Coast Guard Cutter Makes Lonely Trip

WASHINGTON (CP) — It has been 10 years since the Coast Guard cutter "Kukui" has been far away from her home in the Pacific Ocean. The ship has been at anchor for 10 years in the San Francisco Bay, a position she has held since 1951, when she was stationed there. The cutter is a 264-foot ship, and her primary mission is to provide law enforcement and military training. The "Kukui" has been in the service of the Coast Guard for over 50 years and is considered one of the longest serving vessels in the fleet.

French Girl to Study at SUI

Will Do Graduate Work in Physical Education On Iowa Clubwomen's Scholarship

A 16-year-old French girl who began her graduate studies in physical education at SUI this fall as a result of the achievements and interests of people in the University's program was the guest of the Clubwomen's Scholarship Committee.

Her name is Claire Coullard, a student at the University of Bordeaux in France, who was selected to study at SUI under the becoming known as the Clubwomen's Scholarship.

Claire Coullard is a member of the University of Bordeaux, where she is majoring in physical education. She won the scholarship through her participation in physical education activities and her academic record.

Coullard plans to study the effects of exercise on the body and the mental health of women. She will be working with Dr. A. L. Houghton, head of the department of physical education, and Dr. R. W. Arrowood, assistant professor of physical education.

Coullard was presented with a $500 scholarship by Mrs. Milton Duvall, chairman of the SUI Clubwomen's Scholarship Committee.

She is the second French student to receive the scholarship, which was established in 1951 by the Clubwomen's Club of Iowa City.

The scholarship is awarded to students from France who are majoring in physical education and who are eligible to study at SUI.

Coullard said she was excited to be in Iowa and looking forward to her studies at SUI.

She plans to return to France after completing her studies, where she will continue her research and work in the field of physical education.

Coullard's studies at SUI will be funded by the Clubwomen's Scholarship Committee, which also provides support for the study of other French students.

The committee is currently accepting applications for the 2023-24 academic year.

Applications should be submitted by November 15, 2022, and should include a letter of recommendation from a university or college official, a transcript of academic records, and a statement of the student's career goals.

The committee will review the applications and make selections based on academic merit and the potential for the student to make a significant contribution to the field of physical education.

For more information about the Clubwomen's Scholarship, visit the SUI Clubwomen's Scholarship website or contact the committee at 515-384-1876.
Walcott, Paige et al.

BOSTON, Mass. — Billy Wiskish, who adopted with the Daily Iowan the tradition of the baseball column, has been credited back to the Boston University campus for the next three seasons. He will be the third Iowan to have a baseball column in the city in eight years. The first was Bill Friel of the Boston Globe, and the second was Bill Willard of the Boston Herald-Traveler.

Vince Willard, who had been the Daily Iowan's baseball writer, was recently elected to the American League's committee on baseball rules.

James Berlin, who had been a member of the American League's executive board, is now in charge of the American League's rule committee.

The Boston Red Sox have signed a three-year contract with Walcott, who is a junior at the University of Massachusetts.
