Parents, Teachers Enjoy Open House

425 Attend Opening Session Of Parent-Teacher Convention

The important contribution of proper reading habits and research findings to normal child development were emphasized here Friday at the opening sessions of the 52d annual meeting of the Iowa Congress of Parents and Teachers.

More than 425 delegates, representing 732 congress units and a total membership of more than 100,000, received the compliments of guest speakers for helping Iowa to achieve a record in child study "second to none."

The delegates heard addresses by Mrs. Ruth Gagliardo, Lawrence, Kans., library expert, and Dr. Boyd McCandless, director of the university child welfare research station.

Urged to Crusade
They were urged by Mrs. Gagliardo to crusade for a community public opinion that would demand adequate library facilities for youngsters.

Dr. McCandless, speaker at the afternoon session, explained the new Brown-Farber "frustration theory" and suggested methods by which parents and teachers could put frustration to constructive use.

The "frustration theory," recently developed by Professors Judson Brown and I. E. Farber of the university psychology department, states that frustration intensifies rather than diminishes a child's motive to do the thing which has been frustrating him.

Problem Defined
The central problem, as defined by McCandless, is to help the youngster reach the goal he desires in a useful manner. Maladaptive behavior, such as truancy, reduces the frustration but does not solve the problem of the original frustration.

In McCandless' opinion, democratic methods provide more useful solutions to frustration than autocratic.

Mrs. Gagliardo, chairman of the National Congress' reading and library service, warned in her opening address: "Public business is the private business of every citizen, and libraries are public business." She cited minimum library expenditure figures, set by the American Library association, as $1.50 per child per year.

Critical of Budgets
Decrying disproportionate school budgets that provide larger sums for tissue paper and sporting equipment than for books, she warned, "What our children read is a life and death matter to us."

She encouraged the reading of books to children as a beneficial "shared pleasure" and asserted that love of reading is a habit that should be acquired before the child reaches school age.

"Reading readiness begins at home," she said, "and there are still many children who have never seen a book in the hands of their parents."

Interviews Youngsters
Following her lecture, Mrs. Gagliardo interviewed six Iowa City elementary school youngsters in demonstrating techniques to encourage youthful interest in good books.

Mrs. Gagliardo, in her opening remarks, declared that no state has a more enviable record in child study than Iowa, and praised Iowans for having the first state Educational association to obtain a bookmobile. She also cited the new SUI library as "setting the pattern for college libraries throughout the country."

The history of the Iowa Congress is one of the best prognosticators in predicting a bright future for child study in the state, McCandless said later. He also cited the excellent support given by the legislature and the people of Iowa.

He also pointed out, as an indication to a "bright future," the subject of his address, that Iowa has abstained from the "fighting about curriculum which has been going on all over the nation."

The efforts of both parents and teachers to train the young must dovetail or each loses effectiveness, he warned.

Following McCandless' address, the discussion of child research was further developed by a panel headed by Ralph H. Ojemann of the research station.

The delegates chose Davenport as their next convention city and set the dates as Oct. 8-10, 1953, at a business meeting during the first general session.

Stevenson Parries GOP Attacks

Eldora Employes Fired For Attacking 2 Boys

ELDORA (AP)—Four employes of the state training school for boys were fired Friday as a result of what officials termed the beating of two inmates who had escaped.

But indications were that two of the four later may apply for reinstatement in their jobs. Hollis L. Miles, superintendent of the training school, said he had "definite proof" that the two did not participate in the attack.

Miles discharged Lloyd Conradt, a plumber at the institution and his wife, who is a teacher at the school, after he completed his investigation of the affair.

Coach, Carpenter Fired
He said the other two, LeRoy Blumm, coach, and James Ramsey, carpenter at the school, were fired later on orders from the state board of control.

Mr. and Mrs. Conradt, Ramsey and Blumm had pleaded guilty Wednesday in justice of the peace court at Nevada to charges of assault and battery growing out of the affair, and all were fined $25 and costs.

Miles, however, said the two youthful escapees, Robert Brady, 14, of Cedar Rapids, and Robert Caplett, 14, whose parents live at Nevada, had told him Ramsey and Blumm had no part in the beatings.

Boys Took Car
The superintendent said the two boys escaped from the training school Wednesday and took Conradt's car. They were arrested near Nevada by Story county sheriff J. I. Shalley and his deputy, John Stark. The car, when recovered east of Nevada, was found to have the motor burned out.

Miles said he sent Blumm and Shalley to return the two boys to the institution, and "I guess the Conradts wanted to go along to find out about their car."

Shalley said that when he released the two boys from the Story county jail, the four training school officials "started hitting them with their fists."

Boys' Nose Bruised
One boy was knocked down and received a cut lip and badly bruised nose, Shalley said.

But in Des Moines Robert Lappen, chairman of the board of control, said the board felt that since Blumm and Ramsey were present and officers of the school, they also were responsible.

"If they actually aren't guilty they had better go back to the justice court and get the record straightened out," Lappen commented.

College of Medicine To Offer 2 Special Postgraduate Courses

Two postgraduate courses are scheduled for September at the SUI college of medicine, according to Dr. John T. McClintock, director of medical post-graduate studies.

Scheduled for Sept. 12-13 is a conference on fractures, sponsored by the departments of general surgery and orthopedic surgery. The two-day course is under the joint direction of Drs. R. T. Tidrick and Carroll B. Larson, head of surgery and orthopedic surgery respectively. Guest speaker will be Dr. Rubin H. Flocks, head of urology in the college of medicine.

The course will consist of lectures and demonstrations, and participants are asked to bring problem cases from their own experience for general discussion. It is suggested also that participants bring along X-rays with which their cases can be illustrated.

Scheduled for Sept. 17 is a one-day postgraduate conference in pediatrics, under joint sponsorship of the department of pediatrics and the Iowa Pediatric society. The program will be under the direction of Drs. Charles D. May, head of pediatrics, and P. C. Jeans, recently retired head and now professor emeritus.

Guest lecturers will be Drs. Floyd Denny Jr., of the University of Minnesota, and H. H. Hilbrand, of Ames. Pediatrics staff members will conduct lectures and demonstrations.

Registration fee for each of the postgraduate courses is $5 and checks should be made payable to the State University of Iowa. Checks should be sent to Dr. John T. McClintock, director of post-graduate studies, room 259, medical laboratories, state university of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa.

West to Urge Red Approval Of Peace Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, Britain and France Friday proposed to meet with Russia in London on Sept. 29 to discuss a new draft of a peace treaty for Austria.

To meet Russia's demands, the western powers reluctantly agreed to limit Austria's armed forces to 53,000 troops and police once a four-power treaty is signed.

The three western governments also bowed to Russia's insistence that specific guarantees be included in any treaty providing for basic freedoms, free elections and dissolving of any Nazi-like organizations.

The American-British-French proposals were delivered Friday in formal notes to the Russian foreign office in Moscow.

In London, a British foreign office spokesman said the Russians could be expected to reject the new western proposal because they don't want to pull their troops out of occupied Austria. The spokesman told a reporter the western powers had called a Soviet bluff by agreeing in their notes to Russia's four main conditions for an Austrian peace treaty.

The Big Four meeting proposed by the west to discuss these new proposals would be on the level of "deputies" to the foreign ministers. The United States representative would be chairman.

There has been no agreement between Russia and the western powers on the draft of an Austrian treaty despite 259 separate meetings in London over the past six years.

DAWSON, MCNOWN TO SPEAK
Two members of the SUI engineering faculty will speak at the "Centennial of Engineering" now in progress in Chicago. Francis M. Dawson, dean of the college of engineering, and John S. McNow, associate professor of mechanics and hydraulics, will speak Tuesday at the centennial, which is the 100th anniversary of the American Society of Civil Engineers. Dawson's topic will be "Hydraulic Engineers and the Public Welfare," while McNow will speak on "The Mechanics of Manifold Flow."

University Hospitals Reports 2 Polio Deaths

Two polio deaths were reported in University hospitals Friday. Mrs. Robert M. Burnham, 35, died about 8:30 Friday night and Kenneth Walker, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Walker of Waterloo, died at noon.

Fifteen people have succumbed to the disease here and the Iowa toll now stands at 82. Douglas Foster, 37, Merville, died in Sioux City Friday.

Ten more polio cases were admitted to University hospitals Friday bringing the total number of active cases to 50 and inactive to 47.

One of those admitted Friday was from Iowa City. He is Daniel Mast, 20, who is in fair condition.

Ike Willing to Name Negro to Cabinet

CHICAGO (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower indicated Friday he would be willing to name a Negro to the cabinet if he could find one with "merit" and "the qualifications needed to serve the United States well."

The Republican candidate for President also made his strongest bid yet for a working alliance with Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Eisenhower said of his defeated rival for the GOP nomination: "I'll try to draw him onto my team, not only as a consultant but as a man to lead a very important section of the fight."

Editor Checks Final Proofs

PROF. WILLIAM J. PETERSEN, superintendent of the State Historical Society of Iowa, is in the final stages of editing and compiling material for the Iowa Historical Reference Guide. He is shown checking the final proofs of the book. The guide is scheduled to be completed by the end of September. Previously such books were published in 1914, 1932 and in 1942.

Professor Petersen Completes Iowa History Reference Guide

Prof. William J. Petersen, superintendent of the State Historical Society of Iowa, is in the final stages of work on the latest of the Society's publications — an Iowa Historical Reference Guide designed to facilitate the study of the state's history.

Eleven years after Iowa was admitted to the Union, the State Historical Society was founded in 1857. From that time to the present the society has been active in disseminating information of Iowa's heritage.

The Society's publication and research have kept pace with Iowa's growth so that the available information is very extensive.

Various Topics Listed
The guide provides a list of topics on various subjects including natural phenomena, wild life, Indians, discovery and exploration, settlement and pioneers, immigration, travel territorial government, state government, cities and towns, the civil war, education and health.

Under each heading are several subheadings and under these are listed the titles of various articles, publications and books, dealing with the subject.

The object of the guide is to cite materials which are available and accessible to general readers rather than to present an exhaustive bibliography for research scholars, Petersen said.

Divided by Setting
The main divisions of the reference guide are arranged in the order beginning with the natural setting of Iowa history and proceeding through the periods of exploration and settlement to the principle fields of activity and to the people who have made history in the state.

Many of the references are to magazines and periodicals — four of which have been published by the Iowa society. They are the Annals of Iowa, the Iowa Historical Record, the Iowa Journal of History and the Palimpsest.

Now the society publishes only two historical magazines; the Iowa Historical Journal and the Palimpsest.

Iowa Press Men To Hear Moeller

Seven members of the SUI school of journalism faculty will attend the annual fall conference of the Iowa Daily Press association at the Hotel Savery in Des Moines today and Sunday.

They are: Henry Africa, Charles E. Barnum, Prof. Arthur M. Barnes, Leslie G. Moeller, Ellis H. Newsome, Wilbur Peterson and Walter A. Steigleman.

Moeller, director of the school, will speak on "How Newspapers Can Aid Education in Journalism," at the luncheon meeting of publishers to be held today.

Denies Favoritism
On the corruption in government issue which Eisenhower pounded at in Dixie this week, Stevenson said "no one has made or even proposed any deals with me for any office, or benefit or favor whatsoever."

He added he believes the Republicans know that but nevertheless act as if there weren't a single honest federal employe, "and then go on to say that I am indebted to some . . . that I would have no freedom, and that I could do nothing if I found dishonor."

Pledges Crook Ouster
Then the governor went on to say any crooks he found in government would be quickly exposed and ousted. That pledge brought another big round of applause.

On the "time for a change" theme, Stevenson said: "Let me suggest to our Republican friends that it is time for a change in that old, tired, meaningless tune about time for a change."

It has been used every four years, and it hasn't started any dancing in the streets yet."

PAYROLL SOARS
WASHINGTON (AP)—One of congress' watchdog committees reported Friday that the federal payroll soared slightly over 9 1/2 billion dollars in the past fiscal year. That is an increase of nearly two billion dollars over the previous 12 months.

3 Other Guides Printed
Previously three other guides have been published by the State Historical Society of Iowa. They were: One Hundred Topics in Iowa History, published in 1914; Two Hundred Topics in Iowa History, published in 1932, and A Reference Guide to Iowa History, published in 1942.

In contrast to the books of 1914 and 1932, this new Guide will have close to 300 topics in it, Petersen said.

Petersen has been working on the 1952 model off and on for the last year. He expects to be able to start distribution sometime around the last of September.

60,000 Copies Planned
A printing of about 6,000 copies will be made in contrast to a printing of 2,500 made in 1942. Of the total amount printed, 4,500 will be sent to members, depositories and exchanges. Libraries will also receive a copy. The remainder will be placed on sale for $3 a copy.

Petersen said Iowa is the only state in the country where such a Reference Guide is published. The book will have more than 180 pages and will have a hard cover. The previous editions had only 150 pages and a paper cover.

Concentrated on Rally
He said the leaders had been concentrating on getting a big crowd at a Democratic rally Stevenson was to attend after his formal speech at the hotel.

Digging at the GOP "time for a change" argument, Stevenson said the opposition constantly talks about but never comes up with a constructive program.

He drew a round of hearty laughter and applause in declaring:

"Now, my friends, I shall not assume that it is necessarily fatal to change horses in mid-stream. But I doubt if it is wise to jump on a struggling two-headed elephant trying to swim in two directions at once in rough water."

A Condensation of Late Developments

NEW DELHI, INDIA (AP)—A high source said Friday, India will not replace her sole contribution to United Nations forces in Korea — 317-man parachute medical battalion which ends its two-year hitch in November. The informant said the decision was made by Prime Minister Nehru, who has frequently criticized UN operations against the North Korean and Chinese Communists. A foreign office spokesman declined to confirm the replacement report, declaring "there is absolutely no change in the situation."

MARGATE, ENGLAND (AP)—Britain's organized labor unions Friday unanimously adopted a resolution urging a big boost in British trade with Russia and her satellites. The annual convention of the eight million-member Trades Union Congress, backbone of the Labor party, said in its resolution that increased East-West trade is necessary to help stimulate Britain's lagging export drive. It expressed alarm at the growing difficulty of maintaining British exports in the face of trade restrictions and warned that "extended slump conditions and unemployment" may result.

WASHINGTON (AP)—T. Lamar Caudle turned over to House investigators Friday several documents which Chairman Clegg (D-Ky.) said dealt with his dismissal from the Justice department last November. For 4 1/2 hours the Wadesboro, N.C., lawyer was closeted with the probers. He is booked for another closed door session Saturday night and one on Sunday afternoon. Clegg and Rep. Keating (R-N.Y.) told reporters the former assistant attorney general, who was head of the tax division at the time he was fired, was questioned about "a great many things."

NEW YORK (AP)—The navy sent planes and boats Friday to Toms River, N.J., to look for a reported unidentified submarine, but said it found no evidence to substantiate the report. A spokesman at Eastern Sea Frontier headquarters here said the search had been discontinued. It was the second time in three days that the navy had reported going sub hunting with the same results.

Cabinet Reshuffled As Egyt's Premier Adds 2 New Posts

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Premier Aly Maher reshuffled his army-backed cabinet Friday, ousting two cabinet ministers and bringing in five new men. He retained for himself the key posts of foreign affairs, interior, war and navy.

Two new cabinet ministries emerged from the long-expected shakeup. There are reconstruction, which is expected to have a strong hand in the government's disputed land reform program, and rural affairs, which formerly functioned under the municipalities ministry.

Maher had wanted to shed all his duties except the premiership, informants said, but Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib, the army's strong man, prevailed upon him to hang on to the other four posts until Egypt's domestic affairs are untangled.

It was Naguib who boosted Maher to power July 24, and two days later forced King Farouk I to abdicate in favor of Farouk's infant son, Faud.

Maher named a non-party cabinet when he took over, but said at the time he planned to reshuffle it.

NLRB Charges Southern Firm In Labor Fight

WASHINGTON (AP)—A National Labor Relations Board report Friday accused a Southern paper company of resorting to virtual "chain gang" tactics by hiring armed guards to watch employees at work in an attempt to discourage union membership.

The report said one of the guards repeatedly telephoned a striking employe, Mrs. L. Jewell Sanders, a leader of the local union, accusing her of immoral conduct and insulting her "in vile terms."

Friday's report held that the National Paper Company of Atlanta and Southern Detectors, Inc., had committed unfair labor practices in violation of the National Labor Relations Act.

Trial examiner C. W. Whittemore, who prepared the report, recommended that the company begin collective bargaining in good faith with the union, the Atlanta Paper Products and Specialty Workers AFL, and reinstate 23 former striking employes immediately with back pay. The examiner said a formal NLRB order directing that these things be done should be issued unless the firm complied within 20 days.

Whittemore said that when the union sought to bargain with the company shortly before the outbreak of a strike on Aug. 16, 1951, company officials "threatened employes with reprisals, offered benefits for them to leave the union and warned them that the employer would never sign a contract with the union."

Whittemore's report continued: "On Aug. 13, without notification either to the union or to the employes that their working conditions were, in effect, to be altered to those of a chain gang, the employer hired the services of armed guards, employed by Southern Detectors, Inc., who patrolled the plant during working hours and watched the employes at their tasks."

The report said no agreement has been reached since the strike began more than a year ago and the paper company's refusal to bargain has not altered.

Child Rejoins Family After Eyes Removed At Local Hospital

NEVADA (AP)—The home of Harry Sutherland carried an air of subdued joy Friday. The youngest of six children and the only girl, Sandra Jean, 14-months-old, was back home—although totally blind.

She developed a rare malignant growth in her eyes several months ago, and within the last two weeks both of her eyes were removed at University hospitals.

When Mrs. Sutherland was asked how it was to have the child back home she answered: "We're really happy." Then she referred to the child and said:

"She has such a happy disposition. She hasn't suffered the shock she would have had she been older. She will have to make adjustments. We are holding her, mostly."

"The nurse told us to handle her in the normal way. So we let her down once in a while so that she can get used to her new life. She hasn't scooted around in her walker the way she used to do. But she will."

Mrs. Sutherland, whose husband drives a gasoline truck, said they hadn't talked much about the child's future.

Surgeons removed one of the child's eyes two weeks ago, and thought that the other probably would not have to be taken. However the second removal came a week later.

"The doctors seem to think Sandra Jean will be all right, unless something else comes up," Mrs. Pearl Sutherland, the child's grandmother, said. "We didn't think they could save her life at first, because the growth had gone too far."

WSB Expands Petition Duties For Economy

Louis M. Solomon, acting chairman of the ninth regional wage stabilization board, announced today that beginning October 1, the WSB will take over the contact and processing work performed by the wage and hour division of the department of labor under contract with the WSB.

The functions are to aid the public in properly preparing petitions to be submitted for WSB consideration. The wage-hour division, however, will continue its investigative work for the WSB as in the past.

Selection of the three field representatives will be announced shortly. Wage Stabilization Board field representatives will be assigned, Solomon said, to work in Des Moines, Omaha and St. Louis, where the wage-hour division now maintains offices performing duties the WSB will take over.

Solomon said that all ruling, petition, letter and information work will be performed in the regional office. Conference work, telephone calls and distribution of forms and printed material will be handled in the Kansas City office by the present WSB personnel and in Omaha, St. Louis and Des Moines by the field representatives.

The decision as to the location of the field representatives was based upon work-load factors and geographical considerations within the scope of the limited budget made available to the WSB, Solomon said.

In the past, he pointed out, the WSB has required several types of reports to be submitted to the wage-hour division. After October 1, these should be sent directly to the Kansas City regional office of the WSB.

Letters of all types relating to wage stabilization matters, with two major exceptions, heretofore have been answered by the wage-hour division. The two exceptions are (1) inquiries pertaining to the formulation of WSB policy as opposed to interpretation of existing WSB policy and (2) inquiries relating to a petition currently being considered by the board.

Former Enemies Now Buddies

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP)—Seven years ago Willy Volkman, a German artillery lieutenant, was throwing all the metal he could muster in the direction of Lt. Marion Nelson of the American Third Infantry Division.

Today these enemies of World War II are leaders in the same company in the 104th Infantry Division, a reserve unit in summer training here. Nelson, of Orting, Wash., is a lieutenant and Volkman an acting first sergeant.

Back in 1945, Nelson's platoon was working its way through the Colmar area of northeastern France. On the other side of the line Volkman's unit was pulled back when it ran out of ammunition.

Volkman was captured by the French and after the war came to this country with his family. An aunt, Mrs. Ruby Wischemann, of Puyallup, Wash., guaranteed she would take care of the family.

When the Korean trouble started, Volkman wanted to volunteer his services to his new homeland. A friend talked him into joining the 104th Infantry Division's 415th Regiment. Soon he was placed in D Company under Lt. Nelson.

Good Drivers Being Organized

If you have been driving for the past three years without a traffic accident or violation, you're going to get a chance to tell the world about it.

The Iowa Safety Council has just announced a program in which good drivers will be invited to join the organization and will receive identification emblems for their cars.

Members will receive emblems for their cars, membership cards and a monthly bulletin. More than 5,000 letters have already been mailed to drivers who meet the qualifications, according to the council.

"The Safety Council emblem on a member's car will signify that he has a good driving record," McBroom said. "It will establish recognition between good drivers on the highways and, we hope, carry a feeling toward safety right out into moving traffic."

McBroom said all membership fees will go to support safety programs and state-wide campaigns of the Safety Council which is a non-profit, non-political organization of private citizens.

These drivers will receive letters inviting them to join the council on the basis of a $2 individual membership or $5 Business and Professional membership.

Policeman's Slayer Gets Life

KEOKUK (AP)—Lloyd Woodson, 31, of Quincy, Ill. and Hannibal, Mo. was sentenced to life imprisonment Friday for the slaying of Keokuk Policeman Norman Juhl, 28, during a break-in here Oct. 14, 1949.

Woodson had been held since last June when he was released from the Illinois Penitentiary at Joliet after completing a term for parole violation.

Patrolman Juhl was shot in the abdomen while investigating a report that someone was trying to break into the Buick Garage here. The assailant fled. Juhl died on Oct. 22.

Europe's Exiles Favor U.S. Liberation Policy

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.

Associated Press News Analyst
What exiled leaders from Middle Europe don't say but really want is for western armies to liberate their countries.

They are in favor of psychological preparation of resistance movements and their support by the United States, but not to the point of tipping their hands to the Russians and inviting catastrophic retaliation while physical help is far away.

A leader of the Peasant Union, exile organization in the United States, says just dropping aid to anti-Communists now would end by all of their leaders being picked off. A half-million of them, he says, would die.

Rebellion Premature
An exiled diplomat formerly of ambassadorial rank says underground rebellion now would be premature.

The John Foster Dulles suggestion for an extension of American foreign policy to include active work for liberation of the satellites does not, of course, presuppose immediate action.
It proposes first that America should make clear to Russia that no world settlement can be based on acceptance of the permanence of Russia's postwar conquests. Then would come similar assurances to the undergrounds, followed by actual material help, in the hope that the resistance developed would eventually make the Russian position in the various countries untenable.

Open for Adjustment
This leaves the field open for adjustment to the course of events. As candidate Eisenhower did before the American Legion convention when he promised continuing support but no specific action for liberation, Dulles has since explained that he and Eisenhower are not talking about fomenting armed revolt.

The reason Dulles and Eisenhower are pushing the subject at this time, of course, is an effort to convince the American voters that the stalemate in Korea extends to American police everywhere, and that containment is stalemate. The administration has always represented it as an interim policy, designed to prevent further Russian aggression pending the attainment of a balance of power through which pressure can be applied directly on Russian policy itself.

Exiles Accept Containment
There is a tendency, however, among the exiles to accept containment as stalemate insofar as their countries are concerned. Even though they advocate no outbreaks at home now, they want people to be conditioned to the idea of active liberation when the time does come that the Allies have the military strength to put behind their representations to Russia.

In the meantime, even the political talk does not mean that there is now or is going to be any immediate effort to incite revolts in the satellites. Right now such moves would run both the risk of war, which everyone is trying to put off or avoid, as well as of failure.

GENERAL NOTICES

GENERAL NOTICES should be deposited with the city editor of The Daily Iowan in the newsroom in East hall. Notices must be submitted by 2 p.m. the day preceding first publication; they will not be accepted by phone, and must be TYPED OR LEGIBLY WRITTEN and SIGNED by a responsible person.

Social Security Law Changes Help Survivors of Servicemen

Recent changes in the social security law have special importance for survivors of men who died in military service after September 16, 1940, according to Kenneth Reid, manager of the Cedar Rapids social security office.

Until the new law was passed, military service after the end of World War II (July 25, 1947) did not count toward social security payments. Now the period for which wage credits of $100 per month can be applied for military service is extended through December 31, 1953. In other words, military service at any time from September 16, 1940 to December 31, 1953, may count toward social security benefits.

Credit For Service
Social security wage credits for military service after July 25, 1947, will be used in figuring monthly social security benefits beginning in September, the effective date of the change in the law. They will not count toward lump-sum death payments where death occurred before September 1952.

This new provision of the law is especially important to widows with children under 18 of a deceased serviceman. Monthly benefits may be payable on behalf of the children and their mother. Likewise a widow over 65 might also be eligible. Parents over 65 may be eligible for monthly benefits if there was no widow or child surviving and the parent was dependent upon the deceased.

Lump Sum Benefits
Another change is with respect to the lump sum death benefit. When the body of a serviceman who died overseas after June 24, 1950, is brought to the United States for reburial the social security administration may repay part of the cost of the reburial in certain cases. Prior to the amendments in 1952, the claim for the lump sum had to be filed within two years after death.

Now reimbursement for burial expenses paid by an individual for a serviceman who died after June 24, 1950 may be applied for within two years of the date of burial or reburial rather than within two years of the date of death. Where the serviceman is survived by a widow this provision will not ordinarily apply, since in these cases the lump sum is paid to her regardless of who pays the burial expenses.

Mr. Reid suggests that some member of the family inquire at the social security office about the social security account of every deceased veteran or serviceman who had military service after July 1947.

'Weak Link' Charge Denied By Ex-Government Scientist

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. Edward R. U. Condon, former government scientist, once labeled "the weakest link in the atomic security chain," barked an objection Friday to what he termed "the oversimplified idea that I am opposed to security."

Condon, former head of the national bureau of standards, told the house un-American activities committee that he was opposed to the extreme security measures considered in the early stages of the A-bomb development.

Condon's appearance marked his first sworn testimony before the committee that made its "weakest link" charge against him four years ago.

Scientists Hear Testimony
His testimony was given before an audience of spectators representing a virtual "Who's Who" in the field of nuclear research.

Top scientists from the University of Chicago and other midwest institutions were waiting in line at the U.S. court house hearing room more than an hour before the session got under way. Almost two-thirds of them were turned away in disappointment because of the small seating capacity of only some 50 to 75 seats available.

The scientists had been urged to attend in a circular issued by the atom scientists of Chicago, proposing attendance of an audience "sympathetic to Dr. Condon."

Question Condon Rejection
Early questioning of Dr. Condon pertained to his rejection of an offer to work on atomic bomb development at Los Alamos, N. M., a part of the so-called Manhattan project.

Francis Tavenner, chief counsel for the committee, read a letter sent by Condon to Dr. Robert Oppenheimer rejecting the offer of such a position after Condon had spent a month at Los Alamos. The letter said Condon found "the emphasis on security" "morbidly depressing."

Gives Security Views
Tavenner asked Condon if he didn't turn down the job because he wasn't convinced of the necessity of strict security requirements.

Condon said that at the time he was doing research work for Westinghouse Electric Corp. and he decided to remain at Westinghouse to work on radar development.

"I didn't want my family locked up inside a fence and I didn't want to wear a uniform," Condon stated.

10 Arraigned Here For Drunk Driving; 4 Plead Not Guilty

Ten men were arraigned Friday morning before Judge Harold D. Evans in Johnson county district court on charges of driving while intoxicated.

Six of the men pleaded guilty and four declared themselves innocent of the charge.

Alfred E. Boyd, 55, 609 S. Capitol st., was sentenced to five months in the county jail on a second offense of driving while intoxicated. He was given credit for time served since Aug. 13.

Lyle B. Murray, 36, 117 E. Burlington st., was given a 90 day sentence. He was also given credit for time served since Aug. 18.

The driver's licenses of both were suspended for sixty days.

Four others were fined $300 on the charge and had their licenses suspended.

They were Harold S. Kendall, R.R. 6; Ronnie H. Reimers, 21, 1157 E. Court st.; Melvin C. Justice, 24, 1106 Muscatine ave., and Leo Rogers, 21, 943 S. Linn st.

The liquor books of Murray, Kendall and Reimers were suspended. Rogers, Justice and Boyd did not have state liquor books.

The four men who pleaded innocent to the charge were Theodore I. Albin, West Branch; Roy E. Linnell, 23, 317 First ave.; Joseph Sasina, 31, Coralville, and Lynn M. Price, 45, 110 E. Burlington st.

Those who pleaded innocent on arraignment were released on $300 bond for trial during the September term of court.

The Rev. Tien served as pastor and evangelist in China before coming to the United States in 1948. Since then he has studied at Southern Methodist university and the Asbury Theological seminary.

Unable to return to Communist dominated China, he is doing evangelistic work throughout the U.S.

Meets 'Probable' Parents

MRS. CATHERINE MORONEY OF CHICAGO AND HUSBAND Michael, 51, who have prayed and hoped for the eventual return of their daughter, Mary Agnes, kidnapped 22 years ago, gaze upon the girl who scientific tests indicate may be their lost child. The girl, Mrs. Mary McClelland, 24, of San Pablo, Calif., flew to Chicago to meet her probable parents. Identity was further obscured Friday when Mrs. Charles Beck, Mrs. McClelland's foster mother, said she had adopted the child 3 years before the Moroney kidnapping.

Foster Mother Enters Moroney Identity Case

RICHMOND, Calif. (AP) — The Richmond Independent Friday quoted a former neighbor of Mrs. Mary McClelland as saying that "Mary knows she isn't the Moroney girl" who was kidnapped in Chicago 22 years ago.

The newspaper also quoted Mrs. McClelland's foster mother as insisting the San Pablo, Calif., housewife is not Mary Moroney. Mrs. McClelland was in Chicago Friday visiting with Mrs. Catherine Moroney, mother of the kidnapped child.

The Independent quoted Mrs. Charles Beck of San Pablo, a Richmond suburb, as saying she got Mary from a foundling home in Martinez, Calif., Nov. 26, 1927, nine days after birth. Mary Moroney was kidnapped May 3, 1930.

Story Has Support
In its article written by Mario Cotruvo, the Independent said Mrs. Beck's story was supported by a former neighbor, identified only as "Mrs. X."

Cotruvo said Mrs. X told him: "Mary knows in her heart that she isn't the Moroney girl but she is kind hearted and I am certain she is doing what she is because she feels sorry for Mrs. Moroney in Chicago."

"I can remember sending to England for a powder puff for her and I made little rag dolls for her. This was in 1928. I went with Mrs. Beck to get Mary shortly after she was born. Many times I nursed the baby."

Both women, the Independent said, reported that Dr. Edwin Merrithew had promised Mrs. Beck a child before Mary was born, and turned the baby over to its foster mother.

Husband Wanted Child
"Mrs. Beck recalled," the Independent said, "that her husband desired a child of German-Irish descent to conform with the same sociological patterns of his nationality and the Becks were assured by Dr. Merrithew that the child would be of this descent. Pictures of Mary Beck taken at various stages of her life indicate that Dr. Merrithew fulfilled his promise."

The Independent reported Mrs. Beck told of receiving a telegram from Dr. Merrithew, now on vacation, that he would go to Chicago and prove that Mrs. McClelland was not the kidnapped Moroney child.

In Chicago, Mrs. McClelland said: "I know who she (the former neighbor) is. I haven't seen this woman since I was about 11 or 12 years old. When the story first came out some months ago, she wrote to me. She seems to think that she knows what I feel. I don't know what the idea is."

Top Clown, Giraffe Will Perform Here In Ringling Circus

Two of the top attractions in the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey circus, scheduled to play in Iowa City next Tuesday, will be a giraffe called "Boston," and Felix Adler, one of the world's most famous clowns.

Strangely enough the two, each a star in his own right, have struck up a friendship which has lasted for several years, according to circus officials.

Each morning, "as the four brightly colored circus trains are unloading their cargoes, Felix is on hand to see that Boston is taken care of as he is moved from the railroad car to his specially constructed, heavily padded wagon and readied for the scene of the day's activities."

Acrobats, trick horses, and hundreds of other performers are on the program of the 1952 edition of "the greatest show on earth."

Iowa City, one of the smallest cities on the circus itinerary, last saw the circus in 1946. Before that it played here in 1935.

This season's show will take place at the Lucas show grounds with performances at 1:45 and 7:45 p.m. Reserved seats as well as general admission tickets are still available and are being sold at Whetstone's drug store.

Hearing Set On Petition For Bus Line

A proposed schedule of bus and interurban passenger service will be presented to the Iowa state commerce commission Friday by the Cedar Rapids and Iowa City Railroad Co. at a special hearing in Cedar Rapids.

Nine daily trips between Iowa City and Cedar Rapids are listed in the proposed schedule. It includes four round trips by bus and the other five by the present interurban trains.

The schedule would be put into service as soon as possible if the bus company is granted the right to operate the proposed bus line by the commission. The application by the company is now pending.

Nagle Will Appear
George Nagle, president of the Iowa City chamber of commerce, and Robert Gage, chamber secretary, have been asked to appear at the hearing.

Complaints from the residents of Coralville, North Liberty, Swisher and Cou Falls concerning the inadequacy of Cranvic service since it was reduced July 28 will also be heard by the commission.

Chamber officials said they would be glad to receive the opinions of interested persons regarding the proposed schedule in order to have some information concerning the public's opinion for the hearing.

Sunday Schedule Differs
On all days except Sundays the interurban cars would leave Iowa City at 5:50, 8:10 and 10:30 a.m. and 5:25 and 9:40 p.m. Buses would leave Iowa City at 6:40 and 9:15 a.m. and 4:10 and 6:50 p.m.

Coming toward Iowa City from Cedar Rapids, the interurban cars would leave at 7 and 9:20 a.m. and 12:20, 4:10 and 8 p.m. The buses would leave Cedar Rapids at 5:30 and 8:20 a.m. and 2 and 5:30 p.m.

The proposed Sunday schedule includes three round trips by rail and three round trips by bus.

Mother, Grandmother Arrested In Starvation Death of Child

AMITE, La. (AP) — A mother and grandmother will be returned from Amite to Chicago for investigation of the starvation death of five-year-old Ann Teresa Sneec.

In Chicago, police said an officer would leave Saturday with murder warrants to return the two women.

Sheriff Tom Sanders said Mrs. Ann McSherry Sneec, 34, attractive mother of the dead child, and Mrs. Arthur McSherry, mother of Mrs. Sneec, had waived extradition.

The sheriff said a coroner's report indicated Ann Teresa died in Chicago and then was brought to Louisiana on a train. The women say the child was alive when they left Chicago to visit relatives here.

Doesn't Know Charges
"I don't know what Chicago authorities will charge them with," Sheriff Sanders said.

Meanwhile, the mother and grandmother are being held in the Parish county jail of this little southeastern Louisiana farm town without charges.

Lt. John Golden, head of the Chicago homicide bureau, said there was no doubt that Ann Teresa was dead before the trip began early Tuesday.

When the women arrived at Hammond, 20 miles east of here, they immediately took the child, wrapped in a bundle like a small infant, to a funeral home.

Death Certificate Lacking
Sanders was notified when the funeral home learned that the mother could not produce a death certificate. The sheriff ordered the body sent to New Orleans for an autopsy.

The sheriff said the autopsy showed death was due to starvation and indicated the child was dead before being taken aboard the train in Chicago.

Davenport Firm Gets Airfield Job

DAVENPORT (AP) — Walsh construction company of Davenport shares with two other construction firms in a contract to build nine airfields in France for the United States air force, T. J. Walsh, president of the firm, said here Friday.

Walsh was unable to furnish any figures on the cost of the project. Work will start at once, he said.

Charles Young of Davenport, vice-president of the Walsh firm will head the Davenport company's force in France. French labor will be used entirely, Walsh said. The associated firms will supply supervisory staffs.

Giraffe, Clown Are Pals

BOSTON, TALLEST GIRAFFE in circusdom and his pal, Felix Adler, king of the clowns with the huge Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey organization are among the featured acts of the "big show" which is slated to visit Iowa City Sept. 9. It will be the first stop in Iowa City since 1946 for the world's largest circus.

Hawks Slowed By Weather

Slowed down by warm weather, Iowa's Hawkeyes went through another scrimmage session Friday.

The current No. 1 and No. 2 offensive teams scrimmaged for a time against a third string defense, then the top defensive team took on an offensive team of substitutes.

In general, play wasn't as sharp as Thursday — the tackling was especially poor. And the defensive backs had little trouble knocking down pass attempts.

Backfield intact The first team backfield remained intact with Burt Britzmann at quarter and Chuck Daniels and Bob Stearnes at the halves.

On the second offensive team Jack Hess was used at quarter, Otto Broeder and Jim Milani at the halves and Don Inman at fullback.

Jack Willett, a junior from Oelwein, has been shifted from halfback to offensive guard in the first chance Evy has made to try to give more speed in the line.

Near 90 Degree Weather Near 90 degree weather took some of the pep out of the Hawks Friday but this is the kind of weather the linemen, especially, need to get in top-flight condition.

Evy had this to say about his squad so far: "The morale is good, the men are working hard and haven't held back. But of course it is too early in the practice season to tell how they are reacting and whether they will improve at a normal rate."

During the day's two drills, besides the scrimmage, the squad drilled on the usual fundamentals — backfield plays, blocking, tackling and passing.

Work on Punting Britzmann, Binkey Broeder and Daniels worked on punting, with the left-footed Britzmann kicking for the best average.

The squad Friday totaled 64 men. There were two additions to the invited group of 71 and nine have been scratched.

Some of the younger players, of whom there are quite a large number, are getting much attention because their development is so important. They include halfback Daniels and tackle Joe Paulson, second-semester freshmen; George Palmer, tackle; Warren Lawson, center; Don Inman, right halfback; John Hall, end; Phil Hayman, guard, and Emmett Sawyer, tackle and guard.

Grid Captain Fenton Star SUI Scholar; Fencer Brauer 2d

Captain Bill Fenton of the 1952 Hawkeye football team is the star scholar among University of Iowa candidates for sports teams.

And two other football players, Andy Houg of St. Ansgar, end and guard; and Clyde Kitchen, Oskaloosa halfback, are among the first ten in the list of 33 athletes who have grades of over "B" (3.00) for their entire university career to date.

Fenton, Iowa City junior pre-medical student, has a grade-point average of 3.86 (4.00 is tops) for two years. He has a long string of "A" grades and only one "B."

Second to Fenton is William Brauer, Sioux City, a fencer, with 3.73 and third is Bruce Nolf, Iowa City, track and cross country, 3.76. Paul Leehy, Independence baseball player, with 3.67 is fourth and Houg is fifth with 3.59.

Burt Britzmann, Hawarden, No. 1 quarterback, has a 3.11 average for three years of pre-medical work. Clyde Kitchen ranks tenth on the list with 3.50 and this was achieved even though he was a candidate for both football and basketball.

Stengel Reads Yanks Riot Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — Casey Stengel read the riot act to his players Friday for the first time in his four-year tenure as manager of the New York Yankees.

Stengel gave the players a tongue-lashing in a railroad dining car enroute here after dropping a 3-2 decision to the Philadelphia Athletics.

The players were eating and playing a quiz game they have labeled "20 questions" when Casey called for silence.

"Who won today," he thundered. "If you want to play any quiz games, I've got a game for you. Each one of you asks himself 'Who am I. What did I do to earn my salary today.'"

Stengel declared, "This is no laughing matter. You can't depend on the Browns, the White Sox or some other club to win the pennant for you. A game like today's is going to cost each man $6,000. Cut out the nonsense and start thinking seriously about baseball."

A hush came over the car as Stengel sat down and resumed eating. Then, silently, players finished their meal and trooped out of the car without a word.

Friday's defeat, coupled with Cleveland's win over Chicago, reduced the Yanks lead to two and one-half games.

LIGHT DRILL FOR ISC AMES (AP) — The Iowa State Cyclones ran through a light drill Friday afternoon in preparation for today's first full scale scrimmage of fall practice.

Indians, Giants Gain Ground As Yanks, Bums Both Fall

CLEVELAND (AP) — Luke Easter belted his first homer off pitcher Billy Pierce in three years Friday night and lifted the Cleveland Indians to within 2½ games of the pace-setting New York Yankees. His four-base blow scored all the runs as the Tribe dumped the Chicago White Sox, 3-0.

Early Wynn, the winning pitcher, held the White Sox to four hits and struck out five in turning in his 19th triumph and third shut-out of the season.

The victory, coupled with New York's loss to Philadelphia, moved the Tribe a full game closer to first place.

Yanks Fall to A's, 3-2 PHILADELPHIA (AP) — That old pitching curse — the base on balls — betrayed the New York Yankees Friday as the World Champions dropped a 3 to 2 decision to the Philadelphia Athletics.

Bob Kuzava started on the mound for the Yankees and was twirling a neat three hitter when he lost the range of the plate in the sixth inning. The left hander passed Gus Zernial, Dave Philley and Cass Michaels before manager Casey Stengel trotted out to the mound and handed the southpaw a walking ticket to the showers. John Sain came on, but he wasn't much relief.

Kellner scattered nine Yankee hits, struck out three — all in the last two innings — and walked two.

Cuban Takes Debut WASHINGTON (AP) — For the second time within four days the Washington Senators Friday got shutout pitching from a Cuban rookie making his first major league start.

Saul Sanchez, a skinny 150-pound right hander, gave up only five hits as he beat the Boston Red Sox, 2-0, thereby supplying the Senators with their sixth straight win and lifting them, temporarily at least, into undisputed possession of third place in the American League.

Hartung Homer Wins NEW YORK (AP) — A pinch-hit, two-run homer by Clint Hartung in the eighth inning gave the Giants a 5-4 victory over Jim Konstanty and the Philadelphia Phils Friday and sent the New Yorkers' pennant hopes soaring again.

The three-run rally was touched off by miracle man Bobby Thomson's homer and when Hartung followed up with his four-bagger the Giants went wild. The victory, coupled with Boston's 3-1 victory over Brooklyn, cut the league leading Dodgers' edge over the Giants to six games.

Mizell Blanks Bucs ST. LOUIS (AP) — Wilmer Vinegar Bend Mizell, rookie left hander of the St. Louis Cardinals, Friday night struck out 11 batters in his tenth victory, a 4-0 shut out over the Pittsburgh Pirates and Bill Bell, 18-year-old triple-no-hit right hander making his major league debut from Class D.

The rangy 21-year-old Mizell, who now has fanned 134 in his freshman season, extended his string of consecutive scoreless innings to 15 by scattering seven hits and walking only three. He has been beaten six times.

Braves Stop Dodgers BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Braves aggravated the Brooklyn Dodgers' already hot tempers by defeating them, 3-1, Friday behind Jim Wilson's effective sixth-inning pitching.

Walker Cooper's two-run double against rookie southpaw Ken Lehman, making his major league debut, in the third inning was the clinching hit.

Before dropping their fourth game in their last five starts, two of the Dodgers were disciplined by National League President Warren Giles for verbal outbursts at umpires last night when the Braves beat them, 6-5, in 11 innings.

Catcher Roy Campanella was fined $100 and Jackie Robinson $75. In addition, Dodger manager Charlie Dressen received a general managerial order from Giles demanding that all competitors maintain strict decorum on the field during the remainder of the season.

CARDS BUY END CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cardinals Friday purchased Flavious Smith, ex-Tennessee Tech end, from the Los Angeles Rams.

Purdue's Big Ten '51 Rushing Leaders Back Intact Friday

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — The same backfield that gave Purdue top rushing statistics in the Big Ten last fall was back intact Friday for an offensive drill.

Veteran Dale Samuels was at quarterback, Phil Klezek and Earl Heninger at halfbacks and Max Schmaling at fullback.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Indiana's football squad was strengthened Friday when sophomore Lou Zobrosky of South Bend, who had decided to withdraw from school, changed his mind and joined the guard crew.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Ray Elliot, head football coach at Illinois, Friday ran his defending Big Ten champions through spirited signal and passing drills. New plays and pass patterns will be tested in the first scrimmage of the season today.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Wes Feller put his 1952 Gophers through another workout routine Friday with stress on defense against passes, and kickoff and punt returns.

Paul Giel, who started at left half last year, was still sidelined with a leg muscle injury.

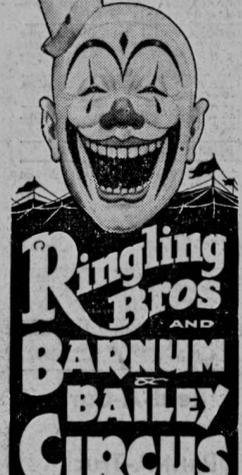

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Coach Bennie Oosterbann put his Michigan football squad through its first scrimmage Friday and observers got a look at a possible first-string backfield.
