

Eisenhower 'Shocked' By Truman's Attacks On Trip

Determined To Prevent Public Dispute

HONOLULU (AP) — President Dwight D. Eisenhower is shocked and puzzled by President Truman's blast at his trip to Korea, it was learned Friday, but is determined not to become involved in any public wrangle with the president.

From sources of the highest reliability, it can be said that Eisenhower feels the Truman blast at him was uncalled for, undignified, and should be ignored.

Truman Attacks Trip
Truman told a news conference Thursday that the Eisenhower journey to Korea was the result of political demagoguery and declared Gen. Douglas MacArthur would lay before the administration any Korean peace plan MacArthur may discuss with Eisenhower.

The President-elect will continue on the course he has set to find a solution to the war in Korea, and this will include a study of MacArthur's proposals along with others advanced by his advisers on ways and means of ending the struggle in Korea.

Against Forced Repatriation
But, it was learned, Eisenhower grimly determined that the United States will not bring an end to the Korean struggle unless a truce calls for the return of American prisoners of war now held by the Communists. And he is on record against forced repatriation of Communist prisoners held by the Allies.

These developments came as Eisenhower was winding up his last day of talks with key advisers here before leaving today for New York.

Plans for the day indicated more than work, but he will continue talks with John Foster Dulles, the next secretary of state, Gov. Douglas McKay of Oregon, who will be his secretary of interior, and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, commander in chief of the Pacific fleet.

No Answers for Truman
Two associates said he was determined not to answer attacks on the value of his trip to Korea by President Truman, who Thursday called the trip a piece of campaign demagoguery. It is known that Eisenhower, who began the journey two weeks ago, feels the nature was of great value.

The only ripple of excitement at the marine air station where Eisenhower is relaxing, was a report from the Honolulu base secret service that it had picked up an unidentified teenager, overheard threatening the President-elect's life.

The secret service gave no further details of the incident beyond saying that the boy had been handed over to the juvenile court.

Generals To Meet
Looming ahead was a dramatic meeting with Eisenhower's old military superior, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, probably early next week in New York city, on the Korean conflict.

MacArthur's statement to the National Association of Manufacturers last week that, "I am confident there is a clear and definite solution to the Korean conflict," drew proposals Friday for an immediate extraordinary session of the senate armed services committee.

Sen. Hunt (D-Wyo.) said he thought congress should be "informed and consulted" at once if there is any new plan to end the war.

Hunt's Proposal Given
Hunt proposed that the senate committee call "either or both" Eisenhower and MacArthur to brief the committee. Chairman Russell said in Atlanta, however, he doubted if such a meeting would be useful while congress is not in session.

A Condensation of Late Developments

SEOUL, Saturday (AP)—Chinese Communists seized the peaks of both Big and Little Nori on the turbulent Western Front late Friday. The Reds held grimly to both positions through a night of thunderous artillery duels lit by the flares of Allied planes. It was the second straight day of savage battling with the South Korean First Division. Both sides swept back and forth across the shell-pitted outposts guarding one of the main invasion routes to Seoul. Allied big guns smashed steadily at Communist positions. The Reds equally Allied firepower — sometimes at the rate of 3,000 shells an hour — for shorter periods.

CASABLANCA, French Morocco (AP) — Arabs mourning their not dead filed to and from the Moslem mosque here Friday under the muzzles of French machine guns set up as a precaution against new disorders. Foreign Legionnaires manned the machine guns. They surrounded the huge square in front of the mosque early on this Moslem sabbath — set aside in memory of the 200 or more Arabs killed in demonstrations here since Sunday — and aimed their weapons directly at its entrance. Hundreds of Moroccans gathered for prayers.

BAGDAD, Iraq (AP) — Sen. Guy Gillette (D-Ia.) said Friday. "We are touring Middle East countries to study and report on American information services and cultural centers, their problems, success, shortcomings and financing." The senator, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview his trip was undertaken to study and report on political and economic conditions in these countries to help "better understanding of these countries by America and better cooperation." Sen. Gillette heads one of three missions, formed by the Foreign Relations Committee, which visited India, Pakistan and Iran and will visit Lebanon, Syria and Egypt.

Hearing of MacArthur Demanded by Senator

WASHINGTON — Demands for an immediate congressional hearing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's views on ending the Korean war boiled up on Capitol Hill Friday in the wake of President Truman's statement that he doesn't think MacArthur has any new solution.

Sen. Hunt (D-Wyo.) said in a letter to chairman Russell (D-Ga.) that the senate armed services committee has "a clear cut obligation, not just to the boys in Korea and their parents, but to entire nation" to call an immediate session.

Rep. Wickersham (D-Okla.), a member of the house armed services committee, went further. He proposed a joint session of both the senate and house committees behind closed doors.

"For his sake and the country's sake, he (MacArthur) should be heard," Wickersham said.

In addition to telegraphing his proposal to Chairman Russell and Vinson (D-Ga.), Wickersham said he also had wired MacArthur asking if he would be receptive to the idea. Wickersham was a member of a congressional delegation that visited Korea earlier this year.

Sen. Hunt wrote Russell: "If the general has a 'clear and definite solution' to the Korean war there certainly can be no justification in withholding it from the chiefs of staff, the congress or the American people."

Declaring congress should be "informed and consulted" at once.

Iowa's TV Future To Be Revealed

A blue print for future development of educational television in Iowa will be revealed for the first time Tuesday in Des Moines at Gov. Beardley's conference on educational television.

Conference program details were announced Thursday by officials of the Iowa joint committee on educational television, a special committee appointed by the board of education and the department of public instruction.

According to the announcement, the ICJET has developed a plan for a system of educational television stations which would function as an Iowa network, bringing educational television service to every Iowa home.

Nearly 200 representatives of 87 Iowa organizations devoted to the promotion of education have been invited to the meeting. Beardley's conference parallels those called this month by Gov. Dewey of New York, Gov. Warren of California, Gov. Fine of Pennsylvania and the governors of several other states.

Patrolman Kills Robbery Suspect From Oskaloosa

OSKALOOSA (AP) — A man sought in a Des Moines robbery was shot and killed early Friday by a highway patrolman as law enforcement officers intercepted him near his home.

The man, Elman J. Mitchell, 39, of Oskaloosa, was being sought in connection with the robbery of Mrs. Esther Clement, 49, Des Moines tavern operator, of $300 Thursday night.

Fourteen witnesses testified Friday afternoon at a two-hour inquest into the shooting. The jury found that the fatal shot was fired by Highway Patrolman Dean Lewis "while in the act of apprehending the deceased for commission of the crime of robbery. It was justifiable and in the performance of duty."

"We commend Patrolman Lewis," the verdict continued, "for extraordinary valor in leading the posse, and we exonerate him of any criminal liability."

Among the witnesses were Mrs. Clement, who told of the robbery; and Mahaska County Sheriff Dwight Mateer, Patrolman Lewis and two deputy sheriffs, who told of the search for Mitchell and the shooting.

Christmas Seal Drive Reaches Half of Goal

The goal has been set at approximately $8,000, and current receipts total $4,200. The drive began Nov. 19.

Officials Seek Files on Subversives for Lie

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — A U. S. state department committee and the American justice department officials are reported working on ways of giving confidential information on suspected subversives to UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie.

The final decision will be up to President Truman, informed sources said Friday. This development came as resentment was reported growing among UN delegations over the conduct of the whole question of subversives in the UN.

Delegates Present Views
Some delegates, who would be identified, said there is a strong feeling that the delegations should be informed about what is going on and not have to read sketched reports second-hand.

These delegates said it is expected that the question of loyal employees, and the system used to fire subversives, might come up today in the financial committee when it takes up the question of UN staff regulations. This may be delayed, however, until a later date.

A source close to Lie said there are no new firings of disloyal employees in prospect at this moment but it was acknowledged that no one knew just when sufficient information might be received on which to base action in some cases now pending.

Lie to Meet with Officials
Lie is expected to meet soon with U. S. Atty. Gen. McGranery and with Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.), who has taken a keen interest in the issue of subversives in the UN.

Wiley was designated by the U. S. early in the present general assembly to handle the subject of disloyal employees in talks with UN officials and to inquire whether Lie needs more authority for firing persons found to be subversive.

Persons familiar with Lie's views reiterated emphatically that

UN Rejects Plan For Tunis Dispute

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United Nations rejected Friday night an Arab-Asian plan for UN help in settling the bitter French-Tunisian dispute.

The 60-nation political committee adopted instead a mildly worded Latin American proposal which merely appeals to France to negotiate with Tunisia.

The United States and most of the Western nations voted against the Arab-Asian plan. The Soviet bloc favored it. The Arab-Asian nations, after losing their proposal then switched and supported the moderate Latin American resolution. It carried by a vote of 45 for, 3 against, and 10 abstentions including the Soviet bloc and Britain.

Lie never has and never would fire any person on the basis of a brief comment from the United States.

Lie Wants Facts
These persons said that Lie always insists on having the facts. They acknowledge that the U. S. cannot give the detailed FBI reports because they contain the names of informers and other secret data.

But, they said it should be possible for the justice and state departments to make a digest of the essential information in such a form that Lie would be able to act.

Lie announced Thursday he had asked full information to act on suspects. His aides have pointed out that persons so far discharged as subversives were fired on the basis of their own appearances before federal inquiries in New York and not on the basis of a simple adverse comment from the state department.

Hillel Foundation Hears Talk on Anti-Semitism

"Anti-Semitism is one of the most ominous and sinister manifestations in our western world," Prof. William O. Aydelotte said Friday night in a speech at Hillel foundation.

Aydelotte felt that there had been a gradual improvement in the area during the last 20 years mainly because of a more truthful and objective attitude toward the problem and its causes.

Several superficial reasons have been given to explain the development of anti-Semitic attitudes, according to him. One of these is the vast theological difference between Christians and Jews. This cannot historically be true, since the height of anti-Semitic feeling developed during the 18th and 19th centuries, a period characterized by increasing religious tolerance, by increasing religious tolerance, he said.

Another explanation advanced, Aydelotte said, is that anti-Semitism is merely a natural reactionary political attitude. He said that this cannot be true because it is found in every political element, be it reactionary or liberal.

The explanation of anti-Semitism "must" be psychological, since we are dealing with a type of mass hysteria," Aydelotte said. The elements of the problem lie within the mind of the anti-Semite, Aydelotte added. "Anti-Semitism is not an opinion, it is an emotional experience, an attitude voluntarily assumed." He feels that it is closely related to the insecurity of the world today and the tendency to scapegoat.

The solution can only come from "an analysis of the deepest problems of the whole society," Aydelotte concluded.

The speech was sponsored by Hillel foundation in conjunction with the YMCA.

Occupational Skit To Be Televised

The great number of possible occupations in the world today is pointed out in "40,000 Plus," the TV Schooltime show which will be presented on WOI television Tuesday at 10 a.m.

According to Laurence McKune, writer and director of the show, there are now more than 40,000 different ways to make a living.

The show features Norma Sexton, A4, Des Moines, as Miss Nixgent, a reporter who visits the high school vocational counselor in search of a feature story on job opportunities, and Walter Friedhoff, G, Iowa City, as the counselor. Mayta Wiley, A1, West Union, plays Lucille, the high school girl who hopes to become a reporter.

Announcement of "40,000 Plus" was made by John Ross Winnie, director of TV Production at SUI. C. A. Gerken serves as technical consultant for the show.

Study Center Administration Is Planned

Plans for administration of the newly-established center for continuation study on the campus have been announced by SUI President Virgil M. Hancher.

Seven faculty members were named by Hancher to membership on a committee which will formulate policies for operation of the center and to advise the coordinator of conferences.

Named to the latter position was William D. Coder, who has served as coordinator of veterans service at the university. He will be an ex-officio member of the policy-making committee.

Moeller, Ladd To Serve
Leslie G. Moeller, director of the school of journalism, was appointed to a one-year term on the committee. C. Woody Thompson, director of the bureau of business and economic research, and Dean Mason Ladd of the college of law will serve two-year terms, while Prof. Lloyd Knowler, head of the department of mathematics and astronomy, will serve three years on the committee.

Four-year terms will be served by Dr. Walter R. Ingram, head of the department of anatomy, and Prof. Hew Roberts of the college of education. Robert F. Ray, director of the institute of public affairs, will hold a five-year appointment.

The committee is responsible for formulating long-range plans in the continuation study area, including the need for physical plant facilities, program and personnel. As conference coordinator, Coder will aid in planning programs, supervise procedures and encourage the holding of conferences of value to Iowa interest groups.

Law Commons Site
Located in the former Law Commons dormitory, the center for continuation study has already been host to more than a dozen conferences and short courses since its establishment earlier in the fall. Numerous other meetings are scheduled for the center during the remainder of the 1952-53 school year.

Texas Minister Heads National Church Council

Methodist Bishop William C. Martin, 59, of Dallas, Tex., was named unanimously as president of the National Council of Churches of Christ of the U. S. A., succeeding Episcopal Bishop Henry Knox Sherill of Greenwich, Conn.

"If we are to win, our players must control the board consistently, so Michigan cannot start the fast break," said coach Bucky O'Connor. "However, I expect that we will have a hard time on the boards," he added.

1,200 Blood Donors Sought in Local Red Cross Drive

Blood donor cards for SUI students will be distributed to each housing unit after the holiday recess, Mrs. Leslie G. Moeller, chairman of the Red Cross blood collection program, announced Friday. Quota for Iowa City and SUI is 792 pints, but 1,200 pledges to give blood will be sought, she said.

Blood donations will be accepted in the First Methodist church basement on Jan. 19 through 21. Students who wish to give blood must have written permission from their parents unless they are 21 or married.

Persons who give blood must be 18 through 59 years of age, in good health, and must weigh at least 110 pounds. Donors must not have given blood for at least three months before the date of the drive.

Students Assist
Chairman for student Red Cross activities is Karen Kratz, N2, Rockford, Ill., and chairman for the student blood drive is Charlotte Becker, A3, Burlington. He added that several of the same players from the 1952 season have improved and now are using the speed which they failed to use under the deliberate style of play used last year.

Farm Bureau Raps Price, Wage Controls

SEATTLE (AP)—The American Farm Bureau Federation criticized price and wage controls Thursday as "unsound," endorsed the principle of a flexible farm price support program and struck at what it called "monopolistic practices of labor."

The resolutions highlighted a 72-page array of policy recommendations adopted at the closing session of the 34th annual convention of the nation's largest farm organization.

Endorses Collective Bargaining
The labor resolution expressed support of the right of labor to bargain collectively but added a charge that "monopolistic practices of labor have been exercising a flagrant disregard of individual rights and the national welfare."

Another resolution expressed the belief the federation's previous stand for a flexible price support program still is sound.

Under a 1952 amendment to the law, the existing support, effective for the next two years, is at 90 per cent of parity—the so-called fair price. The conservative-minded federation reaffirmed its favor for the original 1948-49 law for support ranging from 75 to 90 per cent of parity, depending on the surplus.

Proposes Study
The resolution, as adopted, proposed that the federation directors make a full study of farm price legislation, with an eye toward the expiration of the present 90 per cent law in 1954.

3-Way Scrap Develops On War Solution

By J.M. ROBERTS JR., Associated Press News Analyst

Gen. MacArthur is irked because, until now, nobody has asked his views about Korea, although he had given no tip, until now, that he had changed his mind in any way since those views were so thoroughly aired 20 months ago.

President Truman is irked because, if MacArthur has changed his mind, he thinks the general should have let the commander-in-chief know about it.

And you can bet your bottom dollar that Eisenhower is irked because the President still throws around the term "demagoguery" and other campaign phraseology as though the election weren't over.

The President, of course, has every right to expect that if anyone of MacArthur's experience and stature has a concrete suggestion for ending the war he should give it to proper authorities at the earliest moment. But then Truman takes all practicality out of his demand by saying MacArthur misinformed him once and thus implies that he wouldn't rely on the general again, anyway.

He said he thought the Joint Chiefs of Staff were familiar with MacArthur's ideas and he thought there was nothing new in them.

In weighing MacArthur's recent speech before the National Association of Manufacturers, in which he said there is a solution for Korea which does not involve too many casualties or an extended war, against his 1951 views, two fields of speculation are opened.

Air Attack Possible
One could be an obliterating air attack in north Korea, a revision of what MacArthur once proposed, for that part of China near Korea, a suggestion that was rejected as carrying too much threat of extending the war.

Another could be to send Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist forces back to the mainland for a resumption, with full United Nations support, of the Chinese civil war. That was part of MacArthur's original idea, which he then connected with the bombing of Chinese bases in Manchuria and a blockade of the China coast.

Neither idea has been considered generally as a solution. North Korea is particularly difficult as a strategic bomb target. Western authorities are not convinced that the Nationalist Chinese are in any shape to conduct a good war on the continent.

As a matter of fact, observers generally doubted that MacArthur or anyone else outside the Kremlin can come up with a solution for Korea as long as the Moscow-Peking axis exists.

editorial That No-Cut Rule

Ever since the college of liberal arts announced last year that it was considering dropping the controversial no-cut rule here, much time has been spent by students, and faculty members, too, debating the merits of the issue.

A decision concerning a permanent suspension, or continued enforcement of the rule, was to have been made on the basis of a series of trial periods at vacation times. These periods were to be conducted during the 1951-52 school year with a decision to be made this year following a study of the results.

The trial periods were extended to the current school year—with the understanding that any amount of cutting near a vacation time would automatically mean the renewed reinforcement of the previous no-cut rule.

In effect this would mean that students once again would be "fined" for cutting the day before and the day after an official vacation period. The "fine" would be to add one semester hour to the graduation requirement of a student for each hour of class missed on the no-cut days.

We're guessing, since no figures are available, that an excessive amount of cutting has not taken place so far. This seems apparent by the continued extension of the trial periods.

The Iowan hopes that the results obtained during the Christmas trial period will be conclusive enough to provide the answer that the liberal arts college is seeking. We also hope that the college sees fit to drop the controversial rule.

New Administration's Success Depends on Few Congressmen

WASHINGTON (CP)—A few men, possibly a half dozen, will wield the power in the new congress that will possibly determine success or failure of the first Republican administration in 20 years.

As the 83rd congress prepared to convene Jan. 3, it became steadily apparent that the most important man on Capitol Hill during the next two, and possibly four, years is "Mr. Republican" himself, Senator Robert A. Taft, of Ohio.

His counterpart in the House will be Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr., of Massachusetts. The next speaker, a quiet man, in contrast to the dynamic Taft, but one who wields great influence among his fellow Republicans.

Taft to Lead Senate
While Taft will be the undisputed leader of the senate, regardless of what official title he actually holds, there will be others who, because of their positions, will wield great power in determining the course of major legislation and congressional activities.

Among them are Senator Styles Bridges, New Hampshire, present Republican floor leader who is expected to become chairman of the powerful senate appropriations committee; Senator Eugene Millikin, Colorado, chairman of the Republican Conference, the GOP caucus, and new head of the senate finance committee; Senator Alexander Wiley, Wisconsin, prospective chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, and Senator Joseph McCarthy, Wisconsin, who will head the potent investigative senate government operations committee.

Halleck Important Man
In the house a similar situation exists. There, Rep. Charles Halleck, Indiana, will be an important wheel in the Republican machine in his position as majority floor leader.

Others in important positions who will help determine the course of legislation are Reps. Lee Allen, Illinois, who will head the house rules committee, with its life-and-death control over bills; John Taber, New York, new chairman of the appropriations committee, with its control over the nation's purse strings; Daniel Reed, New York, prospective head of the ways and means committee, where all revenue legislation (including tax cuts) originates, and Jesse Wolcott, Michigan, who will lead the banking and currency committee, with its jurisdiction over economic controls.

Chairmen Are 2d Echelon
The committee chairmen make up what might be called the second echelon of power in the new congress. The top echelon, the group that will actually determine major policy, will consist of the following:

In the senate, Taft, Bridges and Millikin. In the house, Martin, Halleck and Allen.

While the others will have important decisions to make on legislation, their course will be largely determined by the policies established by the top echelon. If they fail to heed the wishes of the GOP leadership, the latter is usually in a position to block action on their bills.

There are some "mavericks" who may cause the Republican leadership trouble, among them Joseph McCarthy, the controversial junior senator from Wisconsin. McCarthy's chairmanship of the senate government operations committee will place him in a position where he can direct extensive and sweeping investigations.

Democrats in Minority
While the Democrats will be in a minority, there will be a few men among them who will nevertheless wield considerable influence in the Republican congress, because the GOP majority in each chamber consists of only a few votes.

Senator Harry Byrd, Virginia, will be looked to by the Republican leadership to swing over southern support in the event of defections on the GOP side. Senator Richard Russell, Georgia, an unofficial head of the senate minority, will be much sought after also by the Republicans. Senator Lyndon Johnson, Texas, will be the Democratic floor leader.

In the house, two potent southern Democrats are expected to work closely with the Republicans on important legislation, as they have in the past. They are Reps. Howard Smith, Virginia, and E. E. Cox, Georgia, undisputed leaders of the southern wing.

Speaker To Be Floor Leader
Speaker Sam Rayburn, Texas, will step down in the new congress and probably become Democratic floor leader. He will be assisted by Rep. John McCormack, Massachusetts, the present majority leader. Rayburn commands great respect among his colleagues, but does not always influence the voting of the southern members.

Vice-President-elect Richard Nixon will be important in the new congress in the event of a senate tie. In his position as the senate's presiding officer, he will be able to break it. However, he is not expected to wield great influence otherwise unless General Eisenhower gives him additional duties.

General Eisenhower will have to depend in great measure for the success or failure of his legislative program upon two men who did not support him in his fight for the Republican nomination.

Martin favored the nomination of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, while Taft was Eisenhower's strongest contender for the honor.

Moline Merchants Petition to Operate City Bus Service

CHICAGO (AP)—The Illinois Commerce commission this week set for Dec. 19 a hearing on a petition of Moline merchants to operate emergency bus service during an AFL driver strike.

The merchants began operating buses Nov. 11 without a certificate from the commission, which regulates all state utilities. The strike against the Rock Island-Moline City Lines Inc. began Sept. 1.

At Wednesday's hearing Fred Pettit, attorney for National City Lines Inc. parent company of the bus lines asked the commission to deny the merchants' petition and for the issuance of an immediate cease and desist order.

A separate hearing on the motions has been set for the week of Dec. 22.

In setting the next hearing, Gibbons asked Hays Murphy, attorney for the merchants to submit rules and regulations of their proposed operation, insurance policies, lease between the merchants and the company supplying the buses, a map of proposed and existing routes, time schedules, amount and names of each contributor to the operation, and the agreement between the merchants underwriting the operation.

Van Bloomberg, Moline merchant and president of the interim bus line, testified that the operation has been underwritten and all the stock of the merchant corporation has been subscribed to.

Americans in Europe Hear Fate of Religion Behind Iron Curtain

DENVER (AP)—America's most representative church party Thursday heard a first hand report of Christianity behind the Iron Curtain in Germany—of arrests, restrictions and fear—of a bishop and his great following looked in a battle with communism.

The report came from bishop Otto Dibelius, the grey-haired, outspoken spiritual leader of 40 million protestants, most of whom live in the Eastern zone of Germany.

"In such an atmosphere of hostility," he said "it is not easy to live as a Christian."

Flows from Berlin
The 72-year-old bishop, one of the few men in Germany who moves back and forth across the East-West German boundary to administer to his flock, had flown here from Berlin to address the General Assembly of the Christ in the USA.

Before he spoke, reporters asked at a news conference if he weren't afraid his remarks might cause reprisals when he returns home. The bishop, a short, goateed, bright-eyed man, grinned and said:

Has Told Own People
"I have told my own people everything I tell you. The Russians know what I believe."

To the 2,000 church leaders here, representing 34 million members of Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations in this country, the bishop said:

"God has made Germany a battlefield in this fight. We realize that it is a fatal question for all the world whether we Christians in Germany withstand and finally win. Nobody can relieve us of this responsibility. Nobody can help us in this decisive question."

3 SUI Professors Publish Book on Speech Correction

CO-AUTHORS D. C. SPRIESTERSBACH, Wendell Johnson, and Frederic L. Darley, are shown discussing their new book, "Diagnostic Manual in Speech Correction," which represents the results of over a quarter of a century of clinical work and research in the SUI Speech Clinic.

A new book, Diagnostic Manual in Speech Correction, by Professors Wendell Johnson, Frederic L. Darley and D. C. Spriestersbach of the speech clinic, has just been published by Harper and Brothers, New York city.

The first book of its kind to be published in this field, it represents the results of more than a quarter of a century of clinical work and research in the SUI speech clinic.

The volume is designed to be used in professional training courses and also as a working manual by physicians, clinical psychologists, and special education supervisors, as well as speech correctionists in public schools, hospitals, or in private practice.

Containing descriptions of the various tests and other diagnostic procedures essential in the examination and diagnosis of clinical cases of impaired speech, the book also includes background information concerning each test or method, as well as its uses and limitations, and its general place in the overall examination procedure. Suggestions are given for practice with each procedure by students in training.

The reader is also given an orientation to the field of speech correction, and students using the book are provided with aid for building a working professional vocabulary, methods for developing interviewing skills writing case histories and doing the other things essential to effective speech diagnosis.

Johnson is director of the speech clinic and chairman of the council on speech pathology and audiology. He is the past president of the American Speech and Hearing association, and he is chairman of the National Speech Correction fund.

Darley is in charge of the outpatient speech clinic and the summer speech clinic for children, while Spriestersbach is chairman of the committee on clinical standards in speech of the American Speech and Hearing association. He is executive secretary of the council on speech pathology and audiology.

Meier to Address National Convention Of Theater Group

Prof. Norman C. Meier, director of the bureau of audience research at SUI, will deliver a lecture entitled "Audience Response Measurement and Its Implications for Improvement of Productions," at the American Educational Theater association convention to be held Dec. 29, 30, and 31, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

The AETA is an association of persons interested in the educational aspects of the theater, including high school, community, and college personnel, and members of the theatrical profession.

This year's convention will include meetings on specialized phases of theater teaching, such as acting, the use of puppets, technical production, designing simple scenery, and theater architecture.

AETA has two new services this year. The contact placement service has been set up to help AETA members find better jobs. The professional problems consultation service has also been set up to offer private consultations on professional problems.

As one of the main entertainment features, the University of Cincinnati Mummer's Guild will present Christopher Fry's recent Broadway success, "The Lady's Not for Burning." The play will be presented arena style.

Jewelers Extend Information Concerning Wristwatch Care

Although almost everybody owns one, most people know less about their watches than about any other possession of equal value.

What accuracy can you expect from your watch? If you want accuracy and durability, choose a watch that is as large as your taste will allow. The larger the watch, the easier it is to make and repair, the greater the precision that can be built into it, and the sturdier each part can be.

A good watch, man's size, may give accurate service for a lifetime. A good watch, woman's size, may, with care, give satisfactory service for 25 years. Most of the 10 million watches bought every year in the United States are wrist models.

Tiny jewels are used as bearings in watches to minimize the wear caused by the friction of moving parts. All fine watches are jeweled but not all jeweled watches are fine. Sometimes watches are "dummy-jeweled" — jewels are added merely as a sales feature at points where they do no good at all. So don't let the number of jewels be the deciding factor when you buy a watch.

What care should you give your watch? Lint and dust are the principal enemies, they clog the tiny gears and cause the oil to harden. Never allow anyone but an expert watch repairman to open your watch case, dust in the air and moisture from your breath of fingers will cause trouble.

A man's watch of average size should be cleaned and oiled at least every two years, smaller watches, every year or 18 months. There is no oil known which does not dry out or become gummy within this time span. The smaller

Watch Care Suggested
When a watch crystal breaks, put the watch in a paper envelope and take it to your jeweler. If you wrap it in a cloth or handkerchief you expose the works to lint and you may break the hands. Treat your watch like the delicate instrument it is.

If you drop your watch in water dip it in benzine at once and take it to a jeweler as soon as possible. Any delay may cause serious rust damage.

Choose your watch-repairman carefully. Insufficiently skilled repairmen probably do more damage to watches than do careless owners. If you have a fine watch, don't balk at the cost of having it cleaned and oiled. The watch must be completely taken apart and every one of the tiny parts put into a chemical to clean away dirt, dust and gummed oil. Then it must be reassembled and regulated.

Reliable Jewelers Best
If you are going to spend much money buying a watch, buy from a reliable jeweler or watchmaker. Tell the jeweler why you want a watch — whether you regard it primarily as jewelry or as a timekeeper. Tell him what kind of everyday wear it will be subjected to.

Buying an expensive watch should be a transaction not only in money but in confidence. A reliable jeweler stands behind each expensive watch he sells, over and above the guarantee offered by the maker. If you buy from a reliable expert, and consult him when something goes wrong, he will be your best ally in securing many years of service from your timepiece.

Spices, Flavoring Used
Darzes kitchen also has a loaf, shell containing spices and flavoring used in their candy.

The proprietors of the shop are not revealing any secrets of candy making but we did find out how two favorite candies are made.

Stuffed dates contain English walnuts and are covered with a sugar coating. A specialty called "lumps and bumps" consists of marshmallows, pecan halves and a chocolate covering.

Darzes Candy Shop is the ideal place to do your Yuletide candy shopping.

Sanitone Used — At Kelley Cleaners

Kelley Cleaners, the oldest cleaners in Iowa City, was started by T. Dell Kelley, 55 years ago. It is one of the three oldest cleaners in the state of Iowa. Kelley's son now operates the business that was made into a corporation in 1935.

Fifty-five years ago work was all done by hand with a few large tailor's irons which were heated on a stove or gas plate. The cleaning industry itself had only been known to the world for five years prior to this. To the public, having their clothes cleaned was only a once or twice a year proposition.

Free pick up and delivery has been part of Kelley's service since the business started. Kelley operated the first panel delivery truck seen on the streets of Iowa City. Prior to this he used a horse and buggy to pick up and deliver his customers' clothes.

Kelley's Is Largest
Kelley Cleaners is now the largest cleaners in Iowa City and the only one that offers Iowa Citizens complete cleaning and laundry service for upholstered furniture, drapes, clothes, and rugs.

The slogan has stayed in the minds of all of us because of Yellow-Checker Cab's quick, convenient and safe service for Iowa Citizens. You can rely upon them for 24 hour service.

Anytime, day or night, in any emergency — to the game, to a formal, to the train, or to be on time for class, you can count on Yellow-Checker Cab to be on hand to give you the kind of transportation you desire.

Sanitone System Used
The first patents covering Sanitone and its method of application were issued in 1933. Kelley Cleaners in Iowa City is among the 1,800 Sanitone licensees in the United States and Canada. The use of Sanitone is allowed to only one cleaning concern in a specified area. Sanitone is also issued to only one cleaners in such metropolitan areas as Chicago, Omaha, and Des Moines.

This process of cleaning is issued only to those cleaners who are reliably established in these areas. The cleaners have to do a proper job of cleaning, have trained personnel, and "top-notch" equipment. Sanitone's engineers make periodic checks on all cleaners using their process.

The Sanitone process permits Sanitone licensees to use an adequately controlled amount of water in cleaning operations to remove more successfully all water-soluble soils, such as food, soft drinks and perspiration.

Sanitone More Efficient
Since such substances constitute almost 90 per cent of the soils remaining after the usual cleaning operations, you can see why Sanitone is more efficient and avoids much of the hand spotting used by the ordinary dry cleaner to assure spot-free cleaning.

The Sanitone process was developed with the discovery of "absorbafacient," a blending agent which "fuses" water with the dry cleaning solvent to serve the dual purpose of removing all three kinds of soil, plain "dust," oil-solubles and water-solubles, in one operation.

Let Kelley Cleaners clean your garments for you and prove to you the amazing difference Sanitone service makes.

Darzes Feature Christmas Favorites

Darzes Candy Shop will be one of the most popular places in town during the Christmas season. Holiday shoppers will be stopping in to buy beautifully wrapped boxes of Darzes Christmas candies.

Darzes candies include the traditional red and white striped candy canes and red and green ribbon candy.

The display cases are filled with tinted divinity, mint cream wafers, rosebud mints, slices of rainbow jellies, Jordan almonds, and a variety of chocolates.

Kitchen in Rear
The delicious odors coming from the candy kitchen at the back of the shop make candy buying irresistible. We'd like to take you on a verbal tour of Darzes candy kitchen now.

The shelves are stocked with colorful wrapping paper, ribbon and rows of boxes with separate labels to distinguish the different flavors used in making up mixed boxes of candy.

Two marble-topped tables dominate the kitchen. One is completely covered with peanut brittle left to cool for about 10 minutes. The other table is covered with a one inch thickness of what the shop calls, coconut chop suey, a sweet made from coconut chips, peanuts and other ingredients.

Small Stove for Cooking
In the corner there is a small round gas stove. On top of the stove there is a copper kettle almost as large as the stove itself. The kettle contains candy ingredients which are stirred with a wooden spoon four feet long.

When candy has reached the proper consistency it is poured from the kettle onto one of the cooling tables.

A third table contains an inlaid oven where chocolate is heated for dipping. The oven is large enough to permit two dippers to work simultaneously.

THE COUNTER AND SHELVES of Darzes Candy shop, 123 S. Dubuque st., are filled with confections of all kinds to delight the Christmas candy-giver. Candy canes, ribbon candy, mints and jellies are only a sampling of the variety of candies to be found at Darzes. Darzes are famous in the Iowa City area for featuring candy made in their own kitchen on the premises. Christmas candy from Darzes comes in special holiday wrapping. Candy is a welcome gift during the Yuletide season and throughout the year.

Nebraska Meteor Seen in 3 States Residents Report

Prof. C. C. Wylie, department of astronomy said Friday that a meteor which was seen by residents of three states Thursday night was apparently in the neighborhood of Norfolk, Neb.

The meteor, which witnesses in Iowa, Missouri and Nebraska, said looked "like a bright ball of fire with a long tail," was seen at 8:05 p.m.

Wylie received a report from witnesses at St. Joseph, Mo., who said they saw the meteor due north, moving east to west and falling at an angle of 25 degrees. A brilliant flash of light at 8:05 p.m. Thursday was seen by persons in the Omaha airport control tower. They didn't see the meteor, however.

California Group Plays Composition Written by Clapp

The Fresno State college symphony orchestra in Fresno, Calif., recently played a composition by Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, head of the music department, entitled "Fantasy on an Old Plain Chant" for solo cello and orchestra.

Fred Dempster, cello soloist for the concert, is a candidate for the Ph.D. degree at SUI, and the conductor, Arthur C. Berdahl, received two degrees at SUI, M.A. '31 and Ph.D. '36.

Clapp has had several compositions performed by major orchestras including the New York Philharmonic, Boston symphony, the St. Louis symphony and others.

Report on Primary Laws Released

At the request of an Iowa legislator a research report on the presidential primary laws of other states has been prepared and published by SUI's institute of public affairs.

The report was prepared by the institute at the request of State Representative Alfred E. Jones of Osceola.

Robert F. Ray, director of the institute, said Friday that at Jones' request copies of the report have been distributed to all members of the 1953 Iowa legislature.

Purpose Explained
According to the report, "the purpose of a presidential primary is to give the voters of a political party an opportunity to express their preference among candidates for the presidential nomination of their party . . . either by voting directly for a candidate for the presidential nomination or for delegates to a national party convention which may or may not be pledged legally or morally to support a certain candidate."

In announcing the publication of this report Ray stressed that the institute of public affairs, as a non-political and non-partisan research and service agency of SUI, neither endorses nor opposes presidential primaries.

Included in the report is a listing of the main arguments both for and against presidential primaries. Also included is a "check list" of the many possible features of such laws.

Iowa Primary Endorsed
The report mentions that recently the idea of establishing a presidential primary in Iowa has been endorsed by such groups as the Iowa Farm Bureau federation, the Republican state convention and the Democratic state presidential convention.

The institute of public affairs report shows that in 1952 the law of 19 states provided for some sort of a presidential primary. In Arkansas and Maryland the voters are allowed to vote only for their preference among candidates for the presidential nomination of their party delegates to the national conventions.

In Alabama, Georgia and New York the electorate votes for the delegates from their state to the national conventions but do not vote for candidates for the presidential nomination. The presidential primaries of California, Ohio, South Dakota and Wisconsin are held to elect delegates, but through various means the voters are allowed to express their preference for presidential nominees indirectly.

Delegates, Candidates Elected
The institute's report notes that in 10 states — Florida, Illinois, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Oregon, Pennsylvania and West Virginia — the votes are cast both for delegates and for their presidential preference.

The report discusses in detail the many features of these presidential primary laws. Sections of the laws of these states are quoted at length.

Iowa's procedure for selecting the state's delegates to the national nominating conventions is also explained, Ray says. Reference is made to the present Iowa primary laws for nominating candidates for county and state offices.

In 1913 the Iowa legislature passed a presidential preference primary law. This law was used in 1916 and then repealed. The

Police to Take Courses Here

Two new training schools for policemen — one for commanding officers and one for recruits — will be conducted at SUI next year in addition to the annual peace officers short course.

Announcement of the new courses was made Friday by Prof. Richard L. Holcomb, chief of the bureau of police science in the institute of public affairs.

The new training programs will supplement the work of the annual peace officers short course, which has been held at SUI for the past 16 years, Holcomb says.

The three-day command school, designed for command officers in police departments throughout Iowa, has been scheduled for Feb. 10-12. The program will include discussions of records systems, police public relations, recruitment and training, supervisory techniques and traffic control programs.

The two-week recruit school will provide basic instruction for new recruits and younger officers in Iowa police departments, and is scheduled for May 11-23.

Police to Take Courses Here

The recruit school will be conducted in cooperation with the Iowa Association of Chiefs of Police and Peace Officers.

Officers who attend these courses will live and attend most of their training sessions in the new center for continuation study on the university campus.

Holcomb also announced that the regular peace officers short course, offering training to officers in all levels of law enforcement work, has been scheduled for June 23-26.

TOT COUNSELS DADDY
ST. LOUIS (AP)—John McCann had a few of the boys over for poker one night recently. His tiny daughter Kathleen kept running in and out of the kitchen, thereby interrupting the smooth progress of the game.

Daddy said he would spank her and put her to bed if she didn't stay out of the room. Kathleen merely put her hand on his arm and said, "Down boy."

4 Classics Faculty To Attend Meeting

Four faculty members of the SUI classics department will attend a joint meeting of the American Philological Association and the Archaeological Institute of America in Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 28-30.

Attending will be Gerald F. Else, head of the department, and Myra L. Uhlfelder, George F. Osburn and Oscar E. Nybakken, department members.

Else will be in charge of a panel discussion, "The Author Meets His Critics," at the philological meeting. The topic concerns Cedric H. Whitman's book "Sophocles."

Locke Resigns Post As Middle East Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman Friday accepted with "sincere regret" the resignation of Edwin A. Locke Jr., as a special ambassador in the Middle East.

Locke was called home for "consultation" recently after he delivered a blast against American aid policies in that area.

He called for increased economic aid to Israel and the Arab countries.

Truman's expression of regret coupled with a statement by Secretary of State Acheson that he "greatly appreciated" Locke's work indicated that any differences over policies had been ironed out.

Riasanovsky's Interests Combined in New Book

Prof. Nicholas V. Riasanovsky, department of history, combined several of his major interests in writing his new book, "Russia and the West in the Teaching of the Slavophiles," published this week.

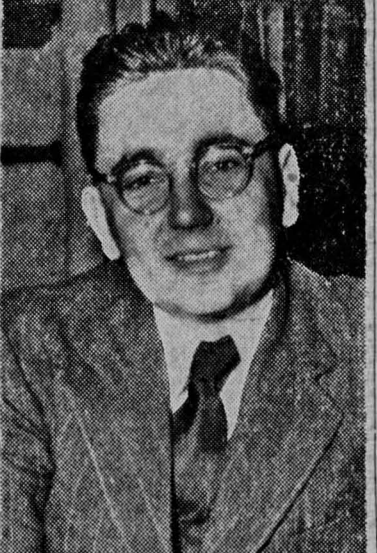

Riasanovsky said that his study of the Slavophiles is a result of a long-standing interest in Russian history, culture and in the intellectual development of modern Europe.

Slavophiles were a group of Russians, especially important from 1840-1860, who developed a broad philosophy and doctrine which had many aspects and represented a Russian version of romanticism.

The book, which Riasanovsky started at Oxford, England, is the first history of Slavophilism to be published in English. Riasanovsky spent approximately three years writing the book.

Writing the book, obtaining much of his information from Russian journals, memoirs, articles, letters and collected works.

Born in China of Russian parents, Riasanovsky has been at SUI four years. He received his B.A. degree from Oregon university, his M.A. from Harvard university and his Ph. D. from Oxford, England.

Nicholas V. Riasanovsky Writes New Book

Riasanovsky has written articles and book reviews for many journals, among them, the American Historical Review and the Russian Review. Two of his articles deal with basic interpretations of Russian history and the relationship of Russia to the west.

Once there was a Girl who was the Prettiest Pigeon in Town. She stood out like a well-constructed Swan amid a Gaggle of Geese. So, during the Christmas holidays, Our Girl had a handful of Invitations. Eighteen just for the big New Year's Eve dance. Her Problem was which Swain to accept. She summoned her small sister, aged 10.

"Chick," she said, "here is a lesson in Practical Psychology. See these eighteen invitations? Only one is from a man of Poise, Personality and Perception. Masterful . . . considerate . . . enterprising . . . subtle . . . sophisticated . . . a Man of Promise. Do you know which one it is?"

"Jeepers no," said the wee Sister, "I don't." From the heap Our Heroine selected One Invitation—a yellow Blank. "Always," she said, "pick one that comes by Telegram." The Small Fry gulped, "Golly, can you tell all that from a Telegram?"

Big Sister closed one lustrous Eye. "Never forget it," she said, "You can't miss."

Wolverines Speedy Under New Coach

62.5 points per game, defeating Marquette and Butler.

The Wolverine squad arrived Friday noon and worked out in the field house in the afternoon.

The game opens Iowa's 44th Big Ten season and it is the earliest league opener in the history of the league.

Chief scoring threats of the Hawks are Deacon Davis, who has averaged 18.5 per game in the win over Butler and the one-point loss to Oklahoma; Ken Buckles, who has hit 13.5; and Chuck Jar-nagin, average of 10.5. Capt. Herb Thompson, one of the top rebounders in the league, has averaged 9.5 per game.

Michigan has several of the same players who compiled a mediocre 4-10 record in the conference last year and the new coach Bill Perigo, has improved them.

Dan Eaddy is high scorer with 16.5 per game and Paul Groffsky, center, averaged 16. Third is Ray Pavichevich, with 12.5.

The Hawkeyes plan to tighten their defensive play even more although they have held two non-conference opponents to only 57.5 per game. Defensively, Michigan must do the same, because the Wolverines have permitted an average of 75 points per game.

Hawkeye teams have won 45 and lost 11 conference games at home in the last nine seasons, and only five in the last three years.

Hawks Leave for Badger Game Sunday Afternoon

Forty-eight hours after tonight's Big Ten opener with Michigan, Iowa plays Wisconsin at Madison in the first conference road game.

Coach O'Connor said that the squad would leave by plane for Madison Sunday at 1 p.m. The game will open the Big Ten season for the Badgers.

Wisconsin apparently has an improved team. The Badgers beat Marquette, 76-55, and Loyola of New Orleans, 81-60. They were not scheduled tonight.

Chief men about whom the Hawkeyes are concerned are Paul Morrow, 6-7 center; and Dick Cable, forward. Morrow scored 4 points in the first two games and Cable hit for 38.

The Badgers do not have a tall team, for Morrow is the only really tall player. Cable is 6-1, Chuck Siefert and Tom Ward, the guards, are 6-1 and 6 feet; and Tony Stracka, forward, 6-2.

At Madison, Iowa always has had trouble beating the Badgers. Wisconsin has won five of the last eight games since 1942. The teams met only once in 1952, Badgers' winning the game at Iowa City in an upset which ultimately cost Iowa a share of the title, for Wisconsin beat Iowa and Illinois, the champion, in the final week.

The best at tumbling is Bob Hazlett, one of the tops in the entire nation. Hazlett was runner-up in NCAA, AAU and conference meets.

Good Overall Picture The overall picture for this season looks better than at any time since 1948 when gymnastics were born at Iowa.

Iowa's team is relatively large for the sport of gymnastics. The main instruction the performer receives is generally while in college and not in high school. In the east and south, gymnastics is taught from grade school on, thus providing fewer men to work all apparatus. Florida took last year's team championship using only three men.

Holzappel announced that the captain of the 1952-53 gymnastics team will be Bernie Westfall and co-captain is Bob Hazlett.

FORD STILL LEADS MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Deadpan Doug Ford, standing off a great first-place bid by handsome Jack Burke, clung to a one stroke lead in the $10,000 Miami Open Golf tournament Friday with a 36-hole six-under-par score of 134.

Gym, Mat Meets Carded Today

Iowa's gymnastics and wrestling squads travel to Chicago and Cedar Falls, respectively, today. The gym team opens its dual competition against the Navy Blue team while the wrestlers, both freshmen and varsity, will compete in the open AAU-sanctioned meet.

The one-day wrestling meet, similar to the one staged by Iowa coach Dave McCuskey here last week, is under the sponsorship of Iowa State Teachers college. Main spots for the Iowa team ride with Don Heaton, George Myers, Ralph Diecks, Jim Moyer, and Joseph Saricao, all first place winners in the meet held here.

Varsity team members and their weight classes include Bob Zenger and LeRoy Hansen, 123; Phil Juggan and Jack Engelby, 130 and 137; Lawrence Gertima, 147; Charles Woodruff, 157; Don Heaton, 167; George Myers and Joe Abodeely, 177; and Streeter Shinn, heavyweight. Of these, Dugan, Engleby and Myers are letterman from last year, with Myers also being the defending Big Ten 191-pound champion.

Even Stronger in '54 Although boasting several individuals who possibly can go far in their divisions this season, McCuskey feels that Iowa should be much stronger as a team next year due to a strong crop of freshmen coming up.

Of the some 20 fresh grapplers, McCuskey named the following as "very promising" — Ralph Moore, Wayzata, Minn.; Richard Goviz, Britt; Ralph Riecks, Iowa Falls; Kenneth Leuer, Wayzata, Minn.; Harlan Jenkinson, Waterloo; John Wineser, Waterloo; Richard Goetz, Davenport; Don Kitzmiller, Hindsdale, Ill.; Joseph Shiloan, Davenport; Ken Haddad, Clinton; Jim Moyer, Agency; Bob Utter, Mason City; Alan Bailey, Osage; Jack Wells, Davenport; Lorie Willardson, New Hampton; Fred Jewett, Council Bluffs; Pat Halligan, Ft. Dodge; Bob Fisher, Cedar Falls; Don Kincaid, Palatine, Ill.; Charles Van Ginkel, Des Moines; and John Nunn, Iowa City.

Of these, Goviz, Riecks, Jenkinson, and Winder were prep champions of Iowa last year, while Moore and Leuer captured high school crowns in Minnesota.

This afternoon Iowa's gymnastic team opens its 1952-53 season with a dual meet against Navy Pier in Chicago, which again is fielding a fine team.

Prospective Good Show Iowa is expected to turn in a good show with the following men outstanding on their individual apparatus. On the trampoline it should be Frank La Due followed closely by Bob Hazlett and Bill Sorensen. La Due was National AAU champion last year with Sorensen a close second. Iowa's power is mainly centered in the trampoline.

On the side horse Harvey Prinz should be followed by Dean Willwerth. Both of these men have shown tremendous improvement this fall. Al Fienup and Bernie Westfall are the outstanding performers on the high bar. In last year's competition, Fienup turned in Iowa's best performances consistently.

Fienup again is tops on the parallel bars with Harvey Prinz following. On the flying rings it should be Bernie Westfall, with Jim Norman and Doug Lyman following closely.

The best at tumbling is Bob Hazlett, one of the tops in the entire nation. Hazlett was runner-up in NCAA, AAU and conference meets.

University High Slams West Branch, 58-29

By AL EASTON Daily Iowan Sports Writer The University high cagers overpowered West Branch Friday night in a one-sided cage battle, 58-29.

Led by forward Gardner Van Dyke the Blues took the lead at the start of the game and were never threatened. West Branch, using three freshmen on the starting team, couldn't keep up with U-high's fast break.

Sinking three field-goals in the first two minutes, VanDyke set the pace for the entire game. By midway through the first period, VanDyke had a substantial lead of 11 points, and though the West Branch team managed to cut it down occasionally, it never got close enough to harass the Blues.

Jack Hoffman paced the challenging club but couldn't do much alone. On the other hand it was all VanDyke and the Blue-hawks. The bulk of the scoring and much of the rebounding was handled by the tricky forward as he poured in 23 points before being replaced by a second string man.

Repeats of 1st Period The second quarter and the second half were simply repeats of the opening period. Making use of their height advantage, guard Dick Rider and center Ike Riggle took command of the boards, and fed the ball to VanDyke and John Price to set up the fast break. Price turned in some excellent floor play, but was unable to add much to the scoring.

Although the scoreboard showed a decisive win by the Blues, the actual play showed differently. Had the Bears been able to stop VanDyke in the early stages of the game, the scoring would have been reversed.

VanDyke more than doubled the second highest scorer and controlled the ball most of the time.

Hoffman Plays Well Guard Jack Hoffman of West Branch tried his best to lead the Bears to a much needed victory, but he was hurt by the lack of experience on the part of his teammates. Although he scored no points, he turned in some brilliant play and was the only one who was a threat to the Blues.

The team as a whole was not lacking in spirit and at no time did the Bears show any signs of letting down.

Previewing what was to come in the second game, the U-high reserves defeated the Bears future first-stringers 27-20. Mike Schoenfelder turned in the best performance of the evening and more than equaled some of the ball played in the varsity game.

Writers Say Spring Drill Ban Harmful

NEW YORK (AP) — Last winter the presidents of the eight Ivy group colleges agreed on a new and strict de-emphasis program which banned among other things, spring football practice.

A few other colleges and groups in other sections also eliminated spring drills while most of them limited them to the 20-sessions-in-30-days program recommended by the National Collegiate A.A.

The result was a South of the Border standoff in the minds of the nation's sports writers and broadcasters.

In their replies to the Association, 67 experts saw harmful effects such as poorer play and more injuries as the result of the spring practice ban.

Fifty-five saw no difference in the results or, some improvement, and 45 either failed to answer or said the ban wasn't effective in their parts of the country.

The margin wasn't big enough to be convincing, but some of the comments showed that the writers are ready to be convinced.

"The success of Yale this year, sans spring practice and with a new head coach named shortly before the season, indicates spring practice has been exploited," wrote one observer.

In rebuttal, a number of writers pointed out that the Ivy teams played mostly within their own restricted group and didn't fare too well against teams which had practiced in the spring, citing such games as Yale-Navy and Penn-Georgia. Some of the comments were:

"Unquestionably hurt football in those areas, making it harder for affected teams to compete with non-restricted opponents."

"The Ivy League doesn't need spring practice, anyway. Not for the kind of football they play."

Successor to Imps Davenport's successor to the state crown next spring, if any, is expected to be one from the AA ranks.

Although no class A or B quintets have, to this point, displayed the potential to confiscate the title, there are several AA teams which could very well do the job.

Davenport, which could be paralleled to the football Cleveland Browns and baseball's Yankees, has dominated the prep cage scene now for three consecutive years.

In scanning the ranks of the state's AA schools it is difficult to rate them in one-two-three order. Starting with the Mississippi Valley loop's big guns, Dubuque with Mike (The Touch) Mercer, looks to be good enough for the favorite spot with Clinton and Davenport following closely.

Muscatine and Ottumwa should dominate the Little Six conference, although, Washington and Fairfield are strong enough to throw that league's race into a dogfight. Ottumwa has lost three but all by narrow margins, and could improve with age. Muscatine is rated as the favorite.

Further west in the state the "smart money" is having difficulty finding a favorite. Three teams in the Central Iowa loop could very well reach the state finals barring meetings in pre-state tourney meets.

Marshalltown, which sports a 6-9 center in Jim Sinning, the leading scorer in the conference, has been tabbed as the favorite. This loop, though, is known for unsuspected happenings. Ames and Oskaloosa seem to be the teams which could upset the dopsters with their powerful attacks.

East Waterloo Threatens In the northeast the East Waterloo Trojans loom as another title threat along with Dubuque. The Trojans, who are coached by former Iowa star Murray Wier, dumped Dubuque's six game winning streak last week, 58-55.

East Waterloo's lone defeat was at the hands of a Big Seven conference rival, East Des Moines. The Scarlet, who in the past four years have become perennial cage powers, should be the best in the capital city. Following East for the Des Moines City series title will be Roosevelt. The Riders are paced by guard Bob Keek, who has a 26 point average this season.

Finishing off the strong contenders for the title in the AA division is Sioux City's East high. Cross town rival Central is not too strong this year, and therefore giving East the chance to dominate that city's cage scene for the first time in recent years.

Probable Threat to Davenport Title Lies Among AA Teams will be a strong contender for the state finals, although the Tigers have played no team out of the A or B ranks.

A real battle seems imminent in the north central section between Carroll, of the Midwest Iowa league, and Perry, an independent. Carroll edged Perry recently on the former team's floor and a return battle is scheduled on Perry's court in late January. Along with these two, Ogden, which was a state finalist last season, could be one of the best in this section.

Cherokee has become a yearly power in basketball, along with its dominant role on the gridiron in northwest Iowa's Lakes conference, and should be the class of the A teams in that section. The Indians proved themselves recently by dumping Sioux City Central.

Red Oak Again Red Oak and Villisca, both members of the Southwest Iowa conference, have been slated to battle it out for the trip to Iowa City in March in that corner of the state.

In class B play the only teams that have been really outstanding to date are Roland and Dinsdale. Roland is still propelled by Gary Thompson and has a well balanced team. Dinsdale is figuratively murdering all opposition, and should return to the state finals this year. Both of these teams reached the state tourney last year.

The Sport-log basketball forecasts for tonight include — Iowa over Michigan by 7 Kansas State over Indiana by 3 Ohio State over Butler by 15 Purdue over Wabash by 8 Minnesota over Nebraska by 10 Predictions for Monday night are — Wisconsin over Iowa by 7 Illinois over Michigan by 17

Looking into the potentials in the A class there are several good teams, but we have spotted only a few who have shown outstanding capabilities by downing AA quintets.

In eastern Iowa, the class of this division to date seem to be Oelwein and Washington, with Marion and Keokuk being definite possibilities. Oelwein, which has a center who stands 6-7, smashed Franklin of Cedar Rapids early in the season. The Huskies look to be the best of the northeast class A outfits.

Washington thumped Keokuk, which was runnerup in the 1952 state tourney, and has been tabbed as the darkhorse in the Little Six loop.

Grinnell Tops Grinnell, also a member of the Central Iowa conference, has been established as tops of the A division in central Iowa. In the south central portion Knoxville

CHICAGO (AP) — "Vigorous action" against several unidentified violators of its stern athletic de-emphasis program Friday was promised soon by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary schools.

This powerful accrediting agency embracing 19 states last September announced a 13-point code to eradicate athletic evils and threatened to drop offenders from its list of approved schools.

Normal Burns, secretary of the group's commission on colleges and universities, said "one or two cases" have come to the attention of that enforcement unit and will be dealt with "in the very near future."

He declined to identify the institutions.
