Official Says FHA Gave Profiteers Easy Time

WASHINGTON (AP)The government's chief crime prosecutor said Friday the Federal Housing administration—by taking the attitude that "they were just giving the stuff away"—has torpedoed any chance of prosecuting big time apartment housing profiteers.

But he revealed that the FBI, on orders of President Eisenhower, is combing the country for home repair and improvement salesmen who have "bilked a great many thousands" of homeowners under government loan insurance programs.

Warren Olney, assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal division, told the senate banking committee a story of construction costs finagling that Chairman Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) called "unbelievable."

Shake-Up Continues

The shakeup of top FHA officials continued meanwhile with announcement that Howard M. Murphy had resigned as associate general counsel effective at once. His resignation was accepted by acting FHA Commissioner Norman P. Mason.

Capehart, commenting on Olney's testimony that FHA apparently was willing to insure construction job financing far in excess of actual costs, said:

"There seems to be a pattern that they don't care what it costs to build."

Capehart has estimated that builders and promoters pocketed a half billion dollars in "windfall" profits under the emergency rental housing program of 1942-50.

Olney said the justice department has investigated specific cases with a view to prosecuting for fraud. But no prosecution is possible, he said, "because we can't prove that the federal government was defrauded in the face of FHA's statements that they weren't deceived or defrauded, they were just giving the stuff away."

In the home repair racket, Olney said the practice of swindling homeowners was "very widespread across the nation," and he added:

"It seems incredible to me that the FHA director to the program did not know of this from the beginning."

Describes Crooked Methods

Olney said the victim sometimes signs "a contract and even a completion certificate before the job is started." This enables the salesman to collect the proceeds of the loan and sometimes take off without doing any of the promised work, leaving the homeowner with a debt payable in 36 months at 9.7 per cent interest.

Olney said the homeowner frequently is induced to sign papers saying the down payment has been made or the job has been completed, when neither is the case. This makes him a party to the fraud, he said, and "obviously" doesn't result in a complaint.

Reds Take Post In Indochina Fight

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — Red-led Vietminh — striving to launch a death thrust at Dien Bien Phu—Friday seized another French defense post in the bastion's crumbling northwest defenses. Rebel legions smashed to within 700 yards of the Union garrison's nerve center.

The outer barriers of the bastion's defense which encompassed a plain 4 by 6 miles when the fighting began five weeks ago now measure less than a mile across.

While the fighting raged, U.S.-suplied transport planes dropped tons of ammunition and medical supplies in the garrison.

The first contingent of American airlifted French paratroops from Paris also began pouring into Indochina.

6 Dorms To Participate In 1st Field Day Today

Students from six dormitories will launch the first SUI all-dormitory field day today at 1 p.m. on the intramural field west of the field house.

Events planned so that all may take part are included in the social frolic which its planners hope may become an annual event.

Games and races, with both individual and dormitory competition, will be featured. Free refreshments will be served.

'Drag or Stag'

Planning chairman Larry Nelson, A3, Aurelia, recommended that students wear old clothes and pointed out that it is a "drag or stag" occasion.

Ten members of the SUI administrative staff have been selected as judges for the events. Prizes ranging from $1 to $5 will be given.

Judges Announced

The judges are: M. L. Huit, counselor to men; Leslie A. Willig, G, Ft. Wayne, Ind., assistant to the counselor to men; Waldo Geiger, auditor of student organizations; Robert L. Ballantyne, manager of the student placement service.

Paul L. Griffeth, assistant counselor to men; Robert Martin, student affairs counselor; Virgil S. Copeland, manager of dormitory operations; Elizabeth Englert, manager of Quadrangle; Verne Spencer, manager of South Quadrangle and Martha Van Nostrand, manager of Hillcrest.

When the events begin, ping pong balls will be blown toward the finish line by competitors from Currier hall, Eastlawn, Westlawn, Hillcrest, Quadrangle and South Quadrangle.

Hand-propelled tires will roll, while their contestants match their talents in pie-eating, egg-tossing, greased pig-capturing and bubble-gum blowing. Girls will test their nail-driving prowess.

Coeducational Event

In another event, which Nelson terms "sure to be coeducational," men students will race against time "doing up" the hair of their women partners while the coeds race to knot the men's neckties.

There will also be a three-legged race, a sack race, a suitcase race. In a tug-of-war, Hillcrest and South Quadrangle will pull against Quadrangle, while Westlawn and Eastlawn will team up against Currier hall.

But it was unable to draw a direct statement.

North, South Koreans Arrive for Talks

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Foreign ministers of North and South Korea arrived Friday for the Geneva conference to determine whether their divided nation can be unified. The rival Korean leaders were among the first diplomats to reach here for the 19-nation parley on Korea and Indochina opening Monday. The North Korean delegation is headed by Moscow-trained Gen. Nam Il. Fiery Pyun Yung represents South Korea.

Students Accept Band Rate Proposal; Await Union Vote

Central Party committee and Union Board have accepted a compromise solution to the wage controversy between the student groups and the local musicians union, a spokesman for both parties said Friday.

A majority vote was needed for acceptance of the compromise.

The solution is in the form of a sliding wage scale that provides a premium rate for musicians when playing a dance where 800 or more tickets are offered for sale. Dances that offer less than 800 tickets will be subject to the normal price rate.

The proposed wage scale would apply throughout the local American Federation of Musician's area of jurisdictions.

Musician Approval Needed

The approval of the sliding wage scale means that a formal letter of proposal will be sent to the musicians union for their consideration and vote.

The proposal grew out of a series of meetings between representatives of the two student groups and the local musicians.

Chris Peterson, president of the A.F. of M. local, said following the last meeting April 13, "If the proposal is satisfactory (to Central Party committee and Union Board) we will call a special meeting the first part of May and present it to the members of our local for discussion and vote."

Under the present wage scale set up by the musicians, the higher rate applies only to all-university dances held in the main lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union.

Students Oppose Present Rates

The Central Party committee and Union Board have termed this practice discriminatory. The two groups voted to sign no new contracts with local musicians until the higher rate was abolished.

The post-ballgame parties, sponsored by the Union Board, have been a point of contention throughout the controversy.

Paul Bartlett, C3, Bedford, claimed that the premium rate affected the number of free parties his group could sponsor because no admission prices are charged for Union Board affairs.

Compromise Favors Students

The proposed solution, as approved by the student organizations, would remedy this situation. Post-ballgame and other free parties would not fall under the more than 800 ticket rate of the proposal, which specifies that tickets must be offered for sale.

No announcement was made concerning the possibility of a Central Party committee and Union Board recommendation to the Committee on Student Life that the no-conflict rule currently enforced on all university dance nights be abolished.

Reds Sever Relations With Australia, Claim Protection of Petrov

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia broke off diplomatic relations Friday with Australia over the Vladimir Petrov case.

The Soviet government charged Australia was protecting Petrov, whom it described as a swindler and embezzler and demanded his arrest. It accused the Australian government of kidnaping Mrs. Petrov and of manhandling Soviet personnel.

Petrov, third secretary of the Soviet embassy in Canberra, abandoned communism and obtained asylum with the Australian government. He brought with him a batch of documents announced as exposing a Soviet-led spy ring. Mrs. Petrov also received asylum after an incident involving Soviet agents trying to take her back to Moscow.

Moscow recalled its ambassador to Australia, Nikolai E. Generalov. It demanded that Australia recall her envoy in Moscow, and under diplomatic protocol this must be done immediately.

The recall was demanded in a note given Hill by a Soviet deputy foreign minister, Andrei Gromyko.

The same note asked that the Australians arrest Petrov as a swindler and embezzler. This was a request made earlier by the Russian embassy in Canberra. The request has already been rejected.

Monitored Calls Spotlighted In Army-McCarthy Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP)—After an hours-long argument before a national TV audience, investigating senators Friday decided to subpoena all records of telephone calls in the McCarthy-Pentagon row, and make public those deemed pertinent to the hot dispute. But Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.)) blocked for the time being the reading of an almost word-for-word transcript of one call in which McCarthy allegedly suggested weekend leaves for Pvt. David Schine "for the purpose of taking care of Dave's girl friends."

Secretary of the Army Robert Stevens testified under oath at the first of the day's two televised sessions that McCarthy made this suggestion to him in a telephone conversation monitored and taken down in shorthand by a Stevens aide last Nov. 7.

McCarthy Cries 'Dishonest'

Angrily, McCarthy cried it was "indecent and dishonest" for Stevens to record a conversation without the knowledge of the person at the other end of the line.

Then the subcommittee, McCarthy and the Pentagon officials' lawyer argued all afternoon whether the record of the Stevens—McCarthy talk, and other conversations relating to the dispute, should be admitted in evidence.

Stevens touched on another major point before yielding the witness stand temporarily to his office assistant, Jack Lucas, who said his transcript of the McCarthy-Stevens call was complete except for a few words—maybe 5, maybe 15—that he didn't catch.

The army secretary said he met with McCarthy Nov. 6—and told the senator he wanted the army to "carry out" an investigation started by the McCarthy subcommittee at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

Charges Adams Blocked Probe

McCarthy has charged that Stevens tried to block his investigation of alleged Communist spying at the army's Ft. Monmouth radar laboratories.

Stevens said he told McCarthy and aides he felt their investigation "had served its purpose—that we were on top of everything that they had given us, and were following up, and we had information on every name that had been turned up anyway, and that I wanted to have the army carry out the investigation . . ."

He accused McCarthy of whipping up headlines giving a false impression of widespread espionage at Ft. Manmouth. He said he told McCarthy and the senators' aides "if they kept on with these headlines, which in my opinion were utterly unfair, that they could drive me out of office if they wanted to."

Earlier in the testimony he said he had done "everything I could" to assist the subcommittee in the Ft. Manmouth probe.

Stevens Touches Off Row

Stevens touched off the big row of the day by telling of the phone call in which he said McCarthy told him: (1.) maybe Schine could have a few weekend leaves to foster his heart attachments, and (2.) Roy Cohn, McCarthy's chief counsel, thought the 26-year-old Schine ought to be a general operating from a Waldorf-Astoria penthouse.

McCarthy raised one "point of order" after another when the question of putting the stenographic record of this call into evidence arose.

Finally he said if any such phone call records are introduced, all of them should be.

"I will not consent to picking two or three out of 50 or 100," he declared.

Beaming, Joseph N. Welch Jr., special counsel for McCarthy's opponents, announced "nothing will delight the army more" than to make public all such phone call data.

Driver Pleads Guilty; Gets $72.50 Fine In Accident Case

Charles Grimm Jr., 22, 921 Dearborn st., Rock Island railroad section worker, was fined a total of $72.50 Friday evening in Iowa City police court. He pleaded guilty earlier in the day to charges of reckless driving and disturbing the peace.

Grimm was the driver of a car involved in a collision Thursday night at College and Dubuque sts. in which three cars were damaged and two persons were injured.

Police said the charge of disturbing the peace was filed in connection with Grimm's conduct at the scene of the accident.

Wife Hospitalized

About an hour after the accident, Mrs. Grimm Jr., 18, was admitted to Mercy hospital for treatment of an injured left hip. She was listed as in satisfactory condition there Friday evening.

Mrs. William L. Novotny, 56, 1833 Muscatine ave., driver of the second car involved, was treated at University hospitals for abrasions about the scalp and right arm. She was released after treatment.

Six persons were riding in the Grimm car, while Mrs. Novotny was alone, according to police.

Damage Estimated

According to police estimates, damage was $700 to the Novotny car and $650 to the Grimm car.

Friday the driver of a third car slightly involved in the accident reported to police that $25 damage was done to his car. Keith A. Thurston, 423 Church st., said he was driving north on Dubuque st. at the time of the mishap.

Police said Grimm was driving south on Dubuque st. and Mrs. Novotny was traveling east on College st.

Coin Decides Union Board Representative

A FLIP OF THE COIN Friday and Jack Toedt, C3, Laurel, right, is the college of commerce representative on Union Board. Robert Groom, C3, Des Moines, center, and Toedt were tied for the position with 45 votes each after the All-Campus elections March 24. The two decided to flip for the position with the loser withdrawing. The issue was originally scheduled to be settled by a vote in the collegiate chamber of commerce elections May 1. George Stevens, assistant director of the Iowa Memorial Union, left, "did the honors" in his office and Toedt's call of "heads" proved to be the winning side. This is the second time this year an office has been settled by a toss of the coin. Sally Rehnberg, A3, Clinton, "flipped" her way into the office of secretary of the 1955 senior liberal arts class on April 2 after being tied with Marjorie Hahn, A3, Cedar Rapids, who became treasurer.

Campus Reflections

THE DEATH OF THE ROSE*

By CHARLES MARSHALL

A desert hermit grew a rose
And tended it with care,
A single lonely lovely rose
Of white beyond compare.
In dismal hours of the night,
Beneath the searing sun,
The single lonely lovely rose
Consoled the ancient one.
From high above the Angel Death
Saw the blossom blooming gay,
And jealous of the old man's joy,
Resolved to steal his rose away.
Angel eyes stared windy death,
The flower soon did wither;
The seraph relished its white soul
And bid its beauty hither.
The hermit wept to see the rose
Fading listlessly,
And prayed in tears to God above
Who heard the old man's plea.
The good Lord sighed and cried aloud,
"This flower must not die:
Angel Death, take a bud
From my garden in the sky."
The rose regained its fragrant bloom,
The old man blessed the sight,
And far away two lovers saw
A star fall fading in the night.

Interpreting the News

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press Foreign Staff

President Eisenhower made his appeal for better understanding among the nations Thursday night against a background of news from Soviet circles calculated to produce little but despair in Western minds.

The President has often expressed the idea that peace, if it ever comes, will not be militarily enforced, but a product of the cooperative spirit of men everywhere.

But how can one conceive of a peace of the spirit, of an arrival at understanding with a government whose highest officials stoop to the careful planning of political assassination and kidnaping not only at home but abroad?

Story Unbelievable

The story told by a repentent MVD agent in Europe, of a murder planned by a former ambassador to the United States, as an official Soviet government act, is so fantastic that one can hardly believe it, does not want to believe it, even about the Communists.

Although a man lives only because the Russians decided against an international murder during the Berlin conference, and because his assigned assassin subsequently had a change of heart, the Russian government may not even be sorry about the bad publicity it is now receiving. It creates terror among other peoples, makes them nervous about their national security against such a foe, and is generally disturbing, which is one Russian desire.

War Is Objective

How can anyone feel sure that, during some crisis, for instance between Yugoslavia and Italy, Soviet agents will not commit a cold-blooded murder just to have one disputing party lay the blame on the other and so, perhaps, produce a war? War between members of the outside world always has been a prime objective of Communist policy.

President Eisenhower expressed the hope that dissemination of the truth everywhere would eventually produce understanding among all peoples. A goal to be devoutly sought, of course, by free men who, he said, "do not lose their patience, their courages, their faith."

But the more truth that comes out about the Soviet government the less the cause seems to be advanced.

Porter Voices Concern On Required Courses

Kirk H. Porter
'Let's Open Some Doors'

"No subject matter is so good as to justify compelling all students to take it," was Prof. Kirk H. Porter's comment on the increasing number of state legislatures passing laws requiring all students to take courses in political science before graduation. Porter is head of SUI's political science department.

Legislatures of California, Texas, Missouri, Wyoming and, most recently, Michigan have passed such laws with the purpose of promoting good citizenship and patriotism.

Porter voiced concern at the increasing number of required courses at SUI. He said, "There are many paths to a good education. They do not necessarily lead through political science, foreign language, literature, or physical education. All are good. None is essential."

Hire Good People

"Let us open some doors and knock off some shackles. Here and elsewhere we hire people to give good courses and then lock up the students so they cannot take the courses we hire people to teach. Not good!"

Porter said that he has been under pressure for years to seek requirements of political science at SUI. He said, "To compel a student to study political science when he is eager to study art, chemistry or literature is a great mistake. It arouses distaste, resentfulness and antagonism that defeats the very purpose we should have in mind."

"It is not at all likely to make him a better citizen. It is far more likely to make him angry, frustrated and thoroughly bored. I do not want political science to be looked upon as a punishment that one has to take because the rules say so."

Too Many Requirements

Porter said that he remembers the time when nearly all students in introductory American government courses were freshmen. Today, he said, they are largely seniors because of all the requirements which fill their schedules.

"I do not want political science to be required by the rules of the college, much less by action of the state legislature," Porter said. "I want to modify requirements so that students can take our courses if they wish to do so.

"I am very confident that those who choose to do otherwise and take literature, foreign language, philosophy, geology or economics can nevertheless become good citizens and well educated men and women."

City National Guard Has 100 Openings

The Iowa national guard units stationed in Iowa City have openings for more than 100 recruits, it was announced Friday.

At least seven officers and 33 enlisted men are needed by the 109th medical battalion, and two officers and 75 enlisted men are needed to fill vacancies in the 34th reconnaissance company.

Anyone interested in joining the guard is asked to contact either the medical battalion at 8-1411 or the reconnaissance company at 2343.

University Library To Exhibit Valuable Historical Papers

Did you know that Benjamin Franklin advocated the use of bows and arrows for Colonial troops during the Revolutionary war? And did you know that Warren G. Harding, the 28th president of the United States, once wrote jestingly that he was "thinking of becoming a Bolshevist?"

Iowans will have the opportunity to examine many of the human interest elements connected with the builders of America's history by viewing more than 130 valuable historical documents to be exhibited at the SUI library May 1-27, according to Clyde C. Walton, curator of rare books at SUI.

Including several foreign historical papers and documents from as far back as the 14th century, the exhibit is from the private collection of Justin Turner, Hollywood businessman and hotel owner.

Other Items Listed

There is a 14th-century copy of the English Magna Carta and an Italian school child's numeral tablet from the same century which, according to Walton, is believed to be the only tablet of its kind in existence.

There is the original letter written by Benjamin Franklin to Gen. Charles Lee of the Continental army, explaining to Lee that in lieu of the shortage of muskets, Colonial troops would be wise to use bows and arrows against the British. A paper of more recent times is a letter written by the late President Harding in 1918 when, as a senator, he was apparently having financial difficulties, and in a light manner threatened to become a Bolshevist.

Also on display will be a manuscript journal kept by Benedict Arnold when he led the tragic American Colonial expedition against Quebec, in which he lost over half of his command before ever reaching the battlefield. Arnold left the journal behind when he deserted to the British.

Document To Be Exhibited

A document written by a little-known signer of the Declaration of Independence, Button Gwinnett, will also be displayed. Gwinnett's valuable autographed papers are very rarely placed on public exhibition, Walton says, adding that Gwinnett's autograph has sold recently for as much as $51,000.

Through the whole exhibit ring names familiar to every student of American history: Paul Revere, George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Jefferson Davis, William Jennings Bryan and Orville Wright, to name just a few. And just as important, says Walton, are the original letters of lesser-known figures who have played an important part in the making of America.

The last historical exhibit sponsored by the University library in 1952, which featured the private collection of Chicago industrial Foreman Lebold, attracted over 15,000 school children and adults, according to Walton.

Delt Alumni To Discuss 75th Anniversary Plans

The annual alumni day of Delta Tau Delta social fraternity will be held this Sunday at the chapter house, 724 N. Dubuque st. Alumni from every section of the state will attend the all-day program.

The purpose of the meeting this year is to discuss plans for the 75th anniversary of the local chapter, which will be celebrated next year.

Among the guests will be Arthur Kroppach, former mayor of Davenport, and David A. Dancer, treasurer of the state board of education.

Motorists Asked To Observe Ruling Of 'No-Turn' Ban

Iowa City motorists were reminded again Friday by Police Chief Edwin J. Ruppert of the banning of all turns by cars during rush hours at the intersection of Washington and Dubuque sts.

In commenting on the new no-turn rule which went into effect April 9, Ruppert stated, "We don't like to give out tickets—what we want to do is stop persons from turning at the intersection."

Since the new ruling, a total of 105 fines have been paid by violators. Most of the fines have been $5 each, with a few being $3 where extenuating circumstances have been involved, Police Court Judge Emil G. Trott said.

City Manager Peter F. Roan explained that the rule was started after numerous complaints were made by pedestrians about the difficulty of crossing the street during rush hours.

Additional no-turn signs have been at the intersection this week.

Marine Recruiter Tells Quota for Enlistments

There is no quota limit for the remainder of April for men desiring to enlist in the marine corps, Robert B. Lattimer, recruiting sergeant for the U.S. marines, said Friday.

Lattimer will be at the Iowa City post office Monday to interview men interested in enlisting for two years active duty.

Enlistees will be sent to the marine corps base in San Diego, Calif., for 10 weeks of training.

County Group To Organize Health Council

A start toward the establishment of a county health council was made Thursday night at a meeting in the courtroom of the Johnson county courthouse.

Forty persons representing governmental units, voluntary health organizations, civic groups and interested citizens attended.

A committee of seven persons will be named by the steering committee which arranged the meeting. The committee will be charged with the responsibility of preparing a constitution, planning for election of officers and arranging for future meetings.

Committee Members

Members of the steering committee include: Rev. John G. Craig, chairman, who presided Thursday; Dr. Charles R. Eicher; Mrs. Terry Jones; Mrs. J. O. Osborne and Prof. Marcus P. Powell, of the hygiene and preventative medicine department.

Leonard C. Murray, director of education for the state department of health, outlined functions of public health councils.

Murray told the group that a public health council does not perform direct services but coordinates the activities of its member groups to promote efficiency and reduce duplication of effort. These member groups would include voluntary health organizations and public bodies.

Boyer Comments

Prof. M. C. Boyer, of the mechanics and hydraulics department, who is vice chairman of the Community Chest council, said he did not believe there would be any conflict between the projected community welfare council and a public health council.

Boyer said a welfare council might assist a health council in a survey of services available, particularly with reference to finances.

Santee Stars At Relays

Gene Matthews
Wins 2-Mile Run

Hawkeyes Qualify In 2 Relays; Ferguson Ill; Smith Takes 2d

DES MOINES (AP)—Wes Santee, the brand new bridegroom, loped in his slickest style to help Kansas again better the exisiting American sprint medley record and make a twalkaway of the four-mile relay as the 45th Drake Relays opened Friday.

Santee, who also runs twice in today's closing 18-event program, turned in a corking half-mile to anchor a 3:21.4 sprint medley triumph which not only beat the American mark of 3:22.7 but also shattered the 12-year-old Drake record of 3.23.

The Kansas foursome of Santee, Frank Cindrich, Ralph Moody and Dick Blair, strode to a 3:20.2 clocking for the same event in the recent Texas relays. The race is composed of an opening 440, two 220's and a closing half-mile.

Santee Loafs Home

Santee, married last Sunday, later loafed to a 4:24 mile as he anchored Kansas to a 150-yard triumph in the four-mile chores in 17:35.4. It was far behind the Drake record of 17:15.9 set by Kansas in 1952.

Santee's opening effort in anchoring Kansas' record-breaking sprint medley was an unofficial 1:49.8 half-mile.

The long-legged Kansan had to cut down a 22-yard deficit as Illinois jumped to a fine start on Ralph Fessenden's :47.8 opening quarter-mile leg.

Santee moved ahead in the final 300 yards and floated into the tape four yards ahead of Illinois' anchor man, Gene Maynard. Illinois was second, followed by Michigan State, Oklahoma and Wisconsin.

Ferguson Drops Out

Gene Matthews of Purdue easily took the two-mile run in 9:10.7 as NCAA champion Rich Ferguson of Iowa quit his close pursuit on the next to last lap because of intestinal disorder.

SANTEE

Oklahoma's Neville Price shaded Iowa's Earl Smith by a scant half-inch to win the broad jump crown which went undefended as Marquette's NCAA champion, Johnny Bennett, was scratched because of an ankle injury. Price leaped 23 feet, 11 inches, while Smith cleared 23 10½.

Iowa qualified in the mile relay, as did Texas, Missouri, SMU, Illinois and Houston. The best time was turned in by SMU with 3:15.5.

The Hawkeyes also qualified for the 440-yard relays to be run off today. Other qualifiers were Texas, Michigan State, Houston, Illinois and Minnesota. The best time was turned in by Texas and Houston, at :41.6.

In the college distance medley, Russ Bonham ran a creditable 4:16.8 closing mile to give his Whittier, Calif. team a 10:17.8 victory.

The 440 hurdles went to Lee Yoder of Louisiana State in :53.6, finishing easily ahead of runner-up Jerry Mills of Drake.

The one other event completed Friday, the discus throw, was won by Michigan's Roy Pella with a flip of 164 feet, 9¾ inches.

The meet's 100-yard dash champion, Willie Williams of Illinois, qualified for today's finals.

N. Des Moines Sets New Medley Record In Drake Relays

DES MOINES (AP)— Anchored by speedy Caesar Smith, North Des Moines blazed to a new record in the sprint medley Friday to complete a sweep by the Polar Bears of all the Drake Relays high school baton marks.

The Bears zipped through the event in 3:33.7 in the preliminaries, wiping out the 3:37.8 clocking by East Des Moines in 1948.

The only other prep record of the day was the 227 feet 6¾ inches Jim Dabner of Fairfield threw the football. It erased the 220-5½ standard by Marvin Tuttle of Iowa Deaf in 1949.

Only Record Remaining

The sprint medley was the only one of the prep relay records to escape North's great 1948 team. The Polar Bears in that year won the 440, 880, mile and two-mile relays, setting new marks in each.

It was Smith's great anchor half-mile of 1:56.2 that made Friday's record possible. The crowd had hardly settled in its seats before the record was on the books.

In the finals the Bears slipped to 3:39.4 a Caesar "loafed" through a 2:01.4 half. But Smith got a pat on the back from the greatest distance runner in the field—Kansas' Wes Santee, who trotted alongside the North star after Smith had crossed the finish line.

There was another busy lad around Friday afternoon, too. He was Ted Harvey, the sensational sophomore from the Toledo State juvenile home.

Harvey Edged Twice

Harvey ran a torrid duel against hurdle winner Len Sojka of Cedar Rapids Wilson, only to lose by a whisker. Then minutes later, he romped down the straight-away against Marshalltown's Tom Jennings in the 100-yard dash to pick up another second place, just a stride behind the winner. Jennings' time was a slow 10.3 seconds.

Then Harvey turned his attention to the high jump where he beat some of the state's best at 6 feet ⅞ inches. Jim McConnell, of Des Moines Roosevelt, winner a year ago, was forced to settle for a second place tie with Don Nachtman of Dubuque Loras, last year's AA outdoor champion.

Dillon Wins Vault

Dave Dillon, the state's junior A.A.W. indoor pole vault champion, bested the field in that event at 11 feet 10⅜ inches in a somewhat disappointing performance for the Cedar Falls Teachers star who has cleared 12-2 this spring.

Les Chapman of Davenport, figured to give Dillon a rough time, was forced to withdraw because of a pulled muscle suffered earlier in the week at his own Davenport Relays.

Another defending champion, West Waterloo's Jim Young, was forced to settle for a tie for second place in the shot put when he was beat out by Kerlin Steinmetz of Sigourney, the state indoor class B champ who won at 50 feet 6¼ inches. Dabner shared second place with Young at 50-4½.

Play To Win In Right Way, Brechler Says

Iowa athletic director Paul Brechler told a New York convention of educators Thursday that "there is nothing wrong with emphasizing winning. Athletes should be taught that they should try to win every time they compete."

Brechler added, however, that "it's how you win that counts," and that every athlete should also be taught that.

Speaking at the national convention of the American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, Brechler criticized research methods used by the National Education association's educational policies commission on school athletics. He was referring primarily to a booklet issued by the NEA which indicated negative replies by schoolmen on whether there should be athletic programs in junior high schools.

"I do not oppose sports competition in junior high schools if it is properly supervised," Brechler told the group, "if the athletes are well equipped, and if the program is adapted to the ages and weight of the competing athletes.

"I believe, along with the NEA, that interscholastic athletic programs in the high schools have neglected a great number of students.

"This is not the fault, however, of the program," he went on. "Athletic programs should be balanced with good intramural programs. When there isn't a good balance between varsity and intarmural sports it's not the fault of the program, but of the people running them.

St. Mary's Coach Will Quit, Says Newspaper

CLINTON (AP)— Lou Galetich, coach of the 1953 state champion St. Mary's basketball team, will resign, the Clinton Herald said Friday in a copyrighted story.

Galetich made Iowa coaching history last year when St. Mary's became the first Catholic school to win the Iowa state boys high school championship.

He has served two years as football, basketball and track coach at St. Mary's. In the two seasons, his basketball teams have won 45 and lost 9. At one point in the last season, St. Mary's had won 26 consecutive basketball games over the two season span.

Baltimore Ends White Sox Streak, Wins In 10-Inning Thriller, 3-1

CHICAGO (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles broke loose in the 10th inning Friday to score two runs against Billy Pierce and end a four-game Chicago White Sox win streak 3-1.

Vern Stephens had kept the Orioles in the game with an eight-inning home run that tied the score.

In the extra frame, Pierce's bid for his second victory of the season was doomed when Billy Hunter singled and Ray Murray knocked him home with a long double. The Orioles then added an insurance run when pitcher Joe Coleman singled home Murray.

Pierce and Coleman both pitched the distance, the Sox lefty giving up eight hits and Coleman six—including the single by Bob Boyd and the double by Sherman Lollar that provided the lone Sox run in the second inning.

Until Stephens' second homer of the season forced the game into overtime, Pierce, making his best showing of the young season, apparently had the Orioles well in hand. He had allowed just two hits up to that point. He walked only one man—Don Lenhardt in the seventh — and he was erased on a double play.

Coleman also was seldom in trouble, except for the second inning.

Detroit Defeats Cleveland

DETROIT (AP) — Scoring five runs in the first inning, the Detroit Tigers knocked out Early Wynn and defeated the Cleveland Indians 6-1 Friday in a game which was an hour late in starting but was decided in the first 10 minutes.

Spacing six singles, Ned Garver pitched his second straight complete-game victory as the Tigers held fast to first place in the American league.

The 28-year-old righthander has allowed only one run in 20 innings this seasons.

The game was delayed exactly one hour when the Indians' equipment mistakenly was sidetracked in Pittsburgh during the team's trip form Baltimore. It was flown to Detroit and rushed to Briggs Stadium behind a police escort.

The Indians hurriedly dressed, took a brief warmup—and then saw the Tigers hammer Wynn for five hits and five runs to sew up the game before it had hardly begun.

Wynn was replaced by Dave Hoskins, whose first pitch was hammered to right center by catcher Frank House for a two-run double.

House knocked in Detroit's sixth run in the fourth inning with a sacrifice fly following Tuttle's triple.

Illinois Edges Iowa Nine, 6-5

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)— Illinois opened defense of its Big Ten baseball co-championship by edging Iowa, 6-5, Friday. Iowa got away to a 4-0 lead but Capt. Ron Ultes' three-run homer in the third put Illinois back in the ball game.

Pitcher John Sabalaskey relieved starter Gerry Smith in the fifth and held the Hawkeyes the rest of the way. Iowa tied the score in the fifth and then in the eighth Dan Dudas and Tom Scott got Illinois' fourth and fifth hits to win the game.

Other Big Ten Scores

While Iowa was dropping its first conference ballgame of the 1954 season, the Big Ten competition opened up on all fronts.

Michigan, who tied Illinois for the Big Ten lead last year with a 10-3 record and went on to win the NCAA baseball title, blanked the Wisconsin Badgers in a pitchers' duel, 1-0.

Indiana, who last year won no games and lost 11, started off like they hadn't improved much and dropped a whopper to Ohio State, 8-0.

MSC Blasts Wildcats

Michigan State rounded out the trio of shutouts Friday by blasting Northwestern 4-0.

The other game in the conference went to Purdue over Minnesota, a surprise, 3-2.

Iowa's Hawkeyes play two at Purdue today; Minnesota has a doubleheader at Illinois; Indiana plays a twin bill at Ohio State; Michigan State is at Wisconsin for a pair; and Michigan will travel to Northwestern for a doubleheader.

BLACK DEFEATS KLEIN

NEW YORK (AP) — Jed Black, another collegiate stablemate of Chuck Davey's, ran his unbeaten streak to 27 Friday night by winning a split 10-round decision over Joey Klein at St. Nicholas arena.

Born out of the thunder and violence...

Paris, 1944...the war had come and rolled on to Berlin. In the same streets where life had been cheap, love was now cheaper. Passions were bartered and kisses bought...chocolate bars and cigarettes were becoming the medium of exchange.

It is like this after every war. And out of the tears, the laughter, the kisses...out of the thunder and violence come a thousand stories. But only a few are destined for greatness.

Here, in the great tradition of "Farewell To Arms" and "The Big Parade"—is just such a story.

Its star is Kirk Douglas giving the finest performance of his career as the soldier who didn't know where war ended and love began.

Its discovery is Dany Robin, an electrifying new French star who plays the Parisian girl—with no permanent address.

Its director is Anatole Litvak who surpasses even the emotional power of his unforgettable "Snake Pit"

Its story is as frank and bold as its title—
