SUI Summer Enrollment Totals 3,601

2,500 More Register For Special Courses

Summer session enrollment at SUI totals 3,601 full-time resident students, according to figures released Monday by President Virgil M. Hancher.

The total included 899 veterans, as compared to the 1,611 veterans registered last summer when the enrollment was 4,320.

Male enrollment this summer is 2,388 compared to 3,004 last year, while 1,213 women are enrolled, compared to 1,316 last summer.

The total enrollment represents a drop of approximately 15 per cent according to registrar Ted McCarrel, who declared the drop was in line with decreases in other midwestern universities this summer.

In addition to the full-time resident students, approximately 2,500 persons have registered in some 30 short courses, clinics, workshops and conferences held on the campus this summer. Lasting from one day to three weeks, the events comprised SUI's busiest program of summer activity in 53 years.

Enrollment figures show that the graduate college has the largest number of students—2,338. Last summer's figure was 2,804.

In commenting on the summer session enrollment, McCarrel stated, "Both the decline in veteran enrollment and the decline in the graduate college figure indicate that this year and next will virtually see the end of the World War II veteran enrollments. A great number of veterans who completed their undergraduate work went on to M.A. and Ph.D. studies completed their work last year or are finishing it this year."

9 Convicts Escape Kansas City Jail

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Nine prisoners used an acetylene torch to slice their way through three steel doors early Monday and escaped from the 12th floor Jackson county jail. Three have been captured.

Most notorious of the escapees was slayer-suspect Joseph Nastasio Jr., 25, who is said by police to have "squealed" on many persons in the underworld.

The prisoners tied up a 66-year-old guard, and used his keys to gain access to the cutting tools left in a locked room by workmen.

Two of the fugitives were arrested while walking along the street in their jail uniforms. Another was found hiding on the fifth floor of the courthouse.

Comedy Opera Opens Tonight; Highlight of Fine Arts Festival

By JIM GOLTZ

The most outstanding talents in SUI's music and dramatic art departments will be combined tonight in the opening performance of Mozart's "Cosi fan tutte." The opera will begin at 8 p.m. in Macbride auditorium with performances also scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday nights.

"Cosi fan tutte" will be the high point of SUI's 14th annual Fine Arts Festival. The production of Smetana's "The Bartered Bride" in 1950 and "Die Fledermaus" by Johann Strauss in 1951 stand as proof of this fact.

Stark Will Conduct

Herald I. Stark, professor of music, will conduct the orchestra, while Lewin Goff, assistant professor of dramatic art, is serving as dramatic director. Profs. Arnold S. Gillette and Walter S. Dewey have designed and executed the scenery and lighting.

The orchestra for the production has been drawn from the summer session symphony orchestra, organized and rehearsed by Dr. Philip Greeley Clapp, head of the department of music.

The opera's setting is Italy in the 18th century. The plot concerns two suitors who make a bet with a cynical bachelor, Don Alphonso, that their ladies will be true to them while they are away at war.

Opera Moves Fast

Don Alphonso persuades them to return, disguised as Albanians, and attempt to win the ladies in disguise. He is aided in his plot by the ladies' maid, Despina.

The opera has been described as a "fast-moving farcical comedy." As produced by the Metropolitan Opera last season, it was a tremendous success.

In the role of Don Alphonso will be Charles Davis, Iowa City. As the two bachelors, who are a bit wiser concerning the ways of women at the time of the final curtain, are Harry Morrison and Stephen Hobson, both of Iowa City.

Playing the two ladies are Marilyn Horstman, Odebolt, and Dorothy Krebill, Iowa City, while Marilyn Hungen, Iowa City, will portray the mischievous maid.

The opera will feature elaborate costumes, designed by Frances Umland, Hampton, which are true to the period, and an equally elaborate set and furnishings.

Tickets are now on sale in the main lobby of the Iowa Memorial Union for $1.50 and $1.00. The $1.50 seats are located on the main floor in the center section, while the $1.00 seats are on the sides of the balcony and main floor.

Polio Deaths Mount to 14 At Sioux City

SIoux CITY (AP) — The nation's worst polio epidemic claimed the life of its 14th victim Monday as thousands of Sioux City children swarmed to five polio study clinics throughout the city for inoculations.

The latest Sioux City victim was 11-year-old David Anderson of Sioux City who entered the hospital Sunday. Council Bluffs NURSES SENT TO SIoux CITY — University hospitals reported Monday that it has sent three nurses to Sioux City to help with the polio epidemic.

The three were sent in answer to a request from St. Joseph's hospital, Sioux City, for trained polio personnel who would be able to instruct their staff.

Those sent have had considerable experience in handling polio cases at University hospitals.

The hospitals also said that they had received no new polio cases Sunday or Monday.

recorded its first polio fatality of the year with the death of 8-year-old Billy Paulson. The two deaths brought to 16 Iowa's 1952 polio total.

Hundreds of children accompanied by their parents crowded Sioux City clinics in the nation's third and final mass test to determine whether gamma globulin can curb the paralytic effects of polio.

Dr. William H. Hammon, epidemiologist at the University of Pittsburgh who is directing the tests, said the morning turnout alone surpassed the entire opening day's attendance in previous studies in Utah and Texas.

The children, between the ages of 1 and 11, have a 50-50 chance to receive an injection of gamma globulin, a protein fragment of whole human blood that contains polio anti-bodies. Half of the children are receiving the globulin injections and the other half a harmless gelatin substance employed for purposes of scientific comparison.

It is hoped to inoculate 16,500 children here before the test is completed.

The Sioux City area currently is the site of the nation's heaviest polio attack. Sioux City hospitals have treated 222 for the disease, and 133 polio patients remained in the hospitals as the tests got underway.

Polio Preventative Near, Doctor Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Science is "well along the road" toward preventing polio's crippling effects, a leading authority said Monday, but is extremely unlikely to halt a possibly record onslaught of the disease this year.

Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, medical director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said there is an outside possibility of a vaccine might be developed for use next year. He indicated that two "dramatic" laboratory leads uncovered in the past 18 months hold bright hope that paralysis by poliomyelitis can be prevented.

Van Riper gave his views in a copyrighted interview in the weekly news magazine, U.S. News and World Report.

Quake Kills 11 In California; Predict Another

TEHACHAPI, CALIF. (AP) — An earthquake of such shattering force that it literally moved mountains hit this little town with its greatest fury Monday, killing 11, injuring more than a score of others and leaving much of the town homeless.

Tehachapi is about 140 miles northeast of Los Angeles.

Nine of the victims were children. They died in the dark as the quake sent walls of every major building in the town tumbling. The big Tehachapi state prison for women was badly damaged, but there were no injuries among the frightened felons.

Warren Visits Area

Gov. Earl Warren, U. S. Sen. William F. Knowland and state civil defense leaders flew to Tehachapi to personally assess the damage. Aid was rushed over buckled highways, some of them partly blocked by landslides.

Amid the rush to bring help to the stricken town came a cautious warning from a top-ranking seismologist that another quake might come within 36 hours, and an estimate from another that the earth high in the Tehachapi mountains may have moved 40 to 50 feet along the fault line.

Tunnels Damaged

There were these other highlights as the assessments of damage took form hours after the first violent shock:

An oil refinery was set afire, and still blazed hours later.

Dr. Hugo Benioff of California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, told reporters that another earthquake, possibly as strong or stronger than Monday's, could follow. He said that about one time in 20 is a quake of such magnitude, that is the case.

Quits As Bandwagon Swings to Stevenson

CHICAGO (AP) — Vice-President Alben W. Barkley Monday night announced his withdrawal from the race for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Barkley issued a statement in which he declared: "I have asked the Kentucky delegation not to present my name to the convention."

Paul A. Dever Calls Ike "Unqualified"

Democratic Keynote Tags Ike as Novice, Unqualified for Office

CONVENTION HALL, CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Paul A. Dever of Massachusetts Monday night lambasted the Republicans as "fossils" and declared their nominee, Dwight D. Eisenhower, is a complete novice unqualified for the presidency.

In a keynote speech to the Democratic national convention, Dever said the "selfish opportunists" who chose Eisenhower are bent on wiping out all social and economic gains of the last 20 years.

"We have vanquished them before — we shall vanquish them again," he declared in his prepared text.

Praises, Scorns

As keynote speeches invariably do, Dever blended high praise for his own party with scorn and derision of the opposition.

The governor said those who listened to the Republican convention held in the same hall two weeks earlier "heard only the voice of the fossil."

Throughout his 4,500-word address ran the theme that the GOP is the party of the rich and privileged and that the Democratic party is that of the common man.

Stalwarts Over Opportunists

As for Eisenhower's selection as GOP nominee over Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Dever declared, "This was a battle between the stalwarts and the opportunists. An ungrateful crew threw overboard the faithful pilot who had guided them for years and placed at their head one whose knowledge of navigation was confined to other waters."

The 74-year-old vice-president had been one of the leading figures in speculation as to where President Truman would throw his support for the nomination.

Unions Strike Blow — One blow to his candidacy fell Sunday when top spokesmen for the AFL and CIO announced they felt that Barkley was too old to make a successful race.

Another came Monday, when reliable reports spread that Truman might after all throw his

BULLETIN

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago, (Tuesday) (AP) — Contested Texas and Mississippi delegates told the Democratic national convention early today they do not want to vote on any seating contests.

The party's national committee had voted to seat anti-Truman delegates from these two states. Pro-Truman delegates plan to carry the contest to the convention.

backing to Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois.

At the same time, eager rank and file Democrats appeared Monday night to be bent on thrusting the party presidential nomination toward Adlai Stevenson. The Illinois governor did not reach out to seize it — but neither did he thrust it back.

And as the Democratic clans listened in national convention to the keynote call to the political campaign ahead, word spread among them that President Truman might leap with them to a Stevenson bandwagon.

Stevenson Becomes Favorite — All at once in the opening hours of the 31st party convention, Stevenson had become the favorite of many bewildered, leaderless delegates who didn't know quite where to turn for a presidential candidate. When they did begin a grass roots movement toward Stevenson, it was toward a man who has been saying over and over he just doesn't want to be president.

Authorities with White House connections predicted Truman would take note of the turn of events by coming out himself for Stevenson.

They said they expect that to happen today or tonight — or possibly a bit later — unless Stevenson definitely and completely collapses the boom now building up for him.

Didn't Stop Clamour — The Illinois governor had chance after chance to do that during the day. But he never said the words that would call a halt to the rising clamour for him.

For the 1952 keynote speech, the main kick-off address that is expected to sound the rallying cry to the political wars against the Republicans, the party selected Gov. Paul A. Dever of Massachusetts.

World News Briefs

A Condensation of Late Developments

SEOUL, Korea (TUESDAY) (AP) — Artillery thundered atop old Baldy today in the sixth consecutive day of battle as the pivotal barren hill on the western Korean front turned into a no-man's-land by near-record shelling. "A curtain of fire" from big American guns swept Chinese troops off the crest Monday the U.S. eighth army reported. A briefing officer said an estimated 1,039 Communist casualties were inflicted in the first five days of fighting. The terrific barrage, on the 177th anniversary of the U.S. army artillery, succeeded Monday in clearing off the Reds after eight infantry counterattacks had failed.

MUNSAN (TUESDAY) (AP) — Allied and Communist truce delegations meet for the 15th time in secret today to debate the stalemate issue of prisoner exchange. There was nothing to encourage hope for settlement of the remaining dispute blocking an armistice. The delegates met for only 20 minutes Monday in above 90-degree heat. The brevity of the session, like the 12-minute meeting the day before, suggested that both sides had run out of arguments and that the cloak of secrecy would be lifted. The departure from the Allied camp of Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols seemed to point up the belief that the secret talks were not making headway. Nuckols has been the official spokesman for the UN command delegation almost from the start of the Korean armistice negotiations more than a year ago.

DALLAS (AP) — Leaders of Texas' warring Republican factions buried the hatchet here Monday and vowed to work together for the election of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Members of the GOP state executive committee and other Texas GOP leaders met in a called harmony session and took steps to unite the Taft and Eisenhower factions. Texas' two GOP factions locked in a bitter fight at the Republican national convention in Chicago over which should be seated. The Eisenhower forces won. After the committee passed resolutions calling for party unity, both Taft leader Henry Zweifel and Eisenhower leader Jack Porter made speeches urging Republicans to forget their differences.

CIO Stays Pat In Steel Feud

PITTSBURGH (AP) — CIO United Steelworkers told the steel industry Monday it must agree to full compulsory union membership as the price of peace in the 50-day-old defense-economy crippling steel strike.

The big union's governing wage-policy committee insisted on acceptance of its original demand — compulsory unionism for all employees — in a resolution calling for "a settlement firmly based upon the recommendations of the wage stabilization board."

The action came at a closed session following an open meeting in which USW President Philip Murray charged the steel industry with twice blocking the road to a strike settlement after he said two companies made proposals acceptable to the union.

The strike, longest and costliest in steel history, has idled more than 1 1/2 million workers in steel and allied industries. More layoffs loom with railroading, coal, auto manufacturing and other industries already severely cramped for lack of steel.

Murray told a news conference after the meeting of his strategists that no form of union shop not provided in the WSB recommendation is acceptable to the union now.

Last March 20, long before the steelworkers struck June 2, the WSB recommended that the steel dispute be settled this way:

The companies should give the workers a hourly pay increase package amounting to some 26 cents an hour with fringe benefits.

Qavam Quits Following Riots

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Two days of bloody pitched battles between government troops and Nationalist mobs, supported by Communists, ended in the resignation Monday night of Iran's new premier, Ahmed Qavam.

Qavam's pledged to seek a settlement of the Iranian quarrel with Britain over oil touched off the mobs' fury. Wild disorder erupted throughout the capital and in other parts of the country. The most violent clash and most casualties occurred when screaming demonstrators tried to storm parliament building and were fired on. Twenty persons reportedly were killed in Tehran.

In many cases, police reported rioters dragged corpses through the streets to arouse other followers to violence bordering on outright revolution.

No official reason was given for Qavam's resignation, but presumably he acted to stop the bloodshed. Qavam had been in office four days, succeeding the aged Nationalist party leader, premier Mohammed Mossadegh.

British Editorials Ignore Demos' Foreign Policy

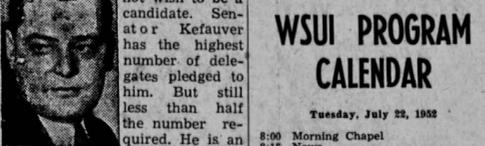

By J. M. ROBERTS JR., Associated Press News Analyst.

British editorial comment Monday morning on the Democratic convention at Chicago almost completely ignored any effect it might have on American foreign policy.

After weeks of breath-holding against the possibility that Robert A. Taft might come to power with coolness toward foreign aid, detachment had replaced tension.

Discussions were casual and objective.

The London Times said: "Many wistful eyes are being turned toward Governor Stevenson. But he has said... he does not wish to be a candidate. Senator Kefauver has the highest number of delegates pledged to him. But still less than half the number required. He is an earnest, fair dealer and a man of courage, integrity and liberal principles. But many doubt whether he has the stature for the presidency."

ROBERTS is an earnest, fair dealer and a man of courage, integrity and liberal principles. But many doubt whether he has the stature for the presidency.

Barkley Is Popular Senator Russell is a respected statesmanlike figure, but suffers greatly from being labelled a "sectional" candidate. Mr. Barkley is a popular candidate, but his age — 74 — may count against him.

"If Mr. Stevenson cannot be induced to run, Mr. Averell Harriman may be President Truman's choice. Mr. Harriman's work for foreign aid is never likely to be forgotten and he has shown himself to be well on the level of the party. His outstanding appeal for Negro votes has already antagonized the south, and, if he were

TO THE EDITOR:

Your attack on fair trade legislation seemed a bit hasty. In the first place, the new law is not contrary to the recent supreme court ruling on the subject. The court DID NOT rule that fair trade laws were unconstitutional. The court merely ruled that a merchant who had not signed a fair trade agreement could not be compelled to abide by fair trade prices UNDER THE LAW AT THAT TIME, since the law then had no clause to the effect that non signers had to abide by fair trade agreements. The real purpose of the new legislation was to make it clear that non signers were also required to abide by fair trade prices.

And to say that big businessmen, rather than small merchants would benefit by fair trade laws is sheer nonsense. Large dealers such as Macy's or Gimbel's can easily afford to cut prices on some articles below cost as a means of advertising, but small merchants cannot, yet they must meet these prices or stop selling such items, either of which would cause him to lose so much money as to endanger his business. I might also point out that such advertising is misleading, since it gives consumers the impression that all merchandise is sold at such lower prices than elsewhere, while that is not really the case. In fact, many predatory merchants cut prices on well known brand items below cost to get people in the store, then sell less well known items at prices well above what they should sell for to make up the difference. Do you think that the consumer benefits by such practices in the long run?

And as for fair trade prices being inflationary, let me remind you that fair trade items have shown the least price rises of all items since 1939 (look at the prices of most drug store items, for example.)

A few more facts: Since only articles in free competition may be fair traded, and manufacturers do not actually fix prices—they are fixed by the laws of supply and demand, as with other merchandise. And anyway, a merchant can sell a fair traded article at any price he wishes if he removes the trade mark and does not advertise it by its brand name.

As for fair trade laws costing consumers money, I'll admit that they do—it means that consumer must pay $10.00 for a $10.00 article instead of (say) $4.50, and as a consumer, I guess you don't like that. But it also means that a merchant does not have to sell an article which cost him $7.50 for $4.50 in order to meet his competition—and as a future merchant, I LIKE THAT!

Commission Blocks Increase in Rates For Motor Freight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce commission Monday blocked, at least temporarily, a proposed 8 per cent increase in motor carrier freight rates in the midwest.

The upward revision was scheduled to go into effect at midnight local time, under a 30-day public notice issued by the Middle West Motor Freight Bureau last month.

However, the ICC issued a suspension order directing the truckers not to increase their rates until an investigation could be made and hearings held.

The changes were protested by numerous shippers in the middle-western territory, extending from the Mississippi river to the Rocky mountains and from the Canadian border down through Oklahoma and Arkansas.

UN Speculates On Russian Withdrawal

(Seven years and 50 vetoes ago, the Soviet Union helped found the United Nations "to save succeeding generations from the scourge of war." Today the Russians are the biggest question mark clouding the future of the UN. Here is a revealing study of their position by William L. Ryan, AP foreign news analyst, and Francis W. Carpenter, who has reported news from the UN since it began.)

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — What are the intentions of the Soviet Union toward the United Nations? Will the Soviets eventually leave it? Will they remain in it deliberately to block it at every turn?

This is a popular field for speculation at headquarters of the peace organization, but those who have watched the Soviets in action in the United Nations for seven years can come up with no definite answer.

Some competent observers hazard only this guess: that the Soviet Union will remain in the United Nations just so long as membership is useful to Moscow, and no longer.

Eyes on Malik

For some time all eyes here have been upon Jacob A. Malik, Moscow's chief delegate to the UN. He gives few clues. Like Andrei Gromyko before him, he pictures Moscow as the only true defender of the UN charter, and any move adopted without Moscow sanction as an illegal act.

Fifty vetoes and a score of walkouts and boycotts have by now convinced many people that the Russians act that way primarily because they are Russians. A vast national inferiority complex, coupled with a fanatical devotion to a hybrid faith called Communism, has cost the world its peace of mind. This is a Russian complex, the same on which causes them to claim they invented everything and excel at everything.

Russians Restless The Russians were as restless in the days of the czars as they are today. Then, as now, they halted only when superior power stopped them in their tracks.

The United States and other western powers know this and sometimes make a demonstration of strength just to remind the Russians not to go too far.

Malik and Gromyko have done much to further the idea that some day the Soviet Union will pull out of the United Nations completely. For seven years, under the leadership of these two chief delegates, the Russians frequently picked up their marbles and walked out when they could not have their own way.

Usually the Soviets had no explanation on their return. They just took their seats and resumed their propaganda barrages as though they had just stepped around the corner to pick up a copy of Pravda.

Veto Power Exercised When the Soviet Union was outvoted in the security council on one vital issue after another, it simply exercised its power of veto to paralyze the council.

In 1948, 1949, and 1950 the Russians and their satellites stayed away from the year-around little assembly, holding that it was a plot by the United States to use the powers of the security council. The little assembly was a permanent committee representing all delegations, to sit while a full general assembly was not in session.

In 1949 the Soviet Union withdrew from the world health organization, a specialized agency designed to improve health conditions throughout the world. The Russians said the organization was wasteful and useless.

Of all the functions specialized agencies of the United Nations, the Russians take part only in those concerned with international postal and telecommunication operations and with meteorology — weather information. Such information is quite useful to a nation absorbed in military preparedness.

New Missouri River Bridge To Open In Early November

OMAHA (AP) — The Mormon Pioneer Memorial bridge, newest Iowa-Nebraska link over the Missouri river, probably will be in use by early November.

Dr. H. L. Karrer, chairman of the north Omaha bridge commission, which is erecting the $3.5 million toll bridge, said Monday that progress is excellent and good weather will speed the bridge to completion.

Steel for the superstructure is coming in rapidly, Dr. Karrer said, and there is no danger that the current steel strike will delay completion of the bridge. "We got it in early," he explained.

Approach Nearly Completed About 2 1/2 miles of the 5 mile highway approach on the Iowa side of the Missouri at Crescent, Ia., just above Council Bluffs, has been completed and the paving is being laid at the rate of about 1,000 feet per day.

On the Nebraska side the divided highway approach consisting of two 24-foot wide strips, is about to be started and will be completed by Aug. 5, weather conditions permitting, Dr. Karrer said.

The steel has been laid on the C. & N. W. railroad and Pigeon creek overpass. On the Iowa side of the river the laying of the deck was due to start this week.

To Provide Shortcut The new bridge will provide a shortcut for northwest Iowans into Omaha. The five-mile approach from Crescent will provide an alternate route into the city for one which now involves 12 miles of driving—six of it through Council Bluffs city driving.

Toll rates over the new bridge will be 25 cents for passenger cars, regardless of the number of passengers, 40 cents for trucks and 10 cents for bicycles. There will be no pedestrian traffic.

Earlier this month Dr. Karrer said a survey of potential traffic indicated that the bridge would pay for itself in 15 instead of 30 years, as planned when the 30 year retirement bonds were issued.

Omaha's other two Missouri bridges are toll free.

Ground was broken for the new bridge May 12, 1951 with dignitaries from Iowa and Nebraska present, along with Bishop Le Grand Richards, presiding bishop of the Mormon church. Bishop Richards termed the naming of the bridge for the Mormons "an act of kindness toward our people."

The bridge enters Omaha at the spot where the Mormons wintered in 1846-47 during their westward trek to Utah.

Stevenson Gets Big Hand from Iowa Demos

CONVENTION HALL, CHICAGO (AP) — Iowa's delegation to this puzzled Democratic convention helped give Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois a big ovation Monday.

But Jake More of Harlan, Iowa Democratic chairman who probably knows most about the delegates, told this reporter: "It was just a courtesy. I stood up and applauded with the others. I certainly don't agree with all these draft rumors about Stevenson. I think the convention should and will nominate one of the numerous able men who are seeking the nomination."

Earlier Monday Iowans held their second delegation meeting but no move was made to poll presidential sentiment although both More and Sen. Guy M. Gillette of Cherokee, delegation chairman, left the door open.

Another meeting of all Iowa delegates and alternates will be held Tuesday (8:30 a.m., CST). All the Iowa seats on the convention floor, for both delegates and alternates, were filled for the initial session.

The staff at the delegation's headquarters in the Palmer House said they have been able to get guest tickets for all the Iowans who applied for them in advance.

One veteran delegate, Tom P. Cleary of Sioux City, has attended every national convention since 1932.

"I've gotten so I refuse to get excited about all these rumors and pressures," Cleary said. "I let the younger fellows handle that end of it."

Dr. Dale D. Welch Named President Of Hastings School

HASTINGS, NEB. (AP) — Dr. Dale D. Welch, former president of the University of Dubuque, Iowa, and Alma college of Alma, Mich., has been named president of Hastings College.

Hail Lainson, chairman of the board of trustees, said Monday Dr. Welch will take over the post held by Dr. William Marshall French who announced his plans to retire last spring. Dr. Welch will assume the Hastings presidency Sept. 1.

Dr. Welch has degrees from Dubuque and Cornell university and honorary degrees from Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Dubuque. He is an ordained minister of the Presbyterian church. He served as president of Dubuque for 11 years and of Alma college three years.

SALARY INCREASED DES MOINES (AP) — The city council Monday increased the salary of City Manager Leonard G. Howell by $2,500 to $22,500 annually, effective Aug. 1, when he will begin his third year here.

For Democrats Presidential Shrine

3 High Spots Remain in Demo Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — There ought to be at least three dramatic high spots remaining in the Democratic convention this week in Chicago.

One high spot is due late this afternoon when the credentials committee is scheduled to report on the permanent delegates to be seated.

There are hot contests over seats for two sets of delegates, those from Texas and Mississippi.

The real Democratic family is due to start tonight and produce the next high spot. Then the resolutions committee will report out the platform on which the party will campaign.

Fierce Debate Expected Almost certainly there will be a fierce debate on the civil rights plank. This will have to include some statement on FEPC, the Fair Employment Practices commission.

The next big piece of business will be the nominations for the presidency. So that the final dramatic high spot — the voting for a top candidate — may not come until Friday, at either the afternoon or evening session.

The Democrats will meet in afternoon and evening sessions every day until their work is done. All afternoon sessions the rest of the week will open at 12 noon central daylight time, and all evening sessions at 8 p.m.

May Be Delay Here is the program up to the point where the civil rights debate starts, which may delay proceedings beyond any program-makers' guessing.

Tuesday, Afternoon Session, 12 noon. Frank McKinney will preside. There will be an invocation.

This looks like "ladies day" for the Democrats. Afternoon and evening sessions list most of the well-known women of the Democratic party.

The first woman speaker of the day will be Mrs. Perle Mesta, the U. S. minister to Luxembourg. Then the resolutions committee will report the permanent rules of the convention.

Rep. William L. Dawson, of Illinois, a vice-chairman of the national committee, will speak. He will be followed by another woman-diplomat, Mrs. Eugenie A. Anderson, U. S. ambassador to Denmark.

Large Slash In Asia Funds Hurt Cold War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 60 per cent slash by congress in Point Four funds for India and the rest of South Asia was a blow to administration cold war plans. Officials say it's almost sure that the next congress will be asked to increase the $67 million voted.

Diplomats view India as the key to the whole Western effort to keep Asia out of Communist hands. Sparked by Ambassador Chester Bowles, an ambitious program is just getting started to raise living standards at the village level and step up good production.

Unless it succeeds, Bowles argues, the Nehru regime may be waging a losing battle with the Communists two or three years hence. He returned to the capital to urge a four-year billion-dollar American aid program. Instead, a critical and economy minded congress more than halved the $178 million sought by the administration for India, Pakistan and five neighbor lands.

Rep. William L. Dawson, of Illinois, a vice-chairman of the national committee, will speak. He will be followed by another woman-diplomat, Mrs. Eugenie A. Anderson, U. S. ambassador to Denmark.

She will be followed by the president of the Young Democratic clubs of America, Richard J. Nelson.

Credentials Report The next item on the program may bring fireworks. The credentials committee is due to report on its choice of the permanent delegates to the convention.

To end this Tuesday afternoon session the program-makers have chosen a speech maker who is widely known for whipping up party fervor; Mrs. Georgia Neese Clark of Kansas, Treasurer of the United States.

Tuesday evening session, 8 p.m.

Prayer Is Gaining Popularity Among Industrial Workers

NEW YORK (AP) — It's not at a Texas oil refinery. The sharp blast of the 12 o'clock whistle halts all work and several hundred workmen seize their lunch pails and run—for prayers.

They are among increasing thousands of Americans who are wedging a period of Bible study and prayer into a short lunch hour or are coming early to work to get it.

It's a growing practice in factories, foundries and oil refineries, in business, newspaper and advertising offices in numerous southern states, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Indiana and elsewhere across the country.

Japan may come out of a meeting of the board of directors of the National Federation of American Shipping in New York Thursday.

Federation representatives say Japan have reported there are many ships in the service but available cargo. Some revision of rates may also come out of the meeting.

LONGEST WATER HOP WASHINGTON — Just to show that it can be done, Australian Qantas Empire Airways plans to make commercial aviation's longest over-water flight Friday.

The 2,877-mile jump, between Cocos and Mauritius islands, part of the new 8,493-mile straight line route between Sydney, Australia, and Johannesburg, South Africa. The new route will cut the present one, a week via Singapore and Cairo, in half.

MAY REDUCE SHIPPING WASHINGTON — An effort to reduce the number of steamship sailings between the U.S. and the late president, who has served on U. S. delegations to the United Nations for several years.

She will be followed by Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, who will serve again as the convention's permanent chairman.

Wednesday afternoon session, 12 noon. This session will start the convention fireworks.

It will open with a speech by Rep. Thaddeus M. MacRoberts of Michigan. He will be followed by the report on the platform.

This is the point at which the bitter family squabble over the rights, and the FEPC, is due to come to the floor. That debate could last into the next day, according to the program makers who have made no specific program after that point.

Professor Curtis Gets a Big One

JAMES F. CURTIS, 1303 Keokuk st., Iowa City, is shown with his son, Tim, and the 54 pound, six ounce Yellowtail Curtis landed July 13 to take the lead in the qualifying period of the 6th Annual San Diego $10,000 Yellowtail Fishing Derby. The Yellowtail is the largest caught this year in the deep-sea waters off San Diego. Curtis made his catch on the Worrier VII, an open-party sportfishing boat, while fishing in the La Jolla kelp beds. First prize for the heaviest Yellowtail taken during the San Diego Derby's qualifying period, which closes Aug. 17, is an all-expense trip for two persons by air to Acapulco, Mex. Curtis, a professor of speech at SUI, is spending the summer in San Diego.

Rumors Are Flying But President Keeps Mum on Candidate Choice

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman kept a tight silence on his strategy for the Democratic national convention Monday as he returned to his desk at the White House after a four-day hospital checkup.

Presidential secretary Joseph Short said Truman was "feeling fine" and looking "chipper." With an eye on television broadcasts of the Chicago convention, the Chief Executive cleared away the last of scores of bills passed by the senate and house in the final days of the 82d congress.

9 Bills Vetoed

White House records showed the President signed a total of 339 public bills and 612 private measures for the last session. He vetoed nine bills.

One of his vetoes, against the McCarran-Walter immigration bill, was overridden by congress and became law.

While Truman kept political bigwigs in the dark, secretary Short took a swipe at the swarm of guessing-game rumors flying between Washington and Chicago as to the President's choice for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Rumors Called Flimsy

Short said some of the rumors are so exclusive they "will remain exclusive permanently." In other words, he meant they were so flimsy they would never be substantiated.

Among other things, Short was asked about reports (A) that Truman might call a special session of congress on Aug. 5 and (B) that the President had been in touch with Thomas J. Gavin, his alternate, who will cast Truman's vote in the Chicago balloting.

"No comment," Short replied. "Meanwhile, federal security administrator Oscar R. Ewing created something of a mystery at a news conference shortly before leaving for the Chicago convention scene.

Truman Is Silent

First, Ewing told newsmen he was certain that President Truman had not yet "reached out his hand"—up to that minute—to indicate his choice for the Democratic nomination.

Then a letter from the White House was handed to Ewing by an aide. Ewing read it and smiled. Asked if there had been any change in the situation, Ewing replied:

"I have received a personal note from the President. Period."

3 Key Supporters To Confer with Ike At Vacation Ranch

DENVER (AP)—Three key supporters of General Dwight D. Eisenhower will confer with the Republican presidential nominee Wednesday at his Rocky mountain vacation retreat.

Eisenhower headquarters said Monday the three are Sen. James Duff of Pennsylvania; Ralph C. Cake, national committeeman from Oregon; and Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado.

They will be accompanied by Fraser, Colo., where Eisenhower is vacationing at a cattle ranch—by Palmer Hoyt, publisher of the Denver Post.

The general's headquarters said Duff, Cake, and Thornton will discuss campaign plans with Eisenhower. All three backed the general in his successful bid for the Republican nomination.

3 to Give Recital This Wednesday

Marilyn Martin, West Liberty, will present a flute recital Wednesday, July 23, at 1 p.m. in SUI's north music hall.

Miss Martin will be accompanied by Margaret Pendleton, instructor of music. Also appearing at the recital will be Donald McGinnis, flute, Columbus, Ohio, and Maurice Fahrney, clarinet, Deep River.

Miss Martin will begin the recital by playing Bach's "Sonata in E flat major" in three parts: "Allegro moderato," "Siciliano," and "Allegro." Next Miss Martin and McGinnis will offer "Concerto in G major" by Cimarosa, also in three movements: "Allegro vivo," "Largo," and "Rondo."

Fahrney will then play Malcolm Arnold's "Sonatina," in three parts: "Allegro con brio," "Andantino," and "Furioso."

Radar Spots 'Saucers' Over Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—The air force disclosed Monday night it has received reports of an aerial visitation of unidentified aerial objects, perhaps a new type of "flying saucer," over the vicinity of the nation's capital.

For the first time, so far as known, the objects were picked up by radar — indicating actual substance rather than mere light. In addition, they were described as traveling at a slow 100-130 m.p.h., instead of with incredible swiftness attributed to earlier saucers. At times they shot up and down.

Objects Remain Static
 The "objects" were also described as hovering in one position.

The air force said no planes were sent out in an attempt to intercept the objects, and no sightings were reported by "operation skywatch," the round-the-clock ground observer operation now underway around the northern arc of the United States.

The air force said it has received only a preliminary report, and therefore does not know why no attempt at interception was made.

The air traffic control center at Washington National airport just across the Potomac river from the capital, reported that its radar operators picked up eight of the slow-moving objects around midnight last Saturday. They were flying in the vicinity of nearby Andrews air force base.

Seven Objects Seen
 The center said Capital Airlines flight 807, southbound from National airport, reported seeing seven objects between Washington and Martinsburg, W. Va., at 1:15 a.m., the same night.

Officials of Capital Airlines said the pilot of flight 807, Capt. "Casey" Pierman of Detroit, a veteran of 17 years' service with the company, spotted the objects and described them in these words:

 "They were like falling stars without tails."
 Company officials said the airport picked up radar "blips," contact with aerial objects, and asked Capt. Pierman to keep a watch out for any unusual objects in the sky.

Pierman Spots Objects
 Shortly thereafter, officials said, Pierman reported back to the dispatchers tower that he had spotted a group of objects.

Pierman, then flying at normal cruising speed of 180 to 200 m.p.h., reported that the objects were traveling with "tremendous vertical speed," moving rapidly up and down, and then suddenly changing pace until they seemed to hang motionless in the sky.

The car, a 1941 Dodge, was damaged extensively. It is not known who was driving the car. The truck was a Western Transportation Co. vehicle.

3 Hurt in Crash With Semi-Trailer

Three Eagle Grove residents, injured when their car crashed head-on into a semi-truck-trailer, were reported in fair conditions late Monday by the University hospital.

The collision occurred Monday about 10:30 a.m., on highway east of Tiffin.

The injured persons are Frank Westre, 48, his brother, Arthur, 56, and Arthur's son, Glenn, 16.

Burdell G. Hester, truck driver, Aurora, Ill., was not injured.

According to highway patrolmen, Hester said the car appeared to hit the front of the truck and then to move along the side of the trailer, knocking the rear dual wheels from under the trailer.

The car, a 1941 Dodge, was damaged extensively. It is not known who was driving the car. The truck was a Western Transportation Co. vehicle.

SUI Law Graduate Promoted in Work With Land Division

T. C. Nugent, SUI law graduate, has been promoted to vice-president and manager of the land division of the California company, New Orleans, La.

Nugent's appointment was announced Friday by H. C. Teasdel, president of the California company, subsidiary of the Standard Oil company of California.

Nugent received his juris doctor degree with "high distinction" in 1936. In addition to being a member of the Order of Coif, honorary law fraternity, he was note editor of the Iowa Law Review while still a student. He received his B.A. from SUI in 1934.

He worked his way through law school by being employed in the law commons.

Mason Ladd, dean of the college of law, commented on Nugent's appointment: "He was a very brilliant and resourceful law student. Nugent did exceptional work as one of the editors of the Iowa Law Review. Since graduating he has kept in close contact with the law school. We are very proud of his achievement."

In his new capacity Nugent will work directly under J. W. Hoover, vice-president and general manager of exploration.

U.S. Captures 5 Gold Medals At Olympics

By TED SMITS
HELSINKI (AP) — The United States captured four Olympic gold medals in track and field Monday including an astonishing photo finish victory by little Lindy Remigino in the 100 meters and a grand slam of the shot put.
 This swept America ahead of Soviet Russia in the battle for team honors with 72 points to 40. Czechoslovakia was third with 15 followed by Great Britain with 14 and Italy 11.
 Charlie Moore took the 400-meter hurdle crown and tied his own Olympic record. Parry O'Brien led Darrow Hooper and Jim Fuchs in a sweep of the shot and broke the games' mark, and Jerome Biffle won the broad jump.
Steals the Show
 But it was Remigino who stole the show.
 Of the six finalists in the blue ribbon 100 meters, four swept over the line as one. The other two were less than a meter behind. The judges did not dare try to call it.
 The official photograph was quickly developed and studied with powerful lenses. Then came the decision — Remigino of Manhattan College won, with Herb McKenley of Jamaica second, McDonald Bailey of Great Britain third and Dean Smith of Texas fourth. Russia's Vladimir Soukharev was placed fifth and Australia's John Treloar sixth. The first four men were given the same time — :10.4, the other two were caught in .105 it couldn't have been closer.
 The only final of the day not won by the United States was the 50-kilometer walk (31¼ miles). Giuseppe Dordoni of Italy captured it in the world record time of four hours, 28 minutes, 7.8 seconds.
America's Day
 But it was America's day, probably the biggest it will have in these games.
 With eight finals run off in track and field, including women's event, the United States has won five, and Czechoslovakia, Russia, and Italy one each.
 All three American pole vaulters — Bob Richards, of La Verne, Calif., George Mattos of San Francisco and Don Laz of Champaign, Ill., — easily qualified for Tuesday's finals at 4.00 meters (13 feet 1.47 inches) along with 16 others.
 The shot putters started things off Monday. Parry O'Brien hit 17.41 meters (57 feet 1.43 inches) for a new Olympic record. The old mark was 17.12 meters (56 feet 2.03 inches) made by Wilbur Thompson of the United States at London in 1948.
 Darrow Hooper also bettered Thompson's record, and was only two centimeters behind O'Brien. He did 17.39 meters (57 feet .65 inches), and Jim Fuchs, the holder of the world's record, was third at 17.06 meters (55 feet 11.66 inches).

Durocher Is High On Bonus Player

AP Newsfeatures
NEW YORK — Leo Durocher, the dandy little manager of the Giants who prefers to deal in superlatives, has waxed enthusiastic about a young bonus player signed by the club.
 The boy, Earl Hemburger, is an 18-year-old combination pitcher-outfielder-first baseman from Elvertown, O. The bonus was estimated to be about $45,000, the most the New Yorkers ever have shelled out for an untried youth.
 "This kid is going to be terrific some day," echoed Leo. He's a real nice boy with wonderful natural talent.
 Then Durocher, for emphasis, pounded the table with his fist and shouted: "I'm willing to bet my life that this kid will outlast, outrun and outfield Dick Groat who just came up with the Pirates."
 Tom Tucker of SUI took the 50 meter freestyle in :27.5 and Keo Mana, also of SUI, won the 100 meter freestyle with a time of 1:02.5.
 With 32 points, the women's team beat out the Omaha Peony Park swimmers by a five-point margin. Men swimmers tied the Ames Porpoise club with 32 points each.
 Iowa City's Ken Peters tied a record by swimming the 50-meter freestyle race in :28.1 and gave the men's team some winning points.
 First place in the women's 50-meter freestyle race went to Ann Cooper of Cedar Rapids. The women's one-meter diving title went to Phyllis Manwarren of Cedar Rapids.
 Kay Culver, Kon Faulk, Paul Hutinger, Clifford Morrison, Rodger Mocha and Shelly Clark all won points for the Iowa City-Cedar Rapids club.

Waner, Heilmann Enter Hall of Fame

By JACK HAND
COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Bill Waner and the late Harry Heilmann were enshrined in baseball's Hall of Fame Monday in ceremonies conducted in front of the baseball museum.
 Waner, still a wiry 145 pounds at 45, was present as Warren Giles, National league president, unveiled the plaque and gave him a miniature version. Heilmann, who died July 9, 1951, was represented by his wife.
 Both men were elected in January by vote of the Baseball Writers association whose president, Lou Smith of Cincinnati, introduced Hall of Famers Cy Young and Charley Gehring before he turned the party over to Giles. Addition of Waner and Heilmann raised to 62 the members in the Hall of Fame.
 In a brief address, Giles rapped the current practice of huge bonus payments to high school and college boys. Although he didn't mention the "bonus problem" by name, he left no doubt of his intentions.
 "The major leagues must support amateur ball," he said. "High school, college and American Legion baseball. We must constantly recruit for the pro ranks."
 "But we must recruit boys who play ball because of their burning desire to excel, not because of an extravagant financial influence."
 After Giles introduced Waner, a three-time National league batting champ who made 3,152 hits in his career, the veteran responded briefly.
 After the speaking, Sid Keener, new curator of the museum, took Waner on a tour of the trophy cases and exhibits.
 Among those present at the ceremonies were commissioner Ford Frick.

Berardino Is Star As Indians Nip Cubs

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Lefty Dick Rozek struck out six men in three hitless relief innings Monday after Johnny Berardino hit a tie-breaking home run as Cleveland topped the Chicago Cubs, 4-2, in an exhibition game at Doubleday Field.
 Until Cleveland added an insurance run in the ninth, all runs had come on home runs over the left field wall.
 Harry Simpson and Joe Tipton smashed successive pitches by Dick Manville over the not-so-distant barrier in the fourth.
 Tommy Brown tied it up in the fifth in a two run homer after manager Phil Cavarretta had been hit by a pitched ball thrown by Sam Jones.
 Berardino, a part time worker with the Indians who replaced Bobby Avila at second base in the fifth inning, ripped into a Bob Schultz pitch in the seventh for the game-winning blow.
 Cleveland picked up its fourth run in the ninth on a walk and successive singles by Berardino and Hank Majeski.

Iowan Wins In Wrestling At Olympics

HELSINKI (AP) — Welterweight Bill Smith, a two-time NCAA champion from Iowa State Teachers college, Cedar Falls, Ia., was one of four Americans who won second round wrestling matches at the Olympic games Monday night.
 Smith decided Nick Mohammed of Canada to help the American team score a four-match second round sweep.
 Henry Wittenberg, New York's wrestling policeman, scored the United States' most impressive win, pinning Switzerland's Willy Lardon in 53 seconds.
 The defending Olympic light heavyweight champion was expected to receive plenty of argument from his Swiss foe, who pinned his first round opponent in only 32 seconds Sunday.
 Annapolis instructor Josiah Henson, featherweight, and flyweight Robert Peery of Pittsburgh university also won their second round matches.
 The night sweep gave the Americans a second round record for the day of six wins and two defeats and left all eight of Uncle Sam's team still in the running under a complicated point system.
 In the morning rounds heavyweight Bill Kerslake, Euclid, Ohio, and lightweight Tom Evans, Tulsa, pinned their foes, while bantamweight Bill Borders, Tulsa, and middleweight Dan Hodge, Perry Okla., were defeated.

It's Open Season On Wild Burro

AP Newsfeatures
LOS ANGELES — Hunters in the Southern California desert regions have found a new quarry which should classify as big game.
 It's the wild burro. Herds of the wily animals, originating from beasts abandoned by prospectors and other desert dwellers, now roam the desolate ranges. Their meat is described as delicious and limited by the State Fish and Game commission to human consumption.
