opens here Thursday night.

Dr. Illarion Gopadez, team physician, said the disturbance was nothing serious and that all the five foot, seven inch, 145 pounder needs is a few extra days of rest.

Muscle injury and all, the mighty mite of baseball struck out Whitey Lockman of the New York Giants; Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals in succession Tuesday in the five inning All-Star game won by the Nationals 3 to 2.

ST. ANNE'S-ON-SEA, ENGLAND (AP) — British and Empire golfers easily staved off a weak challenge by five Americans to-day in the British Open championship as Fred Daly, English Ryder Cupper, carved one stroke off the course record.

After two days of qualifying, the tournament got under way in earnest over the 6,647-yard Royal Lytham and St. Anne's course with 96 players seeking the prize.

Two newcomers to British golf, Willie Goggan of Montclair, N. J., and Jimmy Hines of Chicago, were the closest to Daly, who notched a 67, one stroke under the existing course record.

Goggan leads the U. S. forces with a 71, and is seventh after the first round. Hines, who could not get his irons working properly, carded a 73.

Another stroke behind him came two veterans of golf on both sides of the Atlantic, Gene Sarazen of Germantown, N. Y., and Willie Hunter of Los Angeles.

The field faces another 18 holes tomorrow, and the top 50 then will battle it out Friday in the 36-hole finale.

Russians Get Chummy

At Olympic Games

Russians overshadowed the arrival of the powerful American track and field team, which landed in bright sunlight at 5 a.m. local time and took its first workout 12 hours later.

This was the second plane load from New York with three more to come. Hitherto American teams have always gone to the games by boat.

"We are in reasonably good shape but it will take a few days to loosen up," said Brutus Hamilton of California, head track coach.

Whether this forecasts a minimum of friction in the games themselves, which open July 19, no one can say. Russian and American rivalry was underlined, however, by the Soviets themselves.

"Does the United States have as good a team as they had in London?" asked the leader of a Russian delegation of rowers, canoeists, marksmen and riders that brought 11 carloads of equipment and 18 horses.

"You bet," said an American newspaperman.

(General sports editor Smith of the Associated Press and Murray Rose of the New York AP sports staff were the first American newsmen to tour the isolated camp housing Russian and other "Iron Curtain" country athletes. They merely drove through the gates behind a busload of Hungarian athletes, and several hours later official passes were issued other newspapermen.)

Chicago Officials Rip Crime in Politics

The unholy alliance between politicians and underworld racketeers that permits crime to flourish was verbally flailed Wednesday by Virgil W. Peterson, operating director of the Chicago crime commission.

Speaking before 200 Iowa police officers at their 16th annual training course on the SUI campus, Peterson warned "The backbone of political strength in America today is the underworld character. It's a sad commentary on the country when men of that type can exert such influence on the democratic process."

The crime authority, a native of Olds, Iowa asserted that 10 of 16 Tammany district leaders in New York are directly under the control of America's No. 1 gangster, Frank Costello, and that many of this country's most powerful ward bosses are closely allied with powerful racketeering elements.

Crime Depends on Immunity

"Organized crime is dependent upon immunity," he told the officers. "That immunity is bought from political parties in terms of promised votes and large campaign contributions."

Peterson, who describes the operation of organized crime in his new book, "Barbarians in Our Midst," places the basic responsibility for crime on the shoulders of the American people.

"The American people generally have displayed a lackadaisical attitude toward those rackets which are the backbone of crime — gambling, liquor, and prostitution."

The ex-Iowan warned that as long as public apathy exists, crime will continue to exist, and "there will be entrenchment by the underworld."

Cities Infiltration Examples

He cited actual examples where the alliance had permitted infiltration into the law enforcement agencies by racketeers.

Peterson denied three widespread beliefs: that organized crime began with prohibition, and that both the Mafia and a national crime syndicate exist in America.

Tracing the history of organized crime in this country, he related that the racketeering element, under the leadership of Mike McDonald, "King of the Gamblers," took control of Chicago's city government as early as 1873.

In regards to the Mafia and National crime syndicate, he reported that neither had been proven and neither was given little credence in reliable circles. "But it's not important what name crime goes under," he declared. "All crime syndicates operate on exactly the same principles."

Woman Graduate Dies in California

Alice Louise Knight, daughter of Mrs. Minerva Knight, formerly of Iowa City, died July 5 in Palo Alto, Calif.

Miss Knight was a graduate of Iowa City high school and of SUI. She was affiliated with Gamma Phi Beta, social sorority, and Phi Beta Kappa and Pi Lambda Theta, honorary groups.

After a year of graduate study at SUI and a year of teaching in Dixon, Ill., she enrolled in the school of nursing at the University of Minnesota, from which she graduated in 1945.

Miss Knight served two years in the army, 18 months of which she spent in England and in the army of occupation in Germany.

After her discharge in 1947, she assisted the Red Cross in flood relief in Ottumwa. She then moved to California, where she lived until her death.

Body of Iowa Boy Missing in Minnesota Found on Lake Island

WARROAD, MINN. (AP) — The search for Marvin Henry, Jr., 16, Des Moines, Ia., ended Wednesday when the youth's body washed ashore on Little Cyclone island in Lake of the Woods.

A brief amateur radio report from Oak island, near Cyclone island, said the boy's trousers were down around his ankles, indicating he had been attempting to shed his clothing when he got into the water.

The search had been in progress by American and Canadian officers since the youth disappeared early last Saturday.

First word of his disappearance came from James Major, Jr., 25, a young Indian guide with whom Henry had gone boating.

Ontario provincial police said Major told them he was drunk when he and the youth entered the boat and that he remembered little of what had happened from that time until about noon July 5 when he regained consciousness.

The Indian said he found the boat overturned and Henry missing.

Canadian police planned an autopsy to fix the exact cause of death. The body was found a short distance across the border. They said they had taken a six-page statement from Major and were continuing to question him.

Blackmarket Case Witness Lies to Court

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP) — A German witness was charged with perjury Wednesday immediately after he left the stand in the black market trial of a U. S. air force colonel's wife.

Hans Dieter Bellung, 22, former employee of the East German trade ministry and a refugee from the Russians, testified evasively as a prosecution witness against Mrs. Katherine G. Redd, charged with blackmarketing U. S. gasoline ration coupons, currency and coffee.

When Bellung, who lives in the Reed home here, completed testifying, Defense Counsel Earl Smith waived cross-examination and exclaimed, "Thank you, Dieter."

Judge Calls Them Lies

U. S. District Court Judge DeWitt White of Morgantown, W. Va., then stated "Even the most inexperienced spectators here could see that he (Bellung) was lying. I recommend that the assistant district attorney consider appropriate action."

Prosecutor Jerome Silverstein ordered a warrant issued immediately charging Bellung with perjury and wilfully making a false statement.

Mrs. Reed, whose husband, Col. Allen W. Reed of Fairfield, Ia., was military commander of the Wiesbaden post during the six-month period involved in the charges, has indicated she may take stand in her own defense.

400 Gallons of Gas

The prosecution charges she sold 400 gallons of U. S. gasoline ration coupons, extensive quantities of coffee, and engineered currency transactions.

The Michigan-born woman has pleaded innocent.

One of the 17 charges was dismissed Wednesday after a prosecution witness, Hans Riedl, denied he had purchased 600 gallons of coupons from her. Mrs. Reed contends the charges are fabrications and the outgrowth of animosity by former German employees.

Her defense counsel was granted a recess of the trial until next Monday to summon witnesses.

Vespers Set for Sunday Night

The Rev. William W. Parkinson will be the speaker at the Summer Vespers Sunday at 7:15 p.m. on the west approach to Old Capitol, M. Willard Lampe, chairman of the SUI committee on summer vespers announced Wednesday.

His subject will be "How Are the Mighty Fallen." The services will be held in the senate chamber in case of rain. The SUI department of music will provide instrumental and vocal music for the service.

Parkinson served with the United States navy between 1944 and 1946, and from 1950 until recently he has again been in service in the Pacific.

A few weeks ago he was called to be a chaplain of the U. S. naval auxiliary air station and postgraduate school at Monterey, Calif. From 1946 to 1949 he was professor of religion and philosophy in Lindenwood college, St. Charles, Mo.

At present he is working on an article based upon an original survey of the religious ideas of about 1,000 navy men aboard ships on which he has served.

The purpose of this study is to draw conclusions regarding the ideas men had before entering the navy and how they were changed by the navy.

Martin Promises Impartiality in GOP Convention Split; Ridicules Democrats

CONVENTION HALL, CHICAGO (AP) — Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. assailed the Democrats and promised the Republican national convention Wednesday night he would preside over it as an impartial umpire who knows the rules and calls them fairly.

The stocky congressman, former speaker of the house and now its minority leader, made this pledge as he took over the permanent chairmanship of a national GOP conclave for the fourth consecutive time.

His only desire, he said, was "to make certain that every delegate has a fair chance of expression; to make certain that the will of the majority prevails; and, above all else, to make certain that we shall emerge from this convention a united, militant force."

Mixes Different Moods

Then Martin launched into an attack on the Democrats which mingled serious accusations with humorous barbs designed to heap ridicule on the party in power.

The themes were ones on which the convention already has heard much— inflation, the Korean war, corruption and mismanagement in the federal government, and high taxes.

But Martin added a new note. He asserted the Democrats in power "do not believe in the future of America" and "have succumbed to the old world fatalism from which our forefathers fled."

"I am proud to say," he continued, "that during these years of tragic drifting, the Republican party has never once faltered, has never once plunged into this whirlpool to oblivion. We have not fallen for the old world doctrines of defeatism and statism."

Shows Lighter Side

Here were some of his lighter comments:

"Once upon a time when an American said he'd bet you a dollar to a doughnut, he meant he was giving you a hundred-to-one shot—today he means it's an even bet."

The housewife who once liked to serve her husband a cut of rare beef is a happy woman under the Truman administration. All beef is rare."

On the serious side, Martin declared that "another setback for the Republican party will bring upon this great land of ours another four years of the type of government which is slowly but surely destroying America."

GOP Convention Termed 'A Brawl' By Oklahoma's Kerr

By The Associated Press

Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma said Wednesday the Taft-Eisenhower battle at the Republican national convention in Chicago is "disgusting to the American people."

He called it a brawl.

Kerr, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, issued a statement in Washington, D.C., sounding a plea for nationwide unity instead of dissension in this election year.

As for the GOP convention, Kerr said:

"The warring factions demonstrated that they are unable to develop anything but another split, and that they are totally unable to unify their own party or inspire the confidence and support of the American people."

Another blast at the Republicans came from Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, Minnesota's favorite son candidate for the Democratic presidential prize.

"The Republicans are not doing themselves any good. They are giving the people an eyeful of the kind of machinery manipulation that goes on in the GOP."

Alluding to charges and counter charges of "steal" exchanged by the rival GOP camps of Sen. Robert A. Taft and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Humphrey said:

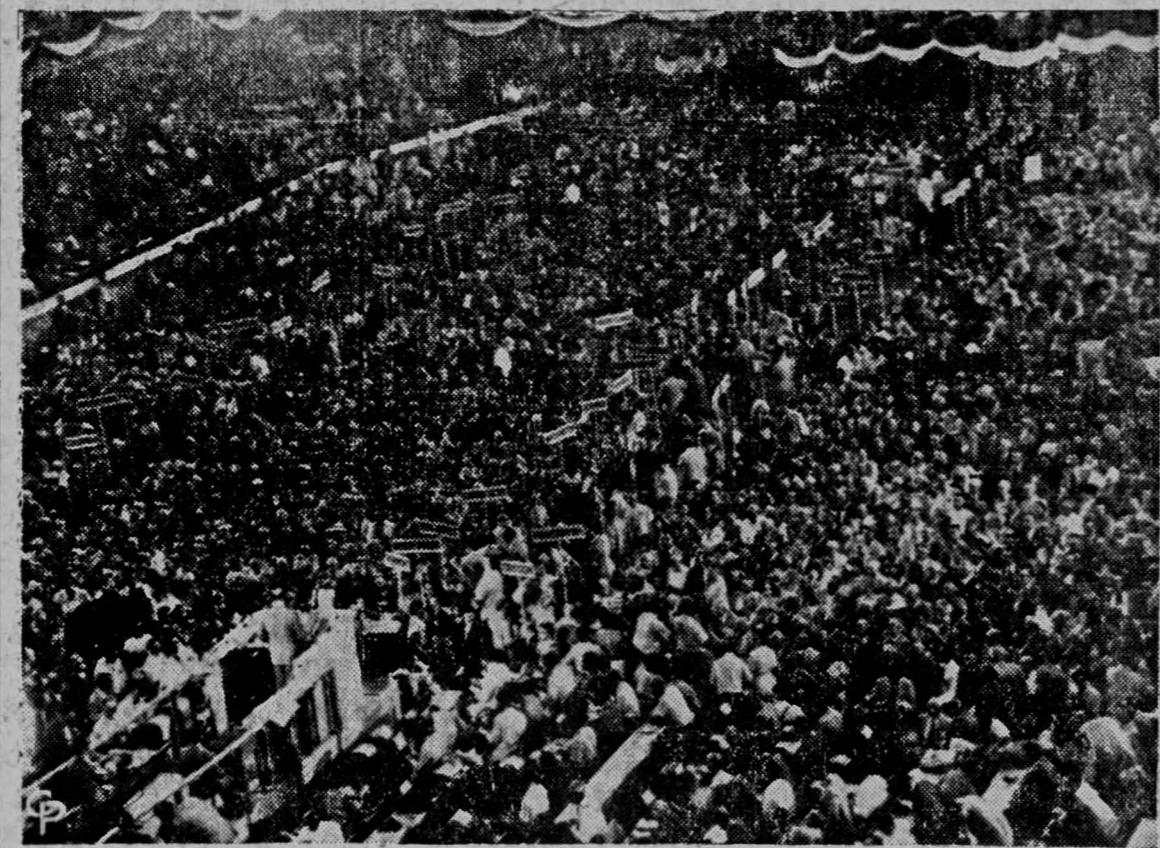

"A political party whose members steal from each other cannot be trusted to run the government of the United States."

Leftist Proposal Shocks Commons

LONDON (AP)—A shocked house of commons heard a left wing Laborite propose Wednesday that financially hard-pressed Queen Elizabeth turn Buckingham palace into an apartment house to help make ends meet.

But the house defeated by overwhelming majorities that suggestion by Emrys Hughes and others aimed at cutting the queen's wages. It voted 344-25, to give the queen 475,000 pounds ($1,336,000) a year to run the royal estate instead of 250,000 pounds ($700,000) suggested by leftists. Under the new budget, the queen will get $182,000 a year more than the late King George VI.

Taft, Ike or Another—It's Up to Them

OVERALL VIEW AT CHICAGO'S International Amphitheatre as Chairman Guy Gabrielson prepared to call the first session of the 1952 Republican national convention to order. Delegates milled in the aisles, wallowing in the first air-conditioned national conclave in history.

Specter of Torn Party Haunts GOP Convention

CHICAGO (AP)—Out of the Taft-Eisenhower presidential battle stalked the specter Wednesday of a Republican party torn by its own internal fury—and possibly an easy prey for the Democrats in November.

This was the leering ghost that haunted this 25th national Republican convention.

The voices of compromise were puny sounds in the noisy and bitter brawling over delegate votes.

With each passing hour, the chances for unity received a blackjack blow behind the ears.

Fight To Finish

This was a no-compromise fight to the finish between Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower—the front-running GOP presidential nomination candidates.

Can either side forget the knife-edged words, the harsh accusation and the gall of defeat to throw eager support to the winner? This was a question with which the peace makers must struggle in the months before the election.

For two days, the activities on the convention floor have been merely window dressing for the delegates and spectators.

Real Struggle Downtown

The real struggle has been going on downtown in the convention credentials committee over contested delegates and in hotel-room meetings of the strategists who pull the strings.

Boiled over when Taft forces took the lion's share of disputed delegate seats by vote of the Republican national committee—controlled by Taft supporters—which banned television and radio reporting of its sessions.

Added punch was given to the Eisenhower charges when 25 Republican governors, meeting in Houston, Tex., called for "fair play" in the convention. Some of those governors were Taft backers. The Eisenhower people used

Resident of Iowa Given Indictment For Brutal Slaying

CHATTANOOGA, TENN. (AP)—Warren Martin, 27-year-old former Council Bluffs resident, has been indicted for murder in connection with the brutal slaying here June 28 of Albert H. Rodgers.

Martin was arrested last week at Atlantic, Ia., where he had moved with his family. He protested that he was innocent of the slaying but waived extradition when Tennessee officers went to Atlantic to return him.

Martin was indicted jointly with Almon V. Wodall, 34-year-old ex-convict.

Martin told a newsman he knew Wodall planned to rob Rodgers. Martin told this story:

He drove Wodall to a point near Rodgers' home and waited until Wodall returned about two hours later "looking pretty bloody." He said a pair of pliers, later found by police and linked to the slaying, fell from Wodall's overalls.

Wodall had Martin drive him to a stream where he weighted the overalls with a rock and dropped them in. The next day Wodall gave him $1,500 and told him to get out of town.

this statement as a club.

Ike Wins First Test

With their self-styled "fair play" issue, the Eisenhower forces won their big convention test Monday against Taft—658 to 548.

But there were no signs of any real peace-making compromise before the balloting on the selection of a nominee.

There still was talk of a deadlocked convention and the possibility of a dark-horse emerging. But the professionals shrugged off this talk. In their books it was either Eisenhower or Taft.
