Secret Precautions Set For Ike's Korean Trip

More Information Due This Weekend

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Extensive security precautions are being set up to safeguard President-elect Eisenhower against any enemy attack when he visits Korea — and on the way there and back.

Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, told a news conference Tuesday he hoped to be able to make public by the end of the week "some information" about the forthcoming trip.

But it was clear that the information will be most sparse — for security reasons.

Asked about published reports that the general probably will spend Thanksgiving day in Korea with front-line American troops, Hagerty replied:

No Date Set

"As we have said repeatedly, no date has been set for the Korean trip. The time just has not been decided."

It was learned, meanwhile, that any information Hagerty gives out this week probably will deal only with arrangements newsmen need to make regarding passports, accreditation to the Defense department, and clearance with the Far East command.

There were indications there may be no advance official announcement of the date Eisenhower will leave for Korea — or anything on how he will travel.

Secrecy To Be Tight

And the secrecy will be tight regarding his exact whereabouts once he arrives in Korea.

There will be no advance word, either, on how long he plans to remain in that war-torn country.

Eisenhower promised during the campaign that if elected he would go to Korea in an effort to find a way to end the conflict there.

Every precaution is being taken to keep the Communist enemy in Korea guessing.

Speculation Rises

There has been speculation that the general would leave for Korea a few days after he meets at the White House with President Truman early next week for discussion of intranational and domestic problems.

Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) said in New York Tuesday, however, that Eisenhower had made a date to see him there two weeks hence for a conference on U.S. foreign policy.

That appeared to indicate that Eisenhower might not get started for Korea until late in the month at the earliest.

Ike, Adlai Endorse Freedom Crusade

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Eisenhower said Tuesday night that Radio Free Europe and Radio Free Asia "are hurting the Reds and giving comfort and encouragement to oppressed people."

Both Eisenhower and Gov. Adlai Stevenson, whom he defeated for the presidency, delivered recorded radio broadcasts endorsing the 1952 Crusade for Freedom, sponsor of the two anti-Communist networks.

World News Briefs

A Condensation of Late Developments

TOKYO (AP) — A Peiping broadcast said Tuesday President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower could do nothing about ending the Korean war unless "U.S. ruling circles" abandon "their preposterous proposal for forcible detention of war prisoners." In its first reference to Eisenhower's forthcoming trip to Korea, Peiping asserted "Eisenhower's ambiguously worded promise to end the Korean war enabled him to win a majority of votes."

BONN, GERMANY (AP) — The leadership of West Germany's powerful Social Democrat party Tuesday night adopted a resolution to call on Saarlanders to boycott the Nov. 30 elections in the disputed territory. Adenauer's government has announced that it considers the elections illegal because the French-supported Saar government has banned pro-German parties from participating.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam plans to announce later this week how he will handle the soft coal wage appeal, filed by President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers and a major portion of the soft coal industry. He was believed to be considering a public hearing on all the evidence already presented privately to the WSB and any new evidence the operators and Lewis may wish to present to support their fight for government approval of a $1.90 daily wage hike for 375,000 bituminous coal miners.

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet press announcement said Tuesday antibiotics such as penicillin and streptomycin are increasing in supply in the Soviet Union, but scientific institutions were sharply criticized for their work in the field. Wonder-drugs (antibiotics) have been in extremely short supply in all the satellite Communist countries and probably in the Soviet Union itself. Research institutions were criticized for paying insufficient attention to the study, and medical institutes for not participating sufficiently in examining the problem.

'X' to Go on Sale Today

THIS IS THE COVER PAGE OF THE MAGAZINE X on sale today on the campus and at newsstands in Iowa City. The illustration was drawn by Ron Butler, A4, Newton. This is the second publication of the year and is built around a Thanksgiving theme. Featured in this issue is a story written under the pen-name of Ickey Profane, a takeoff on Mickey Spillane's fame. There are many humorous articles, jokes, cartoons and poetry beneath the cover page seen above. The price of the magazine will be 10 cents.

Atomic Energy Commission Still Mum on H-Bomb Blast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials of the Atomic Energy Commission persisted in tight-lipped silence Tuesday in the face of reports that the first American-made hydrogen "hell" bomb has been exploded in the South Pacific.

"We will have absolutely no comment until the current series of atomic tests is concluded," an AEC spokesman said. "Then we will make an announcement."

Previously, AEC officials had indicated that for security reasons it might be years before any announcement would be made in connection with hydrogen bomb experiments.

Scientists Discuss Tidal Wave

Meanwhile, scientists here dismissed any idea that an H-bomb explosion might have caused the 13-foot tidal wave that struck the island of Oahu, Hawaii, on Nov. 4, and also threw huge waves against the Aleutians and Midway island.

Scientists said any man-made detonation would be puny compared to the gigantic forces unleashed by nature — such as earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, hurricanes and other phenomena — that might set tidal waves in motion.

Newsman Forced To Leave South After Terror Ride

TUPELO, Miss. (AP) — Newell Anderson, circulation manager of the Tupelo Journal, who said he was ordered by two hooded men to leave town by 6 p.m. Wednesday decided Tuesday night to obey the ultimatum.

Anderson told police the men took him on a wild ride of terror Monday night because he is a "Yankee" and threatened him with worse if he and his pretty blonde 21-year-old wife did not leave by the deadline.

Mrs. Anderson said they would leave here Wednesday for Fargo, N.D., her husband's hometown. They were married last June at Grand Forks, N.D., where he worked for the Grand Forks Herald. They came here Oct. 1.

Rita and Aly's Lawyers Agree on Settlement

PARIS (AP) — The story book romance of Rita Hayworth and Aly Khan appeared to reach its last chapter Tuesday, as their lawyers agreed on a property settlement.

The agreement, which both lawyers said they expected their clients to sign, calls on the Moslem prince to set up an undisclosed sum of money and securities — maybe as much as three million dollars — in a trust fund for the estranged couple's 3-year-old daughter, Yasmin.

Eden Offers UN 4-Point Plan As Key To Armistice In Korea

Socialist Chief To Air Views In SUI Debate

Opposing points of view on U.S. foreign policy will be presented in the third lecture of the season at SUI Nov. 19, announced Earl E. Harper, chairman of the committee on university lectures.

Norman Thomas, five times a candidate for U.S. president on the Socialist ticket, will debate William McGovern, author and lecturer, on the subject, "Do We Have a Constructive Foreign Policy?"

Thomas, who carried newspapers for editor Warren Gamaliel Harding in Marion, Ohio, and went to class under Prof. Woodrow Wilson at Princeton university, has been a social worker, minister, editor and author as well as presidential candidate. His many books include "America's Way Out," "Human Exploitation," and "What Is Our Destiny?"

McGovern Taught Chinese

McGovern, who began his extensive traveling when he was only a few weeks old, grew up speaking Japanese and Chinese as well as English. He worked his way through Oxford university by teaching Chinese.

During World War II, as a representative of the office of strategic services, he visited every theater of operation and helped prepare a daily top-secret newspaper on enemy capabilities and intentions, a paper which was "required reading" for President Roosevelt and the joint chiefs of staff.

Written 4 Books

McGovern's books include "To Lhasa in Disguise," "Jungle Paths and Inca Ruins," "Early Empires of Central Asia," and "From Luther to Hitler."

The first university lecture of 1952-53 was delivered by Marquis Childs, political columnist, and the second by John Mason Brown, drama critic.

Free tickets will be distributed to students, faculty, and staff beginning Friday in the Iowa Memorial Union. Remaining tickets, Harper says, will be available to others on the day of the lecture.

H-Bomb Workers Deliver Ultimatum

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Union officials Tuesday set a Thursday morning deadline for a sub-contractor at the Savannah River H-bomb plant to re-employ six technicians they charge were fired for union activity.

Striking technical workers withdrew their picket lines Monday night after snarling construction work at the vast atomic energy layout in Aiken County, S.C., 14 miles east of Augusta.

Officials of the American Federation of Technical Engineers (AFTE) met for two hours Tuesday afternoon with representatives of the Miller Electrical company of Jacksonville, Fla.

The company had no comment on the union demands.

Claims Red Citizenship—

American-Born UN Typist Switches Allegiance

NEW YORK (AP) — A pretty blonde typist told an astonished senate subcommittee Tuesday she switched her allegiance to Russia but worked for the United Nations as an American.

"She was charged to the U. S. quota at the UN while holding a Russian passport and U. S. S. R. citizenship — this I cannot understand," said subcommittee counsel Robert Morris indignantly.

"I am not disloyal," replied the witness, Olga Michka. "I never did anything against America."

The 33-year-old American-born Miss Michka testified she applied for a Soviet passport in 1939 and actually got it 10 years later. In her opinion, she thus surrendered her American citizenship.

Miss Michka, attractive in a dark green suit, said she wanted the passport to go to Russia.

"But I haven't been there yet," she added.

Artillery Barrage Aids in Recapture of Hill

NIGHT LIFE IN KOREA—A circle of light cuts through the blackness of night as a 155mm howitzer gives out with an ear-splitting blast somewhere along the Korean front. Heavy artillery fire continued Tuesday night and preceded the re-capture of Sniper Ridge from the Red troops.

Allies Recapture Ridge After See-Saw Battle

SEOUL, Korea (Wednesday) (AP) — South Korean infantrymen in five hours of savage fighting today captured the crest of shell-ripped Sniper Ridge from Reds who had pushed them off Tuesday night for the 13th time in 29 days.

Associated Press Correspondent John Randolph reported from the central front that the South Koreans won back the crest, Pinpoint Hill, at 1:05 a.m. They were still battling the Reds fiercely just to the north of Pinpoint.

Terrific Red Barrage

About 1,500 Chinese Reds drove the ROKs from Pinpoint Tuesday night, attacking behind a terrific artillery and mortar barrage.

It was the same sort of headlong attack that had virtually wrecked two Chinese armies—numbering up to 80,000 men — on the central front within a month.

But the Allies had lost the last gain they had made in a limited offensive they launched Oct. 14 for control of the ridges towering north of Kumhwa.

Wild Red Counter-Offensive

Then late Tuesday the fury of the Red counter-offensive was directed at South Korean defenders of Pinpoint—highest point on Sniper Ridge. The attack shoved the Allies back to their bases on the lower spur of Sniper Ridge.

The battle was fought in pitch darkness. A drizzling rain and lowering clouds around the height doused Allied flares and hampered air and artillery support.

The Reds opened the attack at 4 p.m. with a mighty barrage. One U. S. military adviser called it "the heaviest artillery concentration I have ever seen."

In the first few moments a thousand rounds of mixed artillery and mortar shells crashed down on the narrow crest of Sniper Ridge.

The firing came from an estimated 150 or more Chinese guns. They had lain quiet during the preceding four days under a merciless pounding by Allied artillery and planes.

Anamosa Escapees Caught in Missouri

Two men identified as escapees from the men's reformatory at Anamosa were arrested Tuesday night in Bethany, Mo. in a stolen car belonging to R. J. Manternach, 319 S. Capitol st., Iowa City police said.

The Iowa highway patrol said that the Missouri state police notified them that the escapees were Marion A. Williams, 21, Fairfield, and Arthur Maxam, 27, Tucson, Ariz.

Williams and Maxam escaped from the reformatory Sunday by climbing an unguarded wall. They were not missed until early Sunday night when crews were changed in the boiler room of the reformatory where the two men worked.

Manternach reported to the Iowa City police at 7 a.m. Tuesday that his car, a 1951 Buick, was missing.

Christian Mission Moves Into 4th Day With 9 Lectures Set

The University Christian mission moves into its fourth day today with nine more lectures in SUI classrooms, four coffee hours, a faculty meeting and several discussion group meetings on the schedule.

With the morning devoted primarily to classroom lectures by an eight-man speaking team, the program has afternoon coffee hours scheduled for the Iowa Union, the Christian church, the Congregational church and the Presbyterian church, all at 4 p.m.

M. L. Harvey, dean of students at Southern university, will address the 4:30 p.m. faculty meeting in Schaeffer hall. His topic is "Spiritual Values in the Instructional Program."

Informal discussion periods in various residence groups will be offered tonight by the mission.

Today's program ends with a fireside discussion at the Baptist Student center at 9 p.m.

Members of the mission team will be available for personal counseling today and Thursday. Students may contact them at X2202.

Big Struggle

3,500 Pound 'Bride' Meets Husband

CINCINNATI (AP) — Fourteen men, using two trucks and a crane, worked for four hours Tuesday to carry a 3,500 pound "bride" over the threshold to her "room."

And before they did they spent 10 days trying to trap the unwilling "bride" into a cage.

The bride was Maude II, a Cincinnati-born hippopotamus at the Cincinnati zoo. The groom was Zeeko, a 40-year-old hippo who has been at the zoo for many years and already has fathered 11 children.

E. W. Townsley, president of the zoo, said the practice of breeding and rearing animals is being followed because of almost prohibitive costs of importing them.

The cage in which Maude II was trapped was baited with tempting foods 10 days ago but she didn't yield until Tuesday. Then the cage door was snapped shut.

A crane hoisted the cage and Maude onto a truck and she was taken to the building where Zeeko was waiting.

Makes Appeal For Peace To Vishinsky

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Anthony Eden offered Andrei Y. Vishinsky a four-point plan Tuesday for settling the prisoner of war deadlock in Korea. He appealed to the Soviet foreign minister to take "one crucial step" toward a final settlement and accept the British idea.

Vishinsky sat grimly silent in the UN assembly as the British foreign secretary spoke and there was little hope in Western circles that the Russian would take the one step.

Vishinsky's Speech Closed Door

A United States spokesman said his delegation felt Vishinsky's long speech Monday in the political committee was "close to closing the door as you can come without saying so."

"It seems to us that Mr. Eden is saying Mr. Vishinsky has said 'no' but we hope he doesn't mean it," the spokesman added.

Vishinsky insisted Monday that all prisoners must be repatriated. Eden paid close attention. Tuesday he told the assembly he does not despair of agreement. He outlined his set of principles as follows:

Eden's Four Principles

"First: That every prisoner of war has the right, on the conclusion of an armistice, to be released.

"Second: That every prisoner of war has the right to be speedily repatriated.

"Third: That there is a duty on the detaining side to provide facilities for such repatriation.

"Fourth: That the detaining side has no right to use force in connection with the disposal of prisoners of war.

"In other words, after an armistice a prisoner of war may not be either forcibly detained or forcibly repatriated."

Red Proposal No Help

Eden said that Vishinsky's proposal for a commission to end the Korean war and for repatriation of all prisoners of war "is of no help over present difficulty."

Eden opened his policy statement with a tribute to Secretary General Trygve Lie, whose unexpected resignation Monday touched off new friction between East and West. Eden said he hoped Lie could be persuaded to reconsider his decision.

Eden Urges UN To Reconsider Lie

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden Tuesday touched off a movement to keep Trygve Lie as UN secretary-general.

Lie announced his resignation Monday in the UN assembly.

Lie said Monday he is certain his resignation will be accepted. The jockeying was already going on to find a successor to the Norwegian who was the UN's first chief executive.

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, the Russian foreign minister, had already slammed the door shut on Lie, whom the Russians have hated and sneered at because he helped rally the UN in 1950 against Communist aggression in Korea.

Lie told the assembly in what may have been his final speech that there can be peace in Korea only if the Communists are sincere in wanting it.

Progress on Civil Rights

The supreme court Tuesday took a big step forward toward assuring civil rights for all citizens, especially racial minorities.

The high court refused to review an appeal of the Atlantic Coast Line from a lower court decision that the railroads can not lawfully separate Negro and white travelers in day coaches.

Simultaneously, the court added another segregation case on which it will hear arguments next month. This newest case concerns segregation of Negro children from a junior high school in Washington. It will be debated along with suits involving the same principle originating from Kansas, South Carolina and Virginia.

The plaintiffs in the suit are asking that the Negro be given the "same" opportunities in the field of education as the whites.

The states involved, mostly in the South, on the other hand point out that the constitution merely says that all are to be given "equal" rights, and they say that they are willing to do this by providing equal facilities.

The supreme court must now decide what is meant by the word "equal." And it is the prevailing view that it will be difficult, if not impossible, for the court to sidestep the issue. It is expected to rule for the first time on whether segregation in schools is constitutional.

Two states in the south, Georgia and South Carolina, have already taken steps to eliminate their public school systems if the highest bench in the land should eventually rule out segregation. Three others are threatening to follow suit.

There seems little doubt that the final decision by the court will be one of the most crucial in its impact on the position of the Negro since the Dred Scott ruling almost a century ago.

Iowan Expects Little Atomic Policy Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Ia.) said Monday night the change in national administrations should make no change at all in the country's basic policies on atomic energy.

"I think the leaders of both parties will want to insist on a vigorous prosecution of the atomic energy program," he said in an interview recorded for broadcast over the Mutual Network Reporters' Roundup.

The Iowan is the senior Republican senator on the joint congressional atomic energy committee.

However, he said the chairman might well go to the house in the new congress. Hickenlooper was chairman of the group in 1947-48. The late Sen. Brian McMahon (D-Cann.) headed the committee from 1949 until his death last summer.

Disapproves Relaxed Policy
Hickenlooper said he would be greatly reluctant to favor any relaxation of policy on exchange of information about atomic weapons with other nations.

The senator said he also would go slow about letting private industry in on the secrets of atomic energy.

However, he agreed that this might be advisable as a long-range policy. It probably would result in quicker development of atomic energy for industrial purposes and in reducing the government's atomic budget, he said. But he asserted the principal consideration now must be national security and a need to keep atomic information as closely guarded as possible.

Get 1st-Hand Look
Hickenlooper said President-elect Eisenhower's planned trip to Korea should be helpful in that it would give the general a first-hand look at the situation there, that it should improve morale of American troops and that it should enable Eisenhower to make the correct choice among the alternatives facing the United States in the conflict.

The senator commented "certainly no one claimed that he (Eisenhower) would be able to end the war instantly."

Hickenlooper said he did not foresee any trouble between GOP senators who supported Sen. Taft of Ohio for the party's presidential nomination and those who backed Eisenhower.

Letter Claims Bomb Burst On Eniwetok

LIMA, O. (AP)—A mile-wide island actually disappeared in a recent atomic or hydrogen bomb explosion at Eniwetok in the Pacific, an eyewitness wrote Lima relatives.

The unidentified eyewitness didn't say he watched the first explosion of a hydrogen bomb but the Lima News, which published the letter in a copyrighted story, said "it is apparent that the explosion he felt and saw was America's first experiment with a hydrogen bomb."

The News said the letter was postmarked with the navy fleet postoffice stamp and bore no indication of censorship.

Watched Explosion
The man wrote that he watched the explosion from 30.4 miles away but that heat from the bomb was 180 degrees when it reached him. He said flame two miles wide shot five miles into the air.

A 20-mile-wide mushroom drew thousands of tons of earth into the sky. It looked like a giant cauliflower, the man said.

"About 15 minutes after shot time," the man wrote, "the island on which the bomb had been set off started to burn and it turned a brilliant red. It burned for over six hours, gradually becoming smaller."

Island Disappeared
"Within six hours, an island that once had palm trees and coconuts was now nothing. A mile-wide island had actually disappeared."

The account published in Lima closely followed the details first given in a story in the Los Angeles Examiner last Saturday.

Latest Congressional Results

WASHINGTON (AP)—Latest returns from the congressional elections gave the Republicans 220 house seats to 211 for the Democrats. One independent was re-elected, and three seats still were in doubt.

The Democrats ran their total to 211 Tuesday when a count of absentee ballots in the 11th Missouri district showed Rep. Morgan Maulder the winner by 771 votes over Max Schwabe, Republican.

Democrats were leading in the three undecided races—the fourth Colorado district, 13th California and first Idaho.

One of the winning Democrat candidates, Rep. Adolph Sabath of Illinois, has died since the balloting.

Republicans held a 48 to 47 lead over the Democrats in the senate, with Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon listing himself as an independent.

Funeral Set for Labor Leader; CIO to Choose His Successor

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Philip Murray, hailed as one of the world's foremost labor leaders, was returning in death Monday to the scene of his greatest triumphs.

The body of the softspoken Scot, who died Sunday in San Francisco, was enroute to this great steel capital by airplane and train for funeral services Thursday.

Relatives, friends and labor union associates gathered in silent little groups to await the remains of the man who climaxed a lifetime of labor work by organizing the nation's vast, powerful steel industry.

Regarded as Leader
As president of both the CIO and CIO-United Steelworkers he was regarded as leader by millions of working men and women.

Successor Discussed
Inevitably, Murray's death stirred speculation about successors to his double-barreled job. No sure-fire candidates emerged at once.

But one man stands out in discussions as having the best chance at the USW job. He is silver-tongued, pipe-smoking David J. McDonald, secretary-treasurer of the CIO-USW and secretary of the CIO's political action committee.

Discussed as possible candidates for CIO presidency are dynamic Walter P. Reuther, president of the powerful CIO United Auto Workers; and young, vigorous James

Dodge Seen As Ike's New Budget Chief

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Chairman of Contracts Board
Associated Press News Analyst
President-elect Eisenhower's liaison man with the outgoing Truman administration on budgetary affairs led to quick speculation that the Detroit banker would be the new budget director in an expanding office.

These were guesses. The general wasn't talking. But there already had been published reports that things were going to be done about co-ordinating foreign and domestic spending, which led naturally into new speculation about the budget office in the light of Dodge's experience.

He was chairman of the war contracts board, financial adviser to both Gen. Eisenhower and Gen. Clay in Germany, delegate to the Austrian Treaty commission at Vienna, fiscal adviser to the economic co-operation administration, financial adviser to Gen. MacArthur's supreme Allied headquarters in the Pacific, adviser to the state department on Japanese fiscal affairs and now consulting to the department of the arm.

Thus he has had wide experience in both the foreign aid and military expenditures fields. Domestically, he is president of the Detroit bank, a director of the Chrysler Corp. and of the Plant and Standard Accident Insurance Companies and the Equitable Life Insurance company of Iowa, and past president of the Michigan American and Reserve City Bankers associations.

Experience Is Suggestive
This array of experience is certainly suggestive as regards any possible new orientation of fiscal controls.

For one thing, the new administration is expected to take steps to bring the Middle and Far East into more formal alignment.

Big Guns of the Next Senate

Robert A. Taft, Ohio, Labor; Styles Bridges, New Hampshire, Majority Leader; Eugene Millikin, Colorado—Finance; Joseph McCarthy, Wis.—Expenditures; Alexander Wiley, Wis.—Foreign Rel.; William Langer, N. D.—Judiciary; William Jenner, Indiana—Rules; Homer Capehart, Indiana—Banking.

WHEN THE GOP organizes the next U.S. senate, probable committee chairmen will be the senators shown above. Senator Bridges will have a choice of heading the appropriations or armed services committees in addition to being majority leader.

Slated to Put House in Order

Joe Martin, Massachusetts, Speaker; Dewey Short, Missouri, Armed Services; John Taber, New York, Appropriations; Clifford Hope, Kansas, Agriculture

Harold Velde, Illinois, UnAm. Activities; Daniel Reed, New York, Ways, Means; Charles Halleck, Indiana, Majority Leader; Rob't Chipperfield, Illinois, Foreign Affairs

Jesse P. Wolcott, Michigan, Banking; Leslie C. Arends, Illinois, Whip; Sam'l McConnell, Pennsylvania, Labor; Leo E. Allen, Illinois, Rules

TWELVE REPRESENTATIVES shown above are slated to head the important house committees when the Republicans organize congress in January. Seniority governs selection of chairmen.

No Peace Illusions By U.S. Far Eastern Chiefs, Deputy Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—William C. Foster, deputy secretary of defense, said Monday the U. S. commanders in the Far East "have no great illusion about getting a negotiated peace in Korea."

Just back from a visit to Korea, Foster told a news conference that Gen. Mark Clark and Gen. James A. Van Fleet both want to "step up as forcibly as possible" their blows in order to make the war "as costly as possible to the Chinese Communists."

But in reply to a question Foster said that so far as he knows there is no plan for a major offensive in Korea. He added that the joint chiefs of staff have always had under consideration plans that could be carried out as, when and if major offensive action were decided upon.

Foster declined comment on a question which sought to bring out whether either Van Fleet or Clark suggested changing the ground rules which have from the start limited UN offensive capabilities in Korea and adjacent areas of Asia. Foster said that any answer he might give could give a wrong impression.

Nebraskan Seen For House Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roman Hruska, congressman-elect from Nebraska's second district, has a chance to land a place on the important house appropriations committee.

Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb.) told a reporter he has recommended to Rep. Joe Martin, (R-Mass.) house Republican leader, and Representative Taber (R-N.Y.), who will be chairman of the committee, that Hruska be named to the group.

First-term house members rarely get assigned to one of the major committees, such as appropriations but Miller said Hruska had demonstrated his ability in money matters as chairman of the board of county commissioners of Douglas, Omaha county.

Miller is a member of the house committee on committees which determines the assignments.

Japanese Students Get a Hand in the Cooking

"TOO MANY COOKS SPOIL THE BROTH" is an old saying but here it may not be so true, for these cooks are making Sukiyaki, an original Japanese dish, which will be served at the UWA Foreign Students dinner Saturday night at the Wesley center. The highlight of the evening will be the attempt of all concerned to manage eating with chopsticks. Decorations, music, and slides on the family life of Japan will be featured following the meal. Students, faculty, and public are cordially invited.

Foreign Students Plan Japanese Style Dinner

The University Women's association foreign students committee will go Japanese style Saturday night, Nov. 15, at the Wesley student center, at 6 p.m. as the Iowa foreign students take part in their first Foreign Student dinner.

The dinner will consist of Japanese foods, and the special treat of the evening is to be the original Japanese dish, Sukiyaki.

The atmosphere will be set by the decoration of the dining hall in an Oriental theme, well supplied with Japanese lanterns, music, and paintings. Following the meal the daily life of a Japanese family will be explained with the aid of slides.

The special feature of the entire meal will probably be the task of eating the foods with the use of chopsticks. All those who attend the dinner will have the opportunity of using chopsticks.

The food, which will be the most interesting item scheduled for these dinners, is prepared by the Japanese students on the committee for UWA, and with the aid of Mrs. Hama, wife of Francis C.

YWCA Entertains Oakdale Patients With First Concert

The SUI YWCA presented the first in a series of concerts at Oakdale sanatorium, Tuesday evening. Marylene Shadle was the coordinator of the concert.

Those appearing on the program were: Betty Kanzell and Eddie Schuster, doing a group of vocal duet numbers; Jerry Brody, who played a medley of modern popular pieces; Sue Stokley who tap-danced; and Willis Volkmer, baritone, sang and was accompanied by Roger Hopkins.

Betty Kanzell and Jerry Brody gave dialogue readings from the current Broadway hit, "The Moon is Blue." As their closing number the entire cast sang the well-known, "There's No Business Like Show Business."

IGNORE ARMISTICE DAY
LEWISTON, Me. (AP)—The Normand Dionne Post, veterans of foreign wars, refuses to recognize Armistice day until the fighting in Korea is over. Commander David O'Connell said the post had a token unit in Tuesday's parade only because it was ordered to do so by national VFW headquarters.

Miss Hilda Torrop Stresses Need for More Nursing Schools

Hilda M. Torrop, executive director of the National Association for Practical Nurse Education, stressed the great need for practical nurse training schools at a meeting of the Licensed Practical Nurse association of Iowa, Monday at Mercy hospital.

She said that there are already 200 approved schools in the U.S. but many more are needed to alleviate the acute shortage of professional nurses. Many hospitals are closed because of the shortage.

She added that they must be good schools because it pays off in a greater understanding on the part of the student.

Miss Torrop urged that professional nurses support practical nurses in getting the program started.

Dr. Wilbur Miller, director of the psychopathic hospital, also addressed the group. He said physicians realize the need for competent nurses where it does not take skill, knowledge and experience. He added that hospitals will welcome the licensed practical nurse group.

Eta Rasmussen, director of the practical nursing school at SUI told of the progress of practical nursing schools in Iowa. SUI's newly established school for practical nurses will begin admitting students in January.

Sigma Phi Epsilon Announces Officers

Bill Foster, C4, Newton, was re-elected as president of Sigma Phi Epsilon social fraternity and Bill Rider, C3, Garwin, remains as controller.

The election of officers was Nov. 10. Those elected are: vice-president, Jim Vickery, A4, Des Moines; secretary, Rich Orr, A2, Columbus Junction; historian, Don Labahn, A3, Evanson, Ill.; guard, Pat Clark, E2, Audubon; senior marshal, Nick Martin, P2, Fairfield; junior marshal, Rollin Bridge, P1, Storm Lake; chaplain, Wally Sulentic, C3, Waterloo; delegate at large, Joe Code, C4, Mason City.

One member has been initiated and two students have been pledged recently. Don McCollough, C4, Muscatine, is the new initiate. The pledges are Jack Dice, A1, Des Moines, and George Johnstone, A1, Boone.

SUI Symphony To Present 2d Concert Tonight

The SUI symphony orchestra will present its second concert of the 1952-53 season tonight at 8 in the main lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union.

To be included in the program is the overture of Richard Wagner's "Faust," "Suite in D," opus 39, by Antonin Dvorak, and Symphony No. 2.

"Romantic," opus 30, a work of Howard Hanson, a midwestern composer who has achieved international fame, will also be part of the evening's program.

Admission to the concert is free to both the public and the student body. Tickets may be obtained at the information desk of the Union any time before the performance.

Prof. Philip G. Clapp, head of the SUI department of music, will conduct the orchestra. Station WSUI will carry a direct broadcast of the concert.

Jack Weis Speaks To Alpha Kappa Psi

Jack Weis, manager of the Iowa City credit bureau, will speak at a meeting of Alpha Kappa Psi, commerce fraternity, Thursday at 8 p.m. in conference room 2 of the Iowa Memorial Union.

Weis will speak on the purposes and services of the credit bureau. His speech will also include prospects and opportunities for commerce students in credit bureau work.

The commerce faculty and all commerce and pre-commerce students are invited.

SAE Initiates

Seven men were initiated into Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity Nov. 2.

The new initiates are Thomas Murphy, A2, Ida Grove; James Oehrle, A2, Dyersville; Dean Anderson, A2, Cedar Rapids; Mark Lauterbach, A2, Sac City; Clarence Updegraff, A1, Iowa City; James Montgomery, A2, Iowa City; Paul Foster, A1, Cedar Rapids.

The dinners are a project of the University Women's association, to further the knowledge of the foreign students and their customs.

Broadway Takes on New International Atmosphere

NEW YORK (AP)—Taking on a distinct atmosphere of the United Nations, its neighbor on the East river, the Broadway theater is breaking out with a variety of distinctive entertainment in foreign tongues.

Broadway got a salty dose of British flavor with the recent opening of S. M. Chartock's Savoyard Troupe in revivals of Gilbert and Sullivan operettas at the Mark Hellinger theater.

This week and next the companies of the National Theater of Greece and the French Theater of Madeleine Renaud and Jean-Louis Barrault are coming in with a varied repertoire from Athens and Paris.

The French Theater troupe will present eight plays, including "Hamlet," from Nov. 12 through Dec. 6, several times offering two plays in a single evening.

Broadway producer Guthrie McClintic is working with the American National Theater and Academy to bring the Greek Theater for the first time to these shores.

In selecting the two plays by Sophocles for the American performances, McClintic said the Greek company was guided by the fact that both classical dramas are generally well known to Americans in their English translations. "Electra" was the first play to contemplate the psychological forces motivating a woman. "Oedipus," of course, is Sophocles' masterpiece.

'Jeffersonian Justice' Broadcast Tonight

Thomas Jefferson's support of justice in the courts will be the subject of a WSUI broadcast, "The Ground of Justice," tonight at 8. Movie actor Claude Rains will play Jefferson on the transcribed program.

The broadcast is the seventh in a series entitled "The Jeffersonian Heritage." The series is an adult education project of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters.

Jim Hatch's 78-yard touchdown run which broke the modern era Iowa record for distance moved the fleet halfback to third among the Hawkeye yard-makers for the seven games.

Hatch has the best average among the men still competing, 3.5 yards per try. His total is 160 yards. Ahead of him on yards are Dusty Rice, 210 in 69 carries for 3.0 and Binkey Broeder, 197 in 56 for 3.5.

The scoring dash by Hatch broke the Iowa record of 69 yards first made by Bob Sullivan against Indiana in 1946 and tied last year by Rice against Purdue. The records, however, include only figures since 1939, when complete statistics were first kept.

Iowa has averaged 3.3 per rush, as compared with opponents' 3.6. On passing, the Hawks have completed 51 of 137 for 637 yards as compared with opponents' 86 of 159 for 1,205 yards and 11 touchdowns.

Other team figures include 636 yards on kick returns, to foes' 407; an average of 38.9 on 44 punts, all by Broeder; 24 fumbles and ball lost 15 times to 25 and 19, and 346 yards penalized to 478.

Half a dozen universities and colleges have indicated they will enter athletes in the AAU wrestling tournament here December 6, Dave McCuskey, Hawkeye coach, said Tuesday.

The meet, held for the first time here, has an open division for the older men and a junior AAU section primarily for high school contestants, McCuskey said.

Universities which will be represented include Minnesota, Illinois and Iowa, along with Iowa State college, Iowa State Teachers college, Cornell and Mankato, Minn. Teachers.

Coach McCuskey said that the closing date for reception of entries is Nov. 29. There are 10 weight classes in the open division, ranging from 115 through heavyweight; and 11 in the junior, from 95 through heavyweight.

Judge Duke Slater of Chicago, an all-America for the Hawkeyes in 1919 and 1921, was here for the Dad's day game last Saturday. This is the fourth Iowa game Slater has seen this season.

Poll Leaders Face Rough Foes

NEW YORK (AP) — Michigan State, Georgia Tech and Maryland, running all by themselves as the 1-2-3 teams in this week's Associated Press poll of the nation's best football teams, face assignments Saturday that will either keep them far out ahead or drop them down into the pack.

All tangle with tough, offensive-minded teams that have been looking forward to Nov. 15 as a day of reckoning. A clean sweep by the big three would push them even further in front than they are after the ballots of 139 sports writers and broadcasters gave Michigan State 1,193 points, Georgia Tech 1,135, and Maryland 1,128. Among them they collected 113 first place ballots.

Michigan State, leader in all except one of the poll's seven weeks, faces perhaps the most difficult assignment in fast-rising Notre Dame.

The Irish jumped from 10th to sixth in the poll on the strength of their 27-21 upset of Oklahoma last Saturday, and they have an added incentive to knock over top-ranked Michigan State. State's 35-0 trouncing of the Irish last year was the highest score ever run up against a Frank Leahy team.

Revenge also is the background of Georgia Tech's traditional classic with Alabama. This time revenge is in the big team's favor, however, for it was Alabama that ran up a 54-19 count against Tech two years ago in the Engineers' last defeat.

Maryland takes on unbeaten but twice tied Mississippi.

1. Michigan State (7-0) (57) 1,193
2. Georgia Tech (6-0) (33) 1,135
3. Maryland (7-0) (24) 1,128
4. UCLA (8-0) (15) 964
5. Southern Cal (7-0) (7) 814
6. Notre Dame (5-1-1) (3) 723
7. Tennessee (6-1) 419
8. Oklahoma (5-1-1) 402
9. Texas (6-2) 394
10. Purdue (3-2-2) 289

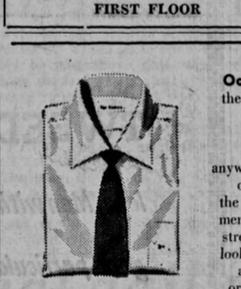

Indiana U. Official Claims 'Spartan Players Guilty Too'

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — The athletic director at Indiana university said Tuesday that "Michigan State players were as guilty as ours" in last Saturday's football game in which eight men were ejected from the game.

Paul Harrell, the Hoosiers' athletic boss, studied movies of Indiana's 41-14 loss to the Spartans in an effort to learn why six of his players and two Michigan State men were banished by the officials for unnecessary roughness.

Harrell said he wasn't "excusing our players by any means," but he added: "It does appear from the pictures that they were retaliating. There are evidences of guilt by players on both sides."

4 Big Ten Stars in Action

FOUR TOP CANDIDATES FOR ALL-BIG TEN honors are involved in this action during last week's Iowa-Illinois game. Here Iowa's Bernie Bennett (on ground), a top defensive back, brings down Illinois' Pete Bachouros (37), who ran for 137 yards against the Hawks last Saturday. Behind Bachouros is Iowa tackle Don Chelf (77) picked "Midwest Lineman of the Week" by the United Press three weeks ago. Running in to help is Hawkeye end Bill Fenton (88), selected the nation's "Lineman of the Week" by the Associated Press three weeks ago.

Stanky Stands Ground Over Firing

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A shake-up in the St. Louis Cardinal coaching staff brought repercussions Tuesday with the little manager, Eddie Stanky, right in the thick of it.

Terry Moore, who became a Cardinal great in the old Gas-house gang days of the club, was fired as a coach at the beck of Stanky. And what Moore said about the little peppercorn was pointed and direct.

But Stanky — the National league manager of 1952 — stood his ground.

"I exercised the manager's privilege of making a change in my coaching staff, why all the discussion," Stanky said at his home in Fairhope, Ala.

Back at the site of the upheaval, Moore retorted that Stanky was temperamentally unsuited to be a manager; that the job was too big for him. "When he loses a ball game he acts more like a 9-year-old boy than a man."

Through it all owner Fred Saigh remained unusually quiet about the stir caused by the little man whom he lifted into the managerial ranks last season. He was not reachable at home or in his office.

On the heels of Moore's ouster came word that another veteran coach, Clyde (Buzzy) Wares, was given his unconditional release by the Cardinals Tuesday. No reason was given.

This leaves the club with only two coaches — Mike Ryba and Johnny Riddle.

Solon Downs St. Pat's, 61-49

Solon's cagers downed St. Patrick's of Iowa City, 61 to 49, here Tuesday night in a hard fought game before a near capacity crowd.

The height advantage of Solon was the most important factor throughout the game. St. Pat's was unable to get the tips-on-jump balls or to control the ball off the boards.

Both teams used fast breaks, with Solon having superior ball handling.

VeDepo of St. Patrick's led the scoring for the evening, collecting 22 points. Solon's high scorer was Reyhons with 16 points. Four of his teammates had over 10 points.

Solon successfully used a stall the last five minutes of the game.

The box score:

ST. PAT'S	ST. SOLON
Callahan 4 3 5	Riley 6 2 3
Cano 2 0 3	Cochran 4 5 0 3

Newton Grid Team Dominates Final Iowan Prep Rankings

By DICK MAU
Daily Iowan Sports Writer

With football now a thing of the past in high school sports circles it is time to review the highly successful 1952 Iowa prep grid season.

The season was successful because of two factors: (1) the presence of so many outstanding teams and (2) the large crop of individual stars. The superiority of the teams and individuals during the season provided many an interesting conference race, and will also give the state's sports scribes and officials a tough job in choosing the all-state teams.

The rankings of the teams in various sections of the state were erratic throughout the past season because of the many upsets from week to week. Two of the more interesting conference races were the Big Six and Des Moines City Series loops both of which were won in the last week of play by East high of Des Moines.

Western Half Tough
The western half of the state dominates in having teams in the upper half of the top 10 in these final ratings. Teams vying most closely for the reign as state champ are Newton, Red Oak, Jefferson and Spencer.

Newton, Red Oak and Spencer came through the season unblemished as did the Ramblers, but Jefferson also accomplished a more difficult feat than any of the others in holding all nine opponents scoreless.

Newton captured the rugged Central Iowa conference crown, Red Oak the Southwest Iowa champs, Spencer captured the Lakes conference top with Jefferson topping the Midwest loop.

Newton, which rambled through a rugged eight-game schedule, gets the nod for the top position in the state, and the Cardinals, who led all prep polls in the state nearly all season and are the 1952 mythical state champs, boast of one of the best high school outfits the state has ever seen.

Jefferson 2d
Coming in a close second is Jefferson. The Ramblers showed that defense is still being stressed in the gridiron sport.

Red Oak rapped conference rival Shenandoah last week by a wide margin and finished with a 9-0 mark while Spencer finished one week earlier with eight wins and no losses. These two teams proved to be about evenly matched in personnel and records and provide a real problem in rating them.

Third position is given to Red Oak by a slim margin with the Cardinals pulling in fourth in the final standings. Another note on these two teams—they practically manhandled all opposition throughout the season, making routs of most of their games.

East Des Moines 5th
East Des Moines, which wrapped up the City series and Big Six loops, is the best bet for fifth spot in the rankings.

Ft. Dodge, on the basis of its win over Iowa City last week, vaults back into the top 10 in the final standings, looking good enough for the sixth spot. Following the Dodgers is conference rival Mason City in seventh position.

Burlington, by crowning previously rated Fairfield in the final game of the campaign for boys teams, won the Little Six conference crown. The Greyhounds, on the basis of late season play, are the nod for eighth place.

North Des Moines, which was moving along toward an undefeated season, was upset on two successive weekends, and was thrown from the top rung of two conferences. The Polar Bears lost out to cross town rival East and Waterloo by close margins and look good enough for ninth place.

In tenth place are the Comets from Charles City with only a defeat to Mason City marring the record. Charles City also captured the Northeast Iowa title.

These two teams—practically manhandled all opposition throughout the season, making routs of most of their games.

Gerontology Meeting To Hear Michigan University Speaker

To Discuss Education In Aging Process

Gerontology, the study of the problems of aging, begins at 40, said Wilma Donahue, who will be banquet speaker Tuesday evening at the Iowa Conference on Gerontology, Nov. 18 and 19.

Miss Donahue, a principal speaker at the first national conference on aging in Washington, D.C., will come from the University of Michigan's institute for human adjustment to address representative Iowa leaders on the role of education in the aging process, SUI Provost Harvey H. Davis, conference chairman, said.

In her Washington address entitled "Education for an Aging Population," Miss Donahue explained that aging is a process of change, beginning with conception and continuing until death. Gerontology concerns itself with people past 40, which has been called the old age of youth and the infancy of old age, she said.

Fail to Use Resources
"If we continue to emphasize the liabilities of aging," she challenged the 800 national representatives in the nation's capital, "we encourage the development of a deep-seated fear of growing old, the rejection of the older worker in our economy, and the failure of society to mobilize the abundant resources of a group still eager to contribute."

Lack of information regarding the nature and meaning of the aging process and failure to prepare for retirement from regular employment have given rise to a purely negative concept of old age, the speaker continued.

Stressing the positive aspects of aging, Miss Donahue quoted the famous physiologist, Dr. Robert Gesell, who said, "The brain virtually becomes the sanctuary of our later years. This remarkable organ can be our greatest source of pleasure, amusement, enjoyment and satisfaction. No toy has ever yielded more amusement. No toy that I know of can, if properly used, improve so much with age."

Emphasizes Education
To help the brain improve with age, Miss Donahue emphasized the role of educational institutions in a paper "Age With a Future" that she later presented at the National Conference on Social Work.

Education meets its responsibilities to older people in four respects she said: (1) by serving their education needs directly, (2) by changing attitudes of the community toward them, (3) by making studies and carrying out experimental programs, and (4) by training professional personnel for service with older people.

Panel on Tuesday
Besides addressing Iowa leaders from several walks of life at the conference banquet, Miss Donahue will appear on the Tuesday morning panel of speakers presenting current problems in gerontology.

With her on this panel will be Helen Ringe, editor of the government bulletin "Employment and Economic Status of Older Men and Women," Hew Roberts of the college of education, and Dr. Dean Lierle of the college of medicine.

Iowa business, labor, education, financial and other interest groups will be represented at the two-day conference. It also is expected that a number of older Iowans themselves will attend, said Provost Davis.

All Public Schools Hold Open House In Education Week
The 32d observance of National Education week is now being held throughout the United States. The purpose of the week is to focus attention on public schools and to induce parents to visit and learn more about schools. Open house is being held in all public schools from Nov. 9 to 15.

"Children in Today's World" is the general theme this year and specific topics are being taken up daily. The topic for Sunday was going to church and on following days: homes, heritage, schools, country, opportunity and future were discussed.

Parents, to help their children, should encourage leadership training programs, cooperate with the P.T.A. and health departments, support conferences and forums devoted to parent education. National Education week is sponsored by the National Education association, the American Legion, the United States Office of Education and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

City Fathers Get the Bird

BIRMINGHAM, Eng. (AP)—Starlings gave Birmingham's city fathers the bird Tuesday night. Their effort to drive the 20,000 starlings out of the city with fireworks was a flop.

If anything the banging of firecrackers was harder on the nerves of the home going office workers. The starlings wheeled around the buildings until the noise subsided and then came back to their old perches.

Increase in Accidents Causes Higher Car Insurance Rates

DES MOINES (AP)—The Iowa association of insurance agents said Tuesday "a tragic drama of death and destruction" on Iowa's streets and highways made necessary higher auto liability insurance rates authorized Monday.

The new auto insurance rate increases approved by State Insurance Commissioner Charles R. Fischer were up an average of 19.8 per cent for bodily injury liability and 30 per cent higher for property damage liability.

'Gravely Concerned'
"We are gravely concerned over steady increases in highway accidents," the insurance group said in a statement.

The recent automobile insurance rate increase for bodily injury and property damage coverage should further serve to remind Iowa automobile drivers of the serious nature of the highway accident problem.

The statement said the Iowa insurance agents urge these steps to curb accidents:

Urge Stricter Requirements
Adoption of stricter driver license requirements; regular inspection of all motor vehicles; driver education courses in all Iowa high schools; furtherance of adult driver education programs; strict enforcement of all motor vehicle laws; modernization of highways and continued enforcement of the present safety responsibility law.

The rate increases were necessary, the statement said, because "rates on any insurance coverage are but a reflection of the loss experience of the companies. Companies lost over $100 million on bodily injury and property damage automobile coverages in 1951."

The statement added that since 1939, automobile costs have risen 136 per cent, repair costs 134 per cent and hospital costs 135 per cent.

Alin to Show Slides Of South American Trip
Prof. A. L. Alin, college of engineering, will show color slides of South America today at 8 p.m. in the Shambaugh lecture room at the SUI library.

Alin recorded scenic views of Columbia, Peru, and Brazil when he visited those countries last summer.

Students, faculty, wives and friends are welcome to attend.

CIO Lieutenants Meet To Chart Future Course

PITTSBURGH (AP)—CIO lieutenants from all sections of the nation met Tuesday at the Bier of their fallen leader, Philip Murray.

Wednesday they'll hold a closed session at which the labor group's future course will be charted.

Nine CIO vice-presidents will confer with Allan Haywood, executive vice-president of the CIO, on the mechanics of electing a new president to succeed Murray.

Murray died of a heart attack in a San Francisco hotel Sunday at the age of 66. He was on the west coast to prepare for the scheduled Nov. 17 start of the CIO convention at Los Angeles.

Convention to be Discussed
With Murray gone, his aides must decide whether to go ahead with convention plans and how to go about naming his successor.

Whatever they decide probably will be ratified at another Pittsburgh meeting on Friday of the CIO executive board. That group consists of the vice-presidents,

2 Auto Thefts Here; 1 Soon Recovered

Police Tuesday received reports of two cars stolen in Iowa City Monday night or early Tuesday morning. One of the cars was quickly located, while the other was reported to have been last seen in Missouri.

J. N. Swank, 326 Melrose court, notified police at 6:25 a.m. Tuesday that his automobile was missing from his residence between 11 p.m. Monday and 6:25 Tuesday. He told police the key was in the car.

At 6:32 a.m. Tuesday patrolman Raymond Vitosh found the car abandoned with a flat tire on Myrtle ave.

R. J. Manternach, 319 S. Capitol st., reported to police at 7 a.m. Tuesday that his automobile was taken from the above address, Monday night.

Missouri state police reported that a car similar to that of Manternach's, had been seen in a Missouri service station.

Typography Expert Scheduled to Speak To SUI Classes

Howard King, traveling typographic consultant for the Interstate corporation, will speak before three SUI journalism classes Friday. He will speak on typography and show slides to the classes.

King will address Introduction to Advertising at 1:10 p.m., Copyreading and Editing at 2:10 p.m., and Advertising Procedures at 3:10 p.m. The meetings, which will be open to the public, will be held in studio C-1 of East hall.

SUI journalism faculty members and persons interested in printing will meet King at a private luncheon at the Iowa Memorial Union Friday noon.

King also is a designer for the Maple Press company, York, Penn., which prints books for eastern publishers. He is a vice-president of the International Association of Printing House Craftsmen, Inc., a confederation of groups throughout the world interested in printing.

plus elected representatives from various CIO unions.

There's talk of postponing the convention until next year and then holding the gathering in some eastern city.

But vice-president Haywood, who has been mentioned as a candidate for the CIO presidency despite his 66 years, said on his arrival here that "nothing has been decided."

Vice-Presidents to Decide
The vice-presidents who could be considered possible choices to replace Murray may decide to name an interim president until next year. Or they could recommend their choice of delegates and let the convention go on as scheduled.

Hundreds gathered at a suburban funeral home Tuesday afternoon to pass by Murray's casket. Aides and relatives found they could not accommodate the crowds which want to attend his funeral Thursday if they held the rites in his neighborhood church. So they transferred the requiem Mass to St. Paul's Cathedral.

Murray will have his last resting place in unassuming St. Anne's cemetery in nearby Castle Shannon, a one-time coal mining community which has become a haven of suburbanites.

Coleman to Discuss Letter-Head Design

Prof. Carroll Coleman, typography instructor of the SUI journalism department, will speak at a meeting of the Cedar Rapids Club of Printing House craftsmen, Friday at 6:30 p.m.

"Letter-Head Design" will be his topic. Coleman spoke to the club in the fall of 1951.

Eight books designed by Coleman have been chosen among the 30 best books of the year in the past several years by the American Institute of Graphic Arts.

Employment Commission's Decision Reversed

DES MOINES (AP)—District Judge Tom K. Murrow Monday ruled that a woman who quit her job because of ill health did so voluntarily and is not entitled to unemployment compensation.

The judge reversed a decision of the Iowa Employment Security commission which had held the woman quit her job involuntarily and was entitled to benefits.

Judge Murrow said that if the commission's construction of the law were allowed it would "convert the fund into a species of health insurance."

The judge said the act never was intended to encourage people "not to work."

The commission was created to provide money to persons out of a job through no fault of their own. A jobless person may draw up to $26 a week for as long as 20 weeks.

The review action was brought by Wolf's women's clothing store here.

Wolf's had employed Isabel J. Harris from January, 1950, to Oct. 6, 1951, when she quit her job and moved to Arizona because of sinus trouble.

Miss Harris filed an interstate claim with the commission Oct. 15, 1951, naming Wolf's as her most recent employer.

However, on Oct. 31, 1951, an Iowa claims deputy held that Miss Harris was disqualified from receiving benefits because she quit her job voluntarily without good cause attributable to her employer.

The claims deputy's decision was appealed and upheld by a referee. The case was then appealed to the commission last Feb. 28.

The commission on March 7 ruled Miss Harris' leaving her job was "in no sense voluntary but involuntary" and that she was entitled to benefits.

The commission found that the condition of Miss Harris' health was such that she had no other choice than to quit and seek a drier climate.

Moeller to Speak At Editorial Meet

Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of the SUI school of journalism, will speak at the luncheon meeting of the National Editorial association fall conference in Chicago Friday.

His topic will be "The Responsibilities of the Community Newspaper in 1953."

The conference opens Thursday and ends Saturday.

More than 50 Iowa weekly newspaper publishers are expected to attend the conference, held each fall in Chicago for the 5,000 members of the association.

Massacre Evidence Not Given, Nurenberg Prosecutor Claims

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chief prosecutor at the Nurenberg war crime trials, Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson, testified Tuesday American authorities did not provide him with existing evidence that the Russians were responsible for the Katyn forest massacre.

Jackson appeared voluntarily before a congressional committee which has accused the Communists of slaughtering 15,000 Polish officers and intellectuals during World War II and dumping their bodies in pits dug in a wilderness in Russia.

Several times during Tuesday's hearing Jackson denied that the U. S. prosecuting staff at Nurenberg had tried to assist Soviet authorities in pinning the atrocity on Nazi Germany.

Indictment Needed
But even if evidence of Soviet guilt had been produced, he said, the Russians could not have been convicted because "they had not even been indicted."

Russia was a member of the Allied tribunal at Nurenberg which tried the German war criminals in 1946. The Russians succeeded in getting Germany charged with the massacre. A brief hearing was held, but the case was not pressed and no convictions were obtained.

"We did not learn of any usable evidence in American possession," Jackson testified.

He told the special house committee that at no time during the trials did he know of reports by Col. John H. Van Vliet Jr., or two other American officers, who had told Washington officially that Russia was responsible for Katyn.

Van Vliet Inspects Graves
While Van Vliet was a prisoner of war in the hands of the Germans in 1943 he was taken to inspect the mass graves in Katyn, outside Smolensk. The territory then was held by the Nazis. Van Vliet submitted a report to the Pentagon in May, 1945, concluding that the Communists had committed the murders.

The investigators have developed that this report was stamped "top secret" and then disappeared.

As conducted by the house committee under Chairman Ray J. Madden (D-Ind.), the Katyn investigation has had two phases.

The first was completed when the committee declared that the Russians committed the atrocity to prepare the way for Communist domination of Poland after the war. Many of Poland's national leaders were in the hands of the Soviets at the time.

Now the investigators want to determine whether American authorities suppressed evidence of Russian responsibility, as Madden put it, avoid disrupting American-Russian relations during the war and at the time of the Yalta agreement.

The committee has expressed a determination to find out if there was "any collusion by American authorities to cleanse the Soviets of any guilt for this hideous crime."

Should Be Allowed To Discontinue Run, Railroads Are Told
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The National Association of Railroad and Utility commissioners was told here Tuesday that railroads should be permitted to discontinue any passenger service which can't pay its own way.

Nearly 1,200 individual passenger trains in this country failed to show at least an even financial break in operation during May, 1951, a special committee of the association reported.

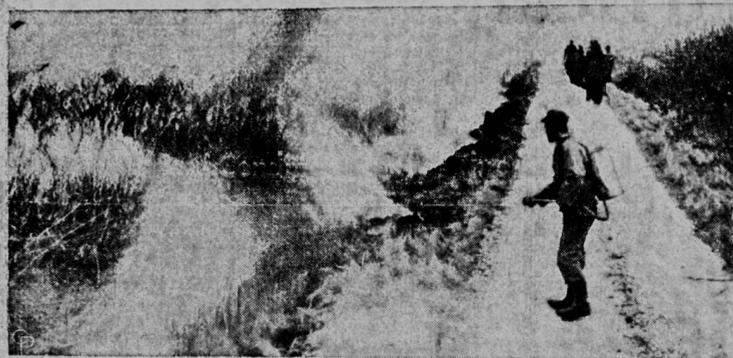

The committee reported to the association's annual convention on a 3-year study of the "railroad passenger deficit problem."

A recommendation was made that the railroads "re-evaluate" the results of the 1951 survey "in the light of changes in main pay rates and in operating expenses."

The report suggested that each railroad should seek authority from the proper regulatory bodies to discontinue operation of every passenger train "which is producing substantially less than the operating expenses." And the regulatory groups "should adhere vigorously to the principle that where the service cannot be made compensatory its abandonment should be permitted."

The association, which represents regulatory commissions in 48 states, Hawaii and Puerto Rico, adopted the report unanimously.

'Tinder Box' Condition Spreads Through Midwest

THIS SCENE IS BECOMING MUCH TOO FAMILIAR in the Midwest where two months of record lows in rainfall have turned the region into a virtual tinder box. Five fire departments, 35 prison trustees, scores of state police and volunteers fought this brush and timber fire at Beverly Shores, near Gary, Ind., several hours before bringing it under control. A house, barn and garage were destroyed.

All-White Jury Convicts Negro, 45, for 'Leering'

YANCEYVILLE, N.C. (AP)—An all-white male jury Tuesday convicted Mac Ingram, a Negro tenant farmer, of assault on a female by "leering" at her.

The jury considered the case 55 minutes in superior court. Judge Frank Armstrong said he would pass sentence Wednesday.

Ingram was charged with assault on an attractive teen-aged farm wife, Mrs. Willie Jean Boswell Webster, who testified the middle-aged father "eyed" her from "about 75 feet" on her father's Caswell county farm.

At an earlier trial, Ingram, 45, denied he had criminal intentions. He said the girl was dressed in jeans and "looked like a boy" when he attempted to inquire of her where he could borrow a trailer.

No Bodily Contact Necessary
Under North Carolina law no bodily contact is necessary for conviction of assault.

Prior to the trial, attorneys for Ingram said they would appeal a verdict of guilty to the state supreme court.

When she took the stand Monday, Mrs. Webster said she looked up the word "leer" in a dictionary and found it meant "a curious look." She told the jury this definition exactly described the manner in which Ingram eyed her as he drove slowly past her with his head out the window of his car.

Chased Her Across Field
The woman also testified Ingram chased her across a field but did not get within 65 feet of her.

Ingram first was convicted in recorder's court in June, 1951 and given a two-year road sentence. He appealed to the superior court and his trial there last November ended in a mistrial when two of the four Negroes on the jury held out for acquittal.

Ingram had been free under $1,500 bond since his first trial.

Mrs. Webster, a white girl, was 17 and unmarried when she brought the charges against Ingram. Since then she has married.

Father of 9
Ingram, father of nine children, originally was charged with assault with intent to commit rape. This charge was reduced to assault on a female at his superior court trial.

Under North Carolina law, Ingram's two-year sentence can be upheld by Judge Armstrong or reduced within his own discretion. The maximum on the charge is two years.

Film on Plastics Shown at SUI
Jim Davis, formerly an instructor in art at Princeton university, showed an Iowa City audience Monday evening in the SUI art building movies of abstract designs produced through the use of plastics.

In 1935 he became interested in the suggestion of motion in paintings and in 1943 he was working with plastics producing abstract designs through the movement of simple and highly colored plastic sheets under light.

In 1948 he made his first movie of abstract designs employing the use of plastics.

At the present time Davis is on his way to the west coast where he has been asked to display his work at the annual "Art in Cinema" display of the San Francisco museum.

'Fair and Warmer' Is Pleasant Contrast

DES MOINES (AP)—Tuesday's "fair and warmer" weather provided a pleasant contrast for Iowans who annually, on this day, remember the most destructive blizzard of Iowa history, which occurred on Armistice day, 1940.

The temperature was 55 degrees in Des Moines at mid-afternoon Tuesday. That's one degree above the high 12 years ago—and that occurred at 5:30 a.m.

Two hours later on Nov. 11, 1940, it was down to 23 and continued downward to 11 degrees as heavy snow was whipped by 36-mile-an-hour winds. Four duck hunters died on the Mississippi river, and dozens of others barely escaped.

Killed by the sudden change from spring-like weather were thousands of cattle and sheep, at least 120,000 turkeys, and much fruit and shrubbery including about half the apple trees in Iowa.

Marketing Group To Hear Lecture On Sales Policies
The Student Marketing club will hold the first in a series of lectures concerning marketing problems tonight at 7:30 in room 212, University hall.

Guest speaker will be C. U. Kelly, president and sales manager of Protein Blenders, Inc. He will describe his company's formation and background and give pointers on sales policies. A question and answer period will follow.

Vern Ross, president of the marketing club, Tuesday encouraged all marketing majors to attend the series of meetings.

Ex-Iowa City Store Manager To Head Canadian Company

George F. Trotter, former manager of the Sears, Roebuck and Co. store here from 1936 to 1939, will become retail vice-president of Simpson-Sears Limited of Canada when that company begins operations in January of next year.

Trotter now is manager of Sears' Kansas City retail zone. The announcement of Trotter's appointment was made Monday in Toronto, B. E. Vandecar, manager of the local Sears store, said Wednesday.

He said the new merchandise concern is jointly owned by Sears, Roebuck and Co. and Simpson's Limited of Canada.

The new company will take over Simpson's present mail order business and build a string of retail stores throughout the Canadian provinces, Vandecar said.

As Kansas City zone officer for the last six years, Trotter has been a frequent visitor to Iowa City. The local Sears store and 46 other stores in Kansas, Nebraska and in parts of Missouri, Iowa and Illinois are under his supervision.

Trotter's successor has not been named, Vandecar said.

Vote of Confidence Given to Churchill By Margin of 34

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's Conservatives Tuesday night easily defeated a Labor motion of non-confidence in his Conservative government. It was the first test of strength in the new session of parliament.

The division was 313 to 279—a margin of 34 votes for the Conservatives. The Conservatives have a normal margin of only 16 seats in the 625-member house of commons.

In presenting the challenge Monday former Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison had charged the government lacked a strong enough economic policy to withstand the shock of a possible "world slump."

Motion to Amend Address
The Labor motion was to amend the traditional address thanking Queen Elizabeth II for outlining government policy in her first "speech from the throne" Nov. 4.

That speech, prepared by the government, gave notice that in coming months the Conservatives intend to de-nationalize the trucking and steel industries.

The week-long debate stirred up little excitement, and was conducted on such general lines that it attracted little attention even in the London newspapers.

Says U. S. Aid Uncertain
In attacking the government, Morrison said the level of U. S. aid in the past had been a matter of uncertainty and would be uncertain in the future. There is to be a new administration in the United States, he said, and "they may have different policies and there might be economic difficulties there."

Winding up the government reply, Capt. Harry Crookshank said the Laborites had made no aggressive attack on the government and were "not really serious" in their no-confidence motion.
