Meier Explains Predictions

SUI psychology professor Norman C. Meier who hit the nail on the head with his presidential election forecast explained his method of analysis Wednesday night.

He outlined three basic considerations he used in making his prediction.

The first was an analysis and evaluation of the national, state and local polls. Second, he studied voting registration figures state by state. And third, a study of voter groups was made.

Cites Texas, Gallup Polls

Meier, in pointing out an example of how he had evaluated polls, cited the Texas poll and the Gallup poll for the state of Texas. He said that after studying the two polls, he used the Texas poll, which favored Ike, instead of the Gallup poll taken in Texas favoring Stevenson, because of its wider scope and the reputation of Joe Belden who directed the poll.

The study of registration figures gave the professor the trend in key states such as Illinois and New York.

He said it was "clear that New York was going to go Republican because of the heavy upstate registration."

Stresses Upstate New York

In explaining this he stressed that the heavy registration in Republican upstate New York indicated a "protest vote" was on the way while the light New York city registration indicated that the city people, usually Democratic, weren't going to deliver the vote.

Farmers, women, new voters, white collar workers and the big city masses were some of the "voter groups" studied by Meier.

Labor Didn't Turn Out

He said labor did not turn out in full force for the Democrats as the white collar workers did in their "protest voting." Then he added that it was proved in the 1950 Ohio senatorial race, in which Senator Taft was re-elected, despite tremendous opposition by labor unions, that "you can't deliver labor." The psychology professor said the farmers had no reason to ally themselves with the Democrats this time. And he pointed out that most new registrations were made by protest voters.

On election issues he maintained that the Korean issue was the most important issue of the campaign and added that Eisenhower's offer to make a particular effort in the direction of Korea had a deep-seated appeal to a large number of voters.

At the same time the Democratic inaction in relation to Korea failed to gain support for the Democratic nominee.

Reds Refuse To Recognize Defensive Zone

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia Wednesday night gave notice that she refuses to recognize as legal a U. S. naval defensive zone in Korean waters. She said the U. S. naval order of Sept. 27 was an extension of a 1950 blockade which violated freedom of the seas.

The announcement was in a note delivered to the United States government in Washington Tuesday and broadcast by the Moscow radio Wednesday night.

The note called the order a "new aggressive act" and said Russia put full responsibility for "the consequences" on the United States government.

Order Announced by Clark

The order objected to was an apparent routine announcement by Gen. Mark Clark, UN commander, on Sept. 27, that a "sea defense zone" was being established in South Korea waters, particularly around islands on which war prisoners are held, to "eliminate infiltration of enemy agents."

Clark's announcement said investigation of past incidents of violence on the part of terroristic Communist prisoners of war held on these islands have shown conclusively that they were instigated and abetted by enemy agents, landed on the islands from small boats and carrying instructions from Communist headquarters in North Korea.

Zone to Prevent Attacks

Clark said the purpose of the sea defense zone also was to prevent attacks on the South Korean lines of communication and prevent infiltration of enemy agents into South Korea.

The Soviet note declared this act was a "violation of the freedom of the sea, trade in the open sea and also a violation of the rights of the USSR and other states."

"This fact proves once again that the U. S. government is not only unwilling to stop the war in Korea, but is following the paths of new acts of aggression," said the note.

In Washington, the state department acknowledged that it had received a Russian note but said it would make no comment until the note had been studied.

GOP Captures Control Of Congress, Net Gain Of 17 In House, 2 In Senate

The Victors and Their Wives, Facing the Future with a Smile

RICHARD M. NIXON, THE REPUBLICAN vice-president, and his wife, Pat, check election results on a teletype machine at their Ambassador hotel headquarters at Los Angeles to get final tabulations on the presidential nomination.

JUBILANT DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER AND HIS WIFE, Mamie, make their entrance into the Grand Ballroom of the Commodore hotel in New York to greet the cheering followers who helped them to victory in the presidential election. They appeared after the Democratic candidate, Adlai Stevenson, had telegraphed, conceding the election.

Surge for Ike Carries Party To Slim Edge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Control of both houses of congress passed into Republican hands Wednesday night, but by slender majorities which failed to match the electoral landslide which swept Dwight D. Eisenhower into the White House.

With only nine house contests undecided, the GOP had elected 219, or one more than the necessary majority of the 435-member house. Democrats elected 206.

The undecided races appeared about evenly divided between the two parties.

At this point in all-but-complete tabulation of Tuesday's balloting, Republicans had scored 23 house gains while the Democrats had overturned six Republicans for a net GOP gain of 17.

Michigan's Moody Out

The surge of the Eisenhower sweep carried Republicans to a hairline edge when Rep. Charles Potter, legless war veteran, beat Democratic Sen. Blair Moody to win Michigan's junior senate seat for the GOP.

Potter's victory gave the Republicans 49 seats and left the Democrats with 47. This exactly reversed the Democrats' 49-47 edge in the present senate.

Allen Rules Chairman

In such a situation Rep. Leo Allen (R-Ill.), is in line for chairmanship of the powerful house rules committee which wields a heavy hand over legislation reaching the floor of the house.

The chairmanship of the tax-writing house ways and means committee falls to Rep. Dan Reed of New York, a sharp critic of Truman administration tax policies.

Eight incumbent senators were beaten in Tuesday's voting, four Republicans and four Democrats.

Logic One Loser

GOP victims were Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, James P. Kem of Missouri; Harry Cain of Washington and Zales Ecton of Montana.

Democratic losers were Ernest McFarland of Arizona, the majority leader; Joseph O'Mahoney of Wyoming; William Benton of Connecticut; and Thomas Underwood of Kentucky.

The GOP senate "class of 1946," which won a big victory when the Republicans took over congress temporarily six years ago, fared very well in its second test at the polls.

11 'Sophomores' Win

Only three members lost, Cain, Ecton and Kem. Eleven others were victorious including Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin and William E. Jenner of Indiana, both targets of heavy Democratic fire this year.

New Democratic faces in the senate will include Stuart Symington of Missouri, former air force secretary and administrator of the reconstruction finance corporation; Price Daniel, Texas attorney general; and four youthful members of the present house: John Kennedy of Massachusetts, Albert Gore of Tennessee, Henry Jackson of Washington and Mike Mansfield of Montana.

City Precinct Totals Show Clean Sweep by Republicans

Secure 25th Senatorial District, 2 County Posts

Iowa City precinct totals were complete Wednesday evening, with the exception of the 5th ward, 2d precinct. Iowa Republicans made a clean sweep of the state posts and captured the 25th state senatorial district and two county offices.

The following figures indicate the closest races for state and county offices.

County Returns Nearly Complete

Totals for 32 of the 33 Johnson county precincts were complete Wednesday evening.

President: Eisenhower (R) 10,245, Stevenson (D) 7,598.
Governor: Beardley (R) 6,708, Loveless (D) 10,680.

Representative (1st district): Martin (R) 9,623, Williams (D) 7,338.

State Senator (25th district): Nolan (R) 8,625, Mercer (D) 8,416.

State Representative (41st district): Ludwig (R) 8,866, Swisher (D) 8,161.

County Sheriff: Murphy (R) 10,676, Stahmer (D) 6,261.

Supervisor (1953 term): Ziskovsky (R) 7,957, Mahoney (D) 3,551.

APPROVE AID EXCHANGE

MADRID (AP)—Spain's top military and political chiefs gave final approval Saturday to the draft of an aid-for-bases exchange agreement with the United States.

Union Open House — Dad's Day Party Set

A Union open house party will be held Saturday at 8:30 p.m. as a climax to the 1952 Dad's day weekend, under the sponsorship of the Union board and Omicron Delta Kappa, men's honorary leadership society.

Free refreshments, a musical combo, movies, and intermission entertainment are included in the program, the co-sponsors announced.

Paul Pearson and his orchestra will provide music for dancing in the main lounge of the Union, Ted Hutchison, A3, Algona, a Union board member, said.

Coffee and cookies will be served to parents and alumni in the private dining room, Hutchison said.

All facilities of the Union will be open Saturday night, including the snack bar, the hosts said.

Friday at 8 p.m. the 1952 Alumni Dad will be presented in the Memorial Union prior to the concert, "Experience in Modern Jazz," Ralph Fretty, A4, Des Moines, Omicron Delta Kappa Dad's Day chairman announced.

GOP Secures 4 More Demo Governorships

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans captured at least four governorships from the Democrats in Tuesday's voting, while holding on to all of their own.

Of the 30 governor's seats up in this year's elections, the Republicans elected or re-elected 19. Democrats succeeded Democrats in nine other states. The vote counts were not yet conclusive in Michigan or Montana.

Counting holdovers and Republican Burton M. Cross who was elected governor of Maine Sept. 8, the GOP could rely on a minimum of 29 statehouse footholds.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Democrat seeking a third term as governor of Michigan, built up a fragile lead of a few thousand votes over Republican Fred M. Alger, in a race which drew more than 2.8 million ballots.

Ten precincts were not yet heard from.

Illinois voters rejected Gov. Adlai Stevenson's candidate to succeed him in the Springfield capitol. Democrat Lt. Gov. Sherwood P. Dixon bowed to William G. Stratton by more than 200,000 votes.

In Ohio, however, Democrat Gov. Frank J. Lausche took the measure of Republican Charles F. Taft, brother of Ohio's senior senator. It was a fourth term for Lausche, an independent Democrat.

Gov. Paul A. Dever, Massachusetts, keynote speaker at the Democratic national convention, was knocked off by Republican congressman Christian A. Herter, who was rated a longshot by pre-election dopesters.

The governorships captured by Republicans from Democrats included Delaware, won by J. Caleb Boggs over Elbert N. Carvel; Illinois, taken by Stratton; Massachusetts, by Herter; and Indiana, where George N. Craig defeated John A. Watkins.

Margin of 350,000

At the same time the Republicans carried the state for president by a margin of 350,000.

"We had an opportunity to elect a governor," Grezbach said. "It is to the discredit of the Democratic party that we failed. Some counties such as Scott and Polk gave Loveless excellent majorities. Others fell down because organization work was ineffective."

Grezbach said the first essential in improving organization is "a state central committee." He uttered no criticism of Democratic State Chairman Jake More but indicated he meant new faces on the committee would be desirable.

Deficit of $12,000
The Iowa campaign came to an end with a deficit of $12,000 in the Democratic state treasury. It is up to More now to raise that money from a party that took a major beating in all phases of the 1952 general election.

More said, however, he isn't worried over the money problem. He believes he can find a sufficient number of contributors to pay the outstanding bills.

Civil Liberties Talk Set for Old Capitol

Patrick M. Malin, executive director of the American Civil Liberties union, will speak tonight at 8 in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

His topic is "Our Civil Liberties Today." Malin will be introduced by SUI Provost Harvey H. Davis.

A former professor of economics at Swarthmore college, Swarthmore, Pa., Malin recently succeeded Roger N. Baldwin as director of the ACLU.

The board of directors of the organization include Merle Miller, SUI journalism graduate; the Rev. John Haynes Holmes, Morris Ernst, William L. White, Elmer Rice, Norman Thomas and Norman Cousins.

The talk is sponsored by the SUI student council, the local American Association of University Professors, the Iowa City League of Women Voters and the Iowa City Ministerial association.

World News Briefs

A Condensation of Late Developments

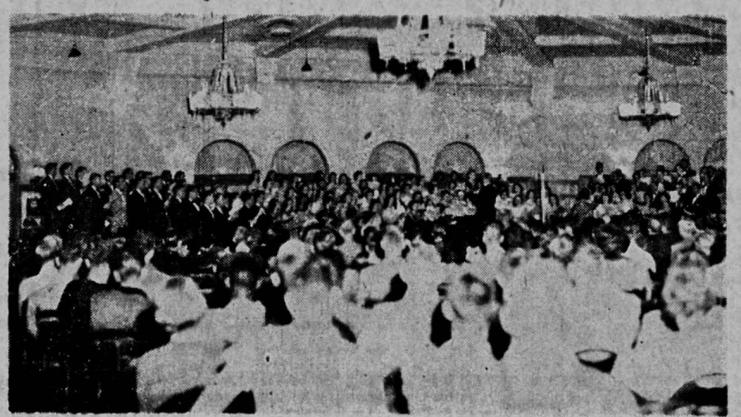

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA (AP)—(Thursday) Maj. John Eisenhower, only son of the president-elect, was jubilant today on his father's election and looking forward to seeing him on the general's trip to Korea. "It seems like a sensible thing for him to do," said John in an interview. "A trip to Korea won't work any miracles but it would be helpful to him to see the people and the ground over here, and see how things are." Young Eisenhower was back at work Wednesday with his division operations section after remaining in seclusion most of Wednesday.

NAIROBI, KENYA (AP)—A force of 100 police and 170 African tribal chiefs drove into the jungle in the Nyeri district before dawn Wednesday on a hunt for Mau Mau members suspected of being implicated in the slaying of senior Chief Nderi. In a seven-hour roundup, they questioned 60 Africans. Thirteen were detained. The Mau Mau is an anti-White secret society blamed for about 50 killings in recent months.

TEHRAN, IRAN (AP)—Foreign Minister Hossein Fatemi said Wednesday U.S. policy toward Iran has attempted to block Iran's national aspirations, and he expressed hope that under General Eisenhower this policy will be reversed. Iran would like for the United States to side with it against Britain in the dispute over nationalization of British oil holdings. So far the United States and Britain have worked closely together.

ISTANBUL, TURKEY (AP)—The Turkish Herald, only English language daily newspaper in this country, came out with a page one headline Wednesday reading "Stephenson is to be next U.S. president." The Herald attributed its information to "unconfirmed reports" received at 4 a.m., Turkish time.

University Chorus Performs at Initial Concert

MEMBERS OF THE UNIVERSITY CHORUS performed in their initial concert of the season Wednesday night at the Iowa Memorial Union. The 131 members of the vocal group provided a program of folk songs ranging from the fuguing tunes of William Billings to Czech, Russian, and American yuletide ballads. Also on the program were two choruses of Handel's "L'Allegro" and a "Fantasy on Children's Games." The season's next concert will be on Nov. 12, when the University symphony will perform. Berlin Inventors Disclose New Type Water-Cooled Light
BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin inventors claim to have devised a new type of lamp which cascades a room with artificial daylight. The lamp, which looks something like an oversize pencil, came out of the laboratories of the Osram Co., one of the biggest in Europe, after 10 years of research. Water-cooled, the lamp never exceeds a heat of 68 degrees Fahrenheit, dispenses twice the "sunlight strength" of an ordinary bulb and brings out the best effects from colored surroundings, the engineers contend. Theater and stage folk have shown considerable interest in it as a substitute for the big "spots" which can make life in grease paint mighty uncomfortable. Some of the lamps were used for the first time at the Bayreuth Wagner festival in July. The Osram engineers maintain that their "Xenon" light, as they call it, never needs corrections while ordinary Kleig lights must constantly be adjusted. Berlin's first television studios tried out the lamps earlier this year and spoke highly of them. The company sees a future also in such industries as textile mills where the true colors of the fabrics are heightened by the artificial light as though it was natural sunlight.

'Incidents' Cited As Rare Cause Of Making War

By CENTRAL PRESS

Will a small border "incident" start World War III?

This question must be buzzing in the heads of our military brass today, for they're going over all the angles pretty carefully. When an American general urges his men not to fall asleep on the Berlin elevated so they won't wake up in the Russian zone and cause an "incident," he's not taking any chances if he can help it.

Truth is, "incidents" can't start a war if nobody wants one. When the Germans and Russians partitioned Poland in 1939, they did it as the best of friends who had just signed a "non-aggression" pact. The army maps of the two forces painstakingly showed where the pie was to be cut, but despite this there was a mix-up.

Armies Race For Town
Both armies raced headlong into a town they thought was their own, and found themselves fighting it out. Hundreds of Russians and Germans were killed. A big force of Nazi tanks and trucks was routed. When word got back on what was going on, the battle was stopped—and hushed up.

The German general staff got a sassy note from the Nazi foreign office slapping them for getting into trouble with Germany's good "friends," the Russians. A whooper of an "incident"—but nothing happened.

'Incident' Can Start War
If a country wants war, however, an "incident" can start things off nicely. On Nov. 26, 1939, the Finnish minister in Moscow got a document from a grave Soviet official that made him start packing his bags and selling his office furniture. The Russian note accused the Finns of firing seven artillery shells at Red troops at 3:45 p.m. the previous day, killing four Russian soldiers and wounding nine others.

In a week, Russia had invaded Finland, while people in Moscow streets were muttering sarcastically, "We know about this artillery firing!" It was a hoax, of course, for a Red army man stationed near the "incident" at the time it supposedly happened told an American reporter he'd never heard about it till the propaganda boys got going.

Russians Use Method
The Russians took over Estonia the same way. When the Nazis attacked Poland in 1939, a Polish submarine sneaked off and made its way to an Estonian port, where it was stripped of all but five torpedoes. The crew was paroled, but in the middle of September they blackjacked the Estonian guards and took the sub to England.

The Russians shrieked that the Estonians had refueled the ship to prey on Soviet shipping in the Baltic, and shortly afterwards a grim Russian bulletin announced that a 4,000-ton Red freighter had been torpedoed by an "unknown" submarine. It wasn't long before the Soviet army moved in and garrisoned the country to make the Baltic "safe."

Russo-Japanese Example
If you think a lot of "incidents" can build up to something big, take the Russo-Japanese frontier in Siberia from 1931 to 1939, when something like 2,400 "incidents" went into the official record. They ranged from potshots at nine Japanese soldiers making a "topographical survey" to pitched battles of 20,000 to 30,000 men on a side. Yet Japan and Russia never went to war; those 2,400 excuses never amounted to much because neither country wanted a full-scale conflict.

Remodeling Hikes Revaluation Appraisers Put on Your Home

By RON BUTLER

That empty basement room you are converting into a recreation lounge will cost you more than just labor and materials.

According to the real estate appraisers who have been evaluating properties in Iowa City this year, you will have to pay additional taxes on it too.

Remodeling a basement room to a recreation lounge will raise the assessed value of the house. As a result, your real estate tax will be higher.

This is one of the many phases of the revaluation duties of the J. M. Clemmshaw company, appraisers of Cleveland, Ohio, assisting Victor Belger, city assessor, in classifying, pricing and computing assessments on Iowa City properties for the real estate tax year 1953.

Few Persons Qualified
Few persons can make a sound and equitable appraisal of property until they are familiar with conditions affecting its valuation.

Before these appraisers knock at your front door to inspect your home, they obtain as much information as possible concerning local costs of all kinds and qualities of construction materials. They also check the wages of union and non-union men in the building trades.

This data, along with many other details of construction costs, are developed into the unit cost of an average or basic dwelling. Unit costs, of course, vary greatly with each building appraised, but the basic is used as a standard from which the assessors base their calculations.

Classified into Grades
These basic dwellings are then classified into grades, for example, grade "AA" houses are custom built to architects' plans and specifications, costing between $40,000 and $50,000. At another level are the "B" grade dwellings. They are of ordinary construction costing from $8,000 to $12,000. This classification includes the bulk of Iowa City dwellings.

Property cards are made out for every piece of land whether it is vacant or improved. These property cards are headed with the owner's name, description and address of the piece of land. On each card is an outline sketch of each building, porch and addition.

The sketches are separately dimensioned so that the area of each portion of the sketch can be accurately measured and computed.

Then Visit Your Home
With this in hand, the appraisers come to your home. They proceed to check off the card the exterior construction, such as the foundation, story height, type of room and material in it and the wall construction.

Upon completion of the exterior check, the appraisers then obtain permission to enter your home for the interior inspection. This inspection is usually done very quickly. They note the type of flooring, paneling, the interior finish, type of heating, number of bathrooms, basement construction and any other items that will aid them in computing their assessment.

Obtains Purchase Data
The appraisers then obtain the age of the dwelling, and whenever possible, the date of purchase and the purchase price together with a record of improvements made since the purchase. Rents also are secured and analyzed. This is especially important in commercial properties.

With all this information, the appraisers can then make their estimates for the assessment. Taking into consideration that the

Iowa Parties Review Results Of '52 Election

DES MOINES (AP) — The torrent of votes cast in Iowa Tuesday gave victorious Republicans and even defeated Democrats something to talk about for years.

The future campaign fodder stacks up like this:

1. The vote set a new record which final and complete official tabulations probably will show was between 1,250,000 and 1,300,000. The previous high mark was 1,215,430, established 12 years ago.

2. Iowa ballots helped make Dwight D. Eisenhower the first Republican president in 20 years. Ike's Margin Greatest

3. General Ike's margin of victory was the greatest of any presidential winner in Iowa in 28 years. Apparently will end up at about 350,000.

4. The GOP elected every one of its nominees, from president to congress and on down through the statehouse slate.

5. Gov. William S. Beardsley became the third chief executive to win three times in a row. The other two also were Republicans.

6. While Eisenhower's majority was limited to about 50,000, Beardsley loses 19 counties. Beardsley's narrow squeak by 50,000 votes in a total of well over a million cast for governor brought speculation on the reason for his lag.

The discussion was on whether it was the result of his income tax and cattle troubles of about a year ago, or because his opponent, Democratic Herschel C. Loveless, was the first candidate in modern times to come out for legalizing the sale of liquor by the drink, or a combination of both.

Gov. Beardsley's Future Considered
Another immediate question was what effect his showing would have on his possible candidacy for the U. S. senate in 1954. In advance of the balloting the speculation was that his strength or weakness might be the basis of his decision.

One of the highlights of the voting was that the four Iowa counties which have gone to the winner of the presidency in every election since 1900 remained that way. They are Jasper, Palo Alto, Decatur and Monona.

Larson Led Ticket
Atty. Gen. Robert L. Larson, who has led the GOP ticket in every election since he started his state-wide anti-gambling drive in 1949, did it again.

Although the returns were slow in showing the makeup of the 1953 state legislature, it was certain that the Republicans continued their overwhelming majority. And it appeared that there would be fewer Democrat lawmakers than in at least several sessions.

5 1/2 Million Taxpayers File Federal Income Estimates for 1952

More than five and one-half million individual taxpayers filed estimates of federal income taxes on 1952 income, according to Commerce Clearing House, national reporting authority on tax and business law.

This is over 10 per cent of the 54,980,646 federal income tax returns filed by individuals during the fiscal year, 1952, and an increase of 8 per cent over the previous year.

Declarations of estimated income are required if wages subject to withholding exceed $4,500 plus $600 for each of the taxpayer's exemptions, or if other income is more than $100.

Farmers must keep records of children under 13 working on farms on school days, except if they are employed by parent or guardian, according to a new federal wage and hour law regulation, reported by Commerce Clearing House.

A recent child-labor enforcement drive in one state showed 54 cases of youngsters, 7 to 15 years old, working instead of studying. The farmers who employed them are subject to fines of $10,000.

A taxpayer who was allowed to deduct $900 in alimony payments on his federal income tax return was denied $2,000 in dependency exemptions by the U.S. tax court because his divorce decree failed to specify what part of the $75 monthly alimony was for the support of his four children, reports Commerce Clearing House.

A field manager whose earnings are dependent upon the total sales of his employer may deduct as ordinary and necessary expense any costs to him for entertaining his salesmen or their families in order to promote greater sales, says Commerce Clearing House in reporting a recent decision by the tax court of U.S.

SCHOOLS SEEK MORE ROOM
BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—Children in the Chenango Valley Central Schools District will soon find themselves attending classes in churches, clubs and fraternal lodge rooms. The board is seeking such space to take care of the 250 new students who have enrolled in the schools.

Bunny Chosen as Marine Pin-Up

ELBA (BUNNY) DE CAMP, A2, Newton, has been selected as the pin-up girl of the third marine division, Camp Pendleton, Calif. Bunny was chosen by the marines from her picture which appeared in the October Homecoming issue of Magazine X. The marines liked Bunny's picture so well that they have requested that she send more pictures to them so that they can decorate their recreation room.

Mamie Eisenhower Is Capital's New First Lady

Since Dwight D. Eisenhower won the election, the White House has a new first lady, in his wife, Mamie, who has proven herself to be a charming woman throughout the recent campaign months.

The new first lady has toured the states with her campaigning husband during the whole pre-election period. She has endeared herself to thousands of people, winning them over by her spontaneous smile and gracious ways. She will undoubtedly make herself even more loved by the people of America while her husband remains in the office of the President of the United States.

The culture and background of this lady have proved to be an aid to her and to her husband. Many things are expected of the president's lady and it appears that the wife of Dwight D. Eisenhower seems to be quite capable of handling almost anything that should arise.

Mrs. Eisenhower has been in the spotlight many times before this and has risen to the occasion with poise and confidence. Now more than ever before she will be expected to be the charming hostess at the Presidential receptions, earnest worker for the welfare of the United States, moral support for her husband, and wife and mother to her husband and her son.

It takes a woman of great courage to be a president's wife and manage the job with efficiency. Some women in history have attained great heights in being the first lady, such as Dolly Madison, one of the most charming hostesses Washington has ever known, Martha Washington, the first of the First Ladies, and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who has proven herself to be more than a first lady, by carrying on her work after her husband's death.

Maybe Mrs. Eisenhower will be one of these women who will achieve fame through the White House doors. At any rate, Mamie is the nation's new first lady and will more than likely do her best to maintain the respect due to her and to her husband.

Theta Initiates

Three girls were formally initiated to Kappa Alpha Theta social sorority Sunday, Nov. 2.

The new initiates are Joan Clark, A3, Charles City; Jane Topehy, A3, Storm Lake; Carol Sundeen, A2, Dubuque.

Bunny De Camp Voted Pin-Up Girl By Marines

Magazine X is coming to be one of the most widely read of all the college magazines, or so it seems.

The circulation of the magazine is much greater than expected, for a company of marines stationed at Camp Pendleton, Calif., have received a copy of the Homecoming issue of Magazine X and have found it much to their liking.

Elba De Camp, (better known as Bunny,) A2, Newton, Delta Gamma, has been voted the pin-up of company "C-3D", engineering battalion, 3d marine division, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Bunny was the pin-up in the Retail Services Start Posting Ceiling Prices

Posting of ceiling prices for retail services started Monday, the regional office of price stabilization has announced. The listings will be posted on charts furnished by the government.

The charts are the same for all types of services. Space is provided on each chart for listing 20 of the shop's principal services.

If the shop renders more than 20 services, the shopkeeper must have a list of the additional OPS charts.

Charts will be 11 inches by 17 inches and will have "OPS Ceiling Prices for Retail Services" printed across the top.

St. Ansgar Honors A Home-town Hero, Iowa's Andy Houg

Andy Houg
Town Welcomes Him

The town of St. Ansgar, located in the northeastern part of the state, paid its respects to their home-town hero, Andy Houg, D1, as members of the Iowa varsity football squad drove through on their return trip from the Iowa-Minnesota game at Minneapolis last weekend.

Banners flying "Welcome Iowa Hawkeyes, Home of Andy Houg," showed the Hawks that St. Ansgar was behind the team and their native son, Andy.

Andy, who played defensive end in the 1951 season, has been shifted to offensive guard this year to better use his speed, but he is still seeing action at end position.

Playing end last year Andy earned his varsity letter. In high school he was a three sport athlete. Here at the university he is enrolled in the college of dentistry and maintains a B-plus average.

Community Chest Drive Ends Nov. 8; $27,540 to Go

The Iowa City Community Chest reported receiving $7,700.05, or 22 per cent of this year's goal of $35,240, by noon Wednesday.

The business firms and employe's division leads the drive with contributions of $6,419.45, or 39 per cent of its quota.

The public service unit, which includes schools, hospitals and governmental offices, has reached 22 per cent of its quota with a contribution of $385.45.

The special contributions division, including professional workers, clubs and organizations, is next on the list with a $290 contribution, or 10 per cent of its quota.

The residential division has contributed $381.15, or eight per cent of its share.

The university division, which is comprised of faculty and staff members, has given $251, or three per cent of its quota.

The County United Defense fund reported no contributions as of noon Wednesday.

The drive opened Oct. 29, and will close Nov. 8.

Stolen $1,600 Returned

ESTHERVILLE (AP) — The money he reported stolen from his home Oct. 23 has been returned as mysteriously as it was taken, Late Bell reported to police Wednesday.

Bell said he found the $1,600—minus five dollars—and a watch that was taken at the same time, in a box on his back porch Tuesday night. The box was empty when he placed it on the porch, Bell asserted.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell had reported the money, an inheritance Mrs. Bell received from her mother, had been taken Oct. 23 from a billfold which was in her purse in a bureau drawer.

Shortly before the money was found on the back porch, Bell said, he and his wife saw a car stop in front of their house.

Record Vote Cast in County

A record vote of 19,362 was cast in Johnson county in Tuesday's election. "Get out the vote" promotion activities are believed to have increased the turnout.

Close senatorial, congressional, and gubernatorial races also stimulated voting.

Early Tuesday the voting in the county was so heavy that officials ordered extra ballots printed. These were not used, however.

In 18 of the 24 precincts outside Iowa City the voting was heavier.

University Heights in West Lucas township, had a total of 1,977 ballots cast; Coralville had 715 and the rural precinct in the township recorded 216 votes.

Clear Creek (Tiffin) township had a total vote of 293, compared with 292 in 1948. Clear Creek (Oakdale) had a bigger vote than four years ago; 119 ballots compared with the previous total of 86.

Here are other townships with higher totals Tuesday than in 1948:

Ojemann Urges Study Of Human Behavior

"What drives the person who drives his car through the stop-light?" a SUI professor challenged community leaders meeting at a mental health workshop in the Iowa Center for Continuation Study this week.

We must shift from our concern with what people do to why they do things that make for social strife, urged Ralph Ojemann, who is chairman of the university's project in preventive psychiatry.

Most of our civics and history books give surface treatments of human behavior, he explained. They describe our police force and give the steps in the apprehension and detention of the criminal, he said, but they don't tell us enough about how and why the accused man becomes a criminal.

Broken Rules Make Accidents
Chapters on safety tell us that accident occur because people speed, ignore traffic signals and break other safety rules. We must know why they break such rules, he insisted.

To learn more of the "why's" of human behavior, the university has, in the preventive psychiatry project, a scientifically-planned program to discover how personality grows. This program is designed to report in detail how a child, in his expanding life with parents, teachers and other children, piles up strains in his interpersonal relationships, Ojemann said.

Instead of reacting to the surface meaning of a child's refusal to eat, for instance, we must try to react to the possible causes of that "I won't!"

Fewer Conflicts Result
This more meaningful reaction will result in fewer parent-child conflicts which sow the seeds for further conflicts in the family and for troubles outside the family, in speeding cars, in divorce courts and in our criminal courts, Ojemann concluded.

In the five-day session in the new center for adult study, social workers, nurses, ministers and other community service leaders are discussing mental health needs of Iowa communities. From psychiatrists and institution superintendents they are receiving information about new developments in rehabilitation, says Mrs. Gordon DeLay, Cedar Rapids, president of the Iowa Society for Mental Health.

The group is concerned with treatment of mental disorders, Mrs. DeLay explained.

Civil Service Sets Geologist Exams

Examinations for geologist positions in the geological survey of the department of the interior and other federal agencies, have been announced by the U. S. Civil Service Commission.

Salaries for the positions are $3,410 and $4,205 a year.

Applicants for this examination will be required to take a written test, in addition to having had appropriate education and experience.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from the commission's local secretary, Lester J. Parizek, in the post office, or from the U. S. Civil Service commission, Washington 25, D. C.

Applications must be filed by Jan. 6, 1953, with the executive secretary of the civil service examiners in Washington.

October Driest Month In Iowa Since 1873

DES MOINES (AP) — October was the driest month in Iowa since the weather bureau started keeping records in 1873, the Iowa monthly weather bulletin said Wednesday.

Total precipitation for the state during the month averaged .02 of an inch. The previous driest month was November, 1904, when only .15 of an inch of rain fell, and the driest October Iowa had seen before was in 1943, when precipitation totaled .33 of an inch.

2 Minnesota Men Held for Questioning About Illegal Liquor

SIoux CITY (AP) — A police investigation continued Wednesday of two Minneapolis men and two local residents arrested Monday after police seized a car here. They said it had been used in transporting liquor illegally from Minnesota.

The officers said they found a large quantity of liquor and burglar tools in the car.

Police Chief Russell White said he believed the arrests of the two Minnesotans had smashed a ring which had been operating in delivering whisky to several parts of Iowa including Sioux City.

The Minneapolis men held are Walter Morneau, 38, and Clarence L. Salney, 52. Also being held for questioning are George Kelley, Sioux City tavern operator, and Mrs. Patricia Pirog, Kelley's sister-in-law. Mrs. Kelley and William Waxweiler, also a tavern operator, were charged with illegal possession of liquor and are being held.

Minnesota authorities said that numerous liquor stores had been burglarized there in the last several months and said that there was strong indication that some of the liquor had been transported to Iowa, Chief White stated.

Natural Gas Co. Gets Authorization To Boost Facilities

OMAHA (AP) — Northern Natural Gas company announced Wednesday it would start work at once on new pipeline facilities which it hopes will boost its daily capacity 20 million cubic feet per day by the first of the year.

John Merriam, president of Northern Natural, said the firm plans to continue construction to add 90 million cubic feet more capacity by next summer. This would raise the company's daily capacity to 825 million cubic feet per day.

The new construction was authorized in a modified order received from the commission Wednesday.

Northern Natural also announced formation of a new wholly owned subsidiary, called the Northern Natural Gas Producing company, to which it has transferred all its own wells and leases in the Hugoton field of Kansas, plus all of the company's wildcat acreage in Nebraska, Texas, North and South Dakota and Canada.

The U.S. Census Bureau says that about 12 1/2 million people live in the New York urban area in the New York State and New Jersey.

2 Children Die, 1 Man Injured As Fire Chars Iowa City House

THE TRICYCLE SITTING IN THE FRONT YARD belonged to the two McEnerney children, Gary, 7, and Janice, 5, who died of suffocation early Tuesday morning in the fire which swept the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John P. McEnerney, 804 E. Davenport st. Their uncle, Howard McEnerney, 28, Cedar Rapids, was treated at Mercy hospital for cuts and burns received while trying to rescue the two children through the small second story window. His efforts were hampered because of the television aerial blocking the window, (arrow). Fire damaged the kitchen, other sections of the downstairs and the stairway extensively. Flames did not damage the room in which the children were sleeping, however.

Suffocation caused the death of two Iowa City children early Wednesday when fire swept the John P. McEnerney residence at 804 E. Davenport st.

Howard McEnerney, 28, Cedar Rapids, uncle of the children, suffered cuts and burns while trying to rescue them. He was released from Mercy hospital Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. McEnerney and their other two children escaped the fire without injury.

The children who died were Gary, 7, and Janice, 5.

Firemen tried to revive the children for more than an hour with resuscitators.

The fire started in the kitchen of the home about 3:45 a.m., firemen said. The cause is not known.

The flames spread up the stairs of the house from a hall near the kitchen. The children who died were sleeping in a bedroom at the head of the stairs. The uncle was sleeping in an adjoining room at the front of the house.

Firemen believe that fire and intense heat blocked any exit through the window which is located on one side of the children's bedroom.

Howard McEnerney escaped through an upstairs window which is less than two feet square.

New Congress Faced With 6 Major Issues As 'New Deal-Fair Deal' Era Closes

GOP Victory Halts 20-Year Demo Reign

WASHINGTON (AP)—The "New Deal-Fair Deal" era — which began 20 years ago in the depression — went tumbling into history Wednesday with the Republican presidential victory.

The voters' decision to send Dwight D. Eisenhower to the White House closed the chapter, one of the most exciting and stormy in the life of the Republic.

Wars — hot and cold, declared and undeclared — already had put the brakes on many of the social and economic revisions started by Franklin D. Roosevelt and advocated by his successor, Harry S. Truman. Very few such legislative changes have been enacted since the outbreak of the fighting in Korea, or even the end of World War II.

Emphasis May Shift
With Eisenhower calling signals from the White House after January, the emphasis on legislative objectives may shift.

That is not to say that a drive will start to dismantle all the Roosevelt-Truman laws. Eisenhower and his Democratic rival, Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, were in agreement on the need for such matters as social security, farm price supports and the development of natural resources.

The winning candidate took the stand, however, that there should be a maximum of local participation in these affairs, a minimum of federal interference in their development.

Got Quick Start
The New Deal got off to a flying start in the first 100 days of Roosevelt's first term, in 1933. A collective economic panic then had gripped the United States.

Immediately after his inauguration, Roosevelt ordered a three-day bank holiday, to slow down runs and failures. Then he called an emergency session of congress.

If the members of congress weren't sure what they were supposed to do, Roosevelt's "brain trust" supplied a steady stream of drafts for new legislation. Those measures, which vested enormous new powers in the chief executive, went through swiftly and with a minimum of debate.

Unemployment Relief
One of the first emergency items was an outright grant of $500 million to the states for the relief of unemployment.

Billions of dollars were spent by WPA and other "alphabetical agencies" set up later.

These developments formed only the base layer of the New Deal.

131 Voices — Chorus Offers Varied Songs

The University chorus concert Wednesday night was marked by a great variety of international folksongs, a repertoire which proved especially adaptable to the blending of 131 trained voices.

First on the program were three rollicking songs. "When Allen-a-Dale Went A-Hunting" demonstrated the soprano section's excellence in passages which require a sweeping rhythm.

The second, "Dainty Damsels," employed a courtly theme to the chorus' best advantage, while the third, "When the Foeman Bares His Steel," was a thumping hunting-song which utilized the timbre of the baritone section to convey a mood of virility and heartiness.

Skilled Accompanist Helps
Handel's melodious "L'Allegru" was divided into two choruses, the second of which showed more of a tendency toward the "Il Penseroso." The first was distinguished by the accompanist, Ruth Vornholt, who aided the chorus in simulating the sounds of ringing bells and chiming carol-like effects.

Three fuguing tunes by William Billings, the first American composer to write choral music, were suited to the chorus' adeptness with native songs which express a primitive faith and confidence. "Creation," a chant of excessive ardour and jubilation, "When Jesus Wept," a lonely dirge reflecting the Biblical tale of sorrow, and "Be Glad Then America," a melancholy work of ecclesiastic stateliness, were sung with an expert flourish.

Leon Wagner, a graduate student in the SUI music department, arranged four folksongs for the later part of the program. The first, a product of North Carolina culture entitled "The Lass from the Low COUNTRY," was rich in lyric tone.

3 Yule Ballads
The remaining three seasonal ballads, Czech, Russian, and Ukrainian, were religiously austere reflections of the coming yuletide. "Sleep Little King," an air of rhapsodic grace which requires an undulating theme, was effortlessly performed by the various sections. "The Well-Beloved," an Armenian folksong arranged by critic Deems Taylor, featured soprano soloist Sharla Kvidera, whose voice is notable for its vibrancy and flute-like qualities. The concluding number, a "Fantasy on Children's Games," offered a group of nursery ballads, their whimsy and frivolity supplemented by a poignant strain.

It's Derby Time for Dentists

SENIOR DENTAL STUDENTS BEGAN wearing derbies this week and will continue the practice all year. Here Wayne Hopp, M.D., president of the senior dentistry class, adjusts the hat of Leo Young, Graettinger, while Roscoe Feldman, Ames, watches. The idea was first suggested by Mrs. A. A. Plagman in 1922 in a Daily Iowan letter to the editor. At that time senior dentists identified themselves by wearing vests. The class of 1924 took up the idea, but it never came into extensive usage. During World War II the custom was dropped. This fall the senior dental students ordered 35 new hats. These, with a few hand-me-downs, should keep the class of 1953 and succeeding classes hard-hatted for some time.

See Review of U.S. Mobilization Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The newly chosen congress faces half a dozen major issues, including a thorough review of the nation's machinery for half-war mobilization.

The next session, beginning Jan. 3, may be stormy and probably will be of fundamental importance.

Explore Tax Policy
In addition to major international and military problems, the legislators must decide whether to continue the present high tax rates and what to do about wage and price controls.

They probably will consider changes in the controversial Taft-Hartley act. The senate may argue about altering its rules to allow civil rights legislation.

Investigation Step-up
Congressional investigations are likely to be stepped up, with heavy emphasis on uncovering waste in military expenditures and exploring Communist activity. A new probe of tax-free institutions is expected to begin next year.

The entire house and a third of the senate will come back with fresh support from the polls. Holdovers will consider re-election an endorsement of their previous policies. Newcomers will push their own ideas.

There are four immediate issues before the 83rd congress: military expenditures, foreign assistance, taxes, and price controls.

Allied Gunners, 500 ROKs In Attack on Triangle Hill

SEOUL (AP)—Allied leaders of the Republic of Korea announced Wednesday that they had launched a surprise attack on Triangle Hill during daylight Wednesday and let artillery power take over the brunt of battle.

Dispatches said the decision came during a visit of Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U. S. eighth army commander, to the blazing central front.

Valiant South Korean troops pulled a surprise attack against the bloody Triangle hill mass, north of Kumhwa, at 4 a.m. — without artillery preparation.

One assault wave after another hit the crest, but the highest the South Koreans could reach was 10 yards short of the top.

The Republic of Korea troops, now in the 24th day of battle for the hill, pulled back after 11 hours of fighting.

On nearby Sniper Ridge the Chinese Communists were
