Federal Jury Plans Probe Of Lattimore

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorney General McGranery announced Tuesday a federal grand jury will investigate Prof. Owen Lattimore, a specialist on Far Eastern affairs who was a central figure in the senate's internal security probe last spring.

Lattimore is director of the school of international relations at Johns Hopkins university in Baltimore. He has been accused by the senate investigators of being an instrument "of the Soviet conspiracy," a charge Lattimore has denied.

After 12 stormy days before the senate internal security subcommittee, during which he called Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) "a graduate witch burner," Lattimore was accused by the subcommittee of having testified falsely on at least five separate matters.

The grand jury proceedings are an outgrowth of the earlier hearing.

McGranery said that after the record of the subcommittee had been studied the FBI was asked to make an investigation of Lattimore, "with special emphasis on matters concerning which he had testified before the subcommittee."

"The FBI investigation has been completed, and I have directed that all of the pertinent facts be given to the grand jury for its consideration and action," the attorney general stated. The case will come before the grand jury Thursday.

The senators examined Lattimore in connection with an inquiry into whether subversive influences at home affected American policy in the Far East after World War II. Lattimore was a prolific writer on Chinese affairs, and for a time he was a state department consultant on the subject.

Birth of Denver Baby By Caesarian Section Shown on Television

DENVER (AP)—The dramatic birth of a baby made history Tuesday night on a nation-wide television network.

It was a boy—Gordon Campbell—third child of John R. and Lillian Kerr of Denver. The child weighed five pounds, seven ounces.

Gordon was born by Caesarian section, an operation that takes the baby from the mother.

All her children, a boy and girl before this, have been born by this method.

The TV show opened with scenes of the delivery room at Colorado General Hospital, University of Colorado Medical School.

The camera switched to let Americans look over the shoulders of doctors and nurses taking care of premature babies, babies being saved more often now by medical science despite early arrival, despite feeble weights and bodies.

But in just a few minutes it flicked back again to the hospital for the moment of the baby's birth.

After the delivery the hospital said "everything went fine."

The operation was a feature of a nation-wide TV show over 49 stations sponsored by a pharmaceutical firm.

A Condensation of Late Developments

SEOUL (AP)—Small 40-man units of grenade-hurling Chinese infantry harassed South Korean defenders of snowy Sniper Ridge Tuesday in the only significant fighting on the bitterly cold Korean front. In the air, a pair of Sabre jet interceptors duelled two Communist MIGs over northwest Korea and shot down one of them. The lull in ground fighting seemed ominous. AP correspondent Robert Euston reported there is no information to indicate a major offensive is being planned by the Reds.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico's new President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines Tuesday night received a "permanent invitation" from President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower to visit the White House after the Jan. 20 inauguration. The invitation was delivered by vice-President-elect Richard Nixon. Here as a member of the U.S. mission and Eisenhower's personal representative at the Mexican presidential inauguration Monday, Nixon met President Ruiz Cortines for the first time Tuesday at the chief executive's home.

VIENNA, AUSTRIA (AP)—Czechoslovakia's foreign trade minister, Dr. Antonin Gregor, has been relieved of his post by President Klement Gottwald, Radio Prague announced Tuesday night. No reason was given. One of Gregor's deputies, Rudolf Margolius, was sentenced last week with 10 other former Czech Communist leaders to hang as anti-Moscow conspirators.

VIENNA, AUSTRIA (AP)—Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.) left Vienna Tuesday for Paris on his month's fact-finding tour of European countries receiving aid from the United States.

Snow Delays Piano Lesson

"PLAYING IN THE SNOW made me thirsty," said Mary Lonsdale, 9, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Edward Lonsdale, 1507 Kirkwood ave., on her way to her piano lesson. Mary's father is an assistant professor of electrical engineering at SUI. Mary and her fourth grade friends at Longfellow school are finding Iowa City's snow wonderful to play in, as well as being a good thirst quencher.

North Africa Turning Moslem, Declares English Missionary

"North Africa today is known as the Land of the Vanished Church," Dr. Robert I. Brown, an English missionary to North Africa, said Tuesday night at an Iowa Christian fellowship meeting.

"North Africa was originally the very cradle of Christianity but today it has become a Moslem stronghold," Brown told the group as he outlined the areas in which he as a Christian missionary had been in contact.

Brown was a member of a team that set up the first Christian mission in Carawan which met with a great deal of violent resistance from the Moslems.

Aid to Free Nations To Continue Says Stassen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harold Stassen, who is to be foreign aid chief in the incoming Republican administration, said Tuesday a President-elect Eisenhower will continue present military, economic and technical aid programs to free nations.

23 Atom Scientists Mark Anniversary Of 1941 Conquest

CHICAGO (AP)—Scientists who first tapped the energy of the atom bomb a decade ago met Tuesday and quietly celebrated their historic conquest.

There was nothing of the tense expectancy which marked the start of the first controlled atomic court underneath the stands at Stagg field at the University of Chicago at 3:25 p.m., Dec. 2, 1942.

It was more of an atmosphere of mingled pride, apprehension and hope.

"Certainly what was done here has staggered and troubled minds of man ever since," said Chancellor Lawrence A. Kimpton of the University of Chicago. Twenty-three of the 42 scientists who were there when the now famous "Chicago pile" was first put into operation attended the anniversary get-together.

Kimpton warned that the threat of an atomic and hydrogen bomb hangs over the world.

"Men everywhere must use all their good will and reason to avert that catastrophe," he said.

Enrico Fermi, the Italian-born physicist who designed the first atomic pile and supervised its test 10 years ago, spoke briefly at the meeting on the squash court.

"We all hope that as time goes on it may become possible to devote more and more activity to peaceful purposes and less and less to the production of weapons," he said.

13 College Teams To Debate Friday At Forensic Meet

Thirteen forensic teams from midwestern colleges will compete in the Big Ten Forensic tournament Friday and Saturday on the SUI campus.

The teams will compete in debate, discussion, public speaking and extemporaneous speaking at Schaeffer hall.

Approximately 58 students will participate in discussions, 52 in debates, 12 in extemporaneous speaking and 11 in public speaking.

Representatives from the Universities of Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota, Missouri, Kansas, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois, Indiana, Wichita, Marquette and from Michigan State and Kansas State colleges will participate in the tournament.

The participants will attend a luncheon Saturday noon in the Union river room.

Prof. Carl A. Dallinger of the department of speech is the tournament manager.

Experiment Ups Blood Transfusion Frequency

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A new blood transfusion technique which may make possible as many as 50 a year from a person instead of the five or six now believed safe was described Tuesday at the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia.

Essentially the technique involves taking only the plasma or liquid portion of the donor's blood, leaving him the red blood cells.

Dr. Joseph Stokes Jr., physician-in-chief at the hospital, said the new method still is in the experimental stage, but when put into

Ike Appointee Hopes to Avoid GOP-Taft Rift

NEW YORK (AP)—George M. Humphrey, President-elect Eisenhower's choice for secretary of the treasury, said Tuesday he hoped the new administration could avoid a rift with Sen. Robert A. Taft, critic of Eisenhower's selection of a secretary of labor.

Humphrey also said the new administration should have good relations with labor.

He commented at Eisenhower's Hotels Commodore headquarters after Taft described as "incredible" the designation of Martin P. Durkin as secretary of labor.

Durkin Asks Changes
Durkin, an AFL official, is a Democrat who supported Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Eisenhower's opponent in the presidential election. Durkin has called for changes in the Taft-Hartley Act authored by the Ohio Republican senator.

Newsmen asked Humphrey, a Cleveland industrialist, what he thought of the Taft statement. Humphrey replied that he had seen only newspaper headlines, then added:

"I hope we haven't started with a rift."

Headquarters Silent
Eisenhower's headquarters was officially silent on the criticism by Taft.

Both Humphrey and another member of Eisenhower's official family, Sinclair Weeks of Boston, designated as secretary of commerce, expressed optimism at the nation's business outlook.

Weeks told newsmen he believed business could be maintained at a high level of activity even if the rearmament program slackens.

It was decorated by members of the Union board, Union subcommittee and the Central Party committee. The tree will be part of the decorations for the formal dance, "Winter Fantasy," to be held Friday.

Jessup to Leave Diplomatic Post Before GOP Takes Over

Old Age Research Station Necessary, Provost Davis Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was made official Tuesday that Dr. Philip C. Jessup, ambassador-at-large and prim target of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, goes out of government service the day before the Republican administration takes over.

President Truman accepted his resignation, effective Jan. 19, with high praise for his services as an international troubleshooter and state department adviser.

Jessup will go back to his faculty post at Columbia university, from which he has been on leave since 1948. There had been no doubt that he would get out of government with or before the change of administration.

McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, has sailed into Jessup repeatedly in his campaign of charges that the state department is influenced by Red sympathizers. Jessup has repeatedly denied the accusations.

Obviously with some of that in mind, Truman wrote the retiring diplomat:

"Your fellow Americans owe you a debt of gratitude for your willingness to interrupt your academic life for public service."

He mentioned Jessup's service as deputy U. S. representative on the United Nations security council and on the interim committee of the general assembly, and his move over to the ambassador-at-large post.

Jessup's letter mentioned that he took only a year's leave from Columbia when he first was named a deputy to the UN in January, 1948.

The resignation was dated Oct. 16, just after Truman appointed Jessup to his most recent post as alternative representative to the UN general assembly meeting.

The research idea, he said, is patterned after the famous Iowa Child Welfare research station, which for 35 years has scientifically investigated the conservation and development of the normal child.

Davis explained that the new Iowa Institute of Gerontology will deal with medical problems, including hygiene, preventive medicine and medical care, both home and institutional.

The institute will study social problems including recreation, housing, religion and family life. If this program is adopted, it will bring together various SUI units now working on problems of aging and would also work with other interested organizations and agencies in the state, Davis said.

A conference was held at SUI Nov. 18 and 19, attended by more than 100 Iowans and national experts, which pointed out the need for better gerontology programs.

Polk County Official Criticizes WOI-TV For Cigarette Ads

DES MOINES (AP)—Polk County's chief juvenile probation officer Tuesday criticized the Iowa State college television station for showing a cigarette advertisement in which college students were asked their cigarette brand preference.

In a letter to station WOI-TV at Ames, Carl Parks said:

"Inasmuch as most college students are minors, this part of the program is in defiance, indirectly of course, of our Iowa statute prohibiting the furnishing of tobacco to minors.

"Advertising of this kind shows that the tobacco companies are experimenting to see how much opposition they may expect from the public if they undertake an open campaign to sell cigarettes to the high school and college group."

Parks said he wrote the letter because "while the smoking itself isn't a problem, the implications of so many youngsters disregarding the law is."

He said the same disregard for the law against cigarette purchases by minors is starting to become a problem with reference to beer drinking.

Davenport Woman Fractures Wrist At Short Course

Mrs. Isabelle Wilson, 59, Davenport, who was attending the SUI short course in laundering, fractured her wrist Tuesday afternoon when she slipped on ice in front of the University laundry, 20 N. Gilbert st.

Elton Rinehart, Marion, also attending the course, took Mrs. Wilson to the University hospital, where a cast was put on her wrist. She was sent to the women's orthopedic ward for the night.

X-rays will be taken of her wrist today after which she will probably be released, hospital authorities said.

Mrs. Wilson was going to a demonstration at the University laundry when the accident occurred. She is the assistant manager of a children's home in Davenport.

Declares ISC Is Becoming 2d University

Charges that Iowa State college is becoming "a second state university" in violation of Iowa's constitution were made Tuesday by the head of the SUI Alumni association L. C. Bagley of Audubon.

In an open letter to the alumni organization's board of directors and its council, Bagley asserted that "through an abundance of state and federal support, the state college is expanding into a second state university."

The Ames institution, in effect, is invading some of the fields which properly belong to SUI, he said.

SUI and Iowa State college officials refused comment Tuesday night on Bagley's letter.

State Can't Afford It
The state of Iowa "cannot afford and did not intend to have" one university established by law and another existing illegally but in fact, Bagley went on.

The state college expansion is being made possible, Bagley noted, because "for a good many years" the state legislature has appropriated "approximately equal amounts" for both schools, but that sums from the federal government to Iowa State far exceeded those received by SUI.

Bagley called the equal distribution of funds between SUI and the state college unfair because such subjects as medicine, dentistry, law, pharmacy and graduate work cannot be taught on the same budget as many other fields of education.

Bias Illegal Expansion
"Parity in state support, when coupled with several million dollars of federal support, creates a vast sum at the state college from which has come illegal expansion in teaching and most likely some capital expenditures," Bagley added.

He cited figures to show that in the 1951-52 fiscal year Iowa State college received $4,988,822 in federal funds while SUI got $796,245 in federal money in the same period.

SUI alumni were urged in the letter to ask their legislators "why the university is not adequately sustained," why it is not being "adequately provided with teaching space," and why the state board of education is not given custody of all federal funds for higher educational purposes in Iowa.

Larson Sees Signs Of Gambling Return

DES MOINES (AP)—Several factors that have developed recently indicate that gamblers are trying to make a comeback in Iowa, Atty. Gen. Robert L. Larson said Tuesday.

The attorney general said he had reason to believe that gamblers are making a "determined effort" to get a new foothold in the state.

Mason Ladd, of the SUI law school, spoke to the convention on confessions obtained in criminal cases.

"The greatest sign of an officer's weakness is when he tries to get a confession wrongly," Ladd said. "Anyone who is going to abuse a person's rights under the constitution shouldn't be an officer."

I like to think of the body of proof being strong enough so that you have a case that will stand a good chance when presented to the jury regardless of the confession," he said. "All confessions must be corroborated."

State Officials Approve MVA Basin Plan

OMAHA (AP) — Missouri Basin governors have put their tentative okay on a unique federal-state Missouri river basin compact hailed by James Landis, former dean of the Harvard law school, as a "great idea."

The compact is an unprecedented governmental setup under which states and the federal government would have equal force in planning and reviewing the multi-billion dollar water resources development program now in progress in the basin.

Dean Landis, one of the consultants in drafting it, said it sets up "a community which will not be a government of and by its own."

Sharpe Gives Approval
Former Gov. M. Q. Sharpe of South Dakota termed it an "antidote for an MVA (Missouri Valley authority)."

The MVA, patterned after the Tennessee Valley authority is one of several systems proposed for giving over-all direction to the giant program of dam and reservoir building, not only in the construction stage but in the operational phase.

The compact approach was first suggested by the Missouri River states committee, made up of governors and two other representatives of each of the 10 Missouri basin states. The actual research was done by the Council of State Governments with the aid of consultants.

Considers Compact
In a year-end meeting here Monday, the states committee gave a paragraph-by-paragraph consideration of the compact, made several revisions and tentatively approved it as revised.

The compact must be approved by legislatures of participating states and by the congress before enactment.
Gov. Sigurd Anderson of South Dakota, elected as new chairman of the committee, was instructed to bring the compact to the attention of appropriate congressional committees and federal representatives in an effort to determine how acceptable it is.

Iowa Could Join
Essentially, the compact sets up a Missouri states commission with powers to plan, review and recommend. Seven primary states would be represented with one commissioner apiece — Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Montana and Wyoming. In addition, Minnesota, Iowa and Colorado, with lesser areas within the basin, could belong or not as they pleased.

The federal government would have three to five commissioners. Votes would be weighted so state and federal blocs would have equal strength.

Each State Represented
The tentative draft of the compact provided for one member of the commission from each basin state — Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Colorado, Wyoming and Montana — with Iowa, Minnesota and Colorado members having one half the voting weight of the other states.

County Attorneys Hear Discussion Of Iowa 'Key Clubs', Bingo Games

DES MOINES (AP) — The county attorneys of Iowa Monday heard the latest word on "key" clubs, bingo games and liquor bottles with seals broken at the opening sessions of their three-day convention.

Key clubs and bingo games are illegal; liquor bottles in automobiles which have broken seals are legal, it was brought out.

But there are big "ifs" attached to all three items as discussions at a panel session brought out.

Sheriffs Included
Also meeting here and scheduled for some joint sessions with the attorneys is the Iowa State Sheriffs' association with 92 members registered.

At the panel discussion "Problems of the County Attorney," the first question asked was "What is a key club?"

The problem was referred to Clyde Herring, Polk county attorney, who said:

"A key club is a place where they have lockers, cubby holes or bins to store liquor. They (the operators) have given the key club an aura of legality on an illegal proposition."

"It is a question of whether the club is a legal private club or not. Polk county is possibly the home of key clubs," he added.

Discuss Country Clubs
Clarence A. Kading, assistant attorney general, answered a question about the legality of a country club with a beer permit storing a member's liquor in a locker.

Panel member Robert N. Johnson of Fort Madison said:

"The owner of the liquor is the individual club member. It is merely incidental that he keeps it at the club. The legislature did not intend to deprive country clubs of beer permits with the wording of the law."

Attorney General Robert L. Larson, a participating spectator, concurred with Johnson's opinion.

Kading said a "key club or key hole club as they have been called" violates the law that bans consumption of liquor in a public place.

Difference in Clubs
"If it is simply an individual profit scheme under a dummy front to mislead law enforcement officers then it is an illegal key club," Herring added.

"They have no ethics about trying a person in the newspapers even before arraignment," Smedal said. "Or they'll hold a press conference while the sheriff is out arresting the person accused."

Smedal said that too many county attorneys act as though their standing in the community depended on the number of scalps on their belt.

Favors Grand Jury Evidence
Smedal said he favors presentation of evidence to a grand jury rather than using a county attorney's information, other things being equal.

Emery, in a short talk, said: "Gambling is where you have to pay something for an opportunity to win a prize. Merchandise promotions where tickets are given for purchases and a drawing for prizes is held are illegal."

DES MOINES (AP) — Ex-price boss Michael V. DiSalle said Monday he doesn't believe any part of the government's controls program should be junked — at least right now. He advocated continuing a gradual process of price decontrol.

DiSalle said he may change his mind after a two-week study he is starting for economic stabilizer Roger L. Putnam.

Putnam, appearing at a news conference with the former price stabilizer, made clear that DiSalle's opinion will carry lots of weight in what he recommends to President Truman.

The DiSalle-Putnam news conference came at about the same time Representative Spence (D-Ky.), coming from a visit with Truman, told reporters the administration should leave the future of all controls to the Republicans. Spence said he talked this over with the President.

Meanwhile, the office of price stabilization issued an order suspending retail and wholesale price ceilings on almost all men's clothing.

The new decontrol order lifts controls at once from men's suits, overcoats, hats, sport clothing, underwear, shirts, pajamas, sweaters and work clothing.

It also applies to furnishings and accessories, including neckties, scarves, handkerchiefs, gloves, suspenders, bathrobes, etc.

OPS said it acted because yarns and fabrics used in producing apparel have been selling 20 to 25 per cent below ceilings which were suspended earlier this year.

Saar Election Intensifies French-German Tensions

By J. M. ROBERTS JR. Associated Press News Analyst

The Saar, with its strong German natural ties, has elected a new parliament favorable to continuation of the small industrial state's present semi-autonomy in economic unity with France.

There were so many angles to the voting that, even on the basis of complete returns, the American state department was reserving comment. The U. S. had been accused during the campaign of being strangely uninterested in the implications of an election where the pro-German parties were not permitted places on the ballot and could register their views only by casting invalid or blank votes.

93 Per Cent Voted
Yet only about one-fourth of the eligibles did this. And 93 per cent of the eligibles went to the polls. None could say for sure that the pro-German showing would have been much better if they had been able to conduct a positive instead of negative campaign.

Observers who had watched as the issues were presented were quick to estimate that the vote was actually a little longer-range than indicated by the mere decision to maintain the status quo.

It was also seen as a vote for a period of waiting until Saarlanders could see what would happen to the proposal, vaguely agreed upon in principle but not in detail by some leaders in both France and Germany, for an internationalized autonomous Saar within a European confederation.

Interim Nature Counts
This interim nature of the voting and the fact that it was a parliamentary election, with other than international issues, must be one of the chief considerations in attempting to evaluate it. It was nothing like the vote held after World War I, with a direct choice between France and Germany, which Germany won. But the ruthless German regime which followed then, and the war it produced, may have been in the minds of some of the Saarlanders on Sunday.

That business of autonomy, which now plays such an overwhelming role in the actions of peoples all over the world who are dominated by greater powers, also may be a factor in the Saar. Such autonomy as is enjoyed under the French is a very nebulous thing, but there is the form and some of the benefits.

Consolidation Might Improve
The prospects under a European confederation might look even better, even though the one million Saarlanders are not likely to have much control over their war-vital industry in any event.

In some ways, the vote may foster the European federation idea, making it seem more essential than earlier. More immediately, however, it intensifies the differences between France and Germany and makes more difficult the agreements by which the Allies seek to bring Germany into the European defense community.

America's Northern Border Provides Door For Reds, AP Reports

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here is a report by Elton C. Fay, Associated Press military affairs reporter, on the American defensive position in the Arctic. It is based on official disclosures and Fay's own visits to Alaska, Greenland and surrounding areas.

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP) — A frozen stretch of virtually undefended sea and wasteland 1,500 miles across the top of the North American continent provides a vast entrance to any Russian bombers aimed at the United States.

A radar screen set up by the United States and Canada might detect any attackers, but there are few if any bases across this arc from which interceptor planes in substantial numbers could strike at an enemy.

Air and ground bases which so far have been set up against any Soviet invasion across the icecap are centered in Alaska in the Northwest and in Greenland, Labrador and Newfoundland in the Northeast. There is a second line of defense farther down in Canada and in the United States.

Seen by Newsmen
That is the picture presented in official disclosures and visits by newsmen to U. S. bases in the northland.

Secretary of the air force Finletter told a congressional committee earlier this year that new fighter bases were needed abroad to protect strategic bombers and their bases. Speaking generally, he mentioned no specific bases or countries.

In Greenland, there are three American-operated air bases, all widely separated and leaving the East Greenland coast uncovered. Building of any new bases or rehabilitation of old World War II fields would require approval from Denmark, which governs Greenland.

Rumors Are Qualified
There were rumors early last month of U. S. plans to establish more Greenland bases, but diplomatic sources in both Washington and Copenhagen insisted on the improvement of one field now in operation in southeast Greenland.

In Alaska, where the U. S. is next door to Russia, there is a system of major and secondary airfields plus bases for ground troops to defend them. The forces manning them are small but they could be strengthened quickly by flying planes and men from the United States.

State Asks Report On Police Radios

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa executive council has asked the state police radio system to submit a written report this week on the performance of 200 mobile radio sets about which there have been complaints.

When the report is ready the council will meet the representatives of the system to make a final decision on whether to keep the Radio Corporation of America sets in state highway patrol cars. Patrol and radio system spokesmen have repeatedly said the sets are not satisfactory.

The $85,000 purchase about two years ago was followed several months ago by purchase of 60 Motorola and General Electric sets.

Gov. William S. Beardsley said the state radio system was expected to include in its report a comparison of the performance of the RCA, Motorola and GE sets.

Mediation Board Acts to End Airline Engineers' Strike

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A strike of 160 flight engineers grounded the Eastern Air Lines fleet of Constellation planes east of the Mississippi Tuesday and the national Mediation board went into action immediately in an effort to end it.

E. C. Thompson, secretary of the board, urged the engineers in a telegram to return to their jobs and permit handling of the dispute "in an orderly manner."

A short time later, Leverett Edwards, a member of the mediation board, flew to Miami and went into a conference with a committee of flight engineers. He said he would try to get them to go back to work quickly.

Members of the Flight Engineers International Association (AFE) quit at 6 a.m. after several weeks of fruitless contract negotiations.

Pickets marched at some airports. Eastern service at a dozen major points between New York and St. Louis and from Boston to Miami was affected.

In New York, Sidney R. Carter, a spokesman for the flight engineers, said that four months of talks had failed to produce a satisfactory pay agreement. He said engineers had been accepting their checks "under protest" since a contested arbitration last spring.

The strike grounded only the big Constellations, since these are the only Eastern planes carrying flight engineers.

Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, Eastern's president, said the engineers now get from $5,160 to $8,160 annually for 85 hours of flying a month. He said the company offered $5,700 to $9,000, the same wage scale the union recently accepted from National Air Lines and Transworld Air Lines.

Mrs. Truman Greets Mrs. Eisenhower

Mrs. Truman, Mrs. Eisenhower Meet To Discuss White House Problems

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's first lady and the lady who will succeed her had a private chat Monday about the problems of running the White House—just as their husbands talked over world problems two weeks ago.

Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, at Mrs. Harry Truman's invitation came down by train from New York and spent an hour and a half going through the historic mansion at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue. She and her husband will move in after the inauguration Jan. 20.

The room that seemed to interest Mrs. Eisenhower the most was a playroom on the recently remodeled third floor. The three Eisenhower grandchildren, when they come to visit, will be the first youngsters to romp in this new room.

Two First Ladies Meet
Mamie Eisenhower and her secretary, Mary Jane McCaffree, were driven up to the north portico entrance—that's the one on Pennsylvania avenue—in a sleek black limousine. They were met by Mrs. Truman.

The two women greeted each other cordially—they've known each other many years—as they repeatedly shook hands for photographers. In her friendly manner Mrs. Truman asked Mamie how she was feeling.

"Fine," replied Mamie, and Mrs. Truman said: "You look wonderful."

Other Visits Made
Mrs. Eisenhower has been to the White House to official functions when her husband was stationed in Washington on military duties. The last time probably was an army and navy reception held just before the White House was closed in November, 1948, for renovation. But then she was only one of more than 1,000 guests.

Mrs. Eisenhower was a member of a small group of wives of officials who several years ago gathered with Mrs. Truman at the White House to study Spanish. The class met in a room on the ground floor looking out on the south lawn. In these days it is doubtful if Mamie ever thought of the place as her future "home."

Mrs. Truman took Mamie into her sitting room which is decorated in shades of amethyst, green and ivory, and the two women sat down for a few words. What about? "All housewives talk the same language," Mamie laughingly told reporters later.

House Tour Conducted
Then Mrs. Truman showed Mrs. Eisenhower and Mrs. McCaffree through most of the house. It was the first time Mrs. Eisenhower had seen it since the renovation, finished last March, and the first time she had seen the living quarters. She summed up her impressions as "delightful."

Custom gives the presidential family leeway in decorating and furnishing their own quarters. Mamie, who likes to redecorate a home and as an army wife has had plenty of experience, will likely make some changes next time the painters are called in.

Federal Jury Claims Disloyal Americans Have Infiltrated UN

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal grand jury charged Tuesday that dangerously disloyal Americans have infiltrated the United Nations beneath a cloak of State Department approval.

Many of these Americans, the jury said, moved from one U.S. government post to another and finally landed in the international organization as part of a "definite planned pattern."

The state department was accused of blocking any inquiry as to why it gave a clean bill of health to "flagrant and obvious cases of disloyalty."

Schiller Balks
The bitter critique came during a day which saw the United Nations' American-born archivist in Europe, Irving P. Schiller, balk at telling a senate inquiry whether he ever in the past was a Communist.

Schiller added, however, that he is not now a Communist.
Thus Schiller joined the parade of nearly a score of American U.N. employees who have refused to tell the senate internal security subcommittee whether they ever were Communists.

The grand jury's presentment was the latest in a series of attacks on the U.N. for harboring American Reds. The senate subcommittee has said it will ask congress to take action. On one occasion, the subcommittee demanded that the UN either purge such employees or get out of this country.

Asks Careful Screening
The grand jury also asked for a more careful screening of Americans who are prospective UN employees.

The grand jury's statement said: "Almost without exception . . . subversive employees with the United Nations were formerly employed in various departments of our own federal government."
"They were transferred from one federal department to another, finally ending up in key positions in the United Nations."

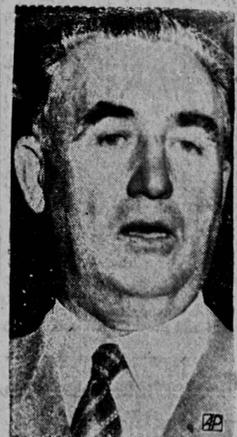

It appeared, the jury said, that the situation was not "co-incidental" but part of a "definite, planned pattern."

Surround Themselves
"It appears to result from the contrivance of certain highly placed officials who have surrounded themselves in each government agency, and then in the United Nations, with personnel who share their disloyal convictions," the statement said.

The grand jury set out about 16 months ago to investigate subversives. It said it first got interested in the UN when a witness in a possible spy case turned out to be a responsible UN official.

The jury, which questioned more than 100 witnesses during its existence, said evidence established that some U. S. citizens at the UN "have records of criminal arrests and convictions."
"One highly-placed official admitted that he had been convicted on a morals charge. At least two others in policy-making positions had arrest records involving their participation in Communist-sponsored demonstrations."

New Eisenhower Appointees Show Surprise, Determination

Martin P. Durkin Voted Stevenson

WASHINGTON (AP)—Martin P. Durkin, secretary of labor-designate in the Eisenhower cabinet, is a Democrat who voted for Adlai E. Stevenson for president.

Durkin, 58-year-old head of the AFL plumbers union, told reporters that in the circumstances he was surprised that President-elect Eisenhower chose him for the labor post.

But he said he is happy to serve under the Republican President and believes Eisenhower will give "full and complete consideration to the problems of labor."

Durkin said he anticipates that the labor department will be rebuilt and enlarged with functions transferred from other agencies.

See Amended Taft-Hartley
He declared also that he believes the Taft-Hartley act, whose repeal labor has demanded for five years, can be "amended to the satisfaction of labor."

Durkin, originally from Chicago, was Illinois director of labor for eight years under both Democratic and Republican governors. He became president of the AFL Plumbers and Pipefitters' union in 1943.

His union has headquarters here, and Durkin's home is at Chevy Chase, Md., where he is a registered Democrat.

Supported AFL Endorsement
On the point of his political affiliation, he told a news conference: "I not only voted for Stevenson, but I supported the American Federation of Labor in endorsing Stevenson's candidacy at the AFL convention."

As to the surprise of his appointment, he said he had had "no official notice at all" of his designation when it was announced by Eisenhower's headquarters.

While Durkin was holding the news conference, he received a telephone call from Eisenhower's New York headquarters advising him of his selection.

Sinclair Weeks 'A Job to Be Done'

BOSTON (AP)—Sinclair Weeks, appointed secretary of commerce Monday in President-elect Eisenhower's cabinet, has been a power in Massachusetts Republican affairs for nearly two decades and on the national scene since 1940.

The 59-year-old industrialist, a former Massachusetts senator, said he felt "honored" by the cabinet nomination "particularly in the commerce department where such experiences as I have had in business may perhaps enable me to help make the new administration the success it is bound to be."

"There is a job to be done, and I shall do it to the best of my ability."

Was a Senator
Weeks was nominated to the senate early in 1944 by then Gov. Leverett Saltonstall to fill temporarily the seat left vacant when Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. entered the army.

He returned to private life Dec. 18, 1944 after Saltonstall was elected to complete Lodge's term. Most of the new secretary's national renown came as a member of the Republican national committee, a post he has held since 1940.

Served as Treasurer
He served as treasurer from 1941 to 1944 and was named to head the GOP fund raising committee in 1949. He still holds the position of national finance committee chairman.

Weeks was graduated from Harvard university in 1914 and entered the banking field. He currently is chairman of the board of directors of Reed and Barton corporation of Taunton and the United-Carr Fastener corporation of Cambridge.

He was one of Dwight D. Eisenhower's earliest backers in the latter's campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

His initial statement in support of the general caused a stir in GOP circles for it urged Sen. Robert Taft, Eisenhower's chief opponent, to retire from the field.

Management Course Is Latest Addition To AFROTC Program

The air force management course is the latest phase of the AFROTC program of leadership training currently being offered SUI seniors. The course is one of six studies in the program which is the first of its kind offered in any university throughout the United States. Three hours credit is received for the overall program open only to advanced air force students.

One third of the seniors in the training system received the course during October; the second third in November and the remaining third in December and January.

Lt. Col. R. W. Joiner, a member of the SUI AFROTC staff, conducts the course which meets three times each school year.

The course, in addition to familiarizing cadets with the principles of effective management, emphasizes to potential officers that the air force must continue its effort to reduce waste and realize that air strength rests on highly trained personnel.

Col. George A. Bosch, professor of air science and tactics at SUI commented, "If our future officers realize now that a conservation of our available resources is necessary for effective operation, the effectiveness of this program will be enhanced when the officers start active duty with the air force and personally become responsible for a part of that conservation program."

Nunan more or less forecast his own indictment last May when he refused to answer questions about his personal income. A house subcommittee lawyer asked him if he thought there were "any possible crimes for which you could be indicted."

"Yes, sir, I think there are," Nunan replied.

A Brooklyn grand jury, investigating his affairs at the time, bore him out with Tuesday's indictment.

Unearth Many Scandals
Nunan appeared before a house ways and means subcommittee that unearthed a long string of scandals that cost the jobs of a number of internal revenue officials. The subcommittee was headed by Representative King (D-Calif.).

The subcommittee got little tangible evidence from Nunan during its tax scandal hearings last spring. He refused to answer most of its questions.

Nunan was called by the subcommittee after treasury agents reported he received $161,000 in unexplained income between 1945 and 1950 that he hadn't report on his income tax returns.

The Brooklyn indictment said Nunan made $543,396 between the years 1946-1950 and should have paid $291,523 in taxes.

Instead, it was alleged, Nunan reported income of $414,144 and paid taxes of only $200,437.

Ex-Revenue Chief Indicted On Tax Count

NEW YORK (AP)—Joseph D. Nunan Jr., the nation's former chief tax collector, was indicted Tuesday on charges of income tax dodging amounting to $91,086.

He quit as head of the internal revenue bureau in 1947 and went back into private law practice. The indictment covers the years 1946 through 1950.

For nearly four years before he left his government job, Nunan bossed hundreds of tax agents who collected billions and engineered stern crackdowns on any citizens who withheld taxes.

Target of a house subcommittee tax scandal probe earlier this year, Nunan faces a maximum of 25 years in prison and $25,000 in fines if convicted on all five counts of the tax dodging indictment.

He was not available for comment. His office and his home both reported his whereabouts unknown.

Lesson Plans Ready for Bindery

6,500 Students Now Enrolled In Correspondence Study Here

By NANCY BARKER

Last year 6,500 students enrolled at SUI for more than 200 courses offered through the Bureau of Correspondence Study. This bureau, part of the Extension Division, offers courses in 22 departments of five university colleges including liberal arts, graduate, education, engineering and commerce.

There is an increasing trend for university students, who leave school for a time or find it necessary to make up some work, to take correspondence study.

Undergraduates make up 25 per cent of the total enrollment while the United States Armed Forces Institute has 12 per cent. Housewives make up 8 per cent, graduate students 4 per cent, library workers 1 per cent and miscellaneous employments in the business world 50 per cent.

Have Academic Nature
The bureau offers 537 semester hours, most of which are academic in nature rather than courses which require a laboratory.

A student may only take 30 hours in order to obtain his degree, and the last 30 hours must be completed in residence at the university. A graduate student may take six hours of correspondence courses.

A registration fee of two dollars is required the first time a student enrolls with the bureau. A course fee is assessed at the rate of six dollars per semester hour for students living in Iowa and a fee of eight dollars per semester hour is levied for out of state enrollment.

Lessons Sent Immediately
Lessons are sent to students as soon as registration is completed. Each lesson contains instruction, questions and references for the student. The instructor in charge of the course returns the assignments, explanations and suggestions to the student that are needed. Each hour of credit usually has eight assignments.

All exams are sponsored and proctored by a school official or minister in the student's hometown or city. To insure fairness, the tests are sent to, given by and sent back to the school by these designated officials.

Reference books for the courses are obtained from the extension library in the university library. Students are expected to buy their texts.

3,500 Books Mailed
Every year 3,500 to 4,000 books are mailed out by Miss Sybil Woodruff, who is in charge of the extension library. During the months of June, July and August about one-half of these books are mailed out and the remainder are sent out the following nine months.

Any book which Miss Woodruff does not have in stock is borrowed from some other part of the library system.

Test kits for the education courses, Reading Readiness and Beginning Reading, are sent out about 300 times a year. About 46 per cent of the people enrolled in correspondence studies are in education.

Have Service Contract
The bureau has a contract with the United States Armed Forces Institute which allows service personnel under special conditions to take correspondence courses.

The enrollments tend toward credits in psychology, political science, sociology and mathematics. Most servicemen use correspondence courses to pick up hours toward their degrees which they were working for before entering the armed forces.

Aliens who are working to secure their citizenship papers are offered a course in citizenship by the bureau. A government sponsored course, the texts and materials for the course are furnished at a very small fee. A total of 126 people enrolled last year.

Mostly Iowa Students
Two thirds of last year's enrollment were residents of Iowa. Foreign countries represented in the correspondence studies were India, South Africa, France, Egypt, Mexico, Japan, Peru, Ecuador, Brazil, Canada and the Canal Zone.

Prof. John L. Davies, director of correspondence study, believes that a student is required to study more and crystallize more thought in writing lessons. He felt that grades were well earned because the student has to get all the material for himself; nevertheless, the student misses the personal comments of a professor in class.

Western Bloc Defeats Red's Ceasefire Bid

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Western bloc Tuesday soundly beat down Russia's stubborn drive in the UN political committee for an immediate Korean ceasefire, with negotiations to come later.

The committee, virtually exhausted after more than a month's argument, then suspended all talk on Korea until it hears Communist reaction to an Indian peace plan it approved Monday night.

Only the five Soviet bloc countries voted for the immediate cease fire. Forty-one countries, including the United States, Britain, France and Nationalist China, opposed it. Twelve countries abstained.

Little hope is held here that Red China and North Korea will accept the peace proposals approved by the committee. Representatives of the West said, however, that they wanted to make the attempt regardless of almost certain rejection.

An American spokesman expressed satisfaction with the huge vote for the Indian plan in the committee. It had been amended to make it acceptable to the West, especially, Western sources said, to make certain there would be no forced repatriation of prisoners of war if its terms are finally accepted.

The general assembly is expected to give quick approval to the committee's resolution on Korea.

The next move after that action would be for the assembly president, Lester B. Pearson of Canada, to dispatch it to Peiping and Pyongyang as a basis for what the committee called a just settlement of the prisoner of war problem.

State Unit Requests Reach $500,000
DES MOINES (AP)—Increased appropriations being asked by Iowa state government departments Tuesday approached the half million dollar mark over legislative appropriations of two years ago.

Gov. William S. Beardsley, who is conducting budget hearings on which to base his financial recommendations to the 1953 Iowa legislature, said it was apparent that costs were up due to inflation and that the problem of state government expense will have to be met by careful management.

Eleven of the 50 state agencies that will present their budget askings were heard Tuesday.

The first big requests will come Thursday when the state board of education makes its recommendations.

The total of requests made by the 11 agencies heard is around $1,100,000 as compared with previous legislative grants of a little more than $1,600,000.

WSUI to Broadcast 10th Jeffersonian Program Tonight

The tenth episode of the Jeffersonian Heritage series, "The University of the United States," will be heard tonight at 7:30 over the University broadcasting station, WSUI.

The new Jefferson play illustrates the founding of the University of Virginia and dwells on the application of selective tests in higher education. The story tells how Thomas Jefferson, in his later years, fought for universal public education.

Starring the noted picture actor, Claude Rains, as Thomas Jefferson, the Jeffersonian Heritage series is an adult education project of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters.

With the Heritage series now more than two-thirds through its total number of 13 broadcasts, Seymour N. Siegel, president of the NAEB, described the reaction of radio listeners to the Jefferson episodes as "little short of sensational."

Reception of the series, Siegel said, had proved the very great need for mature, well-thought out, yet entertaining programs such as NAEB sponsors.

Navy Plans Include Super Air-Carrier

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Lovett said Tuesday the new defense department budget would include money for the navy to start construction of a third super aircraft carrier.

He made the statement in answering news conference questions about the prospects of beginning work on another 60,000-ton flat-top. The budget includes the department's spending requests for the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

The navy now has work underway on one giant carrier, the Forrestal, and the keel for a second, the Saratoga, is to be laid this month.

Big 10 Coaches Pick Illinois; Brace for 18-Game Loop Card

CHICAGO (AP) — Big Ten basketball coaches are braced for a more wide open race under the new expanded 18-game conference schedule this season, but they still think Illinois can't be blocked from the title.

They peg Indiana and Minnesota as chief contenders for the Illinois title in a campaign that could be rife with upsets.

Some coaches predict that the eventual champion will suffer three or four defeats in the new schedule which pits each club against another twice on a home-and-home basis.

Although most agree that the addition of four more conference games could eliminate schedule breaks and provide a "true champion," Coach Bill Perigo of Michigan dissents.

Stronger Teams
"Rather than make the race more wide open, I would think it would make the teams that are loaded even more stronger," said Perigo who marked his Big Ten coaching debut with an 80-72 victory over Marquette Monday night.

Harry Combes of the defending champion Illinois said the new schedule could be a leveling factor in the title race.

14-4 Could Win
"Most teams go in streaks and the addition of four more league games, two of which must be on the road, might wreck chances of any club," he observed. "No team is likely to go unbeaten and 14-4 could win."

Here is how some other coaches look at the title race:

Floyd Stahl, Ohio State: "Nine road games will be the big equalizer. In the past, some clubs didn't meet the better teams on the road and could ease into the title. My only regret about the schedule is that it eliminates some of the traditional inter-sectional rivalries, since only four non-conference games are permitted."

Pete Newell, Michigan State: "The 18 games will make for more pressure on both coaches and players. We won't be able to experiment much. It means you'll have to get your team together early and stand or fall flat with it."

Opposes Schedule
Bucky O'Connor, Iowa: I voted for the new schedule, but now believe I made a mistake. We open on Dec. 13 against Michigan, and that's mighty early to get a team ready for a strenuous conference schedule like this."

Bud Foster, Wisconsin: "The race should be more open, with splits on the home-and-home schedule being one of the main factors to consider."
Ozzie Cowles, Minnesota: "For the first time we'll get a truly representative champion team. Having fewer non-league games can't make any difference in getting your team ready for conference competition because each club is in the same situation."

MOORE TO SCOUT
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Terry Moore, veteran St. Louis Cardinal center fielder and Card coach for the past three years, Tuesday was named a scout by the Philadelphia Phillies. Moore, 40, will cover St. Louis, southern Illinois, southern Iowa, eastern Kansas and Missouri for the Phils. Joe Reardon, head of the Phils' minor league organization made the announcement.

'Little' All-American Choices Announced; ISTC Center Named

NEW YORK (AP) — Players from 22 different colleges were named Tuesday to the Associated Press' "little all-America football team for 1952.

That "little" refers only to the size of the enrollment at the college of the player's choice—schools that sometimes are overlooked by selectors of All-America football teams.

Two of the first string players, halfback Ralph Dimicco of Alfred and tackle Chester Lagod of Chattanooga, are repeaters from the 1951 aggregations.

Among the other chosen players is Al Conway, erstwhile end at the U.S. Military Academy, who went to William Jewell college in Missouri following the cribbing scandal. As a halfback there he became the nation's leading scorer with 133 points.

Offensive Backs
In the offensive backfield with Dimicco and Conway are Don Gottlob of Sam Houston State in Texas, and Steve Trudnak, the 195-pound fullback of the unbeaten Lenoir-Rhyne team. Gottlob is the country's leading ground gainer. In nine games he passed for 2,325 yards and ran for an additional 145.
In the line are ends Joe Kirven

Dressen Signs $35,000 Pact

of Presbyterian, and Tony Chambers of Massachusetts.

Robert Lade, a 208-pounder from unbeaten Peru, Neb., Teachers, is at one tackle, while Tom Fann of Tennessee Tech occupies the other berth. Lade helped the Nebraska Tutors to a string of 10 straight victories this season.

ISTC Places Bohnsack
Lou Bohnsack, pivot for Iowa State Teachers, was chosen center. Pete Swanson of Whitworth college and Jodie Connell of Jacksonville, Ala., Teachers are at the guards.

Connell was the star of his team although he has but one hand. He lost his left arm between the wrist and elbow when 10 years old in a swing accident. But this year he was the running guard for the Teachers team, did much of the blocking, the kicking off, and converted some of the team's touchdowns. He intercepted several passes.

Defense
On the defensive unit is tackle Cal Roberts of Gustavus-Adolphus, winner of a similar berth in 1950 but missing last year because of injuries.

Another is Ted Levenhagen of LaCrosse, Wis., Teachers, a line backer. He is a member of the famed Wisconsin golfing family.

Baseball Talk Fills the Air

Big Leagues Draft Only 11 Minor Leaguers

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Chuck Dressen signed a third one-year contract to manage the Brooklyn Dodgers Tuesday at a reported $35,000 salary as the minor leagues continued their talent search in the draft sessions.

Ever since Dressen led the Dodgers to the National League pennant last September, it was assumed he would return. This makes it official.

No salary was announced by E. J. Bavasi, Dodger vice-president, who said the 54-year-old skipper had a "substantial increase." It was reliably reported to be about $35,000.

Black Signs

At the request of Dressen, who said it always is an honor to be the first player signed, Bavasi revealed pitcher Joe Black, the Dodgers' relief ace, had come to terms. Here again the salary represented a substantial increase, probably $15,000.

While the Dodgers were signing Dressen, the complicated draft machinery of the minor leagues shifted into gear. It appeared that the selection would follow the trend of the majors Monday who drafted the only 11 men, a low since 1945.

Reflecting the meager talent on the available list, seven clubs, including the pennant winning New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers, did not take a man. With one exception all of the drafting was done by second division clubs.

Rickey Grabs 3

Branch Rickey Jr. of the Pirates grabbed three righthanded pitchers off minor league lists including Elroy Face, the No. 1 pick who had a fine 14-11 season on Brooklyn's Mobile farm.

The entire meeting, under the direction of Commissioner Ford Frick and Secretary Treasurer Charles Segar, lasted only 22 minutes. The Pacific Coast league with its new $15,000 open classification sales tag, lost three players. So did the International League and American association at $10,000 per. One man was taken from the Southern association and one from the Texas league at $7,500 each.

Six pitchers were drafted, three catchers and two infielders in a 51% drop from last year's selection of 18 for $169,000.

400 Attend

About 400 baseball men attended as the majors for the first time held their draft in conjunction with the annual winter meetings of the major and minor leagues.

In addition to Face, Pittsburgh picked up two familiar pitchers in Johnny Hetki (13-7) from Toronto and Bob Hall (14-11) from Seattle.

Detroit went for catcher Johnny Bucha, ex-St. Louis Cardinal, who hit .285 in 144 games with Rochester.

Browns Get Freese

The St. Louis Browns came up with George Freese, a third baseman from the Brooklyn chain who hit .313 at Mobile.

Cincinnati snagged a catcher from the Dodger chain in Frank Balowin, a .235 hitter at St. Paul.

The Chicago Cubs acquired Jim Willis, a righthanded pitcher, from Shreveport of the Texas league where he had a 16-11 record.

7 Pass All Rounds

The St. Louis Cards, New York Giants, Philadelphia Phils, Brooklyn, Chicago White Sox, Cleveland and New York Yankees passed all three rounds at the draft.

The Pacific Coast league, given special rating as an open classification last winter, picked only four men for $23,500 from the lower leagues.

In the Triple A draft, the International league selected six and the American association four for a total of 10 at a cost of $56,000. The combination of open and Triple A drafts was 14 as compared with 18 a year ago.

A minor player deal was announced by Gabe Paul, Cincinnati Reds' general manager, who said pitcher Howie Judson had been acquired by Cincinnati from the Chicago White Sox to complete a September deal by which Cincinnati sent outfielder Hank Edwards to the White Sox. Judson, 26, had an 0-0 record at Chicago.

AAU Wrestling Entries Swamp Coach McCuskey

Entries are swamping Coach Dave McCuskey, manager of the SU's invitation AAU wrestling tournament of Saturday. He now has close to 135 individuals in the two divisions. At least four mats will be used.

The six officials named by McCuskey are Verne McCoy and Dave Natvig, East Waterloo; Robert Siddens, West Waterloo; Leroy Alitz, Osage; Lloyd Wilson, Cedar Rapids; McKinley, and Fred Stoker, Owatonna, Minn.

The tournament, first of its kind to be held here, is an invitational one with AAU sanction. Divisions are open amateur and junior AAU.

Since there is no team championship involved, most of the entries are listed as unattached.

The University of Minnesota is sending 12 men and there are 20 from Iowa Teachers. From Iowa there will be about 25 varsity and freshmen grapplers and Cornell will have about 15, and Moline

YMCA 10.

Eighteen students from Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids will wrestle unattached, as will entrants from East and West Waterloo, Burlington, Osage, Davenport and Owatonna, Minn. are cities with other unattached men.

Coach McCuskey said that he expects entries from Mankato, Minn. Teachers, Iowa State college and University of Illinois.

Time schedule calls for weighing in for the open amateur division from 7:30 to 8:30 a.m. and for the junior AAU from 8 to 9 a.m. Preliminaries in the open division start at 9:30 a.m. and for the juniors at 10 a.m. Semi-finals are at 1:30 p.m. in both divisions and all finals begin at 7:30 p.m.

Lattner, Irish Back, Chosen for Award By Maxwell Club

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Notre Dame's two-platoon halfback, John Lattner, Tuesday was named the outstanding college football player of 1952 by the Maxwell Memorial Football Club.

The 6-foot-1, 190-pound ace of the upset-minded Irish will receive his award Jan. 13 at the annual Maxwell Club dinner. Ed (Moose) Krouse, Notre Dame athletic director, will make the principal speech at the dinner.

Lattner, a junior, played practically 60 minutes of every game in Notre Dame's schedule in which the Irish won seven, lost two and tied one. He was instrumental in Notre Dame wins over Oklahoma, Purdue, Texas and Southern California.

Lattner is the second Notre Dame player to be honored by the Maxwell Club since the award was started in 1937.

Rains' Waterfield To Quit After '52

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bob Waterfield, one of the National Professional league's all-time great quarterbacks, is retiring from the game at the close of this season.

Waterfield had had moments of brilliance this year, but a leg injury has handicapped him and at 32, he admits he feels "pretty old and in need of a rest."

Long-Limbed Davis Back To Intrigue Cage Fans Again

Note: This is the second of a series of stories about Iowa varsity basketball players.

The Deacon is back again for the Iowa basketball season, and that's a break for the Hawkeye team and for the fans.

He McKinley (but don't call him that) Davis of Freeport, Ill., the loose-limbed forward who intrigued the 1951-52 fans as a freshman with his acrobatic floor play, his big grin, his faking ball-handling — and his scoring!

He put in 21 points in Iowa's opener with Butler Monday night. Nineteen of those points came in the first half, 12 in the second quarter.

A Prep 2 Years Ago Things happened fast for Davis during the last two years. Slightly more than a year and a half ago, he was the toast of Illinois high school basketball, the outstanding player in the state tournament as he led Freeport to the title.

Sports writers referred to Deacon as "another Goose Tatum," or a reasonable facsimile when he came to the Iowa campus in the fall of 1951. Before long he was a regular starter and was being called one of the Big Ten's finest freshmen.

Davis got the starting assignment against California in San Francisco last December. He kept on learning and improving. His best night was against Indiana when he hit for 19 points and played a floor game that had Hoosier guards in a dither. Deacon averaged 9.6 points per conference game and had a shot percentage of .317.

Deacon comes by his basketball talents partly by nature, partly through hard work and desire to improve. He has an unusually agile body, long arms, quick hands and good speed. He reacts swiftly to situations.

He doesn't appear especially durable but he never seems to run out of gas. He just keeps on bouncing around at all angles.

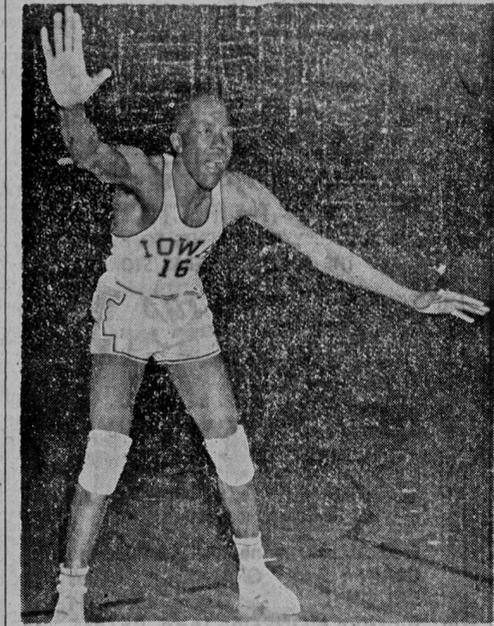

Against Butler, the Iowans shot .303 from the field, headed by Chuck Jarnagin's .171. Ken Buckles' .444 and Davis' .333.

Capt. Herb Thompson and Jarnagin, especially, grabbed many rebounds as Iowa worked on alert timing to compensate for the loss of Chuck Darling, last year's 6 foot, 3 inch rebound-grabber.

The Hawks will work more on offensive rebounding the rest of the week and polish its defense. Coach Bucky O'Connor was pleased with the scoring punch of the guards — Buckles made 14 and Jarnagin 12.

Last December Iowa beat Oklahoma at Iowa City, 59-46. Like Iowa, the Sooners are minus their 1912 high scorer, Sherman Norton, who made 21 points in the Iowa game, but they have some holdovers for a foundation.

San Diego NTC was defeated this year only by the University of California. It is also one of the service grid powers of the nation.

Briefs—

The Iowa freshman cage went through their first public unveiling Monday night as a curtain-raiser for the Iowa-Butler game. As is generally well-known, the crop is good and it looked good in the intrasquad scrimmage.

Naturally, play from time to time was ragged but in general the squad showed plenty of poise and it definitely will feed several standbys to the varsity next year.

Although many of the top men are out of staters, Iowans Hugh Luffingwell and Bill Logan led their respective teams in the important point-making.

The 19-man squad was rotated so everyone got to play quite a bit, but Logan still was able to get 17 points and Luffingwell got 15. The Marion led played for the winning side.

Although they didn't score too well, such outstanding preps from Illinois as Carl Cain, Bob George and Roy Johnson did play fine floor games and showed a good knack for rebounding.

George Wolz, a 6-foot, 8-inch center, put in five buckets and Bill Schoof, another of the squad members from Illinois, got four goals and four free tosses.

Wolz, while tall, will have to put on some weight to stand up in rough Big Ten play.

Incidentally, two of the stars of last year's Iowa cage stars, Skip Green and Ev Cochrane, are still in school here although, of course, both have used up their eligibility.

Cochrane is planning to complete work on his B.A. degree by the February graduation while Green will be graduated in June. Of the other two mainstays of last year's team, Pinky Clifton is in the air force and Chuck Darling is playing AAU basketball with the Phillips 66 Oilers.

Darling, Clyde Lovelette and the others will appear with the team in a game in the Tri-Cities Saturday night.

Iowa swimmers were named to two relay and two individual places on the 1952 all-American collegiate swimming squad. Picked by members of the College Swimming Coaches association, the team has Bowen Stassforth, the Olympic runner-up, in the 100 and 200-yard breast stroke.

Iowa's 400-yard sprint relay team composed of Dick LaBahn, Keo Mana, Wally Nicholson and Dick Pennington, was ranked seventh. The 300-yard medley relay team was ninth, with Ron Johnson, Stassforth and Nicholson as its members.

For the 1953 Iowa team only Mana, the captain, and Pennington are back.

Iowa City's Art Andrews, although unseeded, won the national indoor boys' singles tennis championship at St. Louis last weekend by defeating Earl Baumgardner of Colorado, 6-1, 7-5.

The boys' tennis competition is for youths 15 and under. Andrews also shared in the boys' doubles title. He and Maxwell Brown of Louisville, Ky., defeated Baumgardner and Dave Haughton of Hollywood, Fla., 7-5, 6-4.

Art's older brother, Jamie, is the Iowa high school tennis singles champ. Art and another Iowa City player, Ted Dunnington, are the state prep doubles champs.

Look magazine is the second major all-America picking "agency" to name its team. Grantland Rice and the 700 members of the Football Writers Association of America do the picking.

The Big Ten fared a bit better in these selections than it did in the Collier's team announced last week. Bernie Flowers of Purdue and Paul Giel of Minnesota were picked at offensive end and back, respectively, and Don Voss of Wisconsin was named at defensive end.

The offensive line lines up like this—Flowers and Stolhandske of Texas, ends; Gilbert of Mississippi and Miller of Georgia Tech, tackles; Willhoite of USC and Michels of Tennessee, guards; Catlin of Oklahoma, center, and Scarbath of Maryland, Vessels of Oklahoma, Filipiski of Villanova and Giel in the backfield.

On the defensive team are Voss and McPhee of Princeton, ends; Modzelewski of Maryland and Kraemer of Pitt, tackles; Kush of Michigan State and Sewell of Texas, guards; Moomaw of UCLA and Morris of Georgia Tech, linebackers; Lattner of Notre Dame and Reich of Kansas at halfbacks and Sears of USC at safety.

Iowa's Bill Fenton and Don Chelf were honored on the all-Midwest teams picked by the AP and UP earlier this week. Fenton was named to the second defensive team by the AP while Chelf was named to the third team by the UP. The latter press service did not pick offense and defense platoons.

The AP included a larger area as its "midwest," with such teams as Tulsa, Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas having men on its squad. No Iowa players made either the first or second all-Midwest teams picked by INS.

Here are the comparative offensive backfields, since they probably hold the most interest. The AP named Crowder and Vessels of Oklahoma along with Giel of Minnesota and Ameche of Wisconsin; the UP had Giel, Ameche, O'Connell of Illinois and Lattner of Notre Dame; INS honored Samuels of Purdue, McAuliffe of Michigan State with Lattner and Ameche.

So take your pick—all of the combinations would get plenty of ground.

Basketball fans again have their chance to catch up on Iowa current and historical information by means of a 16-page printed booklet just off the press.

Titled "Tip-Ins and Side Shots on the Hawkeyes of 1952-53," the book is issued by the Sports Information Service primarily to help press and radio men. However, copies will be sold to the public for 25 cents, orders to be addressed to Sports Information Service, Box 327, Iowa City.

Included in the booklet are a round-up of current prospects facts, sketches and pictures of players, Iowa records, results with conference opponents, Iowa stars and top teams of the past, scoring leaders and rosters and schedules.

Coach Francis Cretzmeier of Iowa will remember 1952 and the year of third places in track and cross country—the best season in his Hawkeye career to date. His track team was third in the Big Ten indoor and outdoor meets and his cross country squad earned that place in the NCAA and Big Ten races. The third spots for the track team marked the highest ranking for Iowa since 1928 (outdoors) and 1938 (indoors). No Iowa cross country team ever had placed that high in the National Collegiate meet.

No wonder our Iowa basketball players like their home court. Iowa teams have won 97 and lost 11 games for .898 in the field house since the 1943-44 season. In those nine seasons, they went unbeaten twice and in four others lost only one game.

Big 10 Business Meetings Open

CHICAGO (AP) — The Big Ten opens its annual winter business meetings Wednesday wrestling with two related subjects, football schedules and television.

Athletic Director Doug Mills of Illinois, Big Ten TV group chairman, recently suggested that "doubleheaders" be offered to TV fans on a regional basis.

Also Wednesday, the Big Ten football coaches again try to line up playing schedules for 1955 and 1956.

Michigan State, the nation's No. 1 team this season, has had to scratch for home conference games with only two, against Indiana and Michigan, in 1953, and two in 1954, against Purdue and Wisconsin.

Taft Blasts Durkin's Appointment To Cabinet

Selection May Lead to Split In GOP Party

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft, in an explosive protest which could foreshadow a great legislative struggle between two wings of the GOP, Tuesday attacked President-elect Eisenhower's choice of a secretary of labor as "incredible."

The Ohio senator's blast over the selection of Martin P. Durkin shattered the outward show of harmony which prevailed during the election campaign between Eisenhower and the man he beat out for the Republican nomination.

In a statement from Cincinnati Taft described Durkin, 58-year-old head of the AFL plumbers' union, as a "partisan Truman Democrat." He said the selection was an "affront" to labor voters who backed the GOP ticket, and also to Democrats who jumped party lines.

Cites Brownell
And he brought the matter down to more immediate political cases by asserting that Herbert Brownell has been "the key man in cabinet appointments."

Brownell, picked by Eisenhower to be attorney general, has been closely associated with the Republican group around Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and was Dewey's campaign manager in 1948 when the New Yorker defeated Taft for the nomination. Taft's implication was that the Dewey wing has taken over patronage and perhaps a commanding position on policy issues.

Taft said he had talked to Brownell and made "several recommendations" for appointments, adding:

"It was never even suggested that a man would be appointed who has always been a partisan Truman Democrat, who fought Gen. Eisenhower's election, and advocated the repeal of the Taft-Hartley law."

He disclaimed any reflection on the "character or ability" of Durkin himself.

Cooperation in Doubt
Taft's mention of the T-H labor law, and of the secretary-designate's stand on it, opened up the question of just how much cooperation Eisenhower can expect on legislative matters from the senators who usually follow the Ohioan's lead.

Asks T-H Revision
Durkin makes no bones about wanting more revision of the T-H law than Taft is likely to accept willingly, and he already has suggested new powers for the labor department that Taft may not want in the hands of a man whose selection he has criticized so roundly.

Durkin sought to pour oil on the troubled political waters. He said Taft's strong criticism "does not dim my hopes" that the new Eisenhower administration and organized labor can reach full agreement on labor legislation in the new congress.

Ike Refuses Comment
There was no comment at all from Eisenhower.

But Taft's statement, which he personally handed newsmen, aroused speculation that he might try to block the Durkin appointment in the senate. All cabinet jobs are subject to senate confirmation.

Taft, as chairman of the senate labor committee in the new congress, would have first crack at the appointment. And as possible majority leader on the floor of the senate, he could make it embarrassing for the administration.

Paint Thinner Kills 4 Convicts; 7 Ill

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Four convicts died in agony and seven others were left violently ill Tuesday after drinking paint thinner cocktails in a Sunday morning binge at Kilby prison.

One of the survivors was on the doubtful list, but the other six were expected to recover, said state prison director J. M. McCullough.

Snow on the branches of evergreen trees, like the one Lois and Kenneth are looking at, produced a beautiful tree. The first large snow fall provided an excellent Christmas season atmosphere. The girls may be sizing up the tree for use during the coming season.

White House to Hear New Talent

NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect Eisenhower, an amateur painter and an amateur chef, is a musician, too. He plays the harmonica.

So there'll still be music at the White House after Harry S. Truman, the piano playing President, moves out next month. Some of it will come from Mamie, who plays the piano.

A new harmonica, an imported model with a range big enough for some of the works of Beethoven or Brahms, was sent to the general Tuesday by Henry Feinberg, Manhattan music dealer who has known for some time about the general's fondness for a "mouth harp."

At the height of the World War II campaign in France when harmonicas were hard to get, Feinberg found a harmonica and sent it off to the general.

"That old one must be about worn out," Feinberg said. "It's time for Ike to have a new one."

Georgia Tech Students See Officer Shot

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A fierce gun battle witnessed by hundreds of school children and college students Tuesday brought death to a policeman and serious wounds to two other men.

The fight engaged scores of officers barricaded in a house near the Georgia Tech campus.

Patrolman W. M. Richards, 56, was shot in the chest and wounded fatally shortly after he entered the house to investigate a hit-and-run automobile accident.

Another policeman, Sgt. Glenn Collins, was shot in the right side during the heavy firing.

An occupant of the house, identified by police as Homer Marvin Spurrill, 50-year-old carpenter, was riddled by policemen's bullets. He was taken to a hospital in critical condition.

Georgia Tech students and boys and girls from nearby O'Keefe high school swarmed out of dormitories and class rooms to watch the battle at close range. Police had trouble keeping the high school students from crowding in too close.

At least two other officers were wounded slightly.

Mrs. John Herring, who lived in the apartment house, said Richards came to her door and asked where Spurrill lived. She pointed out Spurrill's apartment. Richards called to Spurrill to come out and be questioned about two hit-and-run accidents.

A few moments later, she said, a shotgun blast was fired through the door from the inside and Richards was struck. Collins was wounded about the same time near Spurrill's door. Collins returned the fire.

Spencer Gets TV Interference Law

SPENCER (AP)—The Spencer city council has adopted an ordinance designed to eliminate electrical interference with reception of radio and television programs.

The council voted Monday night to have the city electrical inspector enforce the ordinance and also appointed an advisory board of electrical experts to tackle problems that might arise.

Subject to misdemeanor fines will be the owners of any faulty equipment, such as signs, motors or generators, that interfere with reception. Operators of equipment made and handled in accordance with federal Communications commission standards will be exempt.

Japanese Officer Testifies in Provoov Trial

NEW YORK (AP)—A Japanese army officer, wearing a hospital mask, testified Tuesday that John D. Provoov complained about an American war captive who later was executed.

Lt. Toyokazu Nakata, 38, former prisoner of war overseer on Corregidor, testified in support of a government charge that Provoov was to blame for the wartime execution of Capt. Burton C. Thomson of Swea City, Ia.

Nakata has tuberculosis and thus wore the hospital mask. Some of the jurors and court attaches also, donned the masks

Campaigning Discussed —

Hoffman Asks Curb on Political Editorializing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressmen hunting a way to bring some order into the chaos of political campaign spending heard a surprise suggestion Tuesday for a curb on the amount of editorial space a newspaper may use to back a candidate.

That proposal, from Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich.), was in sharp contrast to go-slow advice offered by chairman Arthur E. Summerfield of the Republican national committee. While he conceded the more workable limitations on spending are desirable, Summerfield said the whole problem of changing the rules of voter wooing should be approached with caution.

The congressman and the GOP chairman, who is Dwight D. Eisenhower's selection to be postmaster general, were witnesses before a special house committee. The group, headed by Rep. Hale Boggs (D-La.), is concerned over loopholes in the law which permitted outlays in the recent campaign to soar into scores of millions of dollars. At the same time it is casting a critical eye at the letter of the rules which purport to limit outlays to amounts which witnesses call preposterously low for the era of airplane and television campaigning.

Hoffman, who will head the house government operations committee in the Republican 83d congress, acknowledged that his proposal for a limit on newspaper space might involve complications — an obvious anticipation of objections that the proposal would interfere with freedom of the press.

But he contended that if congress can limit the amount of money a newspaper may give a candidate, it can also limit the donation of space.

As an example of what he had in mind, Hoffman cited the case of the Detroit Free Press. After Editor John Knight decided Eisenhower should be the Republican nominee, Hoffman said, the newspaper gave a lot of editorial space to the candidate.

He commented that Knight has been "back and forth" on the "New Deal" issue.

Rift Appears as Reuther Leads In Battle for CIO Presidency

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The CIO worked Tuesday to repair a deep rift in its ranks over choosing a new CIO president, a scrap not yet over but apparently won by 45-year-old Walter Reuther.

The dynamic, red-haired Reuther, president of the CIO auto workers union, was widely conceded as having whipped together enough votes to get the CIO presidency in any convention showdown.

Top officials were trying to get forces backing CIO executive vice-president Allan S. Haywood, a 64-year-old veteran union leader who came up from the coal mines, to back off and concede to Reuther.

But Haywood and his chief supporter, David J. McDonald, president of the CIO steelworkers union, were still pledging a finish

City Gets '51 Safety Report

A need for trained policemen to investigate accidents and keep accident records was one recommendation made by the National Safety Council in completing its 1951 inventory of traffic safety activities for Iowa City.

Other suggested recommendations were: a public safety information program, particularly for schools; a larger accident map; standardized accident summary forms; and a cross reference file of drivers involved in accidents.

A number of safety improvements in Iowa City in 1951 were listed in the council report.

Among the improvements are an increase in the number of man hours spent by the police department in investigating accidents, in making traffic surveys and by

Popular String Quartet To Play Here Tonight

"Music is played to perfection by one of the U.S.'s finest ensembles," said Tirth of the New Music String quartet on Oct. 27, 1952.

The quartet will appear in Iowa City this evening at the Iowa Union at 8.

The violin combination of Broadus Erle and Matthew Raimondi with the viola of Walter Trampler and the violoncello of Claus Adam, the group has taken its place as one of the outstanding chamber music ensembles in the world.

Quartet Begun in '49

The quartet organized in February, 1949, when the members gathered for an evening of music-making. Their repertoire covers four centuries of quartet writing, starting with Gibbons and extending to the contemporaries.

Broadus Erle, one of the violinists, was born in Chicago in 1918. He made his first professional appearance at the age of six at the Paramount theatre in Detroit, Mich. For the next seven years he traveled throughout the country with RKO.

When Erle was seven he was offered a ten-year scholarship to study with Leopold Auer, but was too busy playing at concerts to accept. Erle has been concert master for such orchestras as Ballet Theater, NBC in Philadelphia and recording orchestras in New York.

Studied With Betti

Raimondi was born in New York in 1928. After receiving a degree from the Juilliard school of music, he continued graduate work at Columbia under Prof. Paul Henry Lang. He has studied with Adolfo Betti, first violinist of the Flonzaley quartet, and with Felix Samond and Hans Letz, both noted for their contributions to violin chamber music.

Trampler started playing at the age of five. Born in Germany in 1915, he was once the first violinist of the Berlin Radio Symphony orchestra. He later joined the Strub String quartet and remained with that group until 1939.

Trampler came to the United States in August of 1939. He has been a member of the Boston Symphony and has appeared as orchestra viola soloist.

Gets Scholarship

Adam, born in Sumatra, Indonesia in 1917, went to Europe in 1923. Of Austrian parents he has lived in Germany, Austria, Holland and Italy. He came to the United States in 1931.

He was awarded a scholarship with Emanuel Feuermann, the great cellist, and worked with D. C. Downis. He was first cello soloist in the Minneapolis symphony under Dimitri Mitropoulos from 1940 to 1943.

Selections tonight will include Quartet in G Major by Beethoven, Quartet No. 4 by Bartok and Quartet in G Minor by Debussy.

N. J. (AP) — ... fight that could spill over on the convention floor. Selection of officers is due Thursday. The Haywood group was considering forcing a test on a proposal to change the CIO constitution to require the CIO presidency to be a full time job. Approval of such a plan would mean Reuther couldn't fill the job as long as he retained the presidency of the auto workers. It was not expected that any such plan would get the convention's approval since Reuther appeared to have a clear voting majority on his side. Will Protect Loyal Men, Dulles Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Foster Dulles, the next secretary of state, Wednesday projected a thorough investigation of the state department but declared that "loyal servants of our government have nothing to fear."

An indication of what may be one of Dulles' first actions when he takes over the state department Jan. 20 came in a statement he issued after a meeting with Secretary Dean Acheson.

Obviously aware of the impact of long-sustained Republican criticism on career diplomats and other workers whose boss he will be, Dulles declared the foreign service "will be protected" by the Eisenhower administration "insofar as it is sound and free of corruption."

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—

The UN general assembly approved overwhelmingly Wednesday an Indian plan for peace in Korea. It was ordered dispatched speedily to Red China and North Korea with an appeal for their quick acceptance. They and Moscow have already condemned the plan.

Fifty-four members of the 60-nation assembly voted on a final roll call for the resolution which reached the assembly floor after weeks of debate.

The five Soviet bloc countries, fighting bitterly to the end against the solid free world front, cast the only negative votes. Nationalist China abstained on the grounds that the resolution would not be effective.

Although the Communists already have rejected the resolution, some UN leaders hoped for a change of mind in Peiping and Pyongyang. The action Wednesday closes the first chapter of the Korean case in the seventh assembly and there is expected to be a lull now until the Communists react.

Delegates feel that such reaction will not come in time for fresh decision here by the new year.

They are ready to suspend action until President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower takes office in Washington Jan. 20 and sends a new delegation to the assembly reopening in February.

Lester B. Pearson, Canadian foreign secretary and president of the assembly, is expected to rush the resolution to Peiping and Pyongyang. The assembly asked him to report on their reaction as soon as appropriate.

The resolution would establish a four-country repatriation commission, made up of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Switzerland. This commission would handle the repatriation of all prisoners and the resolution states that force will not be used to send the prisoners home or detain them. It provides for an umpire to vote in case of a deadlock by the commission. At the end of 90 days after an armistice the commission would turn over to a projected political conference on Korea the prisoners not yet repatriated.

Economist Fired As Fund Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP)—Frank Coe, economist who refused to tell senate investigators whether he was ever a Communist or wartime spy, was fired Wednesday as secretary of the international monetary fund.

Jay Reid, public relations officer for the fund, said Coe had resigned at the request of Ivar Rooth, manager of the fund.

He said Rooth asked for Coe's resignation two days after Coe refused to tell the McCarran senate investigations group whether he had been a member of a spy ring during the war.

Death Penalty By Caldwell Proposed

Prof. Robert G. Caldwell, of the SUI sociology department, has written an article "Why Is the Death Penalty Retained?" in the November issue of "The Annals."

The bi-monthly magazine is issued by the American Academy of Political and Social Science and contains articles on current social or political problems.

Caldwell analyzes five arguments society gives for the retention of the death penalty. They are:

1. The retribution argument holds that a criminal ought to die because he has committed a terrible crime and perhaps killed or injured someone else.
2. The argument of social solidarity maintains that the death penalty provides a symbol around which the public can unify, to carry out its fight against crime.
3. The death penalty protects society from dangerous criminals who might return to society to do similar crimes.
4. The threat of the infliction of

World News Briefs

A Condensation of Late Developments

SEOUL (THURSDAY) (AP)—Hard-fighting South Koreans recaptured vital Pinpoint Hill on the central Korean front in bitter hand-to-hand combat Wednesday—the coldest day of a new winter. In the air, the fifth air force reported U.S. Sabre jet pilots shot down two Communist MIG-15 jet fighters high over northwest Korea. The Communists had taken Pinpoint, the crest of Sniper Ridge, eight hours earlier in an attack which swept up the icy slopes in one-above-zero weather. A Wednesday report of total Korean casualties to date is as follows: killed in action, 20,000; wounded, 94,367; missing, 13,012—total, 127,383.

MOSCOW (AP)—The English language periodical, The News, dwelt at great length Wednesday on President-elect Eisenhower's Korean trip. The magazine said Eisenhower promised to end the Korean war by peaceful means. It said he had committed himself to go to Korea and study on the spot how to put an end to the war with speed and honor. It added: "The general, however, did not specify just how he intended to go about putting an end to the war, and apprehensions on this score are all the more legitimate as he has shown he has no use for the truce talks in Korea."

VIENNA, AUSTRIA (AP)—Rudolf Slansky, former Communist boss of Czechoslovakia, and Vlado Clementis, its former foreign minister, were hanged in Prague Wednesday with nine other party leaders. They were judged "Zionist, Trotskyite" enemies of Stalinism.
