Student Tuition Payments To Treasurer Begin Today

Tuition fees for all persons whose last names begin with letters from A to F should be paid at the Treasurer's office in University hall from 8 a.m. until noon and from 1 to 5 p.m. today. Student identification cards will be issued at that time.

Newsboys Receive Honor Stamp

DAILY IOWAN NEWSBOYS, JACK LEKIN (left) and Gene Miller examine the commemorative stamp, issued Oct. 4, honoring the nation's newspaper carrier boys. Jack, 11, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Lekin, 30 E. Jefferson st., and attends the sixth grade at St. Mary's school. Gene is the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Miller of 1130 E. Washington st., and is an eighth grade student at Iowa City Junior high school.

Every Daily Iowan newsboy this week received a letter mailed from Philadelphia bearing a three-cent stamp commemorating all American newspaper carriers. Many newsboys throughout the country received the cancelled stamp from their papers through the cooperation of the International Circulation Managers association. The stamp bears the legend, "In recognition of the important service rendered their communities and their nation by America's newspaperboys." The date of issue coincided with Newspaperboy Day of National Newspaper Week.

$82,000 Bond Issue Launched By Councilmen

Iowa City councilmen Monday night launched a proposed $82,000 bond issue to pay for three parking lots already contracted for and in use by the city.

They are the so-called Nall lot on Dubuque st., the Morrison lot on College st., and the Van Meter hotel lot on Iowa avenue.

The public may present their opinions on the bond issue before the council at 2 p.m. Nov. 6. Councilmen also set that time to award bids for the purchase of bonds.

Councilman Ansel Chapman said that sale of the bonds now, at a rate of about 2 1/2 per cent, would save the city money. He said the city will have to pay an interest rate of 5 per cent on the lots, already in use, until they are purchased.

City Manager Peter F. Roan said the city hopes to pave the three lots next spring.

Roan made an appeal to Iowa City property owners who want streets paved during the next year to get their petitions in to the city clerk as soon as possible. He said that it is a six-months process to get paving work started.

The city council will meet at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 20, to consider street paving petitions which have been turned in. Roan told councilmen that this year's paving program is nearly complete. Members decided to inspect the work Oct. 13.

University High Boy To Serve in Hi-Y Model Government

Robert Rehder, a senior at University high school and son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Rehder, 1181 Hotz ave., was chosen lieutenant-governor of the Iowa Hi-Y youth and government program at the Hi-Y conference Saturday at Simpson college, Indianola.

He will serve as presiding officer of the senate at the boy's model legislature in Des Moines, Dec. 5 and 6.

Guest observer at the Indianola meeting was Robert Ballantyne r., A3, Iowa City, retiring honorary state governor. He addressed the conference and took part in the induction ceremonies.

The last youth and government program conference was held when Ballantyne was a senior at University high school.

Other guests at the meeting were Sidney G. Winter Jr., son of Dean and Mrs. Sidney G. Winter; George Ojemann, son of Prof. and Mrs. Ralph Ojemann; Robert Irwin, son of Prof. and Mrs. Louis L. Irwin, and Dean Crawford, advisor to Hi-Y club at University high school.

The Hi-Y youth and government program is sponsored locally by the YMCA board, headed by the Rev. Cyrus Pangborn, instructor in the SUI school of religion.

Nixon Expects Truman Drive To Boomerang

ABOARD NIXON TRAIN (AP)— Sen. Richard M. Nixon, Republican vice-presidential candidate, said Monday that President Truman's attacks on Gen. Eisenhower "will boomerang because the American people love a fighter." He told a Boston audience that the President is engaging in a "mud-slinging, egg throwing" campaign in his efforts to defeat the Republican presidential candidate.

"Early this year," Nixon said, "Mr. Truman said he didn't see why Eisenhower wanted to expose himself to the mud, rotten eggs and rotten tomatoes which were going to be thrown at him."

"It is now clear that was not a prediction — it was a threat." Meanwhile in Sacramento, Calif., the self-styled "truth squad" of three Republican senators blasted President Truman's assertion that the GOP does not understand the Communist menace and declared "just the opposite is true."

They declared the administration's "soft attitude of patience" with regard to communism resulted in the loss of China to the Reds, the outbreak of the Korean war and the giving of atomic secrets to Russia by scientist Klaus Fuchs.

3 Follow President
The three senators, Homer Ferguson of Michigan, Bourke Hickenlooper of Iowa and Francis Case of South Dakota, continued to follow in the wake of the President's whistle-stop campaign special train. They visited here and two other Sacramento Valley towns — Redding and Chico.

They attacked assertions made by the President in his Provo, Utah, talk.

Ex-Envoy Kennan Denies Accusations Made by Russians

BOON, Germany (AP)—George F. Kennan, ousted American ambassador to the Soviet Union, denied Monday remarks attributed to him by the Communist press.

A correspondent of the London Daily Worker had written that Kennan said in Moscow at a celebration of victory in Europe on May 9, 1945 that "they the Russians think the war has ended, but it has only begun."

The allegation that he made the remarks was recently reprinted by the Moscow newspaper Pravda. It cited the quotation in attempting to depict Kennan as "hostile to the Soviet Union."

The Soviet government demanded Kennan's recall last Friday. It said he was no longer welcome there because he had made "slandering attacks" on the Soviet Union.

The Kremlin objected to a statement the ambassador made to newsmen in Berlin Sept. 19. At that time Kennan compared life for Americans in Moscow to that he underwent as a diplomat in a Nazi internment camp.

Kennan was asked about the remarks he was alleged to have made in Moscow in a private interview after refusing to answer questions about his recall at what had been billed as a "press conference."

Truman Rips Ike 'Surrender' To Supporters

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN (AP)— President Truman declared Monday that he does not believe the American people will elect a president a man who would "surrender to Taft, McCarthy, Jenner and Kem."

Truman directed his attack on Dwight D. Eisenhower's senatorial supporters in a train-side talk to a cheering crowd at Helper, Utah.

He referred to Republican Sen. Taft of Ohio, Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin, Sen. Jenner of Indiana and Sen. Kem of his own state of Missouri.

Truman said Helper got its name from the helper engines that pull the trains of the mountains hereabouts.

GOP Needs Helpers
"I think the Republican party needs some helper engines," he said. "It would take a whole roundhouse of helper engines to get the Republicans elected."

"As for their candidate," the President added, "I don't think helper engines will get him out of the trouble he is in." He said the Republicans have a "terrible record."

Earlier in a major address at Provo, Utah, Truman charged that the Republicans have tried and failed to disguise a 20-year record of obstruction and isolationism behind "the shining armor of a national hero" — Gen. Eisenhower.

Has Swallowed Isolationism
Truman, barnstorming on behalf of the Democratic ticket, said Eisenhower has abandoned fine principles and has had to swallow isolationism whole to get the support of GOP Sen. Robert A. Taft.

The President halted his coast-to-coast swing at Provo for an outdoor address in brilliant sunshine, at Brigham Young university, where he also took occasion to defend himself against Republican charges that his has been a "government by cronies."

"That's sheer poppycock — and low politics," Truman told a hill-side audience estimated by Police Chief C. W. Love at 12,000.

$712 Theft Reported By Jewelry Store

Police Monday were investigating the theft of rings and watches valued at $712 from Hands Jewelry store, 109 E. Washington st., early Monday morning.

The jewelry was taken from a window display after access was made by breaking the glass with a screwdriver, police reported. Other merchandise in the window was overlooked.

The exact time of the robbery is not known, but it was thought to be between 3 and 7 a.m., police said. The broken window was first seen by a passerby and reported to police.

The items reported missing include two antique cameo rings, one man's diamond ring and nine watches. The store reported the total value of the merchandise to be $712.

Last 10 Days, Crucial
"The election will not be won until within 10 days of the voting period when the 30 to 35 per cent of the presently undecided voters make up their minds," said Childs.

Earlier election campaigns in the United States carried less international significance. This one is being watched by the whole world because we are emeshed in a net of world responsibility.

Speaking on the Communist threat, Childs said that the main criticism he has against many people in Washington is their inclination to still not realize the seriousness of communism in the world today.

Individuality Assaulted
Communism assaults the individuality of mankind which has required 2000 years to evolve. It is a devastating force to the spiritual and social freedom of the individual and is the most dangerous threat which has permeated this country.

Concluding, Childs remarked, "We will survive this election and the current world crisis as we have survived equally trying circumstances in the past."

4,000 View SUI Historical Display
Some 4,000 Iowans have already visited a $100,000 collection of historical documents, letters and books during their first three days on display in the SUI library, according to Clyde C. Walton, curator of rare books.

The exhibit, which contains 121 pieces from a collection by Foreman Lebold, a Chicago industrialist, opened Oct. 3 and will continue until Oct. 13.

Many of the visitors to the libraries have been children from schools in various sections of Iowa, as well as a large number of adults, Walton says.

Childs Aims Views on Politics

JOURNALIST MARQUIS CHILDS, M.A. '25 SUI, takes a brief rest in the lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union before speaking to a near capacity crowd. Childs made no predictions about the November voting. The first SUI speaker for this year, Childs was introduced by Dr. Earl E. Harper, director of the fall lecture series.

Childs Blames Truman For 'Getting in the Way'

"Truman is just getting in the way with his current whistle-stop campaign," Iowa City newsmen were told Monday night during a brief interview with Marquis Childs, Washington columnist, before he spoke to a crowd of 1,200 in the Iowa Memorial Union.

Childs said Truman's personal attack on presidential nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower is a bad move politically because Ike has long been an esteemed leader among the American people.

Although his speech was aimed at describing issues, not personalities, in the current election campaign, Childs named personal factors which might decide the outcome of the election.

Ike Was Better Known
One factor he mentioned was that Eisenhower was better known previous to the naming of presidential candidates than was Democratic nominee Adlai Stevenson.

He added that both candidates have had and will have problems with extremists within their own parties. The odds are with the Republicans, in Childs' opinion, but quoting a statement made by Leon Henderson after the 1948 election, he said, "The Republicans have a talent for snapping defeat from the jaws of victory."

Marines Withdrew Monday
The marines withdrew from the hill, northwest of Korangpo, near the 38th parallel, Monday afternoon while Allied fighter-bombers pounded it with bombs and jellied gasoline.

The planes struck again and again in an attempt to burn the Chinese out of their hill-top bunkers.

The position was lost last Friday when the Chinese launched a series of hill-grabbing attacks along the extreme western end of the front.

Students Appointed To SUI Radio Staff
Twenty SUI students have been named to the announcing staff at WSUI, Hugh Coons, A4, Carson, the station's chief announcer, reported Monday.

The students will spend the semester in an orientation class, before being promoted to actual duty. They were chosen by auditions.

The new announcers include Dale Buhl, A2, Davenport; Dick Guthrie, A1, Iowa City; James Hesse, G, Rock Island, Ill.; Joseph Howe, A1, Iowa City; Robert Osterling, G, Zelenople, Pa.; James Watt, A2, Davenport, and Alan Easton, A1, Iowa City.

Others are Donald Marine, A2, Muscatine; John Henry, A1, Des Moines; Lawrence Rappaport, A1, Cedar Rapids; Robert Drennen, A2, Ruthven; Bill Quiett, A4, San Diego, Calif.; Kent Braverman, A1, Iowa City; Max Nebel, A3, Wayland; Leslie Mercer, A1, Davenport, and Norman Stien, A1, Bettendorf.

Completing the group are Dan McFarland, A2, Fredericksburg; Jay North, A1, Boone; Jack Travere Jr., A1, Perry and Dean Musgrove, A1, Anamosa.

SUI Student Council To Hold 1st Meeting
The SUI student council will hold its first meeting of the year Wednesday night at 7:30 in Old Capitol, council president Peter Van Metre, L3, Waterloo, announced Monday. He requests that all members be present for the first meeting.

U.S. Is Lukewarm—
UN Assembly to Debate Volunteer Army
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)— A suggestion for recruiting a United Nations volunteer reserve army totaling up to 60,000 men to fight aggression was sent by a committee Monday to the UN assembly for full debate.

It is expected to run into sharp Russian objections and the United States is lukewarm to the project. Ambassador Joao Carlos Muniz, a Brazil, chairman of the 14-member committee on collective measures, said a long report containing this idea has been approved by the committee. No formal vote was taken. The Russians are not on the committee, but they have assailed its work as being contrary to the UN charter.

The United States doesn't like the project first advanced by Secretary-General Trygve Lie for a UN legion of volunteers gathered from any country in the globe. The committee watered this down to a volunteer reserve army. The whole idea is expected eventually to disappear, since there is little enthusiasm for it in the assembly.

The volunteer reserve would be made up of men "willing to serve the principles of the UN." They would be trained in advance on a part-time basis by the armies of their own countries and would be ready to go into action beside an international force gathered by the UN in the event of future aggression.

Meanwhile, in London Lord Montgomery called Monday for a supreme command to shape and run Allied policies in the cold war against Communism.

Soviet Leader Cites Defects In Red System

LONDON (AP)— The broadcast Monday of Georgi M. Malenkov's keynote speech to the 19th All-Union Soviet Communist party congress in Moscow disclosed a wide range of defects in the Soviet economy.

In giving an exhaustive review of these defects, Malenkov, possibly the most powerful of the ruling Kremlin hierarchy after Stalin, plainly informed the Soviet Communists they would bear future responsibility for their correction.

He told them that the United States wields an ever-increasing threat of war over their heads and demanded strict supervision of all phases of Soviet life in an economic drive to raise the Soviet level closer to that of the U. S.

Broadcast Over Radio
The text of Malenkov's keynote address — the address heretofore given by Stalin himself — was broadcast by Moscow radio and monitored here. It took 5 1/2 hours to read. In it Malenkov outlined an economic situation reflecting a considerable amount of confusion and a great many sore spots, such as these, in Malenkov's own words:

Industry: "Primarily there is great waste and unproductive expenditure in industry.

"Defective goods are still being produced. Losses and unproductive in enterprise of the union industry in 1951, for example, amounted to 4.9 billion rubles. The ruble is arbitrarily valued at 25 cents.

Cites Housing Shortage
Housing: "In spite of the big volume of housing construction, we still feel an acute housing shortage everywhere . . ."

Transport and communications: "Inefficient and excessively long railway transportation of goods has not been liquidated. The work of road transport is still badly organized . . ."

Labor productivity: This includes comment on the speed-up or "socialist competition." "Soviet ministries are lax in raising labor productivity in weak sections of their enterprises and are too content with overall averages . . ."

Good Grain Harvest
Collective farms: The grain harvest was reported the best in years. The amalgamation of farms has reduced the number of collectives from 254,000 to 97,000 since Jan. 1, 1950.

The arts: There are serious shortcomings which must be remedied. There are not enough good films. Plays with conflict, yet depicting the "Soviet man" in the proper light, are not forthcoming. There is not enough satire.

On the international scene, as well as on the domestic, Malenkov echoed Stalin's new brochure, published on the eve of the congress.

A Condensation of Late Developments

WASHINGTON (AP)— Combined forces will rehearse the defense of Alaska in exercise "Warm Weather" next month, the defense department announced Monday. The air force will fly about 5,000 paratroopers from Sewart Field, Tenn., to Alaska to take part in the maneuvers, one of the largest designed to test the defenses of the territory. All of the armed forces in Alaska, elements of the tactical and strategic air commands, as well as one regimental combat team of the army's 11th airborne division, will participate.

BERLIN (AP)—East German Communists have pulled out all the stops for a monster Moscow type demonstration Tuesday honoring visiting Nikolai M. Shvernik, president of the Soviet Union. The day marks the third anniversary of the Soviet zone government. Leaders sent out the word for at least a half million persons to throng Marx-Engels Square. The ceremonies actually mark the day, Oct. 7, 1949, when the Provisional People's Chamber enacted a constitution.

CALCUTTA, INDIA (AP)— For the first time, ancient Tibet is to have wheeled traffic, which has been barred for centuries. Chinese Communists, who now run the country, are reported to be constructing carts to be drawn by animals or man to facilitate the distribution of rice and other supplies from Yating to billeted troops in Tibet. The troops reportedly number more than 2,000.

MOSCOW (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was attacked Monday by the 19th Congress of the Soviet Union Communist party as an "imperialist who barks in vain at the Lithuanian people." The attack on the Republican candidate for president of the U.S. was delivered by A. N. Snechuk, secretary-general of the Communist party of the Lithuanian S.S.R., one of the constituent republics of the U.S.S.R.

Chiang Given 50-50 Chance To Hold Island

HONG KONG (AP) — American sources in Taipei are of the opinion that the folks back home may be a little oversold on Chiang Kai-shek's tight little island fortress, Formosa.

A succession of American congressmen, judges and publishers visited Formosa this summer. Almost to a man they gained a quick confidence that the Chinese Nationalist armed forces have grown so powerful that their island stronghold no longer is in any danger of invasion.

Confidence Lacking
U. S. military men who advise, train, equip and live with Chiang's armies express no such confidence. Chiang's troops are stronger, certainly, but if the Chinese Communists threw a major invasion force across the Straits of Formosa, the defenders are not considered better than a 50-50 bet to hold.

The two staunch bulwarks of Formosa today, these Americans say, are the U. S. seventh fleet, which guards it, and the 120 miles of rough water between the island and the Red mainland. It is considered doubtful that the Reds, at their present stage of amphibious training, could get a big force across — even opposed by nothing more than wind and waves.

But if they did, one U. S. officer said, "I wouldn't want to be here." Would Need Aid
Even Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, chief of the U. S. military assistance advisory group will not commit himself, beyond saying the Nationalists will be "reasonably effective so long as they are aided . . . by the U. S. seventh fleet."

American military men on Formosa describe Chiang's ground forces as probably the best drilled in the world. They should be. They have been at it steadily for more than three years now.

These Americans feel, however, that Chiang's forces can go until American equipment arrives in quantity. Nobody expects that this year.

Recommend Combat Training
For this reason, although it has been denied, some American military officials on Formosa have recommended sending two Nationalist ground force divisions, totaling 22,000 men, to Korea for combat training they so badly need. They cannot get it on supply-short Formosa.

Chiang's forces are substantial but lack balance. They have dangerous soft spots. They have done too much marching and not enough shooting.

The best available estimates total the Nationalists at 410,000 overall with the following breakdown:
Short on Ammunition
Army: 280,000 troops of which one-third are non-combat supply personnel. They are well equipped with small arms but short on ammunition, which is mainly of Japanese and British manufacture.

Air force: 80,000 men but only 225 rapidly aging World War II vintage planes, mostly P-51 fighters and C-37 transports. Gasoline supplies are short with the result that American-trained pilots are limited to 30 minutes of flying time each month.

Navy and marines: possibly 50,000 men described by Gen. Chase as showing the best improvement of all Chiang's forces.

Woods Expected to Visit Des Moines
Price Stabilizer Tighe Woods will probably attempt to work in a town hall type of meeting with consumers in Des Moines sometime in November, A. J. Loveland, director of the Iowa office of price stabilization, said Friday.

Woods earlier had tentatively set Oct. 28 as time for a Des Moines appearance. Loveland said consumer meetings planned for Denver and Seattle have also been cancelled. The Iowa director, however, hopes to have Woods in Des Moines at a later date.

Watch for Enemy
It means watching through the gun slits as the enemy emerges from the dusk or mist of the valley below, or comes into the glare of the flares if it is night.

It means firing with machine guns and rifles until you can fire no more. And then it is grenades, bayonets and fists at close quarters against these strange Orientals who laugh or scream in combat.

It means enemy dead in windrows, and your own wounded borne bumping in agony back down the trail.

Hills Take Names
That is just a glimpse at what it is like in what has come to be known as the Battle of the Hills. You know the names, Bunker Hill, Old Baldy, Big Nori, T-Bone Ridge, Capitol Hill, Finger Ridge.

"If you'll allow me to paraphrase — never have so few promised so much to so many!"

SUI School of Social Work Enlarges Training Program

Two state institutions will have the services of five trained social workers this winter, as the result of an expanded field training program announced Monday by Prof. Wayne Vasey, director of the SUI school of social work.

Two graduate students in the school are doing field work this year at the Annie Wittenmyer home in Davenport, one of the two homes for dependent and neglected children who become legal wards of the state.

Three graduate students in social work are taking field training at the Independence mental health institute, one of four such institutes operated by the state board of control.

Work 2 Days
The students spend two days each week at the institutions, working under supervision of a qualified instructor from SUI. They reported for duty at the institutions this week.

"We hope this will be the beginning of a more extensive program of cooperation with the state board of control," Vasey said. "This type of placement, in institutions, offers a kind of experience the students cannot get anywhere else."

At the institutions, the students will conduct group discussions, and hold individual conferences with children, patients and their families.

"The students will try to translate their academic knowledge of human behavior—their classroom work—into the everyday lives of patients and children, and help them apply it to their own lives," Vasey added.

Institutions Would Benefit
Both Dr. Max Witte, superintendent at the Independence institute, and Leon Lyle, superintendent of the Annie Wittenmyer home, commented that the institutions would benefit by the students' presence.

The children's home which houses 300 children has no staff social worker. The Independence institute, which has 1,500 patients, has four social workers on the staff.

Other graduate students in the SUI school of social work are doing weekly field work in county welfare departments and family service agencies, according to Mrs. Lois Sentman, director of field work.

Social work students are assigned to welfare departments in Johnson, Linn and Mahaska counties; to the Family Service League in Waterloo; the Red Cross in Cedar Rapids; the Psychiatric hospital in Iowa City; the Ladies Industrial Relief society (a family agency) in Davenport; to Veterans' hospital in Knoxville and to five Des Moines agencies; Iowa Children's Home society; Des Moines Child Guidance center, and Veterans administration regional office, hospital and mental hygiene clinic.

Hills Became Activity Centers Of Korean War in September

SEOUL (AP) In the cold, impassive language of the communique, "enemy troops attacked two hill positions on the central front and were repulsed by eighth army counterattacks."

That, in the official language, is the "Battle of the Hills," the kind of war it has been in Korea for many a weary week. But it really isn't that way at all. Here is what that battle means:

It means crouching in bunkers while the Reds unleash a hell of artillery and mortar fire in volume heretofore unheard of on the Communist side.

It means watching through the gun slits as the enemy emerges from the dusk or mist of the valley below, or comes into the glare of the flares if it is night.

It means firing with machine guns and rifles until you can fire no more. And then it is grenades, bayonets and fists at close quarters against these strange Orientals who laugh or scream in combat.

It means enemy dead in windrows, and your own wounded borne bumping in agony back down the trail.

It means a glimpse at what it is like in what has come to be known as the Battle of the Hills. You know the names, Bunker Hill, Old Baldy, Big Nori, T-Bone Ridge, Capitol Hill, Finger Ridge.

What is behind this savage killing effort of the Communists to seize the hills? Why do the Reds fire 47,000 rounds of artillery in a single day — ammunition that must be brought up laboriously by human pack and cart?

Behind the front, you get a variety of answers. But one thing allied officers agree on. They see as yet no sign that the enemy is massing anywhere for an offensive.

Interpreting the News — Kennan Ouster Made to Insure Red Isolation

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Soviet Union's demand that U. S. Ambassador George F. Kennan be recalled tends to confirm the impression that the Russians are intent upon as leak-proof isolation as possible while they plot a long-range war of attrition against the United States.

The Kremlin never was very happy over the appointment of Kennan as ambassador. He knew too much about the Russians, spoke the language too fluently, and was too practiced an observer for their taste. Kennan's remarks in Germany about the icy coldness of Soviet-American relations simply provided a handy excuse for the Russians to get rid of him.

Underlines Seriousness
This move dramatically underlines the dead seriousness with which the Soviets are planning their world program. Its plan of operation was made fairly clear a day earlier in Joseph Stalin's 25,000-word brochure, issued for the instruction of Communists at home and abroad.

In that Stalin says capitalism is bound to head into a disastrous crisis. The Communists must be ready for this, he says, and must not let Marxist dogma clutter up the way when the time comes for the "proletariat" to strike.

World communism under Soviet direction is cutting off vast markets one after the other from the capitalist world, Stalin asserts, as "the most important economic consequence of the second world war."

Make Satellites Industrial
Meanwhile, he says, the American-sponsored economic blockade of the Communist nations is forcing those nations into an industrial development and into "economic co-operation and mutual support."

Stalin's words can serve as a warning to the United States. The U. S. is a producing nation. It cannot consume all it produces, and it must sell its products abroad. The Communist plan obviously looks toward gradual throttling of this trade, either by the collapse of non-Communist governments in a piecemeal process or by competition with the United States for the markets these nations offer.

Idleness to Grow
"The number of idle enterprises in capitalist countries would grow," says Stalin. "This is in fact the essence of the deepening general crisis of the world capitalist system, connected with the integration of the world markets themselves, as it would be rather difficult not to feel the loss of such markets as the USSR and China."

And this is also, in essence, the blueprint for Soviet Russia's cold war operation for the next few years to come. Stalin, as he has said before, is willing to wait.

OPS Files Petition Against Iowa Firm
The Iowa office of price stabilization Friday asked $2,837.34 in treble damages from M. Gerwick & Sons, Inc., of Marshalltown as the result of alleged over ceiling sales of lead battery plates.

According to a petition filed late Friday in U. S. federal court in Des Moines, the government says Gerwick sold 55,000 pounds of plates to Goldsmith Brothers Smelting & Refining Co., of Chicago on Oct. 5, 1951.

OPS claims the sale was made at $945.78 above the legal ceiling price, and is asking three times that amount as treble damages.

English Teachers Plan U. of Minnesota Meeting

Midwest college teachers of language and literature — approximately 400 — will meet at the University of Minnesota Oct. 24-25 for their third fall conference.

Sponsored by the university's various language departments, the gathering will bring teachers from six states and one Canadian province to Minneapolis. They will come from North and South Dakota, Iowa, Wisconsin, upper Michigan, Minnesota and Manitoba.

Conference delegates will hear 36 speakers discuss teaching techniques and the place of language and literature studies in the college program. Sessions will cover the teaching of Scandinavian, German, Romance and classical languages, as well as English composition and literature.

English Scholar to Lecture
A leading English scholar, I. A. Richards, now a professor at Harvard university's graduate school of education, will give a public lecture on "Literary Analysis" as a prelude to the conference. Under sponsorship of Minnesota's concerts and lectures department, he will speak at 8 p.m. Oct. 23. The next morning, he will open the meeting with a talk on "What Should We Be Doing?"

Onetime fellow and lecturer at Magdalen college, Cambridge, Richards will also participate in a panel discussion on "The Uses of

TO THE EDITOR:
I lived one year long as foreign student in Iowa City. I just returned (on the SS United States) to my home: Berlin (American Sector). Here I'm talking all day long with friends, professors and students. They ask me: How did you like it in the United States? Today I would like to tell you frankly what are my feelings towards the Americans, especially towards the Iowans.

I have been surprised positively and negatively during my stay in Iowa. I never expected that life would be so personal in the States. I mean, I was surprised when I could visit a professor in Iowa City and talk with him about my studies, the vacations and other non-academic questions. Most times my professors were busy but they nevertheless always had time for their students. We here in Germany don't know this personal contact between students and instructors and we don't know the personal atmosphere in the offices of the administration authorities.

There exists also stronger personal contact between boys and girls in the college of the Corn-state. We here in Berlin make few friendships but, if very long lasting ones. Boys who do everything together, who maintain their friendship for their life-time are not, at all considered as funny, (or abnormal). Our girls have few dates because they don't want to know many boys a little bit but few fellows very good. There exists no "dating around."

I enjoyed the cultural atmosphere of life in Iowa. Europeans often consider the Americans as materialists, as very good economy-managers but not as people with a cultural understanding.

was surprised that this opinion can be turned just around. We Europeans study most times one study-field with professional interest and we try to finish our studies as fast as possible.

The Americans take it easy and sacrifice a fast business-career for a long study-time. (They are 2 to 4 years later through college than we). Another example for this cultural atmosphere is the crowded series of concerts in Iowa City.

I did not find in the 22 states through which I traveled the famous, efficient, American economy. American business life is slow; the customer service operates in a negligent and uninterested way (e.g. storekeeper). It does not happen in Europe (even in destroyed cities) that the schedule of trains is not known exactly by the station (the track-number for arriving trains is only known three minutes before arrival in the Chicago-LaSalle station); it does not happen that mail-orders need weeks and that post office employees are not exactly informed about postal regulations in the U.S. The income of the average American citizen is three-to-four times higher than in Germany but we enjoy better public services (e.g. more solid construction of the utilities).

We were 280 German students on the SS United States and we discussed these impressions during our trip. Some students were more interested in politics, economics and other material questions than in human relations. They brought 10 times more negative experiences home than most of us for whom the impressions of their personal life in the United States were more important than politics, etc. I belong to the latter ones. I have spent the finest study-time which I ever had in Iowa City. The personal atmosphere of life in your community meant very much for me. I made more friends in one year around the Old Capitol than during two and one-half years of university in Germany.

Good-bye,
Konrad Busse

Thankful Grad Gives Fortune To Alma Mater

NEW YORK (AP) — What's the value of a college education?
Frank W. Bailey figures his was worth enough to warrant gifts of $1.5 million to his alma mater in gratitude for a $400 scholarship he received in 1881, "and without which I could not have gone to college."

"If I hadn't I probably would have become a soda jerker in Chatham, N. Y.," says the 87-year-old retired banker and real estate broker, who gave half a million dollars to Union college of Schenectady, N. Y., the other day. He previously had made gifts totaling $1 million to his alma mater.

Graduates Ow Debt
Bailey contends every college graduate owes his alma mater a debt even if he paid his tuition in full.

The tall, scholarly looking benefactor of Union college says that in the average college that charges $600 a year tuition, for instance, it costs the college $500 to $600 more to meet expenses. The graduate should at least repay the college the amount of that difference, he contends.

Practically all colleges, he adds, are having a hard time obtaining and keeping good teachers because of the low pay they have to offer.

Was Doctor's Son
"I was the son of a country doctor in Chatham, N. Y.," Bailey said in an interview in his modestly furnished office on busy 42d street just off Fifth avenue. "He charged very small fees and he never had any money ahead."

When Bailey finished college he thought he wanted to go on to study medicine, but meanwhile got a summer job at $10 a week with the Title Guarantee and Trust Co. in Brooklyn. In the fall he was put on regular status at $12 a week.

"I seemed to develop a knack for the work," he said.

ters against these strange Orientals who laugh or scream in combat.

It means enemy dead in windrows, and your own wounded borne bumping in agony back down the trail.

That is just a glimpse at what it is like in what has come to be known as the Battle of the Hills. You know the names, Bunker Hill, Old Baldy, Big Nori, T-Bone Ridge, Capitol Hill, Finger Ridge.

What is behind this savage killing effort of the Communists to seize the hills? Why do the Reds fire 47,000 rounds of artillery in a single day — ammunition that must be brought up laboriously by human pack and cart?

Behind the front, you get a variety of answers. But one thing allied officers agree on. They see as yet no sign that the enemy is massing anywhere for an offensive.

Called 'Harassing'
Most officers mark down the vicious Battle of the Hills of September as "heavy harassing," the killing kind.

Gen. Mark Clark, United Nations Far East commander, says the relentless Communist assaults do not seem "related to any change in policy" by the Reds. In war, he says, there is "always a fight" for high positions.

In the past four weeks, hills have changed hands as many as six times. Most of them are now in Allied control.

Actions Are Small
By any measure of recent wars, the action on these hills has been relatively small. Communist assaults in September never exceeded a battalion—some 750 men.

Indeed, the maps at eighth army headquarters show that the battle line has not changed materially since armistice delegates negotiated a provisional cease-fire line almost a year ago. Changes in the last 11 months have been minor, perhaps no greater than a half mile at any point.

Interpreting the News — Kennan Ouster Made to Insure Red Isolation

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Soviet Union's demand that U. S. Ambassador George F. Kennan be recalled tends to confirm the impression that the Russians are intent upon as leak-proof isolation as possible while they plot a long-range war of attrition against the United States.

The Kremlin never was very happy over the appointment of Kennan as ambassador. He knew too much about the Russians, spoke the language too fluently, and was too practiced an observer for their taste. Kennan's remarks in Germany about the icy coldness of Soviet-American relations simply provided a handy excuse for the Russians to get rid of him.

10 Clubs to Begin Drive For New Members Today

An open house sponsored by the Women's Recreational association will be held today from 4 to 5 p.m. in the social room of the women's gym. WRA board members will be hostesses.

The object of the open house is to introduce students to the various sports sponsored by WRA. It offers students a chance to join a club and enjoy the sports in which they are interested.

Ten clubs will be open for membership today. They include: basketball, Hick-hawks, tennis, social dancing, hockey, craft club, badminton, Orchestis, softball, and Seals.

Hick-Hawks, the square dance club, will hold its first meeting tonight at 7:30 in the women's gym.

The club is a co-recreational group for all those interested in enjoying square dancing. Meetings will be held on Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 all during the school year.

Tryouts for Seals, the synchronized swimming club, will be held at the women's gymnasium at 7:30 p.m. October 14 and 16. Regular meetings during the school year will be every Tuesday night at the gym.

The annual aqua show given by the Seals is held early each spring. Other activities include a canoe trip and picnic.

Information about other clubs' activities will be available at the open house.

Delta Chi Pledges Elect Officers

Clyde Feltes, A2, Ottumwa, was elected president of the Delta Chi pledge class, it was announced Monday.

Other officers elected by the pledge class are: vice-president, Walt Jacobs, A3, Guttenberg; secretary, Fred Jewett, A1, Council Bluffs; treasurer, John Ziegler, A1, Ottumwa and sergeant at arms, Wendall Freed, A1, Kelly.

New Delta Chi pledges are Don Townsend, A1, Des Moines; Dick Emery, A1, Ottumwa; John Ziegler, A1, Ottumwa, and Clyde Feltes, A2, Ottumwa.

How to avoid crippling deformities. An amazing newly enlarged 44-page book entitled "Rheumatism" will be sent free to anyone who will write for it.

It reveals why drugs and medicines give only temporary relief and fail to remove the causes of the trouble; explains a specialized non-surgical, non-medical treatment which has proven successful for the past 33 years.

You incur no obligation in sending for this instructive book. It may be the means of saving you years of untold misery. Write today to The Ball Clinic, Dept. 1428, Excelsior Springs, Missouri.

Women and the Vote

Study Reveals Ladies Vote Just Like Their Men

NEW YORK (AP) — Never trust a woman around election time.

In spite of all the big talk about "the woman's vote," come election day Mama goes to the polls and casts her ballot the way Papa does.

This sad but true little secret has been uncovered in a social science study conducted by a group of experts led by Dr. Paul Lazarsfeld of Columbia university's bureau of applied social research.

Since 1940 they have been working on a massive project designed to discover the processes leading a voter to choose a candidate.

First Study

The bureau first studied the voting and voters of Erie county, Ohio. Four years later, it studied 2,000 voters on a national basis with the national opinion research center.

In 1948, it studied, in co-operation with the University of Chicago and Cornell, 1,000 Elmira, N. Y., voters.

The study is far from complete, but pure science is on the trail of some tradition-shattering stuff which some day might alter campaigning methods.

Take this business about the woman's vote, the corraling of which is the nervous concern of separate, woman-run departments in both major parties.

Women Different

There is a widely held belief in political circles that arguments satisfactory to the male voter simply don't go down with women. The woman's vote requires something different, something special, preferably something with glamor.

Much of this, the studies and poll-taking indicates, is nonsense. As a matter of cold, statistical fact, when a lady enters a voting booth, the odds are that she's in there voting the same ticket as her husband.

If she hasn't a husband, it's probably the ticket of her father. Or her brother. In social science words, this almost perfect family agreement is called "male dominance in political situations."

An early study showed that only one pair of husbands and wives in 22 disagreed on a candidate, and, in cases of parents and children, only one in 12. Later studies confirmed the sampling.

Women who aren't interested in politics are much more likely to keep away from the polls than their uninterested husbands.

One of Lazarsfeld's studies showed that 99 out of 100 interested women will vote and 98 out of 100 interested men. But where both men and women have little interest, 83 per cent of the men go to the polls — and only 44 per cent of the women.

And another thing—women are much more likely to tell the truth about not voting. A man is apt to say he did vote when he didn't—because he's under more pressures to be considered a good citizen.

and NOW!

Sport-Log

Football Re-Hash—

It's easy to call last Saturday's plays on Monday morning, true, but when one looks back at Iowa's disappointing loss to Indiana which we witnessed at Bloomington, it's not hard to call out the "should-have-dones."

The only consolation in the game to the point-margin—seven. The whole thing is that we picked the key play in the game, of course, was Indiana quarterback Lou D'Achille's long south-paw heave as the first half ended. It was unconsciously completed for a touchdown in the best story-book fashion and broke Iowa noticeably.

Iowa had the ball with only a few seconds remaining in the first quarter but chose to punt the ball instead of run an end sweep, or something similar, to kill the clock. As it was, the punt went out of bounds and the Hoosiers had time for the one desperation play of nearly 70 yards.

Our Hawks rallied to take a 13-7 lead but soon after gaining the advantage, they folded with fatigue and watched fullback Gorman tear their line to shreds in the fourth quarter to lead the way to two touchdowns and a Big Ten victory.

It appears that John Hall, Phil Hayman and Emmett Sawyer are the whole core of Evashevski's defense. When these men tire—as they must playing nearly full time—the whole defense seems to fold. When they finally were relieved they practically staggered to the bench burdened by their dirt-smear, sweat-drenched uniforms.

Iowa was good offensively although several fumbles and missed passes hurt the cause when a gain or continued possession of the ball was most necessary. A lot of credit must be given Dusty Rice, whom we've ignored for several weeks while hoping that a lack of publicity might tend to speed the recovery of his bad leg.

Dusty gave it all he had and could have piled up sizeable yardage, had his mates watched the rules a bit closer. Every time he made a really good gain, the referee would drop his handkerchief to signify one infraction or another.

Actually he ran and cut well, showing bursts of speed reminiscent of the Rice we saw last year as one of the top backs in the nation.

The only problem that arose from Rice's semi-recovery of form is that Jim Milani, the star of the Pitt game, saw so little game time that it is hardly worth mentioning. It's a shame to waste a back with Milani's potential.

Our stirring prediction percentage wasn't exactly improved by the weird results of some of last week's games. Maybe soon we'll have to follow the same method as some of the more outstanding predictors use—throw a few sure things into the pile to offset any losing picks on the toss-ups.

As it was, from picking only the anticipated close game, we ended up with an eight-six mark from last weekend's games. The Northwestern-Vanderbilt tie was tossed out.

Outside of picking the Indiana-Iowa margin to the point, our outcome leaves much to be desired—

WE WERE RIGHT
 Indiana 20, Iowa 13
 Michigan 17, Oregon State 14
 Nebraska 16, Iowa State 0
 Kansas 21, Colorado 12

WE WERE WRONG
 Wisconsin 20, Illinois 6
 Purdue 21, Ohio State 14
 Stanford 14, Michigan 7

TIE GAME
 Northwestern 20, Vanderbilt 20

The rest of the staff that helps out in picking the results, Johnny Meyer and Dick Mau, had 9-5 and 7-7 records, respectively. Just a bad weekend.

2 Injured Boilermakers Return

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Purdue may gain two players and lose one for its opening home game Saturday against Iowa.

Ed Zembel, defensive halfback, and Don Crnic, defensive end, who missed the Ohio State game with knee injuries, were reported about cured Monday.

Tom Redinger, offensive end, was the only Purdue casualty at Columbus. He has a sprained ankle that may bench him for several days.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Indiana's football squad figured it was a little ahead of training schedule Monday, having practiced defenses against Iowa's single wing last week. It goes against Michigan's single wing at Ann Arbor this Saturday.

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Forgetting the usual soft stuff, Coach Ivy Williamson started his Wisconsin football squad off with a heavy practice session Monday.

The Badger offense and defense alike worked on Ohio State maneuvers. After the drill, Wisconsin—rated best in the nation—reviewed movies of its victory against Illinois and got a scouting report on the Buckeyes.

Two tremendous home runs by Duke Snider weren't enough to match the desperate Yanks who fought back to tie the series for the third time.

The seventh and final game will be played at Ebbets field today with the possibility that Reynolds and Joe Black of the Dodgers may meet for a third time. Black was the victor in the first game but Reynolds triumphed in the fourth. Both are right handed throwers.

Berra, Mantle Lead
 Yogi Berra and Mickey Mantle ripped into 22-year-old Billy Loes for homers and Raschi provided the other run with a single that bounced off Loes' left knee and rolled into short right field, scoring Gene Woodling in the two-run seventh.

But Manager Casey Stengel, struggling to keep alive his dreams of a fourth straight world championship, had to call in Reynolds to save the fast-tiring Raschi in the eighth inning.

Snider's second homer of the day and fourth of the series—tying records held by Lou Gehrig and Babe Ruth—slashed the Yank lead to 3-2 in the eighth. After George Shuba rambled a two-out double to the wall in left-center, old Casey brought on his super chief from the bullpen.

Allie Whiffs Campanella
 With the tying run on second and one out, Reynolds worked on Roy Campanella and poured a third strike past his swinging bat.

The Yankee ace, coming back after his brilliant four-hit shutout Saturday, also fanned pinch-hitter Rocky Nelson to start the ninth. Then he weakened momentarily.

Carl Furillo walked on a 3-2 count and Andy Pafko ran it up to 3-1 before he popped to Phil Rizzuto. Reynolds squashed Dodger hopes by making Billy Cox roll to Gil McDougald for the final out.

Homers Set Record
 The homers by Snider, Berra and Mantle brought the series' total to 14, high for any kind of World Series. No telling how many more may sail into Bedford Avenue or the beckoning left field seats in the big seventh game for the jackpot.

Raschi pitched a brilliant game, striking out nine men before he weakened in the eighth and walking only one. With the help of the Chief he received credit for his fifth series win.

Locked in a 0-0 duel with young Loes for five innings, Raschi gave way first when Snider hammered his first pitch of the sixth inning over the right field screen.

The lead was short-lived for Berra led off the Yank seventh by driving a 2-2 pitch over the same right field barrier.

When Woodling followed with a ground single over second base, the pressure was heavy on Loes, the bonus kid, from Astoria, N. Y. Irv Noren worked the count to 1-1. As Loes stretched and looked toward first base, the ball popped out of the webbing of his glove and fell to the ground for an automatic balk.

Reynolds Needed For Relief — Casey Wonders 'Who'll I Use — Lopat, Sain?'

BROOKLYN (AP)—The dignified New York Yankees unbent their little kids Monday after coming from behind to win the sixth game of the World Series and square the count at three games each.

But even in their joy they didn't know who their pitcher would be today against formidable Joe Black of the Dodgers.

"I honestly don't know now who I'll use," Stengel shouted over the hubbub and commotion of the dressing room. "I ain't trying to be mysterious because you know me, I always give my pitchers out three days in advance. Now I don't know."

As for Reynolds, who saved the day for big Vic Raschi, he said simply: "I can always pitch."

He admitted he jerked his back on one pitch to Roy Campanella — "hadn't had enough time to warm up!" — but said it did not pain any more.

Badgers Take No. 1 Place In Grid Poll

NEW YORK (AP)—Wisconsin's poised Badgers, the current favorites to capture the Big Ten crown, took over first place in the Associated Press' Football Poll Monday as the result of their impressive victory over Illinois and Michigan State's tight battle with Oregon State.

The Badgers jumped up from eighth place by whipping Illinois' Rose Bowl champs, 20-6, while Michigan State needed a field goal in the final two seconds to edge Oregon State, 17-14. State, the pre-season pick of the experts to finish the season as the No. 1 team, fell from their first place perch to second.

Illinois, second a week ago, dropped clear out of the top ten to 13th place.

Texas, fifth last week, plunged right out of the top 20 following their 14-3 loss to Notre Dame in Austin. The Fighting Irish, 19th a week ago, jumped to eighth place. Princeton, 61-19 conquerors of Rutgers, advanced from 13th to 14th.

In other shuffles of the leaders, California and Maryland swapped first and fourth places with the Harvard Westerners grabbing the high place. The Golden Bears invaded Minneapolis and blasted the Tophers, 49-13. Maryland whipped Clemson 28-0.

Georgia Tech topped Southern Methodist, 20-7, and moved from sixth to fifth. Duke jumped from tenth to sixth on its sharp 7-0 win over Tennessee.

Seventh place Southern California and ninth-ranked Kansas held the same ratings as a week ago. Southern Cal blanked Army 22-0. Kansas downed Colorado 21-12.

The second ten was made up of: 11, UCLA; 12, Oklahoma; 13, Illinois; 14, Villanova; 15, Virginia; 16, Purdue; 17, Navy; 18, Alabama; 19, Georgia and 20, Penn State.

Ferguson, Wheeler Head 9 Candidates For Cross-Country

Rich Ferguson, member of the 1952 Canadian Olympic track team and Big Ten outdoor two mile champion, and Ted Wheeler, seventh in the National Collegiate cross country title race last fall, are top members of Iowa's cross country team.

A nine-man squad now is working out under the direction of Coach Francis Cretzmeier. First opponent is Marquette at Milwaukee Oct. 11.

Ferguson, who holds the Canadian record for 5,000 meters and has won numerous distance running titles in his native country, was a top runner for Iowa in cross country and track last season.

Hawks Still on Road—This Time at Purdue

Back to the state of Indiana this week goes the Iowa football squad, to play at Purdue's homecoming at Lafayette Saturday.

It is the first time that Hawkeyes have played in that state on successive weekends. A scheduling quirk sends the Hawks to Purdue for the second straight year — and Iowa is booked there in 1953 also.

Several injuries may bother the running of fullback Mel Schmaling.

The game is No. 31 in the long series and the teams have played for 23 straight seasons, ever since 1929 without a break. It even exceeds the Minnesota series for consecutive games.

No. 1 fear of the Iowans will be the forward passing of Samuels whose late pass won the 1946 game. Samuels hit for 14 completions in 25 attempts for 211 yards and two touchdowns. His first TD pass went for 47 yards.

Purdue doubtless recalls the exploits of Rice, who made his conference debut last year in that game. He ran back the opening kickoff 100 yards for a TD, scored on a 55-yard pass play and a 60-yard run. All of this occurred in the first half.

Purdue leads in the series with 17 wins to Iowa's 12 and one game was a tie.

Illinois, second a week ago, dropped clear out of the top ten to 13th place.

Texas, fifth last week, plunged right out of the top 20 following their 14-3 loss to Notre Dame in Austin. The Fighting Irish, 19th a week ago, jumped to eighth place. Princeton, 61-19 conquerors of Rutgers, advanced from 13th to 14th.

Other speakers will be named after the meeting of the general committee.

The mission is sponsored jointly by the National Council of the Churches of Christ and the SUI Student Christian council.

But the Plot Failed

THIS TRACTOR AND WAGON was waiting in front of St. Mary's Catholic church Saturday morning to take bride Marylyn Hurt, 21, Iowa City, and groom Lloyd Hedges, 22, Iowa City, for a ride around the town. But bride and groom, favoring other means of transportation, surprised the crowd by leaving the church through the back door and boarding a taxi. However, bridesmaids (left to right) Carolyn Hurt, Marjorie Langenberg and Pat Mitchell all of Iowa City decided to take the ride in their place. Owner and driver of the tractor was Bob Rogers, R.R.3, Iowa City.

Crandic Application To Be Viewed Again By Commerce Group

Bus service may be installed between Iowa City and Cedar Rapids to supplement the present rail service. The Iowa State Commerce Commission will resume consideration of this possibility Thursday at the request of Crandic, Cedar Rapids and Iowa City Railway Co.

The American Bus company of Lincoln, Neb., which has operated buses through Iowa City and Cedar Rapids for several years is objecting to this plan because it has not been allowed to pick up passengers at intermediate points between the two cities, or to transport persons traveling from one city to the other.

The proposed plan would involve the usage of highway 218 which the American Bus Company has used for years. This company feels that if any concern should have the privilege of picking up passengers at intermediate points, or of transporting them between the cities on this highway, it should be their firm.

Officials of Crandic said the installation of bus service would increase the daily trips between the cities from six to nine.

By voluntary action, this newspaper, its advertisers and you have helped to build a better America

WHEN Uncle Sam needs help, he appeals to you through your newspaper—and you always come through. He's had to do it often in the past 10 years.

That's why The Advertising Council was formed right after Pearl Harbor—to help get a thousand and one things done voluntarily on the home front. Public-spirited business leaders offered their services free. So did advertisers. And, as always, the newspapers were in the forefront. The job was done—and everyone knows how well. By popular demand, the public service campaigns of The Advertising Council were continued after the war. Through newspapers you were told about such peacetime programs as Defense Bonds, Forest Fire Prevention, Register and Vote, Community Chests, Better Schools, American Heritage, Care, Accident Prevention, Blood Donation and many others.

Every day, in many practical, productive ways, newspapers are informing and advising our people on what they should do to preserve and protect their way of life and their heritage of freedom.

The Advertising Council takes the occasion of National Newspaper Week, October 1-8, to salute this achievement as a wonderful example of American teamwork. It is a high tribute to the newspapers and their advertisers, who helped so much to tell you what needed doing. And certainly to you who did it!

Stevenson Closing Campaign With 25-State Wind-Up Tour

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson drives into the windup of his presidential campaign Tuesday with a bid to voters in 25 states with more than two-thirds of the electoral votes at stake on Nov. 4.

The Democratic presidential nominee moves into the campaign finale counting on heavy help from President Harry S. Truman but with party coffers reportedly a bit bare.

Stretching ahead of Stevenson are nearly 15,000 miles of travel, spider-webbing out from his home base here to both coasts and the deep south. The Illinois governor will show up in around 100 cities for minor and major addresses. Eight nation-wide television-radio speeches are on tap, including two of the "fireside chat" variety without studio audiences.

Will Speak on Communism
The tee-off point Tuesday is Michigan, and an address on "the entire subject of communism"—external and internal—is scheduled for Detroit's Masonic Temple and a radio-TV audience. Wilson Wyatt, Stevenson's campaign manager, said "the speech in Detroit will be one of the most important in the campaign."

Both the Democrats and the GOP have agreed on one point—that the communism issue is one of the hottest of the campaign.

Whether Stevenson and Truman will team up in a joint appearance somewhere along the line still is uncertain. There will be a near miss later in the week in Missouri, when President and nominee will visit the state a day apart.

Trying for Contributions
But in the first public pronouncement of the subject from the Stevenson camp, Wyatt told newsmen Monday he believes Truman's "give 'em hell" swing along the whistle stops definitely is helping the Democratic cause.

As for the money supply, Wyatt said "I would be less than frank if I didn't tell you we have no over-confidence" about the state of Democratic finances. But he said the reaction has been extremely good to the idea of Democratic financial Chairman Beardsley Ruml to try for $5 contributions from people who ordinarily aren't asked to chip in.

Stevenson's manager sized up the Democratic campaign as further along toward success at this point than had been expected.

Stevenson 'Talking Sense'
The Illinois governor, Wyatt said, is "talking sense to the American people" as he promised to do from the beginning.

He said he believes there is an increasing conviction now among the people that Eisenhower still is just a great military hero while Stevenson is becoming well known for "character and ability and talking sense."

Bach's Book 'Strange Altars' Released Today

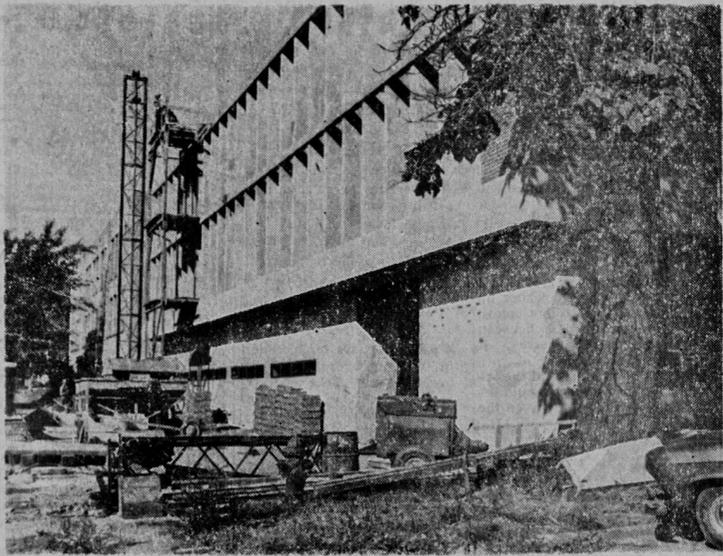

Appearing at Iowa book dealers Monday is a new book, "Strange Altars," by Marcus Bach of the SUI school of religion faculty.

"Strange Altars" is a first-hand description of Bach's life among the voodoo worshippers of the island of Haiti, where he recently spent considerable time.

Currently on leave of absence from the university to confer in Africa with Albert Schweitzer, noted doctor and religious leader, Bach is the author of five previous books.

During the course of gathering first-hand material for his many books, Bach has lived among such lesser-known religious groups as the Trappist monks, the Hutterian Brethren, the Doukhobors of Canada, the Penitentes of New Mexico, Spiritualists, the Baha'ists, and many others.

Roof Work Starts on Communications Center

(Daily Iowan Photo)

WORK ON THE NEW COMMUNICATIONS CENTER is progressing rapidly, with completion now predicted for March 1. Installation of the 52 large windows which front the building was started last week along with the final roofing work. The structure will house the university's journalism facilities, with the exception of radio station WSUL.

Eisenhower Blisters Truman, Ridicules Fair Deal Prosperity

ABOARD EISENHOWER SPECIAL (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, hugely enjoying waves of laughter, blistered President Truman again Monday on a wide range of campaign issues, and said the Democrats have no copyright on the formula for prosperity.

"After all," Eisenhower told an exuberant audience in Spokane, "there was a very prosperous United States here for a long, long time before we had the Fair Deal."

This was the second time Eisenhower executed his newest campaign maneuver — the direct attack on Truman.

Ike Kids Truman
He threw every punch in the book. He kidded the President on some points, poured ridicule on other of Truman's statements, and slammed home the reply, "sheer bunk," to still others.

Banners waved, placards jiggled and the applause was deafening. Some 10,000 people were in the square. Truman, speaking indoors at the Spokane Armory,

Moeller Stresses Journalism Career

In connection with the observance of National Newspaper week, this week, Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of the SUI school of journalism, points out that the journalism schools are not graduating enough young people to fill the demand for workers.

National Newspaper week is an industry-wide celebration to honor the country's 1,773 daily and 9,000 weekly newspapers. It is sponsored by the Newspaper Association Managers, Inc.

Prof. Moeller reported the placement bureau of the SUI school of journalism had a great many job offers for students graduating last spring. Each graduate had five or six offers.

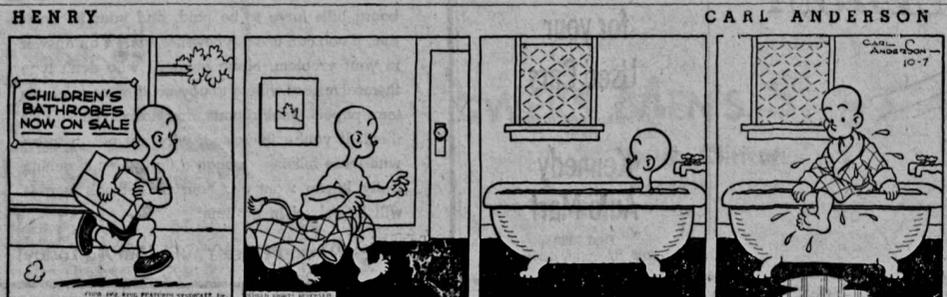

Salaries offered to beginning journalists range from $2,600 to $4,000 a year. About half of the SUI graduates last spring received starting salaries above $3,000 and several over $3,500.

Reginald Kell To Open Civic Music Series

A group billed as "the only ensemble of its kind in America" will present this year's first Iowa City Civic Music association concert Wednesday evening.

The Reginald Kell players will appear in Macbride auditorium at 8 p.m. The players are Reginald Kell, clarinetist; Joel Rosen, pianist; Melvin Ritter, violinist, and Aurora Natola, cellist.

A clarinetist since he was 15, Kell became a professor at the Royal Academy of Music in London at 25. He appeared as soloist with orchestras throughout England and Europe before he came to the United States in 1943. Last season he took part in the Aspen, Colo., music festival.

Kell has chosen five compositions for the concert. They are: Beethoven's "Trio in E Flat Major, Opus No. 1, for Violin, Cello, and Piano;" "Sonata for Clarinet and Piano (1939)" by Hindemith; "Trio in A Minor, Opus 114, for Clarinet, Cello and Piano," by Brahms; "Sonatina in D Major, Opus 137, No. 1, for Violin and Piano," by Schubert, and "Contrasts for Clarinet, Violin, and Piano," by Bartok.

The concert Wednesday is the first of three to be presented this school year by the Civic Music association. Gina Bachauer, pianist, will appear Sunday, Dec. 14, and Robert Rounseville, tenor, will sing Friday, April 10, 1953. Rounseville sings a leading role in the movie, "Tales of Hoffmann," now appearing at a local theater.

Season association memberships at a reduced student rate may be reserved by calling Martha Else, city phone number 3667, or by contacting the Elbe music company, 14 1/2 S. Dubuque st.

Regular adult season membership sales closed last spring, but newcomers to Iowa City still may purchase adult season tickets.

A group of Iowa City townpeople has obtained 80 association memberships for free use by hospital patients of this area.

Hardware Short Course Gets Underway

VERNE R. MARTIN, (standing), general sales manager of the Maytag company, Newton, is one of the industrial leaders speaking at the Hardware Short course, meeting this week at SUI. Fifty hardware dealers and employees from throughout Iowa are attending the first short course held in the new Continuation Study Center, formerly known as Law Commons. Martin spoke on "Systems of Selling—Canvassing." Other speakers will cover management, product and sale aspects of the hardware field.

Hardware Dealers Open Short Course at SUI

The retailer's key position in American business was stressed Monday in the opening lecture of the Hardware Retailers short course at SUI.

Sixty-two per cent of the nation's disposable income is spent in retail stores. Prof. William Knoke pointed out to nearly fifty participants from all corners of Iowa.

Of this 62 per cent, the hardware dealers' share has tripled in the period from 1930 to 1948, Knoke said. "Directing the consumers' point of contact with the nation's economy, retail businessmen need to be retail statesmen," the marketing professor said.

Welcoming the first adult class to the university's new Continuation Study center, formerly the Law Commons, Dean Sidney Winter of the Iowa college of commerce said that the university and Iowa's mature citizens may now learn a great deal more from each other. The Hardware Retailers short course is the first of many conferences, clinics, workshops and short courses which will meet at the center this year.

During the five-day course tool and houseware dealers will attend 26 lectures and demonstrations. Besides hearing from nine members of the college of commerce faculty, they will be instructed by consultants who have attained distinctive positions in the hardware business.

The Iowa Retail Hardware association is co-sponsor of the short course. The association's president and its secretary, Arnold L. Johnson of Fort Dodge and Philip R. Jacobson of Mason City, are active participants. Consultants from Iowa include C. E. Fredrickson, Forest City; Verne R. Martin, Newton; Tom O'Donnell, Des Moines, and Louis Shulman, Iowa City.

Board Offers Scholarships In Germany

A program of United States scholarships to West Germany has been announced by the conference board of Associated Research Councils which is a policy determining organ of the Fulbright program.

These scholarships are in addition to the Fulbright awards in Europe, the Near East, Japan, Pakistan and the Union of South Africa.

Any student, graduate or undergraduate, may apply, but a good working knowledge of the German language is a prerequisite, since all lectures are delivered in German.

The actual monetary awards in this program are based largely on the cost of living in the country in which the studying is done. At the present time there is no permanent fund from which grants are made for dependents. The grantee, however, must be able to provide $75 a month for his wife and $50 for each child.

The closing date for application request for those now enrolled in college is Oct. 31. Applications may be secured from W. Wallace Mamer, foreign student advisor, 111 University hall.

Candidates not presently enrolled in a college or university should address inquiries and requests for application to the United States Student Program, Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th Street, New York 21, N. Y.

ATTENTION UNIVERSITY GIRLS!

There will be an open house for all university girls Wed., Oct. 8th, from 4:00-5:00 p.m. in the Home Economics Dining Room at Macbride Hall.

Opportunity for membership will be open at that time.

NOSE, THROAT,

and Accessory Organs not Adversely Affected by Smoking Chesterfields

FIRST SUCH REPORT EVER PUBLISHED ABOUT ANY CIGARETTE

A responsible consulting organization has reported the results of a continuing study by a competent medical specialist and his staff on the effects of smoking Chesterfield cigarettes.

A group of people from various walks of life was organized to smoke only Chesterfields. For six months this group of men and women smoked their normal amount of Chesterfields—10 to 40 a day. 45% of the group have smoked Chesterfields continually from one to thirty years for an average of 10 years each.

At the beginning and at the end of the six-months period each smoker was given a thorough examination, including X-ray pictures, by the medical specialist and his assistants. The examination covered the sinuses as well as the nose, ears and throat.

The medical specialist, after a thorough examination of every member of the group, stated: "It is my opinion that the ears, nose, throat and accessory organs of all participating subjects examined by me were not adversely affected in the six-months period by smoking the cigarettes provided."
