Administration Needs Stressed By Educator

Points to Difficulties Facing Schoolmen

"Educational administration is more important and more difficult in America today than it has ever been in any place at any time in history."

In these words Francis S. Chase, director of the midwestern center for the $3,000,000 Kellogg project for improving school leadership, stressed Tuesday night the key positions of the more than 200 Iowa schoolmen attending the 37th annual conference in educational administration at SUU.

Professor Chase, from the University of Chicago, topped Tuesday's program which included three addresses on characteristics of good physical and health education in the afternoon and observation of University school activities in the morning. Proposed school legislation for 1953 will dominate today's business, according to Dan H. Cooper, associate professor of education and chairman of the two-day conference.

More Important Now

"School administration is more important than before because so much depends upon it," Chase explained. "Only a superior quality of education can enable us to ward off the threats to our freedoms and to develop a society in which the sum total of individual free choices will add up to the general welfare."

Because of its importance and because of three related reasons, educational administration is more difficult than before, Chase continued.

Education is no longer confined to the classroom but is tied in with community life and the purpose of man in society, he pointed out. Secondly, all the fears and frustrations, all of the uncertainties as to how to defend our institutions, are brought to bear upon our school system. And lastly, he added, democratic concepts of administration demand a high degree of skill in using group processes and developing creative human relationships.

Heads Administration Center

Explaining the Kellogg-financed program in education administration whose midwest administration center in Chicago he heads, Chase said the program aims both to develop school leadership and to improve the conditions under which administrators work.

"To accomplish this twofold objective," Chase went on, "we are seeking (1) to improve the basic programs for the preparation of administrators, (2) to bring within the reach of administrators in this region effective programs of in-service education, (3) to increase the availability and the effectiveness of consultant services to administrators, and (4) to foster cooperative study and research on critical

Nab California Crime Gang Following Running Gun Battle

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Police cleaned up a state-wide crime organization with arrests in three cities Tuesday, a few hours after the gang leader shot it out with detectives in a dramatic running gun battle and then killed himself to avoid capture.

Guns blazed in corridors and stairways of an apartment hotel Monday night as officers pursued Richard K. Franklin, 40, released from San Quentin only last August. Franklin, wounded five times, finally put an end to the chase by firing a bullet into his head.

Under arrest are nine men and two women, suspects in "the perfect crime organization" of which

SUI Gets $4,000 In Scholarship Aid

Nearly $4,000 to support scholarship and research has been accepted by the finance committee of the state board of education for SUI, President Virgil M. Hancher has announced.

C. O. Kalman of St. Paul, Minn., gave the university $1,200 to support a scholarship in creative music.

From Strong, Cobb and company, Inc., of Cleveland, O., came $2,500 in support of the college of medicine's metabolic ward and research in the problems of nutrition, metabolism and liver disease.

World News Briefs

A Condensation of Late Developments

SEOUL (AP)—Fighting warmed up as the temperature climbed in Korea Tuesday, with clashes flaring near Panmunjom on the western front and at Jackson Heights and Sniper Ridge on the central front. Raging parties of both sides prowled the front. Dense clouds hampered the Allied air blows at Red supply movements. Only a few Red trucks were hit compared with the bag of 1,250 for the previous 10 days.

NAIROBI, KENYA (AP)—British troops and native police swooped down and rounded up 500 Kikuyu tribesmen in the troubled Thomson's Falls area at dawn Tuesday. Acting under the new emergency powers, the government ordered every Kikuyu man, woman and child moved out of the area where the anti-white Mau Mau secret society has been blamed for six recent major crimes. The action was taken as the result of a knife attack by six Africans on Comdr. I. H. Mckeljohn, a retired officer of the Royal Navy, and his wife, Dr. Dorothy Mckeljohn, at their farmhouse last Saturday. Mckeljohn died in a hospital Monday. His wife is in critical condition.

ANCHORAGE, ALASKA (AP)—A pilot searching for a lost military plane which disappeared Saturday with 52 persons aboard reported Tuesday night that unidentified airplane wreckage has been spotted "high in a very inaccessible spot" near Whittier, Alaska. The pilot said he did not get a good look because darkness and clouds were closing in and he had to return to his base. In the absence of positive identification, air force officials said the wreckage might be that of a jet fighter which disappeared a month ago, a C-119 which has been lost 10 days with 20 persons, or possibly the missing Globemaster.

LONDON (AP)—Manufacturers of the Sapphire jet engine said Tuesday they have turned out an improved version of the engine, previously reported to be the most powerful in the world. Armstrong Siddeley's said details are still secret. But early versions of the Sapphire were credited with the equivalent of about 13,000 horsepower in aircraft flying at 800 miles per hour. The Sapphire is being built in Britain and the U.S.

21 Nations Urge Priority Vote On Indian Compromise Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States and 20 other countries agreed Tuesday to urge priority in UN voting for an Indian compromise plan to end the Korean war.

This action came amid indications that more changes demanded by the United States would be made before a final vote is taken in the UN political committee, perhaps later this week.

Sir Percy Spender, Australian delegate and chairman of the group of 21 powers, announced the decision. He said it was understood also that necessary textual clarification would be sought on a major provision in the Indian resolution dealing with the final disposition of prisoners.

U.S. Asks Changes

Delegates from the meeting would not comment further but American sources had said earlier Tuesday the U.S. would not agree to give the Indian plan priority over a resolution sponsored by the 21 powers unless there was agreement to accept the changes asked by the U.S.

During the meeting British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, a central figure in a split between the U.S. and Britain last week on terms of the Indian proposal, left for London by air.

Eden said the rejection of the Indian plan by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky Monday should not deter the majority from trying to find peace.

Disagreement Over Prisoners

The main stumbling-block was reported to be the last paragraph on disposition of prisoners. As amended by the Indian delegation, it would leave to the UN the disposition of all prisoners of war in Korea who were not repatriated after five months.

The U.S. objects that this does not yet go far enough. It wants a definite time limit for release of these prisoners. Without such a time limit, the U.S. says, the prisoners may remain in camps indefinitely while East and West

Tickets Still on Sale For Winter Formal At Memorial Union

Tickets for the all-university winter formal, "Winter Fantasy," are still on sale at the main desk of the Iowa Memorial Union. Ticket sales began last Monday.

The price of the tickets is $3.60 per couple.

The dance will feature Duke Ellington and his band from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Friday, Dec. 5. It will be semi-formal and a no corsage affair.

All university women who attend are entitled to automatic late leaves.

Ellington, has played many engagements on the SUI campus. Last year he played before a capacity crowd at the interfraternity dance.

Among the outstanding musicians who will be with the Ellington band is Louis Bellson, considered one of today's outstanding drummers.

The winter party is sponsored by the SUI Central Party committee.

Fight for 1st Priority

The political committee meets today to continue an increasing fight on a move to put the Indian resolution ahead of all others.

The 21-power plan calls for a truce on the basis of the UN command stand at Panmunjom and comes out against forced repatriation.

Meany Named Head of AFL; Asks Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Meany, stocky 58-year-old former plumber, Tuesday became president of the American Federation of Labor, and his first act was to renew a merger bid to the CIO.

Meany expressed confidence that the nation's two big union organizations could sit down and bury their past differences to work out a merger satisfactory to both.

A veteran union leader with 30 years in various labor posts, Meany was unanimously selected by the AFL's 14-member executive council to succeed the late William Green as the AFL's president.

Green died last Friday after serving more than a quarter century as the AFL's top leader.

Former Secretary-Treasurer

Meany had been the AFL's secretary-treasurer under Green, and during the past several years of Green's declining health, had been the major leader of the AFL's eight million members.

Named by the AFL council to succeed Meany as secretary-treasurer was William F. Schnitzler, 46, of Chicago, president of the AFL Bakery and Confectionery Workers union.

The team of Meany and Schnitzler brings a more youthful set of leaders to the big AFL organization.

Hancher Presents Scottish Gift

AN AUTHENTIC SCOTTISH MACE is presented to drum major Mary Lou Mortensen, A4, Des Moines, by SUI President Virgil M. Hancher. The mace is a gift to the Scottish Highlanders, all-girl bagpipe band, from George A. Anderson, a businessman in Aberdeen, Scotland, where the Highlanders appeared last summer. The silver knob at the upper end is inscribed, "To Commemorate the Happy Memories Left in Aberdeen Aug. 13-14, 1952."

Highlanders Receive Real Scottish Mace From Summer Hosts

SUI's famous Scottish Highlanders will now get their marching signals by following a genuine Scottish mace, carried by drum major Mary Lou Mortensen, A4, Des Moines.

The mace is a gift to SUI's all-girl bagpipe band from one of their hosts of last summer's European tour.

George A. Anderson, Aberdeen businessman, noted that Miss Mortensen carried an old mace when the Highlanders visited Aberdeen during their seven-week tour. He promised Director William L. Adamson that he would have a new mace made especially for the Iowa girls and send it to them as soon as possible.

Sixty-two inches in length, the mace is made of cocus wood entwined with a silver chain. Its lower end is tipped with silver, and a silver, ornamented knob is at the top, surmounted by a golden crown.

WSUI to Air Special Thanksgiving Program

Radio station WSUI will present a special Thanksgiving program tonight at 7 p.m.

Flu Unaffected By Radiation, Doctor Says

The common winter time illness known to millions as the flu, "is not altered by radiation treatment," Dr. L. E. Farr, chairman of the medical department at Brookhaven National Laboratory, Long Island, N. Y., told an SUI audience Tuesday night.

Speaking before the Iowa chapter of Sigma Xi, national honorary scientific society, Farr said that radiation experiments on mice have had no effect in combating influenza or yellow fever.

Farr spoke in the Shambaugh lecture room of the SUI library on the topic, "The Impact of Nuclear Science on Medicine."

Even at this time, radiation is being used in certain treatments for cancer, brain tumors and other ailments, he explained.

"Medicine must move much closer to the physical sciences, for medicine is the common meeting ground of science and humanity," Farr said in conclusion.

Thanksgiving Traffic Held To Minimum

By The Associated Press

Near blizzard conditions slowed most major road traffic to a standstill in western Iowa early Tuesday night. Winds of from 25 to 40 miles an hour whipped fast falling snow, making visibility poor and piling drifts across roads made slick by earlier freezing rains.

District highway patrol headquarters in northwest Iowa warned that highway travel is extremely hazardous. They asked motorists to stay off the highways except in emergencies.

Many high school basketball games and other community events throughout the storm area were cancelled or postponed.

On highways 59 and 5 near Cherokee, visibility of 100 feet or less was reported just before dark. About two inches of snow had fallen at Cherokee.

5 Inches at Lewis

Nearly five inches of snow had fallen at Lewis. Highways in southwest Iowa were slick and there was some drifting. Traffic was at a standstill.

Just east, on north-south highway 71, some traffic was moving. The highway was slippery with the temperature at just 32 degrees.

At Corning, on highway 34, there was no through traffic. Between four and five inches of snow had fallen before dark. Some traffic was moving on highway 59 near Shenandoah where about five inches of snow had fallen.

At Sioux City, homebound auto traffic was marled because of poor visibility and slick city streets. Bus and airline service was cancelled Tuesday at Sioux City. Trains were running on time.

Storm Winds Reported

Nearly five inches of snow had fallen as far east as Mason City. Strong winds and icy roads made highways dangerous in that area also.

The storm was expected to strike Des Moines late Tuesday evening, bringing three to four inches of snow by Wednesday morning on top of slippery streets and roads.

Airlines operating through Des Moines remained idle again Tuesday because of low visibility and fog.

The weather bureau warned that a delayed blast of cold and a pileup of blowing snow would cover most of Iowa by today.

Storm Predicted

"Heavy to moderate snow northwest and extreme west overnight, accumulating to 5 to 10 inches. Snow flurries and colder Wednesday, with strong winds 30 to 40 miles an hour continuing. Drifting and blowing snow west portions Wednesday."

And for Thanksgiving day, the weatherman predicted:

"Mostly cloudy, snow flurries and continued cold.

Blinding, wind-lashed snowstorms are blocking highways all over the Central Plains area and driving into the upper Mississippi Valley.

Traffic was tied up in western Kansas and central and eastern Nebraska as the near blizzard reduced visibility virtually to zero. The weather bureau reported winds of 35 to 45 miles per hour accompanied the snow in the plains region, piling drifts across roads.

4-Inch Snowfall Predicted for City

A chilling wind began to blow in Iowa City Tuesday night as a forewarning to a big dip in temperature and up to four inches of expected snowfall over the Thanksgiving holiday.

A continuing cold drizzle fell on Iowa City all day Tuesday following Monday's mixture of rain and snow. High winds blew rain-filled clouds away from this area and are expected to bring in their wake a predicted snowfall of four inches. The weather bureau warns of more snow over the weekend.

Highways were wet until midnight Tuesday but no icy conditions were reported up to that time. United Air Line flights to and from Iowa City, however, were cancelled due to poor flying conditions.

A total of six-tenths of an inch of rain fell Tuesday. The high temperature for the day was 52 degrees. The mercury reached a low of 36.

Eisenhower Names 2 Women to High Posts

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Eisenhower Tuesday named two women to high government posts and chose Arthur E. Summerfield, chairman of the Republican national committee, as postmaster general.

He appointed Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, a Democrat and original director of the Women's Army corps, as administrator of the Federal Security agency, and Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest of Bountiful, Utah, as treasurer of the United States.

Eisenhower said Mrs. Hobby had been asked to attend cabinet meetings because of "her vital importance position" in directing government social and welfare work although the post does not technically have cabinet rank.

Summerfield will resign as Republican national chairman before taking his cabinet post, it was announced. His appointment as postmaster general left two cabinet jobs still to be filled—secretary of labor and secretary of commerce.

Eisenhower described both Mrs. Hobby and Mrs. Priest as "outstanding women" and said their job appointments were the "first of other appointments of women in the coming administration."

Mrs. Hobby, publisher of the Houston, Tex., Post, will succeed Oscar R. Ewing. Mrs. Priest, active in the Republican party women's division, will succeed another woman, Georgia Neese Clark.

Summerfield will replace Jesse M. Donaldson. The appointments were announced shortly after Rep. John

AF Sergeant Charged With Conspiracy

TOKYO (AP)—The Far East air forces Monday charged Staff Sgt. Guiseppio Cascio, 34, Tucson, Ariz., with conspiring to sell secret flight test data on the top U. S. jet warplane in the Korean theater.

The secret data involved performance tests of the F86 Sabre Jet, scourge of the Communist MIG15 jets.

The air force's charge said Cascio "did wrongfully offer for sale to unauthorized persons" the secret flight test data, "with reason to believe that said writing would reach the enemy."

Data Involves Tests

Possibly the secret data involved performance tests of improved models which have been credited with giving U. S. jet airmen a bigger edge over the Communist MIGs. American jet airmen, by air force count, have run up an 8-1 score over Communist fliers in jet planes shot down.

The sergeant was charged in 16 counts of accepting military payment certificates from a Korean civilian while stationed in Korea.

The air forces charged that Cascio received secret data from S/Sgt. John P. Jones of the headquarters squadron. It said air force doctors had declared Jones insane. No charge was made against Jones.

Arrested in Korea

Cascio was arrested Sept. 21 in Korea after a six-week investigation, the air forces said.

He is charged with violating Articles 80, 81 and 134 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice, dealing with classified information, and Article 92, pertaining to transactions in military scrip.

The maximum penalty possible is life imprisonment.

The court martial specification charges that Cascio conspired to "knowingly give intelligence to the enemy" and that he "did wrongfully offer for sale to unauthorized persons a classified military writing."

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—William Hester, a 36-year-old construction worker who often walks in his sleep retired Saturday night in his third floor apartment.

He woke up early Sunday cradled in a huge dent in the top of his landlord's car, 35 feet below his bedroom window.

Hester was treated for bruises at a hospital and released. The landlord estimated damage to his car at $300. But he said his insurance agent had assured him today the damage was covered in his policy by the section concerning "falling objects."

Ike Assistant Sees Changes In Agencies

NEW YORK (AP)—New Hampshire's Gov. Sherman Adams, named assistant to President-elect Eisenhower, said Monday that "as time goes on, you can expect a good many changes" in the present alignment of independent government agencies.

Adams, at a news conference, said his new duties as described to him by the President-elect would include that of liaison officer between the White House and various governmental executive departments and congress.

He said a number of executive assistants will be assigned to him by Jan. 20.

Adams questioned Asked how many existing governmental departments are to be incorporated under his jurisdiction, Adams said:

"It is a little too soon to predict. A study is now being made of the prerogatives of each individual agency and the extent to which it may be re-aligned and incorporated. This includes a study of the job specifications of the departments."

"Do you anticipate any major changes in the independent agencies?" he was asked.

Predicts Changes "As time goes on, you can expect a good many changes," he said, adding: "It will not be a revolutionary thing but rather an evolution. This will be an evolution that will eventually take place with re-alignments and perhaps abolishments."

Adams said that in addition to the study now being made, consideration also will be given "to the report of the Hoover commission, whose recommendations were never put into effect."

Adams is 53, married, with four children and three grand-children. He was one of the first public figures to support Eisenhower for president. After working for him in New Hampshire, he became the general's floor manager at the GOP national convention and then joined Eisenhower's campaign team.

Attorneys Predict Dire Results If Gas Firm Expansion Halted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorneys for several mid-western utilities told the Power commission Monday that great suffering would result this winter if it revoked a capacity expansion certificate given Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha.

Lloyd Marti, representing the Central Electric and Gas Co. of Lincoln, Neb., said withdrawing gas service from the several thousand households Central had added on the strength of Northern's extra supply would "create a riot."

Service would be impaired to some 50,000 to 75,000 houses supplied by the Minneapolis Gas Co., said Lester J. Eck, vice-president. He added there was a possibility that some houses would explode if low pressure extinguishes pilot lights, and that some people would be killed.

Predicts Suffering Donald Evans of the Iowa Power and Light Co., Des Moines, said some 5,000 of its customers would suffer. He said he thought the needs of the householders of natural gas should be a "paramount consideration" for the commission.

George Pardee of the Metropolitan Utilities District of Omaha said 7,585 customers would be affected. R. L. Breshler of Cedar Rapids, representing the Iowa Light and Power Co., the Iowa Electric Co. and the Northwestern Gas Co., also outlined the needs of his area which could not be supplied under revocation.

The Power commission last year granted Northern temporary authority to increase its daily capacity to 75 million cubic feet a day above its then 600 million cubic feet. Its utility customers then took on more customers.

Authority Given Last month the commission gave Northern final authority to increase from 600 to 825 million cubic feet a day on condition that Northern would not sell its gas reserves without prior approval of the commission.

A few days later Northern sold its gas wells and leases to a newly formed subsidiary, Northern Nat-

Woods Quits Job As Price Boss

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tighe Woods resigned Monday as price stabilizer with a blast at congress for providing what he termed a weak controls law.

Woods told a news conference he had submitted his resignation to President Truman effective at the end of November.

He declined to make his letter of resignation public, saying it was up to the President whether it should be released.

However, he said he had been dissatisfied for some time and decided to quit rather than attempt to administer the price control law as it exists.

Clergyman Wants Children Limited

SMETHWICK, Eng. (AP)—A Church of England clergyman says couples should get special licenses to have children in England and that persons over 70 should undergo mercy deaths.

Such steps, 63-year-old Canon Charles A. Lowe said in his parish magazine, "would mean that England would again become green and pleasant, and instead of a land of concrete bricks and mortar it could grow plenty to feed its moderate population."

The canon wants to raise the mental level of the British and also cut their number to the point at which they could live solely on home-grown food instead of requiring substantial imports as they do now.

British, U.S. 'Split' Called 'Not Serious'

By J. M. ROBERTS JR. Associated Press News Analyst From this corner, the widely publicized "split" in the United Nations between Britain and the United States looks more like a crack than a crevice.

Since both parties seem to be fairly well agreed that Russia has no intention of letting a Korean truce go through at this time, the argument boils down to one over procedure rather than substance. And arguments over procedure usually produce more bruises than open wounds.

There are, of course, matters of substance involved. Britain has a position to maintain with India, author of the presently disputed formula for approaching a settlement of the Korean prisoner problem.

U. S. Represents UN The U. S. represents the United Nations command in Korea, and we have to carry any load imposed now by UN resolutions just as it has carried the load imposed by the original war aim resolutions.

There are blocs of opinion in the UN which can be influenced by attitudes on procedure almost as much as by attitudes on substance.

But among the issues, the prisoner matter, while involving very substantial principles, is pretty generally accepted now as merely a peg for Communist determination to maintain the present situation in Korea. The squabbles it produces, such as the present one, are the dividends the Russians want.

Matters Complicated The U. S. complicated matters by a too-hasty expression of dissatisfaction with the Indian proposal the day it was offered. She attempted to cover that later with praise of Eden's speech praising India, and by offering to accept an amended proposal.

But she couldn't get the amendments just like she wanted them. She notified Eden it was her last stand on the Indian resolution, and then publicized the split without waiting for his reply. The British took that hard.

But it's not in the nature of the two nations to get into a really serious and lasting dispute over a resolution that wasn't going to produce anything anyway.

Former State Official Says Heirens Given 'Truth Drug' Shot

CHICAGO (AP)—A former state's attorney testified Monday William Heirens was given a "truth drug" injection in jail before he pleaded guilty to three murders in Chicago.

Heirens, now 24, is serving three consecutive life terms for the slaying of Suzanne Degnan, 6; Frances Brown, 33, and Mrs. Josephine Ross, 43, in 1945. He now is seeking his freedom on a petition filed under the Illinois Post-Conviction Review Law.

Crowley testified that Dr. Francis J. Gerty, a Cook county psychiatrist, told him he thought Heirens was malingering and was faking amnesia.

"I asked Dr. Gerty how this could be confirmed," Crowley related, "and he said by using sodium pentothal, the 'truth drug.'"

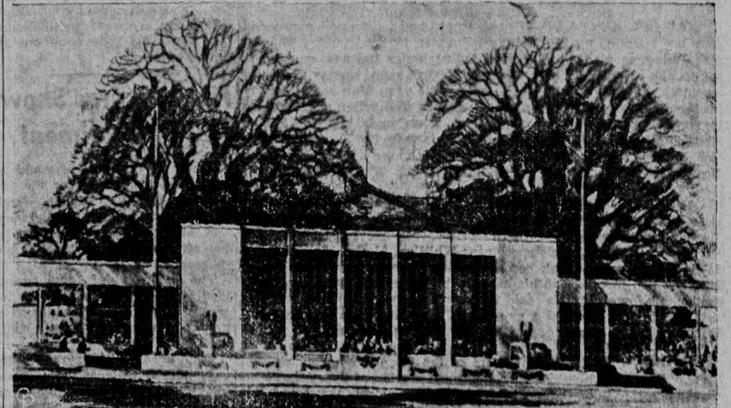

After consultation with the state's attorney and other doctors the decision was made to use the drug, Crowley said.

Asked what Heirens said after administration of the drug, Crowley testified:

"He talked about his past life, his schooling, the Degnan case and some burglaries."

Heirens has petitioned for a new trial under the Illinois Post-Conviction Review law which allows convicts to challenge their convictions in the courts which tried them on certain grounds of trial error. Heirens has charged that he was denied his constitutional rights, particularly in connection with the use of truth serum without his permission.

Ike's 4 Appointees Weren't Taft's Idea But He'll Cooperate

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) said Monday he didn't recommend any of the first four cabinet appointments made by President-elect Eisenhower, but that he doesn't object to any of them.

"I will have no difficulty cooperating with any of the people appointed," Taft told a press conference.

He referred to John Foster Dulles, named secretary of state; Charles E. Wilson, secretary of defense; George M. Humphrey, secretary of treasury, and Herbert Brownell, attorney general.

Taft said he had been invited by Eisenhower to "submit some recommendations and did." Taft said he had recommended "some" Ohioans for cabinet posts and other high level jobs. He was asked but wouldn't say whom he had recommended.

5 Crew Members Killed in B-50 Crash Near Eastern Base

EDGEWOOD, Md. (AP)—A four-engine B-50 air force bomber carrying eight airmen and a civilian, crashed into a creek near the army chemical center Monday, killing five of the crew members.

The civilian, who is a photographer, and the pilot, co-pilot and engineer survived the crash. One body was recovered shortly after the plane hit the water and salvage operations were begun Monday night to raise the wreckage and search for the other four bodies.

The bomber, on a routine flight, met trouble about 15 minutes after taking off from the chemical center air field.

Those surviving include Maj. George H. Musket, St. Louis, Mo., pilot, and Tech. Sgt. Willie A. Dixon, flight engineer, De Quincy, Ind.

None of the others aboard the plane was listed as from the Midwest.

A spokesman for the air force at nearby Aberdeen Proving ground, under whose command the crew operated, attributed the crash to failure of one of the engines. The survivors said the engine failure developed at 3,500 feet and only a "beautiful ditching attempt" by the pilot enabled any of them to escape alive.

As the pilot ditched the plane, the fuselage parted slightly behind the wing, the air force spokesman said the survivors related. The tail section was located about 125 yards from the main section.

Details of the mission upon which the ill-starred plane had been dispatched were withheld for security reasons, but the air force said it was carrying "experimental ammunition" at the time.

'Big Brother' Program Called Success

By JACK BURROWS

The "big brother and sister" program has proven itself a big success at the Iowa hospital school for physically handicapped children.

Joint action by the Interfraternity and the Panhellenic councils started the program this year by providing big brothers and sisters for children in the hospital school. In past years a similar program was undertaken by other groups.

Because of the individual attention given the children, Miss Anne Seymour, head nurse in the hospital school, said the program provides an association very beneficial to the children.

Emphasis on Attention
The big brothers and sisters try to provide an atmosphere of love and security for the children, something which is hard for the school staff to accomplish alone. Each child has both a big brother and sister of their own, which makes individual attention possible.

David B. Ray, assistant director of the school, said some of the children do not see their own family very often, and the big brothers and sisters try to take their place as much as possible.

SUI students visit and play with the 6 to 13 year-old handicapped children. Recreational activities such as playing games of checkers and monopoly, reading books, or just talking, contributes greatly to the social life of the children.

Set Up in '47
The Iowa hospital school for severely handicapped children was established by the 1947 state general assembly. It was founded to provide educational opportunity and medical treatment for children with handicaps so severe they were unable to receive an education in existing schools, as well as to offer facilities for research into crippling conditions.

It is founded on the idea, Ray said, that "a physically handicapped child with normal intelligence deserves the opportunity to become a useful and contributing member of the community in which he lives."

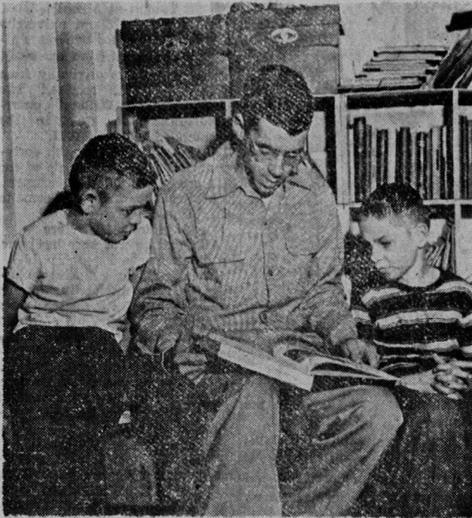

The three aims of the school, Ray said, are: to provide the best of care, education and treatment to children who are educable and can be admitted; to assure expert diagnosis and evaluation for all handicapped children in Iowa so proper planning can be initiated; and to provide practical training for teachers.

Located Near Westlawn
Located in temporary, remodeled quarters in Westlawn nurses' residence on the SUI west campus, the school is near the Children's hospital. Ray said the school will move next spring into the new building which is now under construction for it.

At the present time, Ray said, 23 children are in the school, while the new building will have a capacity of 60 children. The students are accommodated on a full-time basis, and only go home at Easter, Thanksgiving, Christmas and for a few weeks in August.

The school must fulfill the child requirements expected of a hospital, school, home, family and church. The big brothers and big sisters from SUI help to accomplish this.

Lose Contact
Being away from home so much of the time, the children lose contact with many of the common

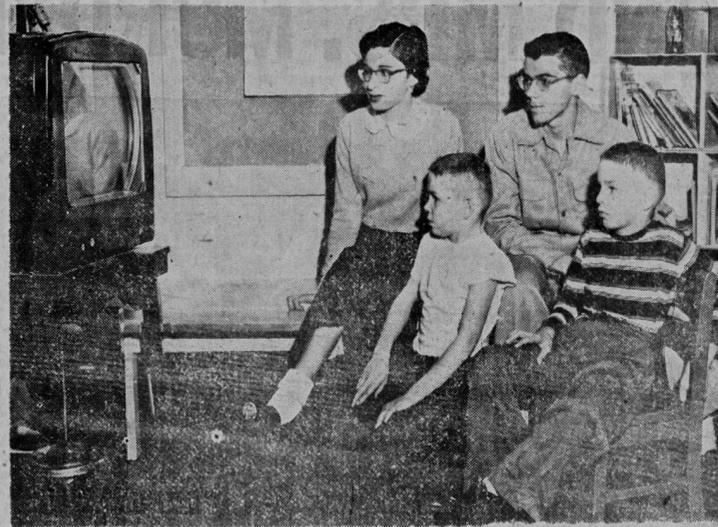

THERE IS NOTHING LIKE an exciting story, especially when read by their big brother, Marvin Jones, A1, Fairfield, for the entertainment of Claude, left, and his brother Claire Terneau. As the children are away from their own family so much of the time, the big brothers and sisters try to remedy the problem by spending some of their free time with the children.

PROUDLY SHOWING HIS BIG BROTHER an ear of corn grown on his father's farm is Sonny Hoyland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reinart Hoyland of Forest City. The big brother, SUI student Don Kallenberg, C4, Des Moines, spends several nights a week with the boy. As the expressions on both of their faces illustrate, they are both having an enjoyable time.

TV Top Favorite of 'Little Brothers'

things in life. This is where the work of the big brothers and sisters is important.

Simple experiences such as riding in a car or going into a grocery store with a big brother mean a lot to a child, Ray said. SUI students have taken the children to basketball and football games, on hay rides and simply out for a walk.

Ray said these things are hard for the staff to do for the children because of the lack of time, but students can contribute this. The big brothers and sisters come at least once a week to be with a child, and twice a month they take the child out of the school to a movie or other event.

45 Participants
There are 45 SUI students participating in this year's program. Although most of them belong to fraternities and sororities, Ray said other students have come to him and volunteered their service.

Children are divided into three groups: pre-school, primary and intermediate. School work corresponds to that done by children in the first through eighth grades. Because of special problems involved in teaching handicapped children, the number of students assigned to each teacher is considerably smaller than in most public school systems. However, when the school expands and moves into its new quarters in spring, a larger staff is going to be needed, and this will mean more big brothers and sisters, Ray said.

OPEN HOUSE
Miss Edith Daly, Episcopal director of college work, had an open house at her home, 840 S. Summit st., for the Episcopal university students Tuesday evening.

Business Fraternity Conducts Initiation For New Members

Pi Omega Pi, honorary undergraduate fraternity in business education, initiated four new members in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

The new members are Jeanne M. Peterson, G, Primghar; Mary Ellen Sawyer, C3, Haywarden; Joan Nielsen, C4, Clinton and Donald J. Zuehlke, G, Deerfield, Wis.

After the initiation the group had dinner at the Ox Yoke Inn at the Amana Colony.

Mary Lou Busching, C4, Clarks-ville, president, introduced W. Arthur Allee, sponsor of the group, who introduced the speaker, Ku-Chung Chen, G, Shanghai, China.

Chen, a graduate student in labor management, spoke on "General Business and Business Education in China."

Reception Honors ZTA Housemother

Mrs. H. C. Walsh, Zeta Tau Alpha housemother, was honored at a reception at the chapter house given by the active chapter Tuesday.

Connie Menard, A4, Sergeant Bluff, chairman of the reception committee was assisted by the alumnae.

Mrs. Bob Miller, Zeta Tau Alpha alumna, played the piano at the reception.

Guests were administrative officials, deans of the colleges, faculty members and their wives. Other guests were housemothers and presidents of social and professional fraternities and sororities.

Miss Pierce Attends Illinois Music Meeting

Prof. Anne E. Pierce, of the SUI music education department and head of music experimental schools, is in Chicago this week to attend joint committee meetings of the National Association of Schools of Music and the Music and the Music Educators National conference.

The work of the committees deals with the music education curriculum, accreditation, and certification of teachers of music.

More Dancing Lessons Set for Quad Residents

THREE FOREIGN STUDENTS were enrolled in one of the classes in the first series of dancing lessons at Quadrangle dormitory. Left to right they are Rangappa Nanjankiah, G, Baufalore, India; Yin Mia Wei, G, Taiwan, China; Mrs. Darlene Hill, professional dancing instructor from Iowa City and Uzochuku Okeke, G, Nigeria, Africa. Another series of the dancing lessons will begin Dec. 1.

Quadrangle, men's dormitory, will sponsor its second series of social dancing lessons beginning Dec. 1. Jitterbug, intermediate fox trot, rumba and waltz will be offered.

Over 80 students completed the first series of lessons, which ended last week. About the same number is expected to participate in the second group of lessons. Bill Jenner, A4, Wilton Junction, Quadrangle public relations chairman, said.

The first series of dancing lessons was for beginners; the new one will be for intermediates. Financed by Quad Lessons are financed from Quadrangle association dues. A student must make a 50 cent deposit but it is refunded at the end of the series if he has attended all four lessons.

Mrs. Darlene Hill, professional dancing instructor from Iowa City, teaches the classes. They are held in a temporary building south of the dormitory. The classes average about 10 men each.

The Quad social committee decided to sponsor the lessons after interest in them was indicated in replies on a questionnaire about the Quad social program sent to students living at the dorm. 1st Series Successful The October series was so successful that a second series was arranged. Two classes an evening will meet Monday through Thursday in the new series. Students may pick the time most convenient for them. Interested Quad men may sign up for the lessons in the Quad office. Today is the final day for registration.

Finkbine Playground Ending 2d Season Closes for Winter

Finkbine playground closed this month, concluding its second year of operation.

The treasurer's report, which was given at the Finkbine playground council meeting Nov. 13, shows a balance of $8.09 in the playground funds.

The funds were used to build a new playhouse this year. They also were used for paint and repairs, sand, toys and various supplies.

In September a special donation of 50 cents per family was collected to help provide a new set of box swings for the young children. The swings have arrived but will not be installed in the playground until spring.

The playground membership fee this year was $1 per family.

Betty Shelton, Laura Richardson, Lucile Finkle, Joan Stanley, Elizabeth Shore, Millie Watanabe and Mary VanDeventer served as supervising coordinators of the playground at various periods during the season.

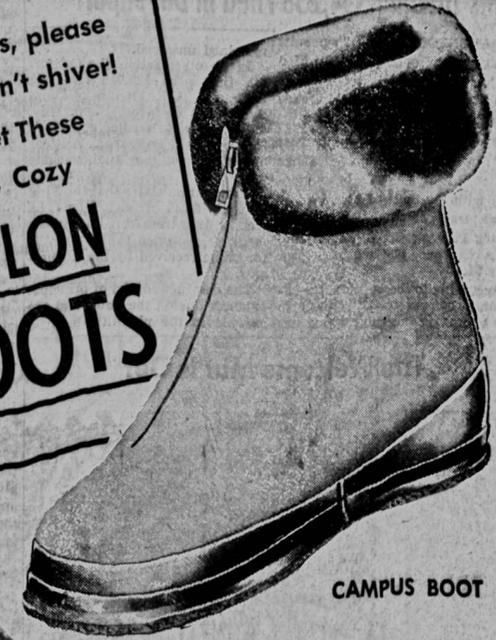

Playground council members this year were Mary Springer, chairman, June Pries and Bea Gardner, treasurers, Mary Haskell, membership chairman, William McBride, equipment chairman, Betty Feldman, Jean Funk, Joan Knopf, and Mrs. Milton Seisser.

Plymouth Townfolk Stage Thanksgiving Reminder of Events of 330 Years Ago

GARBED IN SOMBRE COSTUMES of the Pilgrim fathers, Plymouth citizens re-enact the first Thanksgiving.

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (CP) — Thanksgiving is the biggest day of the year in the historic town of Plymouth, for it was in Plymouth colony 330 years ago that the Pilgrim fathers humbly offered thanks to a kind Providence for blessings which today might be considered meager.

A spectacular celebration will be staged on that day commemorating the first Thanksgiving. This traditional observance in the historic landing place of the Pilgrims has been held each year for more years than any can remember.

Asked Thanksgiving Grants
Last year John A. Armstrong, representative to the Massachusetts legislature from Plymouth, introduced a bill that funds be granted by the commonwealth each year for the proper observance of Thanksgiving day in Plymouth. This was passed, and is now a law. Several thousand townspeople and hundreds of visitors gather yearly for this commemoration of the original Thanksgiving.

This year, the celebration will begin with the traditional and stirring "Pilgrims' Progress," a group of citizens dressed in the sober garb of our pioneer forefathers progressing slowly from Plymouth Rock down Leyden street to the town church, in the same earnest and reverent mood that was characteristic of their ancestors over three centuries ago. Nowhere else in the world can be seen this remarkable re-enacting of the drama of the founding of a great nation.

Pilgrimage to Houses
The pilgrimage to houses that date as far back as 1666 will be a feature of this year's celebration. These old dwellings include the famous Governor Winslow house restored and opened by the Society of Mayflower Descendants, the Harlow house, built in 1678, partly of the material of the old fort on Burial hill, the Howland house (1666), the Sparrow house and many others.

Next, at Pilgrim Memorial hall will be shown, in living, crystal-clear tableaux, the outstanding events of those first days of incredible hardship — the perilous departure of the Pilgrims from Delft Haven; their safe arrival in the sheltered harbor of Plymouth; the signing of the Mayflower Compact two days after the ship came to anchor off Provincetown; making of the treaty with Massasoit that guaranteed safety to all, and return of the Mayflower to England, after "the hart of the winter was over."

90 Extra Guests
Consternation is still expressed by Plymouth housewives at the 90 unexpected guests that appeared for that first Thanksgiving dinner. The talkative Squanto had been dispatched to invite Massasoit to the prayers and feast, and it was expected he would bring one or two chief tribesmen with him. When he arrived, however, he was accompanied by no less than 90 painted and feathered followers!

The feast included wild turkeys, venison, waterfowl, lobsters, clam and fish; corn and biscuit-cake and ground nuts. The wild fruits of the hot summer — gooseberries, strawberries, white and red grapes and plums — had been dried in Indian fashion, since there was no sugar for English jams and preserves. We know there were cranberries "aplentie," but historians declare that there could not have been enough sugar for cranberry sauce.

Ready for Holiday
After a stern year in which all had known hungry moments, the Pilgrims were ready for a holiday. The "time convenient" for a thanksgiving had come. Still sharp in their memory was the terrible drought which had lasted from May until the middle of July, threatening their very existence, when the patient settlers had set aside a day of public prayer.

The corn began to wither away, though it was set with fish. Yet at length it began to languish sore, and some of the drier grounds were parched like withered hay, part thereof was never recovered.

"Upon which they sett aparte a solmne day of humiliation, to seek the Lord by humble and fervente prayer, in this great distresse. And he was pleased to give them a gracious and speedy answer, both to their owne and the Indeans admiration, that lived amongst them.

Had Good Weather
"For all the morning, and greatest part of the day, it was clear weather and very hotte, and not a cloud or any signe of raine, yet toward evening it begane to overcast, and shortly after to raine, with such sweete and gentle showers, without either wind, or thunder, or any violence and by degrese in that abundance, as that the earth was thorowly wete and soaked therewith . . . and afterwards the Lord sent them such seasonable showers, with entercchange of faire warme weather, as through his blessing, caused a fruitful and liberrall harvest, to their no small comforts and rejoicing.

"For which mercie (in time convenient) they also sett aparte a day of thanksgiving."
So states Governor Bradford in his great History of the Plymouth Plantation, one of the most valuable documents in the world today, setting forth the principles and motivations which led to the founding of this republic. The original copy, in the governor's own hand, may be seen at the State House in Boston.

GI WAR BABIES
MANILA (P) — A government survey shows there are 4,236 "GI war babies" in the Philippines, but the total is believed to be much higher. The survey showed most of the children had been abandoned by their American soldier fathers. A few receive financial help from fathers in the U. S., and the most needy cases are assisted by the American-Philippine Guardian association.

New Highway Chief Says Iowa's Primary Road Funds Are Gone

MASON CITY (P)— E. F. Koch, Iowa's new chief highway engineer, said Tuesday that the state's primary road funds are almost gone at a time when the most serious highway problem is to satisfy the needs of the motoring public.

"We're almost broke," Koch told northeast Iowa county officials at a meeting in Mason City Tuesday in referring the condition of the primary road fund.

"We are going to have to live within our income because the surplus built up during the war years is gone," Koch explained.

He said $23 million will be available for primary road work in 1953 as compared with $6 million spent on primary roads this year. He estimated only about $13 million would be available for new primary road construction next year and said cost of such construction averages about $80,000 a mile.

The only way Iowa can make progress now is through the legislature, he said. The legislature must make money available before the work can be done, he added.

Ex-Musician Seeks SUI English Degree

By CHERIE WALKUP
A former trumpet player with the orchestras of Gene Krupa and Johnny Long is now a graduate assistant in the SUI English department.

Dominic Consolo has given up his days as a musician for his interest in creative writing. "I wanted to have a stable future life," he said. He is working for his Ph.D. in English, while teaching modern literature. His future plans include teaching.

Consolo started on the mandolin at the age of six, and is able to play any instrument. His orchestra career began in 1941 when he began playing with a college band.

Joins McKinley Band
In 1942 Consolo joined Ray McKinley's orchestra—the first nationally known orchestra with which he played.

He was with McKinley for only two months, and then returned to Miami university at Oxford, Ohio.

Later he played the trumpet in the orchestras of Johnny Long, Gene Krupa, Herbie Fields, Ina Ray Hutton, Charlie Ventura and Boyd Raeburn. Ventura and Raeburn are well-known especially in the New York area.

Many of his friends are now in Les Brown's band.

Joins Army in '43
Called into the army in 1943 for three years, Consolo was in charge of a 33 piece band with strings,

Dominic Consolo Wants to Teach which entertained troops in the Mediterranean area.

Linda Darnell and Jinx Falkenburg were among the celebrities who traveled with Consolo's band in entertaining the armed forces.

While in the service, Consolo spent a lot of time reading—stimulating his interest in literature, primarily the works of James Joyce and William Faulkner. It was then he decided to major in English rather than music.

Taught at Miami
He taught at Miami university in Oxford, Ohio, for two years after being released from the army.

Consolo, who is originally from Ridgway, Penn., received two scholarships for Writers' Conferences in Boulder, Colo., in the summers of 1951 and 1952.

He came to SUI through correspondence with Paul Engle of the SUI creative writing department. "Most graduate writers do come to SUI," Consolo says.

Attended SUI Before
Although he was here last year, he didn't teach.

Having received a music scholarship to Miami university, Consolo received his B.A. degree from Miami in 1948 and his M.A. in 1950. While there he was a member of Delta Tau Delta, social fraternity, and a member of Phi Mu Alpha, honorary music fraternity.

Consolo was also a member of the track team and freshman football team at Miami.

Likes All Music
"I like all types of good music—modern and old type jazz, ballads, and symphonies," Consolo says. He especially likes the NBC symphony orchestra, directed by Arturo Toscanini.

One of Consolo's most memorable experiences was when he was playing with Ina Ray Hutton's band at a Hollywood party. Bing Crosby and Groucho Marx were among the guests at the party. Varied talents and ambitions seem to run in the Consolo family.

Marries Math Major
Consolo's wife, the former Jeanne Kaufman, was a mathematics major at Miami university when they met. They were married four years ago and reside at 417 S. Capitol st.

Consolo has already started writing two books. Besides music and writing, he is interested in astronomy. In fact, he considers it a hobby and possesses a home telescope with which to carry out his study of the stars.

International Union Men To Probe Iowa Stoppage

ALBIA (P) — Frank Wilson, Iowa district head of the United Mine Workers Union, said Tuesday that two international UMW representatives from Washington would arrive at Centerville Monday in connection with a work stoppage in Appanoose and Wayne counties.

Wilson said UMW members at four mines near Centerville and five near Mystic had stopped work due to contract troubles.

Continuation Of Controls Suggested

WASHINGTON (AP) — Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam has recommended that the government's power to control prices and wages be extended 14 months beyond the present April 30 deadline, it was learned Tuesday.

In fact, officials said, Putnam is seeking somewhat stronger control powers than provided under present laws.

At the same time, the White House discounted a report from Sen. Maybank (D-SC) that he had information President Truman might end price-wage controls before congress convenes Jan. 3.

Roger Tubby, acting presidential press secretary, said Truman has no such plans.

Women's Clothing Lifted
Simultaneously, outgoing Price Stabilizer Tighe Woods suspended price ceilings on all women's and misses' clothing, effective at once.

The office of price stabilization indicated ceilings will be suspended by this week end on men's and young men's apparel also — but not on infants' and children's wear, which is selling at or near ceilings on the clothing being decontrolled.

Former OPS Director Michael V. DiSalle was enroute to Washington from Ohio to discuss the controls situation with Truman and, it was understood, to add his support for the retention of ceilings.

DiSalle Rumored for Job

There was speculation that Truman might ask DiSalle, defeated Democratic candidate for the senate, to take over again as OPS director at least temporarily. DiSalle told a reporter at Toledo he had not been offered the job, which Woods will vacate on Dec. 1, and was not interested in it.

Woods announced Monday night he was quitting. He said he was fed up with administering what he termed the "weak law" given him by congress.

Putnam's proposals were delivered some days ago to defense mobilization director Henry H. Fowler, to be considered in Fowler's recommendations for new legislation.

Actress Teresa Wright Divorces Screenwriter

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actress Teresa Wright, sobbing bitterly, Tuesday divorced author-screenwriter Niven Busch with testimony he made her feel "useless."

The beautiful brunette Oscar winner told the judge: "My husband made me feel useless by refusing to allow me the right to have anything to say in the care and raising of my children and the running of my house.

"He said I was incapable of making these decisions and that he would make all our decisions for us."

Sometimes, she went on, Busch would "force me to listen to him by pushing me into a corner."

The court approved a custody agreement whereby a daughter, Mary Kelly Busch, 5, will remain with her mother. A son, Niven Terrence Busch, 7, will live with his father on a ranch near Hollister, Calif., during the school year.

Busch agreed to pay $150 a month to the daughter's support. Miss Wright asked no alimony. She will receive approximately $9,500 in cash.

The actress, 33, won an academy award in 1942 for her supporting role in "Mrs. Miniver." Busch, 49, is the author of "Duel In The Sun" among other novels.

Appeal Notice Sent By Bus Company On Board's Denial

American Bussines, Inc., Lincoln, Neb., sent notice of an appeal to Johnson county district court after a decision made by the Iowa state commerce commission which denied the busline local rights between Cedar Rapids and Iowa City.

The Cedar Rapids and Iowa City Railway Co. was granted the bus rights between the two cities while the American line was denied the application. The American Bussines are appealing the decision made by the commerce commission Oct. 30.

The bus company sent an appeal bond to the office of the Clerk of Court, R. Neilson Miller, after it had filed notice of its intention to appeal the decision with the secretary of the commerce commission in Des Moines.

The American buses now have a route on Highway 218 which is longer and they cannot carry persons between Iowa City and Cedar Rapids unless they are going to and coming from points beyond the two cities.

problems related to educational administration.

The six major aspects of this program include school district organization, educational finance policies, educational consultant services, leadership for improved instruction, school board functions and relationships, and educational policy making and interpretation, the foundation's mid-western director said.

"Perspiration has always characterized a good physical education program whether we like it or not," declared Louis E. Alley, head of athletics at University high school Tuesday afternoon as he urged a vigorous program designed for all of the boys in high school and not for just a talented few.

A good physical education program, he said, is a basic part of the total educational scheme. It is concerned with skills which make for efficiency of movement and body control.

Educational as well as physical in nature, it attempts to develop in boys the habits of conduct, the attitudes and ideals which we feel to be desirable, he continued.

A good program is educational, too, he said in developing a knowledge of the rules, fundamentals and playing strategy of our national sports.

Alley described an incident in which two spectators sitting near him at a basketball game loudly approved and disapproved of players, coaches and officials solely on the basis of what the scoreboard said and whether or not the foul favored the home team.

Alley said that as he sat and ground his teeth in helpless rage, he wished fervently for the opportunity to watch the noisy spectators working at their own specialty, so he could criticize their "mistakes" — even though he knows little about their work.

With some variations for the lesser endurance of girls, the characteristics of good physical education for boys as described by Coach Alley belong in girls' programs, said Jean Bontz, Iowa State Teachers college professor of women's physical education.

Stressing physical education at the elementary level for both sexes in her talk, Miss Bontz charged that "as adult games have been imposed upon the child, too little thought has been given to the child's development pattern — in spatial relationships, in time reactions, and in endurance.

SUI Graduate Presents Book She Wrote As Gift to Library

Mrs. Ella Mae Washington, SUI graduate who received her B.A. degree in 1933 and an M.A. in 1941, has presented a copy of a book she has authored as a gift to the SUI library. It is entitled "Color in Dress for Dark-Skinned People."

The book, written as a service to the Negro race, demonstrates taste and individuality in dress with many charts and color patterns.

Its practical value is the result of the recognition of a definite color complex in the Negro skin and the listing of the range of colors which will harmonize with it, the author points out.

Mrs. Washington came to SUI in 1926 from Langston, Okla., where she was house mother in a college dormitory.

Many students in the dormitory asked her questions which she couldn't answer. It was then that she decided to go to college in order to help her people as she wanted.

Mrs. Washington saw an SUI summer bulletin in 1926 and, after reading it, decided this would be her university.

That summer she began what was to take seven long years of work toward her B.A. She was middle aged, had very little money and little formal schooling, but she had determination.

She supported herself during those seven years by working in the home of Prof. Elizabeth Halsey of the SUI women's physical education department.

Written communication was very difficult for Mrs. Washington at first. With the help of the English department, however, she made great improvement.

She became engrossed in her English course, took elective subjects, and before she graduated was doing well in upper-class writing courses.

Mrs. Washington's interest in her major field, home economics, was intense. It was almost with regret that she saw her first goal, the B.A. degree, approaching.

As she taught, however, the regret vanished. She was answering questions, and she was able to share what she had found satisfaction in mastering.

New questions had to be answered, however, so Mrs. Washington started work on her M.A. degree. She studied the problem in the harmony of color for her people, and her book is the result of this study.

In the book Mrs. Washington makes acknowledgements to her former instructors at SUI. Lula Smith, associate professor of home economics, wrote the preface to the book.

MOELLER TO SPEAK
Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of the SUI school of journalism, will appear on the lecture series of Simpson college at Indianola Tuesday, Professor Moeller's topic will be "The Responsibility of the Student to the Media of Mass Communications."

City to Issue Bonds To Cover Judgment In Airport Claim

Trial of a $70,000 suit brought against the city of Iowa City, the city council, city officials and airport commission by the M. D. McCreedy Construction company was held Tuesday morning in Johnson county district court. Judge Harold D. Evans presided.

The McCreedy Construction company claimed that $69,797.93 plus interest is due from the city on construction of a new airport administration building.

Edward Lucas, city attorney, said the action resulted from legislative changes in laws governing the issuing of municipal bonds.

McCreedy, George Frohwein, an airport commissioner, and Milo Noy, bank official, were witnesses at the trial.

The city plans to issue bonds to cover the cost of the judgment. Attorney Lucas said that only by legal action can the amount due be paid by the city.

Cards to Determine Animal Population

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cards are in the mail to thousands of farmers to help the department of agriculture determine the country's livestock population.

Information received will form the basis of the annual inventory of livestock on the nation's farms, published early each year. Numbers are being sought, too, for the semiannual estimate of the pig crop.

Has Built-in Elevator

World's Biggest Safe Installed for Documents

The original copies of the Bill of Rights, Declaration of Independence, and the Constitution of the United States will be safeguarded in the world's largest safe, now being installed in the National Archives building in Washington D.C.

The 50-ton safe, only one of its kind, will have a built-in elevator to raise the documents every morning and lower them back into the safe every night. This operation requires that the unit's massive doors be located on top of the safe.

Safe Beneath Shrine
The safe is being installed beneath a remodeled display shrine in the National Archives building in Washington D.C., where the documents will be on display for public inspection during the day.

After visiting hours, the entire showcase will be lowered into the hidden safe by the scissor-like elevator. The safe's 5-ton steel doors will automatically swing shut and lock as soon as the descending documents enter the safe.

4-Way Protection Afforded
Built in the Mosler Safe company's Hamilton, Ohio plant, the safe contains the most advanced safety features known to science. The safe will be bomb, fire, burglary, and water-resistant, according to Mosler engineers.

"The Bill of Rights, Declaration of Independence, and the Constitution of the United States are America's three most precious documents," said Edwin H. Mosler Jr., president of the Mosler Safe company, Chicago, Ill., New York, N.Y., and Rochester, N.Y.

"Although our firm built the gold storage vaults that safeguard the nation's wealth at Fort Knox, Ky., the construction of this unique safe is without doubt one of the most important engineering responsibilities Mosler has been honored with in its 104-year history."

Grimsley Forecasts Upsets; Sees Defeats of USC, Navy

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP)— At breakfast Tuesday morning, we knocked over the sugar bowl, spilled the cream and dumped a cup of coffee in our lap.

On the subway we stumbled and upset a sewing basket carried by a grandmotherly commuter. We just broke our fountain pen and overturned the typewriter table, spilling keys and screws all over the premises.

This was hint enough that this is going to be an "upsetty" weekend in football, so, pardon us, while we take Army and Notre Dame in Saturday's big games.

In an effort to beat last week's 31-9 mark, here we go again:

Army over Navy: Coach Red Blaik's erstwhile plebes and jayvees suddenly come of age in an over-the-head performance against a bigger and faster team of favored midshipmen. This is a game that often defies form.

Notre Dame over Southern California: Frank Leahy's Fighting Irish should be primed for the mighty Trojans, one of the nation's defensive giants. Southern Cal figures for a slight letdown after the victory over UCLA.

Mississippi State over Mississippi: Another traditional game in which the form chart is meaningless.

Oklahoma over Oklahoma A & M: Billy Vessels and Eddie Crowder provide too potent a tone — two punch for the Aggies.

Georgia Tech over Georgia: The Engineers have too much team speed for their Athens neighbors.

Southern Methodist over Texas Christian: When two Southwest teams meet and you're in doubt, pick the home club. In this case, SMU.

Tennessee over Vanderbilt: Nashville is jumping and jiving over this one but Gen. Bob Neyland has a habit of dampening such enthusiasm.

Washington over Washington State: The Huskies have the scoring punch to win what should be a high-point affair.

Penn over Cornell: Thursday: The Quakers, hot at the start of the season and cold at the end, should rally to clinch the Ivy championship.

Texas over Texas A & M, on Tuesday: The Longhorns clear the deck for the Cotton Bowl.

The other Saturday picks: Louisiana State over Tulane, Alabama over Auburn, Baylor over Rice, Tulsa over Texas Tech, College of Pacific over Marquette, Fordham over NYU, Houston over Detroit, Colorado over Colorado A & M.

Army in Top Shape For Underdog Role Vs. Navy Saturday

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)— Army's underdog Cadets will be at full strength for the first time this season when they meet Navy Saturday at Philadelphia.

Tackle Bob Guidera, one of the best Army linemen, practiced with the offensive platoon Tuesday as Coach Earl Blaik worked to sharpen the Army attack. His return to full time effectiveness brought the line up to its highest strength.

Working with Vann in the backfield were Freddie Attaya, John Wing and fullback Mario Delucia. Trackman Bill Purdue, hero of Army's come-from-behind 14-13 victory over Penn, also came in for plenty of attention in the drill.

Blaik declined to comment on the Cadets' chances of running against Navy's crack defensive line.

Vessels Wins Heisman Poll; Scarbath 2d

NEW YORK (AP)— The Downtown Athletic club of New York announced Tuesday that halfback Billy Vessels of Oklahoma had been voted the 1952 Heisman memorial trophy as outstanding college football player of the country.

He will be awarded the trophy at the dinner at the club here Dec. 2.

Vessels, 21 and a senior, received 525 points in a poll of sports writers and sportscasters throughout the country, the club said.

Jack Scarbath, Maryland quarterback, was second with 337 points, and Paul Giel, Minnesota halfback, had 323 points.

With one game to go Saturday against Oklahoma A&M, Vessels has scored 16 touchdowns. He has rushed 967 yards in 142 carries, second highest among major college players.

Dick Kazmaier of Princeton won the award last year.

Vessels is the first winner from the Big Seven conference.

SUMINSKI HONORED
MADISON, Wis. (AP)— Dave Suminski, senior tackle from Ashland, Wis., Tuesday night was voted the most valuable player on the 1952 University of Wisconsin football team.

The squad named Roger Dornburg, linebacker from Naperville, Ill., and Jerry Wuhrman, end from Milwaukee, as co-captains of the 1953 squad. Both are juniors.

Michigan State Tops Poll Again

Favor Charles Over Bevins In 6th Meeting

CHICAGO (AP)—Ezzard Charles, comeback-trying former heavyweight champion, is a 3 to 1 favorite to brush aside ringwise Jimmy Bevins in their Chicago Stadium 10-rounder tonight.

The winner can bounce into the thick of the chase for Rocky Marciano's crown.

A sparse throng of 4,000, paying a $15,000 gate, is expected at the fifth meeting of the two Negro boxers which will be televised nationally beginning at 9 p.m. CST.

Charles, 31, says he will go for a quick knockout of the 32-year-old Bevins.

Such a victory would almost insure the June crack at the winner of the Marciano-Jersey Joe Walcott title match next March which the International Boxing club has promised tonight's winner.

Fateful For 'Ezz'

Chicago has been a fateful site in Charles' boxing career. It was in Comiskey Park in 1949 that the Cincinnati scrapper beat Walcott to claim Joe Louis' vacated heavyweight title. It also was in Chicago that Charles nearly called it quits after opponent Sam Baroudi died following a 10th round knockout.

Bivins, a cute spoiler from Cleveland, tossed eight knockdown blows at Charles in their previous four meetings.

Lost 1st Meeting

Charles, who lost the first meeting out won the last three, dumped Bivins three times, but one occasion was a fourth round knockout at Cleveland in 1947.

They squared off last in 1948 when Charles won a 10-round decision at Washington, D. C.

Bivins is willing to slug it out with Charles, if he wants it that way.

"Walcott proved that one good punch on Charles' chin will stop him," said Bivins. "I can hit as hard as Walcott. I don't think Charles can take my right hand punch."

GOPHERS CHOOSE GIEL
MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Paul Giel, star University of Minnesota halfback, Tuesday was named captain of the 1953 Gopher football team.

Giel was voted to the captaincy by team members. Monday, Gopher riders named Giel the most valuable player on the 1952 squad.

Next Stop—Rose Bowl

IT'S BEEN A LONG TIME—40 years, in fact—since a University of Wisconsin coach has found himself at the top of the Big Ten heap, and Ivy Williamson here gets busy on his most post-season chore. He's discussing train schedules for Los Angeles following election of his team to meet U.S.C. in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena on New Year's Day. Wisconsin finished in a tie with Purdue for the Big Ten crown.

Guglielmi Warming Up For Repeat Performance

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Ralph Guglielmi, who as a freshman quarterback last year spurred Notre Dame to victory over Southern California with his passes, is having his right arm massaged for a repeat performance Saturday.

His aerial work could be the key strategy in Notre Dame's upset plans of spinning defeat on the Rose Bowl Trojans, ranked No. 2 nationally.

USC has a nine game winning streak to protect and one of the country's best defenses to shield it. The Trojans have not lost since the Irish spilled them 19-12 in the 1951 football finale.

Guglielmi, as an unheralded teen-ager from Columbus, Ohio, broke that game wide open with his sharpshooting and the Irish scored the deciding touchdown in the last six minutes.

This season the 180-pound, 6-foot sophomore, has been the Irish's No. 1 quarterback, hurling 132 passes and completing 60 for 673 yards and four touchdowns.

Main Force

But Notre Dame's main force in compiling a 6-2-1 record and knocking off such opponents as Oklahoma, Purdue and Texas this season, has been on the ground. The Irish have averaged 206 rush yards per contest and only 128 by air.

Halfback Johnny Lattner and tackle Neil Worden, both of whom did much in dismantling the Trojans at Los Angeles, have combined to pound the turf for 1,099 yards. Worden tops the team in scoring with 10 touchdowns.

Trojan Defense

Southern California's main strength is on defense. It has held opponents to a 101-yard average on the ground and 73 in the air.

The Trojans' pass defense, tightened by Jim Psaltis and Linden Crow, has accounted for 29 interceptions. These have been run back for a total of 568 yards and seven touchdowns.

Saturday's game has been moved up 30 minutes to a 1 p.m. CST starting time and is a complete sellout. It will be the 24th contest between the two schools. The Irish have won 14 and tied twice.

Well Scouted

USC will be well scouted by its opponent, Wisconsin.

With Badger spies everywhere, the Trojans will be on the hot seat. They probably will have to pull out all the stops in their repertoire of plays. They should have little opportunity to stay under wraps.

Under such circumstances, the game should be a scouting paradise for Wisconsin.

NEW YORK (AP)— The Michigan State Spartans, their football schedule completed, remained the country's No. 1 college football team Tuesday in the ninth and next-to-last Associated Press poll of 1952.

Now the big question is whether the undefeated Spartans can maintain their huge vote appeal next week in the final poll that spotlights the mythical national champions.

Perhaps nothing that transpires in the annual Notre Dame-Southern California game Saturday at South Bend, Ind., will affect the final outcome in the AP poll that has been accepted since 1936 as establishing a national champ.

However, the Fighting Irish certainly can affect a few votes as it concerns Southern California, which moved into the No. 2 slot this week for the first time.

Notre Dame, out of the top 10 teams for most of the fall, has finally found itself No. 7. Furthermore, the spoilers from South Bend are being picked by many experts to whom Southern California, which gained a Rose Bowl berth against Wisconsin by edging UCLA Saturday, 14-12.

Georgia Tech, which had been voted the No. 2 team for the last two polls, slipped to third this week, just 21 points behind Southern California in the balloting of 149 of the nation's sports writers and sportscasters.

If Michigan State gets the nod next week for the eighth straight week of the poll, it will be the first time the Spartans have wound up on top of the heap. Coach Biggie Munn's team, now with 24 straight victories, was voted No. 2 behind Tennessee a year ago.

The 10 leaders on a 10-9-8, etc. basis, first place votes and won, lost, tied records in parentheses:

1. Michigan State (83) (8-0) ... 1,486
2. So. California (24) (6-4) ... 1,224
3. Georgia Tech (30) (10-0) ... 1,223
4. Oklahoma (3) (7-1-1) ... 793
5. UCLA (16-1) ... 758
6. Mississippi (5) (7-0-2) ... 531
7. Notre Dame (6-2-1) ... 514
8. Alabama (1) (8-2) ... 491
9. Tennessee (7-1-1) ... 294
10. Texas (7-2) ... 280

Report McElhenny Causing Dissension On '49ers' Grid Squad

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Times' pro football writer, Frank Finch, says a player on the San Francisco 49ers squad told him the team is torn by dissension and that Hugh McElhenny, brilliant rookie back, is the innocent cause.

"We no longer are a team; we are a bunch of individual stars," Finch says he was told by a 49er player after the Los Angeles Rams had mastered a 35-9 defeat on Coach Buck Shaw's club. Finch did not identify the player.

"A lot of the players resented when Coach Shaw compared McElhenny to George Gipp on a Chicago go television program," Finch quoted the 49er. "Sure, McElhenny is a great player, but some of us think that Joe Perry, the fullback, is the key to our offense. Some of the older players don't like a rookie being called 'the king'."

The San Francisco club looked like a certain winner of the National division title, but the New York Giants, the Chicago Bears and the Los Angeles Rams have overcome Shaw's club and forced it into a four-way tie for first place.

Bowl Plans Conflict With 2 Weddings

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Playing in the Rose Bowl football game New Year's day actually will interfere with the personal plans of two members of the Wisconsin squad, it developed Tuesday.

Not that they mind too much. Fullback Alan Ameche, Kenosha, plans to marry Yvonne Molinaro, also of Kenosha, and Terry Durkin, a guard from Madison, will wed Ramona Brandt, a coed from Cazenovia, Wis. Ceremonies are set for Thanksgiving day.

Both couples originally planned honeymoons after the ceremonies, but because team meetings and practices undoubtedly will get underway Dec. 1, these will have to be curtailed.

'Light Condition' Your Bathroom For Faster, Cleaner Shaving!

NEXT to the razor, lighting is the most important thing in shaving. Light Conditioning helps provide a faster, easier shave by eliminating the usual shadows on the sides of the face, the neck and lower lip. Because you see what you're doing all the time, you're through in about half the time. Important for make-up too.

Best lighting arrangement is a pair of 15 or 20-watt fluorescent tubes mounted 60 inches from the floor, on either side of the mirror. A third fluorescent unit mounted on the ceiling about 12 inches from the wall over the wash stand will chase away the remaining shadows.

Wherever it's used in the home, the purpose of Light Conditioning is to make everyday tasks more pleasant, contribute to easier seeing and eye comfort, and add cheer and beauty.

Start light conditioning your home by getting your free book of home lighting recipes now!

JACK BENDER'S COLUMN - Sport-Log

Last Picks of the Year—

Here we go for the last week of picking probable winners and point spreads.

Top game of the week is the Notre Dame-Southern California pairing. We're picking the Irish by a point, but that probably will jinx them for sure.

The Notre Dame outfit will really be fired up to knock off the No. 2 team in the nation and it has the material to do it.

On the other hand, USC has the Rose Bowl bid cinched and this game will be a slight anti-climax to the season. It may be able to conjure up enough fight to tip the Irish, but we're betting that Notre Dame will have the edge in the final score.

Here are the picks of staffers Dick Mau and Johnny Meyer and myself—

BENDER		MEYER
Notre Dame over USC by 3	Pacific over Marquette by 9	COP	SMU
Navy over Army by 9	SMU over TCU by 7	SMU	Oklahoma
Washington over Wash. St. by 14	Oklahoma over Okla. Aes by 21	Washington	Houston
Georgia Tech over Georgia by 14	Houston over Detroit by 20	Georgia Tech.	Tulsa
Baylor over Rice by 6	Tulsa over Texas Tech by 24	Baylor	Miami
Miami over N. Carolina by 3	VMI over VPI by 18	Miami	Penn
Wake Forest over S. Carolina by 6	Penn over Cornell by 14	Wake Forest	Penn
Colgate over Brown by 6	Colorado over Colorado Aes by 14	Colgate	Colorado
Wyoming over Denver by 6	Tennessee over Vanderbilt by 13	Wyoming	Tennessee
Alabama over Auburn by 18	Mississippi over Miss. State by 13	Alabama	Mississippi

The Iowa Daily Press Association and Des Moines Register and Tribune all-state high school football teams were announced last weekend.

No Iowa City player made any of the IDPA teams although tackle John Larew was named to the Register's third team.

The teams differed mainly at the ends. The IDPA picked Houk of Ames and Marrs of Ft. Dodge while the Register named Verber of Newton and Lee of Roosevelt Cedar Rapids. Houk made the Register's second team and Marrs the third. Lee made the IDPA second team, but Verber made none of the four teams.

Both selections placed Crozier of Knoxville at tackle with the IDPA naming Eckhardt of Mason City and the Register picking Yager of Spirit Lake at the other tackle berth. Eckhardt made the Register's fifth team, while Yager got a second team spot with IDPA.

Both selections rated Johnson of Webster City and Hedrick of Dubuque in the No. 1 guard positions and agreed that Washington's Tween was the top center in the state.

In the backfield, both selections put Roggow of Spencer and Ploen of Clinton in top spots. The IDPA added Hansell of Newton and Conley of Sioux City (Leeds) while the Register named Kendall of Newton and Cooper of Red Oak.

Kendall failed to make any of the IDPA teams while Cooper was a second team choice. Hansell was rated fifth team material by the Register and Conley got on the third team.

All in all, all-state recognition really proves nothing. A player definitely has to be outstanding to make one of the teams, but which team is unimportant except to point out in a scrap book.

Few of the top men from Iowa on this year's Hawk team were all-stars.

The Iowa football team has named tackle Andy Houg as its captain for 1953 to succeed Bill Fenton, who will be a squad member again next year.

Since Ewy last spring initiated the procedure of having a permanent captain instead of a game captain as had been the policy here for many years, only men in professional schools have been named. Fenton is a straight A pre-med student, while Houg, a B student, is in dentistry.

The 195-pound former St. Ansgar high school tailback, suffered a broken collarbone in pre-season drills and saw only limited service early in the season, seeing no action in the Pitt game. He later was hampered by a bad ankle but still became one of the top defensive linemen in the Big Ten.

Former Iowa letterman Dave DeProspero Monday was selected as the most valuable lineman in the Central States professional football league. The 6-foot, 6-inch giant was one of two Waterloo Wildcat players named to the first offensive team.

Center Jerry Ostrander was the other choice. Other ex-Iowa players that competed for Waterloo, the second place finisher behind Minneapolis in the league's Western division, included back Jerry Fiske, linebacker Chuck Denning and guard Ron Fairchild.

Only five of the seven teams in the league were represented on the all-star squad. Champion Wausau, Wis., placed seven players on the two platoons.

The Minneapolis Star reported Tuesday that Paul Giel, Minnesota's inevitable all-America choice for this season, has turned down a professional baseball bonus estimated at $50,000 more or less, in order to finish his college career.

Giel has one more year of collegiate competition.

Thompson Moves Into Iowa Spotlight As Cage Captain

(Note: This is the first of a series of stories about Iowa varsity basketball players.)

Quiet and unobtrusive Herb Thompson, who prefers to do his efficient basketball playing without fanfare, moves into the spotlight this season in spite of his personal wishes.

Herb is captain of Iowa's 1952-53 team, one of the two veteran forwards, and a player likely to score with consistency.

Thompson has been a regular forward since his sophomore year in 1950-51 and last year played a key role in Iowa's great season when the Hawks finished second in the league race and won 19 of 22 games for the entire season.

Value Is Rebounding
Much of Herb's value is in his rebounding. He uses a combination of timing and unusual leg spring to outleap opponents taller than himself. And this season the rebounding skill will be valuable because the team will be giving away a height advantage and will not have 6-8 Chuck Darling to grab about 20 rebounds per game.

The captain is a smooth performer on the court. He makes things look easy. Coach Bucky O'Connor classes Herb as one of the most under-rated players in the league.

"Herb gets the job done in fine fashion, without seeming to be in the spotlight. He is one of those steady boys upon whom a coach always can count for consistent performance. His all-around value to the team is hard to measure and is not reflected in the box score," O'Connor said.

Home in Leland
Thompson's home is in Leland, in north central Iowa. About the time he was ready to enter high school, Leland quit basketball, so Herb attended high school in Forest City, four miles distant.

The move proved to be successful for Thompson and for Forest City. Herb played to all-star honors as a center in 1948 and 1949 and his team competed in the 1949 state tournament.

The Iowa is a 21-year-old senior, majoring in general science. He comes from a farm family and has six sisters and two brothers. Herb wants to coach after he graduates next June.

Illinois Top Thrill
Although he has played in 44 games in Iowa and many more in high school, Thompson rates the Illinois game at Iowa City last season, won by Iowa, 73-68, as his greatest sports thrill. He scored 15 points as Iowa took over first place in the Big Ten race.

In two seasons at Iowa, Thompson has scored 316 points and has been responsible for many other points through feeding teammates.

He will lead the Hawkeyes in their opener next Monday against Butler in the field house. Iowa will be protecting a 54-game home court winning streak against non-conference opponents, the last such defeat occurring Jan. 29, 1942.

Roosevelt Cagers Down Blue Hawks
CEDAR RAPIDS — Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids dumped University high of Iowa City 41-35 here Tuesday night. Gardner Van Dyke, U-high forward, led the scoring for both teams with a total of 15 points.

The Teds grabbed an early lead and were never caught by the Blues. Roosevelt presented a well-balanced attack with reserve forward Jim Bird grabbing scoring honors with 10 points.

Roosevelt was leading by a four point margin at the end of each of the first three periods. The score at halftime stood at 18-14 following a 9-5 count as the initial quarter terminated. The winners held a 30-26 lead at the end of the third quarter.

The Bluehawks' free throw shooting again attributed to their loss. U-high outscored the Roughriders 14-12 from the field, but missed 16 gift shots.

Roosevelt's reserve team won the curtain-raiser from the U-high seconds 55-32.

FULLAM CLEARED
ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Don Fullam, first string tackle suspended for a violation of the Naval Academy code of conduct, was cleared Tuesday to play in this Saturday's Army-Navy football game.

The Academy said Secretary of the Navy Kimball had recommended punishment "short of discharge" for the 21-year-old junior from Bronxville, N.Y.

The nature of Fullam's infraction was never divulged. From unofficial sources it was reported his trouble started when he was questioned about absence from a class formation.

Tulsa Named in Gator Bowl

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Tulsa university, ranked 11th among the country's football teams in the Associated Press Poll, will face the University of Florida in the Gator Bowl New Year's day.

Joe Livingston, sports editor of the Jacksonville Journal and selection committee member, said the Oklahoma team would be signed Friday night to a Gator Bowl contract for the eighth annual game here.

Tulsa has won seven games, lost one and tied one. Florida has a season record of six wins and three defeats with Kentucky still to play Dec. 6.

Tuesday's action completed the lineup for the nation's top five bowls, and the 12 member South-eastern conference is producing five of the competing teams.

Georgia Tech and Mississippi, two conference teams which didn't meet during the season, vie in the Sugar Bowl; Florida, Alabama and Tennessee are the other loop

Air Force Prevents Selling Of Secret Jet Data

AF Photo Technician Accused of Plotting To Deal with Enemy

TOKYO (AP)—Painstaking work by air force investigators prevented S/Sgt. Giuseppe Cascio, a photo laboratory technician accused of plotting to deal with the enemy, from selling secret data on improved Sabre jets, the air force said Tuesday.

The sergeant, a squat 34-year-old Tucson, Ariz., airman who twice won the Distinguished Flying Cross as a bombardier in World War II, was being held by authorities, probably in Japan.

He faces a maximum penalty of life imprisonment if found guilty of the charges — first of their kind involving an American since the start of the Korean war.

A headquarters announcement said that investigators had prevented Cascio from actually transmitting any secret information.

Had Access to Information
As a photo laboratory technician and occasional photographer with the 49th air base group in Korea, he presumably had access to much information.

Maj. Matthew Standhope of Whiteville, N. C., arrested Cascio in Korea Sept. 21 after an investigation dating back to the first week in August, but the arrest was announced only Tuesday.

Standhope said films were included in material Cascio is charged with plotting to sell.

"In my opinion he would have to be intelligent to do the work he did," said Standhope.

A second soldier was arrested at the same time, but was sent to the United States without being charged after a medical examination.

Air Force Discloses

After keeping mum about the case for two months, the air force disclosed Tuesday that Cascio was formally charged with "conspiring to give intelligence to the enemy." No date has been set for court martial.

The air force charged Cascio "did wrongfully offer for sale to unauthorized persons a classified military writing, to wit: a message classified as secret containing flight test data on F86E type aircraft with reason to believe said writing would reach the enemy."

In Tucson, the sergeant's wife, Mrs. Margaret Cascio, said her last letter was received in June.

"Anyone who does anything to undermine his country deserves whatever happens to him," she commented on hearing of his arrest.

Cascio and his wife were divorced but later re-married.

The type "E" Sabre jet has been in Korea for several months, and quickly gained about 10-15 jet used by the Red air force.

Last week Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, U. S. air force chief of staff, disclosed in a Korean press conference that new model Sabres have improved gunights, fuel supplies and are more maneuverable and speedier than earlier types.

Community Chest Drive Is Extended

Short of its goal of $35,240 by 14 per cent, the Iowa City 1953 Community Chest drive is being extended indefinitely in a final effort to fill the quota.

Campaign chairman, Robert F. Ray, said the drive will continue as long as it is believed necessary to try to meet the goal. Ray also said that chest workers will review pledge and donation cards of last year to see if some persons may have missed this year who had contributed previously.

Persons who have had no opportunity to contribute and those who have neglected to return pledge cards in the present drive will be contacted.

Get Better Results

Some of the divisions, although still short of the goal, are attaining more of their quota than in past years.

The Community Chest board of directors, headed by Elbert Beaver, held a meeting Monday to consider steps necessary to try and meet the 1953 goal.

Persons who have not been contacted by Chest workers and wish to contribute, as well as persons who have already contributed, and those who would like to give more are urged to send their contributions to the Chamber of Commerce office, 104 S. Linn st.

United States Steel Corp. Elects Hood To Replace Wilson

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A former Illinois farm boy, Clifford F. Hood of Pittsburgh, Tuesday was elected president of the nation's largest steel producer, United States Steel Corp., effective Jan. 1.

Hood has been executive vice-president of operations of the subsidiary United States Steel company, which will be merged into the parent concern at the beginning of 1953. The parent corporation then will become primarily an operating company.

Hood also was named a director of U.S. Steel Corp., effective immediately, and a member of the finance committee.

Benjamin F. Fairless, now chairman and president, will continue as chairman of the board and chief executive officer of U.S. Steel Corp.

The new president of "Big Steel," Clifford F. Hood, was born on a farm near Monmouth, Ill., in 1894 and attended grade and high schools in that rural area, Fairless' announcement said.

He was graduated from the University of Illinois with a degree in electrical engineering and became associated with Packard Electric company at Warren, O.

He joined the United States Steel organization in 1917 as an operating clerk at the American Steel & Wire plant in Worcester, Mass.

Iowa Family Hopes To All Be Together For 1st Christmas

SEYMOUR (AP)—The Ernest Sager family of Seymour has high hopes that all eight children in the family can be under one roof together for the first time this coming Christmas.

Their hopes were buoyed by the arrival from Japan this week of one son, Cpl. Larry Sager, 20. His surprise arrival after 11 months in Korea came about after he was flown home after being wounded accidentally.

Because the youngest Sager child was born while some of the older sons were serving in the Far East in World War II there has never been a time when all eight children were home at once.

The prospective reunion now hinges only on the ability of Sgt. Jack Sager to get a Christmas furlough from Tacoma, Wash., where he is in the 359th army band.

'Roughshod's' Author Begins New Play

Playwright Arthur Clifton Lamb, G. Muscatine, author of "Roughshod Up The Mountain," an experimental play presented for the first time Nov. 22 and 23 at the SUI theatre, already is busy collecting data for a new play he hopes to start in the near future.

The new play will be biographical in nature, dealing with the life of Ira Aldrich, a famous Negro Shakespearean actor of the 19th century.

Before Lamb can start work on the new play, he will revise "Roughshod Up The Mountain." He doesn't feel that too many revisions are necessary, but the play needs "tightening up" in some spots, he said.

Plans for First Play

Future plans for "Roughshod Up The Mountain" are indefinite now, but Lamb hopes that after revision the play may go on the professional stage. It will be put in the hands of a New York agent and also some persons in Hollywood whom the author is contacting.

In all, the production was considered successful by Lamb and Prof. Edward C. Mable, head of the speech and dramatic arts department and director of the SUI theatre. Mable said, "It was a good venture as a teaching device" but indicated that he also believed it needs "revision and tightening up."

Lamb said that the comments on the play, submitted by both students and the general public, were "more favorable than I expected and generally pointed out weak spots that I already knew existed."

Problems With Casting
Because of casting difficulties, the play was put together in three

Arthur Clifton Lamb
Writing New Play

weeks. An added problem was the inexperience of the performers. The all-Negro cast was made up of a Des Moines waiter, two Iowa City housewives, a shoe repairman and six SUI students. None of them except Lamb, who played the part of Dr. Preston Spears, a preacher, is connected with the dramatic arts department.

The lead role, that of the Rev. Joshua Amos, was played by Jack Smith, who took leave of his job at a Des Moines club more than two weeks ago to come to Iowa City to play the part. Helen Lemme, an Iowa City housewife and official in the local League of Women Voters, played the part of Sister Dove, a faithful church member. Jewel Limar, A4, Alexandria, La., was Bella, the street girl. Leroy Hester, a local shoe repairman, played the part of Norfolk Jones, friend of Amos and associate in his part-time job as a plasterer.

Mrs. Bettye Tate, another local housewife, had the role of Lucy, while John Barr, G. Kansas City, Mo., played the part of Dr. Hubert Kent. "Turtle" was played by Harold Roddy, A4, Indianapolis, Ind.

Main Character Is Preacher

The play is built around the struggles of a preacher who must decide between a passion for his original "storefront" mission and the intellectual religion of a newly acquired congregation. The action takes place in Baltimore, Md., when the Rev. Joshua Amos takes over a beautiful old church building in a Negro neighborhood.

Then Joshua attempts to change himself from an old-fashioned revival-type preacher to a modern, sophisticated minister trying to keep his church despite financial difficulties.

The play involves a young sport who uses Biblical references in a numbers racket, a converted street girl and an embezzling deacon. When the play is finished, Joshua has given up the battle to hold the church and returned to his original way of preaching.

Characters from Real Life
Lamb used many real-life persons as the basis for his characters.
