Degrees will be awarded to 579 graduates at the SUI commencement Wednesday, according to Ted McCarrrel, director of convocations. President Virgil M. Hancher will deliver the charge to the candidates and confer the degrees during the exercises which will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Iowa field house. William D. Coder, coordinator of veterans services, will act as master of ceremonies, and M. Willard Lampe, director of the SUI school of religion, will pronounce the invocation.

Nation's Worst Bus Crash Toll Mounts to 29

WACO, TEXAS (AP) — Death by fire and injuries claimed at least 29 persons Monday in the worst two-bus collision in the nation's history.

On a clear stretch of highway and with no other vehicles known to be involved, two Greyhound buses smashed together head-on. Within seconds, exploding fuel tanks transformed the buses into towering funeral pyres. The heat was so intense that melted glass flowed in small rivulets onto the pavement. Some passengers were cremated.

At least 24 passengers were injured. Five were missing.

What caused the crash, and the exact number of dead, may never be known. There were few clues to "Why?" in the rubbish-like remains of the buses.

Two bachelors' degree in nursing will be the first degrees to be awarded at SUI under its new four-year nursing program. They are June Horst, Mt. Morris, Ill., and Joan Marple, Sioux City.

Prof. H. J. Thornton of the SUI history department will broadcast the traditional on-the-scene account of the commencement over WSUI beginning at 7:15.

According to McCarrrel, approximately 10,000 field house seats will be available for friends and relatives of the graduates. Parking facilities will also be provided at the field house.

Hershey Hints Need Of Drafting Fathers To Maintain Forces

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, hinted Monday it may be necessary to draft some fathers to maintain the armed forces at their current strength.

The pool of men eligible for military service is shrinking, Hershey said, and the group of about 900,000 deferred in class 3-A because of dependents is one of the largest that can be tapped to supplement it.

On July 1 the manpower pool for the draft totaled about 1,200,000 men, Hershey reported.

Writing in "Selective Service," a publication sent to the nation's 4,000 local draft boards, he wrote that the United States has given greater consideration to fatherhood in granting deferment from military service than any other nation.

He added, "This consideration has been the basis of an emergency large in size but definite in time."

"In an indefinite period the status of fatherhood, with relatively few exceptions, occurs subsequent to the commencement of the obligation to serve."

"This fact always raises the question of the use of fatherhood as a method of evading service."

A Condensation of Late Developments

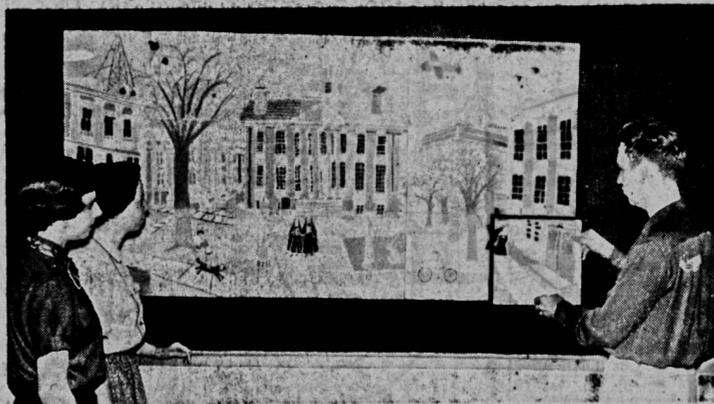

MUNSAN, KOREA (AP) — Allied and Communist staff officers meet again at Panmunjom Monday to thrash out the last remaining wording differences in the draft of the Korean armistice document. Just a few words need to be settled before the document is acceptable to both sides. However, the armistice delegations will then find themselves in the position of having a completely written truce agreement but still deadlocked on how it could be put into effect so far as war prisoner exchange is concerned.

BERLIN (AP) — The U.S. commandant told the American community in Berlin Monday that shopping in Soviet sector state stores to take advantage of favorable currency exchange rates helps Communism, and should be stopped. Maj. Gen. Lemuel B. Mathewson passed this word to his staff without making it a direct order. He said it would be improper for him to order wives around, but he hoped that husbands would have some influence.

HONOLULU (AP) — Top diplomatic chiefs of the United States, Australia, and New Zealand agreed Monday to organize a permanent ANZUS conference agreed to annual meetings of the three foreign ministers, with more frequent special sessions of deputy ministers. U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson was named chairman of this first Honolulu conference. The foreign ministers of all three nations indicated that a broader Pacific security program will be sought.

NEW YORK (AP) — The superliner United States reached New York harbor Monday 10 hours and 40 minutes ahead of Britain's mammoth Queen Elizabeth on their first simultaneous crossing, but nobody said there was a race. The United States sailed from Le Havre Thursday about half an hour after the Queen Elizabeth left Cherbourg. The American vessel overtook the British ship the next day off southern England. The two ships dipped their ensigns in salute as the United States went by.

Work on 'Jigsaw' Mural of Campus Completed by 18 SUI Art Students

The independent efforts of 18 SUI art students have been combined in a "jigsaw" mural picturing the most familiar section of SUI's campus—Old Capitol, Macbride, Schaefer and University halls and Physics building.

It was a project of the teaching of arts course taught by Prof. Frank Wachowiak of the SUI art department.

Wachowiak said the class got the idea from a jigsaw mural by some French children which was pictured in Life magazine. "They wanted to see if they also could paint in their own ways and yet be able to fit their ideas together into one mural," he explained.

They believed the most typical scene for them would be Old Capitol and the surrounding buildings.

He added that the completed mural proves what he has long believed, namely that everyone has a gift for "putting things down spontaneously and creatively."

Evaluating the mural he said it reveals a "very refreshing naïveté." He declared himself very pleased with their efforts and said in his eyes it was "an art production."

The mural is now on display in the art room of University high school.

Lewis Serves Notices Of Contract Expiration

WASHINGTON (AP) — New notices of work contract reopenings were served by John L. Lewis Monday. They raised the prospect of an industry-wide coal wage dispute before the steel mills resume normal deliveries.

Lewis served notice on the Southern Coal Producers association, representing about 30 per cent of soft coal output, that his United Mine Workers will consider their contract ended as of Sept. 30.

Lewis acted under a contract clause that provides that the pacts can be terminated by either party on 60 days' notice.

If a new contract is not signed with the hard coal miners by Sept. 30, or with the 450,000 bituminous miners, by Sept. 22, it is believed there will be a strike.

Lewis always has insisted on "no contract, no work."

Schools to Improve Service to Press, Moeller Forecasts

Schools of journalism will improve their "service program" in order better to serve the working press forecasts Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of SUI school of journalism.

Writing in the August issue of Quill, national magazine of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, Moeller says that the next 20 years will show great advances in communications research which has now made "good beginnings."

While the schools can serve the working press, Moeller believes that a program of appraising and evaluating the press by schools as impartial guides is "at least 20 years away."

Although acceptance of college study of journalism has improved in recent years, Moeller states that it is very necessary for employers to "know the school." The nature and quality of journalism training varies widely, especially between the less-than-100 professional schools and others offering a "major in journalism."

The American Council on Education for Journalism has been assisted practically and financially by five newspaper professional groups for several years, and Moeller believes this a healthy sign for closer cooperation.

Lewis served notice on the Southern Coal Producers association, representing about 30 per cent of soft coal output, that his United Mine Workers will consider their contract ended as of Sept. 30.

In Pottsville, Pa., it was reported that Lewis had notified the anthracite hard coal industry of a reopening, with a Sept. 30 expiration date, in behalf of 75,000 UMW anthracite workers. There was no official confirmation or denial from UMW headquarters.

An earlier letter had called for reopening of the contract with the Bituminous Coal Workers association, headed by Harry Moses. This group represents about half of soft coal production. Lewis terminated that contract effective Sept. 22.

Word had not yet been received of UMW notices covering Indiana and Far Western coal districts. The Independent Progressive Mine Workers union has asked talks with its operators in Illinois.

Government production officials have voiced serious alarm at the mere possibility of a coal shut-down following the 54-day steel strike. They anticipate that it will take industry months to restore normal operations after the inter-

A report issued by the Sioux City health department Monday showed that 392 polio cases have been reported to that agency. Since the report was issued six other polio cases have been reported.

The total number of patients undergoing treatment at Sioux City now is 206. Only two of these were listed on the critical list Monday night.

Who's Chasing Who?

FT. LAUDERDALE, FLA. (AP) — Military officials were interested when Daly Niel Bolling, 14, reported seeing a flying saucer chasing a plane and in turn being chased by another plane.

Marine intelligence officers gave the answer Monday.

The "saucer" was a sleeve target used by aircraft for machinegun practice. The plane it "chased" actually was towing it. And the plane "chasing" the saucer really was following the target back after firing at it.

Council Delays Action On City Rent Control Awaiting New Survey

Action on rent control in Iowa City was postponed indefinitely Tuesday night until members of the city council could survey and study all available information on local housing facilities.

The council, in their regular meeting, voted to delay a ruling after hearing many letters favoring both continuation and termination of the present rent ceilings.

Rent controls will end throughout the nation on Sept. 30, unless city governments declare that a shortage of housing exists.

Fred Ambrose, SUI business manager, appeared before the council declaring that although the current student enrollment at SUI is low, the number of married students has increased.

Married students served by temporary barracks and trailers, maintained by the university, number 832 while there are currently 170 additional requests for housing which can not be fulfilled. He denied that temporary units for married couples had been sold. Many of the units were formerly occupied by single men and which could not be re-zoned for married students had been disposed of, he added.

A letter from Leland Stillwell, manager of the Veterans hospital in Iowa City, informed the council that adequate housing at a "reasonable" price was not in sufficient supply for employees migrating to this community.

Most of the letters, signed by individual citizens, asked the council to suspend rent controls.

In other business, the council appointed L. D. Werham to the Iowa City airport commission.

Four petitions were heard by the council and all referred to the city manager and engineer for planning.

Army Orders Rationing of Ammunition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The army announced Monday tight rationing of ammunition, but said troops in Korea will get supplies "to meet any possible increased tempo of enemy attacks."

Troops training for active duty will also be favored, assistant army secretary Karl R. Bendetsen said.

"It would be unthinkable to me or to any one else in authority to send any man into combat until he had become thoroughly familiar with the use of his weapons," Bendetsen said in a statement.

The pinch, Bendetsen indicated, came from the recently concluded steel strike. He said this had cost the army about 37 per cent of its scheduled ammunition production for the current year. He said all ammunition larger than .50 caliber would be affected.

Bendetsen's statement said a "strict austerity basis" where ammunition was concerned would apply to training activities of the National Guard, reserve and ROTC units, in the United States, and to training in Europe and military assistance to the nation's allies.

He indicated ammunition will be parceled out on a Korea-first basis. He said American troops there must get ammunition reserves big enough for the current reduced scale of fighting, and, beyond that, enough to provide adequate fire power to throw at any enemy offensive.

Egyptian at SUI Requests Truman Bar Exiled Farouk

An Egyptian student attending SUI said Monday that he and some other Egyptian students here oppose admittance of Egypt's exiled King Farouk to this country.

The student did not wish to be identified by name. He said he is writing President Truman to ask that King Farouk be barred from the United States.

He said that he is further urging that if the Egyptian monarch has any funds on deposit in the United States they should be confiscated and used for education of students from Egypt who are attending college.

Robbery Suspect Claims a 'Bum Rap'

DES MOINES (AP) — Michael Walsh, 62, charged with the $15,000 "silent holdup" of the Central National Bank of Des Moines last May, said Monday that he was the victim of a "bum rap."

Walsh said $8,000 cash which officers found after arresting him in Los Angeles recently was "just my life savings."

editorial Every Little Bit Helps

The civil rights issue is becoming like the weather. After the recent squabbles of the national conventions in which the talking certainly exceeded the doing, this conclusion seems justified.

All the more welcome, then, is the action of the Dartmouth Theta Chi chapter who refused last April to abide by a clause restricting membership on racial grounds.

As they undoubtedly expected, their move resulted in being dropped a week ago from the fraternity by the grand lodge.

At first glance, the action of the Dartmouth group seems like good news of a very insignificant sort. People reading daily papers often see stories of discrimination against colored people in education, employment, housing, and a score of other fields.

Then there are the bigger stories of congress's failure to enact FEPC legislation and of the 1952 convention "neutral" civil rights planks.

These look like giant steps backward for the Negro. Indeed the short range view is discouraging.

A more balanced outlook was suggested by the findings of a recent appraisal of southern education by the General Education Board. While "short-run prospects are foreboding, long-run achievements are positively encouraging," stated the report covering southern education for the past 50 years.

When the basic rights of human beings are involved, fair-minded people protest, "Why wait? Let's remedy this now!"

They should not give up when they realize they can't personally put through civil rights legislation or even convince their congressman to favor it.

For, it's the many small acts like that of Dartmouth's fraternity which will add up to the long-run achievements.

March of Science — Psychologists Study Causes Of Curiosity

MADISON, WIS. (AP) — Psychologists here are curious about curiosity.

Why are humans curious? Why are some more curious than others? What does curiosity have to do with intellectual achievement? Curiosity can get cats and humans into trouble. But curiosity also is credited with bringing us many of our great gifts—from automobiles to better clothes, conquest of diseases, many tools and techniques of modern living.

Yet, no one seems to have studied curiosity itself, says Dr. Harry F. Harlow, University of Wisconsin psychologist.

He and his associates, Drs. Margaret Kuenne Harlow and Donald B. Meyer, have made a start, with the studies of monkeys.

Monkeys, they find, will solve puzzles out of an urge to manipulate things. They do it even when they get no reward.

The monkeys have some innate or inborn drive to work at the puzzles. This seems to be curiosity or something akin to it. Their only reward seems to be satisfaction of their urge of curiosity.

Next is planned curiosity studies of children from 18 months to two years old.

The children will be given various puzzles or problems to work out. The psychologists hope to learn what the range of curiosity is in humans, how they differ in what they are curious about, how curiosity develops and expands.

Curiosity in humans is believed to be one of the drives to mental achievement. Differences in curiosity might show ways to differentiate between dull and bright children who may make the biggest contributions to human welfare.

The studies may open the way to eventual better use or development of innate curiosity.

NEW YORK (AP) — Cardiac psychoneurosis, the belief or fear something is wrong with your heart, seems as important as actual heart disease in terms of monetary loss and loss of time from work, Dr. Paul Williamson of Memphis writes in GP, Journal of the American Academy of general practice.

Of patients who come to see the doctor thinking they have heart disease, more than half have no organic changes in the heart, and of the rest, half have symptoms more severe than can be accounted for by the real physical situation, he says. Effective treatment involves understanding, reassurance and mild sedatives.

NEW YORK (AP) — A hopeful new drug for various ailments is adenylic acid, a chemical that enables muscles to move. It relieves itchy in Hodgkin's disease and some other conditions, helps the healing of varicose ulcers and relieves pain in many persons with bursitis of the shoulders and other joints. The American Cancer society tells of this in describing research by Dr. Antonio Rottino, pathologist of St. Vincent's hospital here, and Dr. Harry G. Albaum, biochemist of Brooklyn college. It helped a few patients with rheumatoid arthritis for a time. Other doctors are testing it on angina pectoris, phlebitis and hardening of arteries.

Dean Ladd Reviews Problem Of Control of Drunken Driving

DES MOINES (AP) — Legal scholars are wondering about the ultimate fate in the courts of chemical tests as evidence in drunken driving prosecutions.

A chief problem, in the courts is whether chemical tests for drunkenness, in those cases where the evidence is obtained without permission of the defendant, violate individual rights.

In Iowa, peace officers frequently use test of blood, breath or body fluids as evidence in drunken driving cases. These tests, however, are on a voluntary basis. Bills have been introduced in the legislature to give such tests the full authority of law but none have been passed.

Outstanding Authority
Dean Mason Ladd of the SUI college of law is one of the outstanding authorities on legal control of drunken driving.

He reviewed the subject in a recent talk at New Haven, Conn. He addressed Yale university's summer school of alcohol studies on "Legal Aspects of Problems Related to Driving Under the Influence of Alcohol."

Dean Ladd says it is one thing to convict persons who voluntarily submitted to chemical tests to determine their degree of drunkenness. But the other aspect — one which he calls "crucial" deals with conviction of persons on chemical evidence which they gave involuntarily.

"Greatest Peril"
The dean ladd says the drunken driver "One of the greatest perils to public safety today" and adds: "It was this problem that caused me to become especially interested in the control of drunken driving in 1939 and to investigate new methods of proof of intoxication to aid in the control and trial of drunken drivers."

In Dean Ladd's opinion, criminal laws on drunken driving are "generally adequate." He notes that most such laws provide penal consequences for those who have killed or injured other persons as a result of drunken driving.

Conviction Problem
The heart of the problem, says Dean Ladd, is the problem of obtaining conviction of the guilty.

"Juries," he said, "seem willing to believe any kind of concocted falsification in drunken driving cases."

He notes that drunk driving defendants often will claim they had only a couple of beers or that in an accident they were stunned or shocked but not drunk.

Some jurors tend to put themselves in the position of the accused. All these factors, he said, combine to make drunk driving cases "among the most difficult on which to obtain a conviction."

Percentage Shown
Chemical tests which show precisely the percentage by weight of alcohol in a driver's blood provide concrete information for juries.

The U.S. supreme court has never ruled specifically on whether involuntary evidence of drunkenness through chemical tests is legal. But some courts have held that such involuntary tests violate individual rights to protection from search and seizure without due process of law.

If the supreme court should make a similar finding, Dean Ladd believes it would greatly impair the efforts of peace officers to control the drunken driver problem.

If chemical test results are permitted to continue to be admitted as evidence, he says, the overall effect should be to reduce the amount of drunken driving.

EXPORTING FIRMS
DES MOINES (AP) — The W. A. Sheaffer Pen Company of Fort Madison filed papers of incorporation with the Secretary of State's office Monday for two exporting firms. One is the Sheaffer International Corporation and the other is the Sheaffer Western Hemisphere Corporation. Headquarters of both is at Fort Madison. Officers of both firms are the same. The company paid a $100 fee for each filing.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — American boys can knock the spots off the best the Reds sent against us, Lt. Gen. Gerald C. Thomas, assistant commander of the marine corps, declared Monday.

The leatherneck told the 53rd National Encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"I don't care what kind of breed of Communist troops Americans may have to fight. My marines convinced me that American boys, properly trained, armed and supported, can knock the spots off the best the Reds send against us."

At the opening of their week-long convention Monday, 10,000 VFW members also heard messages from President Truman, Navy Secretary Dan Kimball and Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican nominee, will address the group in a non-political speech Tuesday night.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Miss Marlene Mendelson of Washington sued her Baltimore hosts for $2,500 in damages Monday in an action charging she fell from a rocking chair which was placed on an uneven portion of their lawn. Defendants are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Tossman.

Wars Are Pushing World Into Great Abnormality

By J. M. ROBERTS JR., Associated Press News Analyst

Just 38 years ago the world launched itself on a series of activities which would give to this century the name of "Bloody Twentieth." August 4, 1914, has gone down in some of the books as the end of the golden age. Some believe that the war joined is the one we are still fighting today.

Surely, since that day, the men who have died in war, the wealth that has been destroyed, over-shadows everything in the previous barbaric wars of which history used to make so much.

Yet at the beginning of this century science and new social attitudes were giving promise of a true golden age. The wars have not entirely wiped that out.

Mother Agrees
Soon after the beginning of the great depression, when all that I had accomplished toward establishment of security for my family seemed threatened, I remarked to my mother somewhat petulantly that all of my mature years had been lived in abnormal times.

My mother, who cried on the front steps of our home when she heard of Belgium of 1914, now just laughed and replied, "So have mine."

Abnormality, for her, was normal, something to be met and made to yield such profits as it could. When you stop to think about it, the world has been doing that too, almost without knowing it.

An Idea in 1914
In 1914 the world was going through an upheaval which it did not understand. Nations struggled for colonies, for hegemony over other peoples, without understanding that the days of profitable exploitation through force were ending. They did emerge in 1918 with the glimmer of an idea that balances of power and armed truces were not sufficient, that nations must find some other means of working out their problems. They didn't know how to do it, but they had the idea.

The great depression began in badly wounded Europe in the 20's, and before it was over nations everywhere knew there was an interdependence among them that they had not realized before.

Didn't Know Solution
But they still didn't know what to do about it. Three of them, taking the old futile line of least intelligence, tried to fight their way out, and were wrecked while also wrecking much of the rest of the world.

But this time all but one of them emerged more convinced than ever that cooperation, not force, was the answer to their problem.

With the earth still soaked with blood, this one still seeks to operate on the old basis. There is grave danger that this attitude will produce another war.

But in the meantime the other nations are being forced willy-nilly into greater cooperation. It is just possible that the conflicts themselves, both hot and cold, are actually pushing the world faster and faster toward that greatest abnormality of all—ultimate peace.

TV Producing Team Prefers Good Ideas To Big Cash Outlay

NEW YORK (AP) — The recipe for a television or radio show calls for money in as large amounts as possible.

But the producing team of John Masterson, John Reddy and John Nelson contends that money is no substitute for a good idea.

The producers of "Bride and Groom" on CBS television and "Strike It Rich" on NBC radio declare:

"Our philosophy is that with a good idea, well executed, you can do more than with a lot of money."

As Masterson explains, a variety show, for example, may have a wealth of talent and material but if it looks and sounds much like other variety shows on the air, it isn't outstanding.

"You need identification," he says, "so a person knows the morning he turns it on what program it is."

Credited with—or blamed for—being among the originators of the giveaway craze when they were teamed on "Breakfast in Hollywood," they decided merely giving things away wasn't enough.

The idea in this case was that the giveaway must have a purpose. Hence "Bride and Groom" is a giveaway for newlyweds — $2.5 million worth of merchandise, trips, cash and other gifts in the past six years for couples who married during the programs. And "Strike It Rich" showers its gifts on persons who have convinced the producers in advance that they need help—for medical care, education or some other worthwhile purpose.

TO THE EDITOR:
We stood around Thursday night trying not to cry, and wanting desperately to help although we knew that the time for help had long since passed.

As we watched, and thanked God silently that our own kids were tucked safely into bed, the needlessness of the tragedy struck us overwhelmingly. For Heath Magenis didn't have to die! His tiny body was swallowed up by the waters of the Riverside lagoon only because of the neglect of the authorities to make safe a deep water area less than 50 yards from the home of a settlement expressly built for children.

How many more of us Riverside mothers will have to mourn a dead child before the Riverside lagoon is made safe for them?

Stevenson Family Tree Has Many Illustrious Branches

SPRINGFIELD, ILL. (AP) — Some illustrious branches adorn the family tree of Adlai E. Stevenson, Illinois governor and Democratic presidential nominee.

Stevenson himself takes little public notice of his forebears but his former wife once remarked about other members of the family:

"I swear they are Chinese the way they worship their ancestors."

The Stevenson heritage is richest in politics and education. It encompasses many religious strains and traces back in the new world to 1748 when William "Little Gabriel" Stevenson emigrated from Ireland to North Carolina.

Kinsmen Disappointed
Stevenson's victory at the Chicago Democratic convention disappointed ambitions of two kinsmen, Vice-President Alben Barkley and Senator Richard B. Russell, Georgia Democrat.

Barkley's grandmother was first cousin to Adlai's grandfather, Adlai E. Stevenson, vice president from 1893 to 1897 under President Cleveland.

Russell and Stevenson have a mutual ancestor in Dr. Ephraim Brevard, great-great-great uncle to both.

Brevard was a signer of the Mecklenburg declaration of independence. The document declared Mecklenburg county, N. C., independent of the British crown before the 13 colonies made their declaration.

tree with one of its stoutest limbs. He was a great-grandfather.

Fell an energetic, restless Quaker from the east who settled in Bloomington, Ill., in the 1830s. He started the city's first newspaper — predecessor of the prosperous Daily Pantagraph.

He founded Normal university at Normal, Bloomington's twin city, and a street leading to the university bears his name.

A Republican, Fell counseled and supported Abraham Lincoln. He helped arrange the Lincoln-Douglas debates in 1858. He induced Lincoln to pen an authentic autobiography for use in the presidential campaign of 1860.

Abolitionist Editor
He worked for abolition of slavery, started several more small newspapers and acquired large real estate holdings.

Before attaining the vice-presidency, Stevenson's paternal grandfather and namesake served in congress and as an assistant postmaster general. He was nicknamed the "Headman" for clipping 40,000 Republican postmasters from the payroll.

It was called "a triumph of love over politics" when Lewis Green Stevenson, the Illinois governor's father married into the Republican Fell family.

Tradition Maintained
Lewis was a Presbyterian, his wife a Unitarian. Lewis Stevenson kept up the family tradition for public service by filling posts of Illinois secretary of state and pardon board chairman.

A section of Bloomington now is known as Stevensonville in recognition of contributions to the community's fame by Adlai's father and grandfather.

The governor's sister, Elizabeth Stevenson Ives, 54, has filled in capably for the last three years as executive mansion hostess. She would set the White House social pace if Stevenson wins in November.

A slender, poised woman, she has a diplomatic background as the wife of a retired American foreign service officer, Ernest L. Ives, of Southern Pines, N. C.

Foreign Assignments
She was at her husband's side during assignments in Turkey, Germany, Peru, Algeria, Sweden, Ireland, France, Egypt and the Union of South Africa. The Ives have a son, Timothy, 24.

Like Stevenson's divorced wife, Ellen Borden Stevenson, Mrs. Ives has been presented at the court of St. James in London.

Ellen Borden is the daughter of an explorer and big game hunter. Her marriage to Stevenson was a major social event of the 1928 season. It ended in divorce 21 years later.

They had three sons, Adlai III, now 22, Borden 19, and John Fell, 16. The eldest recently began training in the marines after graduation from Harvard university.

Looking Ahead — U.S. Considers Steps to Take In Egypt Crisis

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON — The state department is keeping close tabs on Egyptian developments, taking its time before deciding whether the army's seizure of power is good or bad for Egypt and the western world.

If Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib, strong man of the new regime, should join forces with the extreme nationalists of the WAFD party, some authorities fear Egypt might follow Iran down the road toward chaos.

But hope is strong that Naguib and Premier Aly Maher will bring stability, work out a settlement of the Suez and Sudan disputes with Britain and join the middle east command, affiliated with the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

Officials reports are that there was little apparent advance planning of the coup beyond immediate steps to make it a success. Ousting King Farouk was a later decision.

Reports here say that in the midst of the revolt there was a meeting of about 80 leaders and that almost every one voiced his own opinion on what the next step should be.

Although the Communist propaganda line is that the U.S. engineered the overturn, best evidence here is that the state department was just as surprised as everybody else.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A little-publicized provision of the act giving $45 a month extra to men on the Korean front lines makes the pay retroactive to June 1950, when the war started.

Several hundred thousand men already discharged are in line for $45 per month in which they served at least six days in combat.

The defense department has soft-pedaled this so that veterans won't be writing in asking for their money. It is now working on application forms and hopes to start distributing them by the middle of September.

The department says veterans should not apply until they have the proper form because to do so would delay payment.

WASHINGTON (AP) — July's deficit of about $3 billion, largest for any month since October, 1945, probably marked the beginning of a drop in treasury balance which government fiscal experts expect to continue the rest of the year.

The deficit is expected to reach about 10 billion by mid-December but to be reduced the first part of 1953 through income tax receipts. July is always considered a bad deficit month because of slow receipts, but this July was especially bad because of heavy defense spending.

Economists on the staff of the President's council of economic advisers acknowledge the deficit is generally inflationary but say they're not alarmed, that further inflation will be only moderate.

Federal reserve board economists, however, view a rising deficit as a more serious threat.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Miss Marlene Mendelson of Washington sued her Baltimore hosts for $2,500 in damages Monday in an action charging she fell from a rocking chair which was placed on an uneven portion of their lawn. Defendants are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Tossman.

SUES HOSTS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — American boys can knock the spots off the best the Reds sent against us, Lt. Gen. Gerald C. Thomas, assistant commander of the marine corps, declared Monday.

The leatherneck told the 53rd National Encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"I don't care what kind of breed of Communist troops Americans may have to fight. My marines convinced me that American boys, properly trained, armed and supported, can knock the spots off the best the Reds send against us."

At the opening of their week-long convention Monday, 10,000 VFW members also heard messages from President Truman, Navy Secretary Dan Kimball and Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican nominee, will address the group in a non-political speech Tuesday night.

41 SUI Grads Pass Pharmacy Tests

Licensing Delayed For Part of Class

Forty-one graduates of the SUI college of pharmacy passed the Iowa state pharmacy board examinations it was announced Monday. This total includes every member of the senior class.

Approximately 50 per cent of the certificates will be delayed, however, because the pharmacy license is not issued until a year's practical experience is completed under the supervision of a registered pharmacist.

Members of the Iowa board of pharmacy include Charles F. Griffin, Mapleton, chairman; George W. Gillman, Ft. Dodge; Oscar G. Fladt, Burlington; and J. F. Rabe, Des Moines, secretary.

Griffin, an SUI graduate, was recently reappointed for a second three-year term on the board by Gov. William S. Beardsley.

The students who passed the written portion of the examination are Donna Jean Adams, Manly; Robert C. Best, Webster City; William M. Byington, Iowa City; Sheryl L. Chehak, Cedar Rapids; Alfred P. Collins, Central City; Richard E. Grossett, Grinnell; Wilmer R. Denker, Denison; Dean E. Deuel, Boone.

John T. Engle, Williamsburg; Gerard F. Engelman, Davenport; Robert J. Frantzen, Manchester; Aubrey D. George, Sioux Rapids; Grant W. Gilbert, Polo, Ill.; Verdel L. Haakenson, Decorah; Melvin H. Hippen, Buffalo Center; Robert W. Hutchison, Tipton; Jack W. Kiburz, Des Moines; Shirley A. Kushner, Council Bluffs; Robert A. LaGrange, Vinton; Homer M. McIntire, Waseca, Minn.

Robert B. Mercer, Nora Springs; Robert J. Osterhaus, Dyersville; Jim M. Reeve, Tipton; Kenneth M. Rice, Sioux City; Donna Jean Roberts, Cedar Falls; Leonard M. Ruback, Denison; John S. Schaus, Iowa City; H. Wayne Schultz, Burlington; O. D. Sherrick, Carthage, Ill.

William H. Snook, Freeport, Ill.; William Stanford, Cedar Rapids; Norma J. Strunce, Creston; Richard W. Tingleff Clinton; Richard B. Van Dyke, North English; Arlan D. Van Norman, Spencer; Thomas C. Veach, Bellevue; Marjorie M. Walker, Oelwein; Donald J. Welp, Bancroft; Robert A. Wilhelm, Dyersville; Alfred O. Willy, Cedar Rapids; and Gorge K. Yim, Honolulu, Hawaii.

5 ROTC Cadets Will Receive Army Commissions

Five ROTC cadets from SUI are among the 135 ROTC graduates who will receive commissions as second lieutenants of infantry from Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, Ft. Benning, Ga., Friday.

Collins will present the commissions during closing ceremonies for the 1952 infantry ROTC summer camp, which has been in progress for the past six weeks.

The five ROTC graduates are, Roger H. Coleman, Galesburg, Ill.; Herbert J. Cooke, Cedar Rapids; James C. Falcon, Waterloo; Richard A. Jones, Avery, and John L. Schweiger, Ft. Dodge.

WRITES OWN OBITUARY
WINCHESTER, VA. (AP) — Frank Brown, a retired grocer, sat down and penned his own obituary notice for the Winchester Star several months ago after he suffered a severe heart attack. The notice said Brown died of a heart ailment at his Winchester home. It left blank only his age and date of death. These were filled in Monday as the Star ran Brown's own obituary: age, 75; date, Aug. 4, 1952, at 11:30 a.m.

Commissioned

BURTON B. HUGHES, graduate of SUI in 1951, has been commissioned a second lieutenant following graduation from the engineer officers candidate school at the army's engineer center, Fort Belvoir, Va. He is a member of the latest class to complete the 26-week training course for engineer corps officer candidates. Hughes' home is in Sioux City.

Republican Good Will

SEN. EVERETT M. DICKSON of Illinois (left), who supported Sen. Robert Taft for the Republican presidential nomination, shakes hands with Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, the man who beat Dirksen's favorite, at Eisenhower's Denver headquarters in Denver. Dirksen said he would stump "with vigor" for Ike. Pleased participants are Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge (center) of Massachusetts and Sen. Richard Nixon (right) of California, Republican vice presidential candidate.

Prospectors Gather in Canada For History's 1st Uranium Rush

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (AP) — History's first uranium rush got under way in northern Saskatchewan Monday.

Hundreds of prospectors spent Sunday night in tents in the north's deep bush. At 8 a.m. the provincial government threw open for public staking an area in the Beaver Lodge country near Lake Athabaska, in northwest Saskatchewan.

The average uranium hunter seems to be fairly young compared with the gold-seeking sourdough — from about 23 to 55 years. He uses a canvas-covered Geiger counter instead of pick and shovel.

Rich Uranium Hinted
No one in Uranium City — recently opened mining town which is the hub of the area — and district gives figures on the richness of the uranium veins. The talk is that one streak of uranium-bearing pitchblende is more than 16 inches wide with probably the richest grade uranium ore on the continent.

Theoretically, no prospector was to start marking his stakes before 8 a.m. But deep in the bush, where there is no competition for uranium hot spots, staking was properly finished hours before the appointed starting hour.

About three years ago the Saskatchewan government gave three year concessions in uranium fields to some 30 large mining syndicates.

Contracts Expired Monday
These claims came open Monday when the contracts expired. During the three-year period, the mining companies had to spend a minimum of $50,000 each on improvement and development of their chosen tracts which averaged about 25 square miles. Each was allowed to keep 10 per cent of its tract. The remainder now is open to any man with a license.

Saskatchewan officials said there is no screening process for uranium mine claimants, and no need for any. The ore can go only to the government which has sole purchase rights.

Hospital Releases Senator McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) checked out of the U.S. Naval hospital at Bethesda, Md. Monday evidently recovering rapidly from two operations and reporting he feels "a lot better."

McCarthy said he plans to leave Tuesday for a month or so of convalescence at a northern Wisconsin summer resort. He did not disclose his exact destination.

The senator was described by his surgeons as "making splendid recovery" after minor surgery for a sinus ailment and a major operation to mend a hernia between the chest and abdominal cavities.

RESERVE TO MEET
Flight B, 9688 volunteer air reserve training squadron will hold a regular meeting tonight at 7:30 in the SUI field house armory. The subject for discussion is "The Air Power Dollar," Graham Marshall, commanding officer, will lead the discussion. There will be a coordinated training film.

Helicopters Complete Trans-Atlantic Flight; Arrive in Germany

WIESBADEN, GERMANY (AP) — "Hop-a-Long" and "Whirl-o-Way," the first two helicopters to fly from the United States to Europe, arrived Monday night at this American base, their future home as part of the Air Rescue Service.

The helicopters, each carrying a pilot and co-pilot, touched down after a 225-mile flight from Amsterdam, the Netherlands, easiest leg of their 4,000-mile pioneering air journey from Westover Field, Mass. They left Westover July 15.

In their hop across the Atlantic, the aircraft beat the non-stop distance record for helicopters by flying 920 miles. The previous record, set in 1946 was 703.6 miles.

Capt. Vincent H. McGovern, 29, Duluth, Minn., expedition commander, and his co-pilot, Capt. Harry C. Jeffers, 27, Newark, O., were in "Hop-a-Long." Capt. George D. Hambrick, 32, Sayre, Okla., and 1st Lt. Harold W. Moore, 26, Cincinnati, piloted "Whirl-o-Way."

All four were unshaven, tired, but happy as they arrived. "We never got more than two or three hours sleep at night, especially the first week," Hambrick said.

Leaving Westover, the two helicopters touched down at Presque Isle, Me.; Goose Bay, Labrador; Greenland; Iceland; Prestwick, Scotland, and Amsterdam.

Purpose of the flight was to determine whether it is cheaper to fly helicopters to Europe than to spend $6,000 each shipping them by boat. It also was to test the needs for weather-reporting facilities in the Arctic and resistance of crews to fatigue.

Maj. Albin T. Sawyer of Washington, D. C., public information officer who flew in a transport plane accompanying the helicopters, said "it cost more to deliver them this way, but what was learned was worth more than the cost."

Maj. Richard B. McVay, David City, Neb., was project officer. He flew ahead on each leg in a search-rescue plane to spot weather and provide navigation aid.

Porter to Assist In National Testing

Prof. William E. Porter of the SUI school of journalism, has been assigned to draw up test questions for the literature and fine arts section of the 1953 Cooperative Contemporary Affairs test.

The test, which is administered nationwide to college sophomores, is conducted by the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N.J.

Porter, who heads the magazine journalism sequence in the school of journalism, will lecture during 1952-53 at the Instituto di Pubblicita in Rome on the Fulbright program. He will teach in the government institute while on leave from the SUI school of journalism.

SAILING CANCELED

PARIS (AP) — The French Line Monday canceled the next sailing of the hard-luck liner Flandre to try to straighten out the kinks that jinxed her maiden voyage.

Instead of sailing for New York Aug. 14, the ship will stay in Le Havre for a thorough going over.

Yanks Up Lead By Edging Nats, 1-0

Bases-Loaded Walk Scores Winning Run

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bob Porterfield's bases-loaded walk to Gil McDougald with two out in the sixth inning forced across Hank Bauer and enabled the New York Yankees to defeat Washington, 1-0, Monday night. Vic Raschi held the Senators to six hits and won his 13th decision as the Yankees increased their lead over second place Cleveland to 3 1/2 games.

Porterfield forced across the winning run with two out in the sixth when he issued a bases-loaded pass to Gil McDougald which scored Hank Bauer.

Porterfield and Sandy Consuegra held the Yankees to six hits, but the Senators stirred up only two scoring threats against Raschi, who tied the mark held by Bobby Shantz of the Philadelphia Athletics for the most successive triumphs in the majors this year.

Hornsby to Allow Cincinnati Players To Pick Own Curfew

CINCINNATI (AP) — Rogers Hornsby told management and newsmen Monday just what he expects the Cincinnati Reds to do when he takes over as manager Tuesday.

"The players will set their own rule as to the time of retirement, and there will be no detectives to watch them," he said at a luncheon.

"Once those rules are made, however, I expect every player to live up to what he has promised. Will Do His Best

"I will do the best I can as a manager, and I expect every player to do the best he can do as a player.

"The players will make mistakes. I will make mistakes. But we will be in there trying."

Hornsby recently was named to succeed Luke Sewell as manager of the seventh place Cincinnati club.

Australian Players Ready for Tourney

NEW YORK (AP) — Five Australian tennis players, headed by Frank Sedgman, will attempt to whip all comers in the U. S. Singles championships at Forest Hills, Aug. 29-Sept. 7.

Sedgman is the present U. S. singles champ. He won the title last year beating Vic Seixas in the final.

Accompanying Sedgman will be Ken McGregor, Merv Rose and two 17-year-old aces — Lewis Hoad and Ken Rosewell.

McGregor, incidentally, is Sedgman's famed partner in the doubles. Together they hold all doubles titles — Australia, France, Great Britain and U. S.

Borrowed Putter Costs Golfer Title

CLEVELAND (AP) — Because he borrowed a putter, Joe Carlone lost the 72-hole Metropolitan Golf association tournament here.

Carlone broke his own putter on the 15th hole, then finished up with an eagle, a par and a birdie, using a borrowed club.

He was low with 295, but was disqualified because he didn't follow the rule which requires him to send to the club house for a new club. Ralph Schneider, who had 296, was the winner.

Gagne, Balbo to Appear At Columbus Junction

Verne Gagne, star of Saturday night's television wrestling matches and claimant to the junior-heavyweight wrestling title, will appear on a wrestling show at the Columbus Junction fairgrounds tonight at 8:30.

Appearing with Gagne on the card is another Saturday night favorite Johnny (The Great) Balbo. Also scheduled in a preliminary match is one of the nation's top women wrestlers, Ella Waldrick.

Tickets for the event are now on sale at the fairgrounds with prices set at $1.50 for ringside seats and $1 for general admission.

United States-Soviet Harmony

CLYDE LOVELLETTE (right), six-foot, nine-inch U.S. basketball star, and Russia's scoring ace, Otar (The Pointmaker) Koriklia, entice a smile from a bashful little Finnish girl in Helsinki. The athletes posed with the youngster after competing in the U.S.-Russia Olympic final which was won by the United States, 36-25. Both hold their Olympic medals and flowers presented them by Olympic officials.

U.S. Is Olympic Winner Despite List of Injuries

HELSINKI (AP) — The 1952 Olympics brought America its richest harvest of gold medals, but what would have happened if Uncle Sam's first team had been ready?

In track, basketball and boxing particularly, U.S. substitutes and alternates came through in the clutch to help America rack up 41 gold medals.

Topping the list of U.S. second-string and surprise victories was that of slender Lindy Remigino in the 100 meter dash.

Goliday Hurts Leg
America's premier 100 man, Jim Goliday, strained a leg muscle back home and never made the trip. Then the chief American hope on the team, Art Bragg, turned up lame.

Remigino, who hadn't won a major 100 all spring, stepped into the breach and scored an upset triumph.

A world record holder on the U.S. team, discus thrower Fortune Gordien, was not up to form. But America scored on an Olympic record toss of 180 feet, 5.85 inches by Southern California's giant Sim Iness. Gordien was third.

Kurland Is Standout
Standout player on Uncle Sam's champion basketball team was Bob Kurland, the 27-year-old veteran, whose selection by Coach Warren Womble as an alternate was made largely for sentimental reasons.

Womble, who at first said he didn't plan to bring Kurland, called his work in the Olympic games "terrific."

One of the stars of the American boxing team, which swept five titles and took the team championship, was an alternate.

Charley Adkins of Gary, Ind., winner of the light welterweight title, gave American supporters their biggest thrill when he batted down the Russian threat, Viktor Mednow, in the only ring face-to-face meeting of the two big nations.

1,000 Golfers Begin In Amateur Tourney
NEW YORK (AP) — Nearly one thousand amateur golfers, from hackers to hardware collectors, will shoot for places in the U. S. Amateur Championship tournament Tuesday. And this is one occasion when the hackers have a chance to beat the lads who usually take home the trophies.

The sectional qualifying rounds for the amateur, which started Monday at Salt Lake City and continue Tuesday at 32 other locations, consist of 36 holes of medal play. In almost any of the sections, an ordinary player who has a good day stands a chance to beat out a star who is off form for one of the 175 places available in the main event.

The amateur championship, to be played in Seattle Aug. 18-23, drew a total of 1,037 entries.

Ridzik Looked Ready
Steve Ridzik looked like he was ready when he pitched a no-hitter for the Phillies in an exhibition game one week before the season opened. After a few dismal appearances, Ridzik picked up splinters on the bench. He had won only two games by July 24. The two best rookies of the training camp season were Andy Carey of the Yankees and Bill Reed of the Braves.

Carey, with only one season of organized ball behind him, showed slick fielding, speed on the paths and snappy stick work. Manager Stengel opened the season with the 20-year-old Californian at third. After a couple of weeks of futile batting and fielding, Carey was shipped to Kansas City.

Reed Fails, Too
Reed, a second baseman, also displayed hitting prowess and talented fielding. He, too, like Carey was in the opening day lineup. But he failed to hit and proved too slow. Back to the minors went Reed.

Jim Rivera of the Browns had the "can't miss" tag. He was the prize plum and a deal between the Browns and White Sox. Last season Rivera won the Pacific coast league batting title with a .352 mark and led the loop in runs scored, hits and doubles. Rogers Hornsby said: "He's the one guy I'd pay my way into the ball park to see."

Evidently, few have agreed with the Rajah. Off to a poor start, Rivera is a far cry from the phenomenon of advance publicity.

Rookies Who Bloomed Earlier Finding Majors Rough Road

NEW YORK — There's an old tale about the rookie who batted like a million during spring training and was heralded as the greatest player since Ruth or Cobb. Came the warm weather and the youngster sent the following telegram: "Dear Mom — I'm coming home. They're starting to curve 'em now."

Many rookies that "bloomed in the spring" have proved floperos so far. The veteran pitchers curved 'em and the veteran batters slugged 'em.

Perhaps some of these highly touted rookies will make it another year. They may come on to produce as originally expected. But so far a great many of the flashes have been "in the pan."

Jones Likened to Feller
Take the case of Sad Sam Jones. He was labeled another Feller. The red-headed Negro was mentioned as flag insurance for the Clevelanders after setting the Pacific coast league afire. But major league batters treated him roughly. In his first 29 innings he permitted 29 bases on balls and allowed 27 hits.

Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell was tabbed a left-handed Dizzy Dean. Last season he struck out 257 Texas league batters for a league mark. The young Cardinal, in his first 101 innings, allowed 82 hits and gave 55 walks.

Another pitcher of whom much was expected was 19-year-old Billy Hoelt. The southpaw bonus baby had whiffed 124 batters last year for Toledo in the American association. His first win came on July 14 and he had failed to go the distance on that occasion.

George Crowe, 210-pound slugger first baseman with a B.A. degree, looked like big league timber to Boston Brave bigwigs. He batted .339 and helped Milwaukee to the American association flag and the Little World series. But big George has failed to live up to expectations in 1952.

Hector Rodriguez came up to the Chicago White Sox with the coveted label of No. 1 rookie in the International league. The 32-year-old Cuban Negro so far has proved "good field, no hit."

Boxers Win for U.S.

CHARLEY ADKINS (left) of Gary, Indiana, hammers Viktor Mednov of Russia in their only Olympic boxing final Saturday at Helsinki. Adkins' two-fisted attack won him the decision and first place for the United States in the light-welterweight class. Five boxers won gold medals as the U.S. captured its first boxing title in Olympic history.

16 Trotters Entered in Hambletonian Stakes

GOSHEN, N. Y. (AP) — Sixteen horses making up the fastest field in Hambletonian history were entered Monday for the 27th edition of the world famous trotting derby at Good Time park Wednesday.

There were one or two surprises when the entry box closed two days ahead of the race, but nothing upset the calculations that the Duke of Lullwater will rule County village, and the horse that the betting favorite when the field lines up for the 3-year-old classic.

With 16 starters, the race will gross $87,637.55, second richest Hambletonian. Duke of Lullwater, owned by Walter T. Candler of Decatur, Ga., has won 17 of his 21 starts.

However, the Duke must overcome a Goshen jinx. He never has won a race in this Orange County village, and the horse that beat him, Hit Song, also is ready for the biggest race of his life.
