Russia Asks Recall Of U.S. Envoy

Claims Kennan Slandered Reds In Berlin Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia Friday plunged Soviet-American relations into a new crisis by barring the United States Ambassador George F. Kennan on the grounds that he "slandered" the Soviets.

The sudden action raised the prospect of retaliation by the United States although Secretary of State Acheson said that there is "no present intention" of expelling Soviet ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin. He also said that a break in relations is not being considered.

Moscow in an unexpected note demanded the immediate recall of Kennan as being "persons non grata" or personally unacceptable, because he compared life for Americans in Moscow with the inferno he underwent in Nazi Germany after Pearl Harbor.

U. S. Has No Choice
Russia's action left the United States with no choice but to comply as Kennan was in Geneva. Acheson, vigorously defending Kennan, said there was no way the Kremlin could be compelled to let him return to Moscow. Kennan was ordered to come home for consultation.

Rejecting the Soviet slander charge, Acheson said Kennan's comparison of life under the Nazis — made in an interview at Berlin Sept. 19 — will be recognized in most parts of the world as a truthful one.

"The Russian peoples themselves must be shamefully aware that foreigners within the Soviet Union are customarily treated by the Soviet government in ways which are the exact contrary of civilized international usage," Acheson said in a statement.

Expect U. S. Protest
He forecast that the immediate United States response will be a note of protest to the Kremlin, and left open whether Kennan's post will be kept unfilled indefinitely. He told a questioner that no consideration has been given to any replacement.

The United States in the past has rejected any idea of shutting down the Moscow embassy because it serves as something of a window into the Communist world.

Kennan, a former member of Acheson's policy planning board, is often credited with being the author of the administration's policy of "containing" communism.

Tickets Still Available For Childs' Speech In Union Monday

Tickets for Monday's lecture by Marquis Childs, Washington news columnist, are still available to students and faculty at the main desk of the Iowa Memorial Union.

Tickets for townspeople will be available Monday. There is no charge. Childs will open this year's University lecture series at 8 p.m. Monday, in the main lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union. He will speak on "Washington Calling — The Politics of 1952."

The lecturer is a native of Clinton, Ia. He received his Master's degree at SUU in 1925.

In 1951, Childs was awarded a prize for "distinguished service in journalism," given annually by the University of Missouri school of journalism, for his "skillful handling of controversial material."

Since 1944, Childs has written the column, "Washington Calling," which appears in 150 newspapers. Books he has written include: "Sweden, The Middle Way"; "Washington Calling"; "This Is Democracy" and "This Is Your War."

FLY TO REFUTE TRUMAN

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Three Republican senators, covering President Truman's tracks "with the facts," flew in Friday "to refute the charge that the GOP would kill reclamation and power projects."

The three, Homer Ferguson of Michigan, Bourke Hickel of Iowa and Francis Case of South Dakota, said "the truth is catching up with Harry Truman and he won't get away with misrepresentations as he did in 1948."

Faculty Members Chat with Beardsley

IOWA GOVERNOR WILLIAM BEARDSLEY (right) greets Capt. Victor Crepeau of the SUI military department at a reception in the library Friday afternoon. Looking on is Prof. Frank R. Kennedy of the SUI college of law. Later in the afternoon the governor spoke at the opening ceremonies of the American documents exhibit in the library.

Young Republicans Give Beardsley Endorsement

Iowa Gov. William Beardsley was presented with an open letter of support from the SUI Young Republicans at a reception in his honor Friday at the Jefferson hotel.

The reception at 2:30 p.m. followed Beardsley's non-political speech at the opening of the American documents display in the university library.

Beardsley's speech stressed the importance of studying early United States documents to learn the principles upon which our government was founded.

Beardsley Promises Support
"Human nature and man's basic wants have not changed much since the founding of our country. With an understanding of what the early patriots were trying to achieve and the mistakes that they made, we can go on to build an even better world," he said.

The presentation of the Young Republican's letter at the reception, invoked Beardsley's promise of continued support for state education projects. He said he would take the message of reassurance back to the party.

He refused to comment directly on the letter on the grounds that this was a non-political visit.

Young Republicans Present Letter
Bill Ebert, L2, Mount Pleasant, SUI Young Republican president, read the letter at the presentation. The letter had been unanimously passed at the Young Republican meeting last Tuesday. The letter reads:

"As students at the State University of Iowa, we are naturally interested in the educational policies of our state leaders.

"During your two terms in office, expenditures for state aid to elementary and secondary schools have been increased by more than 70 per cent. Appropriations for the university have steadily increased.

Urges Attention to Education
"We urge your continued study and attention to the needs of the university and all levels of education in Iowa as a matter of the greatest significance to the future of our state.

"We are equally proud of your record in mental health, soil conservation, road building and law enforcement. We are confident that a vote for you is a vote for continued progress in all areas of state government."

William F. Morrison, county Republican chairman, introduced Ebert. Among those present at the reception were D. C. Noland, candidate for state senator from Johnson and Iowa counties; G. M. Ludwig, state representative; Albert Murphy, sheriff, and J. Newman Toomey, justice of the peace.

Truman Sleeps as Train Hits 1948 Whistle-Stop
ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN (AP) — President Truman slept Friday as his special train rolled into Eugene, Ore.

There was no whistle-stop this time, unlike four years ago when he told a late night crowd, in speaking neighbor-to-neighbor like about Stalin: "I like old Joe, but he is a prisoner of the Politburo."

His argument was that Stalin's hands were tied, as to his promises.

Hundreds See Book Exhibit During 1st Day

"History is coming alive before their eyes," Clyde D. Walton, SUI as hundreds of professors, students, and outsiders thronged the curator of rare books, said Friday afternoon examining the $100,000 Great American Documents collection of Chicago industrialist Foreman M. Lebold.

Arrangements with Lebold to display his collection of letters and documents of American historical figures from early American history to the 1930's were made by Walton, who met the industrialist during a Chicago roundtable discussion.

Ralph Ellsworth, director of the SUI library, said the exhibit is for the purpose of instructing Iowa high school students in the study of America. Students from regional schools will visit the exhibit during its showing here.

Authenticity Proven
The authenticity of the 121 items is proven by the discoloration and occasional dog-earedness characteristic of age. Most of them are written on the thick, parchment-type paper used during early American times. Specialists appeared to be equally interested in all exhibits occupying the five glass cases.

Walton said that during these complex and turbulent times we can again learn from history, our history. A personal review of the written proof of evolutionary eras which have shaped today's America will re- cement the attachment of our citizens to a sacred past.

Beardsley On Hand
Participants in the ceremonies which officially opened the exhibition Friday were Gov. William S. Beardsley, SUI President Virgil M. Hancher, Ralph Newman, Chicago book dealer who represented Lebold, and Fred Schwenkel, president of the new Iowa Book Collectors club.

President Hancher served as toastmaster at a dinner for the visitors in the Iowa Memorial Union at 6:30 p.m.

The collection will be an exhibit at the main library until Oct. 13.

Johnson Discusses Government Jobs

"Low government salaries and the overcharged atmosphere under which government officials work doesn't provide a career to which many capable men are attracted," Prof. Donald B. Johnson, political science department, said Friday night at the Engineering College Magazines Associated convention banquet at the Elks Lodge clubhouse.

In referring to "corruption in government," Professor Johnson said that under our present laws "as long as the briber isn't punished along with the bribed, public morality can only reflect private morality."

Professor Johnson said he didn't believe the Nixon and Stevenson episodes had changed anyone's votes.

Ike Asks McCarthy Election; Increase Benefits, Adlai Says

Backs Investigator During Whistle-Stop

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower publicly called Friday for the re-election of Sen. Joseph McCarthy, and he backed up the senator's position on Communist penetration into the federal government with the grim assertion: "It meant — in its most ugly triumph — treason itself."

Eisenhower, the Republican presidential candidate, also lashed out at President Truman and at Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate for president, for some of the things they have said in connection with the question of red operations in Washington. He did not mention either the President or Stevenson by name.

Blasts Truman's Remark
But he recalled Truman's "red herring" remark about the investigation of Alger Hiss, former state department employee. And he referred to one of Stevenson's speeches when he said: "An administration servant grandly declared that Communists in our national life are 'not very important.' And that we should not waste time chasing 'phantoms.'"

The general delivered these references to Truman and Stevenson in a major speech in Milwaukee—a speech which was a full dress review of the problem of Communists in government.

His endorsement of McCarthy was given in a whistle stop talk in Green Bay, Wis., earlier in the day. It was Eisenhower's first stop in the senator's home state. He said: "I ask the people of Wisconsin to elect the entire slate they themselves have nominated for our party ticket."

Mentions Differences
McCarthy won the GOP nomination last month in a landslide primary election victory.

Eisenhower added, however, that he differs with McCarthy on some points, that "these differences are well known," and that he has discussed them with the senator.

"The differences apply to method," Eisenhower said. Eisenhower, in his speech in Milwaukee over a nationwide (CBS) radio network, declared Communists have penetrated "virtually every section of our government."

"These experts in treason have plundered us of secrets involving our highest diplomatic decision, our atomic research."

Discusses Stevenson Attitude
He then, by inference, accused Stevenson of making jokes about the problem, and said the "red herring" description was "a blithe dismissal" of the Hiss case.

He added, "I cannot understand a politician who one week makes jokes about this menace, and another week — after public reaction has dampened his humor — promises to offer a serious solution."

Something New Is Added

MANCHESTER, Eng. (AP)—Five days ago the 131-year-old Manchester Guardian started something new. It began printing news on its first page, where for 131 years only classified advertising had bloomed. For the British, it was a horrible earthquake. There is anguish in the north country and hosts of dear old ladies and gentlemen are sure the world will never be the same. Some angry people who don't like to read news on page one have written to the editors threatening to stop reading altogether.

One indignant man said he guessed he would have to subscribe to the Times of London, which still knows what to do with news—put it back on page six where it belongs.

McKune to Direct New SUI TV Series For Ames Station

Lawrence McKune To Direct TV Series

Lawrence McKune, instructor in television teaching, will write and direct a new series of half-hour programs to be presented over WOI-TV, Ames, Prof. John Winnie, chief of television production at SUI, announced Friday.

The series will be a unit of 13 programs designed for classroom listening at the high school level, and be in the "area of guidance," he said.

The programs will be telecast weekly on Tuesday mornings at 10 a.m., beginning Oct. 21. They will be kinescoped and later re-televised over WOC-TV, Davenport, Prof. Winnie said.

Prof. C. d'A. Gerken, of the SUI psychology department and a student counseling office, will serve as technical consultant and be in charge of resource material for the series.

Heading the student unit under McKune's direction are Stanley Almlöf, G. Iowa City, unit manager, and Robert Irwin, G. Iowa City, technical director.

Lecture, Choral To Open Series At Iowa Union

A lecture by a noted Washington columnist on Monday and a concert by the famous Robert Shaw choral Oct. 22 will be the opening features of the 1952-53 lecture-concert series at the Iowa Memorial union at SUI.

According to Earl E. Harper, director of the Iowa Union, columnist Marquis Childs will speak Monday at 8 p.m., and John Mason Brown, author, lecturer and literary critic, will appear Oct. 27. Norman Thomas, long-time Socialist party candidate for the presidency, and William McGovern, professor of political science at Northwestern university, will debate Nov. 19.

Arthur Schlesinger Jr., professor of history at Harvard university, will lecture March 18. An additional lecture is being planned to complete the series, Harper says.

Pangborn Elected YMCA Chairman

Cyrus R. Pangborn, instructor in the school of religion, has been elected chairman of the YMCA board of directors.

Other new officers are: Prof. Ralph Greenlaw, department of history, vice-chairman, and Dean Kenny, A4, Ridgewood, N.J., secretary.

Iowa City men on the board of directors are Elbert Beaver, Alva Oathout, Joseph Shaaf, Merton Spicer, and Marion Miller. The Rev. Robert Sanks represents the local churches.

SUI personnel on the board were listed in Friday's Daily Iowan.

Walter McMahon, newly elected executive secretary of the YMCA, said Friday that he will devote equal effort to city and student "Y" work. He said a major project for the coming year is an expansion of boy's activities in the community, and especially in the local schools.

Harvest Hop Opens SUI Social Season

SUI STUDENTS HAD THEIR FIRST BIG FLING OF THE YEAR dancing to the music of Vance Dixon at "Harvest Hop" Friday night at the Iowa Union. However, dancing wasn't the only thing on the entertainment agenda. A skit showing how a student changes when confronted with different phases of university life was put on by a cast of 25 students. The Quad quartet provided background music.

World News Briefs

A Condensation of Late Developments

SEOUL (SATURDAY) (AP)— Newly-reinforced U.S. jet fighters swarmed over North Korea Friday, shooting down three Communist MIGs and damaging four more, the air force reported. Dogfights raged near the Manchurian frontier even as U.S. Air Secretary Thomas K. Finletter Jr., declared in Tokyo that overall jet production in the U.S. "has caught up with Russian production." Finletter gave no figures, for security reasons. The beefed-up Allied air arm, he told newsmen, could step up the air war "on very short notice" and "handle any threat" from Red planes based in Manchuria.

OSLO, NORWAY (AP)— The Nobel peace prize of $33,000 in cash and tremendous prestige will not be awarded in 1952. This was announced Friday by the Nobel committee of the Norwegian parliament. It was the 11th time the peace prize had not been awarded since the first winner was named in 1901. No reason was given for failure to make a selection.

ROME (SATURDAY) (AP) — Catholic Italy lifted a police ban against the Protestant Church of Christ today after American diplomatic intervention. It was announced that services will be held in all 22 Italian Churches of Christ next Sunday, including three where police had prevented services by force. The Italian retreat came after a storm of protest in the United States, particularly in the southwest, and two weeks of busy diplomatic activity in Rome and in Washington.

Elevator Strike In Chicago Hits 133 Buildings

CHICAGO (AP) — Federal mediators intervened Thursday as AFL elevator operators extended their strike to a dozen more buildings. The strike, which started early Wednesday, has halted service in 121 office buildings housing a half million office workers.

Upper floors of the city's skyscrapers remained dark as thousands of workers stayed home, unwilling to make the long stairway climb. Transportation and power companies and restaurants reported a drop in business because of the strike.

Federal mediators held an afternoon meeting with representatives of the elevator operators and starters union and the building managers association in an effort to end the wage dispute.

The union threw picket lines around 12 more buildings, including the Wrigley building, the Palmolive building and the Furniture Mart on the near north side. Martin J. Dwyer, president of the striking local, said 12 new buildings were on the original list of 121 buildings to be struck. These buildings are members of the association.

The strike has not affected service in government buildings, hospitals, hotels or clubs. The Elevator Operators union is seeking a cut in the 48 hours work week to 40 hours and an unspecified pay boost. The old weekly rate was $76.96 for operators and $83.46 for starters.

Authorities Believe Ignited Gas Caused Nevada Explosion

NEVADA (AP) — State officials Friday were investigating an explosion and fire at the Siesta Motel here which claimed the lives of a woman and her daughter.

State Fire Marshal Zack Cook and his deputy, Charles Cornett, said after a preliminary examination of the site of the fire that an accumulation of gas in one of the cabins may have caused the blast. Mrs. Edward N. Karolewicz, 42, and her daughter, Mary Ellen, 5, were killed in the explosion and fire Thursday night.

Four other persons were injured. They were the dead woman's husband, who was reported in fair condition at a county hospital where he underwent surgery; Mrs. Cecil Flack, 35, wife of the motel owner; and her two children, Ted McMurray, 13, and Sharon McMurray, 11. Karolewicz is a district superintendent for Gulfport Oil company at Cucuta, Colombia, South America.

Ten of the cabin units at the motel were burned in the fire after the blast scattered blazing debris over a 100-yard area. The explosion shattered windows in a service station across the street and shook houses as much as eight blocks away. Local volunteer firemen were joined by the Ames fire department in battling the flames.

Authorities said that if the fire had occurred later in the night, greater loss of life might have resulted because there might have been more people staying in the cabins. Five persons living at the motel escaped injury.

Letters to the Editor

Readers are invited to express opinions in letters to the Editor. All letters must include handwritten signatures and addresses — typewritten signatures are not acceptable. Letters become the property of The Daily Iowan. The Iowan reserves the right to shorten, select representative letters when many on the same subject are received, or withhold letters. Contributors are limited to not more than two letters in any 30-day period, and should limit their letters to 500 words or less. Opinions expressed do not necessarily represent those of The Daily Iowan.

The question of the hour seems to be: will America be made more secure by a Republican administration, or a new Democratic administration under Stevenson?

At any rate, the Republicans are taking no chances. They are determined to capitalize on current uneasiness and uncertainty, due to the Communist threat and the high cost of living.

They are resorting more and more to an emotional appeal, rather than one based on reason and a comprehensive, factual handling of the issues. Nevertheless, as an outgrowth of the moral "crusade" launched by Eisenhower, an historical movement of great importance may have been started with a tremendous impact on our national life. Ike's attempt to restore "woodshed honesty" and biblical morality to social and political consequence could very well be the transfusion and revitalization which the western world needs, and the democratic genesis which the Communists will eventually realize can not be extracted from human life.

But tragically and ironically, Ike's moral crusade is taking on a Jekyll and Hyde demeanor (or "misdemeanor"). The paradox is the dual effect of his campaign effort. By becoming the GOP head he has been a shot-in-the-arm to two political interests: those in the GOP and elsewhere desiring a more honest and responsible government and those seeking power to promote their own selfish interests.

Consequently, the situations are fraught with danger. The danger is that Ike will win the election but lose his moral crusade and leadership potential (which it appears he has already) to the greedy and the narrow-minded but powerful interests (the benefactors from the legislative power of such men as Taft, McCarthy, Nixon, and Kem).

That is why the more politically mature in this country, unfortunately a distinct minority, are urging the election of Stevenson. John W. Sherer, A4 523 West Benton

Interpreting the News —

Stalin Appears Apologetic for Red Economy

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Stalin, in his new discussion of economics, seems to be appearing in an extremely odd role — as an apologist for the Soviet economic system. He in effect announces that the law of supply and demand still operates in Communist Russia. It is simply "controlled" under Soviet-planned economy.

Stalin lectured Soviet and world Communists in a 25,000-word article in Bolshhevik, the top Moscow theoretical journal.

On the international side, he seemed to be saying the Soviet Union intends to play a waiting game just short of a hot war, while gearing itself for eventual economic onslaught against the West.

The foreign affairs theme was that time was on the side of the Soviet Union and world communism; that the USSR — and under its prodding the satellite nations — would build furiously the Red world's economic potential; that the USSR hoped to avoid all-out world war while directing a wearing-down process against the West.

This part of his article looks like a kickoff of the new Kremlin program for world Communism — a giant peace offensive looking toward economic attack on the West in a matter of a few years.

The full meaning of Stalin's words probably will not register for some time to come, until Pravda and other Soviet propaganda organs expound on them. But the statement was advertised in advance as an important one on economics. Obviously it has a tremendous bearing on the all-Union Communist Party Congress convening Sunday in Moscow. Possibly there will be a shift in Soviet domestic policy, so far as economics is concerned.

Canadian Police Use Tear Gas to Quell Revolt by Prisoners

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — A 2½ hour riot by nearly 100 convicts in Okalla prison at suburban Burnaby was quelled Thursday with tear gas and fire hoses without injury to two guards who had been seized as hostages.

Barred from the prison, reporters had a ringside seat on a hillside above the walls. A fireman who came out the main gate at 2 p.m., told the reporters, "It's all over."

Reportedly unhappy with the prison's three-to-a-cell living conditions, about 90 of Okalla's 800 prisoners rioted at 11:30 a.m. Screaming and cursing, they defied guards, firemen and the Royal Canadian mounted police. They broke windows and hurled furniture into the prison yard.

The two hostages were in the cell block when the riot began with a barricade of the doors.

When the prisoners refused to heed the warden's appeal, the police moved in with tear gas and fire hoses. The prison quieted and observers on the hillside could hear a voice, probably that of the warden, urging the rioters to give up. Then a prisoner dropped a large bunch of keys from a window.

Police and prison guards went into the cell block, found the two hostages unharmed and rounded up the rioters without incident.

City Group Backs Utilities Commission

DES MOINES (AP) — A state commission which would have authority over privately-owned public utilities only Thursday won support of the League of Iowa Municipalities.

After more than an hour's argument at its closing convention session, the league voted 20 to 9 for a resolution approving this type of public utilities commission. The resolution, drawn by a committee of 11 representing cities, large towns and small towns, specifically asked that municipally-owned utilities be exempted from commission control.

Vote Could Be Taken But it added that any town or city, could by vote of the people ask to have its utilities placed under commission jurisdiction. Councilman A. B. Chambers, Des Moines, was elected president of the league, succeeding Councilman Leo P. Beck, Odebolt, who became a trustee. Mayor L. A. Touche, Waterloo, was named vice president. Max Conrad, Burlington, was re-elected executive secretary.

Without the exemption for municipal utilities, it appeared that the league might have reversed its 1951 stand endorsing a state utilities commission. That stand was taken a few months after Gov. William S. Beardsley had appointed a nine-member committee to study the desirability of creating such an agency in Iowa.

Meanwhile opposition had been developing in many towns and cities with municipally-owned electric power and water plants. At a small towns sectional meeting of the league Wednesday there was an 18 to 15 vote against a commission, even though municipal utilities would be exempted from its control.

Unit Rule in Force Thursday's action supporting a commission was according to the league's unit rule with each city or town having only one vote.

The resolution adopted by the league referred to the study committee as "nine competent, earnest and capable men in whose judgment we have implicit confidence."

The resolution also recommended that the commission shall not have an authority which "would circumvent the intent and meaning of what is known as the Iowa Simmer law — a statute which permits municipalities to establish, purchase and own utilities."

Leads Floor Fight City Solicitor T. H. Nelson, Dubuque, led the floor fight against the resolution. He said the fact that 46 other states (only Iowa and Texas are excluded) have utilities commissions was no argument in favor of one in Iowa. Dubuque has a municipal water plant

Iowans Pay Record In Federal Taxes Of $522,272,257

DES MOINES (AP) — Iowans paid a record breaking $522,272,257 in federal taxes during the fiscal year ended June 30.

This was disclosed Thursday in a report issued by Assistant Internal Revenue Collector Frank Halpin who said it was the largest tax yield ever collected in this state.

The total was $84,628,540 more than the amount paid in the previous fiscal year ended June 30, 1951.

A breakdown of the 1952 figure shows the following collections: Withholding and social security taxes, $175,398,212; other individual income taxes, $171,257,644; corporation and excess profits taxes, $135,445,684; miscellaneous including liquor, beer and liquor stamps, $2,175,809.

Other revenue included: manufacturers' excise taxes, $10,524,889; retail excise tax, $5,297,856; admission taxes, $5,517,726; estate taxes, $7,079,922; gift taxes, $3,260,823; federal unemployment taxes, $2,217,982.

From Jan. 1 through Sept. 25 this year tax refunds totaling $24,235,884 were made to 398,313 Iowa taxpayers.

2 GET SENTENCES

MT. AYR (AP) — Two men who pleaded guilty to charges of breaking and entering were sentenced to 10 year terms in the Iowa Men's Reformatory at Anamosa. Donald Clayton, 27, pleaded guilty to seven counts and Richard Myers, 17, to four. District Judge Charles J. Lewis imposed the sentences.

SUI Newcomer's Club to Meet Monday

A tea sponsored by the SUI Newcomer's Club will be held Monday at 2 p.m. at the home of SUI President and Mrs. Virgil Hancher.

Dr. Wm. J. Peterson, associate professor of history, will address the group on "Looking Backward on Hawkeye Land." Mrs. Frank Itzin will explain Iowa City activities.

Pouring will be Mrs. Harvey H. Davis, Mrs. Ralph E. Ellsworth, Mrs. Robert R. Featherstone and Mrs. Ralph H. Ojeman.

Those serving on the committee are: Mrs. Roy Arrowood, chairman; Mrs. Ned F. Wilbur, Mrs. John D. Potter, Mrs. Dores R. Garner, Mrs. Ren G. Saxton, Mrs. Thomas W. Alles, and Mrs. Kenneth S. McEwen.

The club's object at the university is to welcome the new faculty wives and to give them an opportunity to get acquainted.

The executive committee for 1952-53 includes: Mrs. Boyd R. McCandless, president; Mrs. Frank Itzin, vice-president; Mrs. Howard Dawson, secretary; Mrs. Donald Johnson, treasurer; Mrs. R. T. Sanderson, advisor; Mrs. James Hurson, Mrs. John A. Martire, Mrs. C. Richard Murray, membership; Mrs. Reese Joiner, tea; Mrs. Miles Skultety, bridge; and Mrs. James A. Van Allen, publicity.

Tweed Shawls Will Replace Stoles

Have the courage to be different. Draw attention as you walk into a room and hold it with one wonderful accessory that makes you stand out.

The trick is to pick the right accessory for you. This year there is news in all categories — bags, belts, scarves, jewelry, and shoes — all sure-fire attention-getters.

This year you'll be wearing shawls, new shoulder scenery that appears with as many costumes as might formerly have had a stole. Big triangles of tweed fringed deeply and anchored with a giant safety pin, are one example.

With everything, from the most casual separates to the sleekest after-five dress, you'll be wearing cuffs of gold — big gold bracelets, to weigh down an arm or to wear two on one wrist, single cuff on the other.

More spot news: longer gloves, wherever you find a bare wrist and still longer ones when the sleeves are short.

The fur muff and the fur ruff are news in monkey or burunduki or black or white fox. The ruff scarf — simply a tube of fabric, one end tucked into the other — frames any of the new stand-away necklines.

Since this is the season of the high-necked daytime dress, the bare-throated evening dress, and the stand-away neckline, you'll be wearing bibs, of gold or simulated jewels.

Perhaps you will wear a pair of pins — one on your jacket, one on your blouse. Or one on your hat and one on your dress. Again, the idea is to make a focal point of your accessory.

The fashion of the sculptural belt is established. It's shaped to the body, and may rise to three inches above the waist or drop to three inches below it, good connection between your sweater and skirt.

And with the new pared-down separates, a torso blouse, say, and a string-bean skirt, you could wear a hip bracelet.

You won't forget it once you see it; it's worn low, below the waistline, encircling the hips.

Both night and day, on campus or off, big bags are good. The best ones for dressy wear come in long packages instead of boxes.

Profile Preview Model

PROFILE PREVIEW MODEL, JoAnn Hagen, A1, Cedar Rapids, will wear this blue faille cocktail dress in the show Oct. 16. The dress can be topped with a matching jacket. Other models who will appear in Profile Preview will be pictured in The Daily Iowan on alternate days throughout next week.

Music Study Club to Give Guest Tea Tuesday

The Music Study club will hold a guest tea Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Virgil M. Hancher.

Tea will be served by the social committee with Mrs. Lloyd Howell in charge.

Piano music will be provided by John Simms.

Mr. Simms will do a program including: "Sonata in D Major" by Mozart, "C Minor Theme and Variations" by Beethoven and

"Sonata in B Minor" by Chopin. President of the club is Mrs. Gerald W. Buxton.

D. U. WIVES

The Delta Upsilon Wives' and Mothers' club will hold its first fall meeting Tuesday, Oct. 7, at 7:45 p.m. at the Delta Upsilon fraternity house. Those members who haven't yet been notified are invited to attend.

Community Chest Chairman Appointed

Mrs. Whitney Foster, 419 Magowan ave., has been appointed chairman of the residential division of the Iowa City Community Chest drive, Robert Ray, general campaign chairman, announced Friday.

The annual drive to raise funds for eight local health and welfare services will begin Oct. 29. A goal of $5,040 has been set as the residential division's share of the total 1953 goal of $35,240.

Mrs. Foster said Friday that the city will be divided into nine or more areas and that captains will be appointed to have charge of the drive in each of these areas. The captains will appoint solicitors to contact every resident in her area.

"The real goal of our part of the drive will be to see that everyone in the community has an opportunity to give to the Community Chest," Mrs. Foster said. "Everyone in the community benefits from the Red Feather services; everyone who can should be asked to help support them."

The agencies that receive support from the Community Chest are: Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Visiting Nurse association, United Defense Fund, Salvation Army, city comfort station, children's milk fund and Travelers Aid.

Fewer Men

New Ratio at SUI — 2.34 to 1

By SHIRLEY MILLER

Ratio of two men to every woman student on the SUI campus is the lowest in some years. Some students blame it on the dragging Korean war, others on the fact that most veterans have graduated.

During freshman orientation and registration, rumor was that there were three girls to every man on campus.

This was cleared up, however, when the estimated enrollment figures were released Wednesday. Of the students enrolled, there were about 4,976 men and only 2,127 women.

These aren't the final figures, but most girls are feeling reasonably safe, with 2.34 men for each of them.

Students have given various opinions on the present ratio. Some of them are as follows.

Cherie Walkup, A3, Perry: "The situation gets worse every year — only 2 boys to 1 girl this year. I don't know what the girls are going to do if this continues."

Bill Finnerty, A2, Keokuk: "I suppose it's advantageous for the girls interested in boys."

Jan Keeline, C4, Council Bluffs: "I suggest the gals transfer to Ames — the ratio is 5 to 1 there."

Dave Miller, G, The Plains, Ohio: "It's better than it was."

Martha Erickson, A2, Viola, Ill.: "I already have my man so I don't give a darn."

Tom Cousins, G, Griswold: "That leaves plenty of room for us married men."

Catherine Smith, A3, Waterloo: "After 2 years at Iowa State Teachers, I should complain?"

Hawks, Hoosiers Clash Today

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. — Iowa's 24th football game with Indiana Saturday may dirty up fewer uniforms than any other Big Ten contest this season since both teams are so short-handed this year.

Iowa, 26-14 loser to Pittsburgh last Saturday, used linemen Don Chelf, Ed Lindsey, John Hall and Bill Fenton, along with quarterback-safety Burt Britzmann, practically the entire game.

In its 33-13 loss at Ohio State, Indiana got both offensive and defensive usage out of fullback Gene Gedman, ends Paul Kobulnick and Nate Borden, and tackles Ed Roth, Harry Jagielski and Pete Russo.

Didn't Meet Last Year

The teams didn't meet last year. Iowa leads the series, 10 victories to nine, with four ties.

This series is one of the closest in the Big Ten record books. There have been such scores as 3-0, 6-0, 7-0, 7-6, 14-13 and 32-29. Today's game could follow that same pattern.

The game is likely to decide the cellar occupant of the conference for 1952. Both squads are slated to be underdogs in their remaining league games. Iowa edged the Hoosiers out of the dubious distinction last season.

The Iowa squad, 40 strong, left Iowa City by train Friday morning to keep the date with the Hoosiers, and were to arrive in

Probable Lineups

Stearnes (170)	RH	Ellis (170)
Bennett (190)	FB	Gedman (191)

Indianapolis Friday evening. They will make the 55 mile trip to the site of the game by bus late this morning.

Tie for 3 Quarters

The Hoosiers fell victim to Ohio State after holding a 13-13 tie at the end of the three periods. Iowa lost to Pittsburgh, 26-14, after leading 14-13, with only a minute remaining in the third quarter.

The Hoosiers played a total of only 30 men against Ohio State, with one being used only for punting and five others appearing only briefly. Iowa used only 29 men at Pittsburgh, two of them used only for conversion attempts and three others playing very briefly.

Indiana actually is better fixed than Iowa, for the Hoosiers will have 23 lettermen from past seasons on hand today compared to the 15 on the Hawkeye side. And three of these Hawks are due for only limited action because of injuries.

Houg to Start

Andy Houg, out of last week's game because of a separated shoulder, was listed as a starter in a surprise move by Iowa's Evanshewski.

Iowa, which had great defensive weaknesses in its loss to Pitt, has good reason to fear the Indiana offense. In southpaw passer Lou D'Achille and fullback Pat Gedman, the Hoosiers have two of the best backs in the conference.

D'Achille ruined Iowa at Bloomington two years ago when he led his mates to a 20-7 victory just after the Hawks had flattened Southern Cal on the coast. His understudy, Dick Ashburner, is also a fine passer and had beaten D'Achille out of a starting spot late last year. Much will be heard from him Saturday, also.

Gedman, rated the finest back on the field in the Ohio State game, does everything for the Hoosiers. He catches passes, returns kickoffs and punts and carries the ball well and often.

Indiana's outstanding linemen are probably tackle Sam Talarico, a 207-pound senior, and Benny Fiorito, a 188-pound guard.

Yogi Shoulders Blame, But — Roe Says, 'Glad Berra Didn't Get to Bat Again'

NEW YORK (AP) — The lean coonhunter from Ash Flat, Ark., was eating high on the hog Friday. "But I'm sure glad I didn't have to face that Yogi Berra another time around," Elwin Preacher, Yogi's manager, said in the dressing room, for the pitch that escaped him in the ninth inning and allowed two potent Dodger runs to score in the third World Series game.

"I did it myself, it's my fault," said Berra, in a barely audible voice. Manager Casey Stengel had suggested that pitcher Tom Gorman might have thrown a pitch Berra was not expecting, but the stocky Yankee catcher refused to pass the buck.

'I Gave Him Homer' "Two of the hits Yogi earned but that home run I gave to him free," Preacher, now a resident of White Plains, Mo., added. "I fed him a high inside ball just where he likes it and boom—there it went. I shoulda known better."

The Preach also fed a home run delivery to pinch-hitter Johnny Mize in the ninth, but he didn't alibi that one either.

'Hit Low Fast Ball' "Johnny hit a low fast ball. I knew when I let go it was out of the park," Roe said.

Somebody asked the 34-year-old veteran southpaw if Mize's home run surprised him.

"Naw," drawled the Arkansas. "He's hit some others like that." Mize had poled 355 homers in regular season play during his major league career.

Didn't Have Stuff The slender, anguist Roe said he didn't have the stuff he showed in 1949 when he beat the Yankees' Vic Raschi, 1-0, in the second game of the series.

"I couldn't do anything with my curve, so I had to use my slider," he said.

What proved to be the two winning runs came in the top of the ninth after successive singles by Peewee Reese and Jackie Robinson.

Reese and Robinson pulled a double steal to take third and second, respectively, then scored when Berra let one of Tom Gorman's pitches get away from him.

"Reese signalled me from second that he wanted to make the move," Manager Charley Dressen said.

Dressen surprised none of the Brooklyn followers when he announced he would send Joe Black, his rookie relief ace, to the mound tomorrow in the fourth game, with two days' rest.

"We believe in getting there fustest with the biggest, if possible," Dressen said. "Black is strong and willing. We feel we can win with him again and then come back with Carl Erskine."

Berra Joins Star Catchers On 'Goat' List

NEW YORK (AP) — Yogi Berra, Yankee catcher, Friday joined an illustrious group of catchers who have become World Series goats.

Berra failed to chase a Tom Gorman pitch that hit his left forefinger and rolled 75 feet toward the stands. While Berra stood still both Peewee Reese and Jackie Robinson scored the runs that gave Brooklyn a 5 to 3 victory over the Yankees. The incident happened in the ninth inning.

In the sixth inning of the first game in the 1943 World Series, a Max Lanier wild pitch escaped Walker Cooper of the St. Louis Cardinals. Cooper turned the wrong way in hunting the ball and Frank Crosetti raced home from second with what turned out to be the winning run for the New York Yankees.

Ernie Lombardi, huge Cincinnati Red catcher, grabbed the headlines in 1939 when he took his famous sleeping beauty snooze near home plate after being stunned in a collision with Charley "King Kong" Keller in the tenth inning of the fourth game. Although the ball was near him, Lombardi made no move to tag Joe DiMaggio as he stormed across the plate to help give the Yankees a 7 to 4 victory.

Most famous of all the catching incidents, however, was the third strike missed by Mickey Owen of the Dodgers, on Tommy Henrich, and with the Dodgers only that one out from victory. Henrich reached first base safely and the New York Yankees went on from there to score four runs, win the game and ultimately the 1941 series.

Illinois-Wisconsin, Michigan-Stanford Top Grid Schedule

NEW YORK (AP) — College football muscles back into the World Series-dominated sports scene today with an outstanding collection of matches headed by the Illinois-Wisconsin and Michigan-Stanford clashes.

For match-making, the collision of second-ranked Illinois and eighth-ranked Wisconsin at Madison rates top billing. For national spectator interest, Michigan and Stanford comes first.

Michigan State journeys to Portland to take on Oregon State, Notre Dame, ranked 19th, tangles with fifth-ranked Texas at Austin, sixth-ranked Georgia Tech meets Southern Methodist at Dallas.

Army faces seventh-rated Southern California at Los Angeles; fourth-ranked California visits Minnesota at Minneapolis; Pittsburgh treks to Oklahoma, and 12th-ranked Villanova takes on Detroit in the Motor City.

The top game in the south sends 11th-ranked Tennessee against onrushing Duke, at Durham. Purdue and Ohio State, two other contenders for the Big Ten title, meet at Columbus.

Tenth-ranked Kansas entertains surprising Colorado which tied Oklahoma in a Big Seven contest at Lawrence.

Other major games on today's card include Boston U. at Aquette, Vanderbilt at Northwestern, Iowa at Indiana, Iowa State at Nebraska, Missouri at Kansas State.

Play Starts Today In Klotz' Tennis Meet; 60 Entrants

The total number of entrants in the university-sponsored October tennis tournaments which start today will probably total over 100, tennis coach Don Klotz said late Friday.

That includes about 60 individuals in singles and doubles competition.

Singles play starts this morning at 10 a.m. on the Iowa varsity courts north of the field house.

There will be trophies for the champions and medals for runners-up in each of the six divisions.

According to Klotz, junior entries have been received from many of the top-ranked midwestern players. Dave Healy, Rochester, Minn., rated first among the boys in the Northwest association, will be present, as will Jim Hohn and Julian Bruening of Rockford, Ill.

Karl Wickstrom of Rock Island, the Quad-City champ, will be on the courts along with Joe Martin, Keokuk; Don Middlebrook, boys' champion from Des Moines; and Iowa City's own top-notch, Art Andrews.

Among the many junior girls scheduled to compete are seasoned veterans Suzy and Mary Margaret Hamilton of Cedar Falls.

Blues Tounce Winfield High; 1st Win of '52

By STAFF WRITER

WINFIELD — University high finally lived up to its coach's expectations by touncing Winfield, 40-6, in an Eastern Iowa Hawkeye conference game here Friday night.

Thursday Bluehawk Coach Don Hartness had said that his team could play good ball if it set its mind to it, and that was proved Friday. The game was U-high's first win this season after having been a power for the past few seasons.

The running of Gardner Van Dyke and Bill Van Kirk, filling in for the injured Bruce Miller, highlighted the winner's offense. Miller had pulled some ligaments in his leg in practice two days ago and saw no action in the game.

Phil Vandecar, a defensive half-back, turned in sharp tackles all evening to keep Winfield in tow.

Opens Scoring Parade

Van Dyke opened the scoring parade on the third play of the game, zig-zagging 43 yards for a Bluehawk touchdown. With three minutes left in the initial quarter, Van Kirk got away for 35 yards and another score. Van Dyke's drop kick made the score 13-0 at the end of the quarter.

In the second quarter, after Winfield had punted from deep in their own territory, U-high scored again. A 29-yard pass from John Price to Ivan Riggle after a 10-yard gain set the scene for a one-yard touchdown plunge by Van Dyke.

Van Dyke drop-kicked the point and the Blues led, 20-0, at half-time.

Van Dyke Goes 50

U-high kicked off to open the second half. Winfield was held for downs and was forced to punt. Van Dyke gathered the kick in on the mid-field stripe and slipped through the entire Winfield defense for a score. His conversion made the score 27-0.

Later in the same quarter Van Dyke climaxed a short drive by the winners with a 10-yard jaunt for six more points. His kick was blocked and the score read U-high 33, Winfield 0, going into the final period.

The Bluehawk substitutes entered the game en masse with about four and one-half minutes remaining.

With three minutes left, tackle Jim Bane picked up a fumble by the hapless Winfield crew and raced 40 yards for the last score by the winners. Alberts ran for the extra point.

In the last minute Winfield finally broke into the touchdown column with a 40-yard run by Bob Widmer. U-high blocked the kick, making the final score 40-6.

Saxton Tips Jones; 32d Win in Row

NEW YORK (AP) — Undeclared Johnny Saxton of Brooklyn used his left hand effectively Friday night to whip Ralph "Tiger" Jones of Yonkers, N.Y., and racked up his 32d consecutive victory.

Saxton, a 3 to 1 choice, won the nationally telecast 10 rounder at St. Nicholas arena by a split decision. Each weighed 150 1/2.

The crowd of 2,617 (gross gate $7,123), which roared for the aggressive underdog all the way, loudly booted the decision.

There were no knockdowns in the brisk battle but the fast-punching Saxton landed the hardest blows.

Berra's Muff Gives Dodgers 5-3 Win; Take Series Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Yogi Berra pulled a horrendous blunder by letting two Brooklyn runs stream home on a passed ball while the dazed catcher stood by in the ninth inning Friday. As a result the Dodgers took the World Series lead, two games to one, with a 5-3 victory over the New York Yankees on Preacher Roe's gritty six-hit pitching.

Berra's glaring error, boosting a 3-2 Dodger lead to 5-2 at the time, became an agonizing nightmare when Johnny Mize delivered a pinch-hit homer in the bottom of the ninth that would have tied the score.

There were men on second and third, as the result of a double steal following back-to-back singles by Peewee Reese and Jackie Robinson, when relief pitcher Tom Gorman threw an inside 2-2 pitch to Andy Pafko.

Rolls to Screen The ball glanced off Berra's left hand and rolled to the screen near the Brooklyn dugout, about 75 feet from the plate.

Berra whirled around and then stopped as the ball rolled to the screen. Reese already was winging across the plate. When the dazed Yogi failed to rush after the ball, Robinson also steamed home.

If Mize had not chosen the last of the ninth for his first World Series home run, Berra's misplay would not have been such a factor, but the Mize blow meant the two runs in the top of the ninth were the decisive ones.

Also Dropped Foul Pop Yogi, who nicked Roe for three hits including an eighth-inning home run, also dropped a high foul pop by Duke Snider in the eighth when Brooklyn scored its third run.

The Preacher Man from Arkansas, was a magnificent figure on the chilly afternoon. Time and again he skirted disaster with the skill of a human fly scaling a skyscraper — and just as dangerously.

But he stuck in there gamely, pitching with his head as much as with his arm. Only in the eighth and ninth when Berra and Mize slammed those home runs did the old Yank power erupt against the cool 34-year-oldster. Most of the time he diverted the Yank punch into fizzling ground balls.

Yanks burned, Brooklyn ripped into its favorite meat—a lefthander. Eddie Lopat, who brought a shiny 3-0 World Series record into the game, was knocked loose in the ninth just before the passed ball incident. He gave up 10 of the 11 Brooklyn hits, all singles except one.

Gorman, a bespectacled rookie from Kansas City, came in with men on first and second and only one out. The Brooks pulled a double steal on him while he pitched to Roy Campanella, setting the stage for the passed ball, that first was scored a wild pitch.

With the Dodgers holding the upper hand, Stengel named Allie Reynolds, 20-8, to work the fourth game today at the stadium.

Dressen Picks Black Manager Charley Dressen picked Joe Black (15-4), the Negro relief ace who bested Reynolds opening day, to try it again.

This was a tingling ball game that kept the 66,698 fans jumping because there were baserunners galore. Only in two innings — the third and seventh — did the Dodgers have no runners. The Yankees were even rougher on Lopat, who retired the side in order only once — the sixth.

For the first time in the series, the Yanks bounced into an early lead, scoring in the second inning when Lopat punched a 3-2 pitch into center field for a run-scoring single following walks to Hank Bauer and Billy Martin. Bauer scored from second on the hit.

Getting Men on Base The Brooks were getting men on base and it was only a matter of time until something gave way. It gave in the third when Carl Furillo, hitless in the first two games, slashed a ground rule double that nipped into the right field seats.

Reese's bunt down the third base line to Lopat was perfectly placed for a single. Eddie came up with the ball, cooked his arm but never let it go because Peewee was across the bag.

Robinson's long fly to Mickey Mantle was deep enough to drive home Furillo and let Reese slide safely into second base. Campanella's line drive to Phil Rizzuto was turned into a rally-killing double play.

Campanella Runs Down Martin

HERE'S CATCHER ROY CAMPANELLA of the Brooklyn Dodgers in one of the season's most exceptional rundown plays. It happened in the fifth inning of Thursday's World Series game at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn as Billy Martin made a dash from second to third base. Campanella had jogged most of the way from home plate toward third base and his throw to Billy Cox (left) at third base easily caught Martin (1) who had singled and gone to second as Hank Bauer was walked. Umpire is Babe Pinelli.

Taft Charges Stevenson Is Left-Wing Man

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Sen. Robert A. Taft Friday night called Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, a representative of left-wingers "if not left-winger himself."

He bitterly attacked the foreign policy of the administration in a prepared speech, and said election of Stevenson would mean "a continuation of the wavering, unstable, pro-Communist philosophy that has almost brought this country to destruction."

Claims Russian Trick

The Ohio senator said it is possible the Russians mouse-trapped the United States into the Korean war by boycotting the United States at the outbreak of hostilities.

It was during the Russian boycott that the United Nations voted to intervene in Korean action that would have been subject to Russian veto.

Sen. Taft chose a dinner meeting of the Ohio Federation of Women's Republican clubs as the scene of his major foreign policy critique. A few blocks away, in Memorial hall, Gov. Adlai Stevenson was making his second speech the day in Ohio.

Attacks Foreign Policy

"Tonight," Taft said, "I want to say something of the foreign policy failures of this administration and point out the tremendous danger we face if we continue in the policy of Mr. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and all his crew — and I am Stevenson is one of them — whose mistakes of judgement, if not worse, have brought this nation into the greatest danger."

Revival of Jazz Hits Campus; 'Philharmonic' Sparked Trend

A reincarnation of the 1920's is underway on the SUI campus with the revival of Dixieland jazz, a type of music first popular in the roaring 20's and lately coming back into favor with collegiate groups all over the country.

Dixieland combos are being organized by members of SUI housing units to play at both informal and professional engagements. The distinguishing trait of these musical groups is that their members play strictly for the love of jazz, as content in a basement jam session as in a private club.

The combos on campus are in much demand for fraternity and sorority dances, as well as for late-night gatherings at the nearest available spot. An informal session is always unrehearsed and spontaneous, the musicians gathering only for the enjoyment of playing.

Jazz Originated in South

Jazz originated in the south, its outstanding trait being the African jungle beat. Dixieland jazz evolved from the music played by marching bands in the south, eventually moving up to Chicago where it caused a musical revolution.

Following the twenties it lost public favor for a period of 10 or 12 years but was revived around 1945, probably because of the public's lack of interest in "be bop".

Some of the top musicians responsible for its revival were George Brunis, Muggsy Spanier, George Whetling, Eddie Condon, and Louis Armstrong, all considered greats in this field.

Professionals Spurred Interest

Dixieland jazz really hit the SUI campus with the 1950 engagement of Jazz At the Philharmonic. Top-notch professionals from the world of jazz traveled to Iowa City to perform at a standing-room-only concert, the success of which demanded their return the next year. These same professionals also were responsible for bringing jazz up to a classical level when they were invited by New York's famed Philharmonic association to perform in solo numbers at Carnegie hall.

Jazz is thought by many to be America's greatest contribution to music. It is definitely recognized as being one of the more important forms of contemporary music, its greatest collectors and connoisseurs being the collegiate groups responsible for its new success.

Typical of the SUI jazz fans is Dick Kaufman, A3, Cedar Rapids, who considers jazz a chief hobby.

Combo Meets Success

Kaufman, who plays the trumpet, has organized a Dixieland combo that has met with unusual success. The members of the combo, which consists of a clarinet, trumpet, trombone, drums, and piano, gathered in Cedar Rapids last Saturday night to play at a session and are looking forward to more engagements in the future.

Caufman says: "Jazz will never leave because it's part of the American way of life."

This statement, which is echoed by music fans from all over the campus, along with the combined sentiments of jazz connoisseurs from all around the world, leaves one with the impression that the age of "flaming youth" and "swooning flappers" might not be as dead as could be supposed.

Ike Spokesman Of 'Old Guard,' Truman Says

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN (AP) — President Truman invaded California in his stop-Eisenhower campaign Friday, firing away at the general as "the spokesman for the Old Guard GOP," and forecasting an end to public power development "if the Republicans succeed in grabbing off the White House and the congress next November."

At stake were California's 32 electoral votes, which Truman captured for himself four years ago and now is fighting, in a war at the whistle stops, to win for Gov. Adlai Stevenson and the Democratic ticket.

After pausing to inspect mighty Shasta dam—which waters the farms and powers industries in the Golden State's Central Valley—Truman declared at Redding that Gov. Dwight D. Eisenhower has removed any doubt that the Republicans would wreck the public power program if they got the chance.

Attacks GOP Platform

"The Republican party platform hints at this intent," Truman said in a prepared speech. "Their candidate for president now has confirmed it and their record in congress bears him out."

This was not Truman's first assault of the day on Eisenhower as a candidate. Earlier, at Klamath Falls, Ore., the President charged that despite his "five-star glitter," Eisenhower abandoned every one of his liberal principles as soon as the political going got rough.

Truman said Eisenhower has surrendered to the "Old Guard" on every issue, from public power to national defense, and he said the power of the "Old Guard" is so great that liberal Republicans are being driven out of the party.

Feels Sorry for Warren

Striking a similar note at Redding, Truman said he felt sorry for "that little band of liberal Republicans"—men like California Gov. Earl Warren and Oregon Gov. Wayne Morse — "who dreamed that the general would become their champion."

They must find it hard, the President said, to listen to what Eisenhower has to say these days. "When the general spoke in Boise, Idaho, a few short weeks ago," he went on, "he left no doubt that he was now the spokesman for the Old Guard GOP."

British Atom Explosion Called 'Greatest Blast'

LONDON (AP) — The explosion of Britain's first atomic weapon was described by British newspapers Friday as the most powerful blast the world has ever known. Some speculated the weapon was a hydrogen bomb.

Whatever the weapon, the orange-red flash and the rise of a ragged Z-shaped cloud in the Monte Bello island proving ground off Australia's west coast had placed Britain alongside the United States and Russia as a major atomic power.

There was no official confirmation that it was in fact the long-sought hydrogen bomb, which theoretically could have a force a thousand times or more greater than the most powerful nuclear fission weapon.

The London Daily Star reported "two of the scientists who saw the blast, Mr. William Mangini of Perth and Mr. V. A. Bailey of Sidney university, said it was possible the weapon was the world's first hydrogen bomb."

Papers stressed reports that there were two almost simultaneous explosions and indicated a belief the first was set off to generate the heat needed to detonate a hydrogen bomb. They noted the atomic cloud, which rose to 12,000 feet, differed in appearance from the mushroom clouds of U.S. bombs.

Prime Minister Churchill jubilantly sent a "well done" message to the British scientists in charge.

The explosion gives Britain a better bargaining position for reopening the exchange of nuclear secrets with the United States begun while Churchill was running the government in World War II. The United States later barred such exchanges with all nations — friendly or otherwise — under the U.S. atomic energy act of 1946.

New Revised Bible Is Sold Out Here

A copy of the New Revised Standard Version of the Bible received by the SUI library is "still to be classified."

The Bible is one of a small shipment received in Iowa City this week.

Iowa City book stores, each of which had a supply of 30 to 35 books, reported an almost immediate sellout Wednesday. Approximately one million first editions of the new Bible were printed.

Two bindings of the Bible were available locally, one costing $10, the other priced at $6.

Des Moines Mother Abandons 5th Child

DES MOINES (AP) — A 24-year-old mother was being questioned by police Friday in connection with the abandonment of her fifth child two days after its birth at Iowa Methodist hospital.

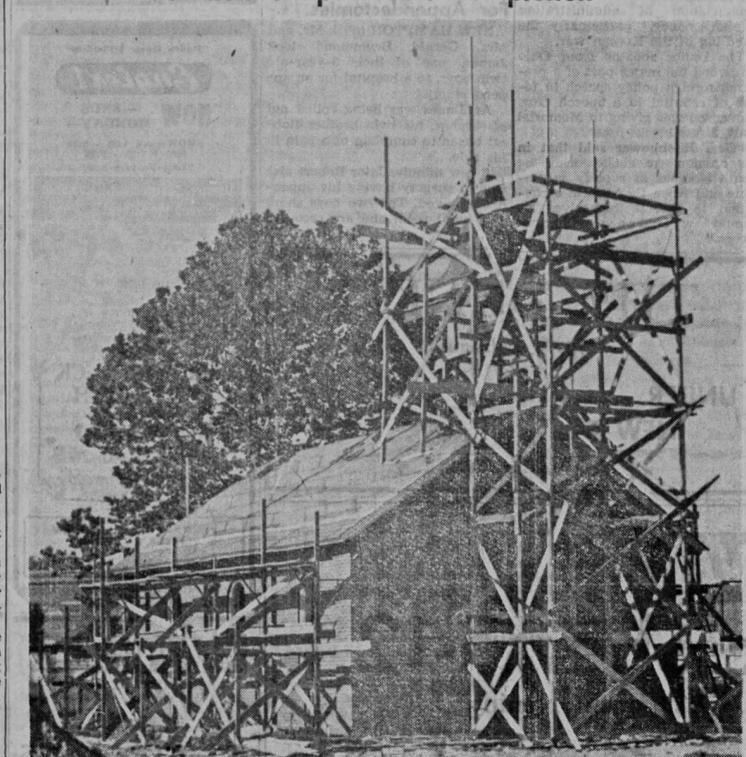

The woman, who said she has four other children living with her parents near Okemo, had her fifth child, a boy, Sept. 24, Detective Chief R. E. O'Brien said.

Two days later, O'Brien said the woman got dressed in her room at the hospital during visiting hours and then walked out of the hospital leaving the new born baby in the nursery.

The chapel will be non-denominational and will be used for student meditation. No formal services will be conducted in the chapel.

$240,000 Taken From Exiled Cubans

FT. WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A black bag containing $240,000 in cash intended to buy munitions for a counter-revolution in Cuba, was taken Friday from two exiled Cubans, the Ft. Worth Star-Telegram said.

Manuel F. Madareaga, 38, who described himself as a Cuban politician, and Candido de la Torre, 49, who identified himself as a former Havana city councilman, admitted they were robbed. They also admitted they do not like Cuba's Fulgencio Batista and had been living in exile in Mexico since Batista returned to power.

But they denied the Star-Telegram's version that they intended to use the money to buy guns and ammunition in an attempt to return former Cuban President Carlos Prío Socarras to power. And they claimed only $8,000 was taken, not $240,000.

At 3:30 a.m. (Iowa time) Friday, they told police, a six-foot man with a submachine gun and a Texas accent forced his way into their rooms, tied Madareaga up with wire, took the money, and fled.

Draft-Exempt Test Applications Ready

Selective service has announced that applications for the college qualification tests to be given Dec. 4 and April 23, 1953, are now available at local draft boards throughout the country.

The test is designed by selective service to determine if students who have applied for exemption from the draft are doing well enough in their work to be worthy of consideration for continued exemption.

Students who intend to take this test on either date should apply at once to the nearest selective service local board for application and a bulletin of information.

Britain Names Top Economist As U.S. Envoy

LONDON (Saturday) (AP) — Sir Roger Makins, a brilliant career diplomat with an American wife, Friday was named the British ambassador to the United States.

Sir Roger, 48, also a topflight economist, is the husband of the former Alice Davis and the brother-in-law of William McClesney Martin Jr., chairman of the U.S. federal reserve board.

Sir Roger and Martin married the daughters of the late Dwight F. Davis, former U.S. secretary of war and donor of the Davis Cup in international tennis.

Sir Roger succeeds scholarly Sir Oliver Franks, who has been ambassador in Washington since 1948.

The appointment underlines the importance with which Britain regards her economic links with the United States.

Sir Roger has long headed the economic affairs department of the foreign office with a rank of deputy undersecretary of state. He is rated as one of the brightest stars in Britain's diplomatic service.

Lady Alice, once a St. Louis, Mo., girl, and Sir Roger run a farm and market garden in Hampshire in their spare time. They have two sons and four daughters.

Patrolman Guards Rare Books

CLYDE C. WALTON, SUI curator of rare books, explains the significance of a rare historical document to state highway patrolman Lt. Clarence Day of Cedar Rapids. The document is one of 121 items from the $100,000 collection of Chicago industrialist Foreman Lebold, who has lent it to the SUI library for exhibition. Lt. Day is one of the guards who will watch the collection day and night. While it is here, the exhibit will be viewed by secondary school students in the area as well as SUI students and professors. The exhibit, on view in the main lobby of the new library, contains historical letters and documents from early American history up to the 1930's.

Hardware Meeting to Open New Continuation Study Center

The opening of a new Continuation Study center on the SUI campus was announced Friday by Pres. Virgil M. Hancher.

To be used in connection with university-sponsored conferences, institutes, workshops and clinics, the Continuation Study center will be housed in the building previously known as the Law Commons.

Launching of the new study center will begin Monday with the opening of a five-day Hardware Retailers short course, sponsored jointly by the university and the Iowa Retail Hardware association. Hardware dealers and employees from throughout Iowa will attend the short course, in which faculty members from the university's college of commerce will join leaders in the retail hardware field in offering lectures covering management, product and sales aspects of the field.

Center Meets Demands
Hancher explained that the Continuation Study center is being established to meet the growing demand in Iowa for university facilities for continuing adult study after college years and for educational service through conferences, clinics, short courses, and workshops.

Noting that more than 10,000 persons attended some 60 workshops and short courses on the SUI campus during the last school year, Hancher pointed out that the continuing study idea is not a new program at the university, but rather it is "an improved way of handling a program upon which we have been engaged, but for which we have lacked adequate facilities."

Improve Educational Service
"We are now in a position to render greatly improved continuing educational service to all those who desire to attend conferences and workshops at the university," he said.

The three-story, three-wing building is located on a bluff overlooking the west bank of the Iowa river. It formerly housed single male law students, but the higher percentage of married professional students attending the university since World War II has lessened the demand for such housing.

Center to House 128
The capacity of the Continuing Study center will be approximately 128 persons, who will be housed in one-, two-, or three-bed rooms. Lounges, meeting rooms and several new classrooms will be available for discussion and study groups. Twenty-five on-campus educational meetings are already scheduled for the center during the present school year.

Plans for the center were developed by a faculty committee, and the building will be operated by the university's dormitory and dining services. Meetings and conferences will be scheduled and arrangements made through the university extension division, as they have been in the past.

Cover Wide Topics
The five-day hardware short course to be held next week will cover such topics as the role of distribution, business law, systems of selling, product knowledge, retail accounting, merchandise selection and buying, taxes, office management, display, personnel, pricing, advertising, credit management, and trade area development. Persons successfully completing the course will receive diplomas certified jointly by Dean Sidney G. Winter of the SUI college of commerce and Arnold L. Johnson, president of the Iowa Retail Hardware association.

Moore Receives Tribute from Military

Meteor Attracts Wide Attention

A meteor which landed Saturday, Oct. 4, somewhere near Yankton, S.D., is attracting more attention than any such object reported this year, Prof. C. C. Wylie, head of the SUI astronomy department, said Friday.

Professor Wylie received an additional 70 letters Friday concerning the "brightest meteor in this area," bringing the total to nearly 400. Among the sighters was Prof. W. E. Ekman, a former student of Professor Wylie's, who now teaches at the University of South Dakota, at Vermillion.

Estimated weight of the meteor when it struck the earth is about 100 pounds, though Professor Wylie believes it weighed more than a ton when it struck the earth's atmosphere.

Professor Wylie said that his department will try to plot the exact location of the meteorite in South Dakota, then farmers of the area will be asked to help search for it. He said the object probably broke into several pieces when it struck the ground.

An SUI staff member may visit the site to check on the location.

Nebraskan Named Press Group Head

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP) — Emil Reutzel, publisher of the Nelligan, Neb., News, Friday was named president of the Iowa-Nebraska Press association.

Reutzel succeeds T. J. Frey, publisher of the Gazette-Reporter, Neola, Ia.

J. C. Moore, publisher of the Winterset, Ia., Madisonian, was named vice-president and John B. Gebbie of the Bellevue, Neb., Press was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

During the day, the weekly newspaper publishers, discussing rising costs in their business, foresaw increases in both advertising and subscription rates as one way out of the squeeze.

Martha-Marie Gehrke, Munich, Germany, a free-lance writer visiting this country under state department sponsorship, addressed the banquet.

Explorer to Speak — Mountaineers to Give 1st Show

The Iowa Mountaineers will sponsor the first in the "A" series of travelogues Sunday at 8 p.m. in Macbride auditorium.

The travelogue is entitled, "To the Arctic by Canoe," and will be presented by W. Emerson Scott, noted explorer. The story is of a four month canoe trip from Saginaw, Mich. to Aklavik and the Beaufort sea, within the Arctic circle.

The original film will be shown depicting the dangers and narrow escapes encountered by Scott and his companion.

Scott and his companion left in April and arrived at their destination in August, 1950. The two covered nearly 5,000 miles by canoe.

A highlight of the film will be pictures of the animals which once roamed the western plains of the United States by the millions.

Admittance to the travelogues is by travelogue membership or by single admission.

The series "A" travelogues require a series "A" travelogue membership. Members may attend series "A" or "B" both by obtaining the appropriate membership.

Membership will be available at the auditorium as well as single admission tickets. Single admission for adults is 80c and for children 12 years of age or under the admission is 50c.
