The Weather

Mostly fair today, and a little warmer. Fair with little change in temperature Saturday. High today, 56; low, 28. High Thursday, 43; low, 22.

Marine Assisted After Being Hit by Sniper

PAIN CONTORTS THE FACE OF A marine sergeant as he is carried down the incline of Pinpoint ridge in Korea to a medical aid station. He was hit by a sniper's bullet in the left leg just above the knee while manning a forward observation post machinegun. He is assisted by buddies and navy hospital corpsmen.

700 Chinese Reds Briefly Dent UN Lines On Sniper Ridge in Hand-to-Hand Battle

SEOUL (Friday) (AP)—More than 700 Chinese Reds briefly dented South Korean positions on Sniper Ridge Thursday night in bloody hand-to-hand combat. Later four Red tanks sprayed the South Koreans with machine-gun bullets before Allied artillery routed the armor.

A U. S. eighth army staff officer said that all positions yielded temporarily to the attackers were restored on that frozen central front.

The Chinese Reds attacked in battalion strength after earlier unloading a great Allied rocket barrage and a furious air bombardment.

The attack on Sniper, where fighting has raged daily for 39 straight days, opened after 8 p.m., supported by mortars and artillery. The Allied staff officers said it was definitely blunted by 10 p.m.

In today's early darkness Chinese Reds hurled hand grenades at South Koreans, huddled in Sniper Ridge foxholes while the temperature sank to 10 above zero.

Although most of these scattered actions were small, the savage nature was indicated by reports that in one 85 Reds were killed or wounded.

The air war also blew hot. Sabre jets knocked down five MIGs and damaged two more out of Red fighter parties which tried to balk a huge Allied fire raid on a Communist troop concentration area south of the Manchurian border.

Thunderjet fighter-bombers turned the area of five square miles into a hell of flame and rubble, leveling an estimated 80 buildings.

The area is northeast of Chonju, which is only 50 miles southeast—a few minutes' flying time—from the Reds' Manchurian air base at Antung.

Convicted Slayer Attempts to Prove Violation of Rights

CHICAGO (AP)—William G. Heirens, 24-year-old convicted sex slayer of three persons, went to court Thursday to prove his constitutional rights were violated at the time of his conviction in 1946.

Heirens did not testify, but his grounds for his bid for freedom were read by Judge Harold G. Ward in superior court. The petition stated:

He was not taken before a magistrate until six days after he was seized in a robbery attempt June 26, 1946; he was subjected to brutalities while in custody; he was given sodium pentothal, truth serum, against his wishes; he was deprived of competent counsel; a policeman gave perjured testimony at his hearing; all indictments against him were disposed of at one hearing; his penitentiary sentences are indefinite and ambiguous.

Heirens was brought here under heavy guard from Stateville penitentiary, near Joliet, about 45 miles southwest of Chicago, where he is serving three consecutive life sentences. He was convicted of slaying Suzanne Degnan, 6; Frances Brown, 33-year-old former WAVE, and Mrs. Josephine Ross, a widow.

Judge Ward, who was chief justice of the criminal court when Heirens was convicted, has three possible choices to make on the petition. He can discharge the petition, grant Heirens a new trial, or shorten his sentence.

Heirens, former University of Chicago student, has based his bid for freedom on the Illinois post-conviction law. This law provides a convict may obtain a review of his conviction if he can prove his constitutional rights had been violated.

Frank J. Ferlic, Heirens' attorney, said when Heirens takes the stand he will deny he committed the three slayings.

World News Briefs

A Condensation of Late Developments

HURSTMONCEUX, ENG. (AP)—The Royal Greenwich Observatory said Thursday an "unexpected" sunspot covering 1.2 billion square miles is working its way across the sun. Spots four and five times as big were seen a few years ago when the 11-year sunspot cycle was at its maximum. The observatory said the present spot and another big one sighted last July were unusual because the low point of the cycle is due in two years.

LONDON (AP)—The Duke of Windsor had lunch Thursday with his favorite niece, Queen Elizabeth II, and her mother, then left Thursday night by train for Paris. The lunch was a quiet family get-together at Buckingham Palace to mark the fifth wedding anniversary of the queen and the Duke of Edinburgh. Also present were Queen Mother Elizabeth and Princess Margaret.

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's Conservative government got a majority of only eight votes—one of the smallest margins since the Conservatives came to power more than a year ago—on a routine division in the house of commons Thursday night. The house voted 215 to 207 to close debate on a bill to continue various administrative acts.

ROME (AP)—The Penaro river raged through its dikes at four places Thursday flooding thousands of acres of rich Po valley farmland. The angry waters spilled out at Camposanto and near San Felice, in the area north of Modena.

Britain OK's Indian Plan In POW Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Britain Thursday threw its support to an Indian plan designed to solve the prisoner of war issue in Korea. The United States also believes the plan is basically satisfactory, informed sources said, but may insist upon certain changes.

Britain made known her approval — with some questions — when Anthony Eden, foreign secretary, spoke soon after he conferred with President-elect Eisenhower.

U.S., France, Eden Agree

Both the United States and French delegates were reported to agree with Eden's stand, but officially the U.S. delegation merely called the British declaration "constructive." Russian bloc sources said it was "too early" to react.

Eden spoke for 12 minutes to the UN political committee. He brought into the open Britain's position which had been stated in several meetings of a subcommittee of western delegations studying Korean resolutions. He did not refer to, or comment on, the talk with Eisenhower.

Reports Concerning U.S.

There had been reports that the United States had insisted in private talks with western delegations on having the Indian resolution spell out in detail provisions for repatriation of prisoners of war and eventual disposition of those still in camps 90 days after an armistice. Apparently these difficulties were solved for, after Eden's speech, informed sources said the U.S. position was almost identical with that of Britain.

Eden Speaks Emphatically

Eden, speaking slowly and with great emphasis, said the Indian resolution, presented by V. K. Krishna Menon, should not be viewed too legalistically.

"This situation is, in my view, a timely and constructive attempt to resolve this deadlock," Eden said.

The political committee convened as soon as Eden arrived from the Eisenhower talk.

Menon Resolution Satisfactory

Eden said the four-page Menon resolution was fully satisfactory. Menon has proposed that a four-nation repatriation commission be set up to supervise repatriation of the prisoners and to others.

Slansky Tells Of 25-Year Anti-Red Plots

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Rudolf Slansky, deposed secretary general of the Czechoslovak Communist party, confessed Thursday at the purge trial of 14 former party leaders in Prague that he plotted murder, treason, sabotage and anti-Soviet activities for the past 25 years.

Slansky, 51, long a power in international communism, and former Foreign Minister Vlado Clesmentis, one of the exiled "London group" of Communists in World War II, were prize defendants in the trial, which may be a prelude to a purge rivaling the Moscow bloodletting of the mid-1930s. No Western correspondents are in Prague. The proceedings before the five-man purge court were broadcast by Prague radio.

11 of 14 Are Jewish

Eleven of the 14 accused of treason, spying and sabotage are Jewish. Slansky—accused among other things of "Trotskyite Zionism"—even dragged into his three-hour confession the name of Ana Pauker, deposed Communist first lady of Romania, also Jewish. He said he supported the "anti-Communist" activities of Mrs. Pauker, once Romania's foreign minister and friend to Stalin. Romanian Communists purged her earlier this year.

It seemed clear in the broadcasts from Prague that international communism intended to make the trial the biggest propaganda show in years.

Demand Extreme Penalty

Only a few hours after it opened, Prague radio reported workers "were demanding the extreme penalty" for the 14, which in Czechoslovakia means death by hanging.

It seemed likely there would be more trials, not only in Czechoslovakia but in other Communist countries of East Europe. The use of Mrs. Pauker's name was an indication.

The omission from the list of defendants of the names of many other Czechoslovaks similarly accused in the press indicates that more — perhaps many more — Czech trials are coming.

Wilson Vows To Give Job 'Darn Whirl'

DETROIT (AP)—Charles Erwin Wilson vowed Thursday he would give the secretary of defense job the "darndest whirl it has ever had."

The 62-year-old white-thatched president of General Motors made the pledge in an interview less than an hour after announcement of his appointment by President-elect Eisenhower.

Wilson was affable, exchanging quips with reporters through 40 minutes of questions and answers. However, he avoided making any direct statements about what he intended to do in Washington other than his firmly spoken assertion that he would give the job the "darndest whirl."

Earlier the corporation issued a formal statement quoting Wilson as declaring himself "deeply honored" by the appointment.

Wilson disclosed that he had been offered the cabinet position by Eisenhower at his meeting with the President-elect in New York Wednesday.

Dulles Proposes To Put U.S. Ahead

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Foster Dulles' major purpose as secretary of state will be to "wrest the initiative" from Russia in the cold war and put the United States and its allies on the offensive.

Dulles is committed, as far as any man may be by political campaign statements, to help President-elect Eisenhower bring about an "amazing transformation" of foreign policy.

And he is probably destined, as Eisenhower's No. 1 cabinet officer, to preside over what may be the biggest shakeup in the history of the state department—a foremost target of Republican criticism.

Truman administration officials said Thursday they expect Dulles to open an office in the near future close by that of Secretary of State Acheson. They hope he will be able to give his personal views on policy decisions which may have to be made in the next two months so that nothing done in this interim will be undone later on.

Names Trio After Mapping Korea Visit

NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower named his secretaries of state, defense and the interior Thursday in a swift series of cabinet-making moves before he takes off secretly for Korea on a journey that will be blacked out in the news.

The first three appointments in the new GOP administration which will take over the reins of government on Jan. 20 went to:

John Foster Dulles, 64, Republican foreign affairs expert, as secretary of state succeeding Dean Acheson.

Charles E. Wilson, 62, president of General Motors, as secretary of defense succeeding Robert Lovett.

Gov. Douglas McKay of Oregon, 59, as secretary of the interior succeeding Oscar Chapman.

With these three appointments, Eisenhower made his first step toward forming the top echelon of his regime and carrying out an "orderly transfer" of authority from Democrats to Republicans. This was in line with the agreement reached between him and President Truman in their White House conference Tuesday.

Secrecy Shrouds Korean Trip

Shortly before the appointments were announced, the defense department in Washington disclosed that wartime secrecy will shroud the general's movements from the time he leaves the U.S. until he is safely out of Korea.

Defense Secretary Lovett said Eisenhower had agreed to this news blackout as a security measure taken to safeguard the life of the President-elect since he is going into a war zone.

Eisenhower pledged during the presidential campaign that he would go to Korea, if elected, to seek ways and means of bringing the war to an honorable end.

The time and place of Eisenhower's departure will be secret.

Dulles, Ike Confer

Eisenhower's selection of Dulles, Wilson and McKay followed close on the heels of a conference between Dulles and the general and a report that Wilson had been selected for the key defense job.

The brief announcement was made by Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, at the general's Commodore hotel headquarters.

General, Eden Meet

The cabinet announcement shined into the background another important event—the luncheon meeting of Eisenhower and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

The two talked for almost two hours and then the general walked with Eden out of his suite to bid him goodbye.

Eden said crisply: "The general and I talked about international security. For details you will have to refer to Mr. Eisenhower."

End of Steel Curbs For Civilian Users Seen by April, July

WASHINGTON (AP)—A start on steel decontrol by Jan. 1 seemed assured Thursday. In sight was an end of civilian allocations by April 1, or at the latest July 1.

The steel industry submitted to the national production authority a program for removal of controls by April 1 except on military and atomic deliveries. It asked NPA to take "immediate" action.

NPA's staff presented at the same closed meeting with industry spokesmen a slower-paced plan under which allocations would last three months longer—until mid-1953.

The industrymen said in a formal report that military deliveries stalled by the steel strike will have been made up by the end of this month. Steel output in 1953 will total nearly 119 million tons, they forecast, up 27 million tons from 1952.

Civilian steel users, the industry group added, can expect to get 31 per cent more steel next year than this, after military and atomic demands are met in full.

Both the industry and government experts agreed some type of that priority safeguard should be continued beyond next June 30 for the military and atomic energy programs.

This would require the extension of some priority and allocation power beyond the scheduled mid-year expiration date of the defense production act.

McKay Is Mum On Policy Plans

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—Gov. Douglas McKay of Oregon, who will be secretary of the interior in the Eisenhower cabinet, is a quick-moving man with an ability for picking assistants.

McKay, 57, has a working familiarity with the resources of the west, with federal domain and with the thinking of men who have been active in power, reclamation, irrigation and other projects.

But he won't say what his policies will be. His standard procedure is to reserve decision until all views are in.

McKay was an early backer of Dwight Eisenhower for the presidency, and issued frequent press releases during the campaign to answer the Democrats. One of his strongest statements ties in with his new job. He said that multipurpose dams would continue to be built on the rivers of the Pacific northwest under a Republican administration.

Hypnotic Research Blamed for Death

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A coroner's jury decided Thursday a University of Pennsylvania student, found hanged in the basement of his home, died "as the result of hypnotic research."

The death, at first termed a suicide by police, was the accidental result of an unsuccessful attempt at suspended animation through self-hypnosis, the jury ruled.

The victim was Giard K. Rosenblum, 21, of Philadelphia, who had graduated from Penn with honors last June and was taking a post-graduate course there at the time of his death Oct. 2.

Rosenblum's mother, Mrs. Sadie Rosenblum, found her son's body hanging from a joist in the basement of their home when she returned from a shopping trip.

'Dixieland' Pep Rally To Be This Morning

A pep meeting and "Dixieland Band Concert" on the east steps of Old Capitol at 10:30 this morning will replace the usual evening pre-game rally, according to Student Council President Peter Van Metre, L. Waterloo.

Van Metre and the cheerleaders announced the switch in plans late Thursday night, saying they hoped the meeting would attract more students at the new time and place.

McNaughton 'Pays Off' Book Identifier

SPEAKING THURSDAY TO AN SUJ political science class in "Soviet-American Relations," Frank McNaughton (right), special correspondent for Time and Life magazines, promised a free dinner to anyone who could identify a passage which he read. Irma Butler (left), graduate assistant teaching the social science core course and a member of the class, named the passage from "Democracy in America," written in 1831 by a visiting French writer, Alexis de Toqueville. Miss Butler received her free dinner Thursday night at a local dining room. McNaughton has asked the question "at a dozen other colleges," he said, "and never before paid off." Miss Butler said she read the book three years ago for a history course. McNaughton will speak to more classes today, and deliver an address at the Waygoose banquet tonight.

Congress Applauds Ike's Cabinet Selections

WASHINGTON (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower's announcement of his first three Republican cabinet appointments drew widespread applause from members of congress Thursday.

Republicans and Democrats alike expressed belief that all three would get quick senate confirmation.

At the White House, administration aides reflected a none-of-our-business reaction to the appointments.

The feeling was evident there, however, that in picking John Foster Dulles as secretary of state and Charles E. Wilson as secretary of defense, Eisenhower had tapped two of the last men in the country that President Truman would have chosen for his own cabinet.

Dulles figured as a target of Truman's fire during the presidential election campaign.

As for Eisenhower's appointment of Wilson of General Motors for the top defense post, it was recalled that Truman once took a crack at the Detroit industrialist.

On Jan. 22, 1948, commenting on Wilson's proposal for a 45-hour work week, Truman told his news conference he was sorry to say he believed Wilson was living in the 1890's.

On Capitol Hill, one of the few notes of criticism came from Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, who bolted the Republican party during the presidential campaign and now styles himself an independent in politics.

Commenting on the appointment of Dulles and of Gov. Douglas McKay of Oregon as secretary of the interior, Morse told newsmen: "I think they are very good appointments — for the reactionaries."

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), author of controversial Communists-In-government accusations which figured in the recent election, commented: "I like Dulles. I think he's a good American. He's got the most difficult job of any member of the cabinet. If he does a good job, he will be attacked by left wingers from one end of the country to the other."

DuPont Starts Court Defense In Trust Suit

CHICAGO (AP)—Defense attorneys Thursday began an effort to knock the legal props from under the government's anti-trust suit against the du Pont family and six major companies.

John Harlan, an attorney for the du Pont interests, contended the government's case is vague on the main issue and is "built on inferences, assumptions and insinuations."

Harlan harked back to the early days of World War I and related that the du Ponts kept stock in their huge munitions firm from "falling into pro-German hands."

The government's civil suit was brought against 117 members of the du Pont family, three du Pont holding companies, E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and company, prime producer of munitions and chemicals, General Motors corporation and the U.S. Rubber company.

The suit alleges the du Ponts, through their stock holdings, control all the companies. It seeks to force them to sell their stock in General Motors and U.S. Rubber.

The government charges there was a conspiracy among these interests to restrain trade. The defendants have denied the charges.

Harlan, in his opening statement, asserted it was "ridiculous" for the government to say the seed of conspiracy was planted when the first du Pont holding company, the Christiana Securities company, was set up in 1915.

Holding Firm Set Up
He said T. Coleman du Pont had decided to retire and the holding company was organized to buy his stock in the du Pont munitions-chemical firm. The stockholders in Christiana — among them Pierre and Irene du Pont — were all in management positions in the operating company.

Harlan said the purchase of T. Coleman's stock gave the buyers "a larger ownership position" in the company. The buyers had another purpose, he added, and this was:

"To put completely to rest rumors and fears, expressed to me by the British government, an important customer, that a substantial block of du Pont stock might fall into hands unsympathetic with the Allied cause in World War I."

White House Conference Fulfilled Expectations

Associated Press News Analyst By J. M. ROBERTS JR.

The Eisenhower-Truman conference Tuesday was expected to produce something less than world-shaking results and lived up to expectations.

The mere fact that the conferees met, had their pictures made together three times and drew up a several hundred word statement, all in an hour and 10 minutes, is in itself evidence as to the amount of "conferring" which went on over issues.

If the President and his successor did not appear to be on the best of terms, that is only natural after the type of campaign they have just been through.

Situations Exist
There are situations in the world, however, which Truman could have referred to in sufficiently serious terms to give the President-elect that grim look he bore as he left the White House, regardless of personal relations.

Of course, any speculation as to what was said is just that, pending the leaks which will come eventually.

The joint statement, and the obvious chilliness among the conferees, served primarily to emphasize Eisenhower's position that he is not suggesting policy, or even endorsing it, pending his assumption of the authority which

Pentagon May Rule On 'Snafued' Records Of Michigan Brothers

DETROIT (AP)—The mixed-up identities of the three Tilley brothers had Army records snafued Wednesday.

So when officers wanted to hold 19-year-old Joseph Tilley on an AWOL charge, they also drew up papers naming his brothers William and Robert.

Joseph went into the army six months ago in answer to a draft summons, but claimed when arrested at his Redford Township home Tuesday night that he never really was drafted. He was right, but that's getting ahead of the story.

It started in 1944, when William Tilley wanted to join the army. But he was only 14, so he assumed the identity of his dead brother, Robert, several years older.

Capitol Intervenes In Attempt to End Locomotive Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House has made a last ditch try at settling the 3-month-old strike at the American Locomotive company's plant at Dunkirk, N. Y.

Talks were held by John R. Steelman, assistant to President Truman, with representatives of the company and the CIO's steel workers union were recessed until Thursday morning.

The Dunkirk plant makes piping and other critical materials for the atomic energy commission. It was reported that unless a settlement is arranged soon the government may invoke the emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley law, allowing a court injunction against continuing the strike. Another report was that the plant might be seized under the defense production act.

The walkout began at Dunkirk on Aug. 29. In late October two other plants of the company were struck, those at Schenectady and Auburn, N. Y.

Ceiling on Taxes Opposed by Ike

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—President-elect Eisenhower wrote the Lafayette, La., Daily Advertiser in reply to their telegraphed question that he opposes a proposed amendment to the federal Constitution which would limit income, estate and gift taxes to 25 per cent in "peacetime."

The Advertiser wired Eisenhower on Oct. 2:

"Am wiring for public statement regarding your views on proposed constitutional amendment limiting income taxes to 25 per cent. Am also seeking opinion of Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate. Please wire answer collect and, if necessary, follow with airmail letter."

Eisenhower replied by letter on Oct. 6:

"I do not believe that the wise approach to the problem of reducing taxation is through an amendment to the federal Constitution. An arbitrary ceiling on the power to tax, without a like ceiling on the power to spend, could likely result in larger and larger deficits and a grave financial unsettlement. And the rigidity of a constitutional amendment would be a source of danger in possible future national emergencies."

Iowa Prisons Facing Psychiatrist Shortage, State Official Declares

DES MOINES (AP)—Iowa is improving its psychiatric services but running into a widespread shortage of trained psychiatrists, Dr. Charles C. Graves, director of Iowa mental institutions said Wednesday.

"It has been impossible to get a psychiatrist for the staff of the criminally insane ward at the men's reformatory at Anamosa," he said.

The psychiatrist said that despite the unfortunate shortage of trained personnel an increasing number of selected prisoners have been taken from the reformatory to other state institutions for psychiatric treatment.

Graves spoke at a panel discussion on "The Law and Mental Health," sponsored by the Polk County Mental Health society and the Polk County Bar association.

Other speakers were Clarence A. Kading, assistant attorney general and John McLaughlin, Des Moines lawyer.

All three speakers urged that the medical profession be given a larger role in the handling of mentally ill persons in the courts.

"A commission of impartial psychiatrists should be created to make pre-trial examinations of defendants in criminal cases," said McLaughlin.

Under such a system, McLaughlin said, a person charged with a crime would be examined with a minimum of delay to determine whether he was mentally capable of defending himself.

A need for psychiatric examination of persons charged with minor offenses was cited by Kading.

EMPRESS ATTENDS CONCERT TOKYO (AP)

The Empress of Japan broke precedent Wednesday night when she attended a public concert by Alfred Cortot, French pianist, at Hibiya Hall. In the past artists performed by royal command at the Emperor's palace.

Taft Sees No Tax Cut

DECLARING HE WOULD like to see government spending cut to $70 billion in the fiscal year starting July 1, Sen. Robert A. Taft tells newsmen at a conference (above) in Washington that he does not look for any tax cut action in the first year of the new Republican congress which convenes in January. He also said that he is available for the post of senate Republican floor leader and hopes there will be no fight.

Provoov Trial Witness Tells Of Execution

NEW YORK (AP)—A hushed, solemn courtroom Wednesday heard its first eyewitness account of an American officer's execution after he allegedly was betrayed to the wartime Japanese by John D. Provoov.

Everett Waldrum, 30, testified at Provoov's treason trial that he drove the car which carried Capt. Burton C. Thomson of Svea City, Ia., to his death.

"His hands were tied in front of him with a grass rope," Waldrum said, "and we drove to the airbase and they (the Japanese) got out of the car and tied him to a bush and shot him."

Thomson Called 'Brave'
Then, Waldrum added, the Japanese executioners called the dead officer "a very brave soldier."

Waiting to testify at the time was the actual executioner of Thomson, Seitaro Fujita, a Japanese veteran now serving 30 years in a Tokyo prison as a war criminal for the captain's slaying.

The 35-year-old Provoov is accused of going over to the Japanese side after his capture during the fall of Corregidor in 1942.

Previous witnesses testified that Capt. Thomson aroused Provoov's ire by refusing to give him food from a hospital mess hall operated in the prisoner of war compound. Provoov then denounced Thomson to the Japanese as "uncooperative, anti-Japanese and a threat to the internal security of the military occupation of the island of Corregidor."

The result, it is charged, was Thomson's execution.

Ford Gifts to Wife Bring $157,000 At Jewelry Auction

NEW YORK (AP)—They started the auction Wednesday with Henry Ford's first wedding gift to his wife—a modest little ring—and ended it with his 1931 Christmas present to her—a magnificent diamond and emerald necklace a queen would envy.

The ring sold for $80, the necklace for $98,500, mutely telling the story of Ford's climb through the years from an obscure mechanic to fabulous wealth as a mass producer of automobiles.

Nineteen pieces of the late Mrs. Ford's jewelry ordered sold by the executors of her estate brought a total of $157,595 at the Parke-Bernet Galleries on Upper Madison ave.

The Christmas necklace was clearly the magnet that brought some 500 persons, including many prominent jewel dealers, to the auction room.

Parke-Bernet galleries had arranged to have the Christmas necklace divided into a brooch, earrings and three bracelets, and offered it as a whole necklace or separately.

Chicago jeweler Harry Levinson bought 10 of the 19 pieces for some $50,000.

Eisenhower Confers with GOP Team

MEMBERS OF THE REPUBLICAN party's top brass meet in New York (Nov. 19) with President-elect Dwight Eisenhower to discuss legislative problems that will confront the next session of congress. In above group, from left, are Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire; Eisenhower; Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Rep. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts, prospective speaker of the house.

DECLARING HE WOULD like to see government spending cut to $70 billion in the fiscal year starting July 1, Sen. Robert A. Taft tells newsmen at a conference (above) in Washington that he does not look for any tax cut action in the first year of the new Republican congress which convenes in January. He also said that he is available for the post of senate Republican floor leader and hopes there will be no fight.

International House Holds Open House

VISITING INTERNATIONAL HOUSE Thursday afternoon at one of a series of open houses are, left to right, Mrs. Virgil M. Haneher; David Rhodes, L3, England; Mrs. Charles H. McCloy, wife of an SUI physical education instructor, and Mrs. Howard Kliggaard, wife of an SUI student. The last open house in the series, which began with the official opening Sunday, will be held this afternoon. The public is invited to visit the house, which is located at 3 E. Market.

UNESCO Topic Discussed by Faculty Panel

"UNESCO—Success or Failure" was the topic of a panel discussion sponsored by Information First lectures Thursday afternoon in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

E. T. Peterson, dean of the college of education, opened the discussion by briefing the audience on the background of the United Nations Educational Scientific Cultural organization.

The panel consisted of Dr. Ruth Updegraff of the department of child welfare; Prof. Kirk Porter, head of the political science department, and Dean Bruce Mahan, of the extension division of SUI.

UNESCO Separate
Peterson pointed out that UNESCO is a specialized agency separate from the United Nations whose membership is composed of representatives of various countries.

UNESCO has its own separate governing body with its headquarters in Paris. The organization deals with problems of education, cultural problems and scientific development of various world communities with a regional coverage set up by UNESCO.

Dr. Updegraff told of working with children in a world wide setting such as UNESCO. Two projects have been kept in mind in this work. First, to work in education in the war devastated countries, and usually to deal with children's activities, especially in Europe.

Porter Cites Attacks
Porter cited the attacks on UNESCO, as the objection to the extra weight this organization puts on taxes and that we have plenty of our own problems right here at home. He felt that these objections could be remedied by making persons acquainted with the various goals, and set up of UNESCO.

Mahan, the last speaker on the panel, stressed the use of films in telling the story of UNESCO and the UN.

Student from Brazil —

Maksoud Lauds U.S. Education

(This is the second in a series of articles on foreign students attending SUI.)

Henry Maksoud, hailing from Sao Paulo, the largest coffee-producing district in Brazil, has learned how to drink the North American breed of coffee without looking smugly South American.

"At the beginning, I found your coffee too weak," he said, "but in time I convinced myself that I was drinking a special kind of tea, instead of coffee. Now I like it very much."

Maksoud came to SUI in June, '52, for graduate training in the department of hydraulics. He found the summer climate in Iowa much different than in his own native state.

Cites Milder Climate
"Sao Paulo has a milder climate, with much less humidity than Iowa," he said. "Also we don't have the extremes from hot to cold weather that I'm finding here."

Sao Paulo, with a population of 2½ million, is the largest industrial city in South America, well-known for its vast textile industry as well as its coffee-producing industry. It is recognized too, as the fastest-growing city in the world, and is famous for its modern architecture.

Maksoud found a similarity between Sao Paulo and New York City, where he spent his first 20 days in this country, which "made me feel at home almost at once," he said.

Lauds U.S. Education
He feels that the educational system of United States' universities is very good but that entrance requirements here are less competitive than in Brazilian universities.

"Every department in our universities has a quota system which often makes admission highly competitive," he said. He added that almost all of the Brazilian states provide free university education, in addition to free primary and secondary education.

Brazilian Education Gains
Maksoud pointed out the progress that has been made in the last few years in the field of general education for the people in Brazil.

He is the first president of the new SUI International Student center at 3 E. Market st.

Ping-Pong Tourney Slated by Union

The Iowa Union board is sponsoring a ping-pong tournament Nov. 21 to 23 at the Iowa Memorial Union.

The preliminary games will be held in the River room and the finals on Sunday will be held in the main lounge.

Participants must register at the Union desk before 5 p.m. Friday. Everyone is urged to participate.

Trophies, cups and medals will be awarded to the winners.

State Historical Society Elects 4 Iowa City Men

Four Iowa City men have been elected to the State Historical Society of Iowa, Prof. William J. Petersen, of the history department and superintendent of the society, announced.

The new members are: Mrs. Roy G. Busby, 314 Seventh st.; G. W. Euxton, 1708 E. College st.; Frederick Sederholm, WSUI program assistant; and Roland M. Smith, Apt. 2, 20 Evans st.

Thirty-two persons were elected to membership this month.

Foreign Students Invited to Banquet At Wesley House

All SUI foreign students are invited to the annual international banquet sponsored by the Methodist students at Wesley House tonight from 6:30 to 8:30.

The banquet will follow an African theme with Malcolm Maycole, G. Monrovia, Liberia, as chairman. He will address the banquet, as will Christopher Efofi, P3, Onitsha, Nigeria.

Azzeddine Cherif, E1, Tunis, Tunisia, will present a violin solo. Sylvia Bliss, A2, Iowa City, is chairman for the banquet and Riley Geary, M4, Phoenix, Ariz., is master of ceremonies.

Tickets are being sold at the Wesley office for 50 cents.

'Career' Wives Haunted By Homemaking Chores

NEW YORK (AP)—At one time or another, the American housewife thinks that if she only could get a job or a career, she could escape the burden of housework.

She's wrong. The nation's 10 million working wives spend almost as much time at housekeeping jobs as the 28 million full-time homemakers. Both wind up their days in almost the same state of fatigue. Almost a quarter of the women in both categories say they are exhausted.

At least, that's shown in a nation-wide survey on the home-making habits of the working wife, released Wednesday by the General Electric company. Undertaken on behalf of its household equipment manufacturing divisions, the study is based on interviews with 700 married women holding full-time jobs and with 250 full-time housewives.

No Aid from Men
In addition to blasting the notion that a job eliminates many household responsibilities, the study tends to shatter the happy concept of papa lending a housework hand when mama helps bring home the bacon. Less than half the husbands of working wives help with the dishes — a quarter of them never come into the kitchen except to raid the ice box. When they do assist, it's most likely to be in an activity classified as "emptying garbage and trash."

Researchers have assembled a picture of the average urban wife. She is 35 years old, has a child between 11 and 12 years, makes $3,450 of the $6,290 which is the family income, is employed 40 hours a week in a clerical job, lives in a five-room, one-family house and, if she has a pet, it's a dog.

Meals Take Time
While the full-time housewife

spends 90 minutes a day preparing her family's food, the working wife spends 78 minutes. She goes marketing a couple of times a week and spends two hours doing it. Her full-time housewife sister shops an average of 2½ times weekly and spends the same total amount of time.

Greatest difference in the time budgets of the two groups of women is the hours spent with their children. Working wives average a little over three hours a day—full-time housewives sometimes over six, most of doing what the researchers call "entertaining."

Married women with jobs find time to give about three hours weekly to organized activities like PTA and Red Cross. Housewives average 4½ hours.

SUI Newman Club To Play Hosts To Other Chapters

Members of the SUI Newman club will be hosts to Iowa State college and Iowa State Teacher's college Newman clubs this weekend for the Iowa-Notre Dame game.

Larry Barrett's combo will play for a dance at 7:30 tonight in the River room of the Iowa Memorial Union. There will also be a showing of the 1939 Iowa-Notre Dame game, won by Iowa 7-6. Entertainment during intermission and refreshments are among the highlights of the dance.

Chaperones for the dance are: Dr. and Mrs. Robert Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. John Ostadiek, Mr. and Mrs. James Baxter, and Mr. and Mrs. John P. Kelly.

A brunch will be served Saturday morning at the Catholic student center following the 9 a.m. Mass at St. Thomas More Catholic chapel.

Housing will be furnished for out-of-town guests in Iowa City homes and university housing units.

Fraternity to Hold Party Saturday

Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity will hold the annual "La Apache Brawl" Saturday Nov. 21 from 9 to 12 p.m. at the chapter house, 303 Ellis ave.

The house has been decorated like a French basement cafe and the costumes will be that of French sailors and their girl friends to carry out the French theme of the party.

Chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. Dale Welt, Mrs. Waterman and Mrs. Harker, housemother.

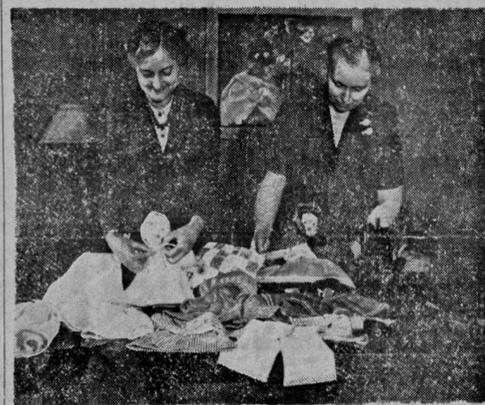

Newcomers Club Plans Card Party

The SUI Newcomers' club will hold their monthly bridge party Monday, Nov. 24 at 7:30 p.m. at the University club rooms in the Iowa Union.

Bridge and canasta will be played. Beginners are urged to attend.

The committee is Mrs. Rodman Taber, chairman, Mrs. Steven Hobson, Mrs. Robert Hodges, Mrs. Irwin Knoff, Mrs. George Stevens and Mrs. Frank Itzin.

University Club Dresses Dolls

SUI Meteor Hunters Take to the Air Looking For Traces of Explosion Over South Dakota

SUI meteor hunters took to the air last weekend to continue a two-month old search for parts of a meteor which exploded over South Dakota Sept. 27.

The search by observers from an army helicopter over a 15-mile-long four-mile wide path in the vicinity of Turkey Ridge and Center Point, S. D., Saturday and Sunday failed to turn up any evidence of the meteor, according to Prof. C. C. Wylie, professor of astronomy at SUI.

Helped Arouse Interest

However, the air study of the area has helped to arouse the interest of farmers and hunters in the section, with the result that there is a much greater chance of meteorites being found and reported, Wylie says. Only about half the area was searched, but much of the ground covered was plowed and the meteorites would have been hidden, he says.

Data on the meteor has been gathered through interviews and letters from observers and is being used by Wylie and his research assistants to complete a current study of meteor speed and direction. The work is being supported in part by the army's office of ordnance research.

Wylie Directed Search

The air search was directed by Wylie at the scene. He was assisted by Profs. William E. Ekman of the University of South Dakota and Harry E. Nelson of Augustana college at Rock Island, Ill., both former students of Wylie at SUI. Prof. Edward L. Hill of Augustana college also assisted.

"It was found that by flying slowly at a height of 200 feet, an observer could watch a strip nearly a quarter-of-a-mile wide on good terrain and could distinguish rather small stones and holes in the ground," Wylie explains.

Receives 700 Letters

More than 700 letters have been received from observers in South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, Wisconsin and Missouri, Illinois, Wisconsin and servers have been interviewed by the researchers.

The September meteor has attracted more attention than any that has been seen in the past two or three years Wylie says. Most of the observers reported the light from the meteor as being brighter than the full moon, and others said it was equal to full daylight.

Hopes for More Reports

Wylie said Thursday that he hopes to receive further reports of a meteor seen late Wednesday night.

The meteor was seen by highway patrolman R. J. Reddick who described it as being "white with a bluish tint." Reddick was driving west on highway 30 just outside of Mt. Vernon around 11:55 p.m. with another patrolman when the meteor appeared, falling in the northwestern sky.

Wylie has just returned from South Dakota, where he was a member of the party of astronomers searching for the meteor.

Local Rotary Club Seeks to Elect Dakin As Its Governor

The Iowa City Rotary club is promoting with renewed vigor the district Rotary governorship candidacy of Allin W. Dakin, SUI administrative dean, who was nominated last July by the Rotary district No. 193.

Members of the local club have been urged to write commendatory letters to the other 48 clubs in this district, which encompasses the southern half of Iowa and includes approximately 2,700 members.

Dakin, now chairman of the local Rotary club's vocational service committee, has been club president and vice president, and has served on major committees. He has been a member for eight years.

Dakin said that he regards the governorship as an opportunity to promote the aims of Rotary. "It is one of the best avenues for establishing international peace," he said. Eighty-three countries are represented in Rotary International.

The local club's secretary, Graham E. Marshall, SUI fraternity adviser, said that Dakin's chances for the governorship are very good. "He is one of the outstanding men of the district. During his travels in many foreign countries he has been a true ambassador of good-will. He has made friends throughout the world," Marshall said.

SUI Lost and Found Collects Varied Articles

(Daily Iowan Photo)

NORMA TALLMAN, A4, IOWA CITY, is inspecting a coat in the lost and found department, with the assistance of Phil Ware, A1, Iowa City. Ware is a volunteer worker of Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity, which has operated the department since 1949. The department acts as a central agency where librarians, janitors and custodians on campus may deposit lost articles found in their areas. A wide variety of coats, notebooks, jewelry, pens, scarfs, 50 pair of glasses (shown in the foreground), and other items are shelved in the department, waiting to be claimed by the original owners.

SUI Lost and Found Serves Students as 'House of Vision'

By SHIRLEE DAVIS

If 50 students are having trouble seeing the blackboards in their respective classes, they may find the answer by claiming 50 pairs of glasses which have accumulated in the Lost and Found department in the Old Dental building.

The "lost" section also includes a department store variety of scarfs, gloves, jackets, coats, jewelry, pens, pencils, billfolds and notebooks.

In its 3-year existence, the department also has shelved an occasional baby bottle, wrist-watch or professor-owned hat.

Laundry Ticket Helps

Last year the owner of a billfold was traced through a laundry ticket, the only identification found in it. A call to the laundry soon uncovered the owner, who fortunately lost the billfold before losing the ticket.

Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity founded the Lost and Found department in 1949 and housed it in room 117, Old Dental building.

The department was formed as a central agency for lost and found items in order to relieve librarians, janitors and custodians on campus of this responsibility.

Hours Listed

Students may leave or claim lost articles from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and from 2 to 4 p.m. on Monday through Thursday and from 2 to 5 p.m. on Friday. Items may also be left through a door slot if the office is closed.

All lost items are tagged and shelved until claimed by the owner. Students who have lost articles may fill out a slip describing the lost item, which will be kept on file in the department. If the lost article is turned in the owner will be promptly notified.

More than 40 per cent of the students who have lost articles and filed slips in the department have recovered their items through the lost and found department.

Japanese Geologist To Give 2 Lectures

Prof. Teichi Kobayashi, a member of the Geological Institute of Tokyo, will deliver two lectures at SUI in the geology lecture room on Nov. 25 and 26.

The first lecture is scheduled for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. on the topic, "Migration of geosynclines and orogenic sedimentation exemplified by the tectonic development of the Japanese islands."

The second lecture will be given Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. on the topic, "Types of geologic structures seen in Eastern Asia." Anyone interested is invited.

The lectures are being sponsored jointly by the department of geology and the graduate college at SUI.

Prof. Kobayashi is one of the best known contemporary Japanese geologists and has written extensively on the geology of eastern Asia. He has studied in this country, primarily at the U.S. National Museum.

Bluffs Banker Indicted for Juggling Books

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP) — Clyde Blanchard, president of the State Savings bank here, disclosed Thursday he has been indicted by a federal grand jury on a charge of falsification of bank records but termed it the result of "a difference of opinion in bookkeeping procedure."

The bank's directors were disclosed to have sent a letter to the grand jury voicing confidence in Blanchard.

Blanchard said the indictment was returned in Des Moines Wednesday afternoon. He said he had not been taken into custody and no date for a hearing before a U. S. commissioner had been announced. Involved is a $12,000 fund which Blanchard said was set up as a reserve for possible losses in the bank's bond account. He said the charge results from "a difference of opinion in bookkeeping procedure in setting up a reserve. It certainly was not the intent to violate any laws. All funds remained in the bank."

All of the bank's directors knew about the fund, said Ted Connolly, board member.

"We don't think there is anything wrong with the fund," he said, adding that a letter signed by 10 directors, excluding Blanchard, was sent the grand jury "attesting to our confidence in Mr. Blanchard."

Blanchard became president of the bank in 1948 at the age of 35.

Wachowiak Heads Art Series —

WOI-TV Programs Directed Toward Elementary Students

Among the educational broadcasts sponsored by WOI-TV, Ames, is "Adventures in Art," produced and directed each Friday morning by Prof. Frank Wachowiak, head of the art education department at University schools.

In the twelve shows presented each semester, those art projects are emphasized which will most attract children in elementary school. In his show, Wachowiak introduces children, who come from the Ames vicinity, as they actually participate in their classroom. Some of the projects which the children have made include paper mache animals, masks for holidays, clay structures and sculptures from scrap material.

The production of the show originates in the university elementary school, where Wachowiak develops the project of that week with children. Examples of their art work is employed in decorating the TV set and in illustrating various aspects of each project.

Audience response to the show has been enthusiastic, according to Ed Sprague, WOI-TV technical director. His explanation is that the audience enjoys watching the projects take shape in front of its eyes. Because it is not rehearsed, the audience is attracted to the spontaneous actions of the instructor and students.

In his next show on Friday morning Wachowiak will interview a group of students from Prof. Miriam Taylor's craft class. A puppet play will be enacted and then each student will demonstrate one phase of puppetry. Such stages in a puppet's development as making the head, designing its costume, and making the puppet come to life will be featured. Wachowiak and his students will travel to Des Moines to present the show.

Hill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Torke Hill of Story City, Ia.

Local Woman Hit As Car Swerves; Condition Is Good

Mrs. Clara Snyder, 63, 502 W. Benton st., was injured Thursday at 1 p.m. when struck by a car driven by Russell L. Stutzman, 711 E. Jefferson st., near the Washington and Linn streets intersection.

The accident occurred when Mrs. Snyder was walking east on the south side of Washington st. She was taken to University hospital for treatment of a lacerated scalp. Hospital officials report her condition as good.

Stutzman, driving south on Linn st., told police he had started across the intersection when a car coming toward him started to make a left turn.

He told officers he did not see Mrs. Snyder in the street in his attempt to get out of the way of the turning car.

No charges have been filed against Stutzman.

SATURDAY MORNING

"the shortest long trip in the world"

"Where are we going, Daddy?"

He puts his hand in yours with such confidence, looks up with so much pride. This is the way you go together—to a neighbor's... to the store... to take a walk...

Where are you going this time? Could it be... To church?

That's the shortest long trip in the world. Perhaps only a block or two. But it can lead all the way to Peace of Mind.

Your mind may not have been at peace in many ways, with one particularly disturbing thought returning time after time...

The little fellow... starting to grow up... starting to grow up without formal religious teaching... without training in knowledge of God.

That bothered his mother—and you. She and you hadn't let such thoughts disturb you too much before. It was so easy to decide you both deserved a good rest on your Day of Rest... or a weekend trip... or a good time with lots of people around...

What would the world be without God? What will our children be, without training in knowledge of God? If we let this happen, and something goes wrong, how can we ever face them in their hour of need?

Together, you and he are taking the first step. Your greatest gift to your children is faith in God.

Show them the Way... this week

Volunteers' May Invade Korea

By CENTRAL PRESS
HONG KONG — Some 100,000 "international volunteers" drawn from Soviet Russia and the satellite countries and lurking in Manchuria will go into action in Korea if and when the "Chinese people volunteers" are driven northward by United Nations troops. This arrangement was agreed upon in Moscow between Premier Josef Stalin and Foreign Minister Chou En-lai of the Peiping regime and ranking members of the Kremlin in early September.

This agreement was reached, according to a Peiping report, after Chou En-lai had complained about the heavy Chinese losses in men and equipment while fighting the American and other UN forces in Korea for 23 months. Premier Josef Stalin then promised to move in his "international brigades" which have been deployed in Siberia and Manchuria since the summer of this year.

'Volunteers' Well Trained
At the same time the "Chinese People Volunteers" have been well trained and equipped during the prolonged armistice negotiations dragging through 16 months, but to assure victory Moscow called Peiping by undertaking to move in the European puppet units as reinforcements in the event of a UN offensive. The "international volunteers" are reported to be seasoned units equipped with the latest weapons although their morale is not high.

In any event the Peiping report added that Soviet Russia will back up Communist China in the present war in Korea in order to achieve Moscow-Peiping objectives against the western democracies in general and the United States in particular. At the same time, the Peiping regime is ordered to gear up its war efforts in preparation for further liberation of countries in southeast Asia.

Military Aid Objective
One of these objectives is the Chinese military aid to the Communist-led Vietminh insurgents in French Indo-China as ordered by Moscow. The amount of military supplies has stepped up to about 1,500 tons to 2,000 tons a month, thereby enabling the Vietminh troops to start an offensive since mid-October. About 50,000 to 80,000 Chinese Communist troops are settled in northern Indo-China but will not go into action until the autumn offensive has gained sufficient ground or when the French Union troops and their Vietminh allies launch a counter-offensive. The war in Korea and the steady stream of supplies to the Vietminh forces are being borne out by the vast sums extorted from the Chinese people during the first seven months of the year in the name of anti-corruption drive which yielded an equivalent of about $2 billion in U. S. currency. A local banking source estimated that an equivalent of about $90 million have been remitted to Hong Kong for the purchase of various goods and other disbursements.

Fresh Taxation Planned
To foot at least a part of the bill for the world liberation movement as announced recently in Moscow by Stalin, Peiping is mapping out fresh taxation schemes. Students of Chinese public finance here said that the Chinese sponge is not squeezed quite dry by the anti-corruption extortion racket from January to July this year and that it is possible to force out a few more drops from the unwilling and greatly impoverished people.

Continuous exploitation of the people in the name of defending the country against the "American aggressors" at China's gateway, Korea, has resulted in waves of resentment against the Peiping regime, which is, however, determined to ride roughshod in the merry game of get-rich-quick. It is felt here that continuous drawing of wealth from the people without giving them a chance to recover has alienated their loyalty and support.

Large Sums Required
Also large sums of money are required for the development of the vast and semi-barren northwest as the base of a third world war. Lanchow in Kansu province is to be the industrial and communication center and possibly the wartime capital. The Lunghai railway from Haichow on the coast in north Kiangsu is to be extended from Paochi in Kansu right up to the provincial capital of Lanchow. From Lanchow the railroad will be built westward to Tihua, provincial capital of Sinkiang, covering a distance of some 700 miles over rugged and mountainous tracts.

Other proposed railroads will be built from Lanchow to Paotou in Suiyuan province in the North Sea Ninshia province. Paotou has been the terminus of the Peiping-Suiyuan railway which is linked with the Siberian railway. In brief, the northwest will be connected by railway with the U.S.S.R. via Sinkiang and Manchuria. Lanchow is also to be connected in a southern direction with Chengtu, important provincial capital of Szechuan, and eventually with Kwangsi province and the borders of Indo-China.

5-Year Plan For China
Chinese press reports quoted Radio Moscow as announcing a five-year industrial plan for China, although no details were given. It is expected by observers here that iron and steel works, machine shops, arsenals, cotton mills will be set up in the northwestern provinces to turn out strategic goods in support of Soviet policy vis-a-vis the western democracies. However, it does not necessarily mean that there will be no general war until after the next four or five years in the opinion of the observers, as all depends on how well Soviet-Chinese intrigue and plans are met by the democratic camp.

Cheaper by the Dozen?

DES MOINES (AP) — Is it better to sell a dressed chicken as a whole or by the pound?
The state department of agriculture frowns on the whole-chicken system. The department reported Wednesday that it will ask the 1953 legislature to pass a law requiring all markets to sell dressed chickens only by the pound.

"The present system is confusing," said L. B. Liddy, chief of the state dairy and food division. "The law says a cut-up chicken must be sold by the pound. So must a chicken that is sold whole but in a package."

But a chicken that is still intact but not in a package may be sold as a unit.
Liddy said chickens sold on a unit price basis, $1.19 for example, may vary a quarter pound or more. That isn't fair to the buyer getting the lighter chicken, he said.

Police Investigate Bad Check Passers

DUBUQUE (AP) — Two young men were being held here Thursday while police investigated their signed statements admitting they had passed bad checks in a number of midwestern states.

Police Chief Hugh Callahan identified the two as Robert M. Stephens, 21, of Belvidere, Ill., and Keith A. Edwards, 18, of Rockford, Ill.

They were arrested, Callahan said, after a Dubuque grocer became suspicious of Edwards when he attempted to cash a check but could not identify himself.

1,297 Phones Prove Useful In SUI Life

There are 1,297 university extension phones which play an important part in the SUI students and faculty members everyday living.
University dormitories house

746 phones and the SUI administrative offices use 551.

The university exchange number, 8-0511, connects the caller with the 746-phone P.B.X. board operated by the telephone company personnel in the downtown office. This exchange connects the caller with dormitory and administration phones. Students living in private housing, sororities and fraternities are listed under city numbers.

The university switchboard is located in the same room as the city board at the downtown office and can accommodate five operators.

During the average day two operators work until six p.m. when three come on duty until midnight.

More operators are needed during football, basketball and other special weekends. In the summer one or two operators can handle all calls.

SUI has a contract with the Northwestern Bell company, fixing rental rates for equipment and the cost of phone operation. The SUI hospitals have their own operators but the telephone company owns and maintains the equipment.

The contract is maintained with the telephone company as it provides special training for operators and it affords 24 hour service.

EXECUTION DATE ASKED
NEW YORK (AP)—U. S. Atty. Myles J. Lane said Wednesday he will ask Federal Court Judge Irving R. Kaufman today to set a date for the execution of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, convicted atomic spies. The supreme court Monday rejected for a second time an appeal for a review of the conviction.

University Telephone Calls Keep Operators Busy

TELEPHONE OPERATORS CAROLYN WHITE, Dorothea Evans and Mrs. Mary Jane Homewood, all of Iowa City, are shown working on the university phone extension board at the Bell Telephone company, 362 S Linn st. On an average day there are two operators connecting the 1,297 university dormitory and administration phones to city and long distance wires. At night there are three operators on duty until midnight.

ties with a phone in each room of the dormitory. Many colleges operate their own exchanges, but service is generally limited to certain hours only.

Better service also is provided because all the cables are channeled into the same building and are not divided between two different centers. The 54-trunk lines coming in and out of the switchboard are made up for cables which branch out to all of the phones.

The city and the university switchboards handle about 2,400 long distance calls daily. University operators handle only the incoming calls. Outgoing calls are handled by dialing 110 and placing the call with the city operator.

Grimsley Picks Wisconsin, UCLA, Irish to Win Saturday

By WILL GRIMSLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — The old crystal ball turned up with a funny complexion Thursday morning — a sort of pinkish or rose color. Must be trying to tell us who's going to play in the Rose Bowl.

Wait a minute, here it comes now. UCLA against Wisconsin. That's it. That means UCLA must beat Southern California, Wisconsin must win and Michigan lose in vital games Saturday.

So the ball for this Saturday's season finale shows:
UCLA over Southern California: Both unbeaten with two of the best defenses in the country. UCLA has advantage of week's rest.
Ohio State over Michigan: The Buckeyes reached maturity in whipping Illinois last week, should take the favored Wolverines.

Wisconsin over Minnesota: Alan (The Horse) Ameche outshines the Gophers' Paul Giel to send the Badgers into the Rose Bowl.

Michigan State over Marquette: The Spartans complete their season with a perfect record.

Oklahoma over Nebraska: The Sooners put the finishing touches on the Big Seven championship.
Notre Dame over Iowa: The fumbling Irish can let a few footballs drop and still come home in this one.

Yale over Harvard: One of the country's oldest gridiron rivalries promises to produce a real show, with an edge to Yale.

East — Columbia over Brown, Princeton over Dartmouth, Pittsburgh over Penn State.

Midwest — Purdue over Indiana, Kansas State over Iowa State, Kansas over Missouri, Illinois over Northwestern, Oklahoma A & M over Washington State.

South — Maryland over Alabama, Tennessee over Kentucky, Duke over North Carolina.

Southwest — Southern Methodist over Baylor, Rice over Texas Christian.

Far West — Colorado A & M over Brigham Young, Arizona over Texas Tech, California over Stanford, Oregon over Oregon State.

Cubs' Sauer Named Most Valuable in NL

Iowa's Ferguson, 2 Other Olympians To Race in NCAA

Rich Ferguson of Iowa, the unbeaten Big Ten champion, and two other men who ran the 5,000-meter event in the 1952 Olympics are set to battle for the National Collegiate cross country title next Monday at East Lansing, Mich.

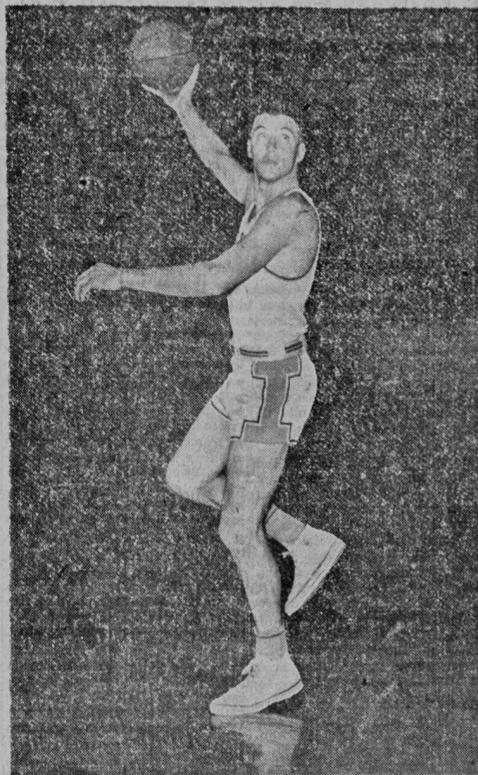

The Hawkeye, who broke the conference record in winning the title last week, was a member of the Canadian Olympic team at Helsinki last summer. His chief rivals are expected to be Wes Santee of Kansas, the Big Seven champion, and Charles Capozzoli of Georgetown, the IC 4-A titlist. Both Americans ran the 5,000-meter at Helsinki as members of the U.S. team.

Iowa Coach Francis Cretzmeyer is taking a six-man team to the NCAA meet on the Michigan State 4-mile course. It includes Ted Wheeler, who was seventh in the NCAA last year and third in last week's Big Ten race.

Other Hawkeyes who helped the team finish third in the conference race are Virgil Von Ahnen, LeRoy Ebert, Art Fudge and Herb Morch.

Ferguson has won five straight races, set records in three of them and shared the course record with Wheeler in another.

No. 1 Center Now

HERE'S GENE HETTRICK, 6-foot, 6-inch from Iowa City who will be faced with the task of filling the center spot for Iowa this season. Gene saw little action last season since the Hawks had 6-foot, 8-inch all-American Chuck Darling in the No. 1 spot then. Hettrick was a first team all-stater two years while at City high.

Hank Pleased; Felt Roberts Would Win

INGDEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Lanky Hank Sauer was a happy man when he learned Thursday he had been named the most valuable player in the National league for 1952.

"Well," exclaimed the veteran Chicago Cub outfielder, "that is a surprise. That is a surprise."

There was a pause in the telephone conversation, and from the background, came the sound of a small wail.

"That's the youngster. Guess she wants something," Hank explained, adding that the youngster was the Sauer's 14-month-old girl.

Back to the subject at hand: "Yes, I'm surprised, but I can tell you this, I'm sure tickled pink. I thought maybe the other guy, Roberts, would win it."

He referred to the runnerup, Robin Roberts, the Philadelphia Phillies' 28-game winning pitcher. Another plaintive wail from the background.

"That's her again," said Hank. "We've got another one due in a week. Maybe earlier. Married 11 years and now all of a sudden here they come. Sure is fine."

NEW YORK (AP)—Sluggish Hank Sauer of the Chicago Cubs was voted most valuable player in the National league Thursday in a photo finish with Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies and Joe Black of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The long ball won for Hammerin' Hank whose total of 37 home runs and 121 runs batted in offset his .270 batting average. Despite a disastrous September slump Sauer's slugging feats were judged more valuable than Roberts' job of winning 28 games for the Phils & Black's brilliant relief work for the pennant-winning Dodgers.

In fact, it was the first time since 1938 that the most valuable players in both leagues came from teams that did not win the pennant. Bobby Shantz of the Philadelphia A's was named the American MVP winner last week.

It was a tight fit among the three leaders in the National in both first place votes from the 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers Association and the point total.

15-Point Margin
Sauer eked out a 15-point margin with 226 points, to Roberts' 211 and Black's 208. Points were distributed on the basis of 14 for first place, nine for second and so on down to one for tenth.

The committee of writers — three from each league city — split its first place votes among four men. Sauer and Black each had eight, Roberts seven and Duke Snider, Brooklyn's homer-hitting centerfielder had one. Snider, however, finished way down the line in an eighth-place tie with teammate PeeWee Reese.

Pitchers held three of the first four places in the balloting, with New York's relief ace, Hoyt Wilhelm (15-3) drawing 133 points for fourth.

Musial Mentioned
Stan Musial of St. Louis, three-time winner in 1943-1946-48 was the only other player to top 100 points. Stan drew 127 points for his feat of winning his sixth batting title with a .336 average.

Enos Slaughter, last of the Old Gas House Gang at St. Louis, placed sixth with 92 points on his fine "comeback" season. The Country Boy wound up with a .300 average and 101 runs batted in.

Jackie Robinson, Dodger second baseman who won in 1949, had 31 points for seventh place, a notch ahead of two teammates, Snider and PeeWee Reese, tied for eighth with 29 points.

Roy Campanella, the Brooklyn catcher who won the MVP award last year, finished in a tenth place tie with Red Schoendienst, St. Louis second baseman.

Apparently the boys had a hard time making up their mind on the '52 winner. Two writers did not mention either Sauer or Roberts in the first 10, and three ignored Black. Sauer's point margin came partly on six second place votes, four for Roberts and five for Black.

GRIFFITH NOW 83
WASHINGTON (AP) — Clark Griffith turned 83 Thursday and kept his sights set on the future. His goal: Another championship for the Washington Senators. The prospects aren't what you would call bright, but they're a lot better than they were a year ago. The Senators then were generally consigned to a cellar finish in the American league, but they wound up fifth, only two games out of third.

Oklahoma Regents Votes 5-1 to Abide By Big Seven Rules

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Positive action by the University of Oklahoma board of regents Thursday eliminated the Oklahoma Sooners from the national football bowl picture.

The regents were thrown into a special meeting after the football snafu voted Wednesday in favor of bowl participation.

By a 5-1 vote, the regents adopted a motion which said simply: "Oklahoma belongs to the Big Seven Conference and has followed its rules in the past and should follow them in the future." The conference has banned post-season games by its members.

There was no mention of a bowl in the motion but a reported "Orange Bowl bid was discussed informally at length by board members," a spokesman said.

Knothole Club Can Buy Hawkeye-Irish Tickets for $1

For the second time this fall, Iowa school pupils get an unexpected break because SUI will sell Knothole club tickets Saturday for the Notre Dame-Iowa football game.

Francis Graham, athletics business manager, said that these tickets will be sold for one dollar each, upon presentation of Knothole club membership card signed by the school principal. Admission is at the gate at the south end of the stadium.

Although this game was not included under the original plans for the Knothole club, it has been found feasible to include it, as was done for the Ohio State-Iowa contest, too.

TRUCKS SIGNS

DETROIT (AP) — Virgil Trucks, who pitched two no-hit, no-run games for the Detroit Tigers last year, signed his 1953 baseball contract Thursday. His last year's salary was estimated at $22,000 and it was believed he was signed for approximately the same figure. The Tigers did not announce the terms.

22 Iowa Cagers Preparing For Butler Tilt Here Dec. 1

It's almost basketball time again and a squad of 22 Iowa players is stepping up the workout pace for the season's opener here Dec. 1 with Butler university.

Coach Bucky O'Connor, whose 1951-52 team finished second in the Big Ten race and won 19 of 22 games, has only five major lettermen available now. Only remaining regulars from the team of last year are forwards Capt. Herb Thompson, Forest City, and Deacon Davis, Freeport, Ill.

Ken Buckles of Davenport, a reserve guard last year and Chuck Jarnagin of Newton, shifted forward, apparently have the inside track on the guard posts at present.

Loss of Chuck Darling, the 6-8 all-American center who averaged 25.5 points per game, is the most serious one. Gene Hettrick of Iowa City, who played little last season, is the No. 1 man now, followed by Bob Miller of Waterloo, a former JV player. Both are 6 feet 6 inches tall.

Lack of unusual height will handicap Iowa, although the probable starters average 6-3. Without a center of Darling's stature to grab numerous rebounds, the Hawkeyes will bank on agility and timing.

Half of the players possess some degree of varsity experience but some of it was only a few minutes. Eleven men won the minor letter either as varsity reserves or junior varsity players.

Forwards — John Adams, McClay Armstrong, Gene Brawner, Army Davidson, Deacon Davis, Bob Gordon, Tom Rugens, Dick Roder, and Capt. Herb Thompson.

Centers — Bob Diehl, Gene Hettrick, Bob Mau, and Bob Miller. Guards — Ken Buckles, Dick DeGunter, Chuck Jarnagin, Merle Jensen, Clyde Kitchen, Dan Frige, Gerald Ridley, Paul Stark, and Dick Wiese.

More on the Rivera Case—

The Jim Rivera case seems to be far from closed—he'll of course be the object of much close watching during the remainder of his career in the baseball big leagues.

A recent story appearing in the Sporting News by Dan Daniel, a well-known New York sports writer, adds further light on the effect of the case.

Daniel says that Commissioner Ford C. Frick's ruling placing outfielder Jim Rivera of the White Sox on indefinite probation, because "it is obvious that Mr. Rivera has been guilty of a certain type of moral delinquency," is a much more important and far-reaching move than it appears on the surface.

"Frick's decision on Rivera, for whose conduct on and off the field the Chicago club now becomes responsible, and whom it must carry on its roster at least a year, embodies a vital development. It means that from now on, there will be a moral turpitude clause in every contract on a major or minor league player.

"For the time being, this clause will be merely understood to exist. But, before long, it will be printed in letters large and black in every player pact, as it is in motion picture contracts.

"Frick's move on Rivera is the first of its kind. Never before did a commissioner handle a case involving the moral standards of a player.

"The closest to a precedent may be found in a case of some 30 years ago when a National league outfielder was charged with having received stolen automobiles. The courts exonerated him. Had he stood convicted, Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis would have thrown him out of baseball.

"It is not to be said that Frick's hands had not been tied and if he had not been warned by his lawyers that to throw Rivera out of baseball would invite a suit, the outfielder would have been given the heave-ho.

"Frick explains his handicapped situation in this sentence in his official announcement: "As concerns criminal charges, he has been completely exonerated by the courts, and the commissioner cannot place himself in the position of going over the heads of an American grand jury."

Frick revealed that he had had Rivera before him on Oct. 20, four days after the grand jury in Chicago had exonerated him on a charge of rape brought against the outfielder by a Chicago woman.

"If Rivera gets himself into another involvement, it will not land in a court before it reaches me," Frick promised.

"The commissioner said he had warned Rivera that he had two strikes against him and explained that Jim was lucky to have gotten as far as he had in baseball in view of his early history.

"In light of that history, he was permitted to come into baseball," Frick continued.

"Thus, all that preceded Rivera's entry into baseball became a closed book insofar as action on him was concerned."

Rivera already has felt the difference in his situation. He has been told that he cannot play in the Puerto Rican Winter league. He is driving a truck at Whiting, Ind.

The Iowa division of the Fencers League of America is scheduled to hold one-day competition in both the men's and women's foil events in the SUI women's gymnasium Sunday.

Competition begins at 10:30 in the morning and will continue through the afternoon.

Thirty-five fencers, including 15 women, are expected to enter. Represented will be the SUI, Iowa State college and Des Moines fencing club teams.

The public is invited.

Iowa is planning its annual "Poultry" cross-country run this afternoon at 4:30. Anybody is eligible to enter, although the Hawkeye squad usually supplies most of the entrants.

First prize is a turkey, second is a goose, third is a duck and fourth is a chicken. The last finisher gets an egg.

From 10 to 15 are expected to enter the meet which was won last year by Herb Morch.

Bill Reichardt, picked as second team offensive all-America fullback while playing for Iowa last year, is making the grade this season with the professional Green Bay Packers.

Bill is being used mostly as a fieldgoal kicking specialist although he does see part-time duty in the Packer backfield.

He has averaged about one field goal per game in the kicking-conscious pro ball this year. He carries the ball six or seven times a game and has averaged only about two yards per carry.

However, he has proven especially valuable as a blocker and has been used mostly in that capacity when he isn't called upon to kick.

O'Connell, Marchibroda Lead Race for All-America Honors

CHICAGO (AP) — Quarterbacks Tommy O'Connell of Illinois and the University of Detroit's Ted Marchibroda, running neck and neck for national college offense honors, also are in a merry scrap for all-America favoritism in the Midwest.

In an area that boasts a cluster of sharp-shooting strategists—also including Dale Samuels of Purdue, Johnny Barton of Ohio State and Jim Haluska of Wisconsin—Marchibroda and O'Connell are statistical wonders.

In total offense, Marchibroda leads the nation with 1,666 yards on 289 plays and O'Connell, a Big Ten record-breaker, is second with 1,542 for 235 plays.

Halfback Jonny Latner of Notre Dame and linebackers Dick Tamburo of Michigan State and Roger Zatkoff of Michigan continued to stand up in the board's opinion as ranking all-America defensive candidates.

The Midwest's unusually large batch of brilliant offensive ends must battle down to the wire in the all-America race. Five of them are among the nation's top pass receivers, including Bernie Flowers of Purdue, Rocky Ryan and Rex Smith of Illinois, Joe Collier of Northwestern and Bob Grimes of Ohio State.

Hawklets, U-High Face Non-League Foes Here Tonight

Muscatine, which is supposed to have one of the better basketball teams in eastern Iowa, is scheduled to test Iowa City tonight at 8:15 on the Hawklet court.

The Little Hawks will need to improve over their performance against New Hampton Wednesday in order to gain their second success of the season. Iowa City dumped the Northeast Iowa loop member 51-41 in a rather unimpressive win.

Ron Oathout, City high center who dumped in 15 points against New Hampton, should again prove to be the key to the Hawklet scoring. Along with Oathout in the Little Hawks' starting lineup will be Bill Stevens and John Englert at the forward slots while Jim Frantz and Chuck Warren will perform Coach Howard Moffitt's back court duties at the outset.

Other Threats Frantz and Englert were the Hawklets' other major scoring threats Wednesday with 10 and 11 points respectively.

Muscatine is a member of the Little Six conference, and has been selected as the preseason favorite in the league.

A reserve game beginning at 6:45 will precede the varsity contest. The City high seniors dropped their opener to New Hampton 42-39.

Crippled U-High Opens A crippled University high team will open the basketball season here tonight against Anamosa of the WaMac conference. The Blues have all five returning lettermen on the injured list for this contest. The teams will play two games—the reserve at 7 p.m. and the varsity contest at 8:15.

Coach Lou Alley says that it may be mid-season before he gets his best combination in conditions. Right now all of the lettermen are nursing football injuries.

Sore Shoulder Forward Gardner Van Dyke has a sore left shoulder which won't allow any movement of his arm above his shoulder. Guard Bruce Miller has just had a cast taken off his knee. Miller was the Bluehawk fullback until torn ligaments sidelined him in mid season. He will be out for most of the early part of the basketball season.

Guard John Price is nursing a broken bone in his left hand. Price suffered the injury about three weeks ago in the Columbus Junction football game. Ed Bowers has a sprained ankle which is hampering his movement in the guard position. The big boy in the Bluehawk attack — 6-foot, 3-inch center with a nose which he ter Ike Riggie — is still having trouble while playing end for the Bluehawks this past season.

There are some bright spots in the picture for Alley, however. Junior Larry Smith — a 5-foot, 11-inch forward has transferred from Coon Rapids.

Letterman at Coon Rapids Smith was a letterman at Coon Rapids and will fit into the U-high basketball picture this season.

Alley has some replacements which might do some good later.

BADGERS IN TOP SHAPE MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin's Badgers, tied for first place in the Big Ten, went through their final heavy workout Thursday before their chips-down meeting with Minnesota here Saturday.

Trainer Walt Bakke said the squad is in its best condition since last September.

Here is the order of finish, points scored on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for the 10 teams ranked by each voter:

Truman Declares U.S. 'Unified'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman Thursday announced America is unified "in its policy toward the rest of the world."

It was against a background of Democratic defeat in the election and the historic conference at the White House Tuesday with President-elect Eisenhower that the chief executive made his appraisal.

Truman told a news conference — his first in two months — he was "very happy" that Eisenhower is supporting the American-United Nations position against repatriation of Korean war prisoners against their will.

'One of Main Subjects'

Pulling aside the curtains for a bare glimpse of what went on at his meeting with the man who will succeed him next Jan. 20, Truman said the repatriation issue was "one of the main things about which we talked." In answer to a question, he said the Iranian problem also was discussed.

The talk with Eisenhower was principally, but not altogether, devoted to foreign relations, the President said.

He declared incidentally that if he had it to do over, he still would call the UN intervention in Korea a police action and he doesn't care who challenges the expression. It was a police action of the UN, a stop-aggression move, and nothing else, he said.

In Good Spirits

The President seemed in good spirits and physical trim at this first meeting with reporters since the Nov. 4 election. He showed no evidence of being dismayed by the defeat of his party.

Truman still wasn't willing to talk about his own future. As to teaching or writing, he said he just doesn't know yet. But for a while, he said, he isn't going to do a darn thing — just sit down and do nothing.

But the President did declare firmly that he will be a Democrat all his life and thinks he will have some influence in the party.

Plans Stevenson Visit

Sometime around Dec. 1, the President told a questioner, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, the defeated Democratic presidential candidate, is coming to Washington and he will see the governor. He made it clear once more that he still considers Stevenson head of the party and said he will ask nothing of him — merely tell the governor he will co-operate in reorganizing the party.

Dogfight

2 Claim Ownership Of Shepherd

CHICAGO (AP) — It was one of those bitter dog ownership cases, so the judge let the dog be the judge.

Michael V. Horvath and his wife were told to stand in one corner of Judge William V. Daly's courtroom Thursday. The judge sent William Zand, 45, and his wife to the opposite corner.

At the rear of the courtroom, bailiffs released a handsome Belgian shepherd dog.

The dog bounded to the front of the courtroom and wagged at a reporter in the witness box near the judge's bench.

The Zands called "Here, Baron." The dog still liked the reporter better. Just as Horvath was about to call "Here, Val," his name for his dog, the animal ran that way anyhow and barked excitedly when Horvath said "Speak." The Zands protested they could make him speak, too.

That brought it down to documentary evidence, so Judge Daly had to go back to being judge. Horvath exhibited a receipt showing he had exchanged a television set in June, 1951, with Mrs. Elizabeth Kuntz of West Olive, Mich., for a Belgian shepherd dog.

Judge Daly then dismissed a charge of petty larceny brought by the state on Zand's complaint that Horvath had stolen the dog a year ago.

Price Ceilings Lowered On Canned Baby Foods

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government lowered price ceilings on some canned baby foods Thursday by about one cent on sales of three-can units.

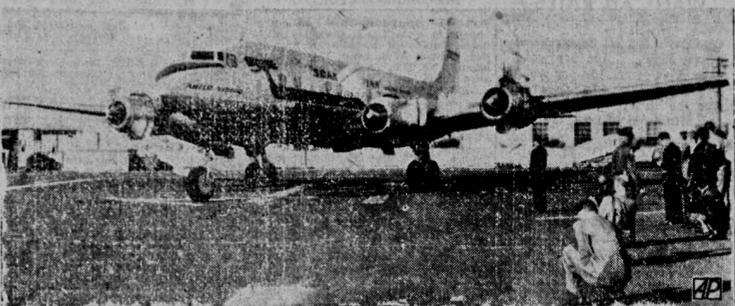

The office of price stabilization thus wiped out an order issued Aug. 19 permitting retailers to recalculate ceilings on the basis of price hikes permitted to manufacturers.

OPS said baby food producers have not taken the increase to which they were entitled after their earnings declined.

DC-6B Trail-Blazes New Scandinavian Route

THE "ARILD VIKING," A NEW DOUGLAS DC-6B, taxis to a takeoff runway at International airport in Los Angeles for the beginning of its trail-blazing flight over a new polar air route to Scandinavia. The plane, with 35 persons aboard including the ambassadors from Denmark and Norway, headed for Copenhagen via Edmonton, Alberta, Thule air base, Greenland, and thence across the sea to Denmark. The route cuts about 1,000 miles from the existing route from Los Angeles to Copenhagen, via New York.

Airliner Flies From U.S. To Denmark in 28 Hours

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Twentieth century Vikings, winging their American-built plane across the polar icecap, blazed a dramatic new era of commerce in a California-Europe flight ending here Thursday night.

Thirteen crewmen of the Scandinavian Air Lines plane "Arild Viking" brought their 22 passengers to a landing in a soft Danish drizzle at Kastrup airport — just 28 hours and seven minutes after leaving Los Angeles.

They had spent 23 hours, 38 minutes flying the 5,852 miles. Four hours, 29 minutes were spent on the ground at Edmonton, Alberta, and the U.S. air force base at Thule, Greenland, getting gas for their DC-6B.

"Pleasure Cruise" — "Just a wonderful pleasure cruise," said the Danish chief pilot, Capt. Povl Jensen, after he set the plane down at 2:47 p.m. (Lowa time).

The flight was intended to blaze a direct air travel route from sunny California to Europe, with the bleak and frigid polar regions as the gateway. It is 1,000 miles shorter than by way of New York. Scheduled service will be started by spring if both the United States and Canadian government approve.

Enroute, the plane crossed the North magnetic pole.

The big Douglas airliner cruised through temperatures 31 degrees below zero after leaving Greenland, but everyone was comfortable inside the cabin.

The plane was delayed by headwinds on the first lap from Los Angeles to Edmonton yesterday, Jensen said, "but after that it was smooth sailing all the way. Everything went according to schedule — even better."

Fly at 17,000 Feet

The last lap from the $263 million U.S. air force base at Thule was at 17,000 feet altitude with strong tailwinds of 95 miles an hour. This leg of 2,385 miles was covered in nine hours, 49 minutes.

Years of research and experiment had gone into the test flight, and Scandinavian Air

Acting Judge Refers Murder Trial of 3 To Circuit Court

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP) — Acting County Judge Edward F. K. Gansen Thursday ordered two soldiers and a 16-year-old La Crosse girl bound over to circuit court for trial on third degree murder charges.

No trial date was set. County Judge Roy V. Ahlstrom disqualified himself from further participation in the proceedings after writs of prejudice were filed against him. Gansen, attorney and divorce counselor, was appointed to sit in for Thursday's session, a preliminary hearing for three of the six defendants.

Gansen denied defense motions that separate hearings be held for Pvt. Wayne Kamp, 21, Postville, Ia., Pvt. Thomas Reilly, Detroit, and Delores Stone, 16, La Crosse. The other girl, Delores Vinson, 16, was not present. The court was told she was ill.

The six are accused of beating Cpl. Frank Walla, 42, Seward, Neb., national guardsman to death last August to finance a spree. Two accused soldiers already have pleaded guilty.

Invitation Extended — Scholarship Offered to Seniors

An invitation has been extended to outstanding college seniors by Dean Russell Niles, New York university law school, to apply for the 6,600 three-year Root-Tilden scholarship for the 1953-54 term.

The scholarship program is designed to help train potential leaders in public affairs. The program was started at New York university two years ago and now has 42 men under training in the law field.

Qualifications Given — The Root-Tilden scholarships, which are financed by an anonymous donor, are awarded on the basis of superior academic record, potential capacity for unselfish public leadership, and participation in extracurricular activities in college.

A candidate for the scholarship must be between 20 and 28 years old when his law schooling begins. He must also be an unmarried male citizen of the United States. The scholarships carry an annual stipend of $2,200 to cover tuition, books, and living expenses. The award is made initially for one year, but will be renewed for the second and third years if the student maintains a high academic average.

Seniors Are Eligible — College seniors who wish to apply for the scholarships should write immediately to the dean of the law school at New York university law center, New York 3, N. Y.

Ben Crane, B.A. '51, currently holds one of these scholarships. While attending New York university, Crane was chosen to go to England as a debater last February and March under the auspices of the Institution of International Education.

While attending SUI, Crane was a member of Phi Beta Kappa honorary scholastic fraternity and Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary fraternity for men. He was also an announcer at radio station KXIC for two years.

Under the terms of the grant, 20 scholarships are awarded annually on a competitive regional basis. Two scholarships are allocated to each of the 10 federal judicial circuits.

Application for the scholarships must be completed by March 1, according to Niles. Final announcement of selections will be made late in April.

Iowa Board Announces Tax Revisions

DES MOINES (AP) — A new program requiring Iowa employers to report all salaries and wages paid was announced Thursday by the state tax commission along with word that a simplified state income tax form also has been developed.

Commission officials said they believe the move will cause 50,000 more Iowans to file state income tax returns annually. The program is part of a continuing crackdown on tax evaders.

The commission also announced it has simplified its income tax report form for 1952.

The new form will provide both the "long" and "short" methods of computing the state tax. It may be used by all state income tax payers whose incomes are less than $5,000 after deducting their federal income tax from their gross income.

Commission Chairman Martin Lauterbach said the new program of requiring employers to report salaries and wages paid, already has been used experimentally.

The commission received a report from a large industrial plant on amounts paid 3,500 employees in 1951. The report was compared with commission records of taxes paid.

Lauterbach said the comparison indicated that 1,000 persons who should have filed income tax returns, did not. They were sent notices to submit returns and 280 have responded to date.

Nearly half showed they were covered in joint returns filed by a husband or wife. From the others a total of $844.89 in taxes plus $253.88 in interest has been collected.

Baby Suffers Multiple Fractures

ROSEMARY POLING (above), of Cleveland, O., four months old, somehow received fractures in both legs and the right arm. On Sept. 30, according to policewoman Cecelia Rogers, the child was treated for a brain hemorrhage. Rosemary's father, Charles E. Poling, 21, already has been arrested on a charge of neglecting his son, Alfonso, 17 months old.

Armour Grants Wage Increase to Workers

CHICAGO (AP) — The AFL Meat Cutters union Thursday announced terms of an agreement with Armour and company granting a four cents an hour wage increase to some 10,000 workers in 12 company plants.

The union said the new contract, signed Wednesday night, provides for the four-cent general wage increase, an additional four cent hourly increase for women workers, and an additional boost of 3/4 cents hourly in southern plants.

It also calls for hiking night premiums two cents an hour, improving an employees' pension plan, instituting a company-paid insurance program, and increasing Saturday pay.

Jet Nears Record During Speed Trial Over Salton Sea

THERMAL, Calif. (AP) — Capt. J. Slade Nash flew a Sabre jet over the edge of the Salton sea Wednesday to establish what may be a new world's speed record.

Official computation of his actual speed over a three kilometer course will not be available for several hours.

Nash, of Merville, Ia., flew the North American F-86D through four roaring passes over the sand at the water's edge.

Nash's plane carried full radar gear and 24 combat rockets in a retractable launcher, and weighed approximately nine tons.

Rules provided that it must not exceed 1,640 feet in altitude during the speed flight. Fuel requirements at that altitude are much greater than at high altitude, and air pressures on the plane were approximately four times greater.

The speed run was monitored by four T-28 training planes, and the flight was timed with high speed movie cameras and a special chronograph system. The plane was a roaring blur as it swept through its 10-mile runs with a five-mile circle on the turns.
