'College-Nite' Prizes Listed By Merchants

A portable typewriter, a three-speed portable record player, and four 17-jewel wrist watches head the list of prizes that will be given away by Iowa City merchants during "College-Nite Open House" next Wednesday evening.

Other prizes on the list include an electric razor, two electric hair dryers, two cashmere sweaters and four pen and pencil sets.

Prize winners will be selected at a drawing Thursday morning and will be announced in next Friday's Daily Iowan. The affair will last from 7 to 9 p.m. and will be sponsored by the retail trade division of the local Chamber of Commerce.

Drawing in 2 Sections

J. K. Schaaf, division chairman of the evening, explained that the drawing will be conducted in two sections. First the name of a merchant will be drawn. Then a name will be selected from those persons who have registered in his place of business.

Each person may register only once in a store, but he may sign up at as many of the 61 participating firms as he cares to.

No purchase is necessary for a person to sign up for the drawing. The welcoming program is designed to display merchandise to the students. Though the stores will be open primarily for display and welcoming, they will be prepared to do business.

Gestures of Friendliness

Robert Gage, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce said the Open House program is intended as a gesture of friendliness to college students on the part of Iowa City merchants.

The plan, drawn up at three meetings earlier this month, is the first of its kind in Iowa City.

The Daily Iowan will print a special Open House issue next Wednesday morning. Rules of the drawing will be repeated in the news columns and store merchandise will be displayed in advertising throughout the edition.

Students are advised to register in as many places as possible. "The more places you register, the better your chance of winning a prize."

3 Montgomery Ward Top Officials Resign

CHICAGO (AP) — Stuart S. Ball, president, and A. R. Cahill, treasurer and a vice-president, Thursday resigned from Montgomery Ward and Company. The company immediately announced appointments of new officers.

Ball refused to give any explanation for his resignation. Cahill could not be reached. Sewell Avery, chairman and storm center of several management battles within the company, also would not comment.

The management shake-up followed resignations of two vice-presidents last month. Since 1931, when Avery became head of the big retail merchandise firm, four presidents and 30 vice-presidents have resigned or been fired.

In past years resigning executives have mentioned "constant turmoil," "uncongenial situations" and "differences of opinion."

World News Briefs

A Condensation of Late Developments

SEOUL (AP) — Gen. Mark Clark wound up Thursday a series of secret conferences with his top commanders in Korea and returned to Tokyo. The United Nations Far East commander, who huddled with his generals and admirals at a time when rain virtually halted war operations, told correspondents the talks were simply for an on-the-spot checkup.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Investigators said Thursday night they believed a mysterious explosion which nearly wrecked an airliner in flight was caused by a bomb placed in the baggage compartment by a person who had taken out a large insurance policy on one of the 17 passengers aboard. The blast blew out one side of the two-engine DC3 after it took off from here Wednesday for Oaxaca. Several of the passengers were injured by flying metal. The pilot, his instruments blown out, brought the plane down at the nearby Santa Lucia military air base.

CAIRO, EGYPT (AP) — The newspaper Al Ahram said Thursday the government is preparing to bring former Premier Mustapha Nahas to trial on charges of abusing his power when he held office under ex-King Farouk. Quoting responsible sources, the paper said officials in Premier Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib's government "practically decided Nahas will face trial" to test whether he shall remain head of the Wafdists, Egypt's most powerful party which he has led since 1927.

STRASBOURG, FRANCE (AP) — The Consultative Assembly of the Council of Europe Thursday night approved a plan for its members to pool their resources for the development of European colonies and dominions and to share in the rewards. The "Strasbourg plan" proposes to create a vast new trading area embracing the British Commonwealth, Western Europe and its overseas territories, and matching either the Soviet bloc or the United States in economic power. It would enable West Germany, which has no colonies, to help create new sources of raw materials in backward territories.

Business Is Good

THE STUDENT COUNCIL Book Exchange in Schaeffer hall was one of the busiest spots on the SUI campus Thursday. In the above picture Sangun Lim, A4, Seoul, Korea, turns over some of his used books to Joan Bresnahan, A3, Iowa City, a worker at the exchange. The exchange will remain open on Friday and on Saturday until noon. First day sales more than doubled those of last year.

Book Exchange Sales Soar; 1st Day Receipts Exceed '51

Monday will be the only day for students to make any adjustments in the books they have purchased from the SUI Student Council's Book Exchange now open in Schaeffer hall, Bill Isenberger, A2, chairman, announced Thursday.

This will be the only time books can be returned if they have been purchased this last week at the exchange. Wrong editions or books that have been bought for the wrong courses may be returned if they are accompanied by the receipt.

The exchange will remain open Friday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 to 4:30 p.m. and until Saturday noon for those students who still wish to buy used texts. On Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of next week, students who have brought their books to be resold may pick up their money or their unsold books.

First day sales more than doubled those of last year with 1,000 textbooks being sold as compared to 450 sales on the opening day of the exchange last fall. A total of 2,800 books had been taken in for resale by Thursday afternoon.

The Student Council sponsors the exchange at the beginning of each new semester as a special service to the student body. It is run on a non-profit basis with two per cent of the money going for sales tax, two per cent reserved for administration fees of SUI and six per cent is spent for operating expenses at the Book Exchange.

Volunteer workers handle all the work, which considerably cuts costs for the Student Council, and for the students who are buying the textbooks.

French Submarine Given Up as Lost After Maneuvers

TOULON, France (AP) — The French submarine Sibylle was given up as lost Thursday. The French navy said it must have burst under terrific pressure during a practice dive, carrying its 48 officers and men to certain death in 2,100 feet of water off the Riviera.

The 1,000-ton sub made its ill-fated dive Wednesday during French naval maneuvers in the Mediterranean and never came up again. An intensive air and sea search throughout the night finally was abandoned Thursday after the searchers found a huge oil slick and debris where the vessel submerged, six miles east of Cap Camarat, near the Riviera resort of St. Tropez.

The submarine's safety buoy was found, but the cable by which it was attached to the undersea boat dangled loose in the water—muted evidence that the Sibylle may have dived too deep, burst open before the men could escape and plummeted to the bottom from which it probably never will be salvaged.

The Navy Ministry in Paris gave no indication that sabotage was suspected.

Hancher stresses truth, accuracy

Truth and accuracy, in belief as well as in action, were the subjects of an address Thursday night by SUI president Virgil Hancher.

Hancher spoke at a banquet to honor new college students at Trinity Episcopal church.

He cited the local press and radio for being inaccurate in two recent stories. Dr. Hancher said the university could take no stand opposing or favoring the withdrawal of rent controls in Iowa City. He also said that a radio report that he would not release enrollment figures from the last summer session was wrong.

Stevenson To Answer Critics On Illinois State Officials' Fund

Canadian Gold Cache Missing From Airport

TORONTO (AP) — A $300,000 treasure of newly-mined Canadian gold vanished Wednesday night from an unguarded wire-mesh safety cage at nearby Malton airport while awaiting shipment by plane to Montreal. Attendants said the cage door was protected only by a padlock.

Thursday night, more than 24 hours later, no trace of the gold had yet been found.

News of the six boxes disappearing was made public Thursday afternoon. Police and airport officials were reluctant to discuss it. They declined to say who owned the gold.

Broken into Twice

The cargo shed where the gold had been taken and deposited by Brinks armored car guards had been broken into twice recently, police reported. The police said the government-controlled Trans-Canada air lines had been advised at that time to tighten its security precautions but that apparently nothing was done.

Wednesday night's was the second loss of an unguarded gold cargo in Canada in two months.

In one previous break-in at the Malton air cargo shed a shipment of Swiss watches was stolen, police said.

A high police official, who declined use of his name, said he was disgusted with the loss of the gold. He said it would be easy for a car load up a shipment once a break-in had been made, and make its getaway.

'Confidential Matters'

TCA officials said all gold shipments are confidential matters and no details on the methods of handling them could be given out.

When the gold was delivered, it was reported, one guard took up a position at the shed entrance in the main airport building; another was posted at the door leading to the airport loading platform; a third stood beside the truck, and a fourth wheeled the heavy boxes to the shed.

After the delivery to the airport, 18 miles northwest of downtown Toronto, according to the police version, the shipment apparently was left unguarded.

Dennis Barclay, TCA public relations man, said late Thursday: "The robbery, described as the biggest of its kind in Canadian history, touched off a continent-wide alarm."

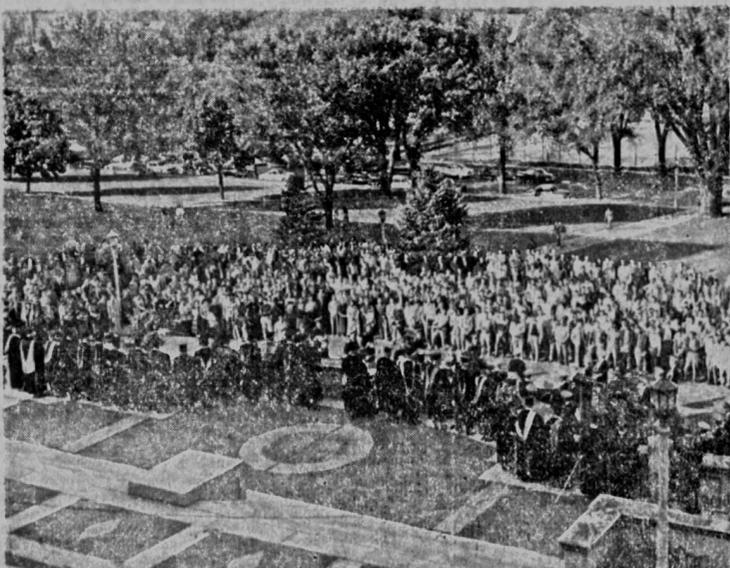

Jeans Plans Lecture Tour Through Central America

Dr. and Mrs. Philip C. Jeans will leave Sunday to fly to Central America.

Dr. Jeans will be associated with the World Health organization, sponsored by the federal government. His work there will take him to every Central American country except Nicaragua, and will include lecturing, seeing cases and gathering data on nutritional conditions in these areas.

Dr. Jeans is professor emeritus of the SUI college of medicine.

Hancher Ushers in 1952-53 Academic Year

SUI'S 31ST ANNUAL INDUCTION CEREMONY had a serious note to it as President Virgil M. Hancher told students their role in the fight against fascism and communism. About 600 students were on hand Thursday morning just before their 8:30 classes to participate in opening SUI's 98th consecutive year of instruction. The above picture shows Hancher addressing the estimated 600 students on hand for the ceremony. Hancher congratulated the students for their decision to continue their education and their decision to attend SUI.

'Knowledge Is Power,' Hancher Tells Students

About 600 SUI students gathered on the lawn in front of the west approach to Old Capitol Thursday morning just before 8:30 to hear President Virgil M. Hancher usher in the 1952-53 school year by telling them: "Knowledge is power — make it power for good."

Speaking from the threshold of the building, he emphasized the roles of planning and self-discipline in the fight against fascism and communism.

Hancher said, "The university presents you with the opportunity for self-discipline — the only safeguard which democracy can offer against the iron controls of fascism and communism. Anarchy and disorder are an offense to the human spirit. Unless they are prevented by discipline from within, they will be attacked by iron controls from without."

He congratulated new students on two decisions: "Your decision to continue your education and your decision to come to this university."

Hancher was flanked on both sides by the deans and directors of SUI colleges and schools dressed in academic gowns.

Before Hancher's annual address, M. Willard Lampe, director of the SUI school of religion, offered the invocation, in which he said: "Especially do we pray that in this day of rapid change we may know our traditions well enough to appraise them, so as, on one hand, to keep them in preference to all cheap substitutes and, on the other, to modify them in favor of a closer approach to the ideal."

The SUI band furnished music for the flag raising ceremony. Students were led in the pledge of allegiance by President Hancher.

Thursday's activities marked the 31st annual induction ceremony and 98th consecutive year of operation for SUI.

Taft Asks for Stop To Totalitarianism

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — Sen. Robert A. Taft said Thursday night the only way the nation can stop the trend toward totalitarianism in government is to elect Eisenhower and Nixon and a complete Republican congress.

"If you want to reject the theory of arbitrary power in government, vote Republican in November," he told a cheering, overflow crowd of 1,700 at a Racine GOP rally. It was the first appearance of the Ohio senator in Wisconsin since last March when he conducted an intensive campaign for the state's presidential delegates and won 24 of 30 of them.

SUI Gets $42,171 From Gifts, Grants For Research, Study

The finance committee of the state board of education has accepted $42,171.50 in gifts and grants for SUI, President Virgil M. Hancher has announced.

Professor Emil Witschi of the department of zoology will do research on the "natural causes of teratogenesis, or malformations in the bodies of animals and humans" under a $34,500 grant from the National Science Foundation.

The U.S. public health service granted $6,400 for stipends for trainees in SUI's new program in psychiatric nursing.

Friends of the late Margaret Lockwood of Iowa City, a 1933 graduate of the college of nursing who died Aug. 1, gave $586.50 for cancer research.

A $500 grant was presented by the Brookings Institute of Washington, D.C., for further support of the research on RFC loans being conducted under the direction of the bureau of business and economic research.

One hundred dollars was donated anonymously to be used in helping some "needy and worthy student, regardless of race, creed or color."

The Johanna society of the First Bohemian and Moravian Brethren church of Ely donated $5 for modeling clay and supplies for the Children's hospital.

Wyatt Denies That Governor Hides Anything

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson's campaign manager said Thursday the Democratic presidential nominee "will have something further to say" about the controversial fund he set up to supplement the pay of Illinois state officials.

Wilson Wyatt, the Stevenson manager, told a news conference about the governor's plans after the camp of his Republican opponent for the presidency, Dwight D. Eisenhower, had charged that "apparently the Democratic nominee has something to hide" regarding the fund.

Wyatt was asked for comment on that charge by Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, Eisenhower's political chief of staff.

Wyatt Doesn't Comment

"I have no comment," Wyatt replied.

He added, however, that he saw the governor a few minutes before the news conference, and that Stevenson "told me he will have something further to say."

Stevenson has defended use of the fund, saying it enabled him to bring into the state government men of "real competence" who otherwise could not afford to leave private employment. However, he has rejected demands that he name donors to the fund and recipients.

Questions about the Illinois fund were put to Wyatt as he announced that Stevenson is planning campaign tours taking him into 11 southern, midwestern and western states between Oct. 7 and 18. Wyatt also sketched Stevenson's travel plans for the period from mid-October until election day, Nov. 4.

Long Defends Nixon

Earlier, Sen. Russell B. Long, Louisiana Democrat, conferred with Stevenson and told newsmen afterward he (Long) believes GOP vice-presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon did nothing "in any way dishonest" in accepting an $18,000 political expense fund.

Long said he did not discuss the Nixon episode with Stevenson. Nor was there any discussion of the governor's Illinois fund, the senator added.

As for Stevenson's travel plans, Wyatt said the Democratic nominee will campaign five days — Oct. 7 through 11 — in Michigan, Wisconsin, Missouri, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Florida and Tennessee.

Eisenhower Terms Military Unification 'A Virtual Failure'

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower opened a blistering attack on the nation's military program Thursday night in which he called unification of the armed services a virtual failure.

He appeared also to have shelved his support of universal military training while the draft is a "famine or feast" policy toward the military which has encouraged a frenzied arms expansion with "disorder and duplication and waste."

Ending a day of whistle-stopping through West Virginia and Maryland, Eisenhower said in a speech prepared for delivery here that real unification of the armed forces has not yet been achieved.

And he said that so long as there is a draft of young men into the armed services "we cannot at the same time establish any form of training for our young men."

Previously Eisenhower has been an advocate of universal military training and of putting it into effect despite the difficulties involved. This pronouncement seemed to put Eisenhower directly in line with the views that have been expressed by Republican Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio on this subject.

Indirectly but unmistakably, Eisenhower voiced sharp criticism of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, which is now headed by Gen. Omar N. Bradley, an old friend and one of his top commanders in World War II.

Sociologists Make Survey—

Poll Shows Nixon Affair Strengthened Voters' Intentions

The Nixon funds exposure appears to have strengthened rather than weakened, the original voting intention of the Iowa City voter, according to the results of a poll conducted Wednesday by six staff members of the SUI sociology department.

"Contrary to the impression contained in the news reports and news commentaries about the Nixon television speech, the effect of the speech appears only to have strengthened the Republican inclinations among Republicans and to have strengthened Democratic inclinations among Democrats. Those who were undecided before the speech were still undecided after the speech," stated David Gold, assistant professor of sociology.

The research group, all of the sociology department, included Gold; Manfred Kuhn, associate professor; Fred Waisanen, instructor; Thomas McPartland, instructor; Neil Palmer, instructor, and Robert Stewart, research assistant.

The poll was conducted by telephone, three numbers being selected at random from each page of the Iowa City directory.

The research group was not interested in obtaining a sample in which the ratio of Democrats and Republicans approximated the proportion of Democrats and Republicans in the community at large.

Rather they merely wanted a sufficient number of Democrats, Republicans and undecided voters in order to study the impact of the Nixon affair on these respective groups.

Results of two of the six questions that made up the poll are as follows:

1. Do you think Nixon's speech was sincere?

Democrats 35 per cent
Yes 35 per cent
No 35 per cent
Undecided 30 per cent

Republicans

Yes 91 per cent
No 0 per cent
Undecided 9 per cent

Undecided

Yes 5 per cent
No 6 per cent
Undecided 44 per cent

2. Were you disturbed by the Nixon affair?

Democrats 35 per cent

No 65 per cent
Undecided 0 per cent

Republicans

Yes 41 per cent
No 54 per cent
Undecided 5 per cent

Undecided

Yes 25 per cent
No 72 per cent
Undecided 3 per cent

Only six cases clearly changed their voting intention as a result of the Nixon speech and only two cases changed their preference because of the whole Nixon affair. This seems conclusive evidence that the affair had little impact on changing the voting intentions of the voters.

Another sidelight of the poll showed 11 per cent of the people in the sampling had not heard of the Nixon speech.

Ike Welcomes Differing Views In GOP Ranks

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP) — Dwight D. Eisenhower declared Wednesday night there is room in the Republican party for members who don't agree with all of his views.

"Membership in our party," he said, "does not necessarily mean mutual agreement or approval other than on basic objectives and principles."

The Republican presidential nominee said in an address here that the Democrats were trying to "most generously advise me which senators I should work with and which I should disown."

Eisenhower mentioned no names. But his remarks seemed an obvious reference to Democratic attacks on Sens. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin, and William E. Jenner of Indiana. Both are seeking re-election.

"What Kind of People?" "Just what kind of people do these administration Democrats think we are?" Eisenhower demanded.

"To hear them talk, you would think that the Republican party was something I invented and they own—that they can dictate to me a course of action and Republican candidates will fall in line."

"Well, let us be thankful that Republicans think for themselves. 'Nothing could harm America more than to destroy her traditional two-party system. To maintain that system, we must have that unity of diverse elements which our opponents deplore.'"

Cites Washington Mess Eisenhower said he is welcoming into his "crusade" all of those who "share a common repugnance to the mess in Washington."

"In the second place," he said, "we share a common faith in what to do to clean up that mess and to make a better America."

The Democrats have cited McCarthy's assertions that Gen. George C. Marshall had participated in a conspiracy against the country and Jenner's declaration that Marshall was a "front for traitors."

Eisenhower has defended vigorously the patriotism of Marshall, an old friend and mentor.

The Republican presidential nominee has said he will support all the GOP senate and house candidates, but he left the mention of Jenner's name to others in his whistle-stopping through Indiana. The general will visit Wisconsin on his next trip.

GOP Committeemen Favor Keeping Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Committee members were going on record Wednesday night as overwhelmingly in favor of keeping Sen. Richard M. Nixon on their ticket.

An Associated Press poll had thus far not turned up a dissenting vote.

A few committee members reserved their statements of position but none of those offered any criticism of the $18,000 expense fund from wealthy Californians which Nixon defended in a nationwide radio and television broadcast Tuesday night.

Among the first 69 reached, only four reserved their stand. The 65 outspoken backers of the California senator came very close to a majority of the committee, which has 138 members — two from each state and 10 from the territories and the District of Columbia, plus bonus membership for the state chairman in each of the 32 states which went Republican in the 1950 election.

Nixon's Mortgage Figures Explained As 'Verbal Error'

DENVER (AP) — Senator Nixon's use of two different figures in referring to the mortgage on his Whittier, Calif. home was simply "a verbal error that could occur in any extemporaneous talk," his press secretary said here Wednesday.

Nixon first referred to the mortgage as $3,000 and later as $10,000.

The second reference was correct, James Bassett, Nixon's press secretary, told newsmen here. The house cost $13,000 and there is a $10,000 mortgage on it, he explained.

Society Elects 4 From Iowa City

The state Historical Society of Iowa has elected four Iowa Citizens to membership, Dr. William J. Peterson, superintendent, said Thursday.

Elected to membership were Joe K. Hemphill, Orson S. Morse, James H. Nesmith and L. D. Wareham.

The society acquired 58 new members throughout the state during September.

Classroom Explosion Of Dynamite Cap Kills Monticello Boy

MONTICELLO (AP) — An 11-year-old boy was injured fatally when a dynamite cap exploded in his fifth grade classroom at the Monticello public school Wednesday.

The tragedy occurred just as class was about to be dismissed for the day.

The boy, Ronnie Mowrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Mowrey, apparently was trying to pry the dynamite cap open with a pocket knife, Sheriff Lewis Dreibeisler said.

The blast shook the small school room. Mrs. Ray Coyte, the fifth grade teacher, said that after she recovered from the shock of the explosion she rushed to the boy's side. He tried to say something, then lapsed into unconsciousness. No one else in the room was hurt.

Ronnie suffered a mangled left hand, chest injuries and his thumb was torn off. Howard Campbell of the Jones County Coroner's office said the death was accidental and no inquest would be held.

The sheriff said several boys found three dynamite caps last week at the city dump here. The boys traded the caps to Ronnie for a notebook. Ronnie in turn gave two caps to two other boys who, after the explosion, got scared and threw them in a school wastebasket.

Nixon Fund Grows As Contributions Hit $2,000 Mark

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Letters supporting Sen. Richard Nixon and containing contributions ranging from one cent to $250 were piled high on the desk of Dana Smith Wednesday.

Smith is the trustee of the controversial Nixon expense fund and the letters were those mailed before the Republican vice-presidential nominee made his nationwide radio and television address Tuesday night.

"This spontaneous response has taken me somewhat by surprise," said Smith, who announced the total received in three days totaled slightly more than $2,000.

Defense Takes Stand in Former SUI Student's Damage Suit

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia. (AP) — The reduced damage suit against Wayne A. Rhode of Tabor, brought by his nephew, Lyman H. Elefson of New York, continued Thursday after the defense began presenting testimony late Wednesday.

Elefson is a former SUI student. Earlier Wednesday, the suit was reduced from $108,000 to $78,000. Elefson, 25, withdrew an allegation of false arrest and the case proceeded in Federal District court on Elefson's allegation that his uncle "maliciously" caused his arrest in 1949 in connection with the poison death of his grandfather, Alonzo Rhode of Tabor.

County Sheriff Testifies Fremont County Sheriff A. C. Christopher, Sidney, and Agent Robley Gregson of the Iowa Bureau of Criminal Investigation testified as to steps leading to signing of preliminary information charging Elefson with murder.

Both said they and County Attorney Harold Martin went to the Wayne Rhode home Dec. 1, 1949, with a prepared preliminary information charging Elefson and asked Rhode to sign it.

"I told him he did not have to sign it," the sheriff said. "We did tell him that in our opinion the crime had been committed. He said he would come down to Sidney the next morning."

Yugoslav Youth Asks To Stay With German Foster Parents

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — An 11-year-old Yugoslav boy kidnapped by the Nazis told a U.S. court Wednesday "I want to stay here" with German foster parents instead of going back to Yugoslavia with his real mother.

The court, which once ruled he would be better off in Germany's "free-enterprise democracy" than in Communist Yugoslavia, reserved its decision until next Monday.

Little Ivan Pirecnik's real mother from Yugoslavia and his German foster parents sat silently anxious on opposite sides of the courtroom.

But Mrs. Pavla Pirecnik was spared the ordeal of listening as her son sided against her. Ivan was questioned in private by the three judges.

Judge Questions Youth "What do you want to do, Ivan?" asked Chief Justice William Clark.

"I want to stay here," he replied simply.

"What do you think of your real mother?" he was asked.

"Nothing," he replied.

Ivan only met her once. That was last week after she came here to press her claim for the boy's custody.

Father Shot by Nazis Ivan's Yugoslav father was shot by Nazis in 1941 and Ivan was put in a German orphanage while his mother was confined in a concentration camp.

After the war Ivan was adopted by a childless German couple, Gustav and Josefine Sirsch, and it took Mrs. Pirecnik years to find him.

A U.S. District Court in Germany turned down her appeal for the boy. But when the Yugoslav government intervened and sent Mrs. Pirecnik to plead her case in person, Wednesday's hearing was granted.

Iowa Soldier, AWOL, Flees from County Jail

SPIRIT LAKE (AP) — Myron Davis, 21, of Spirit Lake, being held for army officials at Houston, Tex., on a charge of being absent without leave from military duty, escaped Wednesday from the county jail.

Sheriff Ike Kissing said this was the second or third time Davis had been held for return to military duty. Davis sawed away some bars to his cell. He had been held here since Sept. 18.

18-Day-Old Baby Has Enlarged Heart

CHICAGO (AP) — A medical examination disclosed Wednesday that Janice Sue Breder, 18-day-old Mediapolis, Ia., baby, is suffering from an enlarged heart condition.

Physicians at Children's Memorial hospital completed a preliminary examination Wednesday. They said other tests will be made in the near future, but they declined to set a date.

The child, a daughter of Howdy and Mamie Breder, arrived by plane from Iowa Tuesday.

Disfavors Indictment

Martin said he recommended to the Fremont county grand jury on Feb. 14, 1950, that an indictment should not be returned against Elefson.

"I explained to the grand jury that there was not sufficient evidence at the time for a District court conviction. I wanted to leave the case open for further investigation."

The grand jury did not indict Elefson and he was freed.

Interpreting the News — Red Offensive May Endanger NATO Nations

By J. M. ROBERTS JR., Associated Press News Analyst.

The Council of Europe has now taken up one of the most delicate issues faced by the Atlantic community.

The General Affairs committee of the Consultative Assembly has adopted a report criticizing the military concept that some territory of NATO members may have to be sacrificed at the beginning of a Russian offensive. The committee asked that NATO make regular reports to the council and give assurances that all members of the alliance would be fully defended.

Feeling over the issue has been intensified in recent days by ROBERTS remarks of Marshall Juin, the Frenchman who is commander of Nato ground forces under Gen. Ridgway. Juin, discussing Allied war games in Germany, said forces would eventually have to be extricated from delaying action there to be available for the main battle farther back, with the Rhine line obviously being considered the real front.

Commentators Add Complications Newspaper commentators further complicated the issue by suggesting that under Juin's idea, northwestern Germany, northern Holland and Denmark could not be held.

This idea has been referred to by Juin several times. In return, he has been reminded that France kept falling back in the early days of World War II until she was in the sea, always failing to regroup as intended.

The concept has never been publicly accepted by NATO as a policy, and a good many observers have always thought that it would not be, at least not as Juin outlines it.

Withdrawal Means Surrender In the first place, withdrawal to the Rhine on the south would almost certainly mean surrender of the Ruhr industrial complex. Such a concept industrial complex all the diplomatic effort to bring Germany into the European Defense community would produce worthwhile results only during the period of preparedness, and that its benefits would end when war began. The Ruhr, not a few divisions, is Germany's real contribution to defense.

American military authorities, when they first began to consider incorporation of German strength into their plans, certainly had no idea of rebuilding German industry only to turn it over to the advancing Russians in case of war.

No Present Defense It always has been recognized, of course, that the main body of Western Germany could not be defended against the initial impact of an all-out attack under the present condition of Allied strength. But as the strength of Alliance grows, it seems obvious that American and British policy, as well as the desires of the weaker front-line nations, will have to be based on quick counterattack and no even semi-permanent yielding of any important blocks of territory.

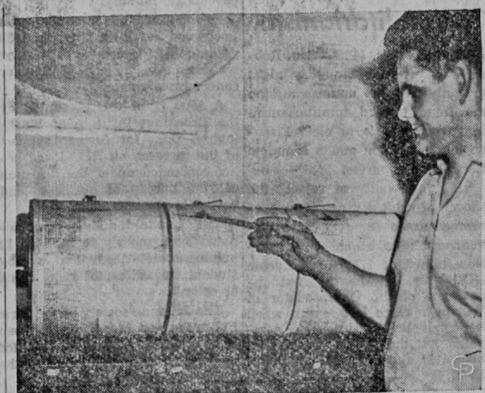

As for any current extension of guarantees, the pact says an attack on one will be considered an attack on all. Strength, not policy, will determine whether and where an attack can be stopped.

Scientists Study Possibility Of Predicting Earthquakes

SAN FRANCISCO (CP)—With a new earthquake cycle apparently beginning, can ways be found to predict the temblors so that thousands of lives can be saved and vast property damage can be prevented?

Scientists are exploring two new theories — one involving the stress that builds up in great masses of rock, and the other the combined pull of the sun and moon — but there still is sharp dispute over whether such shocks as those which have been rocking California this year may be precisely foretold.

Seismologists — experts that keep their fingers constantly on the earth's pulse — want to narrow the fairly accurate prognostications they make as to broad areas of time and place where quakes occur. They can give you a host of facts about one of nature's most baffling and terrifying phenomena.

DR. JOHN L. WORZEL of Columbia university makes a reading of an earthquake on the school's seismograph at Palsades, N.Y.

Study, Stresses They know that the worst quakes occur near where the highest mountains plunge into the greatest depths of the sea. The powerful stresses there cause huge "faults" to appear in the earth's crust, like the San Andreas Fault in California.

The heavy shocks that have rocked California this year have been traced to the junction north of Forman where the Garlock Fault meets the San Andreas. The San Andreas was the villain in 1906 of the San Francisco catastrophe, which claimed 700 lives and all but destroyed this city.

Scientists hold no locality completely immune. Their delicate instruments pick up at least 9,000 quakes a year. Three thousand observers and a network of seismographs scattered among many universities and other observation points around the world are keyed into the United States Geodetic Survey in Washington, and most of the earthquakes can be pinpointed.

Expect Big Quake The scientists know also that there will be on the average, one really big quake each year, and that the loss of life attributable to these disasters may run as high as 15,000 annually. The stakes run high on establishing sound methods of prediction.

Painstaking analysis of earthquake reports for centuries reveals that in the last 2,000 years, no less than 800 cities have been leveled and at least a million lives taken.

Rough predictions, such as the forecast of Seismologist Charles F. Richter of the California Institute of Technology that the Pacific coast region is in for about a year of temblors in the present series, have been possible for some time, on the basis of all this data.

Have Quakes Located The scientists know also that the greatest earthquakes are likely to occur in two great belts around the earth, the one circling the Pasific and the other stretching along the Mediterranean sea.

Recent quakes are running true to form, and have occurred in the Tonga, Philippine, Mariana and the Japanese islands; in Korea, the Aleutians, at Tacoma, Wash., and in California, and in Ecuador, Peru and Chile — describing a perfect circle around the Pacific.

The seismologists use an index to compare severity, and modern quakes are as rough as ever. On this basis the San Francisco quake of 1906 rated 8.25, and the California earthquakes of this year were 7.5, the area's second most severe in history.

FRIENDLY FEELINGS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman and the new Soviet ambassador Thursday exchanged coolly formal assurances that the people of the United States and Russia have only the friendliest of feelings toward each other.

'Harvest Hop' Informal Party Will Be October 3

The first all-university party of the school year, "Harvest Hop," will be Friday night, Oct. 3 from 9 to 12 at the Iowa Memorial Union.

Sponsored by the Central Party committee, the dance will be informal (new students, this means suits and ties for fellows, dresses or suits and heels for girls.)

Vance Dixon's band will provide the music. Primarily a dance band, there will be a 20 minute jazz session by this group of musicians who will be making their debut on the SUU campus. They played for several parties at Iowa State and State Teacher's colleges last year.

Tickets at $1.80 per couple, will go on sale the Union desk at 8 a.m. today.

Intermission entertainment will be provided by student talent. Central Party committee is initiating a plan to obtain talent from the many housing units on campus for all-university events such as this, throughout the year.

Students interested in helping with decoration or other preparations for the party should contact Don Rosche, C4, Bettendorf, chairman of central party committee, at telephone number 9675.

Applications Open For Union Board Subcommittees

Applications are now available for membership on the several Union board sub-committees. They are at the main desk of the Union and are due at 5 p.m. Friday, Oct. 3.

Some of the committees are bridge and ping-pong tournaments, special exhibits and shows, publicity, art exhibit, coffee hours, informal talks and programs, Sunday matinee dances, movies, and others.

From the applications the following committee members will be chosen: nine men and nine women from liberal arts; three women and three men from commerce, and three students from each of the following colleges: pharmacy, law, graduate, medicine, dentistry, engineering, nursing and education.

From those nominated and declared eligible for committee membership, 16 members of the 1953-54 Union board will be chosen in the spring elections.

Any student registered in the university is eligible for committee membership.

18th Flower Show To Be Saturday In Community Hall

People with "Problem Plants" or "Problem Soil" may come to the community flower show Saturday in the Community building and find there the solution to their difficulties.

This is the program from 3 to 4 p.m. and again from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Alonzo DeHaan, planthouse foreman of botany laboratories at SUU and the Johnson county extension director will discuss plant and soil problems.

See how to arrange flowers by a professional demonstrator from 1:30 to 2:15 p.m.; hear a talk on African violets by Mrs. Roy Fisher of Muscatine from 2:30 to 3 p.m. and a discussion of points on judging by Mrs. F. B. Ebersole from 4:15 to 5 p.m.

The program has been arranged by Mrs. Joseph W. Howe.

Mrs. G. E. Grunewald, chairman of the horticultural committee revealed the addition of two classes to the horticultural section, collection of vegetables and specimens of any flower not classified.

Entry and registry of exhibits can be done from 8 to 9:30 a.m. Saturday in the lower floor of the Community building, Mrs. I. A. Rankin, general chairman, announced.

Committees will care for the exhibitors. In the ballroom signs have been erected to assist the placing committee.

Fidgety Hostess May Be Victim Of Inefficiency

If you're a crumb-snatching, ash-flicking hostess, maybe something is wrong with your home.

The homemaker who is uneasy about the slightest disorder when she has guests probably has a house which is difficult to keep clean, according to one home economics theory.

Another theory is that she she thinks more of preserving a store-window atmosphere in her home than she does of friendliness and livability.

However, there are ways to beat this fuss-budget complex. Home economists have formulated what they call "desirable standards" for an inviting home. They are cleanliness, comfort, convenience and orderliness. Anything beyond these four, they say is fussiness.

Orderliness is based on the old adage, "a place for everything and everything in its place." A family can live restfully and without irritation in a home in which everybody knows the proper place for things.

AAUW Begins Activities

The Iowa City Branch of the American Association of University Women will honor prospective members at a tea to be given in the university club rooms of the Iowa Memorial Union on Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m.

Chairman for the occasion is Mrs. Glenn Van Horne. Assisting as parlor hostesses will be Mrs. H. H. Davis, Mrs. Harrold Shiffler, Mrs. D. D. Stuit, Miss Sybil Woodruff, Mrs. Fred Fehling, Mrs. Walter Loehwing, Mrs. Glenn Houston, Mrs. John E. Green, Miss Jean Baer, Mrs. J. E. Bodine, and Miss Frances Camp.

Hostesses in the dining room will be: Mrs. Kenneth D. Donelson, Mrs. Richard Holcomb, Miss Celia O. Eckey, Mrs. Arnold Gillette, Mrs. Edward B. Richards, and Miss Ruby Smith.

In charge of the guest book are

Kitchen slang—an American invention, of course — is currently featuring such lingo as "S-day" and "Get Sussy." The first means Spring Cleaning time has arrived, and the second is a woman's way of calling her husband to the kitchen to get busy with the soap, lather, and dishes.

West Point Cadets Like Brown Betty

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

If you have a son between 17 and 22, take a tip from West Point. You can give him nutritious food and have him like it.

Follow the lead of Chief Steward Matthew Gowens of the U. S. Military Academy who knows all about feeding young men attractive, economical, and wholesome food.

Super-efficient kitchens help the fine art of cooking along. Twenty roasting ovens, twelve ranges, numerous broilers and deep-fat fryers — all gas-operated — help to keep West Point appetites satisfied.

In the bakery, 3 gas-operated revolving ovens turn out 1,000 loaves of bread a day, 250 pies, and numerous cookies, sweet breads, and other pastries.

What kind of main dishes does this food allowance provide? Here are some of them. Baked pork and beans with deviled ham, beef pot pie, baked corn beef hash with span gravy, steamed frankfurters with sauerkraut, braised breast of lamb with fresh vegetables, grilled Salisbury steak, grilled pork chops.

Surprisingly, one of the cadets' favorite main dishes is creamed hamburger on toast. Chief Steward Matthew Gowens says you can make the dish at home by sauteeing chopped beef and combining it with well-seasoned cream sauce.

Here's the dinner that was served during my West Point visit: combination salad with French dressing, sweet mixed pickles, stuffed pork tenderloin (hunter style), braised red cabbage, bread and butter, brown Betty pudding with hard sauce, coffee with light cream.

I found every dish on this menu tasted good. Because the brown Betty was particularly delicious — the hard sauce the best I've ever eaten — I asked for the recipes. Some night serve this dessert with good strong hot coffee — the way West Point does.

WEST POINT APPLE CAKE

Ingredients: 2 No. 2 cans apple slices, 2/3 cup firmly-packed brown sugar, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg, 2 cups corn flakes, 1/4 cup butter or margarine (melted).

Method: Drain apple slices, saving syrup. Arrange slices in shallow baking dish. Add 1/3 cup of the brown sugar to apple syrup; dissolve; pour over slices. Dot with 2 tablespoons of the butter; sprinkle with spices. Mix corn flakes, remaining 1/3 cup brown sugar and remaining butter; spread over apples. Bake in moderate (350 F.) gas oven 30 minutes. Serve warm with West Point hard sauce. Makes 8 servings.

Who is he?
This chap represents thousands of young, red-blooded sons of great American families. He is ready to stand on his own, to carry his share of responsibility. He is preparing for a bright future and desires to train further toward his success. He wants peace, security, and a full life for his family and home. If need be, he is ready to defend his rights and his country. When called on to serve in defense of American liberties, he will be fully trained and equipped to fly and fight with the U. S. Air Force.

This is what he will do—
Today's college man will plan to stay in school and graduate if at all possible. If he is faced with early entrance into military service and possesses at least two years of college, he will enlist as an Aviation Cadet in the U. S. Air Force and choose between becoming a Pilot or Aircraft Observer. After a year of the world's best instruction and training, he will graduate into a real man-sized job and wear the wings of America's finest flying fraternity. Commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the U. S. Air Force, he will begin earning nearly $5300 a year. His future will be unlimited!

How he qualifies—
He is between the ages of 19 and 26 1/2 years, unmarried and in good physical condition, especially his eyes, ears, heart and teeth. After he has graduated from a recognized university or college, or has earned at least two years of college credits, he is eligible to enter the Aviation Cadet Training Program and will receive immediate processing for assignment to training. By sending for an Aviation Cadet application now, this Most Important Young Man in America Today will help bring about a peaceful tomorrow.

WHERE To Get More Details
Visit your nearest U. S. Air Force Base or write direct to Aviation Cadet Headquarters, U. S. Air Force, Washington 25, D. C.

Grimsley's 'Wild Upset Stab'—

Picks Michigan Over Spartans

By WILL GRIMSLEY
NEW YORK (AP)—Thirty-five little pigskinners went to market for us last weekend and 30 came home, giving us and .857 percentage for the first week of the college football season.
A rough weekend for everybody, but here goes:
Michigan over Michigan State—a wild upset stab. Michigan State is No. 1 in the pre-season poll, heavily favored, loaded with talent. The Wolverines, at home, are bent on erasing last year's 25-0 debacle.
Notre Dame over Pennsylvania—The Irish are rebuilding to their old position of preeminence. Penn has a fleet of fine backs, but the South Benders can travel, too.
Princeton over Columbia—The Tigers will miss Dick Kazmaier but they still have enough talent to subdue Lou Little's up-and-coming Lions.
Texas over North Carolina—

The Longhorns, perhaps the best in the wild West, should get North Carolina's new split T machine off to a rocky start.
California over Missouri—Johnny Olszewski and his race horse companions too much for a tired Missouri, let down after that squeak against Maryland.
Huskies Over Gophers
Washington over Minnesota—The Huskies in a close game. Their little advantage is in playing at home.
Southern California over Northwestern—The Trojans showed a lot of power in beating Washington State. Northwestern is crippled.
Duke over Southern Methodist—Worth Lutz and Piney Field prove the difference in a rough, tough ball game.
The others:
Friday night
Boston U. over Syracuse, Detroit over Wichita.

Saturday
East—Cornell over Colgate, Holy Cross over Dartmouth, Purdue over Penn State, Army over South Carolina, Harvard over Springfield, Navy over Yale.
Midwest—Drake over Dayton, Illinois over Iowa State, Ohio State over Indiana, Iowa over Pittsburgh, Cincinnati over Kansas State, Wisconsin over Marquette, Kansas over Santa Clara, Oklahoma over Colorado.
South—Wake Forest over William & Mary, Vanderbilt over Virginia, Clemson over Villanova, Tennessee over Mississippi State, Kentucky over Mississippi, Georgia over Tulane.
Southwest—Rice over Texas Tech, Texas A & M over Oklahoma A & M.
Far West—UCLA over Texas Christian, Washington State over Stanford, Wyoming over Montana, Oregon over Nebraska.

Yankees' 3-2 Win Clinches Pennant Tie

Special Shoes Helped Irvin Get in Shape

NEW YORK (AP)—When Monte Irvin broke an ankle during a Denver exhibition game last spring the consensus was that the New York Giants could write off their National league pennant intentions.
Irvin, the team's No. 4 hitter, was the fellow who helped spark Bobby Thomson. We're not saying Irvin helped Thomson hit his pennant-winning home run against the Dodgers last October, but if you recall last September, Irvin had hit safely in the last 15 games.
With Irvin out with his cracked ankle Thomson had not been the ball of fire that he was the last half of 1951.
The important item in Irvin's comeback is that he worked out for two months with special shoes, one of which had an ankle support. Had he not been a well conditioned athlete the Giants undoubtedly would never have gotten back into the pennant race. Just before he came back as a regular, the Dodgers had enjoyed a lead of 10 and a half games. And for a brief period the Giants were in third place.

Great to Be Champ!

Will Marciano Schedule 'Bums' or All Comers?

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK (AP)—Rocky Marciano came in like a champion and Jersey Joe Walcott went out like a champion, and like a light, in the vast pit of Philadelphia's Municipal stadium Tuesday night, and the gory, spine-chilling battle left a wake of questions which only time can answer.
Will the new heavyweight champion embark on a new venin that category. In honorable defeat he earned the admiration of all who saw his downfall in what might well be said to be his greatest performance.

A performance that was a winning performance until that crunching, pulverizing blow knocked him senseless in the 13th round.

If there are questions as to the future of Marciano, he left none unanswered that concerned his stature as a fighter. Bathed in his own blood and in the gore of his equally game opponent, he proved he can take it, has a heart as big as a watermelon, and that for sheer punching power he is unmatched in the ring today.

Even the great Jack Dempsey usually bounced his opponents off the canvas several times before keeping them there. Joe Louis got his results from an awesome barrage of blows. Marciano needs just one lethal punch. He proved it against Rex Layne, and Harry Matthews, and again Tuesday night.

He'll take punishment. He'll always take punishment. In his brief public appearance at the victory party, after he had been hemmed into close gaping wounds, he looked like he had been run over by a tractor; huge adhesive tape plasters on his forehead and pate, his left eye closed tight, his face a mass of welts.

FIGHT MOVIE HERE

The Rocky Marciano-Jersey Joe Walcott championship fight motion picture starts today at the Englert theater and the Drive-In theater. It shows all 13 rounds blow-by-blow, including the knockout in slow motion. The movie will be at the Englert until next Wednesday although it ends at the Drive-In Monday.

Will Rocky be permitted to take on all comers, regardless of any possibility that certain cute opponents might make him look bad?

In mentioning the bum-of-the-month program, we are not including the venerable Jersey Joe

Rally Assures Giants of 2d; Wilhelm Victor

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants clinched second place in the National League Thursday with a two-run ninth inning rally which downed the Boston Braves, 3-2.
Relief ace Hoyt Wilhelm, taking over in the ninth for starter Jim Hearn, was credited with his 15th pitching victory of the year. It was also his second win in as many days.
Rookie catcher Ray Kett singled home the decisive run in the ninth, scoring Bobby Thomson. Righthander Lew Burdette lost his 11th decision of the year as a result.
Whitey Lockman started the Giants ninth inning rally with a double, scoring the tying run on a single by Bobby Thomson.

Cards 4, Reds 3

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Billy Johnson's double and Solly Hemus' single accounted for the winning tally in the last of the ninth inning Thursday night with one out as the St. Louis Cardinals scored their 33rd one-run victory, beating the Cincinnati Reds, 4-3.
Cincinnati had scored twice in the top of the ninth to tie the score. St. Louis scored three of their runs in the fourth inning. Shortstop Hemus got two of the Cards' seven hits.
Eddie Yuhas was the winner, making his record 12-2.

Can't Say Indians 'Choked' in Stretch

CLEVELAND (AP)—Don't tell Manager Al Lopez his Cleveland Indians "choked up" in the stretch, if the Yankees win the pennant.
"I'm waiting for somebody to say that," Lopez told a reporter grimly Thursday. "Anybody who says that now is off base. We won 16 out of our last 20. Now what kind of a fold-up is that?"
Mathematically, the Indians still have a chance at the pennant.

BOSTON (AP)—Big chief Allie Reynolds assured the New York Yankees of at least a tie for the American league pennant Thursday, pitching and batting the world champions to a 3-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

The quarter-blooded Creek from Oklahoma made certain of finally reaching the 20-victory mark for the first time in his big league career by belting a single with two out in the top of the ninth inning to snap a 2-2 tie and drive in Irv Noren with the winning run.

Noren opened the ninth by coaxing a pass. It was only the second walk off Sid Hudson, who went all the way, allowing nine hits to absorb his 13th loss against 10 victories.

A sacrifice by Gil McDougald sent Noren to second and a long fly to center by Billy Martin moved the base runner to third. The victory increased the Yankees' first place margin over the idle Cleveland Indians to 2½ games and made it impossible for the Yankees to lose the championship during the regular playing season.

It was a great day for Reynolds, who a year ago this week pitched a no-hitter against the same Red Sox to clinch the Yanks' 1952 championship. Allie, loser of eight games, yielded eight hits, walked three and fanned eight to increase his league leading strikeout total to 161.

The Yankees were forced to overcome a 2-0 lead built up by Boston during the first four innings. Hoot Evers' homer in the second enabled the Red Sox to draw first blood. Ted Lepcio boosted Boston's margin to 2-0 with another circuit smash in the fourth.

Hal Gets 200th
DETROIT (AP)—Lanky Hal Newhouse, in the twilight of his 14-year career with the Detroit Tigers, Thursday won his 200th major league game—a feat only 54 other pitchers ever managed.

Hal Newhouse
Only 569 See 3-2 Decision

He gave the St. Louis Browns six hits in the 3-2 decision.
But only 569 fans—smallest crowd in Briggs Stadium's history—saw the 31-year-old left-hand strike out eight, and walk only one.
Only two other active pitchers have won 200 or more—Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians, and Bobo Newsom of the Philadelphia Athletics.
It was Hal's ninth victory against nine defeats.
The Browns scored once each in the seventh and eighth.
Dick Littlefield, a former Tiger, took his sixth loss against one victory.

Freshman Athletes—

With registration completed, it's safe to say a bit more about Iowa's outstanding crop of freshman athletes. The Daily Iowan will carry a complete story concerning this early next week, but for now here are the names of a few of the football and basketball players who have decided to attend SU.

The eastern freshman gridders include Phil Surgen, who played tailback in a prep single wing at Hadley, Mass., and Phil Kearney, Torrington, Conn., fullback.

John Beic, Windsor, Ontario, Canada, gives the squad the international touch. He comes to Iowa City by way of relatives in Spencer.

The top prep lineman in the state of Ohio last fall, 215-pound Calvin Jones, Steubenville, is among freshmen starting classes here this week.

Representing the tough Ohio Valley league are quarterback Tillio Petrozzi, Smithville, Ohio; Harvey McCulley, Wheeling, W. Va. guard; John Simms, Moundsville, W. Va. tackle, and Don Chontoss, guard from Martin's Ferry, Ohio, home town of former Kentucky cager Alex Groza.

From the Chicago area come Terry Moran, quarterback at Fenwick high school, and center Joel Page and back Lew Wallace, Gary, Ind.

Five former first team all-stars head the roll of Iowans enrolled this fall. They are Jim Allen, Ames back; George Asleson, Charles City back; George Kress, 240-pound Dubuque Loras tackle; Paul Schipper, Hampton end, and Jim Freeman, Iowa City end.

Heading the list of basketball players are Iowa all-stars Bill Logan (6-6½) of Keokuk, Hugh Leffingwell (6-3) of Marion, Dick Ritter of Grinnell (6-6) and Orville Allen (6-3) of Grundy Center.

Nine of Illinois' best prep cages have decided to call Iowa their school for the next four years. Their names—and heights—are Bob George (6-7), George Wolz (6-8), Roy Johnson (6-5), Don Carothers (6-5), Carl Cain (6-3), Bill Schoof (6-5), Sharm Scheuerman (6-2), Bill Seesberg (6-1) and Babe Hawthorn (5-9).

Among the other top prospects are Doug Duncan (6-6½) Tom Choules (6-1), transfers from Utah university. Duncan is a pre-ident student and Choules is pre-law. Herb Wilkinson, who was named all-America while playing at Iowa after transferring from Utah, reportedly helped route the men here.

Jerry Faske, Iowa's leading ground-gainer in 1949 when he averaged 6.6 yards per try this week, has signed to play with the professional Waterloo Wildcats of the Central States league. Among other teams in the league are Rock Island, Ill., and Minneapolis.

Waterloo, after being a power for a couple of years in an Iowa professional league, joined the Central States loop this year. So far the Wildcats have been badly outclassed, having won only one league game, but officials there are planning to sign several other ex-college stars like Faske to build a more presentable outfit.

Kenny Buckles has received a draft deferment, we understand, and will be back at Iowa this year after all. It was reported earlier that he was army-bound.

Pinky Clifton, one of the stars of last year's Iowa basketball team, reports to the air force base at San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 24 to begin his duty as a second lieutenant.

Including the last three games of the 1951 season, Iowa will have played six straight road games between home appearances. The Hawks had Illinois, Wisconsin and Notre Dame in succession last fall after closing the home card with the Minnesota tie, and this fall take on Pittsburgh, Indiana and Purdue. First 1952 home game is Oct. 18 with Wisconsin.

Eldred Kraemer, big Pitt sophomore tackle, never played high school football. He played the game for the first time in the navy and was steered toward Pitt by navy friends of Athletic Director Tom Hamilton.

Paul Blanda, Pitt's sophomore linebacker, is the brother of George Blanda, currently with the Chicago Bears. George's college was Kentucky U.

Captain Joe Schmidt, Pitt linebacker, is the first Pitt captain to be elected by his teammates since Luby DiMeolo was named after the 1928 season.

Four of the 16 backs reporting to Coach Red Dawson at Pitt this fall are Pittsburghers, Bob Wrabley from Central Catholic; Henry Ford from Schenley; Richie McCabe from North Catholic, and Pete Neft from Peabody.

Wife Expecting; Mantle Now Classified 3F

MIAMI, Okla. (AP) — Mickey Mantle's draft board has disclosed it has been informed the New York Yankee outfielder and his wife are expecting their first child next April.

A board member indicated Mantle's growing family responsibilities will put him in line for a 3-F dependency deferment from army duty, even if he passes an Oct. 6 selective service physical at Oklahoma City.

Three times rejected for service because of a bone infection in his left leg, the 20-year-old star already is the sole support of his widowed mother, three brothers and a sister.

DALLAS GETS TACKLE

DALLAS (AP) —The Dallas Texans of the National Football League Thursday acquired Horace Grigg, a tackle, from Green Bay for the waiver price. Grigg, a native of Longview, Tex., was with the Cleveland Browns four years. He was acquired by Green Bay last winter.

Hawklets Hosts To Davenport; U-High Opens Home Season

Revolutionary may be the word in pre-game talk concerning the Iowa City-Davenport grid battle tonight since, for the first time in several seasons, City high enters the game favored over its conference arch-rival.

City high, with two games under its belt, will put an undefeated record on the line while the visiting Blue Devils have dropped their two games. The Imps lost their opener to a powerful Maywood, Ill. team, 19-0, and last week, Wilson of Cedar Rapids edged the perennial Mississippi Valley power, 14-13.

The game tonight will undoubtedly be a "burn-burner" with both teams having definite, all-out motives for winning. Davenport is reportedly on the comeback trail after dropping two in a row, which incidentally is practically unheard of in that city of "champions." The Hawklets will be out to maintain their clean slate, and to stay at the helm of the conference.

Although the Little Hawks are favorites they will not be facing a "weak sister" in this Davenport team. The Imps' line will match the Hawklets' big line in weight, and the visitors also boast a good passing attack.

Coach "Butch" Stofa will, in all probability, have his top aerial combination, quarterback Carroll Howlett to left end Ralph Pucci, testing the Iowa City pass defense frequently. Coupled with the potent Blue Devil passing game are two speedy halfbacks, Lyn Makeever and Lee Jepsen, who should keep the City high line busy. Makeever was the Imps' only impressive runner against Wilson.

Bates has also drilled his squad more on pass defense this week in order that his charges will not be baffled by the Davenport aerials. This phase of the Iowa City defense, if operated at top efficiency, could very well mean the difference between victory and defeat in the game tonight.

John Oakes, who played a fine all-around game at center last week against McKinley of Cedar Rapids, will be the Little Hawks' game captain tonight. John Larew will again be Iowa City's field captain.

University high school will attempt to get on the victory trail this afternoon against unbeaten West Branch on the university practice field at 3 p.m.

The Blues suffered several injuries in last week's 18-6 loss to Wapello. Left halfback Gardner Van Dyke, who scored the only touchdown has an injured back. He was hurt making a tackle from his safety spot on defense. Coach Don Hartness said that he is undecided as to Van Dyke's defensive replacement, but Jim Van Kirk will probably start at left half on offense. The little freshman is also hampered with a pulled muscle, but it is not expected to cause him too much trouble.

Defensive halfback Phil Vandecarr suffered a broken blood vessel in his right leg last week. His leg is swollen and blistered because of too many heat treatments — but a shield is expected to protect the injury enough so that he will be able to play today.

The one bright spot in the Bluehawk camp is the fact that letterman guard Ed Bowers, who missed last week's game because of virus pneumonia, is back in action. He has been practicing all week and is expected to start.

Tackle Ken Butterbaugh will captain the Bluehawks this afternoon. The starting line-up will be much the same as last week's with Earlis Butterbaugh and Ike Riggle at ends, Ken Jensen and Butterbaugh at tackles, Ed Bowers and Jim Lenz at guards, and Dave Burgeots at center. The backfield will be John Price at quarterback, Bruce Miller at fullback, and Jim Van Kirk and Stan Alberts at halfbacks.

The speedy West Branch team has defeated Columbus Junction, 14-7, and Wilton Junction, 39-6. Running out of a T, split-T and sometimes a spread, the Bears feature a backfield which teamed together last year to win the conference sprint medley relay.

Bright Making Quick Recovery

CALGARY (AP)—Johnny Bright, sensational Calgary Stampeder halfback is making an amazing recovery from an appendicitis operation which put him out of Western Interprovincial Football union action last week-end.

The 22-year-old Negro star from Drake university had his appendix removed Sunday night and already is going through light calisthenics to "keep in shape." To be released from the hospital today, he's expected back in the Stampeder's lineup within three weeks, "if not sooner."

INTRODUCE NEW CHAMP

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano will make his first appearance in a boxing ring since he dethroned Joe Walcott when he is introduced tonight at St. Nicholas arena before the Willie Troy-Randy Sandy battle of unbeaten middleweights.

Hawks in Light Secret Drill; Leave This Morning for Pitt

Uniform of the day in the Iowa football camp Thursday was dress gold and black as the Hawkeyes hustled through a light workout behind closed gates. It was their final drill, as they leave for Pittsburgh this morning.

No probable lineups were announced Thursday, but the same men have been used the past week. Top men in the backfield have been Burt Britzmann, quarterback; Jim Milani, left halfback; Bernie Bennett and Binkey Broeder, fullbacks, and Bob Phillips and Bob Stearnes, right halfbacks.

juggled quite a bit with no set defensive team being used.

The traveling squad includes: Ends — Fenton, Ed Lindsey, Clyde Gardner, Mickey Moore, McBride and Frank Schwengel. Tackles — Don Chelf, Cameron Cummins, Frymire, Roy Hutchinson, George Palmer, Joe Paulson, Jim Frazer and Wilke. Guards — Charles Boothe, Tom Ellis, Hall, Hayman, and Emmett Sawyer. Centers — Jerry Clark, Hilgenberg, Forrest Houser, and Warren (Bud) Lawson. Quarterbacks — Britzmann, Jack Hess, Paul Kemp, and Louis Matykiewicz. Halfbacks — Bunny Broeder, Chuck Daniels, Don Inman, Lyle Leinbaugh, Prentise Lamont, Milani, Phillips, Dusty Rice, Stearnes and Jerry White. Fullbacks — Bennett, Broeder and Jim Hatch.

A BOY... A GIRL... TV

Let's face it. Living rooms are still in style. But a third party is inching its way in to reform a crowd.

And no wonder. Few can resist this miracle that has brought the world and set it down in front of you. Living history, flowing past your eyes. Politics. U. N. sessions. Sports. Spot news. Personalities.

We in the Bell System help to put you in this front-row seat on history. Bell Laboratories research contributed to TV development. Now our radio-relay systems and coaxial cables carry the images between cities and across the country.

Our part in TV transmission is only one among dozens of activities that keep us in the front line of modern communications. They are all reasons, we believe, why college people should find out what the Bell System has to offer in the way of opportunities.

Why don't you ask your college placement office about it?

Boeing's Big Wichita Bomber Plant Is Modern Airpower Eagles' Nest

WICHITA, Kan. (CP) — Here is a modern eagles' nest. It's the sprawling government-owned, Boeing-operated bomber plant with its complementary 3520th Flying Training Wing of the United States air force.

Now the birthplace of the important B-47 Stratojet medium bomber, the Boeing plant is far from new because through its gapping doors rolled 1,644 of the then huge B-29's that plastered Japan's industrial centers and dropped the A-bomb during the final phase of World War II.

Then, its job apparently done, the plant was returned to the government in 1946 during the wave of military cutbacks. The idleness was comparatively short-lived, however.

Smoke Scarcely Lifted
The smoke of war had scarcely lifted when the first work commenced on the design of what was to become one of the first great jet bombers in the world, the B-47, in September of 1945.

The steps from drawing board to production model of the enormously, almost incomprehensibly complex jet plane of today unfortunately are neither new nor short.

Nearly five years passed before the first B-47A rolled from the assembly line of the Wichita plant, which, in the meantime, had been reactivated in March of 1948.

Smashes Speed Record
A year before that, one of the two XB-47's produced had smashed the transcontinental speed record by flashing across the country from Larson air force base in Washington, D.C., at an average speed of 607.8 miles an hour.

The number of Stratojets actually produced at this Wichita plant is, of course, classified. It is no secret, however, that the total probably is not what the average American would like.

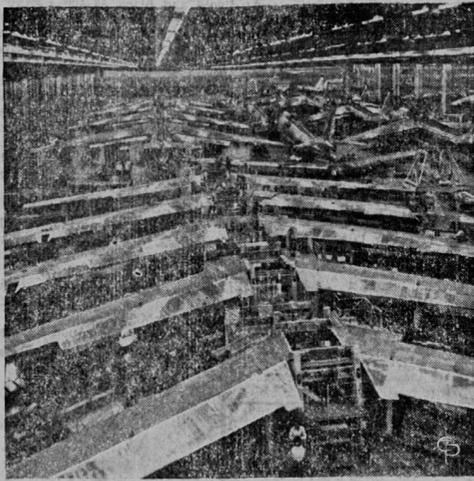

There are reasons, plenty of them. Without touching upon the broad, political and policy situations that bear upon what happens on the assembly lines, many can be explained.

1st Comes Complexity
First comes the complexity of the modern jet aircraft. Remember the famed B-17 Flying Fortress that was our "heavy" bomber in the early years of World War II? Well, the B-47, rated as a "medium" bomber by today's standards, weighs five times as much as the workhorse B-17.

The B-47 has a maximum gross takeoff weight 45,000 pounds heavier than even the B-29 Superfortress. It requires a crew of only three men, compared with the -29's 10 to 12, but much of the cutting down of crew has meant the addition of quantities of electronic equipment.

Ten miles of wiring went into the B-29; 27 go into the Stratojet. Only a cursory stroll through the electrical and electronic divisions of the B-47 assembly line show the great number of man (and woman) hours required to complete the intricate wiring sub-assemblies of this 600-mile-an-hour-plus bomber.

Must Add Manpower
To these samples of the problems presented by present-day complexity must be added the one of manpower. Employment at the Boeing Wichita plant already has risen to 25,000, compared with a wartime peak of 29,402, but that available working force of men and women must be more finely trained even than their World

Here is the assembly line off which the six-engine bombers roll.

War II counterparts.

Whereas tolerances of 1/32nd to 1/16th of an inch could be permitted on the old B-17, the wing of the B-47 alone requires 6,000 bolt holes (less than half of the total) with maximum tolerances of .001 to .002 of an inch.

Blame Combination
Company officials are inclined to blame a large part of the manpower problem on the attempts to combine normal peacetime production with a stepped-up armament program.

J. E. Shafer, vice-president of Boeing and general manager of the Wichita division, puts it this way:

"Experienced jig builders, tool and die makers, electronic mechanics and inspectors and all types of engineers have been hard to find from the start because of the 'business as usual' conditions under which we have had to operate.

Shortage Still Persists
"Even today we are short substantial numbers in skilled classifications despite an all-out recruiting program which currently is concentrated in Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Colorado." Despite the problems—those of national policy as well as those of production—a look around gives convincing evidence that the foundations for doing a job have been laid and that it can be done—given a green light.

Steigleman to Give Talks Observing Newspaper Week

Prof. Walter A. Steigleman, head of the editorial sequence in the SUI school of journalism, will deliver three addresses before and during National Newspaper Week, Oct. 1 through 8. Steigleman, who has a background of more than 20 years of experience on newspapers and is the author of several books, will speak to the Cedar Falls Lions club on Sept. 29, the Maquoketa Rotary club Oct. 1 and the Charles City Lions club Oct. 3.

National Newspaper Week was originally conceived as an industry-wide celebration to pay tribute to the country's 1,773 daily and 9,000 weekly newspapers. Each year the week has become more far-reaching in its impact. Under the sponsorship of the Newspaper Association Managers, Inc., each day of the week has been given a special designation, such as advertising, newsboy and community days.

Elefson Loses $78,000 Suit Against Uncle

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP) — A federal district court jury Thursday returned a directed verdict in favor of Wayne Rhode of Tabor, sued for $78,000 damages by his nephew, Lyman H. Elefson.

Elefson, 25, now of New York city, had filed the suit as the result of an information charging him with murder, signed by Rhode Dec. 2, 1949.

A Fremont County grand jury subsequently declined to indict the former SUI student in connection with the poison death of his grandfather, Alonzo Rhode.

Elefson alleged that Wayne Rhode "maliciously" caused his arrest.

Federal Judge William Riley, ordering the directed verdict, said there was no evidence that the investigation which resulted in filing of the charge against Elefson was instituted by Wayne Rhode.

Defense Attorney Edgar Cook, in making the motion for a directed verdict, pointed out there was no testimony in the case implicating Rhode in the prosecution other than that he merely signed the preliminary information against his nephew.

Cook pointed out that evidence showed the investigation was instituted by Fremont county officers and the state of Iowa.

Warren C. Schrempp, one of Elefson's attorneys, said "we may" when asked if the verdict would be appealed.

The directed verdict came shortly after Rhode had quoted his father as saying on his death bed: "You doctors not fooling me. I ain't going to be here very long. Lyman gave me poison."

On cross-examination, Rhode said he had never before disclosed the statement from his father. He said he "wanted to save Lyman's neck."

Families Hit Jackpots — Twins Win Contest for Couples

An SUI student family and a Primrose, Iowa, couple by becoming the parents of twins were among the winners in a national contest sponsored by Westinghouse.

The contest offered a 1953 Laundromat and clothes dryer to the parents of any set of twins born on Tuesday, Sept. 23. Both sets of parents had twins Tuesday at University hospitals.

The SUI student couple are Mr. and Mrs. Dexter H. Hake, 15 W. Davenport st., and the Primrose family is Mr. and Mrs. Harold King. Hake is a senior in the SUI college of medicine.

The twins are Mr. and Mrs. Hake's first children and the sixth and seventh for the King family. They have five others ranging in age from seven years to 13 months.

In addition to the Laundromat and clothes dryer, both families will receive a years supply of baby food.

Historical Papers, Bound for SUI, To Appear on TV

Iowa television owners may preview several historical documents from the Lebold collection, soon to go on display in the SUI library, when WOC-TV in Davenport presents a half-hour program built around the exhibit Saturday at 5 p.m.

Appearing on the program will be Ralph Ellsworth, director of SUI libraries, Clyde C. Walton, curator of rare books, Harry J. Lytle, Davenport Lincoln collector, and Fred Schwengel, also of Davenport, Scott county representative to the Iowa legislature and president of the new Iowa Book Collectors club.

They will discuss several of the 125 documents and letters from the private collection of Foreman Lebold, a Chicago industrialist.

Magazine Publishes Mountaineer Article

The Iowa Mountaineers have received national attention once again, this time in the new issue of Collier's magazine.

Published today, the magazine carries an article and pictures describing the 12-year-old mountaineering club.

Much of the article concerns the methods of the club's president, John Ebert, and his assistants, in successfully teaching mountaineering even though the "nearest peak worth the attention of a real mountaineer is about 1,000 miles west" of the Iowa campus.

Ebert, who is also an old hand at climbing regular mountains, helps to teach students the fundamentals of mountaineering through regular week-end outings.

Last Students Enter 3-Year Nursing Plan

The three-year nursing course at SUI is being dropped this fall as the last group of 42 freshmen students begin work for their three-year nursing diplomas.

This change in the academic program of the college of nursing was announced recently by SUI Pres. Virgil M. Hancher.

A one-year practical nursing program will begin this fall as soon as a faculty and a director for the program have been appointed.

Second and third year students now enrolled in the three-year nursing program will complete their work in 1953 and 1954.

State Approves Changes

The state board of education has approved the two changes.

The three-year course is being dropped, Dean Myrtle E. Kitchell of the SUI college of nursing, said because of a decrease in training candidates and a corresponding increase in students seeking the four-year degree course offered by the college since 1949.

The four-year course offers the opportunity to combine a liberal arts education and a nursing education. Students taking this course graduate with a bachelor of science degree as well as a certificate in nursing.

The combined four-year program is a general trend throughout the country. The University of Minnesota dropped its three-year program some years ago and the Universities of Oregon and Michigan followed suit this year.

27 Schools Listed

Twenty-seven schools in Iowa still offer a three-year nursing training program which will absorb those students who desire such a program.

The preparation of a practical nurse includes less scientific and technical detail than does the preparation of a professional nurse, and can therefore be accomplished in a year.

The practical nurse program requires two semesters and one summer session of study and demonstration. Applicants between the ages of 17 and 25 who have a high school education or who can pass an entrance examination are eligible. A 10th grade education is required for those over 25 years of age.

Practical Application

A practical nurse is one trained to care for mothers and new babies, convalescent patients, people suffering from the infirmities of old age and others with chronic or light illness that do not require highly specialized treatments. She is also prepared to assist a professional nurse.

The practical nurse works under the direction of a doctor or professional nurse, in homes, hospitals, institutions or public health agencies.

SUI will be the second school in Iowa to offer practical nursing preparation.

Jewish Residents To Observe Feast

Descendants of Jewish ancestry residing in Iowa City will celebrate their annual Feast of the Tabernacles beginning Sunday night, Sept. 28, and continuing through Monday, Sept. 29.

Services in connection with this celebration will be held both days on the first floor of the Jewish Synagogue by local Jewish residents and in the basement of the Hillel student center by SUI students.

Jewish people in all countries of the world except Israel are now in the midst of their holiday celebrations. The Jewish New Year, which was observed Sept. 20-21, marks the beginning of the Hebrew year.

The first 10 days of the new year are days of meditation and repentance. The tenth day of the first month is a day of fasting and praying by the Jews for forgiveness of their sins.

According to Prof. Frederick P. Bargebuhr of the SUI school of religion, however, the Jewish New Year hasn't always been celebrated in the fall. There is a reference in the Bible that the holidays once occurred in the spring of the year, Bargebuhr said.

Accident Victim Reported in 'Fair' Condition

Paul R. Olsen, 19, of 713 E. Washington st., is still in "fair" condition at University hospitals following an automobile accident early Thursday.

He is under observation at the hospital and believed to be suffering from lacerations and abrasions.

According to police, Olsen's car and a semi-truck trailer side-swiped when the two vehicles met on a curve. The car rolled over at least once and ended up on its top.

The truck was driven by Richard F. Gladd, 32, of Aurora, Ill. Gladd was going west and Olsen was coming down highway 6 from the west when the accident occurred, police said.

Des Moines Janitor Tells of Breakins, Assaulting Occupants

DES MOINES (AP) — A 41-year-old Negro janitor who was an honor student in high school has admitted he prowled "countless" East Des Moines homes and assaulted women in some of them, Detective Chief R. E. O'Brien said Thursday.

O'Brien said Felix Adolph Williams has signed statements in which he gave details of entering various homes and molesting or assaulting women occupants over the past several years.

Williams also told of eluding police squads during what has been called the city's biggest manhunt, in 1948.

O'Brien said Williams told police he sought two things in his prowlings — money and women. In all cases he entered homes where the male occupant was absent or where only women resided.

Williams is being held in jail pending filing of charges.

MOSSE TO SPEAK

George L. Mosse, professor of history at SUI, will be lead-off speaker Saturday at the annual meeting of Iowa college and university teachers of history. He will discuss the problems connected with the basic course in history. The meeting will be held at Luther college in Decorah.

HURRICANE BREWING

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The third hurricane of the season sprang up suddenly Thursday in the Atlantic just 350 miles off the Florida coast. Winds of 85 miles per hour whirled around the center of the small tropical storm as it began moving slowly north-northwest at 10 to 12 miles an hour.

New Storage Vault For Visual Aids Soon to Be Built

Construction will begin on a new SUI $10,000 films storage vault around Sept. 29, according to Fred Moore of the SUI maintenance and operation division.

The building, to be located west of the SUI music building, will be one story high, with the films stored in the basement and the first floor used as additional office space.

This new addition will provide more and convenient storage place for the films, all property of the SUI extension division which lends films as visual aids all over the state. The films were previously stored in the University library.

The masonry construction on this project will be under contract to a commercial construction company, with the mechanical work being done by the maintenance and operation division.

Truman Wants Top Officials To File Income Statements

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman, declining to be drawn into discussion of the Nixon or Stevenson funds, said Thursday he still thinks all top salaried government officials, including members of congress, should be required to file full public statements of their income.

The President was asked at his news conference whether he agreed with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee, that Sen. Richard M. Nixon had completely vindicated himself.

Truman said he had no comment. He hadn't heard Nixon's defense, he said.

Reporters Have to Wait

In response to another question, Truman said reporters would just have to wait and see whether, in the campaign tour he is scheduled to embark upon Saturday, he touches on the privately-raised expense fund for the California senator who is Eisenhower's running mate.

Truman also had a no comment reply when asked whether he thought Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, should make public the names of contributors to a fund Stevenson has said he employed to supplement salaries of Illinois state employees. Stevenson has thus far declined to name contributors to the fund or recipients of the money.

Reporter Directs Question

If you had such a fund, a reporter asked Truman, would you name the contributors?

Again Truman declined comment. He added that he never had any such fund, that he was always like Sen. John J. Sparkman, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, whose wife is a member of his office staff.

The President said Mrs. Truman was his secretary while he was in the senate and helped him pay his board bill. He said it was exceedingly difficult in those days to get along on a senator's salary. Since then, he commented, salaries have been raised and expense funds provided.

Thursday's news conference was brief, lasting only eight minutes. Among other things, Truman said:

Doesn't Regret Firing

1. He has never been sorry that he fired T. Lamar Caudle in charge of the tax division, last November.

Caudle had testified to a house subcommittee this week that Donald Dawson, a White House aide, and Rep. Frank W. Boykin (D-Ala.) told him Truman felt he had done Caudle a grave injustice.

2. He had no light to shed on a statement attributed by Caudle to J. Howard McGrath, former attorney general, that McGrath had enough information on the White House to blow it so high that gravity would never bring it down again. Truman said McGrath did not take him into his confidence.

3. He never heard of a White House clique which Caudle said he heard was out to get him and McGrath. Truman said members of his staff had been called several names, but that was a new one.

Stevenson Bares Maryland Flag

WAVING A MARYLAND FLAG, Adlai Stevenson arrives at the armory in Baltimore, Md., where he told listeners the way to stop prices from rising is to slash non-essential government spending, keep taxes on a pay-as-we-go basis and keep controls on prices, wages, rents and credit. He emphasized that the government budget "is determined more by the Russians than by the bureaucrats." Shown with Stevenson on his left is Senator Herbert O'Connor (D-Md.)

Gift from Iowa Author —

SUI Gets Original Manuscript

Ruth Suckow, one of Iowa's best-known authors, has presented the SUI library with three original manuscripts from her most recent book, "Some Others and Myself."

The book, which is Miss Suckow's first publication in ten years, was published early this year, and contains seven stories and an autobiographical memoir, according to Grace Van Wormer, assistant director for special collections.

The author has presented the library with the original manuscripts for the memoir and two of the short stories. The memoir in particular shows signs of free editing by the author.

All of these original manuscripts will be kept in the "Iowa Room" of the library, a room devoted to the works of Iowa authors.

City Churches Plan Emphasis On New Bible

Iowa City's Protestant churches will observe "Bible Emphasis" Sunday this weekend, in connection with the approaching formal publication of the New Revised Standard Version of the Bible.

Members of the Iowa City Ministers association and their respective churches are planning a variety of appropriate services, some marking the occasion with installation ceremonies for their Sunday school teachers and officers.

The sermons which have been planned are: the Rev. P. Hewison Pollock, First Presbyterian church, "The Word for the People"; the Rev. Elmer E. Dierks, First Baptist church, "How to Read the Bible."

Sermon Topics Listed

The Rev. Ira J. Hoover, Church of the Nazarene, "The Living Word in Living Language"; the Rev. John Craig, First Congregational church, "Thy Word Is Truth."

The Rev. Leon England, Christian church, "The Contemporary Word"; the Rev. George Jacobson, First English Lutheran church, "Mankind's Unfolding Lamp"; and Alfred Henriksen, Unitarian church, "The Bible, God's Word or Man's Creation."

On Tuesday at 8 p.m., the First Methodist church in Iowa City will celebrate the publication of the new version of the Bible with a service of thanksgiving and dedication for Iowa City and surrounding communities.

Rev. Dierks to Preside

The Reverend Dierks, president of the Iowa City Ministers association will preside, and guest speaker will be Dr. Paul Davis, professor of New Testament literature at McCormick Theological seminary, Chicago.

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher will give the response when five copies of the new Bible are presented to Iowa City's five principal libraries.

A special feature of the program will be the singing of a massed choir under the direction of the Rev. Nancy Forsberg of the First Congregational church. The choir will be made up of members of choirs of all participating churches.

Highlanders Accept 32 Women As Candidates After Tryouts

Thirty-two women students at SUI have been accepted as candidates for the Scottish Highlanders, all-girl bagpipe band, Pipe Major Bill Adamson announced Thursday.

The 32 were chosen in tryouts held last Saturday in which more than 300 — 100 more than last fall, Adamson said — applicants took part. Sixty-five returning girls will form the nucleus of the organization this fall.

After two weeks of drill on either the bagpipes or drums, enough of the candidates will be selected as members to fill the 67-girl marching complement and to provide sufficient substitutes to complete the ranks in case of illness or absence of regulars.

In addition to appearances during all home football games at SUI, the tartaned lassies will skirl at the Iowa-Indiana game at Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 4. On Oct. 10 they will perform at the Davenport-Cedar Rapids high school football contest in Davenport.

The new candidates are: Barbara L. Summers, Audubon; Carol Garfield, Ames; Virginia A. Milnes, Burlington; Marcene S. Ringette, Clinton; Karen L. Peterson, Council Bluffs; Prudence A. Meder, Elkader; Pat M. Peterson, Fort Dodge.

Catherine J. Shiley, Grettinger; Susan Larson, Hanlontown; Marydale Merrill, Ida Grove; Karen M. Chapman, Iowa City; Sheila A. Cunningham, Iowa City; Mary S. Hancher, Iowa City; Evelyn I.

Local Woman Fined For Drunk Driving

Rhoda McLeran, 335 S. Duquette st., was fined $300 after she pleaded guilty in Johnson county district court Wednesday to a charge of driving while intoxicated. The charge was made in a county attorney's information.

She was arrested Aug. 16 in Iowa City. Her drivers license was suspended for 30 days and her Iowa liquor permit was revoked by Judge James P. Gaffney.

Four faculty members from the SUI school of social work are in Des Moines this weekend attending the Midwest Regional conference of the Child Welfare League of America.

Mrs. Lois Sentman, assistant professor in the university school, is general chairman of the conference. Others attending are Lola Selby and Mildred Snider, both of the faculty of the school of social work.

450 Idled as Strike Hits Davenport, Moline

DAVENPORT (AP) — Members of the United Electrical Workers union went on strike Thursday at the Davenport and Moline, Ill., plants of the Eagle Signal corporation.

The strike, which affects about 200 persons in the Davenport plant and about 250 in Moline, came after members of the independent union voted 102-95 Thursday morning in favor of a work stoppage.
