South Korean, Swiss Objection Hinders Armistice Acceptance

SUI Receives Gifts, Grants Of $45,192

Gifts and grants totaling $45,192 and a number of books, athletic medals and a motion picture projector have been accepted by the finance committee of the state board of education for SUI, President Virgil M. Hancher has announced.

Largest grant was $22,680 from the Rockefeller foundation, to be used toward a program of research in genetics under the direction of Prof. Emil Witschi of the department of zoology, for a period ending June 30, 1956.

Witschi will also do research in the physiology of sex development and reproduction under the terms of a $5,000 grant from the National Research council.

Polio Grant Received

A grant of $7,652 was provided by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis for research by Dr. Franklin H. Top into the relationship of tonsillectomies to poliomyelitis.

The Rockefeller foundation granted $4,000 to enable Prof. W. O. Aydelotte, chairman of the department of history, to complete research on the British house of commons in the period 1841-1847, while the Standard Oil Foundation,Inc., of Chicago, granted $2,200 to continue a mechanical engineering fellowship held by Marvin Sedlacek, E4, Fairfax, through the next school year.

The board also formally accepted the memorial from SUI's 1953 graduating class, the sum of $1,150 to be used for construction of a wading pool for the Hospital-School for Severely Handicapped Children located on the west campus.

Speech Scholarships Given

Two scholarships in speech pathology and audiology will be provided with $1,400 granted by the English Speaking Union of the U. S. The American Society of Tool Engineers made an award of $700 to Kenneth D. Wilson, E3, Cedar Rapids, for his use during the 1953-54 school year.

Other monetary grants included $150 from Hoffman-LaRoche, Inc., to the department of surgery in the SUI college of medicine, to be used by Dr. Stuart C. Cullen for instruments and materials, and $10 from employes of Children's hospital for the Cancer Research fund in the memory of Tillie Griffith, formerly employed in the hospital. The sum of $26 was given by the Iowa college of dentistry graduating class of 1917, to be used for the purchase of two books in memory of A. F. Austin, permanent alumni president of the class.

Hospitals Receive Gift

Mrs. Anne Jordan of the Jordan Nursing home, Nashua, gave $250 to University hospitals in gratitude for the care of her daughter Josephine, while the family estate of Mrs. Henning Larson, Urbana, Ill., presented 700 books to University libraries. A former member of the Iowa department of English faculty, Larson is now dean of the arts college at the University of Illinois.

W. E. Crum, Bedford, gave gifts and medals won some years ago by his brother John, a nationally-known SUI track star. The medals will be put on permanent display by the Iowa department of athletics.

The Women of the Moose, Iowa City, presented a motion picture projector to the Hospital-School for Handicapped Children.

New England Death Toll Rises To 86, In $50 Million Storm

WORCESTER, MASS. (AP)—The toll of dead mounted to 86 Wednesday, 24 hours after New England's worst tornado chopped through central Massachusetts like a giant lawnmower.

As 2,000 helmeted national guardsmen made their floodlights ready for night patrol of this industrial city and its environs, officials estimated 800 men, women and children had been injured and 2,500 made homeless.

City councilor Irving Kats, a real estate man, estimated damage at $50 million.

Declared Disaster Area

The devastated region was declared a disaster area by the Reconstruction Finance corporation, opening the way for emergency loans, and President Eisenhower wired sympathy to the stricken people in a mesage to Gov. Christian Herter.

Emergency crews were rushed in to fix gas leaks and telephone repairmen worked to restore service of about 8,500 telephones. Electric company officials estimated more than 60 per cent of service had been restored in damaged areas Wednesday.

Civil, military and police authorities asked sightseers to keep away from the smitten towns which resembled areas after a bombing attack.

Damage Extensive

Public works officials were unable to estimate the damage in Worcester, it was so extensive.

Fears were expressed that other bodies might be found in the splintered debris but only one person is reported missing, the 15-day old daughter of Mrs. Ruth Oslund.

When she heard the tornado strike, Mrs. Oslund ran from her house in the belief she and the infant would be safer out-of-doors. The twister snatched the baby from her arms, like a swooping eagle.

Seeks Assistance

In Washington, Rep. Harold D. Donohue (D-Mass.), whose district embraces Worcester, urged that all appropriate federal agencies be directed to extend immediate assistance to storm victims.

The National Red Cross disaster relief section notified Donohue's office it already has set aside $100,000 for immediate use. Red Cross officials said adequate supplies of plasma and whole blood were in the area.

George Bulgarelli, chief meteorologist at the U.S. weather station at Pittsfield, in the western Massachusetts Barkshires, said the line of instability which preceded the Flint, Mich., tornado nearly a day earlier, headed toward Pittsfield.

The toll in the Michigan and Ohio tornado was 139 dead, 1,000 injured.

21 Women Receive Certificates Earned In Practical Nursing

Certificates were presented to 21 women Wednesday night who completed a refresher course for licensed practical nurses in the SUI college of nursing. Etta H. Rasmussen, director of the department of practical nursing at SUI, presented the certificates to the group.

Those receiving certificates were: Mae C. Blunck, Marilyn A. Zahner, Ella Mae Chennell, Ula M. Clark, Blanche A. Gibson, Florence Demoree, Gladys J. Edwards, Charlotte Goettle, Helen Huebner, Beatrice Meade, Jeanette Lienemann, Berniece Meeker, Ruth D. Mockley, Della Parvin, Myldred Strong, and Lydia R. Bailey, all from Iowa City.

Nadine Bender, Coralville; Eliza Hochstetler and Fannie A. Miller, Kalona; Emily E. Means, North Liberty, and Amelia A. Yeggy, Riverside, also received certificates.

Dean Myrtle E. Kitchell of the college of nursing, and Marie Tener, director of nursing service at University hospitals, spoke to the group following the ceremony.

The refresher course has included 64 hours of instruction and practice in the department of practical nurse education in the college of nursing, with Kathryn Gay as instructor.

Red Attacks Flare On Korean Fronts After 'Truce Lull'

SEOUL (Thursday) (AP)—Heavy fighting flared on the central and eastern Korean battlefronts in the pre-dawn darkness today, with the Communists attacking in up to regimental strength at several points, a U. S. eighth army briefing officer reported.

Two Red tanks and more than 20,000 rounds of artillery and mortar fire supported the Communist thrusts at the Allied strongholds — some defended by Americans.

U. S. troops fought hand-to-hand through the night and early morning hours against an estimated 1,000 Chinese who struck at Outpost Harry, northeast of Chorwon on the east-central front.

Sketchy reports from the battlefront indicated most of the Red attacks were thrown against South Korean positions.

Thousands of attacking Chinese and North Korean Reds smashed at Allied-held ridges east of Kumsong on the east-central front, and east of Luke the Gook's Castle on the eastern front.

The sharp fighting ended a lull in ground and air action during the crucial phase of the armistice talks at Panmunjom.

Protecting Sabre jets shot down three Russian-built MIG-15s near the Manchurian border.

U. S. eighth army headquarters said the Allied troops killed or wounded 4,000 Reds during the week ended last Sunday.

Doctor Draft Law Granted Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-house conferees Wednesday agreed on a two-year extension of the doctor draft law.

The bill, a compromise between different versions already passed by the senate and house, in effect frees from any future liability all doctors who have served on active duty, in any capacity at all, at least 17 months since Sept. 16, 1940.

The measure provides for a $100 monthly bonus for doctors, dentists and veterinarians on active duty in the armed services.

The present doctor draft law expires June 30.

Hancher Plans Monday Departure for England

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher will attend an educational conference of the Association of the Universities of the British Commonwealth to be held in England in July.

Hancher will leave Iowa City Monday for the conference. He is one of ten delegates from the Association of American Universities who are being sent to the conference under the auspices of the Rockefeller and Carnegie foundations.

The AUBC conference will convene about July 7 and continue until July 17 at the universities of Durham and Cambridge.

Hancher will also attend a reunion of Rhodes scholars commemorating the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Rhodes scholarship trust at Oxford university June 29 to July 2. He will sail Wednesday on the U.S.S. Britannic, which has been chartered by the American Association of Rhodes scholars for the trip. Hancher is a vice-president of the American Rhodes scholars association.

Between the Rhodes reunion and the meeting in Durham, Hancher will go to Scotland to visit the University of Edinburgh and the University of St. Andrews.

He will visit a number of English universities July 17 to 29 including the University of London, the University of Reading, the University of Bristol, and the University of Birmingham.

Members Chosen For Zoning Group

H. Garland Hershey, director of the Iowa geological survey, has been named vice-chairman of the Iowa City planning and zoning commission for the coming year.

S. Lyle Duncan, 1205 Ginter ave., was re-elected chairman. Sam Whiting Jr., 1511 E. College st., was named secretary. He replaces Prof. Allen C. Tester of the SUI geology department in that post.

Other members of the planning and zoning commission include Prof. Joseph W. Howe, head of mechanics and hydraulics in the college of engineering, Charles Barker, 722 Kirkwood ave., and Richard T. Feddersen, 250 Black Springs circle.

Harvard Overseers Confirm Pusey for President's Post

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The board of overseers of Harvard university Wednesday confirmed the appointment of Dr. Nathan Marsh Pusey as president of Harvard.

Pusey, now president of Lawrence college, Appleton, Wis., was named for the post June 1 by the Harvard corporation. The appointment was subject to confirmation by the overseers.

Dr. Pusey, 46, a native of Council Bluffs, Ia., succeeds Dr. James B. Conant, U. S. commissioner to Germany. He will take over Sept. 1.

Pusey and Conant arrived by plane Wednesday to attend today's Harvard commencement.

Before leaving New York, Pusey said he would be watching Conant's commencement address "closely."

"That," he added, "will be my job next year if all goes well."

Dr. Pusey, his wife and three children will sit with his class of 1928 at the morning commencement exercises.

Asked what he hoped to accomplish in his new role as president, Dr. Pusey said: "What I hope to do is strengthen the power of reasonableness in human affairs. That is as much as I'd care to say at the present time."

Hundreds Expected For Commencement Exercises Friday

While more than 1,000 graduates await SUI commencement exercises Friday, other thousands of undergraduate students are leaving the campus after completing their final examinations.

While the heavy exodus of students continues, hundreds of friends and relatives of graduates and alumni of SUI are expected on the campus for the Friday morning commencement exercises and other events. The vanguard arrived on the campus Wednesday for the college of nursing's senior-alumni banquet, and more will arrive today for the medical convocation.

Graduation caps and gowns are being issued to the graduates today, and final examinations ended Wednesday.

SUI dormitories and other buildings will remain open throughout the weekend, for, although commencement activities will end Saturday, the arrival of summer school students is expected Saturday and Sunday. Summer school registration opens Tuesday.

Cudahy Workers Seek Wage Hike

CHICAGO (AP) — Representatives of the Cudahy Packing company and the CIO united packinghouse workers union met Wednesday to discuss union demands for a substantial wage increase.

Ralph Helstein, union president, said the talks were recessed indefinitely after the union presented its demands. Helstein declined to state the increase sought by the union but said it was substantial.

The company has not presented a counter proposal, Helstein said. Company officials were not available for comment.

Repatriation Post Accepted By Sweden

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sweden officially informed the United States Wednesday night that it would serve on the five-nation prisoner of war repatriation commission to be set up after a truce in Korea.

Ambassador Erik Boheman delivered a note to that effect to the state department.

Meanwhile state department officials were greatly cheered to learn that Switzerland was moving to change the position it had announced Tuesday of not serving on the commission unless South Korea approved the truce which to date it has bitterly opposed.

Foreign minister Max Petitpierre said at Bern that Switzerland "could be induced" to serve on the agency in order to avoid delaying the conclusion of an armistice.

News dispatches also quoted Prime Minister Nehru as saying India was ready to help supervise the repatriation of Korean POW's. Nehru added this position would be reconsidered if South Korean troops broke away from the UN command — an action which would threaten the effectiveness of an armistice.

Authorities here appeared to be increasingly hopeful that in the final hours before a truce is established, South Korean President Syngman Rhee would at least agree to avoid any action which would prolong the war.

So long as his forces remain under UN command, it was understood here, no question of South Korea's signing the truce would necessarily arise since the UN and Communist commands would sign on behalf of all forces they command.

University Leaders Want Sports Code Of NCA Suspended

CHICAGO (AP)—The North Central association, powerful midwestern academic accrediting agency, Friday will hear a demand by big university presidents to drop its strict athletic code.

Presidents of 27 major universities requested the meeting at which they will recommend that the NCA "immediately suspend its proposed enforcement machinery."

Under the code, athletic scholarships and recruiting are barred with violators subject to dismissal from the agency's list of accredited schools.

The presidents, representing the Big Ten, Big Seven, Missouri Valley, Skyline, Southwest and Border conferences, feel that the NCA lacks the know-how and ability to police athletics.

HAWKEYES STILL AVAILABLE

Copies of the 1953 Hawkeye are still available to students who have failed to obtain their book. The yearbook may be obtained in The Daily Iowan business office, located in the basement of East hall, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

MUNSAN (Thursday) (AP) — Hopes for a quick truce in Korea hung precariously today because of persistent Korean opposition and refusal by Switzerland to be neutral observer unless South Korea consents to the armistice terms.

South Korean government officials openly welcomed the Swiss stand.

U.S. officials here and in Washington were concerned lest the Swiss refusal delay and complicate an agreement which otherwise might be signed within a few days.

Refusal Decided

The Swiss refusal was decided upon at Bern Tuesday and the decision conveyed to the state department in Washington. Wednesday, however, the Swiss foreign minister, Max Petitpierre, told a commission of the Swiss chamber of deputies that Switzerland "could be induced" to serve in order to avoid delay in concluding an armistice.

Already there was such full accord on principles that the truce teams were in indefinite recess today while staff officers at Panmunjom ironed out lesser matters.

Koreans Demonstrate

But South Korean street crowds continued to demonstrate displeasure. Marchers in Seoul Wednesday shouted: "Yankee go home."

"The government told us to demonstrate," said one young leader. "We are not angry at America."

The Swiss stand snarled an agreement, reached after more than a year of wrangling, on how to handle more than 46,000 captured Reds refusing to go back to Communist rule.

That recently-signed agreement called for a five-nation commission — Switzerland, Sweden, India, Poland and Czechoslovakia — to take custody of these balky prisoners for 90 days while Red "persuasion" teams talked to them.

Argue Prisoner Status

This week's Peiping Red radio, in switching to the theme that a truce is just around the corner, has hammered hard on the importance of the prisoner agreement.

Since this agreement already is signed, the Communists might refuse to consider another nation or might propose that the commission get along with only four nations.

Inasmuch as a majority vote will rule the commission and two Red satellite nations — Poland and Czechoslovakia — are members, the group would be stacked in favor of the Communists.

Rhee Opposes Truce

The Switzerland development was a major point discussed Wednesday by the South Korean cabinet with President Syngman Rhee, who remains firmly opposed to a truce on present terms.

How far the 78-year-old Rhee would carry his anti-truce campaign was the vital question. Rhee met Wednesday night with Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman-designate of the U.S. joint chiefs of staff.

Radford's visit was scheduled far in advance of the current crisis, but his arrival was timely. He had just come from Formosa where he assured fearful Chinese Nationalists the U.S. would not desert them in event of a Korean armistice.

Rhee Has Conference

Later Rhee talked with Gen. Paik Sun Yup, Republic of Korea army chief of staff, whom he had summoned from the United States, and other Korean generals.

In Tokyo, top UN command sources said they were looking on Rhee as a "calculated risk."

One source said "The UN command believes Rhee will drive the buggy to the edge of the cliff but never whip the horses a step further."

A Condensation of Late Developments

ROME (AP) — Premier Alcide De Gasperi pledged Wednesday night to continue his middle-way government with the slim majorities his pro-American government has just won in both the senate and the chamber of deputies. The government held majorities of only 7 seats in the 243-seat senate and 16 seats in the 590-seat chamber. The 71-year-old leader of the Christian Democrats, still by far the country's major political force, said he was "impressed" by the continuing Communist strength, revealed by the two-day parliamentary elections. Communist and pro-Red Socialists, running together in 1948, won 31 per cent of the vote. This year their combined total was 34.40 per cent.

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Iran Wednesday signed a revised trade agreement with Russia. Dr. Ali Akbar Akhavi, minister of national economy, said it is expected to double the trade exchange between the two countries. It would make Russia Iran's best customer. PARIS (Thursday) (AP)—The French national assembly early today turned down Georges Bidault's bid to become new Premier and end the country's three-week cabinet crisis. Bidault lost by one vote. Bidault, a leader of the Catholic Popular Republican movement, (MRP), was the third candidate the assembly has refused to confirm during the current government crisis. Paul Reynaud, wartime Premier when France fell before the Nazi invaders, and Pierre Mendes-France were turned down by the assembly before it disposed of Bidault's bid. Bidault's defeat throws the problem of forming a French government right back to where it started — in the lap of President Vincent Auriol, who will have to pick a new candidate.

Minneapolis Talk Is First in 5-Day Series —

'Free Nations Must Stand Together,' Ike Declares

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—President Eisenhower declared Wednesday —as South Koreans continued to oppose the impending armistice— that "all free nations must stand together or they shall fall separately."

Again rejecting "go it alone" philosophy, the President said free world unity against Communist aggression "means compromise— always within a clearly understood framework of principle."

He did not refer specifically to South Korean opposition to the proposed truce — to President Syngman Rhee's demands for political union of North and South Korea and for evacuation of the North by Chinese Communists.

But Eisenhower, addressing the convention of the national Junior Chamber of Commerce, seemed to be directing his remarks—in part, at least—to the South Koreans.

Eisenhower flew here from Washington Wednesday on the first leg of a five-day trip which will take him also into North Dakota, South Dakota, New Hampshire and New York for a series of speeches before returning to the White House Sunday night.

In his address at Minneapolis auditorium the President also:

1. Stoutly defended the administration's program for cutting military spending. Concentrating on the proposed air force cutback of about $5 billion, the President said the plan means "fewer planes in theory, more planes in fact— more swiftly and less expensively."

2. Spoke out against critics of the UN like Sen. Robert Taft — who have contended the UN is ineffective as a world peace instrument.

The Ohio senator recently said this country might as well forget the United Nations as far as the Korean war is concerned. In a later clarifying statement, Taft said he had not proposed that the United States "go it alone." He called for a Pacific alliance similar to the European Defense organization.

Eisenhower, who rejected any thought of going it alone after Taft first spoke out, said Wednesday:

"We all hear . . . a good deal of unhappy murmuring about the UN. It is easy to understand the dismay of many. None of us is above irritation and frustration over the seemingly vain and tedious processes of political discourse in times of great crisis "But none of us can rightly forget that neither the world—nor the UN—is or can be made in a single image of one nation's will or idea. The fact is that from its foundation the UN has seemed to be two distinct things to the two worlds divided by the Iron Curtain.

"To the Communist world it has seemed a convenient sounding board for their propaganda, a weapon to be exploited in spreading disunity and confusion.

"To the free world it has seemed that it should be a constructive forum for free discussion of the world's problems, an effective agency for helping to solve those problems peacefully.

"The truth is that even if the UN were to conform to the concept held by the free nations, it would still be bound to show infinite variety of opinion, sharp clashes of debate, slow movement to decision."

Former Philosophy Head Returns Here During Graduation

Prf. E. W. Hall, former head of the SUI department of philosophy, is in Iowa City this weekend to attend the graduation of his son, David Hall, A4, Chapel Hill, N.C.

Hall left SUI in August 1952 for an appointment as a Kenan distinguished professor and chairman of the department of philosophy at the University of North Carolina. He had served on the

When he became head of the SUI department of philosophy in 1941, Hall was the youngest man ever to take over the executive position of that unit.

Storms, Bombs Not Connected, Congress Told

WASHINGTON (AP)— Key congressmen said Wednesday they have been assured that atomic tests have not caused the series of tornadoes sweeping the country.

A proposed congressional investigation therefore is unnecessary, they said.

Rep. Ray J. Madden (D-Ind.) had asked that the house armed services committee start a full inquiry into possible atomic effects on the weather.

Chairman Dewey Short (R-Mo.) of the committee said in an interview today the problem is outside his group's jurisdiction.

Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.) chairman of the senate-house atomic energy committee, said an investigation by his committee would be 'a wasted effort."

"All of the experts that congress would call already have assured us there is no connection between the atomic blasts and the weather," he said.

Rep. Leroy Johnson (R-Calif.), a member of the armed services group, said he had been briefed twice on the subject in advance of atomic blasts.

"Atomic scientists told us," he said, "they consulted regularly with top weather observers and said the atomic tests are too small and restricted to have any effect on the weather."

Dr. John C. Bugher, director of the division of biology and medicine for the atomic energy commission, gave the same assurance last month to a house appropriations subcommittee.

Utility Company Official Testifies In ICC Hearing

CHICAGO (AP) — An official of the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company, testified Wednesday that the cost of gas to the company had increased by approximately a third since 1951.

E. T. Williamson, vice-president in charge of operation of the company, testifying before an Illinois commerce commission hearing, said that at the same time the difference between the cost of the gas to the company and the final sale price to the consumer had decreased by about 50 per cent.

The hearing was on two consolidated cases involving the increase in electricity rates requested by the company and an investigation of the company's rate structure of both gas and electricity.

Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric buys its gas from the Natural Gas Pipeline company of America.

Testimony also was heard on the company's request for a temporary boost in electricity rates pending the ICC's final order in the long rate litigation.

Sunday Schools Get New Members

DES MOINES (AP)— The average Sunday school attendance between June 1, 1952 and June 1, 1953 in the Iowa-Des Moines Conference of the Methodist church totaled 3,217, an increase of 1,250 over the previous year, reports revealed Wednesday.

The figures also showed the total membership, including teachers and officers, was 94,344, an increase of 1,169.

Conference church membership totaled 139,674, a decrease of 3,949, because membership files were reorganized.

The Rev. Dale J. Williams, pastor of Simpson Methodist church in Des Moines and conference statistician, made the report at the conference's annual meeting here. The sessions, which bring ministers and laymen from south Iowa, will continue through Sunday.

Piecing It Together

Floods Threaten Central Iowa; 11 Dead in Sioux City Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More floods were forecast on central and south-central Iowa streams Wednesday as the rivers of northwest Iowa receded, leaving 11 persons dead and many millions of dollars in property damage.

The Floyd river had returned to its narrow banks at Sioux City. The most disastrous flood in its history left nine persons dead and damage estimated by city and county officials at several million dollars.

A 10th flood-connected death in the Sioux City area was recorded when the body of Jannine Sue Tryon, 2½, was found in a flooded ditch near her home north of North Sioux City, S.D.

Water Supply Endangered

The Floyd's final blow as it returned to its banks was aimed at the Sioux City water supply.

Drew H. Fletcher, superintendent of parks and public property, ordered residents to curtail drastically their use of city water. He said the river had pulled the reservoir level to a dangerously low point.

Fletcher said that unless Sioux Citians confined their use of water to essentials, service might be cut off entirely.

Woodbury county recorder Carroll Jandt, after a survey of the Sioux City high water area, said an "extremely conservative" estimate of major damage to business and industrial firms was $30 million.

Damage Runs High

And he added that if damage to residential and personal property were included, the total might run to twice that figure.

Mayor Ralph Henderson estimated harm to Sioux City's public buildings and property at $10 million.

Rep. Charles B. Hoeven (R-Iowa) and Val Peterson, former Nebraska governor who now heads the federal civil defense organization, made an aerial tour of 12 flood-damaged counties of northwest Iowa Wednesday.

Contacts President

Peterson said that he would report directly to President Eisenhower upon his return to Washington. Gov. William S. Beardsley has asked the President to declare the 12 counties a disaster area.

The weather bureau warned that as a result of moderately heavy rains in west central and south central Iowa, some flooding would occur Wednesday night and Thursday on the Raccoon, North, Middle and South rivers, and Whitebreak creek.

These floods will result in bank full stages and some light overflow along the Des Moines river in the Des Moines area. But the weather bureau added that additional heavy storms Wednesday night might increase the Des Moines river stages.

Flood Nears Cherokee

Meanwhile, the record flood crest on the Little Sioux river crept relentlessly toward Cherokee. Its progress was slow, but the highest water was expected in Cherokee some time Wednesday night.

Upstream at Peterson the river rose 8½ feet in 13 hours and hit its peak Wednesday afternoon. It was threatening the power and pumping plants.

At Cherokee, however, officials had considerable time to prepare for the expected deluge and they were optimistic that severe flooding could be avoided in the city.

Woman Brings Suit For Lion's Attack

WASHINGTON, Ia. (AP) — Mrs. Harrison Corder of Eldon, who was clawed on the left arm and shoulder by a circus lion, sued the Cole and Walters circus in district court Wednesday for $20,000.

The attack by the lion occurred at Eldon last May 31. Mrs. Corder's petition said the lion was on display prior to the show at the time of the attack. She said she might lose use of the arm permanently and that she would have permanently disfiguring scars.

Ailing Senator Taft Gives Up Daily Command to Knowland

WASHINTON (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) disclosed he is suffering from a painful and "serious" hip ailment, and gave up his day-to-day floor leadership of senate Republicans Wednesday. Sen. William Knowland of California, chairman of the senate GOP policy committee, took over as acting leader.

Hobbling on crutches, Taft told newsmen he will retain his title as senate majority leader — generally regarded as second only to power — and will continue to keep a close watch on legislation.

To Give Up Duties

But he said a schedule of X-ray and other treatments will prevent him from carrying out the heavy duties of floor routine. As majority leader, Taft was required to spend long hours in his aisle seat on the senate floor, closely following details of parliamentary procedure and tactics.

The 63-year-old Ohio senator — who four times sought the presidency and lost the Republican nomination to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in a torrid race last summer — said doctors have told him there is an "impairment" of his left hip bone.

X-rays disclosed "a lesion of the bone," he said, and he must take a series of treatments with X-ray and cortisone to restore the damaged bone and then build it up.

Suffers Hip "Lesion"

Taft indicated to newsmen that he doesn't know exactly what is wrong with his hip, although his doctors do. He said they used a lot of medical terms, including "lesion," and he did not press them for an explanation.

"Lesion" is a broad term applied to any injured or diseased area. One dictionary defines it as "any morbid change in the structure of organs or parts."

Taft said he first experienced severe pains in his hip in mid-April before he flew to Augusta, Ga., to play golf with President Eisenhower. The senator said he didn't know what caused the trouble.

To Continue Conferences

The Ohioan, who has served in the senate since 1929, said he expects to keep on attending White House legislative conferences and senate GOP policy sessions. Moreover, he said, he hopes to carry on with other leadership details as long as they do not interfere with his medical treatments.

Taft said he expects Sen. Knowland will continue as acting floor leader through most of the remaining congressional session.

He said his doctors insist that he keep as much weight off his hip as he possibly can.

Interpreting the News

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

The British Commonwealth prime ministers have given their full support to Winston Churchill's idea that a top-level conference with Soviet Russia should follow the Big Three meeting at Bermuda.

All shades of British opinion, as represented by party leaders and the press, seem to be agreed.

The Bermuda conference has been delayed by the French cabinet crisis. But France is so interested that the suggestion has been made that the three Allies could go ahead with the meeting, with France represented by her President without waiting for the selection of a new Premier who ordinarily is the active leader of the government.

Ike Expected To Agree

Expressions from other parts of the world make it appear that President Eisenhower will have to agree, accepting such gestures as Russia has been willing to make as sufficient promise to progress.

This sentiment for a meeting between Eisenhower, Malenkov, Churchill and a French representative has piled up without any clear expression from the proponents of how they expect the conference to work or what they really expect to get out of it.

Russia has left the door open to consideration of East-West difficulties by two methods. One is the top-level conference. Another is normal diplomatic channels as she suggested, instead of another ministers' conference, in the case of Austria. This seems to disregard the possibility of more conferences on individual issues such as devised both for the truce negotiations in Korea and for the post-truce political settlements. But Russia hasn't said that specifically.

No Settlement Seen

The facts of life, of course, are that no concrete settlement can be expected from any Big Four meeting. The issues and the means of implementing any agreement which might be possible are matters to be worked out step by step by experts.

If negotiations on various issues such as Malik suggested regarding Austria were undertaken now, and diplomatic ministers could boil them down to a few concrete points, then the government heads might be able to do something.

Lacking that, all they could do would be to establish an atmosphere, instructing ministers to meet later and work over certain points.

Same as at Blockade

This was the procedure at the time of the Berlin blockade. The allies carried that point direct to Stalin. They thought everything was all set when he instructed his representatives in Berlin to get to work on an agreement. But his experts raised all manner of technical difficulties, and there were months when the situation presented a real threat of war, until Russia finally backed down all the way.

So, all the talk in the world means nothing unless Russia has decided that it's finally time to make at least a temporary peace. A conference would be valuable for such light as it might throw on this attitude or the absence of it. To hope for a great deal more than that would be unrealistic.

It's the Ink —

Sheaffer Defends Pens

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ever wonder why postoffice pens are so scratchy? A congressional committee got the answer Wednesday from an expert.

It's not the pens that are so bad, it's the ink, Craig R. Sheaffer, assistant secretary of commerce, told a house subcommittee headed by Rep. Cecil M. Harden (R-Ind.)

Before he joined the Eisenhower administration, Sheaffer headed the W. A. Sheaffer Pen company, Ft. Madison, one of the country's largest fountain pen and ink manufacturers.

The Harden committee is investigating the extent to which the federal government — through its manufacturing sidelines—like coffee roasting, furniture making and auto repairing—is competing with private industry.

Rep. George Meader (R-Mich.) brought up the subject of ink, asking why the government should make its own when there are many companies like Sheaffer it could buy from.

Sheaffer made it clear that his company does sell a lot of ink to the government—but not postoffice ink.

"That's made to a very old specification—very old," he told the committee.

"I don't believe any private industry would make it"—he paused and smiled—"because of its corrosive character."

He later explained to newsmen the government specification calls for a high percentage of iron tannin which gives the ink a lasting quality but also makes it rough on pens.

Such ink, he said, clogs fountain pens and quickly corrodes the points of ordinary steel pens. That's why postoffice pens are scratchy.

Builders Strike In Council Bluffs

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP) — A strike in the building trades industry Wednesday halted work on construction projects totaling $10,246,900 in Council Bluffs and Glenwood.

The strike was called by Omaha local 1140 of the AFL International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers of America. The union has about 350 members in Omaha and Council Bluffs but Omaha members are not involved in the strike here.

The union seeks a pay hike of 22½ cents an hour, according to Leonard Shafer of Omaha, union business representative.

Because other union men such as carpenters and engineers were respecting picket lines, between 600 and 800 men in all building trades were affected by the strike, Schafer said.

GAR OFFICERS INSTALLED

FT. DODGE (AP)—Iowa department officers of three of the allied orders of the Grand Army of the Republic were installed Wednesday at the closing session of the group's state convention here. Ed C. Wittman, Humboldt, was named commander of the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil war. Mrs. George Webb, Ft. Dodge, was elected president of the auxiliary.

'Blondie' in a POW Camp—

It is a good thing Americans have a sense of humor.

Humor, the ability to see a brighter side to the most serious situation, is one of the basic ingredients of high morale. We have all experienced its value in an organization, club or class to which we have belonged. Military leaders have long been aware of the importance of high morale among their men.

There would be few tougher predicaments to be in than to be a prisoner of war, especially in the hands of Chinese Communists on the Korean battlefront. For most of us, the emotional stress on individuals in such a situation is beyond comprehension. One would think that in a prisoner of war camp, half way around the world, morale would sink to bottomless depths. Laughs come hard in such places.

But the American army is taking at least one small, yet important, step to ease things there. A report comes from Seoul that "Blondie," the famed American cartoon strip, is being provided to our captured soldiers.

Copies of this widely read comic strip, which we can read every day in The Daily Iowan, have been dropped behind enemy lines by American warplanes to help relieve the tension of POW's in Communist hands. The strips are contained in leaflets prepared by the army's department of psychological warfare.

Comics are an almost all-American institution. Like baseball and hotdogs they carry an air of Americanism that is rarely duplicated.

Some of our greatest humor has come out of the recent war. Its use as a morale booster for our captured soldiers only points out again the invaluable American ability to see a brighter side.

Yank Streak At 13; Braves Win

Rip Tigers, 11-4

DETROIT (AP) — The streak-stretching New York Yankees, getting a big lift from their power-packed bench, scored seven runs in the sixth inning Wednesday to trounce the Detroit Tigers, 11-4.

It was their 13th straight victory and kept them 5½ games ahead of Cleveland.

Pinchhitters Yogi Berra and Johnny Mize fired the Yankees' big inning, which lasted exactly a half hour and included seven singles against three Tiger hurlers.

Detroit had held a 4-1 lead going into the sixth, thanks to a three-run homer by Owen Friend and a solo home run by Bob Nieman.

Both homers came in the fourth inning off Johnny Sain, Yankee starter who eventually wound up with his seventh victory against two defeats.

With the bases filled and none out, in the sixth Berra hit losing pitcher Billy Hoeft's first pitch to right field for a two-run single. That made it 4-3.

Mize delivered another single to right, scoring the tying run. It was Mize's 1,999 lifetime hit.

Tribe Shades Nats

CLEVELAND (AP)— Mike Garcia doled out only four hits Wednesday night while pitching the Cleveland Indians to a 2-1 victory over the Washington Nationals. It was the Tribe's seventh straight victory.

Harry Simpson's fourth home run of the season gave the Indians their victory margin in the fourth.

It was Garcia's seventh victory against three losses. The loser was starter Sonny Dixon.

By extending their longest winning streak of the season, the Indians kept within 5½ games of the league-leading New York Yankees.

A's Nip Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)— The Philadelphia Athletics Wednesday snapped a five-game losing streak with a 2-1 verdict over the Chicago White Sox as Harry Byrd whitewashed the Sox after the first.

Byrd notched his second victory over the Sox by the same score and his fifth triumph against six defeats. But he needed help from lefty Morris Martin in the ninth.

The lone Sox run came in the first inning on three of the nine hits off Byrd. With two out, Minnie Minoso and Sam Mele singled and Jim Rivera doubled to score Minoso.

The A's picked up one run in the second and the deciding marker in the fourth.

Martin replaced Byrd in the ninth after pinchhitter Bud Sheeley led off with a walk and the count on the next batter, Eddie Stewart, was two balls and no strikes.

But Stewart popped out, Nellie Fox grounded into a force play and Ferris Fain fouled out to end the game.

BoSox Sweep 2

ST. LOUIS (AP) —Dick Gernert's home run in the second inning was the difference Wednesday night as the Boston Red Sox defeated the St. Louis Browns, 3-2, in the second game of a twi-night doubleheader. The Sox took the opener, 11-2, after hammering five Brownie hurlers for 19 hits.

The double defeat ran the Browns' losing streak to nine straight, the second time this season the club has lost this many in a row.

Boston's Jimmy Piersall tied the major league record for number of hits by one batter in a single nine inning game. The slugging outfielder slammed out six hits, tying a score of players for the mark.

Horse Enthusiast Receives Prize

MARY RAE DAUBER, A1, Iowa City, is shown receiving the top prize in the five-gaited pleasure class from an unidentified woman in a recent horse show at Hawkeye Downs. Miss Dauber is one of the many amateur horse enthusiasts on the college scene who finds pleasure and recreation in riding. The horse, a six-year-old named Hytone Beauty, was trained by Miss Dauber.

A Rider for 14 Years —

Local Girl Is Top Horsewoman

By JIM FOSTER

One of the most rapidly growing sports and hobbies among college students today is horsemanship.

At a time when the gasoline engine is replacing the "hay burner" on farms, the fine, sleek, gaited riding horse is appearing more and more on the American scene as a pleasure animal. Its beauty and recreational value are being widely recognized by the college crowd. In some schools, riding and horsemanship have been incorporated into the intramural program.

Although SUI has not gone this far, many students do enjoy this sport. Some have their own horses.

One such student is Mary Rae Dauber, A1. Iowa City.

Riding for 14 Years

This pert little horsewoman has been riding for 14 of her 19 years —a considerable line of experience in any "horsey" crowd. She began riding at the age of five, and, according to her father. Ray Dauber, she has been on a horse most of the time since.

Dauber is himself a sportsman of considerable renown. He was a track star and played blocking halfback on the 1924-25 SUI football team with Leonard Raffensperger, former SUI head football coach. As for horses, Dauber claims he doesn't know one end of the animal from the other.

This modesty, however, seems more to accent the feats of his daughter. Miss Dauber's skill as a horsewoman payed off last Saturday night when she won the English five-gaited pleasure class in the El Kahir Shrine horse show at Hawkeye Downs. This class is considered one of the toughest in any competition.

Named Hytone Beauty

The horse she rides is named Hytone Beauty, a six-year-old which she has been training herself for four years. Hytone Beauty comes from a long line of "Hytones" carrying a distinguished blood line. Hytone Beauty, as a six-year-old, is now at her peak as a show horse, according to Mr. Dauber.

This father-daughter combination has big plans for Hytone Beauty—but right now Miss Dauber is busy preparing her horse for the 20 or 25 shows that they compete in during the summer.

Stenger, Diehl Join Pro Baseball Ranks

Johnny Vander Meer, manager of the Burlington Flints in the Three-I league, will add two Iowa baseball stars to his roster Friday, making a total of three former Hawks on the club.

Second baseman Billy Stenger and pitcher Bob (Whitey) Diehl joined the Cincinnati Redlegs organization, Redleg scout Carl Ackerman announced Tuesday in Des Moines. They will join ex-Iowa basketball and baseball player Ken Buckles who reported to the Flints Tuesday.

Stenger, who had another year of eligibility remaining, batted .343 during the 26-game Hawk season this spring. He led Iowa hitters in Big Ten play with a .357 average. A native of Davenport, Stenger will move over to shortstop in the Flint lineup.

Diehl, an Iowa City right hander, posted a record of two wins and three losses this season. Two of his losses came by one run margins. A sidearm pitcher for the Hawks, Diehl impressed Vander Meer with his overhand delivery.

Commerce Group OK's Baseball Police Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate commerce committee Wednesday unanimously approved a bill that would permit organized baseball to police radio and television accounts of ball games.

The idea behind the legislation sponsored by Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) is to protect minor league clubs, which have been folding with monotonous regularity during the last four years.

Prospects for getting the legislation through congress this year appeared slight.

Nip Giants, 6-5

NEW YOR K(AP)— Sid Gordon hit a three-run homer in the eighth inning Wednesday for a 6-5 Milwaukee victory over the New York Giants in a wild game that included five home runs.

The Giants suffered their fifth straight loss after coming from behind to match an early Milwaukee lead and moving out front 6-3. Gordon's blast came off Hoyt Wilhelm who had just relieved Jim Hearn.

Sloppy base running ruined the Giants in the eighth when the first two men reached base but were tagged at second base in a unique double play. The Giants failed to score in the inning despite two hits, two Milwaukee errors and a walk. Three men were left.

Ed Mathew's 18th homer with nobody on featured a three-run first inning by Milwaukee.

Cards Down Bucs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Manager Eddie Stanky put his St. Louis Cardinals through a stiff morning workout and the Cards responded Wednesday night with a 5-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

A couple of old pros — Enos Slaughter and Stan Musial — led the attack. Slaughter had four hits in as many trips, a double and three singles. Musial smashed a double and single in three attempts.

Joe Presko received credit for his fourth victory against five defeats. He gave up but four hits, including a home run to Frank Thomas to account for the Pirates' lone run, until the eighth when he was reached for two consecutive singles to open the inning. Hal White came on to stop the incipient rally.

Dodgers Win, 13-3

BROOKLYN (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers unleashed a 13-hit attack against the Cincinnati Redlegs Wednesday night for a 13-3 victory as they kept up their chase after the league-leading Milwaukee Braves.

Brooklyn jumped away to a three run lead only to have Cincinnati catch up in the sixth on a two run homer by Gus Bell, his 14th of the year, and a bases-empty blast by Bob Borkowski.

Brooklyn was back in front in the last of the sixth. Bobby Morgan opened with a double and scored the tie-breaking run on pinch hitter Wayne Belardi's triple. Duke Snider contributed a homer in the same inning and then the Dodgers ended all doubts with seven runs in the eighth.

Phils Take Pair

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies picked up four runs in the first inning with the help of homers by Connie Ryan and Del Ennis, then staved off a late Chicago surge to defeat the Cubs 8-5 in the nightcap of a twi-night twin bill Wednesday night.

The Phils' Robin Roberts chalked up his 10th win of the season in hurling a 9-1 seven-hit victory in the opener.

The two wins gave the Phils a sweep of the Chicago series and ran their victory streak to four games.

Ex-GI Clark Corners Qualifying Medal

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP)— An ex-marine sergeant, Jimmy Clark of Laguna Beach, Calif., clinched the qualifying medal in the National Open Golf tournament with a record six-under-par 66 at Oakmont early Wednesday, then sat back to watch as a wave of injuries and blowups killed off the big name stars.

The 32-year-old Clark finished with a 36-hole total of 138. He had a 72 at the Pittsburgh Field club Tuesday.

Only Dr. Cary Middlecoff, the gangling Memphis dentist, came close to catching the Californian.

1949 Open Champion

The doctor, 1949 Open champion, toured the tight Pittsburgh Field club course in even par 71 for a total of 140, two strokes back. Middlecoff had a 69 Tuesday at Oakmant.

Par for the 6,916-yard Oakmont course is 37-35-72. The Field club is 6,712-yards long and has a par of 36-35-71. Two courses were used to reduce the field from 299 to 149 and ties for the 72-hole championship proper, beginning Thursday.

Jack Burke of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., was in third place at 142 after shooting a 70 at the Field club and a half-dozen were bracketed at 145, including sore-handed Sam Snead and Bobby Locke of South Africa, the British Open champion.

Soars To 82

The opening round pacesetter, Melvin (Chick) Harbert of Northville, Mich., experienced the grand-daddy of all blowups as he soared to an 82, 10 over par, at Oakmont after slamming out a record 66 at the Field club.

The hospital list of prime favorites continued to mount. The latest addition is Lloyd Mangrum, who hurt his right hand making a tough recovery shot. He shot a 75 Wednesday for a 150 total.

The kink in Ben Hogan's back is still bothering him. Snead has a broken and swollen left hand. Claude Harmon is playing with a stiff neck and an injured left hand.

Hogan, the pre-tournament favorite seeking his fourth straight championship, posted a 73 Wednesday after Tuesday's 77. He pulled a kink in his back Tuesday.

Harmon, Mamaroneck, N. Y., home pro, and former British Amateur champion Harvie Ward Jr., played with defending champion Julius Boros, who took a practice jaunt around the course in "around par." Boros didn't have to qualify.

Ward shot a 72 for 146 and Harmon had a 78 for 149.

Durocher Retracts Charges, Misses Another Suspension

NEW YORK (AP)— Manager Leo Durocher of the New York Giants teetered on the brink of another suspension Wednesday, then saved himself by retracting bitter charges that National league umpires are ganging up on him.

Faced with a suspension by league president Warren Giles, Durocher told a hastily-called press meeting he "didn't mean" what he said. Then he and Giants' president Horace Stoneham apologized to Giles in a telephone call to Cincinnati.

Giles accepted the apology and dropped plans for sidelining Durocher as of June 11 when assured that Durocher had retracted his umpire blasts of Tuesday night in a statement to baseball writers after Wednesday's game with Milwaukee.

Result of News Quote

Leo's latest brush with the league office were the result of a quote, attributed to him, in Wednesday's New York Post. It read in part:

"Don't tell me, they (the umpires) don't get together before the game and decide the first time a certain fellow says something he is going to be put out of the game. They do the same to Stanky." (Manager Eddie Stanky of the St. Louis Cardinals).

Durocher who was fined $50 for delaying Tuesday night's game by refusing to leave the bench when ejected by umpire Frank Secory, added:

Was Quoted Correctly

"There is no way in the world I can substantiate my statements. I have been quoted correctly. Not once since I have been in baseball have I questioned the integrity of an umpire. I was mad last night Maybe I popped off too much."

Durocher, of course, has a long record of fines and suspensions. He was out the entire 1947 season after he was suspended by A. B. (Happy) Chandler, then baseball commissioner, "because he has not measured up to standards expected of managers of our baseball teams." In 1949 he drew another indefinite suspension, lifted four days later, as a result of a scuffle with a fan at the Polo Grounds.

City Schools Lose Director Of Orchestra

The head of instrumental music in Iowa City public schools, John E. Green, has resigned after three years in Iowa City.

Named to succeed Green is La Verne Wintermeyer, previously orchestra director and woodwind instructor in the schools.

Wintermeyer, a graduate of SUI, has taught in Iowa City schools for five years. He previously taught at SUI and in Jefferson City, Mo.

One of the teachers hired by the board of education is Mrs. Lona Hoffman, who obtained her M.A. degree at SUI. Mrs. Hoffman will teach art in junior and senior high school.

Also hired was Glenn W. Van Horne, former SUI military tactics instructor. He will teach English and journalism and will also act as rifle coach.

A fourth grade teacher, Mrs. Phyllis Schulz, who had earlier resigned her position at Horace Mann school, withdrew her resignation and was re-hired by the board.

The board received the resignations of Lucille Brunsting, who taught high school English and journalism; Al Baughman, chemistry; Clayton G. Henry, high school mathematics, and Sarah Wendlandt, speech correctionist.

Koreans Demonstrate Against Truce

SHOUTING ANTI-ARMISTICE SLOGANS a mob of young Korean girls surges against the polegate of the correspondents' billet compound in Seoul in one of many demonstrations supporting Syngman Rhee's opposition to a truce. Shortly afterwards the girls pushed past the South Korean guards shown protecting the barrier and swarmed through the compound distributing propaganda leaflets. They were routed by streams of water directed at them by the military police.

Foreign Aid Budget Cut $162 Million Over Ike's Request

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate foreign relations committee approved a $5,312,000,000 foreign aid program Wednesday, cutting President Eisenhower's requests by $162 million.

Since all major items of military and economic assistance to Allied nations got through the committee unscathed, the vote could be taken as a first round victory for the administration in its fight to win congressional approval of the big bill.

Chairman Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) said the mutual security measure would be reported to the senate next week. He added that he felt chances for final approval of the bill recommended by the committee were "pretty good."

The biggest reduction voted by the senators was $150 million in the $250 million fund Eisenhower requested to help friendly countries modernize their arsenal of military weapons.

An innovation of the new administration, the weapons fund has been described by mutual security director Harold Stassen as potentially the most valuable in the whole foreign aid picture.

Wiley said the big cut was made because the senators were not convinced that more than $100 million could be used profitably at present.

EDEN 'SATISFACTORY'

BOSTON (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden underwent surgery at New England Baptist hospital Wednesday to ease an obstruction in the main bile duct and doctors said his postoperative condition is satisfactory. Dr. Richard B. Cattell of the Lahey Clinic staff performed the operation with the assistance of Dr. Frank Lahey, founder of the clinic.

Assassin Suspect Arrested

NEW YORK (AP) — A man described by the secret service as a dangerous maniac was trapped and seized Wednesday for allegedly addressing assassination threats to President Eisenhower, as he had previously to Presidents Roosevelt and Truman.

He identified himself as Albert J. Drevney, 40, originally from Denver.

He was arrested north of New York in New Rochelle when he walked into a trap in the climax to a nation-wide hunt.

In Washington, U. E. Baughman, chief of the secret service, described Drevney as a "homicidal maniac" experienced in the use of small firearms.

Baughman said Drevney was arrested in San Francisco in 1941 for writing threatening letters to President Roosevelt.

Since then, the secret service chief added, Drevney has been in half a dozen mental institutions from which he either escaped or was released.

Baughman did not know the circumstances of Drevney's present freedom.

During a previous period of freedom, Baughman added, Drevney wrote threats to President Truman.

Baughman said the threat to Eisenhower was mailed from Lancaster, Pa., sometime in March.

State Weather Bureau Warns Of Rapidly Rising Iowa Rivers

DES MOINES (AP) — The Des Moines weather bureau issued the following river bulletin at 8 p.m. Wednesday:

"Rainfall over central Iowa Tuesday night ranged upward to four inches at Guthrie Center and has caused rapid rises on the rivers in the Raccoon valley and small streams to the south of Des Moines.

"River stages and crests are running according to an earlier forecast.

Raccoon Cresting

"At Jefferson, the Raccoon river was cresting at 9.8 feet — two-tenths of a foot below bankfull of 10 feet. At Van Meter, the river had risen 2½ feet since the middle of the forenoon and Wednesday evening stood at 17.2, slightly over 4 feet above bankfull. The crest is expected late Wednesday night at near 19 feet.

"At southwest 18th street in Des Moines the reading Wednesday evening was 11 feet. The river was rising at the rate of one-tenth of a foot per hour and is expected to crest at 12.5 late Wednesday night.

"This will be slightly above bankfull and some local flooding is expected at Waterworks Park and Valley Drive.

Des Moines Rising

"The Des Moines river also is rising and will crest below bankfull at Ft. Dodge and Boone and through the city of Des Moines.

"The reading at Second ave. in Des Moines was up to 16.4 Wednesday evening and was rising at the rate of 3 inches an hour. The river will crest at near 18 feet by Saturday. Bankfull is 23 feet. The river will crest at Scott st. near bankfull of nearly 13 feet late Thursday.

"South of Des Moines to Ottumwa, the Des Moines river will rise over bankfull Friday and Saturday.

Crest Expected

"The crest is expected Friday at Tracy at between 18.5 and 19.5 feet, and at Ottumwa Saturday at between 13 and 14 feet. Bankfull at Tracy is 14 feet and 9 feet at Ottumwa.

"The small tributaries to the south of Des Moines, namely the North, Middle and South rivers, were flooding locally and were to have crested late Wednesday between 3 and 5 feet above bankfull."

STUDENT PILOT INJURED

COUNCIL BLUFFS (AP) —Gordon Smith, 20, Council Bluffs, a student pilot, was injured seriously shortly before noon Wednesday when a two-seat cabin plane crashed just after takeoff from the municipal airport here. Dick Mathews, 18, Omaha, the pilot, escaped serious injury. The plane nosed into tall grass off the end of the runway seconds after takeoff.

Economy-Minded GOP Cuts President's Pay

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Eisenhower is a victim of the Republican economy drive! He is feeling the pinch where it hurts most, in his pocketbook.

It will come as a shock to the millions of Republicans, and Democrats, who voted for him to learn that the President is being paid less than his predecessor in office, Harry S. Truman. The difference? About $10,000 a year, or $40,000 during his term of office.

Ostensibly, Mr. Eisenhower receives the same remuneration Mr. Truman received, $150,000 a year. This consists of $100,000 in salary and $50,000 in expense allowance.

However, a Republican-sponsored proviso, offered by Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, requires the President to pay a tax on his $50,000 expense allowance as well as his salary. Ex-President Truman had a tax-free expense allowance.

The Williams proviso was adopted by the 82d congress. When the Republicans came into control last Jan. 3, Mr. Truman, still President, urged congress not to cut the incoming President's remuneration, but the economy-minded members wouldn't budge.

Consequently, President Eisenhower's take-home pay is $9,999.84 less each year than Mr. Truman received.

While the President's remuneration is $150,000 a year, his take-home pay is actually considerably less. It amounts to $120,266 a year.

Here is the breakdown on the President's pay: Out of his $100,000 salary, Mr. Eisenhower receives $80,266 (plus a few odd cents). His withholding tax is $19,733.64. Out of his $50,000 expense allowance, the chief executive receives $40,000.16. The tax deduction is $9,999.84. Of the $150,000 he receives, $29,733.48 is withheld annually in taxes.

Honor's Day Tea Held For Nursing Students

An honor's day tea, sponsored by the college of nursing faculty and Sigma Theta Tau, nursing honorary sorority, was held Tuesday in the Westlawn parlor.

The tea honored 38 SUI nursing students who have excelled academically or who have been honored for campus participation during the past year.

Pouring at the tea were Dean Myrtle E. Kitchell, Prof. Amy Frances Brown and Mrs. Pauline Patterson.

New Publication Warns Public Against Tax Fraud Attempts

The most tragic error that can be made by a taxpayer is to assume that he can glibly outsmart the U.S. Treasury investigator, a new Commerce Clearing House publication states.

Written by Harry Graham Balter, Los Angeles lawyer, a revised edition of "Fraud Under Federal Tax Law" advises against "attempting to overwhelm the investigator with some novel explanation of irregularities which may sound plausible to the taxpayer." The chances are the book states, that the agent has heard it, time after time.

The new edition was published by CCH in response to requests for guidance under the procedural changes brought about by the reorganization of the bureau of internal revenue and new bureau policies. It discusses all the vital tax events of 1952 and early 1953.

Bureau Finds Fraud

Ferreting out tax evasion in order to bring fraud cases to light is merely a matter of time and industry on the part of the bureau, in its efforts to impose criminal sanctions and to collect penalties which can run as high as 75 per cent. Fundamentally, the means of detection are listed in the CCH publication as:

1. Routine check of returns made by various units of the Treasury.

2. Check of large or unusual transactions.

3. Check of newspaper reports; court proceedings; legal filings; etc.

4. Gangsters, racketeers and others engaged in unlawful business.

5. Examination of other government agencies' records.

6. Tips for revenge.

7. Tips for reward.

In his discussion of "tips" on fraudulent returns sent to the bureau by disgruntled, vengeful or envious employes, associates, sweethearts, nurses, neighbors, etc., Balter says these number about 40,000 a year, and are usually anonymous. Rewards up to 10 per cent of the amount of taxes, penalties, fines and forfeitures are paid for such information. However, he warns that if the commissioner refuses to authorize a reward, claiming prior information the informer will find a rocky road in trying to collect. A suit against the U.S. is the only method.

Emphasis Changed

The abandonment "forever" of the "utmost consideration" factor heretofore granted the taxpayer is reflected in a change of emphasis by the bureau to a policy of deterring evasion rather than raising revenue. The dropping of the "health" and "voluntary disclosure" policies is cited by the author as a result of this changing emphasis.

Under its long-established "health" policy, the bureau often did not recommend prosecution when it was claimed that "standing trial would endanger taxpayer's life or sanity." The second policy was that the taxpayer might avoid prosecution if he voluntarily disclosed errors to the bureau before investigations were started.

Faculty Member To Attend Brazilian Nurses' Conference

Prof. Amy Frances Brown of the SUI college of nursing will be the only representative from Iowa at the Congress of International Council of Nurses, July 13-18 in Petropolis, Brazil.

Miss Brown will leave for South America July 2 by plane. Among the places she will tour are Miami, Fla.; San Juan, Puerto Rico; Buenos Aires, Argentina, and Panama. She will also tour Santiago, Chile, and Lima Peru.

While in Sao Paulo, Brazil, Miss Brown will visit the Cutantan snake farm where serum is prepared from snake venom.

The conference will bring together association members from all over the world. The international congress meets every four years.

6 Johnson County Men Leave for Army Induction

Six men left from Johnson county Wednesday for induction into the armed services. They included two volunteers and two transfers.

Volunteers were Carl A. Fobian, West Branch, and Gerald J. Meade, Oxford.

Sent by the Johnson county draft board for induction were Robert W. Daykin, 438 S. Dodge st., and John W. Miller, 430 Bloomington st.

Isidore Gormezano, Brooklyn, and Fred H. Ross were transferred to the local board for induction.

Board of Education To Receive Bids For New Projects

Bids for Iowa City's two new schools and three additions will be received by the board of education on July 8, the board has announced.

The board also set June 25 as the date for the sale of the bond issue which will finance the building program.

Iowa City voters approved the bond sale at a school election in March. Estimated cost of the program is $795,000. The two elementary schools are expected to cost $260,000 each.

They will be located at the Yewell st. and First ave. sites which were purchased last fall. Similar plans have been approved for both buildings.
