Officials Term 'Illegal' SUI Union Excavation

Two city officials Friday said excavation into the west end of Jefferson st. at the construction site of the addition to the Iowa Memorial Union is "illegal."

City Manager Peter F. Roan and Fred E. Gartzke, city engineer, said no permit for the excavation has ever been sought from the city council by SUI.

The complaints from city hall came in the wake of SUI President Virgil M. Hancher's speech at a Chamber of Commerce meeting Thursday night advocating mutual cooperation between SUI and the Iowa City community.

Harper Is Surprised
Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of the Iowa Memorial Union, commented "I'm surprised to hear about it. I just don't have any knowledge of the surveying facts involved at all."

Harper continued, "I certainly don't believe the university had the slightest intention of digging where it didn't have a right to dig."

The area involved is the butt end of Jefferson st. which extends west of Madison st. about one block. The dead-end lane has been used as a parking lot before construction of the Union addition began.

Width is 30 Feet
The street itself is only 30 feet wide where the excavation is taking place, Gartzke said, but the city's right of way is 100 feet in width.

Excavation has been made 24 feet into the street right of way, he explained. The disputed area will be covered with concrete and form the entrance for the Union addition. A room for housing machinery is being constructed under the concrete.

Gartzke said Friday afternoon he believed that SUI would also have to obtain an additional permit before they place a canopy over the entrance to the addition because "the canopy will be above city property and things like that should be approved."

Officials Refuse Comment
Six other SUI officials chose not to comment on the incident. One, who wished to remain unidentified, said:

"The original section of land on 275 To Get Degrees At Commencement"

Approximately 275 students will be candidates for degrees at the annual winter commencement convocation Feb. 6 at SUI, according to Registrar Ted McCarral.

President Virgil M. Hancher will deliver the charge to the graduates and confer degrees at Commencement exercises at 1:45 p.m. in the university fieldhouse. Dr. Y. P. Mei, visiting professor of oriental studies at SUI, will give the Commencement address. Dr. Mei was formerly acting president of Yenching university, Peiping, China.

Serving as chaplain will be the Rev. Robert J. Welch, associate professor in the school of religion. The SUI band, under the direction of Prof. Charles B. Righter, will provide processional and recessional music.

World News Briefs

A Condensation of Late Developments

8 Killed in Plane Crash
HONOLULU (AP)—A six-man army land rescue team early Friday reached the fiercely burning wreckage of a navy neptune patrol bomber on a mountain slope and radioed back that all eight men aboard had died. The two-engine plane crashed Thursday night. It was nearing the end of a flight from Kwajalein in the Marshall Islands. The plane had been cleared for a landing at Barbers Point naval air station only seconds before the crash. Apparently it was off course due to low hanging clouds.

'Refugee' Sentenced for Spying
FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—A U.S. district court Friday sentenced a former Russian army officer, who fled to West Berlin as a refugee in 1948, to 14 years imprisonment for spying against the United States. His East German refugee wife got two years as an accomplice. Georgi Vladimirovich Khoruzhii, 36, and his wife, Elizabeth, were convicted of giving the Russians information about two U.S. intelligence agents in West Germany and transmitting advice about Russian refugees in the Frankfurt area.

Cost of Living Declines
WASHINGTON (AP)—The government's cost of living index declined slightly in December for the second consecutive month but the bureau of labor statistics said price trends definitely "are not behaving like a business recession." BLS Commissioner Ewan Clague described the December drop of less than one-tenth of 1 per cent as a minor movement which gave evidence of "continued stability" in the economy.

275 To Get Degrees At Commencement

Approximately 275 students will be candidates for degrees at the annual winter commencement convocation Feb. 6 at SUI, according to Registrar Ted McCarral.

President Virgil M. Hancher will deliver the charge to the graduates and confer degrees at Commencement exercises at 1:45 p.m. in the university fieldhouse. Dr. Y. P. ## Book Exchange To Open Monday

The SUI book exchange, operated by the Student Council, will open Monday in room 113, Macbride hall, to accept books to be sold next semester.

Textbooks which will definitely be used in the spring will be accepted Monday through Friday from 2 to 5 p.m. until Feb. 5. From Feb. 8 through 19, the books will be sold in Schaeffer hall study room. A complete list of the texts to be used next semester has been compiled and only those books will be sold by the exchange.

Rex Jamison, A3, Story City, chairman of the book exchange committee, is requesting volunteers from the student body to work in the exchange when it is opened Feb. 6. Anyone interested should call Carolyn Hornbaker, C3, Bonaparte, at Ext. 2638.

Other members of the book exchange committees are Jackie Lewis, A3, Burlington, and Sally Rehnberg, A3, Clinton.

Big 3 Ministers Hope For German Unification

BERLIN (AP)—The Big Three Western foreign ministers gathered in this war-damaged city Friday to merge their ideas on how to get more peace for the world out of their meeting next week with Russia's V. M. Molotov.

All three voiced big hopes of an agreement with Russia to reunite the Germany they jointly defeated and divided, but all three were known to have deep doubts that there will be much real progress.

"We hope to unite Germany by giving the German people as a whole the rights which our civilization treats as fundamental," said Secretary of State John Foster Dulles as he stepped from the presidential plane "Columbine" at Tempelhof airbase.

These rights, he said, include "especially the right of a people, by free elections, to choose for themselves their own sovereign government."

An hour after he arrived Georges Bidault, French foreign minister, came by special train from Paris.

The last of the three to arrive was British foreign secretary Anthony Eden, who whistled into Tempelhof in a British turbojet airliner.

3 Men To Meet
Dulles, Eden and Bidault will meet first in the French headquarters at 11 a.m. (4 a.m. Iowa time) — about the time Molotov is expected to arrive in the Russian sector of the city.

The first meeting of the Big Four, who are slated to take up the Austrian independence question as well as German problems, will open at 9:30 a.m. (2:30 a.m. Iowa time) Monday in the old Allied Control Authority building in the U.S. sector.

3 Allies Agreed
The three Allies Molotov will face are agreed on one thing — seek the reunion of Germany under conditions which will let her decide freely whether she wants to work with the West for their kind of liberty or to work with Russia. The four nations seem agreed that if Germany is allowed to have free elections in the Western style, she will vote for the West.

It is for that reason that the Western nations are also agreed in believing that Russia will allow no free elections at this time. And the westerners are agreed to refuse any other scheme for reuniting Germany.

BRICKER AMENDMENT—The controversy over the treaty-limiting proposal also developed into a major battle on the senate floor. Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) called the Bricker amendment "one of the most dangerous acts of our generation." Bricker replied that his plan had been deliberately misrepresented.

TAXES—The house ways and means committee approved $540 million in tax cuts for this year, chiefly through bigger deductions for medical expenses and business depreciation.

LABOR BOARD—A row broke out in the senate labor committee over Eisenhower's nomination of Albert C. Beeson, California businessman, to the National Labor Relations board. Chairman H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) said Democratic members were trying to embarrass the administration by "stalling."

TEEN-AGE VOTE—A proposed constitutional amendment to lower the voting age from 21 to 18 slid through the senate judiciary subcommittee but faces possible trouble in the full committee.

Zarubin Hopeful Of Big 4 Success
NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarubin indicated Friday that he is filled with "hope" for the success of the forth-coming four-power conference in Berlin.

Zarubin was awaiting a plane at Idlewild airport to fly him to Europe when newsmen asked him what were his hopes for the conference.

Waving his hands, the Russian diplomat replied in English: "Yes, I hope, I hope, I hope."

That was about all his interviewers could make out.

Andre Vishinsky, the Soviet permanent UN delegate, was at the airport to see Zarubin off.

Vishinsky said he didn't have time to speak into a newsreel microphone.

But the two Russians were not averse to being photographed. They posed shaking hands and smiling.

'Come Home' Offer Extended for 21
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson said Friday the 21 Americans left behind by their Indian custodians in Korea are "free to do what they please," but if they want to return to United Nations lines they must make up their minds quickly.

Wilson told a Pentagon news conference that he was sure of one thing: "Their pay is going to be cut off very shortly."

In reply to other questioning regarding the exact status of the American POWs who have so far refused to return home, the secretary said it would be determined very shortly, adding that the extended offer permitting them to return "won't last for many days longer."

The army is known to have prepared "undesirable" discharges for the 21 men. The Pentagon had intended to make these discharges effective immediately after Friday's deadline for the release of all prisoners, but officials said the Reds' refusal to take back the 21 Americans and some 300 other Allied prisoners had in effect given those men a few hours or days of grace.

Ex-POW Faces Charges

2 Plead Innocent to Kidnaping Charge

Congressional Highlights
WASHINGTON (AP)—A sharp debate whipped up in the senate Friday over the Eisenhower administration's new concept of military strategy.

Some Democrats questioned the wisdom of the plan, but Republican leader William Knowland of California said it would be "very dangerous" for the Kremlin to assume that this country would not retaliate against aggression with atomic bombs.

ORCHESTRA PLANS Wednesday Concert
Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp will direct the SUI symphony orchestra in its third concert of the 1953-54 season Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Iowa Memorial Union.

The concert will open with the prelude to the opera "Khovantchina" by Modest Mussorgsky. Prof. Stuart Canin, of the music department, will be the soloist for Brahms' "Concerto for Violin with Orchestra, in D major, opus 77."

"Symphony No. 4, in G major, opus 88," by Antonin Dvorak, will also be on the program.

Prof. William Gower of the music department, is assistant conductor of the orchestra.

Free tickets for the concert may be obtained at the Union.

2 Years Needed
Dr. Harold Dorn of the National institute of health, one of the directors of the survey, told a reporter:

"Since between 4,000 and 5,000 deaths will occur each year in a group of this size and age-level, we will have a fairly good idea of the effects, if any, in about two years. But a really detailed analysis will probably not be possible for about four or five years."

The analysis will be made by the Public Health service, but the questionnaires have already been mailed out and the remainder is expected to go next week.

Veterans Chosen
Dorn said the veterans' group was chosen because it represents a large segment of the population and also because the fact that these men have life insurance policies makes it possible to do the follow-up studies.

Dorn said there are allegations that lung cancer occurs more frequently among heavy smokers of cigarettes than among relatively light smokers and non-smokers.

Orchestra Plans Wednesday Concert

Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp will direct the SUI symphony orchestra in its third concert of the 1953-54 season Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Iowa Memorial Union.

Army Plans Court Martial Of Dickenson

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson, a 23-year-old prisoner of war who at first refused to leave his Communist captors in Korea then changed his mind was arrested Friday night on court martial charges.

The soldier from Cracker's Neck, Va., was accused of holding unlawful "intercourse with the enemy" and currying favor with his captors "to the detriment of fellow prisoners."

If convicted he could face a possible death penalty, or prison term, in the discretion of the court martial and reviewing agencies. But army authorities, who announced the charges, said it is yet to be determined whether he actually will face trial.

To Examine Accusations
First there will be a pre-trial examination to determine whether the accusations, made by former fellow prisoners, warrant further proceedings. Details of the charges were withheld.

Dickenson was notified of the accusations Friday night at the army's Walter Reed hospital here, where he had gone for a physical examination. He was placed in custody and is being held at the hospital.

Reporters seeking Dickenson's reaction to the charges were told by army officers that he was declining to grant interviews or pose for pictures.

The action was announced by Col. Norman E. Sprowl, public information officer of the military district of Washington.

Announcement Describes
An announcement by army authorities said Dickenson is accused of:

"Having without authority communicated with and held intercourse with the enemy."

"Having for the purpose of securing favorable treatment by his captors, acted without proper authority in a manner contrary to law, customs and regulations to the detriment of other persons held by the enemy as prisoners."

Dickenson was one of 23 American soldiers who refused repatriation after the Korean truce was signed. He later changed his mind and asked neutral Indian guards to turn him back to the UN side.

As for the date on which Dickenson will be tried, Sprowl's announcement said:

No Date Set
"No decision will be made by the commanding general, military district of Washington, to refer this case to trial until a formal pre-trial investigation has been conducted in accordance with statute, and not until the results of that investigation have been fully reviewed for legal sufficiency. Such pre-trial investigation will be conducted at the earliest date possible."

His original decision to stay with the Communists, he told reporters, had been made for him by the Red Chinese. He said they "kept me back" by threats.

He declared that nevertheless he later applied for repatriation but that the Chinese Communists threatened him by telling him that material they originally forced him to write would be used against him if he returned to the United States.

Dickenson came back to this country Nov. 21.

Appeal Granted In Murder Case

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois supreme court Friday agreed to hear the appeal of William G. Heirens, serving three life sentences for the mutilation slayings of 6-year-old Suzanne Degnan and two women in Chicago.

The court announced it has granted Heirens' petition for a review of his case under the Illinois post-conviction law.

Heirens' petition claimed he was deprived of due process of law and forced to submit to police brutality during his trial in 1946.

It probably will be two months, or longer before the court decides whether he is entitled to a new trial.

The 25-year-old Heirens was sentenced to prison in 1946 for three of the most savage murders in Chicago's history and 26 charges of robbery, burglary and assault.

Nancy Sweitzer Chosen Interfraternity Queen

Union Schedules Boris Goldovsky's 'Piano Portraits'

Boris Goldovsky, master of ceremonies for the "Opera News of the Air" intermission broadcast of the Metropolitan Opera company, will present "Piano Portraits" at SUI Feb. 17. The lecture-recital will be held in the main lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union.

Since making his professional debut with the Berlin Philharmonic in 1921 Goldovsky has toured the United States and Europe. He appeared as featured guest soloist with the Philadelphia orchestra, the Cleveland symphony, and the Boston symphony.

In 1947 Goldovsky won the Musical America special award for the best musical script of the year, in connection with Metropolitan Opera broadcasts. He was appointed musical director of the music festival in Worcester, Mass. in 1949.

Free tickets for the lecture, which will include piano selections, will be available to students, faculty, and staff members at the information desk of the Union beginning Feb. 12. Remaining tickets will be available to the general public on the day of the event.

Heirens' petition claimed he was deprived of due process of law and forced to submit to police brutality during his trial in 1946.

It probably will be two months, or longer before the court decides whether he is entitled to a new trial.

Interpreting the News

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press
Foreign Staff

President Eisenhower's 1954-55 budget is based, somewhat precariously, on several important assumptions.

Among them:
1. The estimate that defense expenditures can be based on a long-range view of Russian intentions, with substitution of weapons of massive retaliation, and of tactical atomic weapons, for manpower.

2. A belief that business will maintain approximately its present level and so pay present taxes. Budget Considered
3. A confidence that congress will accept the budget estimates as bedrock, and not insist on greater tax reductions than proposed, or include expenditures which have been omitted.

The President reached out for a broad layer of popular support with his proposals to give smaller taxpayers a break with their returns, and to increase social security benefits.

But congress wanted far broader action as the November elections drew closer, and there were immediate threats that the administration would not be able to hold its position against business tax cuts, some of them already scheduled for April.

Nervousness About Defense
Not only in congress, but among the people, there is considerable nervousness over the defense picture. The tendency to rely on the President in this field where he is particularly fitted to weigh the estimates of his advisers is at least partially offset by the ingrained belief, drilled in by the President as much as anyone else, that this is a grave period in which to live.

People to whom I have talked want no chance-taking. Mostly, they want the military to have everything they could possibly need. Out of the other side of their mouths, they talk tax reduction.

Worry About Depression
But the one universal question into which I have run, in recent visits to six states and Washington itself, is whether there will be a depression. You can't make any sense out of these people. They quarrel about high prices, and shudder when prices stop climbing or drop just a tiny bit.

People in the lower income brackets seem pretty sure that they do better in periods of inflation, even with high prices. White collar workers are convinced that, whenever there is any change, they get it in the neck.

Congressmen always think a little pork is necessary to a good diet. Many of them will also disagree with the budget-makers at points which truly affect the general welfare.

With all this confusion, the controversy over this new budget promises to be furious.

44-Passenger Convair Plane Unveiled in Local Ceremony

Iowa Citizens Friday became acquainted with a new 44-passenger twin-engine Convair plane which will begin servicing the city, Feb. 1.

An unveiling of the new plane was held at the municipal airport Friday morning with Mrs. Dale W. Welt, wife of the retiring president of the Iowa City chamber of commerce, christening the plane. Climaxing the ceremony was the fastening of a label reading "Iowa City" on the plane's nose.

The morning program, except for the christening, was held inside the administration building because of low temperatures. Officials at the program received a courtesy flight in the new plane after the ceremony.

Flight to Muscatine
The flight was from the local airport to Muscatine, up the Mississippi river to the Quad cities, and back to Iowa City. Among those aboard were Paul Brechler, director of athletics at SUI, Col. G. A. Bosch, head and professor of air science and tactics at SUI and Col. W. E. Sewell, head and professor of military science at SUI.

The plane was open for general public inspection from 12:30 to 4 p.m.

Mayor Leroy S. Mercer presided at the ceremony, expressing his pleasure at welcoming the new service to Iowa City.

He praised members of the airport commission, both past and present, for their foresightedness in providing the facilities which made possible this new service.

Called Finest Plane
Jay Klapp, regional affairs manager of the airline, called the new Convair the finest twin-engine plane for its job-inter-city flying.

He said that the airline is proud and happy to inaugurate the new service through Iowa City. "Our desire," Klapp added, "is to be a good citizen of your city."

The chamber of commerce was host at a luncheon at the Jefferson hotel following the ceremony. Homer J. Merchant, manager of the airline's ground services, was the speaker at the luncheon. Robert F. Ray, director of the SUI institute of public affairs, was master of ceremonies.

REV KELLEHER TO SPEAK
The Rev. James P. Kelleher will deliver the first lecture of a series on "What Catholics Believe — and Why" Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in St. Mary's church. The talks will be open to both Catholics and non-Catholics and will feature the Catholic world outlook. There will be an opportunity to submit written questions towards the close of the 45-minute program.

Chamber of Commerce Head Outlines 14-Point Program

Iowa City is the finest community in these United States but it will take the combined efforts of every businessman in the community for the program of progress set up by the Chamber of Commerce to drive ahead, Dean Jones, newly elected president of the group, stated at the group's annual meeting Thursday night.

Keith Kafer, organization secretary, read the prepared speech to the businessmen assembled at the Iowa Memorial Union for their annual dinner. Jones was unable to attend.

His talk outlined a 14-point program for the Chamber of Commerce to follow in the coming year. In stating the overall aims he called for better financial relations, improved relations with the university and a more active part to be taken in city government.

Points Included
The outline included the necessity for constant attention on the highway problem, a national program, continued efforts to secure an industry for the community, and improved agricultural activities to better farm relations.

Jones stated that the group would again sponsor a business-education day. He re-emphasized the importance of a more active interest in city government and expressed his desire for an all-out program to sell the community trade benefits.

Calls for Development
He called for the businessmen to promote the spiritual, educational and cultural development of Iowa City and noted the importance of cooperation with SUI.

The president said that a safety program will be set up to develop driver-pedestrian courtesy. The program to keep undesirable solicitors out of Iowa City will also be continued, he announced.

Also in Jones' outline was the continuance of the annual program to honor the 16 top high school basketball teams of the state at a banquet at the Jefferson hotel; the emphasis on publicizing Iowa City as a quality city, and a concerted membership drive.

Gives Summary
Outgoing president Dale Welt summed up his term of office as Chamber of Commerce head in a report which stated that during 1953 the group's activities were directed toward attaining what is best for the most.

In mentioning the proposed by-pass for Iowa City he stated, "The heavy tractor trailer problem, particularly those laden with explosives, were and are our greatest worry. I feel that a by-pass around Iowa City is the only solution."

"I truly have a magnanimous feeling toward Iowa City. I know it can and will stand on its own feet and will do itself proud," he added.

Break-In Reported at Golfing Range
Police today are still investigating a break-in at the airport golf driving range which occurred sometime in the past month.

The break-in was reported Thursday after a telephone company employe noticed a hasp on the door was missing when he went out to collect money from a pay phone there.

Detective Harland Sprinkle said the entry occurred sometime between Dec. 22 and Thursday.

George Thompson, operator of the driving range, told police that he has not determined if anything is missing yet.

Oklahoma Professor Nabs Exam Peddlers

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — A University of Oklahoma professor of criminology did some extra-curricular sleuthing and nabbed four freshmen who were trying to peddle copies of his final examination in advance — at $30 a throw.

Gilbert Geis, 29, put on his Sherlock Holmes cap after he discovered his questions no longer were secret.

"It wouldn't have looked very good," he explained modestly. After all, his course was primarily concerned with the investigation of incidents exactly like this one.

Searched Trash Cans
The four students devised a novel plan to lay their hands on the coming examination. They painstakingly poked in trash cans looking for discarded stencils which were used to mimeograph the examinations.

Finally, they came up with the criminology final of Geis and two others. They planned carefully, but should have taken the hint.

"For three days the phone had been ringing continually," said Geis. "Students told me they had been approached and that the copies were selling for around $30 each. Finally someone gave us a line on who was selling them."

Student Was 'Bait'
Geis said one of the graduate students working for the department of sociology was used as the "bait." He contacted the suspects and offered to pay the $30. They said a copy of the examination would be delivered.

When the courier arrived he was met by Geis, chief of police A. C. Bernier, and the graduate student.

"We accompanied him back to his rooms and found the other three," Geis said. "When we led them off I heard one of them say, 'Some day I'm going to have to take that course.'"

Dean Paul MacMinn said release of their names and disciplinary action was in the hands of the university administration.

Former Member of Faculty Visits
Judah Goldin, dean of the Seminary College of the Jewish Seminary Institute in New York city, visited the SUI campus. Goldin was a member of the SUI school of religion faculty from 1945 to 1951.

He received his B.S. degree in social science in 1934 from City College of New York, and his Ph.D. from the Jewish Theological Seminary of America in 1943.

Before coming to SUI Goldin taught at the University of Illinois and Duke university.

An Iowa-Iowa State Game?

For some unfathomable reason, a great deal of agitation seems to have developed out Ames-way for an Iowa-Iowa State football series.

It's hard to see how these folks figure that our unskilled team could offer their footballers any competition.

Moreover, rumor has it that there are serious hazards in playing Iowa State. As we heard it, opponents are subject to being shaken up till their teeth almost fall out.

And, if an opposing team is lucky enough to get into Iowa State territory, they are confronted with bonfires and barricades on the 30-yard line.

As the rumor goes, one time a team reached the Iowa State goal line only to fall under a withering hail of stones, eggs and flaming cardboard from indignant Cyclone rooters.

Then, there is the dreadful possibility that our players might be left stranded in foreign territory after their buses were commandeered.

Finally, one shudders to think of what the consequences might be if our team was somehow able to upset an Iowa State squad. It very likely would mean the end for both institutions.

Car Registration Slow as Deadline Nears

Only one week remains for Iowans who wish to obtain 1954 car registrations before late registration penalties are added to the regular fee.

Beginning Feb. 1, five per cent per month, with a one dollar minimum, will be added as a penalty for late registration.

Campus Poll

Have you started to study for finals yet?

Rita Carter, A1, Sergeant Bluff (left): "I started several weeks ago, but I'm really only getting caught up on what I missed."

Jim Parks, A2, Mason City (right): "I don't really study for finals, I simply assimilate the material from day to day and then apply it when taking my exams. My philosophy is not to sweat."

Judy Reagan, A1, Sioux Falls, S. D. (left): "Yes, but not real extensively. I will try to get as much work done as possible in the day. I don't believe in staying up late and cramming."

Frederick Mann, A1, Wilton Junction (right): "Yes, I started to study a week ago, because I'd gotten behind in my daily work."

Elizabeth Etter C4, Sigourney (left): "Absolutely not, I haven't had time. I'm still trying to get caught up on what's gone before."

Dave Kline, C3, La Porte City (right): "Yes, in fact I've been doing so all semester. However, I intend to accelerate my pace slightly when those tests start coming."

Company Publishes Sanderson's Book

Introduction to Chemistry, a new book written by Prof. Robert T. Sanderson, of the SUI chemistry department, has been published by John Wiley and Sons, the firm announced Friday.

The purpose of the new book is to provide a general survey for advanced courses in the field of chemistry. In doing this Sanderson says that he has, "Tried to give only the most essential information, and explain it as thoroughly as possible."

Sanderson also wrote "Vacuum Manipulation of Volatile Compounds," which was published in 1948. He graduated from Yale university in 1934, and received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago in 1939.

WSUI To Present Program on Blind

The second of a series of programs, which tell how noted men and women fought courageous battles against blindness, will be broadcast by WSUI this morning at 10:15.

Today's program tells about the life of Maria Von Paradies, a blind enchantress of Vienna, Austria. The series, called "Torchbearers," was produced by the National Association of Educational Broadcasters in cooperation with the American Foundation for the Blind.

Resident of Africa To Visit Campus

Julius Gecau, a resident of Kenya, Africa, will visit the SUI campus Feb. 6-Feb. 19.

Majoring in economics, political science and literature, he was graduated from Ewing Christian college and Holland hall of the University of Ahmadabad, India, in 1953.

Gecau is trying to acquaint American students with the problems which affect students in India, Africa and the U.S. from the Christian point of view.

He is spending this year visiting different college and university youth centers. His visit is sponsored by the Presbyterian church and the student volunteer movement. Next year he will study at an U.S. college.

Play Director Impressed by Girls' Study

The last performance of "Cradle Song" will be presented tonight by the University theatre and Prof. William Reardon, dramatic arts instructor, will complete his first directing assignment at SUI. Reardon, who came to SUI from Stanford university where he received his M.A. and Ph.D. in dramatic arts, is "very pleased" and expressed appreciation for the tremendous amount of energy demonstrated by the cast. He said that the cast has been the best under his direction in terms of interest and willingness both individually and collectively.

He was particularly impressed by the study the girls portraying the mums gave to their parts. This was one of the biggest problems faced, that of understanding the mums' parts. The girls solved this by talking with the sisters at St. Mary's Convent.

Work on the play did not proceed so smoothly on some occasions. Four days before the opening night two members of the cast, Brunhilde Ritter, A3, New York City, and Herman Schwenk, G, Kingston, N.Y., Teresa and the doctor respectively, were sent to the student infirmary. Reardon immediately assigned the doctor's part to Leo Feany, A2, Dakota City, who memorized it over night. Donna Sclarow, A1, Ames, was assigned Teresa's part at the same time and learned it in one and a half days. Although Miss Ritter returned for opening night, Miss Sclarow played the part for three performances. Feany opened in the doctor's role.

Miss Ritter's cold brought about another problem. Two minutes before she was to begin the play Tuesday night she found that her voice was once more averted as Nancy Burt, A2, Ottumwa, stepped in and sang the opening lines. Aside from the illness of the cast, which was immediately remedied in both cases, only one problem remains, "one very live and very spoiled canary," Reardon laughed as he said, "I'm happy to say that I won't be in charge of making arrangements to take care of that."

Winick Elected Next Semester's AEPi President

Marvin Winick

Marvin Winick, C3, Des Moines, was elected president of Alpha Epsilon Pi social fraternity for the coming semester in elections held Monday night.

Other officers are Ronald Press, C3, Des Moines, vice-president; Ira Kapenstein, A2, New York, N.Y., secretary; Mel Kovitz, A3, Bettendorf, treasurer; Allan Duke, A4, Cleveland Heights, Ohio, and Arnold Core, A2, Kankakee, Ill., members-at-large.

Sandy Litvack, A2, New York City, house manager; Dan Goldschmidt, A2, Wichita, Kan., corresponding secretary; Harvey Leavitt, A2, Fort Dodge, assistant treasurer; Marvin Greenberg, A4, Des Moines, sentinel, and Jerry Mason, A3, Milwaukee, Wis., historian-librarian.

Core was chosen social chairman; Steve Goldberg, A2, Revere, Mass., scholarship chairman; Jordan Matulef, A4, Des Moines, athletic chairman; Mason, song chairman; Norton Mezvinsky, A4, Ames, cultural chairman; Sheldon Rosenfeld, A2, Des Moines, inter-chapter chairman, and Kapenstein, steward.

Lampe, Foster Reminisce

DR. M. WILLARD LAMPE, (left) retired director and builder of SUI's unique school of religion, reminisces with the founder of the school, Dr. O. Delmar Foster, by nominating Lampe for the directorship in 1927, gave to him the difficult task of building the first and only state inter-faith school of religion in existence.

Foster Lays Religion School Foundation

(Editor's Note: This is the last in a series of articles describing the role of O. Delmar Foster, 76, in the founding of SUI's inter-faith school of religion.)

By DICK SOLOWAY
With the American Association on Religion backing SUI's experiment of an integrated state inter-faith school of religion, it was then necessary for the state board of education to act on O. Delmar Foster's plan for the school.

Foster acted. A letter from Prof. G. F. Kay, dean of liberal arts, to Foster on June 19, 1924 reads: "I have just been informed by President Jessup that at a meeting of the state board of education yesterday, our plans for the establishment of a school of religion were approved."

The Daily Iowan of May 19, 1925 appeared with a headline announcing: "Religion School Begins Work With Kay As President. Executive Committees Named in Session Yesterday."

In describing this first meeting of the board of trustees, the Iowan said "The school of religion is a new venture in teaching religion on an inter-faith basis."

Constitution written
It overlooked the fact that a constitution and by-laws written by Foster was adapted at this meeting and that the school of religion was made into a legal working instrument.

Also, the story failed to reveal the fact that the meeting was a "stormy" one and at times the very existence of the plan was threatened.

"Our chief difficulty came from the various groups of Protestants," Foster recalls. "Here the larger Protestant groups sought representation on the board of trustees in numerical proportion to their constituencies in the state," he continued.

One of the representatives of a larger Protestant group argued that it should have more representatives on the board than the Catholics and Jews combined.

Plan Threatened
"I was forced to contend," Foster said, "that both the Catholics and the Jews looked upon the Protestants as a block, and to apply numerical representation as the latter stubbornly insisted, would mean that the cooperation of the Jews and Catholics would not be possible."

Had it not been for the understanding and guidance of Rabbi Eugene Manheimer, Father William P. Shannahan and the Reverend Archibald Cardie in controlling their respective groups the dream of an inter-faith school may have exploded in the planning stage.

The various denominations had agreed to pay the salaries of the instructors representing their respective faiths, but $35,000 had to be obtained to underwrite the program for three operating years.

Foster once again tackled the problem and began a series of negotiations with the Rockefeller Institute of Social and Religious Research.

Foster turned to the endorsement of the American Association on Religion. He convinced such men as Harry Emerson Fosdick, Rockefeller's minister; John G.

Career Day Visit Planned By Faculty

Five SUI faculty member will speak Thursday at the Washington high school career day.

The SUI school of journalism will be represented by Prof. Edward F. Mason, head of pictorial journalism, and Ernest F. Andrews, head of the radio journalism and public relations sequences.

Mason, author of "Covering Yourtown," a journalism work-book, and of "How Halftone Dots Make Pictures," a guide to the photo-engraving process, will be the career day speaker on photography.

Andrews will speak to students about the entire field of journalism. He will draw from both his commercial experience with newspapers and radio stations and his teaching experience at Grinnell college.

In the morning, Washington high school students will visit school rooms where faculty members from several colleges are to give talks on career fields.

The afternoon session will include talks about colleges in Iowa. Donald Rhoades, coordinator at the registrar's office for veterans and high school services, will speak on the virtues of SUI.

Prof. William J. Mason, college of commerce, will speak on secretarial science and business.

Miss Jean H. Baer, counselor at the college of nursing, will discuss nursing.

Women Voters Oppose Passage Of Bricker Plan

The national board of the League of Women Voters at its January meeting voted to oppose the proposed Bricker amendment, which deals with amending the treaty making power of the United States President.

The Bricker amendment was discussed at the November discussion group meetings of the Iowa City League.

The league feels that the amendment would deprive the national government of its full power to carry out treaty obligations in important areas of national policy, and would leave to the states the choice of carrying out the treaty.

The league believes that the Bricker amendment upsets the traditional check-and-balance system between executive and legislative branches of the national government, and prevents the President from acting freely in times of national emergency and in conducting day-to-day affairs.

The league takes the position that the Bricker amendment would make our present treaty-making procedure even more cumbersome than it is at present. It supports a positive policy of international cooperation.

STUTTERERS' WORKSHOP SET

Treatment of school-age stutterers will be the concern of a two-week workshop at SUI June 28 through July 9. Leaders of the Iowa workshop in public school stuttering therapy will be Prof. Wendell Johnson, SUI speech clinic director, and Myfanwy Chapman of the Minneapolis public schools' speech correction program. They explain that speech correctionists may enroll either for two hours of credit or for no credit.

Lampe Becomes Director

On Foster's recommendation Lampe was unanimously nominated by the American Association on Religion and on March 14, 1927 he was unanimously approved at SUI.

The foundation was laid and the builder had been procured. A letter Foster received from Lampe dated June 29, 1923 reads: "You, par excellence, have been to me the channel of God's special providence. For one thing, by putting on my doorstep the ready to go plan of the school of religion, you gave form and direction to my distinctive and specific vocation."

And from this era of the lost generation, O. Delmar Foster, a man with a belief that inter-faith harmony was possible, came forward. And with him came the plan for putting his beliefs into effect.

It was truly a plan evolved of experience.

Hawks To Battle 7th-Place Purdue

Seek To Strengthen Hold on 2d Place

Iowa's well-balanced basketball team—with a toehold on second place in the Big Ten conference race—will take on Purdue tonight at 7:30 in Lafayette, Ind. in an all-court fight to convert it to a sure-thing foothold on the runner-up spot.

The Hawks, defeated but once in five conference starts, and then only by four points, will be favored in the contest.

For Purdue, perched precariously in a three-way tie for seventh place, the game will be the first half of a trying over the weekend assignment for the Boilermakers who will jump to Minneapolis Monday to meet third place Minnesota.

Will Stand Pat
The Boilermakers are fully aware of the fact that it will take their peak performance of the season, particularly defensively, if they can hope to halt a Hawkeye team sparked by Deacon Davis and Carl Cain that possesses unusual overall speed. Coach Ray Eddy intends to stand pat on the same starting combination of three sophomores and two juniors that netted a 78-63 triumph over Northwestern here last Saturday in the first home Big Ten start and then fell before hot shooting Notre Dame, 95-74, on Tuesday night.

Dennis Blind and Don Beck, junior major lettermen veterans who have been the most consistent performers so far this year, will provide the steady influence on a quintet that will be completed by sophomores Ron Jecha, Cal Grosscup, and Bob Bonhomme. Junior Ted Dunn and three other newcomers to collegiate competition, Joe Sexson, Dan Thornburg, and Maurice Lorenz are all expected to see considerable action and might possibly break into the starting combination.

Is 53d Game
The game will mark the 53d renewal of a hard fought series in which Purdue holds a 28-24 edge. The two teams broke even in home and home play last year.

With Jarnagin out via a sprained ankle, rebounding for the Hawks may not be up to par. But coach Bucky O'Connor is high on Roy Johnson and Jerry Ridley, either one of whom may fill Jarnagin's shoes.

Johnson did well in his place against Illinois Monday after Jarnagin went out of the game. Ridley's hook shot in the same game and his overall performance made him a scoring possibility also.

Depends on Height
O'Connor indicated that he would not use Sharm Scheuerman as a guard alongside Bill Seaberg, since Sharm is only 6'2" and the team depends a good deal on height.

A traveling squad of 15 left Friday at noon for Lafayette. Jarnagin made the trip, but not for lineup purposes. Included are Carl Cain, Deacon Davis, Bill Logan, Babe Hawthorne, Bill Seaberg, Sharm Scheuerman, Roy Johnson, Bill Schoof, Bob George, Doug Duncan, Dick Ritter, Jerry Reichow, Jerry Ridley and Chuck Jarnagin.

Iowa's sole loss in conference play this season came at the hands of Minnesota, 59-55. The team has racked up victories against Michigan State, Wisconsin, Michigan and Illinois.

ISTC Officials Desire Grid Game with ISC

CEDAR FALLS (AP)—The Iowa State Teachers college football coach has more than a passing interest in current talk about Iowa State college and the University of Iowa scheduling an annual football game.

Coach Clyde L. Buck Starbeck of the Tutors wants Iowa State to agree to play Teachers college. Says Starbeck: "Iowa Teachers college's desire to play Iowa State is fully as great as State's desire to play Iowa university." Iowa university, Iowa State and Iowa Teachers are the three state-operated colleges in Iowa.

Iowa athletic director Paul Brechler Thursday said of the proposal by ex-Cyclone coach Abe Stuber:

No Playing Plans
"Iowa State is a fine school but we have no plans for playing them. The reason is that we play seven conference games a year. Notre Dame is our eighth game and we like to keep the ninth game open to give the players one long trip.

"That's our complete nine game schedule. We can't play Iowa State

Indiana Idles While Hawks, Gophers Play

CHICAGO (AP)—While Indiana's first-place Hoosiers cope with semester examinations, the two teams still nursing Big Ten basketball title hopes, Iowa and Minnesota—see action tonight.

Iowa (4-1) visits Purdue (1-3) and third-spot Minnesota (2-1) invades Northwestern (1-3). The game takes Ohio State (1-4) to evening's one other conference Michigan State (1-3).

The classroom-occupied Hoosiers (6-0) are idle until a Feb. 1 non-conference date with Louisville at Bloomington, Ind. Indiana's next Big Ten start is Feb. 6 at home against Michigan State.

Bevo Francis Swishes 623 in 13 Contests

NEW YORK (AP)—Bevo Francis' amazing scoring average continues to soar.

The Rio Grande sophomore sharpshooter has a 47.9 average for 13 games.

The NCAA's service bureau Friday released figures on the small college scorers for games through Jan. 16.

Bevo has accumulated 623 points in 13 games on 236 field goals and 151 free throws.

for those reasons." But Brechler's brief statement indicated that as far as he is concerned SUI will not add a tenth game. Any other course, it was believed, would have to be subject to action by higher university officials or the State Board of Education, governing body for state schools.

Tongay Said To Be Unqualified Diving Teacher for Kathy

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A former Olympic diving champion testified in criminal court Friday that Russel Tongay was not qualified to teach his daughter, Kathy, 5, to make the high dives which the state charges caused her death.

Pete Desjardins, who won the 1928 Olympic springboard and high diving championships added: "If he had been qualified, he would not have let the child go up on that tower."

Court Applauds
The courtroom audience broke into applause when Desjardins made the statement and was sternly reprimanded by Judge Ben C. Willard.

The 5-year-old Kathy died in convulsions last May 5. The state charged Tongay with manslaughter, contending that he caused her death by forcing her to dive from a 33-foot tower at the MacFadden-Deauville hotel pool in Miami Beach.

Desjardins testified that any faulty dive from 33 feet could result in serious injury.

Tried Somersault
An earlier witness, Paul A. MacDonald, swimming instructor at the MacFadden-Deauville, had testified that he watched Tongay send Kathy up for many 33-foot dives. Once, he said, she tried a 2 1/2 somersault and hit the water flat with a tremendous impact.

Desjardins told the jury that Kathy had neither the strength nor the skill to try such complicated dives from that altitude.

Under cross examination by Defense Atty. Louis Jephew, Desjardins said he had not seen Kathy dive since about a year before her death.

'Above Average'
Jephew brought out several times that Kathy, who with her brother Bubba, 8, formed the "The Aquatots", was a professional swimmer and far more proficient than the average child.

Iowa (4-1) visits Purdue (1-3) and third-spot Minnesota (2-1) invades Northwestern (1-3). The game takes Ohio State (1-4) to evening's one other conference Michigan State (1-3).

The classroom-occupied Hoosiers (6-0) are idle until a Feb. 1 non-conference date with Louisville at Bloomington, Ind. Indiana's next Big Ten start is Feb. 6 at home against Michigan State.

Berra Inks Yankee Contract

NEW YORK (AP)—Larry "Yogi" Berra, who along with Brooklyn's Roy Campanella ranks as baseball's outstanding catcher, signed a contract Friday with the New York Yankees for an estimated $42,000.

Neither the Yankee officials nor Berra were willing to divulge the salary terms except that it was a one-year proposition. The 28-year-old catcher, however, left the Yankee office with a huge grin on his face after expressing satisfaction with his new contract. He reportedly made $37,000 last year. Berra is only the third Yankee to come to terms.

Wilt Beaten By An Inch In Mile Run

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Leonard Truex, former Ohio State speedster, shot across the finish line just one inch ahead of FBI man Fred Wilt to win the mile run in 4:11.6 and Reggie Pearman of the New York Pioneer club sprang a major upset by beating Mal Whitfield in the 600-yard run in 1:12.8 Friday night in the Philadelphia Inquirer Track and Field meet.

Harrison Dillard of Cleveland, who holds about every hurdles championship in the world, won his 34th timber topping event in a row when he barely beat out Charlie Pratt of Manhattan in the 50-yard hurdles. His time of 6.1 was just a tenth of a second off his own world standard.

Don Laz won the pole vault when he soared 14 feet 8 inches. This was the second straight week he has beaten his arch rival, Bob Richards. Richards, who has been nursing a sprained ankle, could do no better than 14 feet for third spot behind Jerry Wolbourn, who made 14 feet, 4 inches.

TANDY LIKES U.S.
MELBOURNE (AP)—John Landy, the world's fastest active mile runner, said Friday night he would be interested in visiting the United States later this year.

Durant Knocks Off Bluehawks, 58-52
John Price of U-High split the cords for 17 points and played a brilliant defensive ball game, but the Bluehawks couldn't beat down a last-minute spurt by Durant and the game went to the visitors, 58-52, Friday night.

Playing on their home court, the Bluehawks nevertheless were behind most of the game. Durant led 20-15 at the quarter, 32-30 at the half, and 43-42 at the close of the third period.

U-High shot into the lead, 52-50, when Dick Rider scored a basket and dropped in a free throw. Durant pulled even, though, in the warning minutes, and handed U-High its 8th loss.

Hawkeye-Illinois Game All Sold Out

The Illinois-Iowa basketball game in the Hawkeye field house Feb. 20 is a sell-out and officials say it is useless to send any more ticket orders to the department of athletics.

They stressed that point Friday, declaring that even after the announcement of the sell-out Jan. 18, orders still are being received in large numbers. Each order, of course, has to be returned.

Chadwick's Next Dip Called 'Most Difficult'
VICTORIA, B. C. (AP)—Distance swimmer Florence Chadwick said here Thursday night her proposed 20-mile swim across the straits of Juan de Fuca, between Canada and the United States, would be the most difficult and coldest of her career.

The San Diego, Calif., swimmer this weekend whether to go ahead with the swim this summer.

Miss Chadwick has been offered $7,500 by a paint company here if she attempts the crossing and another $2,500 if she makes it.
