Jeans Funeral Plans Indefinite

Memorial Services To Be Held Here

Funeral services for the late Dr. Philip Charles Jeans, 69, SU professor of pediatrics who died of a coronary thrombosis Wednesday night while on tour in Panama, are still indefinite, a friend of the family said Thursday.

The body is to be cremated, however, and its ashes sent back to Iowa City. A memorial service will be held here later.

Dr. Jeans' brother, Howard, of Altadena, Calif., is flying to Panama to accompany Mrs. Jeans back to the U. S. She will remain temporarily with her sister, Mrs. Hazel Cushing, in Dennisport, Mass.

Dr. Jeans and his wife left Iowa City in mid-September and had arrived in Panama less than two hours before his death. He was there to deliver several lectures and visit local hospitals for the World Health organization.

Dr. Jeans was born Jan. 3, 1883, in Hillsboro, Ohio. He received his B. A. from the University of Kansas in 1904 and his M. D. from John Hopkins university in 1909.

He served as associate professor at Washington university, St. Louis, Mo., before coming to SUI in 1924. He had been head of the pediatrics department here from that time until his retirement to a part-time status this summer.

Active in Field

Dr. Jeans was a member of the steering committee for the food and nutrition board of the National advancement committee of Nutrition Foundation, Inc.; the American Medical Association; American Pediatric Society; Society for Experimental Biology and Medicine; American Institute of Nutrition; Society for Research in Child Development; Society for Pediatric Research; Nu Sigma Nu, Alpha Omega Alpha, and Sigma Xi.

Dr. and Mrs. Jeans made their home at 207 Black Springs circle. Also surviving is one son, Robert Philip Jeans, of Los Angeles.

Dr. Charles D. May, professor and head of pediatrics, said of Dr. Jeans Thursday:

"I am grieved that my personal friendship with Dr. Jeans was, unfortunately, all too brief. I can supplement the natural affection of his intimate friends by representing the high esteem that Dr. Jeans earned amongst the pediatricians and scientists throughout the nation.

'Will Feel Loss'

"I will feel the loss of Dr. Jeans personally and we were all depending upon him to further our education in pediatrics. We will always remember him for the great prestige he brought to the department of pediatrics through his research, reputation and fine qualities as a pediatrician."

Dr. Robert L. Jackson, professor of pediatrics, made the following statement:

"A great soul has been taken from our midst, but through his productive life as scholar, teacher, research worker, clinician and author, Dr. Philip Jeans has left us a truly rich inheritance.

"His teaching always was on a high level, logical, up-to-date and clear. As with his writing, no words were wasted and the simplicity of his language clarified even abstruse problems. He was always generous in giving time and thought to the problems of his staff, whether clinical, research or personal.

"He was a gentle man with a shy reserve that was countered by the warmth of his quick smile, the twinkling of his eyes and his keen sense of humor."

Hard Coal Owners Balk At Wage Hike to Miners

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hard coal mine owners balked Thursday at giving John L. Lewis the same $1.90 daily wage boost which the government already has partly shaved down in the soft coal industry.

Lewis was reported trying to get the anthracite or hard coal industry to grant the same wage raise in order to test the government's wage stabilization board (WSB) again.

Old Guard said that the decisions in this campaign "have been and will be mine alone."

The WSB has ruled that 40 cents of the $1.90 soft coal raise would be inflationary and cannot be paid. This has led to a nationwide walkout of the 350,000 soft coal miners.

Neither Lewis nor the anthracite industry negotiators would discuss what happened in their bargaining sessions. However, it was reliably reported the industry men had refused a demand from United Mine Workers Union President Lewis to match the $1.90 soft coal raise.

Hard coal operators contended to Lewis that they probably would face a strike of the 65,000 Pennsylvania anthracite diggers no matter what happened. Refusing Lewis the $1.90 would probably mean a strike. Granting the demand probably would lead to another partial veto from the WSB, and thus a walkout too.

Strike Might Continue
The prospect was that the soft coal strike would continue for some time, perhaps until after the Nov. 4 national elections, and perhaps with the hard coal miners joining the walkout before very long.

Meanwhile, it was learned that the government has quietly stepped into the soft coal situation to try to effect a settlement. David L. Cole, newly-named director of the federal mediation service, held a private session with Lewis and Harry M. Moses, president of the Bituminous Coal Operators' association, representing northern and midwest producers.

The Campaign Parade —

Ike Presses Bigotry Charges As Adlai Hits Ike for Smears

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Gen. Dwight Eisenhower accused the Truman administration Thursday night of injecting bigotry and class hatred into the presidential campaign, and said his political opponents speak with "the powerful voices of the rabble rousers."

The Democrats, he said, will do anything to win the election Nov. 4.

"Every boss of the administration party will go all out and down the line to deliver. They will deliver by fair means and foul," the general told his audience in a speech prepared for delivery at the Buffalo Memorial Auditorium.

Eisenhower used the strongest language he has ever employed to make his charge that the Democrats have deliberately brought about disunity in the United States and sapped the sources of the nation's strength.

"Tom Pendergast is dead," Eisenhower said, referring to the former political leader of Kansas City and President Truman's sponsor.

"What I have been talking about tonight, (Thursday)" Eisenhower declared, "are the moral issues of this campaign. They are the campaign's most important issues. As a nation, we lay careful plans against economic and military failure. How much more serious is moral failure? How much more disastrous would be the consequences?"

CLEVELAND (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson Thursday night accused Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower of conducting a campaign "which accepts calumny and the big doubt as its instruments."

Stevenson loosed a scathing attack on Eisenhower, his GOP opponent, and the general's vice-presidential running-mate, Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California.

Stevenson also slugged hard at Republican Senators Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin and William F. Jenner of Indiana.

Says Ike's Responsible
In an address prepared for delivery at the Cleveland Arena, the Illinois governor said Eisenhower must accept full responsibility for the kind of campaign being waged in his behalf.

"I resent—and I resent bitterly—the sly insinuations and the innuendoes of the campaign that is being waged in behalf of the general," Stevenson declared.

Stevenson said the Republican high command is counting heavily in the last days of the campaign on the type of attack which he denounced.

McCarthy to Attack
The governor said that next Monday night, for example, McCarthy "is going to make a highly-advertised speech—the man who said last week that if he were put aboard my campaign train with a club, he might be able to make a good American out of me."

"But he has become," Stevenson added, "more than the voice of a single individual who thinks the way to teach Americanism is with a club. He appears next Monday night on nationwide radio and television as the planned climax of the Republican campaign—as the very voice of the Republican party that lost the nomination but won the nominee."

"You will hear the voice of the senator from Wisconsin, with the permission and approval of General Eisenhower."

Then Stevenson went on to say that Eisenhower "must accept full responsibility."

Ann Kensing Reigns as Dolphin Queen

Bombers Blaze Way as ROK's Invade Sniper Ridge Bunkers

SEOUL (AP)—South Korean troops Friday heavily assaulted the last Chinese Red hold on Sniper Ridge after Allied planes blasted the Red's maze of tunnels and bunkers with 40 armor-piercing 1,000-pound bombs.

Allied artillery also pounded the foe before the South Korean second division infantrymen jumped off at 9:30 a.m.

The Red-held position is at the north end of the central Korean ridge.

At dawn, 20 Allied fighter-bombers had dived down and dropped bombs set with delayed action fuses so the explosives could penetrate 20 feet into the mountain-side. There the Reds have tunnels and bunkers, some large enough to shelter a full infantry company, about 150 to 175.

On nearby Triangle hill, Allied artillery at 2 a.m. broke up apparent preparations by Chinese to attack U.S. seventh division troops holding the height.

Twenty miles west of Triangle and Sniper, Allied troops threw Chinese Reds off the top of Iron Horse mountain Thursday.

The Allied air attack was also intensified.

Ten B-29s rode through 140-mile-an-hour winds Thursday night into North Korea and dropped 100 tons of bombs on a cement plant at Hokusen, 30 miles northwest of Wonsen, west coast port. Pilots said the plant was destroyed.

Some Allied air raiders pressed their attacks close to the Manchurian border.

Father of 3 Found Guilty Of Killing Wife

BALTIMORE (AP)—George Edward Grammer, 35-year-old father of three children, was convicted Thursday of deliberately killing his wife—and trying to make her death look like an accident—so he could marry a pretty New York secretary.

The first degree murder verdict carries either a death penalty—hanging in Maryland—or a life prison term. Sentence was not pronounced immediately.

Grammer heard Judge Herman M. Moser deliver the verdict without the bat of an eye.

"This court had no difficulty in determining that Mrs. Grammer's death was criminal homicide," the judge said.

"He (Grammer) was in love with another woman," said the judge after hearing the nine-day trial without a jury at Grammer's request.

The woman the judge referred to was Mathilda Mizibrosky, 28, a Canadian who worked at the United Nations headquarters in New York.

She testified that she and Grammer had fallen in love after their first meeting last November and were planning to marry. She said she learned he had a wife only after Dorothy May Grammer's death.

Union Open House To Follow Parade

An Open House in which the entire Iowa Union will be thrown open to visitors will follow the Homecoming parade tonight.

Homecomers will find movies of 1952 football games, cider and doughnuts, a dance band in the River room, and comfortable corners where they may relax with friends.

George Stevens, assistant director of the Union, estimates that more than 1,500 people had cider and doughnuts at last year's Homecoming Open House. Funds for these refreshments are secured through the traditional sale of 10 cent Homecoming badges.

Four large exhibits will also be on display in the union tonight. The university's 1952 state fair display, which occupies 200 nearly square feet of floor space, will be set up, and there will also be exhibits by the college of nursing and the phonetic language laboratories.

60 Entries In Mile-Long Procession

A crowd of more than 40,000 persons is expected to jam downtown Iowa City this evening to view the annual Homecoming parade—the official kick-off of SUI's 1952 Homecoming activities.

Drawing in its wake a full weekend of festivities, the parade of 40 floats, 10 bands and 10 other units will begin its march through the Iowa City business section at 7 p.m.

Leading this fourth annual parade of SUI's 41st Homecoming celebration will be President Virgil M. Hancher in company with Iowa City Mayor William Holland and City Manager Peter F. Roan.

Dolphin Queen to Appear
In the procession's midsection following the SUI band a red convertible will carry Ann Kensing, A3, Tama, who was crowned Dolphin queen Thursday night in the first of the four water extravaganzas of the men's swimming club.

With Queen Kensing will ride her four attendants and runners-up for royal honors: Janet Henderson, A1, Sioux City; Becky Knudsen, A1, Clinton; Lea Lawhorn, A1, Garner; and Dorothy Maher, A1, Iowa City.

Marching in the first half of the parade, the widely traveled Scottish Highlanders and high school bands of Iowa City, Durant, Cedar Rapids, and Parnell will punctuate every four floats which will be competing for trophies on basis of beauty, humor, and originality.

T Man to Judge
Judge of beauty will be Carl Umlandt, Muscatine, president of the "T" club. Originality will be measured for each float by L. C. Bagley, Audubon, president of the Iowa alumni association.

Bob Gage, executive secretary of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce will evaluate humor. With 20 points possible for each quality, a beautiful, humorous and original float might score a total of 60 points, and with this rating wins the grand prize, says Fred Doderer, parade chairman.

High school bands of Tipton, Lone Tree, and West Liberty will be marching between Queen Kensing and the city fire chief's automobile at parade's end.

The huge crowd will see the Moose drum and bugle corps of Iowa City directly in front of the float of the SUI custodians, who are entering the parade for the first time this year.

Bombs to Start Parade
At 7 p.m., according to Doderer, three aerial bombs will launch the 60 contingents from their starting positions converging on the Music building at Gilbert st.

On Iowa ave. the parade will move south on Dubuque st. and will continue for two blocks before turning west on College st.

It will then move up Clinton st. past the reviewing stand near Old Capitol. Past Currier hall, at Fairchild and Clinton, the parade will disband.

Iowa City national guardsmen are kept too busy on the business end of the parade, to enter the parade, points out William Coder, general Homecoming chairman. Under command of Capt. H. W. Dick the whole company will assist local police in parade and crowd control work, Coder says.

Pep Rally Scheduled
When the last unit has passed the reviewing stand, students and visitors will gather around Old Capitol for the pep rally on the eve of the Homecoming football game Saturday afternoon with Ohio State university.

George McBurney, L4, Council Bluffs, will act as master of ceremonies at the rally scheduled to start at 8 p.m. President Hancher and assistant football coaches Bob Flora and Bump Elliott will take part in the rally to offer a few moral-lifting remarks.

At the rally parade judges will announce their decisions and award seven prizes. These include a grand prize, three for humor and originality, and three for beauty and originality. In two additional awards Kiwanis will salute the fraternity entering the best float, and Lions will honor the best sorority float.

A Condensation of Late Developments

VALPARAISO, CHILE (AP)—The Chilean navy tug Brito with 32 aboard exploded and sank Thursday within three minutes. The 320-ton tug rammed into a Pacific headland cliff off Quintero north of here last night during a heavy fog. It radioed for help at 8 p.m. and two rescue craft were sent from Valparaiso. At dawn Thursday the tug listed heavily and exploded when water flooded the boilers.

HANOI-INDO-CHINA (AP)—Communist-led Vietnam forces Thursday night broadened their offensive to include attacks against the French in the Red river delta as well as a drive on French ports along the Black river. The French high command said its troops repulsed two attempts by the Vietnam to force a crossing of the Day river and drive into the rice-rich Red river delta in the Ninh Binh sector 55 miles southeast of Hanoi.

NAIROBI, KENYA (AP)—The slaughter of a senior Kikuyu chief who tried to break up a secret ceremony of anti-White Mau Mau terrorists sparked a gigantic manhunt in the Nyeri district of this British crown colony Thursday. Chief Nderi, 70, was hacked to death Wednesday night by the knives of frenzied tribesmen. One policeman of his three-man bodyguard was butchered with him and the other two are missing. Twenty-one persons, mainly old men and women, were rounded up swiftly by British troops and police who launched only Tuesday a colony-wide campaign to crush the Mau Mau. Others were hunted.

LONDON (AP)—Britain's first atomic bomb vaporized a warship that housed it, threw up a high tidal wave and sent out a blast of heat near a million degrees in its Monte Bello island test, Prime Minister Churchill disclosed Thursday. He told the house of commons' British scientists know the way that leads to even more deadly weapons.

Korean Casualties Soar to 122,117

WASHINGTON (AP)—The defense department has announced the highest weekly U.S. casualty toll in the Korean war since the week ending July 2. The total for the week ending last Friday was 963.

This raised the total U.S. casualties in the Korean fighting to 122,117.

In the previous highest week, more than three months ago, the total U.S. casualties were 985.

The department's weekly report showed that 133 U.S. servicemen were killed in action last week, bringing the total number of Americans killed in the fighting to 19,184.

TO THE EDITOR:
People who deplore the loss of freedom in America today have an apt example in Iowa City these days. When Iowa Citizens walk down our city streets or attempt to enjoy the privacy (?) of their homes they are greeted with cheery autumn greetings.

Not in the form of the scenery or weather but commercials blasting from cruising sound trucks. We are implored to buy everything from 10¢ humor magazines to confections from some pastry shop. I personally promise myself to never, if at all possible, patronize one of these abominations.

I doubt very much that it has been for very long in America that people have put up without protesting such drivel. The sad state of the times is underlined in Washington where recently the broadcasting of music and commercials on buses was legalized.

Of course there was some protest. Perhaps when enough of our privacy is taken away by these propaganda machines on wheels we will put a stop to it all. I hope so.

TO THE EDITOR:
Many of the married housing students and myself are going to take exception to the letter criticizing the student attitude at the Wisconsin-Iowa game.

First; what in the world can a person cheer about when Iowa fumbles close to their own goal? I for one like the Chicago Cubs baseball team; but it gets tiresome pulling (and cheering) for a perennial loser. If you notice, we cheer when there is something to cheer about.

Second; How could anyone have failed to notice how Wisconsin lined up? Check the pictures (movies) and see who lined up faster. Iowa substitutes came on and went off the field far faster than Wisconsin men.

Third; How can anyone jump and run with joy when the entire student body is jammed into one little corner of the stadium. There isn't enough room to sit, let alone jump.

Radiation Treatment In U.S. Is Inferior, Physician Declares

NEW YORK (AP)—A Pennsylvania scientist told the American Cancer Society Wednesday that the American public has been receiving inferior X-ray and other radiation treatment.

Dr. Eugene P. Pendergass, head of the radiology department of the University of Pennsylvania hospital, Philadelphia, sharply criticized both the commercial radium equipment and the way in which it is used in hospitals.

A spokesman for the cancer society, declining use of his name, called Pendergass' attack "unprecedented," but made no other comment except to say Pendergass is one of the leading men in his field.

However, Pendergass' talk was followed by a panel discussion in which a group of doctors concurred in the belief that radiation therapy treatment of cancer could be improved.

"My own experience with commercial companies has shown that the radium content of radon (radio-active gas) tubes is never what they say it is," Pendergass declared.

"I have had tubes delivered to me containing no radon whatsoever," he added, "and others have had as much as 300 per cent more radon in the tubes than the certificate indicated should be present at a given time."

Bedford Man Gives Defense Testimony At Murder Trial

BEDFORD (AP)—Eliza Jones, 78, took the witness stand in his own defense Wednesday on a charge of first degree murder in the 20-year-old slaying of his son-in-law, Tom Allen, 26.

Jones, speaking falteringly and inaudibly at times, did not admit nor deny the killing for which he is being tried a second time.

After his first trial in 1932, Jones was found insane and was confined at the state men's reformatory until last January. At that time examination showed he no longer was insane and he was returned here to face prosecution.

The son-in-law was beaten to death July 18, 1932, at Jones' farm southeast of here. His body was found in a shallow grave the next day.

Jones testified Wednesday that on the day of the killing he went off for a while and left Allen in the wagon. He said when he returned Tom was gone but the wagon was still there.

The elderly man's rambling testimony also mentioned two unidentified fishermen on a river near the farm the day of the slaying. Jones' testimony implied they were the persons who killed Allen.

The state rested its case Wednesday. Then a defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal on the grounds of insufficient evidence was overruled by District Judge Charles J. Lewis.

The state presented six witnesses, including Mrs. Pauline Woodruff, widow of the slain man, Wednesday. Jones was the first defense witness. He will continue his testimony Thursday before a jury of nine men and three women.

Chicago Promoter Freed in Contempt Of Congress Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal judge Wednesday freed George S. May of contempt of congress charges with the comment that "compulsory self-incrimination is characteristic of totalitarian governments."

May, 62, who heads a Chicago business engineering firm which does an annual business of $3 1/2 to $4 million, was indicted for refusing to answer questions of senate crime investigators. He said answers might tend to incriminate him.

U. S. District Judge Burnita S. Matthews, who heard the case without a jury, granted a defense motion for a judgment of acquittal. This cannot be appealed by the government.

Judge Matthews said the constitution's safeguard against forcing a man to incriminate himself "stems from the high sentiment and the regard of our jurisprudence for individual rights and for the conduct of criminal trials upon a plane of dignity, fairness and humanity."

May, who is widely known for the big-prize golf tournaments he had promoted at the Tam O'Shanter Country club near Chicago, went open.

Faculty to Help Select Iowa State President

AMES (AP)—A group of 25 Iowa State college faculty members has been named to consider qualifications for a new president of the college.

Dr. Charles E. Friley will retire as president at the end of the school year under a policy requiring retirement of faculty members at the age of 65.

Dr. Friley's successor will be appointed by the Iowa Board of Education with the advice of faculty representatives.

Dynamite Blast Kills 5

LATROBE, Pa. (AP)—A case of dynamite was blamed Wednesday for a shattering blast that leveled a modest home near here, killing a family of five including an expectant mother.

State police said they learned that Joseph Rogosky Sr., 60, one of the victims, had purchased a case of dynamite earlier this week and had stored it in his basement. The case contained 96 sticks of dynamite, 100 firing caps and 100 feet of fuse.

The blast smashed the two-story home to bits.

Lt. R. R. Dodson said Rogosky purchased the dynamite from a Latrobe company. Dodson said Rogosky explained he needed the explosives to open up a small limestone quarry on his 16-acre farm.

Power Commission's Opinion Custed in Rate Hike Request

WASHINGTON (AP)—A favorable power commission staff opinion was discarded Wednesday as evidence backing a rate increase request by the Michigan-Wisconsin Pipe Line Co.

Examiner William Costello, conducting a hearing on the rate proposal, refused to permit company lawyers to submit the opinion as evidence for their case.

The opinion was contained in a memorandum prepared by the commission staff after a conference April 17 with representatives of Michigan-Wisconsin and some of the utilities through which its gas is distributed in Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa and Missouri.

Commission lawyers objected to letting the opinion stay in the record, contending it is a general principle of law that reports of such conferences may not be used as evidence.

In the memorandum, the staff expressed the view that a proposed boost of Michigan-Wisconsin rates to the utilities from 29 cents a thousand cubic feet to 31 1/2 cents "would not result in an excess of earnings" for the pipe line company.

At the time Michigan-Wisconsin expressed a willingness to accept the 31 1/2 cents rate—estimated to yield an additional $3,870,000 annually—and to forego applying for an additional increase.

Michigan-Wisconsin put the $3,870,000 hike into effect under a contract Oct. 1, 1951. If the commission fails to approve the increase, the company will have to refund the money plus six per cent interest.

Chicago Bank Robbed Of $52,000 by Gunmen

CHICAGO (AP)—Four gunmen Wednesday staged a daylight holdup of a north side pawn shop, the Broadway Loan Bank, seizing $52,000 in cash and jewelry.

Ray Finerman, 30, the manager, two employees and three customers, were bound with adhesive tape and forced to lie on the floor during the holdup.

The robbers scooped up all the cash and jewelry in the vault and swept the contents of the show-cases into three pieces of luggage.

Varying Angles To Old Issues Dot Campaign

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst
One of the most interesting things to watch during this presidential campaign has been the attempts of the candidates to make different approaches toward issues on which there are no fundamental differences.

It is, of course, a natural product of expanded means of communications which, in recent years, have turned every whistle stop address into a national address. Nothing has ever compared with the volume of quotations and the number of full texts of such speeches which has been delivered to the American public this year.

So, since the candidates are appealing to all of the people and since they are supposed to know what people are thinking in general, their appeals naturally find a mean.

World Forces at Work
This is especially true in the field of international affairs, where the wise know that world forces are at work to forge policies over which men and political parties have small control. Gradually, the forces themselves dictate the approach.

This has seldom been more strikingly illustrated than by the addresses of Gov. Adlai Stevenson and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower to the New York Herald Tribune forum Tuesday night.

Both pledged continued support to other free nations in the fight against Soviet communism. Both took the economic field as the ground upon which the campaign could be waged short of war. Both looked to freer world trade, development of underdeveloped countries, "to help other nations grow in well being and thus to strengthen their free institutions," as Stevenson put it.

Clinical, Non-Political
The forum discussions are designed to be clinical and non-political, and both candidates held themselves in pretty well. Eisenhower had something to say about the need for developing better administration of the policies on which the two agreed, while Stevenson naturally took the line of "carry on."

Both were actually endorsing the general ideas behind President Truman's Point-Four program, which has never quite set congress on fire. But which is considered by students of world affairs to be one real long-range approach to important solutions.

Both candidates have been subsequently embarrassed by some of their own attempts to inject something new into approaches to foreign policy, a field which has been harrowed by the world's best minds for a long time.

Mostly, the differences are just in sound.

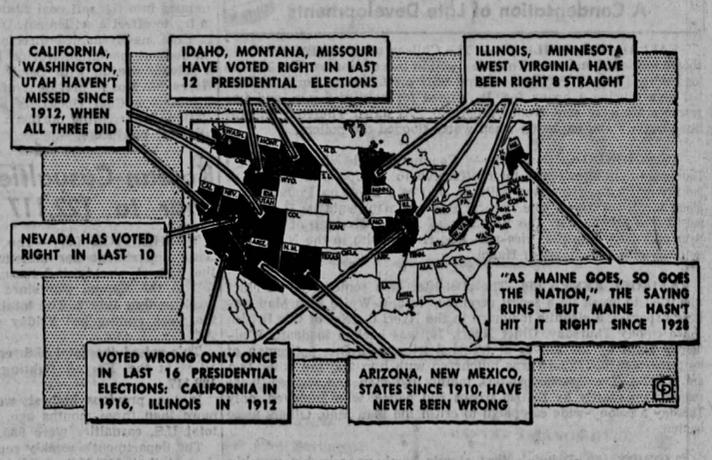

Stevenson Won't Visit Iowa Again

DES MOINES (AP)—Chairman Jake More of the Iowa Democratic state central committee said Wednesday that Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee, apparently will not visit Iowa again before election day, Nov. 4.

More said he had been attempting to get Stevenson to make a "whistle stop" tour from Council Bluffs to Davenport but was informed that the nominee does not plan any further visits to Iowa.

More said he knew nothing about reported plans to get Stevenson to appear at the SUJ fieldhouse at Iowa City before election day.

Tips to the Beauty Queens Who Will Reign in '53-Start Now!

By The Central Press

The year 1952 probably saw more "Miss Somethings-or-Other" nominated than any preceding 12 months. Next year, the crown makers anticipate an even larger crop of beauties.

Thousands of America's loveliest vie for the local, regional, national and international honors. The few winners enjoy a short-lived reign. However, the tiny tenure of office is worth it, they'll tell you.

Eyeing a Crown

If any girl has her eye on one of these coveted crowns of '53, she should start going into training now. This advice is submitted by a noted beauty expert, Max Factor.

Factor not only does his best to make the average girl look gorgeous, but has officiated at more beauty contests than a major league umpire has World Series games.

First note of warning on Factor's training table is: be aware that the trend is toward the ultra-feminine. "Girls are coming back," he says, "so be really feminine."

Now's the Time

Start now to let your hair grow long for the 1953 title tilt.

Contest judges are usually men. Don't forget if you grow too much hair, you can always cut some off.

Train down to slim "fighting" weight well in advance of title contest preliminaries. Last-minute lopping off of pounds can make you haggard and lifeless.

For the sake of contour firmness, exercise regularly for at least three months before your first beauty title bout. "Beauties who flab a little never get beyond the bush league," Factor finds.

However, he cautions, don't exercise one place too much. Beauty detriments such as Gorgeous George-type neck and shoulders can result from over-concentration of exercise on one spot.

Poise is the Thing

In addition to creating a curvaceous figure, you must gain poise.

Take a few drama lessons or at least study posture and how to walk gracefully. Watch the big-time fashion models and do as they do (in their work, that is), only look happier about it!

Better learn about make-up, Factor adds.

Although this is usually done for title contestants, there is no harm in being wise enough to know whether you're being cosmetically done right by.

Neva Jane Langley
"Miss America, 1952"

The preparations are frightening enough, but now, do you want to hear what happens if you win such a contest?

Suppose You Win!

Before talking about winning, consider what disappointments you might have to accept by losing, because there are many more in this category.

Well, let's assume you win. First of all, home life ceases for a "Miss" or "Mrs Something-or-Other." She will be on a tedious tour, performing endless publicity. At first it's fun—but this soon ends. You are constantly guarded and cloistered and put on a schedule that makes an army private seem like a king.

The Aftermath

When you've dabbed mortar on several dozen local cornerstones

you feel like you're against civic progress and you don't care if towns have to get along with their old city halls, termites and all.

After a thousand or more poses in swim-suits you dream of the day when you can finally get one wet.

Then of course comes the possibility of a movie contract. You are usually signed for $75 a week with a big splurge in the papers making everybody think you're the next Greta Garbo. The story reads "a $2,000 a week contract." Yeah, if you last to the seventh year option. Your first option is up in six months at which time you would jump to $150 weekly. One out of 10 national winners last beyond the second such option.

O.K., girls, the coach told you what you're up against. Now I want you to get in there and fight. Remember, no hair-pulling and no clinches with the boy friend for the duration.

Erickson, '52 Grad, Appointed Ensign In Naval Reserve

William Erickson, B.S. '52, Detroit, Mich., has been commissioned an ensign in the U.S. naval reserve.

Erickson, who received his degree in engineering last February, recently was graduated from U.S. navy officer candidate school at Newport, R.I.

He is affiliated with Phi Kappa Sigma social fraternity, and is engaged to a former SUI student, Miss Betty Folwell, Rochester. She is a member of Chi Omega social sorority.

Pharmacy College Has Coffee Hour

The SUI college of pharmacy will have a coffee hour for alumni and guests on Homecoming day in room 308 of the Pharmacy-Botany building from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

It is sponsored by two college of pharmacy honorary organizations: Rho Chi, H. Wesley Brown, P4, Keokuk, president, and Kappa Epsilon, Marge Rink, P4, Cedar Rapids, president.

'Mum' Sales Get Underway

ANNE ESSEX, A1, FAIRFIELD, one of the many "mum" salesgirls for SUI's Homecoming, seems to have a customer in Hugh Johnson, P1, Sioux City. The "mum" sale is one of the Homecoming projects of the YWCA, sponsored by the freshman Y. However, all members of the Y will be taking part in the sale. Orders for mums will be taken at all the various housing units on campus before the game to assure mums for Homecoming dates.

Drama Department Begins Series of 6 Experimental Plays

The SUI dramatic arts department will present the first in a series of six experimental plays Monday and Tuesday nights at 8 p.m. in the University theater.

The play, entitled "Where There's Smoke," is an original three-act comedy by Sherwood Collins, G. Dwight, Kan. It will be presented to a small, invited audience, consisting of members of the "First Nighters" club.

The play is the first of the Playwright Series productions which will be presented throughout the school year. The series was originated this year to encourage drama students in the study of playwriting.

Home Ec. Department To Display Woven Fabrics

A collection of hand woven fabrics from the San Francisco Museum of Fine Arts is being displayed by the home economics department in room 2, Macbride hall, Oct. 24 to 31.

The exhibit will be open to the public this afternoon, Saturday morning and every afternoon next week.

Included in the display are casement cloths, drapery and panel materials, upholstery and yardage for wearing apparel. The types of cloth are wool, rayon, linen, and metallic.

According to Miss L. Smith of the home economics department two fabrics of special interest to viewers are those woven by Maxwell Hawker, a foremost California weaver, and Trudy Germonprez, director of the Pond Farm Workshop located near Los Angeles.

The exhibition was arranged by the Professional Weavers association of San Francisco at the request of the San Francisco Museum of Fine Arts.

Hawklets, East Waterloo Clash Tonight

City high steps out of conference play tonight to meet an up-and-coming team from East Waterloo, and the Hawklets, who have clinched the Mississippi Valley loop title, will be seeking their sixth victory of the current campaign.

Coach Frank Bates' crew will be faced with a task of stopping a Trojan team which pulled one of the biggest most, decisive upsets of the season last week when they whipped Mason City, 34-7. The Hawklets are still nursing the thought of a near perfect season with their record standing at six wins and one loss.

East, which was beaten 34-0 by the Hawklets last year, brings a new coach, Louie Breitbach; a new offense and a much improved team over what Iowa City fans witnessed last year. Iowa City may also be facing a mental block tonight since they had to rise to the biggest occasion of the season last week in the loop championship game with Clinton.

City high will enter this game in fine physical condition, and as reportedly gained impetus from its victory over Clinton instead of a let-down which could be expected.

Bates disclosed the fact that his starting lineup would be primarily the same for this contest although two junior linemen, Ron Frack, tackle, and guard Charlie Neuchter will see a good bit of action due to their showings in drills this week. Grant Grimm and Fred Nosek have been appointed captains for the game.

Lakers, All-Stars To Play Tonight

CHICAGO (AP) — Coach Phog Allen's hand-picked campus squad and the Minneapolis Lakers clash before a capacity 18,000 at the Chicago Stadium tonight trying to smash a six-all, pro-college deadlock in the 13th annual, All-Star basketball classic.

The contest, sponsored by the Chicago Herald-American, will find the champion Lakers of the National Basketball association seeking their fourth straight-victory over the collegians.

The Harlem Globetrotters will face the New York Celtics in a curtain raiser.

Bill Ingram then replaced Miller, and he suffered a concussion and has been ordered to drop football. Sid Winter has been inserted in the fullback spot although he received a sprained ankle Wednesday night in practice. Winter is expected to be ready for the game today, however.

Bucks to Work Out Here Today

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — The Ohio State Buckeyes, hopeful of a Rose Bowl bid despite one conference defeat, take off today for Iowa City, where they will meet the Iowa Hawkeyes Saturday.

The game will be the Bucks' first out of town engagement, after copping three or four in Ohio Stadium.

A few team members left Thursday night via train. The others will leave by plane this morning. The team is scheduled to run through a warm-up drill in Iowa City today.

Will Grimsley Picks California, Wisconsin to Win Saturday

By WILL GRIMSLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — The customers always write.

"Dear Sir," inquires a New Orleans band leader, "why is it that last year you picked so many upsets but this year you go along with the favorites?"

It isn't that we string with the favorites. It's just that when we pick 'em, they automatically become favorites.

Let's try again:
Favor USC

California over Southern California: Southern Cal favored by six points but Oh, Johnny, Oh, Wisconsin over UCLA: This could be a Rose Bowl preview.

Duke over Virginia: A close and exciting game.

Maryland over Louisiana State: The Terrapins split their T's.

Georgia Tech over Vanderbilt: The Commodores can do it again.

Sooners to Romp
Oklahoma over Kansas State: The Sooners in a romp.

Notre Dame over North Carolina: The Irish should zig-zag past N. C.

Texas over Rice: The Longhorns are on a stampede.

Michigan over Minnesota: The Wolverines are now a real Big Ten title threat.

The others:
East — Princeton over Cornell, Dartmouth over Harvard, Temple over NYU, Pittsburgh over West Virginia, Holy Cross over Syracuse, Army over Columbia.

Midwest — Indiana over Northwestern, Oklahoma A & M over Detroit, Illinois over Purdue, Ohio

State over Iowa, Tulsa over Wichita, Missouri over Iowa State.

Southwest — Baylor over Texas A & M, Southern Methodist over Kansas, Arkansas over Mississippi, New Mexico over Texas Western.

Far West — Stanford over Washington, Oregon State over Washington State, Colorado over Nebraska, Denver over Brigham Young, Colorado A & M over Utah State.

Fain, Gordon Top Night Hitters

NEW YORK (AP)—Farris Fain, the American league batting king, and Sid Gordon, who hit only .289 in National league competition, were the most productive night game batters in the major leagues during the 1952 campaign.

Associated Press statistics disclosed Thursday that Fain, 30-year-old Philadelphia A's first baseman, pounded out 65 hits in 176 trips in arc-light play to lead the AL with a .339 mark. His season's day and night average was .327.

Gordon, veteran Boston Braves' outfielder, had 51. Sid collected 56 safeties in 189 appearances.

Mickey Mantle, with 54 hits in 153 tries, was right behind Fain at .353. The brilliant young outfielder, a .311 over-all hitter, played in 40 night games.

First baseman Walt Dropo, who played with both Boston and Detroit, finished in third place with .340 followed by Bobby Avin, Cleveland, .332, Sam Mele, Washington-Chicago, .317, Dale Mitchell, Cleveland, .307 and Gene Woodling of New York, .305.

Gordon's closest competition came from Richie Ashburn, speedy Philadelphia Phillies' fly-chaser, Ashburn hit .324 in night game contests, 42 points higher than his final batting figure.

Eddie Waitkus, also of the Phillies, finished third with .320. Next in line came Enos Slaughter, St. Louis, .314 and Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn, .308.

Binkey Tagged 'Potential Star'

Sometimes a young football player is tagged with the label, "Sure to become a college star."

It's a tough label to bear but if high school feats and all-around potential mean anything, Iowa's George (Binkey) Broeder is close to that class.

Bashful Binkey stays away from the subject as much as possible. He wouldn't fill in details on the usual personal questionnaire and only under his protest

2 TD's Against Irish

Broeder now is a fullback. As a freshman last year he won a major letter as a halfback, despite the presence of veterans. He averaged three yards per try by rushing and scored two touchdowns against Notre Dame, one on a 65-yard pass from Burt

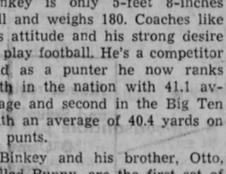

Hurt Knee in Spring

While working on a spin maneuver last spring, Broeder hurt his knee. An operation kept him out of spring practice but later, exercises strengthened the knee and he has had no trouble this fall.

Sandy-haired and freckle-faced Binkey is only 5-feet 8-inches tall and weighs 180. Coaches like his attitude and his strong desire to play football. He's a competitor and as a punter he now ranks 13th in the nation with 41.1 average and second in the Big Ten with an average of 40.4 yards on 22 punts.

Binkey and his brother, Otto, called Bunny, are the first set of brothers to play for Iowa in five years, since the Shoener twins manned the ends in 1947. Bunny, the elder, is a star diver on the swimming team, a left halfback, and the man who sets up the ball for Jerry White's kicks after touchdowns.

it's sportshirts
by Manhattan
Stephens
Across from Schaeffer Hall

What is there about custom-made sportshirts that makes them the favorite of smart college men? Simple! They're not a day old. They've got style, they're tailored to the fine Manhattan tradition. Let us show you the rest of our complete line of fine Manhattan apparel for men.

Good Old Siwash is hogwash now

FOR A LONG TIME we've suspected that today's college man would no longer "gladly die for dear old Siwash." Neither does he play ukuleles and sing "Alma Mater" at the drop of a beam.

We believe, too, that when it comes to sportshirts the college man is no different from his older brother in town. He doesn't go for fads and screwball styles. But he does go for smartness, good workmanship... and above all, value.

That is why we believe you'll like the new selection of sportshirts by Manhattan. For they have all these qualities, plus a distinctive air that sets them above the ordinary shirt.

So ask for Manhattan... the college man's sportshirt.

U.S. Nobel

STOCKHOLM, Sweden — Dr. Selman A. Waksman, American-born microbiologist, was awarded the Nobel Prize in medicine Tuesday for unlocking the door to the wonder drug streptomycin, the first effective anti-tuberculosis drug.

Dr. Waksman, 64, the Institute of Microbiology at Rutgers University, Newark, N. J., is the first American to win the prize since 1943.

Scientist Feels

The soft-spoken, bearded microbiologist formed in New Brunswick, N. J., was the first American to win the prize since 1943.

To Award

It was the 43rd time the Nobel Prize in medicine was awarded in Sweden since 1901. Dr. Waksman is the 15th American to win the prize. King Gustaf V will award the prize to Dr. Waksman at the traditional Nobel ceremonies Dec. 10. The Nobel literature prize will be awarded to the American poet, Robert Lowell.

War Criminals

Because of the war, the British case is ill wither. Previous convictions in the Nuremberg trials were in 1947. Resolving was 1947 to be shot for the Hitler-orchestrated Caves massacre in Nazi police execution in reprisal for an attack that killed 112.

U.S. Scientist To Be Awarded Nobel Prize for Streptomycin

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Dr. Selman A. Waksman, a Russian-born American scientist, was awarded the 1952 Nobel Prize in medicine Thursday night for unlocking from earth mold the wonder drug streptomycin, the first effective antibiotic against tuberculosis.

Dr. Waksman, 64, is director of the Institute of Microbiology at Rutgers university in New Brunswick, N. J. He is the co-discoverer of the drug, which was made known to the medical world in 1943.

The soft-spoken scientist, informed in New Brunswick of the top award for his years of research said he felt proud in "justifying the ancient saying: 'And from the earth shall come their salvation.'" The award "is the culminating point of my life's work, begun in 1915 with the study of a humble group of soil micro-organisms, the actinomycetes, which have yielded in recent years some of the greatest benefits to mankind," he said.

The prize is worth $38,000 in cash, but it also puts Dr. Waksman into the immortal ranks of scientists who have, in the words of Alfred Nobel's will establishing the award, "conferred the greatest benefit upon mankind."

To Award 43d Prize

It was the 43d prize in medicine from the Caroline Institute of Medicine in accord with the will of Nobel, Swedish inventor of dynamite, establishing the award in 1901. Dr. Waksman is the 15th American so honored.

King Gustaf Adolf of Sweden will award the prize to Dr. Waksman at the traditionally colorful Nobel ceremonies in Stockholm Dec. 10. The Nobel winners in literature, physics and chemistry will be announced Nov. 6. Their is no Nobel peace prize this year — the second time since World War II it has been skipped.

War Criminal Free Because of Cancer

BONN, Germany (AP) — Former Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, one of Hitler's most noted soldiers, was freed of his war crimes sentence by the British Thursday because he is ill with a throat cancer. Previous commutations had cut his penalty from death to 20 years in prison.

Kesselring was sentenced in 1947 to be shot for responsibility for the Hitler-ordered Ardeatine Caves massacre in Rome. Special Nazi police executed 335 Italians in reprisal for a partisan bomb attack that killed 53 German police.

Student's Wife Registers to Vote

MRS. R. A. LIEBENDORFER, (right), wife of an SUI student, registers to vote with Nadine Clemmensen, Al Audubon, at the city clerk's office Thursday afternoon. Prospective voters living within the city limits must register before noon Saturday in order to be eligible to vote in next month's presidential election. More than 2,100 voters have registered at the office since Sept. 1.

Language Translation Makes New Bible Better Lampe Says

Dr. M. V. Lampe, director of campus religious activities and administrative director of religion at SUI, believes that the new revised standard version is a genuine improvement of former translations of the Bible.

The New Revised Standard Bible is not a translation of the King James Bible. It was produced as a result of better understanding of the earliest manuscripts and the language in which the early bibles were written, Lampe said.

Lampe, who has been in the SUI department of religion since its founding 25 years ago, has made a study of many different editions of the Bible.

First Bible in Latin

The first Bible was printed 500 years ago by John Gutenberg of Mainz, Germany. This Bible, today known as the Gutenberg Bible, was printed in Latin. Prior to the Gutenberg Bible, many parchment Bibles were written out in long hand by monks, Lampe said.

Since then, many other editions of the Bible have been printed.

The King James version, which was first published in 1611 during the reign of King James, became the most popular, he said.

The religion professor emphasized that the New Revised Standard version may never fully replace the King James version. He gave several reasons for this.

May Not Be Liked

"People do not like changes in literature which has been familiar to them for lengthy periods," he said. "The Bible is a prized possession in many homes, and families often use the same Bible for generations."

"For example, Lampe said, 'the Lord's Prayer has slightly different wording in the new Bible. People will not suddenly change the wording they use when reciting it.'"

Lampe says the King James version is more dignified than the new version. The use of "thou" and "thee" add a certain prestige.

Word Meanings Changed

It is necessary to know meanings of old words to understand the King James version. Words such as prevent and proceed had different meanings 400 years ago than they do today, he said.

The word prevent, as used in the King James version, means to precede. The common usage of the word today is interpreted as to stop. The scholars who worked on the new Bible changed such words as these to the present day translation for easier understanding. "But they only changed words when it was necessary," Dr. Lampe said.

Bandits Kidnap, Terrorize 14 In Tennessee

SPARTA, Tenn. (AP) — Police fanned out Thursday night from this middle Tennessee town in search for four armed bandits who kidnaped at least 14 terrorized victims during the past two days and escaped in one of three stolen automobiles.

The search shifted toward Lebanon, 50 miles northwest of here, after a brazen daylight theft of an automobile from the public square. Police said a group of men stole the automobile from its parking place, but it was abandoned a short distance away.

Although the search centered in the Cumberland mountain plateau area around here, it extended also into Georgia and Kentucky. All the persons kidnaped at various points along U. S. highway 41 were released or escaped.

The victims, including a recently married couple from Maine, were robbed, threatened, and three of the victims had their automobiles taken from them.

The kidnaping and robbing spree broke out north of Chattanooga Wednesday, when 10 persons were victimized, then released or escaped.

But in Valdosta, Ga., Sheriff J. L. Futch said he believes the bandits are the same group which kidnaped, robbed and tied up four tourists from Hastings, Mich., and Toronto, Canada, Tuesday night.

Bond Issue Sold In 'Tough' Bidding

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP) — A $750,000 municipal sewer bond issue was sold to bidders Thursday at interest so low that competing buyers labeled it the "toughest" sale anywhere in the U.S. for at least seven months.

A syndicate of three firms bidding jointly bought the issue with an offer of 1 1/2 per cent interest and a cash premium to the city of $6,441. With this premium figured in, officials estimated the net interest at roughly 1.65 per cent.

Appointed Navy Ensigns

E. C. Gripp Eric Wilson Jr. Both Graduated in '49

5 SUI Grads Commissioned

Five SUI graduates will be commissioned ensigns in the naval reserve today at the U. S. Naval Officer Candidate School, Newport, R. I.

The men are Eric C. Wilson Jr., B.S. '49, Iowa City; Henry Huiskamp, B.S. '52, Keokuk; Bruce Glick, B.S. '52, Olin; E. Curtis Gripp, B.S. '49, Rock Island, Ill., and Charles Lenthe, M.S. '52, Iowa City.

They are among the 880 men receiving reserve commissions from the navy's only officer candidate school.

The graduating class is composed of two groups. One group, totaling 690 men, completed an intensive four-month training program and received general line officers' commissions. They received basic instruction in sea-going skills such as gunnery, seamanship, navigation, engineering, damage control and communications.

Philippine Typhoon Kills 443

2 Cities Destroyed, 2,000 Listed Missing

MANILLA (Friday) (AP) — The Red Cross said today that at least 443 persons were killed in Wednesday's violent typhoon and 209 more were listed as missing.

The toll was expected to go higher when communications are restored with the heavily-battered central Philippines.

The great storm — whose winds of unknown velocity whipped tree trunks through the air like matchsticks — destroyed at least two cities with a combined population of more than 113,000 on southeast Luzon.

The storm Thursday was bearing down on the eastern shores of Indo-China, which still had not recovered from a typhoon and tidal wave that killed hundreds earlier this week.

Red Cross Aids

Government agencies and the Philippine Red Cross sped relief to the stricken area of splintered homes and buildings, flattened crops and flooded towns and villages.

The Red Cross made the preliminary tabulation of 443 killed, 2,000 missing, and hundreds injured.

Hardest hit was the once thriving port of Legaspi, a city of 80,000 population 210 miles southeast of Manila, and Tabaco, a center of 33,000 population 20 miles north Legaspi.

118 in 1 Town

Red Cross reports listed 118 killed in Tabaco. This was said to be the largest typhoon casualty figure ever recorded in a single Philippines town.

AP correspondent Henry Hartzbusch, on the first plane to reach Legaspi, reported he flew over miles of utter devastation. Legaspi was in the very center of the storm. None there knew how high the winds rose because instruments at the weather station blew away when the velocity reached 125 miles an hour.

Hartzbusch found only the walls of 15 concrete buildings standing in Legaspi. None knew how many had died. Dazed survivors searched the wreckage looking for friends and relatives.

All Houses Down

No house was left standing at Tabaco, officials told Hartzbusch. Destruction was complete in Tabaco's port area. Even a concrete pier built only a year ago was swept away by the brutal waves.

Banana Boat Rescued After Storm

COAST GUARDSMEN (LEFT) pass an auxiliary pump to crewmen of the banana boat Micawber, whose own pumps failed in a fierce storm off Florida. Note how near the water is to the deck of the Micawber, despite the relative calm at time of the rescue mission. The distressed ship's engine room was pumped out and she limped to port at Tampa, Fla.

Decision Expected Today —

Board Studies Oakdale Project

The finance committee of the State Board of Education Thursday considered the awarding of contracts for the $85,000 Oakdale sanatorium fire prevention project and filed its recommendations with the board.

The board members, who met in Old Capitol, are not expected to approve contracts for the electrical, water and sewer improvements until sometime today, according to David A. Dancer, secretary to the board.

Six bids for the sewer and waterline work and two for the electrical project were received Oct. 14 by the sanatorium and were referred to the Stanley Engineering Co., Muscatine, for study.

Milo D. Wynn, sanatorium business manager, said at that time the bids indicated the electrical work could be done for $40,000 and the other work for $45,000. No objectors appeared at a public hearing on the project Oct. 14.

Committees of the State Board of Education met Thursday morning and most of the afternoon before the full board convened. In addition to the Oakdale project, the board also is working on its budget for the two years beginning July 1, 1953.

The board is expected to be in session all today and Saturday morning.

High School Journalists To Meet Here

More than 400 high school journalists and teachers are expected to attend the annual convention of the Iowa State High School Press association Oct. 31 and Nov. 1 at SUU.

Nearly 300 have made reservations already to attend the two-day meeting, which will feature talks and discussions on the various phases of "getting out a school newspaper," according to Virginia Coverdale, journalism instructor.

Don Brown, director of the Illinois High School Press association, and a former faculty member of the SUU school of journalism, will be the principal speaker. He will address the Friday afternoon session of the conference.

Clair Culver, Ft. Dodge, president of the Iowa Association of Journalism Directors, will preside at the opening assembly.

Participating in discussions of high school publications will be Mary Wessels, Iowa City; Arthur Lee, Council Bluffs; Hildegard Stolteben, Dubuque; Mable McCaslin, Ft. Madison; Richard Carey, West Waterloo; Vernon Schlattman, Newton, and Marguerite Blough, East Waterloo.

While the students tour the campus late in the afternoon, the teachers will hear an address by Prof. John L. Davies, assistant professor of the college of education. The first day's session will close with a jamboree in the evening.

Brown will open Saturday's meeting with an address, and group discussions will follow. Prof. Rodney Fox, of Iowa State college, Ames, will deliver a report at the closing assembly.

U.S. Asks UN To Back Allies In Truce Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United States asked the UN assembly Thursday to endorse the principles for peace in Korea as laid down by the Allied command at Panmunjom. It also urged the Communists to accept an armistice on those terms.

The U. S. resolution was circulated as the 60-nation political committee batted down an angry request by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky to invite the Red North Koreans here for the Korean debates. The vote was 38 to 11 against the Russian proposal.

Those voting to invite the Reds were the Soviet bloc plus Pakistan, India, Indonesia, Burma, Iran and Yemen. Eight countries abstained: Chile, Bolivia, Argentina, Syria, Israel, Mexico, Egypt and Saudi Arabia.

Vote for South Koreans

The committee voted 54 to 5 to invite to the table the delegation of the UN-sponsored Republic of Korea. Yugoslavia also abstained on this vote.

A two-hour wrangle on the invitations put off a scheduled speech by Secretary of State Dean Acheson. His staff said he planned to talk three hours on the entire Korean situation.

Acheson's spokesman said the address would be a "full and frank accounting" of the Korean negotiations and would disclose facts not previously made public.

Appealed to India

Other diplomatic sources said "very high" American and Allied officials had appealed to India to do what it could for an armistice in Korea.

These sources said the appeal was made before the assembly convened Oct. 14 and again after the session had started. The appeal was relayed to Prime Minister Nehru in New Delhi but nothing has been heard so far.

The British announced they they would co-sponsor the U. S. resolution.

Royalty Attends London Wedding of U.S. Heiress

LONDON (AP) — A pretty heiress to American millions, Virginia Fortune Ryan, was married Thursday to a Scottish nobleman, Lord Ogilvy, in a glittering society show that thrilled Londoners.

Princess Margaret was there with a smile and a handshake for the 26-year-old bridegroom — a former boy friend — and his American bride, 19, dressed in white satin.

A thousand guests, including Queen Mother Elizabeth and four other members of royalty, packed fashionable St. Margaret's church in Parliament Square for the 45-minute ceremony.

Outside, while 300 bobbies and a squad of mounted police struggled to keep order, thousands of cockney housewives, London shopgirls and other plain people cheered and waved. Police estimated the crowd that nearly filled Parliament Square at 10,000.

The bride's industrialist father, John Barry Ryan of New York and Newport, R. I., is the grandson of Thomas Fortune Ryan, American financier who died a multimillionaire in 1928. The bride's maternal grandfather was the late Otto Kahn, millionaire banker.

Ogilvy is heir to the 11th Earl of Airlie. His family's nobility dates back to the 17th century.

1924 Graduate Addresses ROTC

Col. Paul C. Brown, a 1924 graduate of SUU and of the ROTC program here, spoke to the senior class of Air Science, comptrollers here Thursday.

Brown is an air force installation's representative from Atlanta, Ga. He grew up in Johnson county.

Air force ROTC instructors said that Brown will return to SUU next Thursday to speak to the army engineer cadets.
