Thousands Swamp Air-Lift For Ride to Moslem Shrines

BEIRUT, LEBANON (AP)—Added thousands of Moslem pilgrims surged into this mid-east crossroads Tuesday, swamping the United States air force "hadiji airlift" to the approaches of holy Mecca and Medina in Saudi Arabia.

The airlift can't go all the way to the shrines of Islam because infidels — the air crews — are forbidden entry.

Despite hourly departures by 14 C-54 transports, which carried 1,000 Mohammedan pilgrims in the first 24 hours of the modern magic carpet operation of goodwill, it appeared more than 8,000 others would be stranded here.

Gates Close Thursday
The pilgrims must reach Mecca before the holy gates close Thursday morning or the journey, which has eaten up the life savings of most, will be in vain. Ceremonies of the annual religious feast begin then.

As it became obvious that the air force would be unable to get most of the pilgrims to their destination, gloom and despair spread through the makeshift camps where they are living.

The majority of the pilgrims,

Egypt Asks U. S. Aid To Maintain Order With Mobile Police

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Egypt's reform government Tuesday appealed for American economic aid and U.S. arms for a mobile police force to maintain internal order.

Premier Aly Maher conferred with U.S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery and strong-man Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib Tuesday night on the proposals, then announced them to reporters.

The government has already had to use force to keep order since it kicked King Farouk off the throne a month ago and believes that only better living conditions for the workers will bring about a stable, strong Egypt able to resist Communist penetration.

There appeared to be no connection between Tuesday's bid for U.S. help and western plans to set up a middle east defense command in which Egypt has been asked to be a key partner.

In Washington, the state department said it had not yet received the Egyptian appeal.

Maher told reporters he had asked the United States to provide the Egyptian police with the most advanced automatic weapons.

The U.S. supplied Egypt with a limited number of such equipment a few months ago which was enough to set up a mechanized police regiment of 3,000 men. It is understood the government is planning to increase this number to 5,000.

Texas Republicans Choose Democrat

SAN ANTONIO, TEX. (AP)—Texas' united Republicans Tuesday nominated Democratic Gov. Allan Shivers as their candidate for governor in the November election.

They roared approval of the unprecedented action to crossfile a full slate of Democrats for state offices — including state Atty. Gen. Price Daniel for U. S. senator and former Congressman Martin Dies for congressman-at-large.

A Condensation of Late Developments

MUNSAN, KOREA (AP)—Korean truce delegates meet today after a seven-day recess in the talks deadlocked over prisoner of war exchange. Scant hope prevails for any break in the long controversy. The truce teams have met only once a week for the last month. A fifth straight recess may be called if the Reds fail to suggest something new. The basic dispute blocking a final truce agreement is this: The Communists want 116,000 prisoners, including all the 20,000 Chinese captives, returned to their side. The Allies say "no" and the best UN offer is only 83,000 men, including 6,400 Chinese.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Stephen A. Mitchell, the Democratic national chairman, said Tuesday he will hold weekly conferences with President Truman to seek his advice "as head of the Democratic party." Since Mitchell was hand-picked by Gov. Adlai Stevenson for the party post, this announcement seemed to point toward a closer campaign relationship between the Democratic presidential nominee and the President.

Thirst Caused Most Worry For Weary B-17 Survivors

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP)—Thirst for drinking water was the chief worry of two weary airmen during a 24-hour battle in the storm-swept Gulf of Mexico in a life raft. They were brought here Tuesday night.

S. Sgt. Charles D. Jones, 31, of Meridan, Miss., and Airman 2C Peter R. Rosing, 22, of Ingleside, Ill., were the only known survivors of a B-17 bomber shot down by mistake Monday by a new-type automatically controlled jet fighter.

"We never had any doubts but that we would be picked up," said Jones, a sandy haired veteran of six years with the air force. "Our only real concern was whether we'd be able to last until we got some good drinking water."

Minesweeper Makes Rescue
Jones and Rosing were picked up Tuesday by a coast guard minesweeper, then transferred to an air force rescue boat for an 18-mile run into Tyndall air force base. A C-47 took them to the base hospital at Eglin air force base north of here.

Stevenson To Make New York Speech Before Going West

By The Associated Press
Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois invades New York City today in a bid to ignite an Eastern boom before setting out on a whirlwind nine-state western tour.

The Democratic presidential standard bearer is scheduled to address the American Legion convention at Madison Square Garden on the same rostrum where his Republican rival, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, spoke earlier this week.

Like Eisenhower, Stevenson is expected to center his talk on U.S. foreign policy.

Meanwhile, key advisers said Eisenhower, who has been criticized by some of his own supporters for what they consider a slow start, said the general will set his campaign rolling in high gear from now on. They said he had deliberately set it at low speed because August headlines are soon forgotten.

Two GOP leaders — Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire and Rep. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts — told newsmen after conferring with Eisenhower Tuesday that the general will speak out very soon on major issues of the campaign.

Woods Replaces Arnall As New Price Stabilizer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tighe E. Woods will move over from federal rent controller to price stabilizer.

The shift, effective Sept. 1, was announced Tuesday with release of a letter in which President Truman expressed regret that Ellis G. Arnall is stepping out as head of the Office of Price Stabilizer.

"Although the Defense Production Act amendments of 1952 have weakened our ability to hold prices down," Truman told Arnall, "you have done an excellent job with the means at your disposal."

Arnall's resignation had been in Truman's hands since Aug. 6 — right after higher authorities granted a bigger price raise than Arnall would approve in connection with settlement of the steel strike.

Arnall has insisted he was not quitting over the steel price dispute, however. He said when he took the post that he would stay only six months and his tenure was just about that.

Moeller Appointed Head of Committee

North Africa to Iran on the borders of the Soviet Union, the pilgrims had paid round-trip fares to Jidda, but actually lacked formal billing with regular airlines for the final hop to Saudi Arabia.

American diplomatic officials saw the airlift as an opportunity to befriend the Moslem world, where anti-American feelings were stirred over the 1948 Palestine war.

Mushroom Grows on Bunker Hill

THE A-BOMB-LIKE MUSHROOM CLOUD in the distance is evidence of the heating the enemy received on Bunker Hill during an assault in Korea. Two outpost observers of the U.S. 1st marine division (foreground) have just called for close air support for ground troops. In the see-saw battle for the hill its occupants changed from enemy to UN three times before UN forces finally held it against eight counter attacks.

Spotted in Raft
An air force C-47 spotted the two in a life raft bobbing about in the Gulf 60 miles southeast of Panama City, and directed the minesweeper USS Seer to the spot.

Both men came aboard under their own power. The air force refused to give up hope for the remaining crewmen. It speculated that heavy tides might have carried any other survivors several miles from the spot where the plane came down.

Observers on other planes out of Eglin air force base which were flying near the B-17 at the time it was hit said they saw four chutes open.

Covered Wide Area
A large force of air and surface rescue craft ranged over a wide area of the Gulf searching for remaining crewmen.

The rocket which sent the B-17 plunging was fired by the pilot of an F-86D. This is the air force's newest all-weather fighter, which has been undergoing operational suitability tests at the air proving ground at Eglin before being placed in combat service.

The air force said the pilot, Col. Arthur R. Debolt, 39, of Columbus, O., apparently mistook the B-17 "mother" plane for an uninhabited radio controlled drone which it was guiding. The drone, which was to have been the target, was about a mile and a half behind.

Allies Turn Back Strong Red Attack On 'Bunker Hill'

SEOUL (AP)—Allied defenders, after smashing three Chinese assaults on bloody Bunker Hill, chased a strong Red patrol back down the slopes early Tuesday in hand-to-hand fighting.

The eighth army estimated 270 out of a Red assault force of possibly 1,000 were casualties, including 100 killed.

Allied warplanes attacked Communist front line positions Tuesday and pounded supply centers around the hard-hit Red Korean capital of Pyongyang.

Bunker Hill is on the western front just east of Panmunjom. Marines seized Bunker Hill Aug. 12, then bloodily repulsed all Communist attempts to recapture it in four days of blazing combat.

Ike Marches Along Legion Parade Is Great Spectacle of Military Manpower

NEW YORK (AP)—A tremendous spectacle of military manpower unfolded Tuesday along broad fifth avenue.

From morning on toward night, the line plowed by in one of the biggest parades ever staged by the American Legion.

By mid-afternoon, a police-estimated crowds of three million spectators jammed the sidewalks in golden sunlight, watching the passing panorama of three wars — one not yet ended.

The march, which began about 9 a.m., wasn't due to be over until more than 12 hours later, after darkness had fallen.

1 Killed, 52 Wounded In Recent Outbreaks By Koje Prisoners

SEOUL (AP)—Disorders boiled anew this month on turbulent Koje Island, the U.S. Eighth Army reporting one Communist prisoner killed and 52 wounded in four outbreaks.

The army in three piecemeal announcements Tuesday also reported a fifth disorder on Cheju Island. Thousands of prisoners were sent there after the reign of Red terror in Koje prison camps was broken by firm Allied measures earlier this year.

Unlike the flaring violence on Koje, the Cheju show of defiance was put down without bloodshed the Army said. Both islands are off the southern coast of Korea.

The first outbreak on Koje, where presumably the Army had stifled the rebellious spirit of hardcore Communists, occurred Aug. 11. The other incidents erupted over a period ending Aug. 23.

An Army spokesman said there was no intent to withhold the information, and blamed a reorganization in the camp command for delay in making the reports public. The Communists have made propaganda of such incidents.

Tuesday's first announcement of rioting on Aug. 11 came only after The Associated Press inquired about an alleged outbreak a year ago on Koje reported by the Peiping radio.

Abernethy Leads Rankin in Race For Congressman

JACKSON, MISS. (AP)—Rep. Thomas Abernethy held a slowly-mounting lead Tuesday night over veteran Rep. John Rankin, chairman of the house veterans affairs committee and white supremacy champion, in their duel for the same congressional seat.

The Memphis, Tenn., Commercial-Appeal said midway in the unofficial tabulation that Abernethy was "the apparent winner."

Unofficial returns from 230 of the district's 358 precincts gave: Abernethy 15,974. Rankin 11,808.

5 NEW POLIO CASES

Five new polio cases were admitted to University hospitals Tuesday. All but one were in fair condition. Raymond Whitehead, 40, Washington, was reported in serious condition. In addition the hospital listed one polio case admitted that had not previously been reported on Aug. 16 and one on Aug. 24. Eight other cases were transferred from active to inactive. One patient, Carol Henze, 22 months, Waterloo, was discharged from the hospitals.

Hoboes Put on the Dog

BRITT (AP)—"Delegates" to the national Hobo convention were beginning to arrive in Britt Tuesday in preparation for their annual session.

The convention will climax a two-day Britt celebration and it will be featured by the traditional election of a king and queen of the hoboes.

Britt officials said both King Eddie "Cannonball" Baker and Queen Sylvia Davis were expected to attend the convention.

British Jet Posts New Trans-Atlantic Record

NORTHERN IRELAND (AP)—A British twin-jet Canberra bomber hurtled across the Atlantic ocean to Newfoundland and back Tuesday in the record smashing time of 10 hours, two minutes.

It was the first time any plane had made the round trip in one day.

The veteran three-man crew, headed by Wing Comdr. Roland Beament, had breakfast before leaving, ate a mid-morning snack during a two-hour refueling stop at Gander, Nfld., and got back in time for tea.

"Very Nice Trip"
"We had a very nice trip," Beament said as he climbed from the cockpit.

The unofficial flying time for the fantastic 4,144-mile round trip was recorded by the plane's makers, the English Electric company as seven hours, 59 minutes.

Headwinds up to 140 miles an hour slowed the slim black craft on its race westward with the sun, but helped its twin jet engines on the way back.

The company said it made the 2,072-mile return journey in three hours, 25 minutes — an average speed of 606 miles an hour and a new record for the west-east crossing.

Subject to Confirmation
All the timing records are subject to official confirmation.

The eastbound flight easily broke the official record for a west-to-east crossing made by two Germans, Capt. A. Henke and R. von Moreau, in a Focke Wulf Kondor in 1938. The Germans made an average speed of only 199 miles an hour with a flight of 19 hours, 55 minutes from New York to Berlin.

Various planes, commercial and military, have bettered that time in crossing the Atlantic during and since World War II, but never under official conditions.

Land in Drizzle
Some 500 spectators cheered the Canberra's homecoming in a drizzle.

Beament, 32-year-old test pilot, told reporters he chatted by radio with the pilot of a Trans-Canada commercial airliner on the return flight and quoted the Canadian as saying:

"That's a hell of a way to spend a day."
Flight Lt. Peter Hillwood, who piloted the Canberra on the return trip, said he flew at 40,000 feet most of the way to use the terrific tailwinds to best advantage.

Long Memory, Hunch Credited With Solving Brink's Robbery

WASHINGTON (AP)—A long memory and a quick hunch were credited Tuesday with solving the $65,000 "out to lunch" robbery of a Brink's armored car within 18 hours after the apparently clueless crime was committed.

The theft occurred Monday while four guards of a Brink's truck, containing a total of $265,000, left the car locked but unattended and went to lunch.

Police said Ray Eugene Farmer, 26, a former Brink's guard, admitted the robbery after a night-long grilling, then took them to a nearby amusement park and showed them where he buried the entire $65,000 in 13 packages of $5, $10 and $20 bills.

The money was there — every dollar of it, Police said — Farmer apparently passed up the other $200,000 because it was in bills of large denomination and they are comparatively easy to trace.

The hold-as-brass theft was committed while Farmer was making his rounds as a bakery truck driver. His present employers expressed amazement at his arrest. So did Farmer's neighbors. They described him as a quiet man who always took his children to Sunday school.

Officials said police Supt. Robert V. Murray came up with the hunch that broke the case after relays of detectives had questioned the four Brink's guards for hours in a vain quest for clues. Ten FBI agents and 20 local policemen had been assigned to the case.

Murray remembered that a Brink's employe named Farmer was fired in 1949 for lending his guard's uniform to a bunch of teen-age hoodlums known as the "Pimply Face Gang."

At that time, police found no grounds for holding Farmer.

24 Special Classes Scheduled for Fall

SUI will offer 24 special Saturday classes during the 1952-53 school year for teachers and other people who are unable to attend regular sessions, Ted H. McCarrel, director of admissions, announced Tuesday.

The classes, which combine class work with home study, have been scheduled on 12 alternate Saturdays, beginning Oct. 4 and running through Mar. 28, McCarrel said.

The course offerings include classes in commerce, education, English, geography, history, home economics, physical education, political science, social work and sociology.

Students will register and pay fees at the first class meetings on Saturday, Oct. 4. Classes will be $5 per semester hour, and students may enroll for two or four semester hours.

Smoke in Your Eyes?—

American Cigaret Consumption Rising In Spite of Heavy Taxes on Tobacco

NEW YORK (CP) — Eighty-five per cent of all homes have at least one smoker. Of these, males average seven and one-half packs of cigarettes a week, women, five. Annually, per capita consumption of cigarettes in the United States is 2,674.

the longer cigarette makes their fingers appear graceful." Women smoke more cork-tipped cigarettes than do men, too.

There are interesting regional differences in smoking habits, according to Kolodny. More women smoke more cigarettes in New York than in any other city, per capita. New York also constitutes the greatest king-size cigarette market in the world. "Obviously," Mr. Kolodny says, "when you smoke more you want longer smokes."

Fewer Pipes in South

New York City, home of the tycoon, is also one of the biggest cigar-smoking cities in the world. However, it is one of the worst pipe-smoking towns. Cartoonists notwithstanding, fewer pipes are smoked south of the Mason-Dixon line than in damyankee territory.

Snuff and chewing tobacco sales mainly are concentrated in southern areas. In Washington, D.C., the Senate Chamber keeps two well-filled snuff-boxes, one for Democrats, one for Republicans.

For whatever reason, the curve of cigarette sales fluctuates seasonally. Purchases are highest through the summer months; poorest sales are in January and February.

Perry Business Group Is Named Defendant In $155,700 Suits

ADEL (AP) — A $100,000 slander suit and a $55,700 breach of contract suit have been filed in Dallas county district court by Ross J. Kidder, 56, executive secretary until recently of the Perry chamber of commerce.

Defendants in the $100,000 suit are George Soumas, Dallas County Attorney; Harry T. Edwards, Perry banker and president of the Perry chamber of commerce; Fisher Darden, Perry radio station manager; the Boone Broadcasting company, and the First National Bank of Perry.

Defendant in the $55,700 suit is the Perry chamber of commerce where Kidder says he was discharged "without cause" on July 15th.

Attorneys for Soumas, Edwards and Darden already have filed pleadings challenging the court's jurisdiction in the case.

Kidder's petition in the $100,000 suit claims the defendants or their agents contributed to his discharge by reporting "falsely" at a July 9 directors meeting of the Perry chamber of commerce that "the plaintiff had been arrested" on a morals charge in Des Moines.

Contract Extended By Morrell, Union

OTTUMWA (AP) — The Ottumwa local of the United Packinghouse Workers union and John Morrell & Company have agreed to extend their previous contract pending completion of negotiations for a new one, Hugh S. Bell, director of industrial relations for Morrell, said Tuesday.

The old contract expired Aug. 11 by joint agreement its provisions were continued in force until Aug. 18 when the union reported it had decided to cancel out.

Under the latest decision to re-instate the old contract, provision was made that either side may cancel on 2-hour notice to the other.

Texas Election Results Delayed by Close Races

DALLAS (AP) — Two races Saturday's Democratic run-off in Texas were still too close to show a certain victor in tabulations Monday.

Justice Frank Culver of Ft. Worth held an 8,446-vote lead over Spurgeon Bell, Houston attorney, for 1 place on the state Supreme Court.

In the 9th Congressional district Rep. Clark Thompson of Galveston had a 518-vote lead over Wharton County Sheriff T. W. Lane.

Poll Weevil Troubles

Government Moves Community For Hydrogen Bomb Project

ELLENTON, S. C. (CP) — The dateline on this story is no more.

Which means that because the Atomic Energy commission decided many months ago that this area was the ideal site to work on the hydrogen bomb, the town of Ellenton S. C., was literally moved off the United States map. And this little community of some 600 men, women and children was forced to shift locks, stock and houses, barns, chicken coops and even corn cribs.

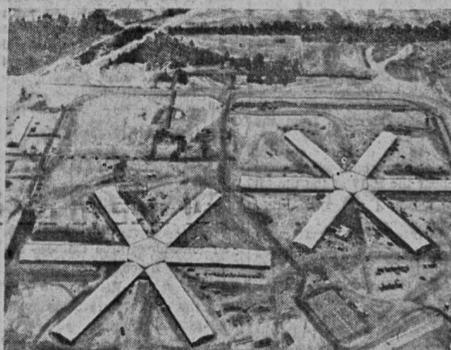

By early June the evacuation had already taken place and on a certain memorable, if unhappy day, B. T. Brinkley, Sr., the postmaster, and his two daughters, had watched folk mailing their letters in the town for the last time; the last "Ellenton, S. C.," postmark had been affixed on somebody's mail, and the door was locked for all time.

The creation of this "ghost" town was part of the evacuation which has taken place in the vast 202,000-acre Savannah river valley where certain phases of the hydrogen bomb are to be developed.

At Ellenton, the moving of entire houses along the highways — with long lines of cars backed up behind the obstructions — presented strange sights, indeed. For the most part, the old-fashioned homes were pulled and pushed along the road by huge trucks and tractors.

The general shifting of this piece of America had been in progress for several months, but when the early June deadline moved ever closer, the natives put forth special effort to get away in good time. And to accomplish their purpose, house moving firms were brought in from as far away as Texas and West Virginia.

It has been estimated that some

SPOKES OF AEC administration buildings stretch out in red South Carolina dust near the site of old Ellenton, S. C. The whole town was destroyed and its inhabitants were moved elsewhere to make room for the new atomic plant. More than 6,000 persons were evacuated in the project.

6,000 persons were moved from the entire area on a staggered basis.

Everyone Profited Besides the moving companies from out of state, the home owners also profited handsomely from the government project. It seems that Washington paid the owners for their houses which were sold back to them at considerably lower prices as "salvage." Some sold their houses to others after buying them back from the government, and this constituted a brisk business on its own.

During the moving of these homes, the AEC sent a special safety patrol along with each house as it moved along.

When the natives of Ellenton received the news that they would have to go, there was considerable argument and debate as to where would be the best place to go. One choice was joining the village of Jackson, six miles to the south.

Another, was regrouping the homes at a new site. And thus it was that a majority of the Ellenton residents decided to follow the latter idea, and today you can see the new town of New Ellenton, S. C., sprouting and mushrooming just four miles north of where old Ellenton, S. C., is now but a memory.

New Ellenton Growing

New Ellenton already has a population of more than 4,000 persons, indicating that many people from the wider affected area, decided to throw in their lot with the residents of the old Ellenton.

New Ellenton today presents a most unusual phenomenon in community organization. For example, although it is technically a "new" community, it is made up of a considerable number of old — some very old — homes that were moved here from other towns, principally the old Ellenton.

German Message Proves Soviet Aim is Confusion

By J. M. ROBERTS JR. Associated Press News Analyst

The latest Russian note about Germany tends to confirm the belief that she is only trying to confuse the minds of west Germans over cooperation with the Allies while actually intending to segregate east Germany more firmly behind the Iron Curtain.

It is typical Russian tactics to attempt to negotiate a German peace with the big three while ignoring Germany. She got away with it at Yalta regarding China and the eastern European states, and now she has them in thrall. That's exactly her aim with regard to Germany.

The Allies are not going to be maneuvered this time. They are going to make an all-German peace only with all Germany. Prerequisite to that is liberty among Germans in the western sense, which involves, above everything else, free elections. They are not going to have an all-German government until it is secure from Communist subversion. And they are not going to sign away German rights to defensive alliances or permit Russia to try to turn it into a buffer state through any fictitious neutrality.

Work as in Poland

The Russians want first to impose a peace treaty and then an all-German government, just as they did in Poland, and then have a cowed populace go to the polls and confirm the whole business, just as they did in Poland.

It isn't going to work this time, even if it means recognition of the division of Germany for all the time that it is going to take to get an eventual settlement — through war or a change in Russian policy — of the whole east-west dispute.

The Allies will reply to the latest note, and the exchange may continue for some time. But it is obvious now that no basis for settlement exists.

One More Demarche

The Russians just about have time for one more demarche on the subject before the western German parliament takes up ratification of the new political and defense agreements with the west. The death of Dr. Kurt Schumacher, socialist leader and most dynamic of the opponents of the western co-operation program, has just about assured the ratification.

After that, Russia is likely to give up all the pretense she has been making about care for a reunited Germany. She probably will move promptly to solidify east Germany as a Communist satrapy, perhaps giving it the same standing as a nationalist state among the other European satellites.

Group Seeking Christian Unity Finds Barriers

LUND, SWEDEN (AP) — Spokesmen for churchmen from 40 countries seeking ways to unify Christendom said Monday night they see no immediate success in their campaign.

Preliminary reports submitted for debate in the Third World Conference on Faith and Order refer repeatedly to the "scandal of Christian division," the spokesman said. Conference sessions are closed to the general public.

Council Sponsors Meeting The World Council of Churches is sponsoring the week-old conference. Attending are representatives of Anglican, other Protestant, Old Catholic and Orthodox churches. The Roman Catholic church is not taking part but has sent official observers.

The preliminary reports, sharply criticized for their vagueness, were sent back to committees for redrafting. The conference will close Thursday.

The drafts disclosed these main barriers to unity:

Barriers To Overcome

1. Fundamental differences over the doctrinal and sacramental contents of the various faiths.
2. Differing ways of worship in which the "sense of separation is most acute."
3. Valid ministry to lead congregations in worship.
4. The use of varying forms of worship, ritual, symbolism, and prayer acquired by the churches throughout their history.
5. The question whether members of one church should have the right to receive holy communion at the altar of another church intercommunion.

Iowa Tax Commission Rejects Suggestions Of Efficiency Group

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa Tax Commission said Tuesday it has rejected some of the recommendations made by a public administration consultant service for greater efficiency and economy in the commission.

All three members of the commission discussed with the Iowa legislative interim committee the report of Griffenhagen and Associates of Chicago on its study of the commission. The committee hired Griffenhagen to make the survey and report.

The commission members added however, that some of the firm's recommendations had been put into operation previously, some have been put into practice since, in whole or in part and others are under consideration.

One of the firm's principal recommendations was that the commission more closely regulate income tax field audits, both as to types and numbers. This suggestion was one of those rejected.

Also, the commission said it could see no merit in the recommendation that the short form income tax return be more widely used.

Another of the firm's main recommendations was that the commission fully mechanize its book-keeping operations. On this the commission said it is studying the matter.

Woman Finally Caught —

Summons Servers Gain Goal After 3 Years, 50 Attempts

SALISBURY, MD. (AP) — A bizarre battle of wits between summons servers and a middle-aged spinster who had eluded them for three years ended Monday in a field near her home.

A state trooper nabbed Viola Miriam Goslee, daughter of a former state's attorney, as she sprinted from the house toward a wooded area.

As the trooper and a deputy held the slight, 55-year-old woman, Sheriff Jesse M. Pollitt showed her an arrest warrant.

"I'm not dressed," she complained.

Take Her Anyway The sheriff, three deputies and Trooper Andrew Crockett led her off clad as she was—in a dress made of feed sacks, a battered hat crowning her flushed face.

Pollitt said the arrest climaxed at least 50 attempts to get Miss Goslee into court for a settlement of her father's estate. The father, F. Grant Goslee, died six years ago.

Miss Goslee was the original administratrix. Her status was revoked more than three years ago when she failed to produce an account of the estate. A brother-in-law, Earl S. Horsey, was then named to wind up the financial affairs of her parents.

Doubles as Dog-Catcher

Last week a dog-catcher doubling as a deputy sheriff, James E. Elliott, reported he had succeeded in handing her a summons by trickery. Elliott said he drove out to the farm ostensibly to discuss with Miss Goslee a dog he had inquired about.

Elliott said he then told her he was there on other business and handed her the paper. She screamed, dropped the summons and ran into the rambling, weathered farm house.

Orphans court officials ordered her arrest for contempt of court when she failed to appear in court last Tuesday, the appearance date contained in the summons served by the deputy.

Prince of Wales-to-Be Faces Rigid Upbringing

By CENTRAL PRESS

On the very young shoulders of Prince Charles of Edinburgh—better known to newspaper readers as Bonnie Prince Charlie—some day soon a burden will be laid. He will become Prince of Wales and with the investiture of that title will begin an increasing number of responsibilities.

As Prince of Wales, the little boy now only three years old (he was born Nov. 14, 1948), will stand in the full glare of the world's limelight as heir apparent to the British throne so recently ascended by his mother, Queen Elizabeth II.

By tradition a Prince of Wales is a sort of unofficial "ambassador" of the British crown to the world at large. This job, incidentally, was performed so ably by the last Prince of Wales, Charles' great uncle Edward, now Duke of Windsor, that he became known as "Britain's best salesman." After reigning less than a year, Edward abdicated to marry the present Duchess of Windsor.

Education To Differ

From this date forward Charles' education and rearing will be different than that of any other little boy in the world. His education and his conduct will be molded to fit him for the unique job which some day should be his.

There'll be no playing hooky and no neglect of "home work" by Charles. Never, until his formal education is completed will he be out from under the eyes of strict tutors. Even with the glitter and glory of the British throne as a goal, it will be a regimen which would appeal to few American boys.

A most unfortunate Prince of Wales was Edward V, young son of Edward IV, after whose death the young prince and his little brother were confined in the Tower of London and there murdered at the behest, it has long been suspected, of Richard III, their uncle, who seized the throne.

Another Ill-Fated Prince

Wales was Charles Edward, grandson of King James II and known variously as the "Young Pretender," the "Young Chevalier" and Bonnie Prince Charlie.

This dashing aspirant to the Prince Charles Destined to Reign

English throne had been created Prince of Wales at his birth in 1720. The Young Pretender was born in Rome as his family headed by his father, who called himself James III, was in exile.

For many years the Young Pretender plotted and fought in his effort to regain the British throne for the House of Stuart. He combined recklessness with great determination but all his efforts ended in failure. Broken and, at last, discouraged, he died in Rome in 1788.

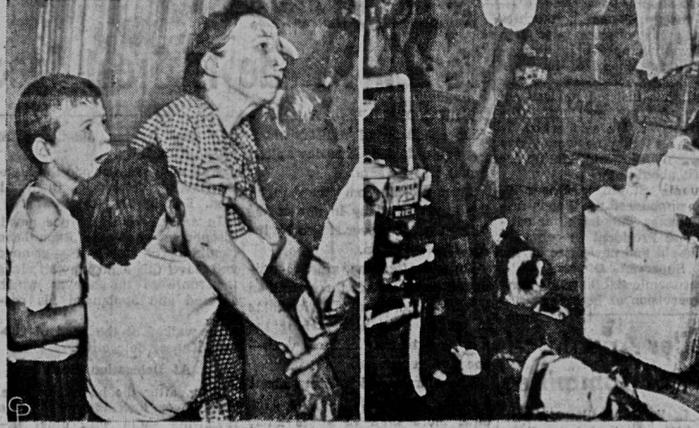

All Is History Now

However, that was long ago and the fires of the Young Pretender's wars and clang of his battles are now but words in the yellowing pages of history. Since his time there have been many Princes of Wales, most of whom lived happily, contented lives, held in great esteem by the British peoples.

Now Great Britain soon will have another Prince of Wales and once again will appear the traditional three plumes of his high office. And once again the world will see the motto of all Princes of Wales, which is "Ich dien," which means "I serve."

Not for a moment will little Charles of Edinburgh be allowed to forget the full meaning of those two fine words.

4 Humans, 29 Animals Share 2 Rooms

HORRIFIED HUMANE SOCIETY AGENTS Alfred E. Speigel and Roland H. Nixon said there was a great commotion and stench when they broke into a bone-littered, two-room apartment in Pittsburgh and found it was occupied by 64-year-old Mrs. Edna Stone, her three grandchildren, Mark, 10; David, 9, and Darlene Stone, 8, and 25 dogs, two cats, two roosters and an army of roaches. The ragged children were taken to juvenile court, the well-fed animals to shelters and Mrs. Stone was arrested on charges of disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. The grandmother told officers she spent $25 a day to feed the animals and bathed the dogs daily. She said, "I just happen to like dogs."

Whitewash Of Tax Scandals Ordered, Juryman Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — A member of the grand jury that tried out the St. Louis income tax scandals told a House subcommittee Tuesday the justice department tried to stop the investigation with a whitewash.

The juryman, Collis P. Lovely, said the department was largely responsible for the jury's coming out with a partial report that approved of the way tax cases were handled.

This report so shocked Federal Judge George H. Moore that he called it "astounding" and ordered the jury to go back to work. It did — and came up with 35 to 40 indictments for tax evasions.

Had "Schooling" In discussing those who appeared before the justice department before the grand jury, Lovely said: "We had a schooling in how the tax cases should be handled."

And of the jurors' first report he said: "I think our record of later indictments proves it was a whitewash."

A house judiciary subcommittee investigating the justice department spent most of its time Tuesday on the partial report, issued in March, 1951.

Hears Testimony It heard testimony from members of the grand jury that: 1. The report was written by two members of the U.S. district attorney's office and was cleared with Washington before all members of the jury had even heard it.

2. Officials of the justice department assured the jurors that cases which were closed because the defendants were in poor health — or for other reasons — could not be re-opened.

The jury foreman, Henry J. Butler, said he was in the office of the district attorney, Drake Watson, when the partial report was read to Ellis N. Slack, then a member of the Tax Division of the Justice Department but now its head.

Butler quoted Watson as saying: "Mr. Slack thinks the report is splendid. That's exactly what he wants."

The grand jury later approved the report, though not unanimously. Slack was in the room, and waited all day to be called to the stand. But the subcommittee adjourned without getting around to him.

Olivia DeHavilland Ends Marriage After 6 Years

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Academy award winner Olivia De Havilland ended her only marriage on its sixth anniversary Tuesday with charges that novelist Marcus Goodrich often beat her and threatened her life.

But, she told the judge, she wouldn't have sued for divorce except: "I was afraid my son was in danger both psychologically and physically, and this was the only reason. I wanted to make my marriage a success, because this was my only marriage."

Breaking into sobs midway in her half-hour testimony, the actress, 36, accused her 54-year-old husband of: "He Made Decisions" Ordering her to express no opinions. "He said he would make the decisions for us."

Aides Tell Ike Campaign Is On 'Upgrade'

NEW YORK (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower got party harmony reports Tuesday that his campaign is on the upgrade as aides studied critical reaction abroad to his latest foreign policy statements.

The general, obviously having fun, tramped 25 blocks in an American Legion parade viewed by an estimated two million persons. It was his only outdoor break in a day devoted largely to conferences with political leaders.

Among these, Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire and Rep. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts, told the Republican presidential nominee they don't believe any serious rift is threatened in the Republican party despite the reluctance of some supporters of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, to go along with the man who defeated him for the nomination.

Bridges and Martin, who predicted that Taft will take an active part in the campaign, said they approved the slow gait with which Eisenhower's drive has begun and predicted that the Republicans will win control of both houses of congress.

Bounding out from his conference with them, Eisenhower took his place with the Kansas delegation in the legion parade and marched jauntily up Fifth avenue.

Eisenhower snatched off his blue legion cap at times to wave it to the crowd. He tossed off hundreds of salutes as spectators cheered and once broke out of the line of march to shake hands with several wounded war veterans.

Chance to See The legion parade gave more citizens a chance for a personal look at the presidential candidate than at any time since his nomination in Chicago in July.

It was to the legion convention Monday that Eisenhower made a speech on foreign policy that drew criticism from English and French newspapers.

The independent liberal Manchester Guardian of London suggested that while a great many Britons would like their government to talk to the Kremlin "with cold finality," telling it that the "fidal mud of aggressive communism" had better recede," such blunt language seldom was used.

Jet Ace to Be Rotated Home To Quiet of Instructor's Job

TOKYO (AP) — Maj. William H. Westcott, one of the last three jet aces still in action in Korea, is going home to the relative quiet of an air force instructor's job.

Eighteen U.S. aces have emerged so far from the savage battles with the Russian-made MIG's of the Chinese air force. Two remain and one will be back from temporary duty in the United States.

Death has taken one and rotation has removed the others from Korean combat.

Westcott shot down his five Red jets in three days of fighting during April. He also has damaged two MIG's.

The jet ace was a squadron commander in the veteran 51st fighter wing, and is a veteran of 11 years in the air force.

Westcott's wife and daughter live in Terre Haute, Ind. The time for his departure for the U.S. has not yet been fixed.

Other jet aces still flying in the Korean theater are Col. Harrison R. Thyn, Pittsfield, N. H., and Capt. Clifford D. Jolley, Salt Lake City and Cleveland.

WITH NOT A SINGLE NEW YORK Yankee credited with a hit to the moment, Virgil "Fire" Trucks of the last place American league Detroit Tigers fogs a strike past Mickey Mantle in the ninth inning of Monday's game at New York. Trucks (inset) went on to a no-hitter and joined the only two other major league pitchers to hurl two no-hit games in one season. The others who have turned the trick are Johnny Vander Meer for Cincinnati in 1938, and Trucks' Monday opponent Allie Reynolds, who did it last year.

Suspend Light-Heavy Champ

NEW YORK (AP) — The State Athletic Commission Tuesday suspended light-heavyweight champion Joey Maxim until he goes through with a title defense against Britain's Randy Turpin in London.

The 30-year-old Maxim and his manager, Jack Kearns, both were suspended indefinitely for their present refusal to defend the crown against Turpin in London this September under the promotion of England's Jack Solomons.

in mind right now. "I'm going to talk this whole matter over with a lawyer," said Kearns. "We're not trying to duck Turpin or anyone else. We had a contract to fight Don Cockerill — not Turpin — for Solomons. We'll fight Turpin or anyone else as long as our terms and conditions are met. We should get more money for fighting Turpin than Cockerill. Cockerill used to be our sparring partner. Turpin is rougher and tougher and a better gate attraction."

Kearns and Maxim originally signed to meet Cockerill, then British and European light-heavyweight champion. Cockerill however, was knocked out by Jimmy Slade of New York and the fight was put off. Kearns claimed that the contract for a Cockerill fight expired last March.

Bill started by pitching a hitless first inning. In the second inning he sent behind the plate. The third saw him play first base. He shifted position at the start of each inning until he had completed the circuit. At the end of each frame the wife of one of his teammates would present him a check — he picked up over $200 for the night's work.

And, to top it off, in the bottom of the ninth his two-run, two-out single kept alive the rally which brought the Reds a 6-5 victory.

NEW YORK (AP) — Cal Bobo Olson, the improving Hawaiian middleweight, was rated a 2 to 1 favorite Tuesday to make New York's Gene "Silent" Hairston his sixth straight victim tonight when they clash in the main 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

2 Lefties — Shantz, Raffensberger — Top Leagues in ERAs

NEW YORK (AP) — A couple of curve-balling southpaws, Bobby Shantz of the Philadelphia Athletics and Cincinnati's Ken Raffensberger, share top billing in major league earned run effectiveness Tuesday.

Statistics compiled by the Associated Press show that Shantz has permitted 46 earned runs in 299 innings for the lowest ERA in the American league, 1.81. Figures include Monday's games. Raffensberger is the National league's earned run leader with 2.51 average. The 35-year-old Redleg hurler has yielded 58 earned runs in 208 innings.

CONTAINS TOBACCO OF BETTER QUALITY & HIGHER PRICE THAN ANY OTHER KING-SIZE CIGARETTE

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

BOTH regular and king-size Chesterfields are premium quality cigarettes and come in the smart white pack.

BOTH contain only those proven ingredients that make Chesterfield the best possible smoke: the world's best tobaccos, pure, more costly moistening agents (to keep them tasty and fresh), the best cigarette paper that money can buy — nothing else.

BOTH are much milder with an extraordinarily good taste and, from the report of a well-known research organization — no unpleasant after-taste.

BOTH are exactly the same in all respects. There is absolutely no difference except that king-size Chesterfield is larger — contains considerably more of the same tobaccos — enough more to give you a 21% longer smoke, yet costs little more.
