Immigrant Who Joined Reds May Not Be Deported by U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. James McGranery said Friday that if Karl A. Latva of Wendell, N.H., is as innocent as he now appears to be, he will certainly not be forced to leave this country because he paid 90 cents in Communist dues 18 years ago.

The attorney general told a news conference that he is going to have the FBI investigate the case of the Finnish textile worker, who has been ordered deported.

Latva ran afoul of the 1950 McCarran Internal Security Act as a result of his voluntary admission in a naturalization proceeding that he once joined the Communist party in 1934 and made a 90-cent contribution.

Thought It Was Labor Group

McGranery said that his information indicated that Latva, unable to speak English at the time, thought he was simply joining an organization aiding labor groups.

Latva, a 49-year-old loom fixer, made appearances Friday in Federal Court in Boston and before television cameras and then headed home to New Hampshire to await developments in his fight to escape deportation.

Latva left Finland at 13. He has an American-born wife and two grown sons who served in the navy in World War II.

Signs $2,000 Bond

He signed a $2,000 bond before a federal court clerk Friday so that he may remain at liberty pending filing of an appeal by his counsel before the U.S. circuit court of appeals.

His lawyer says that if necessary the case will be taken to the U.S. supreme court. This would mark the first test of the McCarran Act — which was aimed at subversives — before that high tribunal.

Latva came to Boston on one of his infrequent days off from his mill job in 30 years. He carried a little suitcase and his blonde wife stood by his side.

Traveled by Bus

He made the trip back home — by bus, as he came — to talk with his two sons, Carl and Paul, who are drafting a telegram they intend to send to President Truman today. The boys have said they fought for the things the President believes in and hope "he'll now fight for us."

The White House declined to comment on the proposed appeal, but government officials in Washington said existing law and recently-enacted revisions of the immigration statutes apparently give no power to the President to intervene in deportation cases.

Allies Rake Reds With Aerial Guns

SEOUL (SATURDAY) (AP) — The Allies applied relentless aerial pressure to North Korea Friday for the fifth straight day, raking it with bombs and shooting down three MIG's.

In five blistering days of air combat—as hot as the temperatures on the ground below — the Allies have knocked 18 MIGs from the skies and damaged 19 more, the air force said. Allied losses are listed weekly.

The air battles broke out high over north west Korea after swarms of fighter-bombers once more roared into the bright sunshine, chewing up enemy targets with bombs, rockets and jellied gasoline.

CARL A. LATVA, A 49-YEAR-OLD MILL worker sits bewildered in his home in Wendell, N.H., awaiting word on his deportation. He was ordered deported because of a violation of the McCarran Act. In 1934, Communists asked him to sign a party membership in order to win a strike. He paid them 50 cents and never heard from them again. Atty. Gen. James McGranery said Friday that if Latva's story is true as it appears to be, he will not be deported. Latva left Finland at 13. He has an American-born wife and two grown sons who served in the navy in World War II.

Greece Attempts to Minimize Island Clash With Bulgarians

ATHENS (AP) — Jittery Greece recovered its calm gradually Friday in the wake of its brief but ominous clash with border guards of Communist Bulgaria in the dispute over the tiny island of Gama in the Evros river.

The official attitude of the government appeared to be to tone down the seriousness of the incident, but there were strong evidences here that the clash caused genuine fears of a Balkan flareup. Acting Premier Sophocles Venizelos told a packed news conference that Greek forces have been alerted to keep Bulgarians off the tiny, deserted island until Greek sovereignty over the piece of frontier real estate is officially recognized by the United Nations.

The island is in a bend of the Evros river which marks the Greek-Bulgarian-Turkish frontier. But later Venizelos sought to minimize the incident. He told reporters "the uproar created in America" over the clash could be attributed to the "inexperience" of observers of the UN Balkans subcommittee. He did not amplify this statement other than to say that the observers had magnified the incident which "was purely local in character."

The Bulgarians, possibly only in patrol strength of about a dozen men, were driven from the island Thursday by Greek mortar and machine-gun fire, after the Communist troops ignored an ultimatum to quit the scene.

CHICAGO (AP) — U.S. Attorney Otto Kerner Jr., said Friday a federal grand jury will be given information next month that at least 38 Chicago postoffice supervisors paid large sums to obtain promotions.

Kerner said he had received a report from postal inspectors regarding the payments. Copies also are in the hands of the postmaster general and the attorney general, he said.

In Washington, Attorney General McGranery said he expects to see a number of indictments as a result of the investigation. Asked if he would elaborate at a news conference, McGranery said: "In the Chicago case, the only question is how many we are going to indict — that is, who and how many."

"There seems to have been a number involved, and our U.S. attorney there now has the matter in his hands."

Kerner declined to discuss contents of the detailed report but said the number of people involved may be increased as the investigation continues.

One new polio patient was admitted to the University hospitals Friday. The patient was Rosalee Charbonneau, 27, Washington. She was reported in fair condition. There are 24 active cases in the University hospitals now.

New York Rail Strike Averted By Big Unions

NEW YORK (AP) — Bowing reluctantly to the government's wishes, three big unions Friday postponed their Monday strike against New York Central railroad lines east of Buffalo.

They notified Washington that the strike was off "for a reasonable period" — without hinting how long that might be.

It was the second time this week that what appeared to be an ominous threat to New York Central operations was lifted. A strike had been hinted for last Monday but it never came off.

Walkout Set

Friday a walkout definitely was set for 1 p.m. next Monday, however, despite the Railway mediation board's plea for a postponement.

Then, a few hours later, even as the railroad was bracing itself for the strike, union leaders in Cleveland issued this statement: "Mediation efforts under the Railway Labor Act were exhausted once in this case two years ago without satisfaction to the workers. However, in the public interest, we are asking reluctantly that our members bear the brunt of another round of the same process."

SUI Library to Show $100,000 Collection From October 3 to 13

One hundred and twenty-five historical documents from the Foreman Lebold collection will be on display in the SUI library Oct. 3-13, Clyde Walton, rare books curator, announced Friday.

The library exhibit, valued at $100,000, will consist of letters, documents and books written by great Americans during periods of great crisis in American history, Walton said.

The exhibit will be called "Great Americans". The works cover a span of 369 years, from 1570 to 1939.

Lebold, a Chicago industrialist, has developed his collection as the result of a deep interest in the critical moments of American history and in preserving records of those moments, according to Walton.

Because of the historical value of the exhibit, SUI will send a special invitation to the school children of the state through their principals and superintendents, Walton said.

Britain to Reject Iranian Proposal For Oil Settlement

LONDON (AP) — Britain is expected to reject Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's latest proposal for settling the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute on the grounds it contains no new approach.

Qualified sources said Friday night Britain might, however, try to keep the door open for negotiations to insure that Iran does not fall to the Communists.

Urgent talks are going on now between this country and the United States to see if a program of support for Mossadegh can be agreed on.

In a note published in Tehran Friday, Mossadegh offered to talk directly with the British government-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil company on its "just claims" for compensation. The 1½-billion dollar company's properties in southern Iran were taken over by Mossadegh's government last year. The proposed talks would take place under Iran's oil nationalization laws, Mossadegh suggested.

Stevenson Names Old Friend New Demo National Chairman

West Germany's Plan To Pay Debts Is OK'd

LONDON (AP) — A 26-nation conference Friday approved a plan by which the west German government will pay off virtually all of Germany's huge pre-war debts at generally reduced interest rates.

Over a period of up to 42 years, west Germany will gradually repay to creditors the world over some 2½ to 3 billion dollars in private pre-war debts.

The debts to be repaid include remaining principal on the big Dawes loan of 1924 and the even bigger Young loan of 1930 in which private investors, mainly American, loaned Germany a total of some $300 million.

Some $140 million is still owing to Americans on these two loans.

By taking on the huge repayment task, West Germany will earn financial independence and wipe out the debts run up by Germany between the two world wars.

West Germany also will end her status as a bankrupt nation and will again be free to compete in world financial markets for private investment and capital.

To ease the burden on west Germany, the conference reduced slightly the rates of interest on the debts and stretched out the period of repayment.

The principal or original amount of the debts was not reduced in most cases.

Allowance was made for the fact Germany is divided. Negotiations for the payment of debts owed by east German institutions and private individuals will not, in most cases, be attempted until after Germany is united again.

Czech Reds Report U.S. Student 'Escape'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communist Czechoslovak government has reported belatedly that John Hvasta, an American student, "escaped" last Jan. 2 from a Red prison after being held for more than three years as a "spy."

This was announced Friday by the State department in a statement which implied that this government refused to accept the report at its face value. The Czechoslovak Foreign Office advised the embassy in Prague this week that Hvasta's present whereabouts are unknown but the State department said it will continue to try to locate him.

Meantime an announcement said the department has "no information which would confirm or contradict the accuracy" of the report.

Hvasta, a native of Czechoslovakia, was a naturalized United States citizen whose home was Hillside, N.J. He returned to his former homeland as a student in 1948, and the following year was given a three year prison sentence following conviction on charges of espionage. Later after a secret proceeding, the Czechoslovak supreme court lengthened the sentence to 10 years.

Since then the United States has made repeated efforts to bring about his release.

5 Pallbearers Seized At Grave of Slain Negro Policy King

CHICAGO (AP) — Police seized five pallbearers Friday after they had lowered the body of Theodore Roe, Negro policy king who was slain by shotgun blasts Monday night, into his grave in a south side cemetery.

Officers seeking to solve the gang-style assassination also sent out arrest orders for 14 other men, most of them members of the old Capone gang.

Another man was arrested for questioning.

The five pallbearers were nabbed shortly after the funeral of the slain policy king, which was attended by thousands in and around the First Church of Deliverance on South Wabash ave.

Lt. John Golden of the homicide bureau said the pallbearers were arrested because "if they were that close to Roe they must know a lot about him."

Police sent a message to all districts asking arrest on sight of 14 men, including such nationally known crime figures as Jack "Greasy Thumb" Guzik and Tony Accardo, leaders of the old Capone syndicate. Police want them for questioning. They are working on the theory that Roe was slain by gamblers who seek to move in on his lucrative policy wheel racket.

The other man nabbed Friday was Marshall Califano, a brother of Leonard "Fats" Califano, who was killed a year ago.

Califano was held without charge.

Senator Maybank Voices Opposition To Special Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Maybank (D-S.C.) of the senate banking committee joined other Democratic senators Friday in throwing cold water on President Truman's suggestion that he might call a special anti-inflation session of congress.

"I do not see what results can be gained," Maybank said in a statement.

Republicans privately called the idea a political move designed to cast the Democratic administration in the role of defender against rising prices.

Some GOP critics made it clear that if Truman does call a special session, they will use it as a forum for all-out attacks on the President and the Democratic nominee, Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois.

Truman told his news conference Thursday he was worried about rising prices—now at an all-time high on the government cost-of-living index — and indicated that if further increases occur he may call congress back in session.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL. (AP) — Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson pulled a political surprise Friday by naming Chicago lawyer Stephen Mitchell as Democratic national chairman.

Mitchell — a newcomer to the Democratic national scene and an old friend of Stevenson's — succeeds Frank E. McKinney of Indiana.

Stevenson's choice was announced after the executive committee of the Democratic national committee had given its approval to Mitchell. He is expected to be elected to the post formally at an early meeting of the full committee.

Stevenson — the Democratic presidential nominee — voiced his "utmost gratitude" for the services of McKinney who has held the post on a temporary basis since the Democratic national convention in Chicago.

Stevenson said in a news release that Mitchell and McKinney will meet with him here Sunday to discuss presidential campaign plans. The Illinois governor's campaign manager, Wilson Wyatt of Louisville, Ky., also will sit in on the meeting.

Mitchell is Irish and a Catholic as most of the Democratic national chairmen have been for years. He is 49 years old and a native of Rock Valley, Ia.

At present, Mitchell is chief counsel for the House judiciary subcommittee investigating the justice department.

Old-Line Demos Dropped

With this move, Stevenson once again drew away from the old-line Democrats in naming the men who will play the leading roles in directing his campaign.

This news developed as Stevenson went into a huddle with Rep. Michael Kirwan of Ohio, one of his campaign advisors, on the strategy to be used in the coming campaign.

Kirwan told reporters he had completed a tour of 17 western states where he said sentiment for Stevenson was running high.

He insisted the western voters would not forget in November that the Democratic administration had spent more money on reclamation projects in the past four years than had been spent in the previous 40 years.

Kirwan Helps Stevenson

Kirwan is chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee. He also has accepted a bribe to be a member of the national advisory committee which will help guide Stevenson in his campaign battle with GOP Presidential nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower.

This advisory group will meet here with Stevenson late next week to work out campaign plans.

Kirwan recommended to Stevenson that the Governor work closely with Democratic congressmen who are seeking reelection throughout the country.

Kirwan's visit came after Stevenson took time out during the day to open the annual Illinois state fair and to mingle with the crowds.

A Condensation of Late Developments

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The Eva Peron social aid foundation, with assets running into untold millions of dollars, will be administered by an eight-member council headed by President Juan D. Peron, labor and government officials said Friday. In her lifetime, the president's wife had full powers under congressional law to handle the funds without keeping accounts of income and outlay. After her death July 26, there was speculation as to who would control the great organization that owns hotels, hospitals, grocery stores, summer resorts and other properties.

LONDON (AP) — The Admiralty indicated Friday that British atomic weapons tests in a lonely stretch of the Indian ocean off northwest Australia either have started or are about to begin. World shipping and aircraft were warned to stay out of an area of about 30,000 square miles—dotted with a number of uninhabited islands—because they are now dangerous and will remain so until further notice.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Bulgaria sent a vigorous protest to the United Nations Friday against what it called aggressive action by the Greek army on Bulgarian territory. The protest followed Thursday's Greek shelling of Gamma island in the Evros river which separates Bulgaria and Greece.

editorial Too Serious for Gambling

A lot of people still favor Taft or Kefauver. The final selection by the Democratic and Republican parties could not possibly agree with every voter's preference.

But probably more voters are more happy this year than in most elections of the last 20 years.

The GOP claims they have chosen a man who is "different." Ike is a man who thinks of issues in terms of their moral implications, Republicans say. They are sure he will act decisively on national problems.

The Demos believe they also have picked a man who is "different." They point with pride to Stevenson's record as governor of Illinois and to his reputation as a vigorous, thorough worker.

Foreign reaction is also favorable to both

Ike and Stevenson. The London Times declares that they are men of unusual quality and another paper echoes current British thoughts by saying: "Whichever wins, the policy of world leadership remains unshaken."

The miracle of it is that two such candidates could emerge out of all the publicity, polling, roll calls, demonstrations, bickering and oratory of national conventions.

But we may not always be so fortunate. The voter who knows his gambling odds will agree that an investigation of better methods of nominating presidential candidates would be a wise move. The possibility of a national presidential primary, for example, is deserving of study before 1956.

Meanwhile, thank God for the political miracle of 1952!

U.S. Opposed By Arab States In Middle East

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

The United States idea of a Middle East command has run on the rocks of Arab opposition. The Arab states have organized a group of their own and the Allies are considering another.

It may not be one of the world's most pressing situations, but it is one of the messiest.

One reason the Arabs would have nothing to do with the original Allied plan is the position of Israel. They attribute the loss of Palestine to behind-the-scenes politics in the United States a hypothesis more or less borne out by the diary of James Forrestal, and fear any strengthening of Israel militarily. On the reverse of the coin, the U.S. fears to arm the Arabs lest they attack Israel.

That is going to be the greatest block which the new Egyptian government and the new Arab collective security group will have to face in their appeal to the U.S. for arms.

As for Anglo-American plans, they have dropped back to organization of what will be little more than a planning group of non-Middle Eastern power, a group which would include only Turkey among the Middle Eastern states. The other participants would be France, the U.S., Britain, Australia, South Africa and New Zealand, all vitally interested in maintenance of the Suez canal. The "home product" collective security pact has now been ratified by Iraq, Egypt, Syria and Jordan, putting it into effect, with Saudi Arabia, Lebanon and Yemen still to ratify.

It began when Egypt refused the Allied Middle East command idea and demanded, instead, that the British get out of the Suez defense bases.

And all of this non-cooperation is being acted out against the backdrop of Iran, where extreme nationalism has brought on economic chaos and a Communist coup is possible at any time.

McKellar Loses Bid For 7th Senate Term In Tennessee Primary

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Late returns from scattered precincts Friday rolled up a wider margin of defeat for veteran Sen. K. D. McKellar in Thursday's Tennessee Democratic senatorial primary.

With unofficial returns complete from all but a few of the state's 2,300-odd precincts, hard-hitting Rep. Albert Gore had a decisive lead of more than 75,000 votes over the 83-year-old dean of the U.S. Senate, McKellar was seeking an unprecedented seventh term.

The tabulation of ballots from 2,252 precincts gave Gore 292,691 votes and McKellar 216,079. McKellar's defeat, which he smilingly conceded Friday, was only a part of the political upheaval that swept Tennessee in the Democratic and Republican primaries Thursday.

The Democratic voters rudely ended the four-year reign of Gordon Browning as governor of Tennessee.

Another young man, Frank G. Clement, 32, swept to victory over Browning, who was seeking his third straight two-year term. Clement's victory brought E. H. Crump, Memphis political leader, back into the picture as a potent factor in state-wide Tennessee politics.

No Rain, No Game!

Campus of Mexico City University Rests on Lava Flow from Volcano

MEXICO CITY—North America's oldest university is getting a strange new campus. Work on the $20 million project was started Sept. 21, 1951, the 400th anniversary of City University of Mexico. Dedication is planned for Sept. 16 this year, Mexico's Independence day.

The campus will lack the green lawns and academic elms of United States schools. Instead, it will cover one of Mexico's most recent lava flows.

And instead of classic colonial, the buildings of the $20 million project draw inspiration from both the oldest and newest currents in architecture.

Jai alai courts are inside replicas of the Aztec pyramids which dot Mexico. They were built of the lava quarried to clear the ground for the new buildings.

Some Modern Contrasts For those who like the new line in architecture, there is the Cosmic Ray laboratory. This looks like half a barrel on stilts 10 feet off the ground. The Nuclear Physics laboratory is a tumbled cubic pile which looks like something of a gifted child might build out of blocks.

The rest of the design is a mixture of horizontal — the Humanities building is 1,093 feet long, one of the longest buildings in the world — and vertical — the 14-story tower of Administration.

President Miguel Aleman is credited with bringing all the schools of the national university to a single 1,800-acre campus. At present the schools are scattered throughout the city, mostly in old convents and monasteries.

Some objections have been voiced to the new site. It is 10 miles from the center of the city, on the edge of an expensive residential district. But the police, at least, like the location. For years there have been annual student riots. These were always in the center of the city near the present schools. They were not very dangerous and their causes were always unimportant. But they made student control a problem, forced stores to close, and occasionally somebody got killed.

The new school is surrounded by a belt of hardened lava, with only one road to town. With this road blocked, rioting students would have to climb over half a mile of lava blocks to get to an area where they could bother anybody.

Ajusco Towers Above

The site is the lava bed which flowed down from the now extinct Ajusco volcano a thousand years or more ago. It has remained since as a tumbled wilderness of rocks, with 14,000-foot Ajusco towering behind it.

The highest waves of lava were cut down to provide building materials. The lower areas were filled with earth to provide a fairly level platform. Off at one side bulldozers labored for weeks to heap up the banks which form the stadium, with room for 110,000 spectators. Huge tunnels through the banks provide outlets large enough to empty the stadium in half an hour. The 1955 Pan American Games will be held in the stadium.

Only 1 Bus Line But the area is served by only one bus line. Sports writers estimate the stadium can be emptied quickly but that it will take three hours to fill and move enough buses to bring the crowd back to the city.

Almost every important architect in Mexico had a hand in planning the new university.

Indians Dodge Border Duties In Himalayas

By The Associated Press

HARSIL, Indo-Tibetan Border — From inspector down to the humblest constable, there's one place any Indian policeman will gladly skip when headquarters hands out duty assignments.

It's the Himalayan frontier check post guarding India's mountain passes into Communist-held Tibet — miles beyond the last motor road, freezing temperatures and only mountain goats for company.

"The worst part of it, we've hardly anything to do," frowned Inspector Hukum Singh, chief police officer at Nelang, check post 25 miles northeast of this trading village.

Only 46 traders have crossed the 60-mile uninhabited stretch from the last Tibetan village a Nelang this year with their sheep or mules bearing wool and rock salt. No Communist infiltration attempts have been detected, Singh said in an interview.

The Reds Lie Low

Other check posts along India's 200-mile West Tibet frontier have a similar story. So far, the reports run, Red China is staying well inside Tibet tending to the tough job of consolidating internal control.

But traders reaching here from Tibet report that Chinese authorities will open their own border check posts before the summer ends.

This year for the first time traders must obtain a permit to visit Tibet from the local Indian district magistrate. This must be shown when crossing the border. Fingerprint experts keep records of all Tibetans entering Indian territory, checking carefully to make certain they are legitimate traders.

Communicates by Radio

Nelang messages the Indian government daily by radio, sole means of communications in this region. The nearest telegraph line is at Tehri, 125 miles southeast, the nearest motor road 97 miles, and the Timberline, six miles.

Aside from occasional routine duties, Nelang's policemen spend most of their time figuring out ways to get enough to eat, keep warm, and conquer boredom.

The mercury dips to the freezing point even in midsummer at this 13,000-foot altitude. Clinging to the side of a snow-capped peak along the Jadh Ganga river, a highland tributary of the sacred Ganges, Nelang's handful of men catch bitter winds blowing down the valley from Tibetan plateaus.

Monsoon haze settles over Nelang in early morning and at dusk, blanketing all views of the peaks and, more important, sentries, of mountainous paths. "We can stay fairly warm by keeping on the heavy gear 24 hours a day and never letting the fire go out," Singh said. "But what about eating? Have you ever lived on rice and chapattis for six months straight?"

Chapattis are the Indian's "staff of life," homemade bread resembling whole wheat.

Rice, wheat, and potatoes, brought by mule from villages in the Ganges valley below, can fancy price tags. Though camp post police get free clothing and shelter, they must buy their own food — and the result is frequent transgression of the Hindu taboo on meat eating.

Furloughs Prove Painful

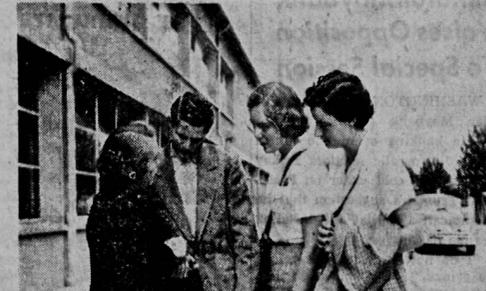

DENVER (AP) — Tech. Sgt. Jack L. Hamilton, 32, checked in at the Lowry air force base hospital Thursday night for treatment of a .22-caliber bullet wound in the leg. He was shot while on leave at Council Bluffs, Ia.

In the next bed was Pvt. Jackie Marshall, 18, undergoing treatment for a .22-caliber bullet wound in the leg, also suffered while on leave at Council Bluffs. As a further coincidence, both have birthdays on Sept. 20.

Hamilton said he was visiting at his father-in-law's farm when he heard prowlers. He grabbed up his .22-caliber rifle, then shot himself in the right shin when he stumbled. The prowlers vanished.

Marshall said he accidentally shot himself in the left leg with a .22 automatic as he was packing the gun before a planned departure to Ft. Riley, Kan.

Iowa Citizens Meet in France

IT WAS IOWA CITY DAY IN ORLEANS, FRANCE, when Don L. Reece, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Reece, 129 Grand ave., traveled from his station at Charent air force base in France, to Orleans to see the SUI Scottish Highlanders perform. Chatting with Don are three Iowa City members of the Highlanders, Gwen Seales (left), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Seales, 302 Melrose ave.; Marcia Raffensperger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Raffensperger, 521 Park road, and Jane Conlan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Condon, 427 S. Dodge.

Objects Seen in Sky Over Council Bluffs Were Plastic Balloons

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP) — Those mysterious sky objects sighted above Council Bluffs Wednesday and Thursday were probably gas filled bags sent aloft by the Howard Manufacturing Co.

President Ed Keller revealed Friday that his firm is now experimenting with plastic bags and has sent gas-filled bags measuring 6 by 10 feet into the skies over Council Bluffs.

The experiment is being conducted as possible promotion for the Fall Festival scheduled here in October. Don Filbert, operator of a local advertising agency, is promoting the festival for the Chamber of Commerce. He asked the company to make the plastic bags.

During the early part of October, similar bags probably will be sent to adjoining towns in southwest Iowa who publicize the festival.

The bags brought numerous reports of sky objects from residents Wednesday and Thursday. However, some reports can not be traced to the bags.

Boy Rescued from Drain Pipe Plunge

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — An 11-year-old boy was swept 75 feet through a drainage pipe when he went swimming in a rain-flooded ditch Thursday, but escaped with a skinned nose.

Frank Pope accepted the dare of a playmate and leaped into the ditch to try to swim against its raging current. He was pulled beneath the surface, and bumped along in the three-foot pipe.

Charles Pope, an older brother, organized a human chain to rescue Frank.

Diplomats in Honolulu Discuss Pacific Defense

Kansas Farm Gets Its Face Lifted In Just 24 Hours

LEBANON, Kan. (AP) — A farm renovation project that normally would have taken 10 years was finished in one neat dawn-to-dusk operation Thursday before the eyes of nearly 20,000 persons.

The farm, located at the geographical center of the U.S. was seeded back to grass with the exception of 50 acres. It has an entirely different look than before, with gullies filled, terraced and erosion proofed.

The project was sponsored by various agricultural agencies in Kansas and a Topeka radio station. Helping were some 1,000 Future Farmers of America and their instructors, 1,000 4-H clubbers and 1,000 veterans taking on-the-farm training.

Queen Coronation To Be Broadcast

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II will broadcast to her coronation parade through the capital next June.

The Duke of Norfolk, as Earl Marshal, announced the plans Friday night. Queen Elizabeth will be crowned at Westminster Abbey June 2.

The Duke's planning committee said the Queen also will hold state banquets at Buckingham Palace June 3 and 4 and receive foreign envoys and state deputations on June 5, a few hours before a big ball at the palace.

U.S. Business Sets Record, Report Shows

Iowa's business activity at the end of May this year was 268 per cent higher than the 1939 level, the Iowa Business Digest reports in its August issue.

In the same period, the comparable activity in the nation as a whole went up about 263 per cent to reach the highest level by the United States.

Business activity in the state is measured by the Digest's economic index, computed by the SUI bureau of business and economic research. The index is a composite of six indicators of potential buying power — bank debits, cash received from sale of farm products, department store sales, electric power production, manufacturing payrolls, and construction contracts awarded.

The Digest adds that in the first half of 1952, loans and discounts in the state's federal reserve banks outside of Des Moines were 8.5 per cent higher than those for the first six months of 1951. Life insurance sales in Iowa were 3.5 per cent higher in the same year-to-year comparison.

Prices received by Iowa farmers were higher in June of 1952 than for any month of 1951 except May, the Digest reports. The June prices were 3.5 per cent below those for May.

The Digest also notes that consumers' prices in June 1952, were 0.3 per cent above those for May of this year, and 11.4 per cent above those recorded in the Korean war days of June, 1951.

Dulles, Ike Agree Foreign Policy Is 'Endangering' U.S.

DENVER (AP) — John Foster Dulles said Friday that he and Dwight D. Eisenhower agree that the Truman administration foreign policy is tending "to put our nation in the greatest peril in the entire course of our national history."

Dulles, chief author of the foreign policy plank of the Republican platform, made the statement at a news conference after a two-hour meeting with Eisenhower, the party's presidential nominee.

Dulles, former adviser to Secretary of State Acheson, hit out at administration handling of foreign policy in almost certainly the strongest terms he ever has used.

Foreign Policy Is Attacked
Friday's conference was called to chart an attack on that policy, and Dulles said it would be the major issue of the forthcoming campaign.

He volunteered that he, Eisenhower and Sen. Richard Nixon of California, the GOP candidate for vice-president, are "all agreed that the trend of our present foreign policies is to put our nation in the greatest peril it has ever been in in the entire course of our national history."

Dulles said Russia's leaders "have been picking up the free world piece by piece," and added: "If this process goes on there will be a balance of power against us so great that I don't think a general war can be avoided, because the Communist leaders will then have a good hope of victory."

Ike Could Check Trend
Dulles went on to say that he believes Eisenhower alone, as president, could check the trend he outlined.

He said he has the highest personal regard for Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, the Democratic presidential nominee.

He added: "But I must in all honesty say that he (Stevenson) lacks experience, stature, and the power of decision in great world matters which is necessary to save our nation at this time."

Dulles said Eisenhower is thoroughly qualified to make such decisions.

At the outset of his news conference, Dulles said he came here at the suggestion of Eisenhower to talk over campaign plans regarding foreign policy.

Dulles promptly made it plain that the General plans to hit hard on that issue.

In Accord With Ike
Asked whether Eisenhower agreed with him on everything said at the news conference, Dulles replied while he could not speak for the General, he obviously "wouldn't be expressing these views if I felt they were not in accord with Gen. Eisenhower's views."

Then Dulles said: "The Republicans advocate a global, balanced policy which will treat the peoples of the Far East, the Middle East and Africa as equals and first class members of the free world, and not as second class expendables which is the administration policy," Dulles replied.

"We, the Republicans, will abandon the policy of mere containment of communism and will actively develop hope and a resistant spirit among the captive peoples of the world."

Dulles said such a course is "the only alternative to a general war."

Chiang's Wife May Receive Treatment

HONOLULU (AP) — Madame H. H. Kung, sister of Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, arrived here Friday from San Francisco with the personal physician of the generalissimo's wife.

This revived speculation that Madame Chiang was coming here from Formosa for medical treatment, possibly next week.

Dr. J. Heng Lui, the physician, who also is president of the Red Cross society of China, denied, however, any knowledge that Madame Chiang is coming here.

Ike Plans for a U.S. 'Closer to Our Hearts'

SURROUNDED BY CHEERING WELL-WISHERS, GOP presidential nominee Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is met at Los Angeles airport by vice-presidential nominee Sen. Richard Nixon (left) and California's Gov. Earl Warren on the general's arrival to address the Veterans of Foreign Wars encampment. Ike presented to the VFW a 10-point program for peace, honest government and equality for all for an America "closer to our hearts."

Death, Defeats to Bring Major Senate Changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major shakeup in high senate posts is certain next January, no matter which party has control of the chamber.

If the Republicans get control, all committee chairmanships will pass from Democratic to Republican hands. If the Democrats stay in command, death, defeat and retirement have already made certain a big reshuffling of important assignments.

The defeat of 83-year-old Sen. Kenneth D. McKellar in Tennessee's Democratic primary Thursday by Rep. Albert Gore will cause the biggest shift in Democratic plums within the senate for many years.

McKellar was dean of the senate in service. He first took his seat in 1907. Committee assignments and chairmanships in the senate normally go to the man of the party in control who has served longest.

McKellar was chairman of the potent appropriations committee, which controls the nation's purse strings, president pro tempore of the senate, and top-ranking Democrat of other senate committees and congressional commissions.

The death of Sen. Brien McMahon (D-Conn.) has vacated the chairmanship of the senate-house atomic energy committee as well as places on the foreign relations and commerce committees.

The decision of veteran Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex.) to seek re-election will leave vacant the chairmanship of the influential foreign relations committee and seats on the tax-writing finance committee and atomic committee.

Cudahy Workers Strike at Omaha

OMAHA (AP) — Cudahy Packing company workers walked off their jobs Friday noon in what a CIO United Packinghouse Workers spokesman described as a "protest move against no contract."

The Cudahy-UPWA contract expires Monday. Negotiations between the company and union representatives have been carried on Chicago since July 29.

A union spokesman said the 2,500 workers "might go back to work Saturday."

Queen of England Waves to Members Of Bagpipe Band

Through the alertness of a London cabbie, two SUI Scottish Highlanders are the envy of the 57 other members of the co-ed bag pipe band.

While riding to the theater in London last night, Marilyn McMullen, Dubuque, and Marcia Raffensperger, Iowa City, received a personal wave of recognition from England's young Queen Elizabeth.

The royal party was just leaving Buckingham palace, en route to the summer palace in Scotland, when the "Highlanders" cabbie noted the activity at the Palace gates and quickly stopped to allow Marcia and Marilyn to get out. The Highlander girls and the cabbie were the only spectators to witness the departure of the royal party.

Parole Refused

FILM PRODUCER WALTER WANGER (right) clad in jail jacket, talks to his attorney, Gerry Giesler, in Los Angeles where a three-man parole board took only five minutes to decline his application for parole. Wanger had served two months of a four-month sentence he received for the shooting of agent Jennings Lang over affections of Mrs. Wanger, actress Joan Bennett. The board decided no reasons to warrant a parole were presented.

Men, Women Nurses' Aides Needed at University Hospitals

Men and women between the ages of 18 and 50 are urgently needed to fill nurses' aide positions in the SUI hospitals.

According to Marie Tener, director of nursing service at University hospitals, the primary qualification of a nurses' aide is the desire to help care for sick people. They must, of course, be in good physical health because of the great amount of walking and standing.

Previous experience as an aide would be helpful, but it is not essential, Miss Tener said. She added that a high school education is desired and that all applicants must pass a physical examination.

Given Training

Those persons accepted for employment as nurses' aides will be given a three-week training course by the nursing staff of the University hospitals. The first week will include orientation and demonstrations; the second week the aides will be assigned to wards with continued classwork two hours daily. The third week the aide will be assigned to her work where she will be closely supervised during the next few weeks until she feels confidence in herself.

"Pair of Hands"

"In short," Miss Tener said, "the nurses' aide is another pair of hands for the nurse, to relieve the nurse of many routine duties so that she can give her time to the more complicated duties of nursing."

She added that nurses' aides work on a 40-hour week with a one-week vacation after the first year and two weeks the second year. Pay ranges from $150 to $170 monthly. Other benefits are 30 days of sick leave annually, accumulating to 90 days, Blue Cross insurance and life insurance, and the provision and laundry of uniforms by the hospitals. Miss Tener urged that anyone interested in employment as a nurses' aide at the SUI hospitals contact her immediately, at the Nursing Service Office, University Hospitals, Iowa City.

White Sox Grab 2 After Trailing Tigers; Pafko's Grand Slam Gives Dodgers Win

Pierce Ties Schantz For Strikeout Lead

The White Sox, trailing 3-0, in the ninth inning of the twilight game, exploded a six hit attack for four runs that sent the Tigers reeling, 4-3.

Chicago's Billy Pierce, who fanned four, tied Philadelphia's Bobby Schantz for the league's strikeout lead at 114.

In the second game the Tigers took a 1-0 lead in the second inning, but the Sox came back in the seventh to belt Art Houtteman for three hits and score twice.

Bill Hoeltz in the opener held the White Sox to four hits before retiring in the sixth because of a back injury. Don Kolloway clouted his first homer of the season in the seventh to score Matt Batts ahead of him.

The Tigers used three pitchers in the ninth in an attempt to stave off the Chicago rally.

Indians Trail by 8, Then Win 10-9 in 12

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Trailing by eight runs after two innings, the Cleveland Indians hammered away at St. Louis Browns' pitchers until they tied the score in the ninth on Larry Doby's three-run homer and won in the 12th, 10-9, on rookie Bill Glynn's home run.

Reds Whip Cards, 8-5

CINCINNATI (AP) — Righthander Ewell Blackwell Friday night earned his third victory as against 12 season defeats in pitching the lowly Cincinnati Reds to an 8 to 5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in the second of a five game series here. Cliff Chambers was the losing pitcher.

The Cards drew first blood in the top half of the fourth with one run on one hit.

The Reds came back in the bottom half of the fourth for five runs on four hits.

The Cards came back for another run in the top of the fifth when Vern Benson's single scored Hal Rice from third. They took their third marker with two out in the sixth when Slaughter hit his ninth home run of the season.

Seminick earned three more runs for the Reds in the seventh when he hit his 13th four-bagger of the year with two aboard.

Pirates 1, Cubs 0

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Little Murry Dickson singled home the winning run in the 10th inning Friday night as the lowly Pittsburgh Pirates captured a 1-0 decision from the Chicago Cubs. Bob Rush gave up only five hits to the Bucs.

Dickson hurled one of his top-flight games as he limited the Cubs to six hits and chalked up his 10th win against 16 defeats. The defeat was Rush's 10th compared to 11 wins.

Catcher Joe Garagiola singled to open the 10th. Brandy Davis went in to run for him. Johnny Merson fanned. Harry Fisher grounded out but Davis took second. Then Dickson singled off shortstop Roy Smalley's glove and Davis scampered home.

All-Stars Report Only 1 Bad Injury

DELAFIELD, Wis. (AP) — Head Coach Bobby Dodd of the College All-Stars took count of injuries in his camp Friday and found only one that was serious.

Guard Jim MacKenzie of Kentucky has a fractured ankle that probably will prevent his playing against the Los Angeles Rams in Chicago's Soldier field Aug. 15.

An important intra-squad game was on tap for Saturday. Dodd, who has been conducting practices in secret, indicated that his probable final choices for starting offensive and defensive assignments will be based on performances then.

3-Run Homer in 10th Breaks Phillies 6-3

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Andy Pafko clouted a three-run 10th inning homer Friday night to give the Brooklyn Dodgers a 6 to 3 win over the Philadelphia Phillies. The win put the league leading Dodgers six and a half games in front of the New York Giants who lost Friday night to the Boston Braves.

Andy Pafko was the Dodgers' big gun, batting in five of their six runs with his homer, a double and long fly ball.

The loss was a heartbreaker for Curt Simmons, a Philadelphia lefthander, who was pounded hard in the first two innings and then settled down. At one point in mid-game, he retired 10 men in order.

Braves Limit Giants To 4 Hits in Shutout

BOSTON (AP) — After being feted by a delegation of his Pawtucket, R. I., hometownsmen, righthander Max Surkont Friday night limited the New York Giants to four hits while hurling the Boston Braves to a 2-0 shutout over the National League champions.

The Braves totaled eight hits off Max Lanier and clinched matters in the first inning on singles by Sam Jethroe and Bob Thorpe, an infield out and an error.

While turning in his seventh win against 10 losses, two of which were to the Giants, Surkont struck out three and gave up four bases on balls without being in the slightest danger of losing his shutout.

U.S. Netmen Humble Canadians in Singles For Zone Davis Cup

MONTREAL (AP) — The United States humbled Canada Friday, taking two singles matches in straight sets in the North American Zone Davis Cup final.

Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., downed Henri Rochon, 6-2, 8-6, 6-2 and Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, American playing captain, put Lorne Main away 6-2, 6-3, 6-4.

Final singles matches are set for Sunday.

He Once Was a Hawkeye —

Tunnell To Play Halfback for Giants at Drake

Em Tunnell
Giants' Safety Man

Em Tunnell, All-League halfback of the New York Giants, will return to Iowa as a more productive ground gainer on defense than the vast majority of offensive backs, when New York meets Pittsburgh in Drake Stadium Aug. 22.

This is not a paradox, but a fact. The nifty Negro halfback gained 790 yards last season as a brilliant safety man. This total was surpassed on the Giants only by Eddie Price, league-leading ground gainer, and in the National Football league by only three offensive backs, including Price.

Tunnell carried 34 punt returns for 489 yards, six kickoffs for 227 yards and nine interceptions for 74 yards. That is an average of 16.1 yards for every chance to carry the ball, and that explains why Em is reserved for the defensive platoon by Steve Owen, coach.

"where he has the room to use his amazing faking and feinting, and his sudden speed through an opening."

Tunnell eclipsed George McAfee's all-time record for punt returns when he handled 34 last season, and there is a human interest story to that fact, which involved Em's pride.

Owen tells the tale: "In his first year (1948) with us, Em was booted in the Polo Grounds when he made several fair catches. He made them under my orders, but he still could not put up with the disapproval of the crowd, and insisted that nobody would ever again think he was a sissy. From that time, I have had trouble convincing Em that a fair catch often is the better part of valor, because the memory of that booning is still alive in his mind. He takes a beating trying to run a punt now and then which should have been made a fair catch, but he also, when he sees the slightest opening, gives us a run which borders on the miraculous."

One such was the 100-yard kick-off return against the Yanks, in which Em must have run 200 yards in the first 50 towards the goal, dodging every man on the other team.

When Tunnell joined the Giants, however, Owen was stacked with offensive backs and was gravely in need of defense. After watching Em for a few games at safety, Owen had no doubt where he belonged.

"He is much more valuable to us in the open," stated the coach.

Ferrier's 66 Leads Pro Pack

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Big Jim Ferrier, the unorthodox swinger and master putter, slammed into a two-stroke lead over Lew Worsham at the 36 hole mark of the $90,000 "World Golf Championship" at Tam O'Shanter Friday with a blistering second round of 66 for 134 total, 10 under par.

Ferrier, a 37-year-old Australian who came to the U.S. in 1940 and hit his biggest golfing jackpot by winning the 1947 National PGA crown, needed only 27 putts in carving a 31-35 against Tam's battered par of 36-36-72. He tacked his second trip 66 to an opening 68.

Worsham had to scramble for his front side 33 then blew in the pressure-packed meet that pays an unprecedented $25,000 to the winner with a 7 on the par 5 475-yard 10th hole.
