Delta Sigma Pi, the victor, was awarded the traveling trophy, an empty gallon beer bottle, and was invited to the Alpha Xi Delta chapter house for coffee and doughnuts. The Delta Sigma Pi challenge to Alpha Xi Delta was signed by Robert Quade, G. Elizabeth, N.J., president, and Jenner who acted as "Minister of War." Two of the provisions of the challenge were that Alpha Xi Delta hostages were to be in custody of Delta Sigma until 10:30 p.m. and the coffee and doughnuts were to go to the winners.

Use of Voting Machines Here Is Discussed

The possibility of using voting machines in Johnson county was discussed Wednesday night by an Iowa City committee on voting study headed by Norman C. Meier, SUI psychology professor. Present was city manager Peter F. Roan.

District representative for the Automatic Voting Machine company of New York, G. A. Senninger, described a machine which is being used by 28 counties in Iowa. Use of the voting machine here is merely being considered and will be decided upon before the tentative rearrangement of precincts.

County Uses 58

Cerro Gorda county, Iowa, about equal in population to this county, is using 58 voting machines. Savings there have been as high as 50 per cent in comparison with costs of previous general elections using ballots, according to Senninger. There are 1,623 machines being used in Iowa.

Advantages of the voting machine that were outlined at the meeting are:

Less time is required for totaling voting results. In the recent election some precincts reported final results as late as 26 hours after the polls had closed. The machine figures the totals automatically during the voting period. There is no danger of spoiling ballots.

Anyone can learn to use them. Machines would make election costs about 50 per cent lower than they are with the ballot system.

More proficient voting officials could be hired since the work is finished about one hour after polls close.

The human error involved in ballot counting is eliminated.

Members of the committee studying the possibility of voting machines are: Mrs. Alexander Kern, Prof. Russell Ross, Edward Green, D. E. Borchart, William F. Morrison, George Dohrer, William Kanak, Alva Oathout, and Meier.

The committee will meet Saturday, Dec. 6, at 10 a.m. in the courthouse to discuss the voting machine with the county board of supervisors.

Iowa Church Group Protests Holding Sunday Sports at SUI

DES MOINES (AP) — The Iowa Inter-Church Council voiced objection Wednesday against the scheduling of any athletic events on Sunday at SUI.

The incident that prompted the action was a fencing contest held on university property at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, Nov. 23.

Dr. Lucien Morris, SUI fencing coach said at Iowa City the university, had no connection with the Nov. 23 meet except to furnish a building for it. Another meet is scheduled for next Sunday but it is to be held in the local Recreation Center building, a non-university property.

Morris said that meets are sponsored by the Iowa chapter of the Fencers League of America, that it takes about nine hours to complete the bouts and that meets are held on Sunday for the convenience of members.

The Rev. Fred E. Miller, pastor of the First Methodist church of Waterloo, brought the matter up before the church group. He said he had read a newspaper advertisement of the Nov. 23 contest and had written to President Virgil M. Hancher of the university as follows:

"I am wondering if this (the fencing contest) means that very shortly we will be witnessing football, basketball and baseball games at the university on Sunday."

Truman Employs T-H Law in Strike Of Nickel Workers

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman Wednesday invoked the Taft-Hartley labor act, a law he has often condemned, in an effort to end a strike of 1,500 CIO steel workers who make nickel pipe essential to the atomic energy program.

The steel workers union was reported determined to make a fight in federal court over the question whether the law can be used in this case, which involves a single plant of the American Locomotive company at Dunkirk, N. Y.

The President's action appointing a board of inquiry paves the way for the attorney general to ask a federal district court for an order halting the strike for 80 days. Failure to obey such an order can bring heavy fines and other penalties for contempt of court.

Truman has used the law 10 times since it became effective in 1947. The last time was more than a year ago. Despite heavy criticism from congress, the President refused to invoke the law in last spring's steel strike.

The law says that a district court may issue an injunction only if it finds that the strike:

1. "Affects an entire industry or a substantial part thereof..." and
2. "If permitted to... continue, will imperil the national health or safety."

Which One Will Succeed Murray?

ALLAN S. HAYWOOD (LEFT) executive vice-president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations and Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, stand beneath the portrait of the late president of the CIO, Philip Murray. Choice for the man to succeed Murray lies between these two, with Reuther rumored to hold the edge.

Stevenson Pays Murray Tribute As Successor Battle Brews

ATLANTIC CITY (AP) — Gov. Adlai Stevenson Wednesday led CIO convention memorial services for the late CIO president Philip Murray as a behind-scenes battle raged in the choosing of Murray's successor.

The Illinois governor, recent Democratic loser in the election for the nation's presidency, took occasion in his speech to urge organized labor to act with greater future responsibility to the country.

Cautioning the CIO not to regard the Republican victory as any sort of "disaster" or necessarily a misfortune, Stevenson said labor ought to continue working toward greater gains. He said labor has won its battle for recognition and status and now is entering a new period of established acceptance in America.

Freezing Drizzle Expected for Today

A freezing drizzle mixed with occasional light snow is expected to add to another layer of slickness to Iowa City's already slippery streets and sidewalks today.

The icy coating will pack streets already glazed with frozen slush from Wednesday's short melting period, and will make driving and walking extremely hazardous.

According to the weather bureau, the drizzle will be accompanied by a temperature low of 26. High for today is expected to reach 35.

Move Allows $1.90 Daily Wage Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman Wednesday overruled the Wage Stabilization board and approved a $1.90 daily wage boost for John L. Lewis' 375,000 soft coal miners.

The President's decision, reached one week ago, was announced by economic stabilizer Roger Putnam who said:

"This is not the decision I would have made. It is not the decision I would have recommended."

No One Will Resign
But Putnam told newsmen he would not resign over the disagreement in handling the case and he was certain that at least three of four public members of the wage board would also stay on the job.

Some of the board's public members told newsmen privately some time ago that they intended to resign if the government rejected the board's decision that a $1.90 rise was all that could be allowed under the government's anti-inflation program.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and the industry jointly appealed the board's decision to Putnam and the matter then went to the White House. Lewis and the industry had agreed on a $1.90 rise but under wage-price controls it could not be put into effect without government approval.

Prices To Be Higher
Truman's decision that the miners should have the $1.90 means higher price ceilings for many varieties of soft coal but probably not for all. Most soft coal has been selling well under existing ceiling prices and the higher wage costs can be absorbed for some varieties within present ceilings.

The $1.50 allowed by the WSB has been paid since last Oct. 1, the date the new Lewis-Industry contract was effective. Wednesday's decision granting the full increase means that miners will receive the additional 40 cents a day as of Oct. 1 and raises their basic minimum daily wage to $18.25.

President Truman made his decision known in a letter to Putnam which said that the issues in the coal case "go far beyond stabilization considerations."

The WSB, in reducing the wage increase from $1.90 to $1.50, said any more would damage the stabilization program "irreparably."

Miners' Pay Boost Averted a Strike, Says UMW Official

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A top United Mine Workers official said Wednesday that President Truman's action in overruling the Wage Stabilization board and approving a $1.90-a-day wage boost for John L. Lewis' 375,000 soft coal diggers "undoubtedly averted a strike."

"The men were becoming a little itchy and they were ready to quit the pits unless action was forthcoming soon," declared John Busarello, president of UMW district No. 5.

President Truman's action awarding the diggers the full $1.90-a-day boost, instead of only $1.50 as recommended by the Wage Stabilization board, was slow to circulate in the coal fields.

"Most of the men are at home now and they'll find out about it on radio news programs and in early morning newspapers," Busarello said.

Will Protect Loyal Men, Dulles Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Foster Dulles, the next secretary of state, Wednesday projected a thorough investigation of the state department but declared that "loyal servants of our government have nothing to fear."

An indication of what may be one of Dulles' first actions when he takes over the state department Jan. 20 came in a statement he issued after a meeting with Secretary Dean Acheson.

Obviously aware of the impact of long-sustained Republican criticism on career diplomats and other workers whose boss he will be, Dulles declared the foreign service "will be protected" by the Eisenhower administration "insofar as it is sound and free of corruption."

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —

The UN general assembly approved overwhelmingly Wednesday an Indian plan for peace in Korea. It was ordered dispatched speedily to Red China and North Korea with an appeal for their quick acceptance. They and Moscow have already condemned the plan.

Fifty-four members of the 60-nation assembly voted on a final roll call for the resolution which reached the assembly floor after weeks of debate.

The five Soviet bloc countries, fighting bitterly to the end against the solid free world front, cast the only negative votes. Nationalist China abstained on the grounds that the resolution would not be effective.

Although the Communists already have rejected the resolution, some UN leaders hoped for a change of mind in Peiping and Pyongyang. The action Wednesday closes the first chapter of the Korean case in the seventh assembly and there is expected to be a lull now until the Communists react.

Delegates feel that such reaction will not come in time for fresh decision here by the new year.

They are ready to suspend action until President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower takes office in Washington Jan. 20 and sends a new delegation to the assembly reopening in February.

Lester B. Pearson, Canadian foreign secretary and president of the assembly, is expected to rush the resolution to Peiping and Pyongyang. The assembly asked him to report on their reaction as soon as appropriate.

The resolution would establish a four-country reparations commission, made up of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Switzerland. This commission would handle the repatriation of all prisoners and the resolution states that force will not be used to send the prisoners home or detain them. It provides for an umpire to vote in case of a deadlock by the commission. At the end of 90 days after an armistice the commission would turn over to a projected political conference on Korea the prisoners not yet repatriated.

Economist Fired As Fund Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank Coe, economist who refused to tell senate investigators whether he was ever a Communist or wartime spy, was fired Wednesday as secretary of the international monetary fund.

Jay Reid, public relations officer for the fund, said Coe had resigned at the request of Ivar Rooth, manager of the fund.

He said Rooth asked for Coe's resignation two days after Coe refused to tell the McCarran senate investigations group whether he had been a member of a spy ring during the war.

Death Penalty Article By Caldwell Published

Prof. Robert G. Caldwell, of the SUI sociology department, has written an article "Why Is the Death Penalty Retained?" in the November issue of "The Annals."

The bi-monthly magazine is issued by the American Academy of Political and Social Science and contains articles on current social or political problems.

Caldwell analyzes five arguments society gives for the retention of the death penalty. They are:

1. The retribution argument holds that a criminal ought to die because he has committed a terrible crime and perhaps killed or injured someone else.
2. The argument of social solidarity maintains that the death penalty provides a symbol around which the public can unify, to carry out its fight against crime.
3. The death penalty protects society from dangerous criminals who might return to society to do similar crimes.
4. The threat of the infliction of the death penalty scares people from committing capital crimes.

5. A growing recognition that the desire to find love, respect, and security among relatives, friends and business associates, rather than the fear of legal penalties, keeps the majority of persons from violating the law.

Caldwell is a member of the Virginia State Bar association and consultant in criminology for the correctional institutions of Iowa. He is the author of many articles in the field of sociology and criminology.

World News Briefs

A Condensation of Late Developments

SEOUL (THURSDAY) (AP) — Hard-fighting South Koreans recaptured vital Pinpoint Hill on the central Korean front in bitter hand-to-hand combat Wednesday—the coldest day of a new winter. In the air, the fifth air force reported U.S. Sabre jet pilots shot down two Communist MIG-15 jet fighters high over northwest Korea. The Communists had taken Pinpoint, the crest of Sniper Ridge, eight hours earlier in an attack which swept up the icy slopes in one-above-zero weather. A Wednesday report of total Korean casualties to date is as follows: killed in action, 20,000; wounded, 94,867; missing, 13,012—total, 127,883.

MOSCOW (AP) — The English language periodical, The News, dwelt at great length Wednesday on President-elect Eisenhower's Korean trip. The magazine said Eisenhower promised to end the Korean war by peaceful means. It said he had committed himself to go to Korea and study on the spot how to put an end to the war with speed and honor. It added: "The general, however, did not specify just how he intended to go about putting an end to the war, and apprehensions on this score are all the more legitimate as he has shown he has no use for the truce talks in Korea."

VIENNA, AUSTRIA (AP) — Rudolf Slansky, former Communist boss of Czechoslovakia, and Vlado Clementis, its former foreign minister, were hanged in Prague Wednesday with nine other party leaders. They were judged "Zionist, Trotskyite" enemies of Stalinism.

Sparkman's Future Uncertain

Re-election Chances Hurt by GOP Gains

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (CP) — The sun may be setting on the political life of Alabama's junior senator, John J. Sparkman, who ran as his party's candidate for the vice-presidency this year. At least this may be true if the Huntsville lawyer seeks elective public office in his home state again.

Senator Sparkman's term in the senate expires in January, 1955. This means if he wishes to go back to the upper body of congress, he must stand for re-election in 1954. "Standing for re-election" in Alabama, in the past, has meant simply beating your opponents in the Democratic primary. The dust has by no means settled from the presidential race, but it would not be surprising if many Democratic office holders in Alabama from now on must not only win in the primary but also must defeat Republican opposition in the general election.

Senator Sparkman Future in Doubt

Change Developing

This change in the political life expectancy of public officials here is on the threshold of developing chiefly because of the large vote accorded Dwight D. Eisenhower on Nov. 4. He polled 35 per cent of the popular vote in Alabama.

While Ike lost the state, he came closer to winning it than any other Republican since 1872, with the exception of Herbert Hoover. Hoover's popular vote was approximately 48 per cent of the total vote cast.

The story behind the Sparkman dilemma stems primarily from FEPC and the filibuster. It also has its roots in the fact that Eisenhower turned out to be a Republican rather than a Democrat.

States Rights in '48

In the 1948 presidential election, Alabama gave its 11 electoral votes to the States Rights ticket. Senator Sparkman, with senior Senator Lister Hill, took to the hustings in 1950 and helped elect a state Democratic executive committee which was loyal to the national Democratic party.

The committee then enforced a "loyalty pledge." Carried to the United States supreme court, the pledge was upheld. It, in effect, decreed that any Democratic party candidate would have to promise he would work for the presidential and vice-presidential candidates of the national convention regardless of who the candidates might be.

What made this so distasteful to some persons was that President Truman at that time still was considered the party's No. 1 candidate. However, the legality of the pledge was upheld and the politicians had no choice but to back it up.

Pledge Adopted
A similar pledge was adopted by the committee to try and force individual voters to accept the same conditions when they voted in the Democratic primaries. However, the voters, in November, 1952, apparently paid no attention to the pledge. States Righters and others who did not like being "hog-tied" screamed over their delivery into the hands of the Trumanites. So Senator Sparkman had cultivated a vocal and an active opposition to himself within his own state organization.

At the 1952 Democratic convention, he helped draft the party platform. It contained a plank on civil rights and the filibuster which a great majority of Alabamians disliked. They recalled that Sparkman, in 1948 and in 1950, had denounced compulsory FEPC and said he and other southern senators would filibuster against such legislation.

Sparkman Nominated
Then, to complete the miracle, Sparkman — a southerner — was nominated for the vice-presidency after the "Young Turks" at the convention had tried their best to kick some southern states out of the proceedings.

Suddenly he came a national candidate, Sparkman began his campaigning for the ticket. In Alabama and other southern states, he was quoted as saying his views on civil rights and the filibuster were unchanged; that he would labor to block such measures, that they might be worked out by gentlemen agreeable to compromise who would sit down and settle their differences as gentlemen should.

Away from the south, he was quoted as saying he was 100 per cent for civil rights legislation and for doing away with the filibuster. Alabamians haven't to this day learned whether he sang a different tune depending on where he was speaking or whether he was fairly consistently misquoted. They are inclined to the former

Government Begins Big Drive Against Suspected Communists

By The Associated Press

The government moved on several fronts Tuesday against suspected Communists or persons who have been accused of Red sympathies.

In New York, a federal grand jury warned the American people that "an overwhelmingly large group of disloyal United States citizens" has seeped into the United Nations.

The jurors urged that when their term of service ends another grand jury be impaneled to carry on their investigation of alleged subversion and espionage. They said the situation in the UN appears to be part of a "definite, planned pattern."

At another session of the senate's internal security subcommittee in New York, Irving P. Schiller, architect of the UN's European headquarters in Geneva, refused

Eisenhower Praised

Also, as late as December, 1951, Sparkman was praising the virtues of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. More than once he said the NATO commander was the man to lead America in these troubled times; that he could unite the country. He also said if the Republicans bypassed Eisenhower at their convention in '52, the Democrats might nominate him.

When Ike did become the GOP candidate, Sparkman altered his public announcements. The general was no longer fit to be President. He was associating with bad company.

Weeks before the Nov. 4 election, it had become apparent to some state political leaders that Sparkman's political future was on the line. Unhappy over the Democratic platform themselves, but hog-tied by the loyalty pledge, they had no choice but to vote the Democratic ticket or not vote.

Private Warnings

They began saying privately that Sparkman—and Gov. Adlai Stevenson—had better pull it off in 1952. A loss might prove fatal to the senator.

On Nov. 4, a loss it was for the Democrats nationwide—and most of the southern states, the ones the "Young Turks" had attempted to kick out of the convention, were the only ones to back the Democratic ticket.

Despite the Democratic victory in Alabama, Senator Sparkman's political future now is in the balance. If he runs in 1954, he will be running more scared than ever before, for the scalp hunters already have begun gathering his convention and campaign speeches to be used against him.

SUI Professor Tells Safety of Surgery For Elderly Patients

"Modern surgery is remarkably safe for patients 80 years of age and over," Dr. Sidney E. Ziffren of the SUI college of medicine told an American Medical association group Wednesday.

Ziffren spoke to the sixth annual clinical session of the AMA in the Denver, Colo., municipal auditorium.

"The elderly patient, 80 years or over, need not be permitted to die because he is thought too old to withstand surgery," he said. "A 10-year study at the SUI hospitals in Iowa City proves that the older, when properly prepared and carefully managed, can withstand almost any surgical procedure. These operations sometimes add several years of active life."

Ziffren presented a study of 477 operations performed on 429 patients during the ten year period which ended in 1951. Deaths in the entire group totaled 65, a rate of 15.1 per cent. Calculated on the total number of operations, the death rate was 13.6 per cent.

The more common causes of death, the surgeon reported, were pneumonia, blood clot in the lung, heart failure, and peritonitis.

He ascribed the reduction in operative mortality to newer techniques: greater attention given to the preoperative nutritional status and the blood requirements of the patient, and careful regulation of salt and water intake after the operation. He also stated that advancements in anesthesia and the development of antibiotics played roles in lowering death rates.

State Amendments Approved at Polls

DES MOINES (AP) —The state canvassing board reported Tuesday that two proposed constitutional amendments concerning the succession to governor were approved in the Nov. 4 general election.

The companion measures set up this order of succession: lieutenant governor, president pro-tem of the senate, speaker of the house. If all should be killed in a single or closely related tragedy, the state supreme court would convene the legislature in special session to choose a governor and lieutenant governor.

One amendment carried 551,444 to 80,178, and the other 496,409 to 83,216. Both had been approved by two successive legislatures, in accordance with the constitutional amendment procedure.

Africa to Counsel At Dayton Meeting

Sponsored by the Webster County Schoolmasters association, the conference will be for all county junior and senior high school students. It is being held in the Dayton high school building.

Africa will discuss linotype operation and "journalism as a career."

Students will be informed of present-day job requirements, business opportunities and future occupational trends.

QUEEN WELCOMES HUSBAND

LONDON (AP) —In freezing cold, Queen Elizabeth II went to London airport Tuesday and welcomed her husband home from a trip to Malta.

In World War II the policy called for radio silence in event of an air raid or the threat of such an attack.

The idea was to prevent bombers from following a radio beam into a metropolitan target.

The new system will go into effect in three months, the White House said.

Here is how the plan has been worked out by the air force, civil defense officials, the federal communications commission and the broadcasting industry:

If any hostile force or missile is detected approaching the United States the air defense command will notify a series of key stations which in turn will alert all participating standard AM broadcasters.

The stations will at once leave their normal broadcasting frequencies and shift to an emergency channel, which will be either 840 or 1,240 kilocycles on the home receiver dial.

The air force has tested this system several times in major cities on the eastern seaboard. Pilots report their direction finders have become useless for establishing a fix on any particular target because the finders have been hit by the same beam from many directions at the same time.

"Why do we always have to sing 'God Bless America' at these faculty meetings?"

Reasons Given For Cabinet Appointments

By J. M. ROBERTS JR. Associated Press News Analyst

Martin P. Durkin, president of the AFL Plumbers Union, says he was greatly surprised to be chosen as president-elect Eisenhower's secretary of labor.

So were a lot of other folks, including Sen. Taft, who called it "incredible."

There are, however, some logical answers to some of the questions raised.

Some people wondered first of all why a Democrat was chosen for a regime dedicated to sweeping out the Democrats. The first natural answer to that would be Eisenhower's opinions of Durkin's personal qualifications. That would be included in the answer to another question: Why choose directly from one of the two great opposing labor organizations, CIO and AFL? Wouldn't the favoring of one damage relations with the other?

Experience Sought
Eisenhower's advisers must have believed that Durkin's experience as director of labor in Illinois for eight years, under both Democratic and Republican administrations, and his interest in reconciliation of the CIO and AFL, would eventually take care of that.

It should be remembered, too, that the secretary of labor's functions have been circumscribed by congress in recent years. His office handles wage-hour administration, public employment offices, keeps track of trends. But he is primarily an adviser of the president.

To Use Department
The most important labor laws, such as Taft-Hartley, are administered by the national labor relations board.

As it now stands, the secretary's job is to use the department to keep track of the labor situation and inform the president, and the country, about it.

Eisenhower goes into office for a period which promises terrific stresses both on national and international policy.

Eisenhower has cited national unity as the first requirement in meeting these stresses. The appointment of members of the minority party, and of representatives of important factions, has long been a standard maneuver to achieve unity.

Venezuela's Military Government Resigns After General Election

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) —The three-man military junta, which has governed oil-rich Venezuela since its coup of 1948, resigned Tuesday night in the wake of a general election.

Defense Minister Marcos Perez Jimenez, a key member of the junta, took over the presidency immediately.

In assuming the office, Perez Jimenez said he would respect the results of the Nov. 30 election for a Constituent Assembly.

The Supreme Electoral council announced Tuesday night that the pro-government Independent Electoral Front party was leading in the returns with 570,123 votes.

The opposition Democratic Republican party KURD had 473,880 votes, and the Christian Socialists 138,003, the electoral council declared.

These results were at wide variance with preliminary unofficial returns published in the Caracas newspapers. The returns had showed the leftist opposition, URD, leading with 294,595 votes in a political upset, FEI a poor second with 147,528, and COPEI trailing with 89,095.

These returns were published Monday night but were not disclosed abroad until the newspapers were received at Willemstad, Curacao, Netherlands West Indies.

With the unofficial returns showing URD leading, the government clamped down a censorship Monday which prevented correspondents from filing dispatches telling of the election.

This dispatch was the first received from Caracas in more than 24 hours.

Hearings Show State Salaries Will Trouble '53 Legislature

DES MOINES (AP)— State salary increases, especially for elective officials who are asking raises, will be a problem for the 1953 Iowa legislature, the state budget hearing before Gov. William S. Beardsley disclosed Wednesday.

A bigger problem may come before the governor today when the state board of education presents budget requests to cover the next biennial expenses of the State University of Iowa, Iowa State college, Iowa State Teachers college and related institutions.

The board has not revealed what its asks will be. But it will be the largest state agency to appear before the governor since the budget hearings started Tuesday. And the requests are expected to be substantially higher than the operating costs allowed the schools two years ago.

About half of the 50 state departments have submitted asks in which Beardsley will base his financial recommendations to the legislature. Practically all of them are seeking increases.

Thus far pay raises asked by elective officials include: Atty. Gen. Robert L. Larson from $7,500 to $10,000 a year; State Auditor Det. B. Akers and Secretary of State Melvin D. Synhorst from $6,500 to $8,500 a year. Treasurer M. L. Abrahamson and Secretary of Agriculture Clyde Spry also are asking $2,000 a year raises.

The asks of the eight agencies heard Wednesday afternoon, with the amounts appropriated for them in 1951 in parentheses, were: natural resources council $93,755 ($50,000); law library $31,835 ($27,000); parole board $97,091 ($82,000); pharmacy board $42,615 ($30,500); pioneer lawmakers $100 ($100); printing board $307,322 ($275,000); real estate commission $25,255 ($18,600); and bonds board one, for educational aid, $6,000 ($4,000).

Food, Toy Collections Planned By Junior Chamber of Commerce

The Iowa City Junior Chamber of Commerce has planned several projects for the Christmas season. Currently underway is the toy collection for needy children headed by Elliott Full.

The JayCees have set up collection points throughout the city where persons may take toys which will be repaired by the JayCees.

Full said that this year they are especially looking for larger toys, in any condition. Wagons, tricycles, doll buggies, and bicycles in repairable condition will be accepted.

3 Collection Points

Points of collection are Weller Service, Dubuque and Market sts.; Larew Co., 227 E. Washington st., and Stop and Shop on S. Riverside drive.

Persons unable to take their toys to one of the collection points should call 8-1181 and arrangements will be made for the Boy Scouts to pick them up.

Frank Roberts, Iowa City, is chairman of the food collecting project. The JayCees will put food baskets in various stores in the city and people are asked to deposit food for the needy in these baskets.

Baskets will be placed in the stores the week of Dec. 14 and picked up Dec. 20. Signs will be placed on the baskets designating their purpose.

Food Collection Committee

The committee on this project includes: Bob Clem, Harold Spencer, Duane Nollsch, Don Lewis, Duane Means, and Larry Parsons, all of Iowa City.

Plans also are being made for a children's Christmas party to be held Dec. 16 in the Hospital for Severely Handicapped Children. Bud Houghton, Iowa City, is chairman of the event.

A party for children of JayCee members will be held at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 16 at the Mayflower Inn. George Hertz is in charge of arrangements.

ROTC Chief Receives Medal

Lt. Col. ROBERT W. FRITZ, chief of the SUI ROTC engineer section, right, receives the Bronze Star medal from Col. Walter E. Sewell, head of SUI military science and tactics. Fritz was cited for meritorious service in connection with military operations in Korea from September, 1951 to April, 1952. The award was made in the armory Wednesday morning. Fritz has been with the ROTC department since July 1952.

String Quartet Pleases Crowd

By JIM GOLTZ

Four musicians, known collectively as the "New Music String Quartet," enchanted a local audience in the Iowa Memorial Union Wednesday night with the intricate blending of violin, cello and viola.

The ensemble presented a program confined to the stately and lilting strains of Beethoven and Debussy and the powerful and emotional resonance of the contemporary Bartok.

The opening selection, Beethoven's "Quartet in G Major," began with a well-spaced and sparkling Allegro, followed by a solemn Adagio, ending with a courtly and melodic movement.

Easily the most outstanding number performed was Bartok's "Quartet No. 4," its five movements containing a weird emotional pitch which has come to be identified with the name of the composer.

The Allegro movement consisted of a series of short, blunt notes rapidly intertwined. Passages which called for the violinist, Broadus Egle to employ high notes followed by the bass tremblings of the cello, were used effectively.

Pulsating effects, achieved by the plucking of strings, were combined with surging passages, the total result being an offering in contemporary chamber music.

Debussy's "Quartet in G Minor" was divided into four sections. The opening movement was followed by a second movement which combined light, staccato with flowing, passages, distinguished by the strain of the violin.

As an encore, the Quartet was urged by the audience to repeat the second movement of the Bartok composition.

SUI Law Graduate Elected President Of Local JayCees

New members of the board of directors are Charles Gay, Richard Hinman, Lloyd Berger, Duane Nollsch and David Todd.

New officers will take office Jan. 1.

Iowa Engineers Featured in Publication

How Iowa chemical engineers helped aeronautical researchers reduce gas leaks in high-altitude balloons is described in the lead article of the new issue of "Progress Through Research," a quarterly publication of General Mills, Inc.

"How to Build a Better Skyhook" describes how professors Karl Kammermeyer and James O. Osburn of the SUI department of chemical engineering cooperated in carrying out measurements on the porosity of polyethylene, a thin plastic fabric.

Balloons of this material, which is formed in sheets one-thousandth of an inch thick, are expected eventually to carry 250-pound loads of instruments to altitudes of 23 or more miles, nearly twice the height reached by the rubberized fabric balloons of the 1930's.

From a coastguard vessel in Greenland waters, polyethylene balloons carried rockets into the stratosphere last summer in a project under the direction of James Van Allen, head of the university's physics department. The rockets in turn bore cosmic ray instruments to record-breaking 47-mile altitudes.

Kammermeyer and Osburn, the "Progress Through Research" article says, told the laboratory that holes smaller than 1/250th of an inch in diameter would not lead to much loss of lifting gas because gas could not go through such small openings very fast. As they put it, "the velocity of transfer" was low.

In the Iowa project, which was financed by General Mills, three students assisted in contributing basic data on the flow of helium, oxygen, and nitrogen through the plastic films, Kammermeyer says.

In experiments last spring Charles W. Hancher, E4, Iowa City; Francis B. McDaniels, G. Newton, and Robert F. Mulvey, E4, Albany, N.Y., placed the plastic sheets to be tested between heavy iron plates a foot in diameter.

Gas was then forced through an opening in the first plate at pressures as high as 70 pounds per square inch, Osburn explains. The gas which penetrated the thread of mercury through a thin graduated tube which protruded three feet long which protruded through an opening in the second iron plate.

DEAR JOE AND JANE:

Been some time since we've written you a letter so you will have to forgive us if we get a little gabby.

We want to tell you about a movie that starts tomorrow that we know you will enjoy. It features no great stars... it is not a gigantic, super colossal production that took years to make or millions to produce... but rather it is what we in the trade call a "sleeper."

A "sleeper" in movie jargon is a picture that when the producer has finished it he is not sure what he has done... but it turns out that the public thoroughly enjoys it and the producer winds up with a hit on his hands instead of a headache.

BRANDY FOR THE PARSON turned out just that way under the deft handling of the British. What could have been a serious film turns out to be a delightful comedy about two reluctant brandy smugglers and the humorous incidents that occur in their trying to evade the customs inspectors.

Most of you remember TIGHT LITTLE ISLAND and the hilarity it contained. BRANDY FOR THE PARSON is in the same vein.

And to add to a perfect two hours of entertainment we offer 3 more in the series of Mr. Magoo cartoons.

We urge you to see BRANDY FOR THE PARSON. You will find yourself laughing out loud as you leave the Capitol.

Yours for the Capitol entertainment.
Ernie Pannos

Committee to Review Wilson Fellowship Bids

Nominations for the national Woodrow Wilson fellowship program from SUI will be reviewed by a regional committee for the program during the remainder of this month and in January, according to Prof. Gerald S. Else, head of the Iowa department of classics and chairman of the committee.

The university nominations will be screened along with others from all Iowa colleges, as well as those from colleges and universities in Wisconsin, Minnesota and the province of Manitoba in Canada, comprising Region 9.

"The national program is designed to recruit for the teaching profession young men and women who possess the highest qualities of intellect, character and personality, in particular those who have not previously planned on an academic career or at least are undecided upon it," Else says.

A development on a nation-wide scale of the Woodrow Wilson fellowship program established by Princeton university in 1945, the program is now sponsored by the association of graduate schools in the association of American universities. The fellowships have been underwritten by the association and by generous grants from the Carnegie corporation.

The fellowships are awarded upon invitation only and only upon nomination by responsible members of the academic profession, according to Else. For the present they are confined to persons whose primary interest lies in the humanities and the social sciences.

After the nominations have been studied by the regional committee they will be forwarded to the national director of the program at Princeton university for final approval, Else states.

Service in Korea Wins Bronze Star For ROTC Officer

Lt. Col. Robert W. Fritz, chief of the ROTC engineer section, was awarded the Bronze Star medal for meritorious service in Korea Wednesday morning at the armory.

Fritz was cited for meritorious service in connection with military operations in Korea from September, 1951 to April, 1952.

The citation read, in part: "Colonel Fritz successfully directed and supervised the operations of an engineer combat battalion in the face of adverse conditions of weather, terrain, enemy action and equipment and manpower shortages."
