

Council Plans Study of New Electric Rates

The Iowa City council will consider both the report of John Bauer, New York city consultant, and the findings of Black and Veatch, Kansas City, Mo. consultants, in ruling on the proposed electric rate raise, Mayor LeRoy S. Mercer said Wednesday.

Black and Veatch, engineering consulting firm, has been retained by the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company, the firm requesting the increase, to study its present construction costs and physical condition, R. H. Lind, district manager, announced Wednesday. Bauer has been contracted by the city to study the net book cost of the company's property.

To Review Studies
Mercer stated that after seeing both studies, the council will then decide whether reconstruction costs should be included in determining the fair value of the property. Bauer's study will be of original cost less depreciation.

Bauer was contracted by the council over the objections of Lind who stated that the public utility expert has advocated public ownership of utilities. The district manager stated at the April 13 council meeting that Bauer could not possibly give an impartial study of the problem.

The New York city economist who arrived in Iowa City Monday, said he is unbiased in his views. "No issue in public ownership is involved here and whatever my opinion might be, it doesn't have anything to do with this situation."

Lind Reports
In a letter informing Mercer of the contracting of the Kansas City consultants, Lind said, "Black and Veatch are engineers of long experience and high repute. The studies of this firm have recently been the basis of rate settlements in Des Moines, Lincoln, Neb., and other midwest cities."

Lind pointed to the right of a utility to earn a fair return on the present fair value of its property as recognized by the Iowa supreme court. Under Iowa statutes, he said, rates must be fixed by reference to a reasonable return on the present fair value of a utility company's property.

"The supreme court recognizes that the shareholders of a utility have the same property rights as other citizens," he added.

Cases Cited
The district manager also referred to the Illinois supreme court case of 1953 in which the fair value principle was taken into consideration on the Illinois Bell telephone company decision. He also mentioned a federal power commission of April 15, 1954, fixing a "fair field price" of gas owned by the Panhandle Eastern pipeline company.

Lind reemphasized that his firm "intends to cooperate in every way possible with the consultant the city has retained in connection with our electric rate application."

Council Seeks Students For Sub-Committees

Students interested in working on Student Council subcommittees for the 1954-1955 school year may apply at the council office from 1 to 4 p.m. today through Wednesday, excluding Saturday and Sunday.

An unannounced number of students will be selected to serve on approximately 15 committees to aid council members. Any person enrolled at SUI is eligible. Selection will be made by the council's executive committee on the basis of interest and qualification.

A Condensation of Late Developments

Former Nazi Reported Guiding Red Strategy

FLENSBURG, Germany (AP)—A former high Nazi SS Elite Guard commander is reported guiding Communist strategy in the battle of Dien Bien Phu, a German who fought for the French there said Wednesday night. Horst Lemke, who left Dien Bien Phu last month after five years as a French Foreign Legionnaire, said "everybody knows about this man. He is chief of staff for rebel General Giap. But nobody is certain who he is. He is known as Schroeder. They say he really is Field Marshal Schoerner."

Red China Attacks U.S. Policy on Indochina

TOKYO (Thursday) (AP)—Communist China Wednesday savagely attacked U.S. policy on Indochina and declared "we certainly will not take it lying down" if "armed aggression is directed against us." Peoples Daily, official organ of the Red regime, asserted Red China now was one of "the five big powers" with a "soaring international prestige and position." "The rulers of the United States, however, are trying to blind themselves to the existence and might of the Peoples Republic of China," said a Peiping broadcast version of the editorial.

Russians Accuse Petrov of Embezzling Funds

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—The Russians Wednesday accused their fugitive third secretary, Vladimir Petrov, of embezzling embassy funds and demanded that Australia give him up. Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies promptly dismissed the charge as a "purely conventional Soviet allegation" and said it would not in any way affect the investigation of a Soviet-led espionage ring uncovered by documents given the Australians by Petrov.

26 Commerce Staff Members Attend Midwest Conference

Twenty-six members of the college of commerce staff are attending the 18th annual meeting of the Midwest Economics association in Peoria, Ill. today through Saturday.

The association was formed in the winter of 1933-34, largely through the efforts of Prof. Sidney L. Miller, then at SUI. Its purpose was "to bring together the economists of the midwest into a group smaller than was possible at the national meetings." It has held annual conferences every year except for the war years 1943-45.

Faculty members attending the meeting this year are:
Accounting department: Profs. Gilbert P. Maynard and Daniel L. Sweeney.

Economics department: Prof. Paul R. Olson, head of the department; Profs. Clark C. Bloom and Robert H. Johnson; instructors Ruben V. Austin, Norman H. Jones Jr., and Earle W. Orr Jr.

General business department: Prof. E. W. Hills, head of the department; Dean Emeritus C. A. Phillips; Profs. Harvey C. Bunke, George S. Peck, John E. Partington, Louis L. Irwin, and C. Frank Smith, and Herman Baehr, instructor.

Labor and management department: Prof. Chester A. Morgan and Lawrence Hackmack, instructor.

Marketing department: Profs. William A. Knoke and James E. Moyer, Robert Henry, instructor, and Jack Wolf and James Taylor, graduate assistants.

Bureau of business and economic research: Director C. Woody Thompson, Donald Davison and Dick Leabo.

U.S. Planes Fly French Troops into Indochina

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson confirmed Wednesday that U.S. air force planes are flying French paratroops from France to Indochina to reinforce the Communist-besieged fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

Wilson said the move is being undertaken "at the request of the French government" and is "in line with present United States policy" of providing military aid to America's allies.

He emphasized that the planes will land at airfields outside the combat zone to unload the French troops who will then be dropped into Dien Bien Phu from other planes piloted by French airmen or American fly-for-pay civilian pilots.

Confirm Report
Officials here also confirmed that U.S. air force planes will fly additional French reinforcements—possibly including famous Moroccan Goum fighters—from North Africa to the Indochina war theater.

Budget Request Hits New High in Russia

MOSCOW (AP)—The biggest budget in Soviet history went before parliament for approval Wednesday. Finance Minister Arseny G. Zverev said defense appropriations—17.8 per cent of the total—"strengthen the defense capabilities of our state."

The defense figure of 100,300,000,000 rubles was almost 10 per cent less than the 1953 allotment, which in turn, was a reduction from 1952. But Western observers in Moscow said it was difficult to measure a Soviet Union budget, especially defense appropriations.

They said this is because the state owns and operates the country's entire economy, and fixes its own prices on any equipment needed for the armed forces.

Under an official Soviet exchange rate of four rubles to the dollar, the defense budget figure in dollars would be $25,075,000,000.

Hancher To Address College Union Group

SUI President Virgil M. Hancher will be the principal speaker at the national conference of the Association of College Unions at the Edgewater Beach hotel, Chicago, Sunday through Wednesday.

Prof. Earl E. Harper, director of the Iowa Memorial Union and the school of fine arts, and George Stevens, assistant director of the Union, will be among the 200 representatives of college unions who will hear Hancher speak at the conference banquet Tuesday.

Hancher's remarks will be titled, "The College and University Union." Harper will be chairman of a panel discussing "Campus Religious Activities and College Unions."

6 Delegates Attend Big Ten Conference For Social Groups

Six SUI representatives were among the 80 delegates to the Big Ten Interfraternity and Panhellenic conference held April 16 and 17 at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Park Davidson, A3, Fairfield, and Dale Haworth, A4, Champaign, Ill., represented the Interfraternity council.

Panhellenic delegates were Janice Levens, C3, Cedar Rapids, and Linnea Thodt, C3, Walcott.

Paul Griffith, director of fraternity affairs, and Helen Reich, assistant director in the office of student affairs, also attended the conference.

The delegates recommended that the paddle and all violent physical hazing be abolished by college fraternities. They also recommended that a "help week" be substituted for the traditional "hell week" in the future. The delegates urged greater emphasis on scholarship among fraternity members.

Of the 80 attending the conference, 65 were undergraduate students and 15 were advisers or administrative officials.

Interim Committee Authorizes Plans For Utility Changes

Authorization for the preparation of plans and specifications for re-routing and reorganizing utility installations at the site of the new SUI medical research building came Tuesday from the Iowa legislative interim committee.

The cost of the project is estimated at $240,000, of which $190,000 is to come from university capital already appropriated by the legislature. A $50,000 repair, replacement and maintenance fund will also be allocated.

The new building, which was approved by the 1953 legislature, will be built between the general hospital and the medical laboratories. The re-routing is necessary since the university utility installations are situated at the site of the proposed building.

These utilities include steam, electricity, telephone, gas, air, water and sewer. They serve university buildings west of the river from the hospital to the theatre.

Work on the project is scheduled to begin by early fall with completion slated by the end of the year. The site will then be ready for construction of the research center.

RECEIVE POLIO VACCINE

Dulles To Confer
4. Chairman Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) of the senate foreign relations committee and chairman Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.) of the senate GOP policy committee, said in separate interviews they see little prospect either of uniting Korea or bringing peace to Indochina at the Geneva conference.

Would Spur Efforts
They predicted failure at Geneva would spur American efforts to build an anti-Communist military alliance in the Pacific.

5. Vice-President Nixon told newsmen in Chicago that U.S. policy has this purpose: "That American boys will not have to fight in Indochina or anywhere else."

Nixon also jabbed back at Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, who had criticized what he termed conflicting statements issued by Eisenhower administration officials on Indochina.

Still Approving Policy
"Mr. Stevenson still is approving the do-nothing policy of Mr. Acheson. That policy led to war in Korea. We believe in the policy of strength rather than compromise or vacillation as practiced by Acheson and endorsed by Stevenson."

Wilson's statement on the U.S. airlift of French reinforcements via an 8,500-mile hop from France to Indochina—for use in the critical battle of Dien Bien Phu—confirmed dispatches from Paris several hours earlier.

Bidault Greeted Dulles at Paris

Nixon Addresses Iowa GOP

DES MOINES (AP)—America will not keep its boys out of Indochina by telling the Communists they can come in there, Vice President Nixon declared Wednesday night.

The Eisenhower administration, he said, believes that a position of strength in Asia and Indochina is the only way to avoid war.

"The purpose of our policy," the vice-president added in an address delivered at a state Republican party gathering, "is to avoid sending our boys to Indochina or anywhere else to fight."

"We believe a strong policy has the best chance to accomplish that purpose."

"Public discussion of all facets of our foreign policy is healthy," he added.

"During the seven years of the Truman administration," Nixon told the Republican gathering, "our foreign and military policy was characterized by weakness, inconsistency, compromise of principle at the conference table," Nixon continued.

The Eisenhower program is based on "strength, firmness, consistency and non-surrender of principle at the conference table," he added.

"We are convinced that this policy is one which has the best chance to lead to peace and to avoid war. We have learned in the past that in dealing with the Communists a policy of weakness leads to war."

"That is why this administration has reversed previous policy and is building solidly on a policy of strength."

America's foreign policy recognizes that the war in Indochina is a war to save the people of that country from "Communist colonialism," the speaker said. The nation's policy further is to give maximum aid to France and the Associated States of Indochina and "work for united action among all nations in the area to resist further Communist conquest in Southeast Asia."

"That is why," added the vice president, "at Geneva we shall work together with our Allies for an honorable, peaceful settlement and against any settlement which would surrender Indochina to the Communists and destroy forever the chance of the people of the Associated States to have independence."

The dinner was in commemoration of the centenary of the Republican party and to raise funds for its activities this election year.

George Nagle, Iowa City, chairman of the party's state finance committee, called the session to order after the fried chicken was enjoyed.

Notables taking part in the preliminaries included state chairman Don Pierson, Gov. William S. Beardsley, Rep. Martin and U.S. Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper who came in by plane with Nixon and introduced him.

New Charges Involve U.S. Defense Aide

WASHINGTON (AP)—The ready-to-go public investigation of the McCarthy-army row broadened at the last minute Wednesday to include new charges leveled against—and denied—by assistant Secretary of Defense H. Struve Hensel.

The senate investigations subcommittee named Hensel, a top aide to Secretary of Defense Wilson, "a principal" in the long-heralded hearings which will open at 9 a.m., CST, today in a blaze of television lights and worldwide publicity.

Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) charged Tuesday Hensel masterminded an army report blasting him, and tried in other ways to "discredit" the committee, so as to head off a probe of Hensel's own "misconduct" and "possible law violations."

Calls Charges Lies
Hensel called these charges "bare-faced lies" and dared McCarthy to repeat them when senatorial immunity wouldn't protect him from a lawsuit. The controversy is over Hensel's connection with a ship supplying firm while he held high posts in the navy department during World War II.

Wednesday Secretary Wilson called Hensel "a competent, honest man" and said "of course not" when asked by newsmen if Hensel did, in fact, mastermind an army report accusing McCarthy and aides of putting on pressure to get favors for a drafted associate.

So the much publicized inquiry now has a third charge to explore, along with:

Charges Include
1. The army officials' accusation that McCarthy and aides Roy Cohn and Francis Carr tried by "improper means" to get favored treatment for draftee G. David Schine and

2. McCarthy's counter-charge that Secretary Stevens, army counsel John G. Adams and others tried by "blackmail" and otherwise to block an investigation of alleged "protecting" of Communists infiltrating the army's ranks. McCarthy was in Texas Wednesday, speaking at a San Jacinto day observance in Houston.

Attacks Plans
There he declared plans are being made under the guise of "fair play" to make it impossible for his investigating committee "to continue as an effective instrument to expose and fight the Communist conspiracy."

Wilson told newsmen the army-McCarthy hearings in general look "peculiar" to him—and make him "think of the political scraps at a rather low level."

Also, said the defense secretary, this kind of squabbling doesn't do order after the fried chicken was enjoyed.

To Be Televised
Three television networks—NBC, ABC and Dumont—will carry the public hearings, beginning when acting chairman Karl Mundt (R-S.D.) bangs the starting gavel.

The CBS network will televise portions of the hearings, and radio networks will broadcast excerpts.

Stone, SAE, Leads In 'Ugly Man' Contest

First-day voting in SUI's annual "Ugly Man" contest gave Paul Stone, of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, an impressive lead over this year's field of 10 candidates.

Stone, A2, Waterloo, closed the day with 142 votes, at a penny per vote. John Elman, A1, Des Moines, of Phi Epsilon Pi, finished second in the day's balloting with 97 votes.

Other results are: Reed Hartsook, G, Des Moines, and Bud McCordell, A3, Newton, both sponsored by Delta Gamma as a single entry, polled 50; Doug Bogenreif, C4, Sioux City, Phi Gamma Delta, 45; Jerry Lewis, E1, Rochester, N.Y., Delta Tau Delta, 35; and Lou Matykievicz, A3, Calumet Park, Ill., Theta Xi, 29.

Leonard Hoffman, E2, Monticello, Quadrangle, earned 27 votes; Jerry Daley, E2, Clinton, Beta Theta Pi, eight votes; Sheldon Rosenfeld, A1, Des Moines, Alpha Epsilon Pi, seven; and Barry Ackerly, A2, Des Moines, Sigma Chi, six.

Voting will continue daily through Saturday in the main lobby of the Iowa Memorial Union and the lobby of the university library. Each penny put in a candidate's jar will be counted as a vote.

The Ugliest Man on Campus will be crowned at the All-Campus Carnival Saturday night.

Homecoming Committee Members Discuss Plans

LOREN L. HICKERSON, LEFT, director of alumni records, discusses Homecoming plans with Prof. Robert Ebel of the college of education and chairman for the 1954 Homecoming weekend. Holding its first meeting last night in the Board room of Old Capitol, the Homecoming committee began preparations for making the 1954 Homecoming more successful and more colorful than any in the past.

Egyptian Objects to U.S. Aid Of French Indochina Groups

(Editors Note: Kamal Abdel-Moneim received a B.A. degree in journalism from the American university of Cairo, Egypt, in 1946, and in 1952 received a M.A. degree from SUU in international relations and economics. He has also had journalism experience in Egypt and in the U.S.)

By KAMAL ABDEL-MONEIM
As an Asian and a life-long friend of the American people I have been dismayed and indeed shocked at the United States administration's unqualified support which the French Colonialists are receiving unconditionally from the nation that has traditionally and nobly stood for freedom of all nations.

It is my responsibility, therefore, as well as the responsibility of all Asian students in America, who represent the leadership of their Continent, and who are truly the official ambassadors thereof to the American people to tell the truth to the American people, to whom we owe a great and incalculable debt of friendship and hospitality, and, in many cases, the very privilege of being here on a mission of education and civilization.

If there is any one among the Asian students here who is satisfied with America's unqualified military and moral support of the French in Indochina, this is the time to speak up. At least we owe it to the young people of America, with whose youthful and beautiful comradeship we have studied, lived and played. We owe it to them that their blood must not be shed in vain for the wrong cause in our backyard.

Asian Pulse Great
What do the people of Asia, our people, feel about the U.S. support of France in Indochina? The hard fact is that they resent it and resent it most bitterly; not because they love communism, but because they fear and hate European colonialism more than they fear and hate communism. As a matter of fact non-communists by the thousands are now fighting on the battle fields of Dien-Bien-Phu with the forces of the revolution against the French.

According to U.S. sources, 95 per cent of the people of Indochina would vote for the Ho-Chih-Minh movement if an election is now held in that country.

To the people of Asia, and other areas which experienced the hardship, the hatred and the hideous record of European colonialism in the world, what America is doing now is to employ the might, the blood and substance of the unsuspecting American people to pick up the chestnuts from the fire of 300 years of French colonial crimes.

Representation Questioned
Actually those who are getting the support of America in Indochina do not represent the great France in our minds that is worthy of such support; the greatness that is French culture, the greatness that is French tradition. They are merely a group of irresponsible, unscrupulous individuals from France and other countries whose private interests are jeopardized by the people of Indochina's bid for national freedom.

To this writer it would be a crime if the young Americans I have known during the last few years in this country are to be expendably sacrificed on the altar of a cause that could not be more wrong.

It is understandable to us that the American people would want to protect their own way of life from communism, but it is certainly unforgivable if the American people would permit their administration to condone and to support the continuation of a colonial system that exploited, enslaved, demoralized, dehumanized half a billion people for centuries on end. If we are really seriously concerned about the communist threat to Indochina, we should equally be seriously concerned about the actual presence of the disease of colonialism in the world.

Freedom Idea Lost
As for Indochina itself, the cause of the Western idea of freedom is now probably lost forever, after the people of that country have been forced by French intransigence to resort to violence and to seek aid from the Communist world. And in any case the fate of that country might be decided on an international level, where communist delegations will be parties to the settlement.

The serious question that still remains, however, is whether the free world—which because of the existence of European colonialism is neither free nor world—is going to learn some moral from the lesson of Indochina. It is no coincidence that the peoples of Indochina, Egypt, Kenya, Iraq, North Africa, Burma and many other spots have resorted to violence in order to achieve their national freedom.

It is high time that the free segment of the world should realize that each and every one of these spots is a potential Indochina. What right does France, or Britain, or Belgium, or Holland, what right do big European powers have to rule, and subjugate millions of people, some of whom built glorious civilizations at a time when people in Europe were in caves or up in the trees?

American Policy
What America has done so far is to follow, by and a large negative policy in the colonized areas of the world, where there is aspiration to throw the yoke of colonial usurpers. And America seems to wait until fire breaks, and then runs to bring the fire engine, only to return to find the house completely destroyed. What is needed is a comprehensive positive, policy in Asia, Africa, and in the Middle East, and wherever the cancer of colonialism exists.

The free segment of the world, if it wants to be truly free, should see to it, here and now, that France should concede immediate and unqualified freedom to the people of Morocco and Algeria; that England should do likewise in the Suez Canal, the Egyptian Sudan, Jordan, Nigeria, Aden, and every other country where the people will eventually resort to violence to end British aggression. Other colonial powers might also learn an abject lesson eventually.

To the people of Asia the term free world is even more of a sham than it actually is. It is ridiculous. To whom does Mr. Dulles think he is talking when he tells (in poor English enunciation) the people of Asia of a vague Chinese Communist menace to the people of Indochina, when the French are actually depriving them of every freedom, decency, and self-respect; and for 300 years, and when the Chinese are helping them to throw out their traditional enemies?

Words Ridiculous
Mr. Dulles' words about the Chinese support of the Indochinese revolution on the borders of China seem ridiculous when the French and the British are actually occupying the lands of thousands of miles away from the borders of France and England. It is undiplomatic for a visiting journalist to criticize the secretary of state, but the issues at stake are more important than us; indeed they transcend individual considerations.

The cold hard fact of the situation in colonized areas of the world comprising almost half the world's surface, is that if the people of these areas do not attain their legitimate rights and freedoms through peaceful negotiations at once, most of them will resort to force, as they have already.

We cannot expect nations for whose suppression violence has been used by Western imperialists, to have any moral inhibition against violence. And let's not kid ourselves, the atmosphere of suppression, and human degradation that the colonial powers have created in these areas does not inspire an alternative to violence. And—we cannot kid ourselves—the Soviet world will always be ready to offer aid in this direction. And while the nationalist leaders who hitherto failed to attain their national aspirations through negotiations in the areas mentioned are gradually being discredited, leaders and prophets of violence are gaining ground.

UNICEF Combats Old Superstitions in Asia
Tuberculosis is "due to a worm around the heart," Jinns, malevolent spirits so tiny they can reside between the fingers or behind the ears, "should be blown out of the nose after sleep." "A love marriage is a terrible disgrace."

These are "facts," not superstition, to Pakistani villagers, according to a unique compilation of customs recently made by students of the Lahore training center, one of four schools in the country equipped by the United Nations children's fund (UNICEF) in order to speed the training of local nurses, midwives and health visitors.

The notes of the students, made in a district only 13 miles from Pakistan's second largest city, illustrate the age-old barriers that modern knowledge must break down in order to establish sound health practices.

Method Cited
For example, many villagers hold that the way to combat tuberculosis is to poison the tuberculosis-causing worm by a method based on the magic number seven.

Twenty-one grains of a special rice are mixed in a wooden cup with the juice of the succulent green ak plant. It remains in the cup for seven days. Then, for 21 days, the patient must pick out one grain a day with a needle and swallow it, early in the morning.

Jinns cause madness, epilepsy or obstruct childbirth, the villagers believe. Churails, the ghost of women who die in pregnancy, labor or during the 40-day "period of impurity" following delivery, are also feared.

Feet Turned
With feet turned backwards—heels to the front and toes to the back—the churails are easy to recognize. One woman told of her daughter, haunted since a child and always ill because she offended a group of churails living in a clump of sugar cane.

Parents, when they occasionally agree to arrange "love marriages," also cut the daughter off from home. Whatever the motive for the match, mothers and fathers echo a complaint familiar in the Western world: "Marriage is becoming an increasingly expensive affair."

Interpreting The News

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.

One of the strange sidelights of the Geneva conference is that what has now become the major item—Indochina—is second on the two-part agenda, and there is a technical possibility, though by no means a probability, that the conference could break up before it is reached.

That comes about from the fact that the meeting will begin as the "conference on political settlement" of the Korean question which was envisioned in the truce arrangement. South Korea interprets its arrangements with the United States, although that angle has not been confirmed, as including a commitment to walk out if the Korean discussion turns out to be meaningless, as the Koreans and most other people expect.

Hope Cited
In some quarters there is some hope, at least, that a cease fire can be obtained, though not directly at Geneva. Red China, just having disengaged her armies in Korea, may find herself closer to another war with the West than she desires. French circles, particularly, have been considering a possibility that Moscow and Peiping might, for reasons of their own, ditch Ho Chi Minh, leader of the Indochinese rebel forces. But now there is some talk that he may even be at Geneva.

Best bet — that the Indochina shooting will stop some day after negotiations taking a course similar to those in Korea, but no time soon; that the situation in both Indochina and Korea will be reduced to a parallel with that of Germany.

Dulles' Policy
It seems obvious that Secretary Dulles arrived in Europe for his NATO and other conferences prior to Geneva with a very tough policy, and reports from Washington said it had the general backing of top congressional leaders with whom he conferred before he left.

The attitude about Korea has been clear from the start. No peace will be made which does not produce a united and independent Korea. There are no signs the Reds have any idea of making concessions to reach such an agreement. There are no signs the Allies have anything big enough to offer in exchange. Therefore there are no signs of progress.

On Indochina the objective is to get a cease fire if that can be done without commitments leaving the three associated countries open to a Red coup. On the side, the Allies will be making arrangements among themselves to maintain the southeast Asian defense.

Superstitions Prevalent
Countless superstitions center around pregnancy and childbirth. Among the chief concerns of the UNICEF-aided students is the fact that "village women do not tell anyone when they start labor for they believe it would drive away the pains or prolong labor." Therefore, a large number of babies "arrive before we do," or are attended only by local dais, untrained midwives who foster dangerous superstitions and take a high toll of maternal and infant lives.

The villagers also believe that: "The mother who wishes to combat infertility may 'steal the hair of a first born child, burn it, mix the ash with water and drink.'" However, the mother whose baby's hair has been stolen will not conceive again.

When pregnant, a mother must not sit down during an eclipse of the moon or she may get moon struck and the baby will be deformed.

Labor Problems
If labor is delayed, flowers blessed by the mullah (a teacher of Moslem law) and eaten by the mother, or new wheat put in a pot and stirred will hasten delivery.

It will also speed childbirth if the woman's friends and relatives unlock everything in the room, open all windows and doors, and unbraid their hair. As a final recourse, they may try to alarm the mother by telling her she has given birth to a daughter.

Village mothers know why new babies cry. They come innocent into the world, they say, with a letter from Allah containing 21 promises. At birth, Allah's messengers snatch the letter away before evil winds contaminate it, making the infant cry.

Head Pressed
Thinking of the newborn's beauty, Pakistani mothers try to press the child's head into a pleasing round shape soon after it is born, sometimes by resting its head on a plate and tying another one in front, sometimes by tying a band around the scalp. They gently squeeze its nose to make it pointed.

During the 40-day "period of impurity" after childbirth, the mother cannot say prayers. Therefore, to ward off evil spirits, she keeps something made of iron—perhaps a padlock or a knife—under the bedding. For the first 21 days she often stays in bed most of the time because of the belief that the earth is holy and that she will contaminate it.

Not only in Pakistan but throughout the East, local superstitions guide millions through life, too often to untimely death. In some parts of Asia, labor is induced by whipping the mother. In Thailand, the untrained midwives bathe the babies in a broth of hot water and onion rings.

THE PLEISTOCENE CAVE*
By CHARLES MARSHALL
From the soft quiet tappings of the Pleistocene cave,
The poetry of time is echoing in my ears
Like an ancient seashell and its hollow grave
Whose silence chants a weird elegy of years
For the stoneman who rolled his door and gave
His quivering prayer to Him who listened and still hears
The roar of stegosaurus in the Plestocene cave.

Judge Kent To Talk On Youth Problems

Problems of children and youths as seen from the court bench will be the topic of a lecture this afternoon by District Judge R. Kent Martin, Atlantic, of the 15th judicial district.

The lecture is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. in room 5 of the law building, and will be open to the public.

The Atlantic judge is a 1925 graduate of the SUI college of law.

'Adventure in Art' To Be Televised By SUI on Friday

A paste pot, some art paper and a piece of cardboard make up the materials for the "Adventure in Art" program to be televised by SUI Friday at 10 a.m. over station WOI-TV, Ames.

The techniques and principles of constructing a collage will be demonstrated by Vern Thompson, art instructor at University high school, who explains that a collage consists of pieces of paper cut in a particular shape or a mixture of objects such as match boxes, paper clips, or even bus tickets, all pasted on a background to form an artistic design.

Thompson will demonstrate how children may go to nature to gather ideas for collage construction. He will further explain the different types of collages which may be made, ranging from the realistic collage resembling the photograph to the collage of pure abstraction of feeling and design.

The program is directed by Sam Becker, instructor in television speech, and the art consultant is Joan Blual, instructor in art education. William Mitchell, G, Cedar Falls, is in charge of art displays.

Part of the WOI-TV daily feature, "TV Schooltime," the program is co-sponsored by SUI, Iowa State college, Iowa State Teachers college and the state department of public instruction.

Nursing Careers To Be Discussed At Union Today

Nursing opportunities in new fields will be discussed today in the first annual nurses careers conference to be held in the River room of the Iowa Memorial Union from 1 to 5 p.m.

Representatives from six fields of nursing will discuss opportunities that are available in their fields. They will represent school nursing, office nursing, obstetrical nursing, army and air force nursing and navy nursing.

Discussions and conferences with the nursing representatives are open to anyone interested in nursing.

A tea will be held from 4 to 5 p.m. in the River room.

Classes and clinical experience in the college of nursing will be suspended for the conference.

Vocal Music Recital To Be Held May 2

INSIST ON ADEQUATE WIRING WHEN YOU BUILD OR REMODEL

No one would include this tangle of extension cords and multiple plugs in his home building plans. Yet it's a condition that's found in many "new" homes of today. The reason is that the "Good enough" wiring installation of today quickly becomes inadequate with the increased use of electricity and electric appliances.

HERE'S WHAT ADEQUATE WIRING MUST INCLUDE!

- (1) An adequate service entrance, to bring enough electricity into the home;
- (2) Enough properly protected circuits to permit all lights and appliances to operate properly;
- (3) Enough convenience outlets, permanent lights and switches to allow use of lamps and appliances where needed, protect eyesight and prevent accidents.

That's why it pays to insist on fully adequate wiring when you build. When home wiring is designed to meet both present and future needs, it is a real economy rather than a liability. Annoyances such as "octopus outlets," poor operation of appliances and frequent fuse trouble will never bother the home builder who plans ahead—electrically.

Where you build or remodel, remember adequate wiring is one of the best investments you can make!

And They Call These Seals?

(Daily Iowan Photo)

THIS KIND OF PRACTICE doesn't make a perfect water show, but a little time out from the practice grind makes an easy-to-look-at picture. The girls above are only part of a cast of 42, all members of Seals, honorary women's swimming organization, who will perform in an aquatic show titled "Enchanted Slippers" May 7-8. The program's theme describes a little girl who visits an old cobbler, tries on different pairs of shoes and becomes in turn an elf, a Persian beauty, an Indian maiden, an ice skater, a young lady with her first pair of high heels, a can-can dancer, and a Chinese lady. The aqua show will be held in the field house pool at 8 p.m.

Mile Relay Team To Push SMU, Texas At Drake Relays

Iowa To Take 14 To Des Moines Friday, Saturday

Fourteen athletes to compete in three relays and five individual events will be Iowa's delegation at the Drake Relays in Des Moines Friday and Saturday, Coach Francis Cretzmeyer said Wednesday.

This is the relay lineup: 440-yard — Glen Hesselstine, Earl Smith, LeRoy Ebert, Stan Levinson; 880-yard — Dick Fowler, George Wright, Smith, Hesselstine; Mile — Lester Stevens, Ira Dunsworth, Ebert, Levinson.

Iowa's best chance for a first place is in the mile relay. The team ran 3:15.8 at Kansas last Saturday, losing the title by a few inches.

Cretzmeyer said that the team probably will have to improve on that time at Drake. He declared the major competition would come from Southern Methodist, the Kansas winner; Texas, Texas Relays champion; Illinois, with two Big Ten champions on the team; Purdue, which ran 3:16.6 on a cold windy day at the Ohio Relays; Missouri, third at Kansas; and Ohio State.

Ferguson To Run Twice
Rich Ferguson, the NCAA two mile champion and winner of the 3,000-meter steeplechase at Kansas, will try to win the two mile Friday and the mile Saturday. His best time this season is 9:07.5 indoors for the two mile. He ran three mile races indoors, his best mark being 4:17.2. Cretzmeyer believes he will have to get under 4:12 to win, with Russ Bonham of Whittier, Calif., who ran 4:12.1 last week, as big threat.

The Iowa distance star is especially anxious to win a title at Drake, after taking second in the one and two mile races in 1953 and second in the two mile in 1952.

In the pole vault, Nick Piper, sophomore, will compete, after trying for second at Kansas. Earl Smith, Big Ten champion broad jumper who was third at Kansas, will enter that event.

Stevens To High Jump
Les Stevens, who had an indoor high jump of 6 feet 5 1/4 inches, best ever made by a Hawkeye, will compete, in addition to running in the lead-off position on the mile relay team.

Other Iowans in the meet will be Arthur Fudge Jr., two mile; Paul Kitch, high jump; and Bill Burton, broad jump.

The relay teams will run preliminaries Friday, with six teams to qualify in each race for the Saturday final. The high jump and pole vault are Saturday events and the broad jump will be decided Friday.

Iowa traditionally has been strong in the mile relay at Drake.

Hawkeye Netmen Suffer 5-4 Loss at Hands of Wisconsin

The Iowa tennis team, trying to conquer a moderate wind, 62-degree temperature and a good Wisconsin team, lost its first meet of the season Wednesday afternoon, 5-4. The Hawkeyes' record now stands at 4-1 for the spring season.

The squad was without the services of its captain and No. 1 man, Norman Barnes, who was out with a finger injury.

The Badgers took a quick lead in the opening Big Ten meet for

22-Game Basketball Schedule Completed For Next Season

The first eastern trip in Hawkeye history, home games with two Pacific Coast teams and four-team Big Ten contests mark Iowa's complete 22-game 1954-55 basketball schedule.

The schedule has been announced by director Paul Brechler following approval by the board in control of athletics. It includes 11 home games.

Iowans will play in Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 17 and 18. They will meet University of Pennsylvania and Princeton university in a double-header, with Michigan State as the other participant. The Big Ten teams will exchange opponents, as they did last December in Los Angeles with UCLA and Southern California.

St. Mary's of California and Stanford are the West Coast rivals which will play December games in the Iowa field house.

The schedule:
Dec. 1 Washington at Iowa City (St. Louis)
Dec. 4 Loyola at Chicago
Dec. 6 Nebraska at Iowa City
Dec. 11 Missouri at Columbia
Dec. 13 St. Mary's (Calif.) at Iowa City

Phillie Errors Help Dodgers Win, 6-3; Cards Down Reds

BROOKLYN (AP) — Three wild throws in the first inning by the Philadelphia infield helped Brooklyn's Billy Loes defeat the Phillies Wednesday night 6-3, although Jim Hughes had to finish the job in the ninth.

The Dodgers scored three in the ragged first on the errors by Granny Hamner, Bobby Morgan and Earl Torgeson, five walks and one single.

Loes was touched for 10 hits, three each by Torgeson, Hamner and Smoky Burgess, before Manager Walter Alston brought in Hughes to end it.

Steve Ridzik and Thornton Kipper were hampered by poor support and their own wildness to give up all the Brooklyn runs.

Brooks Bat Around
Duke Snider's single was the only hit of the first inning as the Brooks scampers madly around the bases while the Phils threw the ball all over the lot. Nine men came to bat for Brooklyn and only one ball was hit out of the infield.

Junior Gilliam scored in the second when Snider rapped into a double play. The Dodgers picked up two more in the third. Bob Greenwood and Paul Penson, a pair of rookies blanked them the rest of the way.

The Phils scored in the second on Hamner's single, a wild pitch and Burgess' single. Danny Schell's pinch double in the eighth and Torgeson's third single produced their second run.

Pirates Win on Error
PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates scored their winning run on an error in the eighth inning Wednesday night as they edged the New York Giants 5-4. Outfielder Frank Thomas got the Pirates off to a running start as he belted a three-run homer in the first inning off starter Larry Jansen.

The win was credited to Max Surkont. He lost his first start of the year.

Relief pitcher Don Liddle was charged with the defeat.

In the eighth inning, with the score tied 4-4, the Pirates had Toby Atwell on third and pinch runner Vernon Law on first when Liddle tried to pick off Law. First baseman Whitey Lockman let the ball get away from him and Atwell scampered home.

Yanks, Senators Win
Orioles' Turley Pitches 2-Hitter But Loses, 2-1

BALTIMORE (AP) — A no-hitter and the ball game blew up in Bob Turley's face with only two outs to go when Larry Doby homered behind Al Rosen's single Wednesday night for a 2-1 Cleveland Indian victory over the Baltimore Orioles before 43,383 shocked fans.

The 23-year-old speedball artist fanned Dave Pape, a pinchhitter, to start the ninth. It was the 14th strikeout for the youngster who had the first crowd to see a major league night baseball game in Baltimore roaring for a no-hitter since the seventh inning.

Rosen, last year's American league most valuable player, broke the spell at that point by lining a single just over the infield between third and short for the first hit.

Doby Homers
Doby looked at one ball and lined the next pitch into the right field stands about 360 feet away.

It was a rude jolt to Turley who had struck out every regular on the Indians. In the first and fourth he fanned three. With the bases loaded and one out in the fourth, he fanned Dave Philley and George Strickland to slam the door with a resounding bang.

The Orioles gave Turley a run in the first inning to work on, but from then on they couldn't dent Bob Lemon although they reached him for eight hits. It was the second straight victory of the season for Lemon and Turley's first setback after starting with a victory.

both teams as Captain Jack Vincent got by Iowa's Jamie Andrews 4-6, 6-3, 6-4 and Jack Schmidtman defeated Gene Nadig 6-2, 4-6, 6-0.

But Iowa retaliated with two straight wins. Howard Hill defeated Wisconsin's Phil Sorge 6-2, 7-5 and Iowan Bob Ogeson defeated Ray Damadian 8-6, 6-2.

This made the score tied 3-3 at the end of singles play.

In the first doubles match, Andrews and Hill gave Vincent and Schmidtman a little trouble but the Badgers pulled it out 6-4, 4-6, 6-4.

Sorge and Schmitt teamed up to defeat Nadig and Norman 6-1, 6-3 in the clincher for Wisconsin.

The Hawkeyes managed to salvage the last doubles match as Fletcher and Ogeson downed Hentzen and Domadian 7-5, 6-2.

Iowa's next meet is with Minnesota here May 7.

Student Operates Restaurant, Drive Inn, Carries 19 Hours

By SYLVIA PETERSON

Operating a restaurant, building a Drive Inn Dairy Mart, and carrying 19 hours of classes sets a fast pace for Henry J. Hochstetler, A2, Iowa City, 24-year-old SUI pre-medical student.

Owner and operator of the newly opened Esquire Cafe, 13 S. Dubuque, Hochstetler plans to use the proceeds to put himself through medical school and support his family of four. He will also manage the Dairy Mart Drive Inn at the intersection of highways 1 and 218 which is now under construction and will open the first week in May.

The student said that he has always wanted to be a doctor. When his father died from cancer in 1948 after lengthy treatment at Rochester, Minn., and he saw all that the doctors had done for him there, he was convinced even more that he wanted to make this his life's profession.

Volunteered for Mission Work

Hochstetler has already volunteered for medical mission work and plans to go to India, South America, or China after he finishes his schooling. He hopes to be in these countries for about 5 years and then come back to the United States and set up practice as a family physician.

At the present time Hochstetler is serving as mission director and adult teacher at the Swank church near Lone Tree.

When he first started his schooling at SUI, Hochstetler said he owned part of a turkey farm near Kalona where they raised 15,000 turkeys a year. He expected to use the proceeds from this farm to support his family and pay college expenses. He had been in school three weeks when he received an offer of $500 an acre for the farm and decided to sell his share.

Was Surgical Technician
This left him without an income.

5 Students Qualify For Scholarships

Four local high school juniors and one sophomore have qualified for scholarship consideration at SUI as a result of their performances in the Iowa High School Forensic league finals held at the university recently.

The juniors' scholarships would begin in 1955, the sophomore earned consideration for the fee-reduction award beginning in 1956.

Steven Bauserman, City high school junior, was recognized for his original oratory. Jo Ellen Gillette, Stephen Smith and Jack Elkin, all juniors at University high school gained recognition for debate.

Miss Gillette was mentioned for her interpretive reading also. Michael Moehlman was named an outstanding sophomore participant for his debating.

Twenty-four Iowa high school seniors were awarded four-year, fee-reduced scholarships as a result of their performances.

According to Prof. Hugh Seabury, of the speech department and league chairman, the scholarships amount to $240 over a four-year period.

Seabury said they were awarded to outstanding competitors in original oratory, extemporaneous speaking, debate, interpretive reading, radio speech and television speaking ability.

Approximately 500 high school students competed for these honors in the state finals.

Later when his employer wanted to sell out, he purchased the station which he operated on a partnership basis.

During this time he started building the Drive Inn Dairy Mart. When he heard that Blanchard's restaurant was for sale he purchased the restaurant and is now dissolving his partnership in the service station.

Hochstetler is carrying 19 hours as a student including six hours of correspondence courses and thirteen hours of residential work. He plans to take correspondence courses during the summer so he can complete his pre-medical training in three years.

Prof. William J. Petersen, superintendent of the Iowa state historical society, has informed the society's 4,700 members that applications are now being accepted for the seventh annual Mississippi steamboat cruises scheduled for June 25, 26, 27 and July 3, 4, and 5.

The one-day river excursions, which have attracted much favorable comment from the nation's press in the past, are open to members of the historical society. Each member may bring wife or husband, or a son or daughter who is a high school graduate or at least 18 years old.

This year the cruises on the steamboat Rob Roy III, owned by Commodore O. D. Collis, will embark from Clinton at 9 a.m., and return at 5 p.m. The Rob Roy III will make a round trip of 70 miles, going upstream as far as Savannah, and downstream to Comanche before returning. As in other years, a morning snack, lunch, and an afternoon meal, all Iowa raised or prepared foods being used, will be served.

Petersen, who will lecture on the history and phenomena of the Mississippi, expects to accommodate 110 passengers each day. Last year the society was able to fulfill only 95 per cent of the requests for reservations, and members who want to make the trip are advised to apply early.

The second part of the debate will be the statement of another professor evaluating the ideas of the four students and presenting his own suggestions.

A cross-examination of the professors by the students will take place, and, in conclusion, the audience will participate in a general discussion.

Movie To Be Shown Sunday at SUI Union

A technicolor movie, "World in His Arms" will be shown Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the main lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union. Ann Blyth and Gregory Peck star in the movie. The showing is sponsored by the Union Board movies and television committee, headed by Robert Linthacum, M4, Ankeny.

Personnel Programs Described by Faunce

Student personnel programs in the mid-west and at SUI are developed to a more positive degree than similar programs in California universities and colleges, SUI's dean of students, L. Dale Faunce said Wednesday.

Faunce assumed his duties again Monday after spending a six month leave of absence in California observing student personnel projects on the west coast.

Visited Universities
He visited 17 state universities, colleges, and private schools ranging in size from 800 students to 15,000 students. "It was my responsibility to work with the student personnel to view their programs and present a report to the schools," Faunce said.

This type of research is a new development in the field of student personnel administration, he explained.

"SUI is committed to the responsibility of the total educational growth of its students more than many of the schools in the west," Faunce continued.

Should Grow Culturally
He said that SUI works under the assumption that students should grow culturally, academically, physically and spiritually. "California schools, for the most part, stress only the academic growth," Faunce added.

Student activities at the western schools are about the same as at SUI, Faunce said, but they stress athletics to a greater degree than we do.

"As far as student government is concerned, SUI students are for the most part, more actively engaged, he added.

Students' Participation Noted
It is interesting to note that on the smaller California campuses the percentage of participation in student affairs is greater than on the larger campuses, Faunce pointed out. California student personnel officials are as worried as we are about the student's lack of interest in his own affairs, the dean noted.

Looking for New Means
"Like SUI, they are looking for new means to get a greater number of students interested in extracurricular activities," Faunce said.

"But it wasn't all work, Faunce added, "and I took advantage of some of that California sunshine. "However I am still a loyal mid-westerner, and I missed the snow last winter," he recalled.

Faunce also managed to follow the Hawks successful basketball season and saw the team play at Southern California. In addition to the Iowa contests, the dean also witnessed the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena.

Experience Worth While
"All in all the six months experience was well worth while for me as a student personnel administrator. It gave me new ideas in regard to student personnel, and in addition, it substantiated our own program here at SUI," Faunce said.

MRS. PETROV LEAVES DARWIN, Australia, Thursday
Mrs. Vladimir Petrov left Darwin today in a royal Australian air force transport plane with three Australian security officers for an undisclosed destination.

Going east, the Corn Belt will depart from Iowa City three minutes earlier than before; the new departure time is 4:12 p.m. The train will get to Chicago at the same time—8:30 p.m.

Train no. 1, known locally as the "milk train," will go west at 8:34 a.m. and arrive in Des Moines at 10:15 a.m. Formerly, the train had left Iowa City at 8:50 a.m. and got into Des Moines at 1 p.m.

Both the east and westbound LaSalle st. Limited trains will be discontinued. The LaSalle left Iowa City at 1:43 a.m. going east and at 4:43 a.m. headed west.

Vote on Enlargement Of Community Chest To Be Held Monday

A proposal for enlarging the Iowa City Community Chest corporation will be voted upon at the annual Community Chest meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Iowa City Press-Citizen auditorium.

One vote will be cast by each of the 41 organizations which belong to the local Chest to decide whether:

Proposals Listed

1. The Community Chest corporation shall be enlarged to include all organizations and agencies, public and private, which are interested in health, welfare or recreation in Iowa City.

2. The board shall be enlarged from the present 9 members to 15.

3. Iowa City shall have a united fund campaign.

Plan Would Differ

The new plan, designed to coordinate welfare giving and welfare work, would differ from the present Community Chest system in the following ways:

The enlarged group, the Community Welfare Council, would include the same organizations as the present Chest, plus local groups whose primary interests and activities are health, welfare or recreation.

Such groups would include Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Visiting Nurses and the Iowa City Playground and Recreation commission.

Present Organizations
Already in the Chest are organizations whose primary interests and activities are other than health, welfare or recreation, such as the woman's club, the University club and the men's service clubs.

The enlarged Community Welfare board would continue to be elected by the council in its annual meeting.

The new board would perform two added services besides its present fund-raising activities. It would maintain a community welfare inventory and would set up a campaign board of review.

Maintain Record
Purpose of the community welfare inventory would be to continually maintain a record of the operations of all welfare organizations in the community.

The campaign board of review would check the standing of every organization seeking to raise funds in the community.

THIS PHOTOGRAPH of a high school student resting during rehearsal of the play, "Life with Father" for a Kankakee, Ill. school production, won second prize in the Big Ten photography contest for Arnold Gore, A2, Kankakee, Ill. Army Official Lauds ROTC, SUI Relations

Maj. Clayton J. Boddy, fifth army headquarters, Chicago, reported Wednesday he found the relationship between the ROTC staff and the university outstanding at SUI.

Boddy, on a tour of staff visits to army reserve units and ROTC departments, visited the military department here Wednesday.

The purpose of the visit was to find out what added help and support the fifth army can give the ROTC unit.

Boddy left Iowa City Wednesday afternoon to visit the army reserve units in Cedar Rapids and Dubuque.

English Teachers To Meet

"Meeting Certain Bogies in Teaching Composition" will be the discussion opening the fourth annual Conference of High School Teachers of writing, speaking and reading at SUI Friday and Saturday.

Prof. Wendell Johnson, SUI speech clinic director and author of "People in Quandaries," will discuss "Meeting the Speech Defective in the Classroom" Friday afternoon in the session on "Practical Approaches to Speech."

Prof. Carrie E. Staney, who has been coping with such student bugbears as spelling, punctuation and "What can I write about?" since 1920 in the SUI English department and before then in Lamoni and Marshalltown high schools, will lead the discussion in the Iowa Center for Continuation Study.

"The Philosophy and Effect of The English Language Arts" will be a conference highlight this year, according to conference chairman Prof. Harry Crosby, of the communication skills department.
