White Named To Replace Ruppert As Chief Of Police

Oliver A. White
Chief for 2d Time

City Manager Peter F. Roan took a major step Friday in the reorganization of the Iowa City police force when he replaced Edwin J. Ruppert, 45, with Oliver A. White, 49, as chief of police.

Ruppert was appointed chief of police in 1947 and has served on the police force since 1937. According to Roan, Ruppert will resume his duties under Civil Service provisions as a patrolman on the force.

White served as police chief prior to Ruppert. The re-shuffle of the police force has been in the process for more than a year.

Roan Asks Resignation

In April 1953, Ruppert was asked to resign by Roan, but he declined to do so. Roan said he again asked Ruppert to resign earlier this week, but Ruppert would not submit his resignation.

The city manager has permitted the department to operate under the same organization existing when he took his present post on August 1, 1951.

Under Iowa law, Roan may appoint or dismiss a police chief without consulting the city council. The police chief is not included in civil service provisions.

Police Force Studied

Roan said he has been studying the operation of the police force for some time, and decided a reorganization was necessary.

Under municipal provisions, a member of the police force may retire with half pay after reaching his 55th birthday with a minimum of 22 years of service on the force. Ruppert will be eligible for retirement after 10 more years of service on the force.

On April 15, a detective and patrolman were suspended from the force for five and ten days respectively, for what Roan termed "not performing their duties properly" after a child had been reported lost.

Ruppert's salary as chief was $4,742. Beginning today, his salary as patrolman will be $3,619.

Ruppert joined the force 17 years ago today.

White has served as detective on the 22-man police force since 1947. He has been on the force 16 years.

White Receives Letter

Roan informed White of his appointment in a letter:

"You are hereby instructed to undertake a study immediately to make recommendations on the following matters:

"I. The installation of mechanical recording equipment to record the radio messages emanating from the Iowa City police radio and to record all complaints being filed via telephone to the police matters.

"II. Definite procedures and instructions for the handling of all types of complaints should be designed and submitted for approval."

"III. Written rules and regulations covering the use of police cars shall be designed and cover the assignment of the police car during lunch periods of the patrolman assigned to the patrol car. Lunch hour period regulations should cover in particular the problem of cars leaving the city limits and being out of service at the home of the patrolman. All police cars are to be kept in operation at all times, except when impossible to do so because of mechanical failure or shortage of manpower."

"IV. Lunch periods of 30 minutes should be assigned to all personnel working a straight eight hour shift. Lunch periods should be staggered so that the maximum number of men are available at all times. Men going on lunch hour are to report via radio so that their departure and return from lunch periods will appear on the radio log or on any mechanical equipment that might later be installed.

"V. Rules and regulations governing the conduct of men on patrol should be designed and particular attention given to the proper methods of inspecting business establishments."

Ruppert Aware of Dismissal

Ruppert stated Friday afternoon that Roan had brought up the matter of his resigning and that although he was aware he would be dismissed, he did not know of Roan's action until he saw the letter to White.

"It is the city manager's prerogative and I have no comment to make," Ruppert stated.

Modernization of police force equipment has been under consideration for some time. Increased facilities for the police department are included in plans for a new city hall. The $330,000 bond issue to finance a new city hall will be voted on June 7.

Jensen Named Iowan Editor

Dwight Jensen, A3, West Branch, was announced the new editor of The Daily Iowan Friday night at the Matrix Table banquet for journalism students and faculty.

Under a new ruling passed by the Student Board of Publications before choosing the editor, Jensen will serve for six months, beginning June 1. He succeeds Jack Burrows, A4, Belle Plaine.

Named by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, as outstanding senior man was George Barteleme, Ft. Dodge. The group's awards for top scholarship in the school of journalism senior class went to Bob Johnston, Lake City, and Charles Goeldner, Earlham. Johnston also received the Brewer-Torch Press key.

Harriet Lynch, A4, Red Oak, received the Iowa Press Women award to the outstanding senior woman. The award was a $25 savings bond.

The Cedar Rapids Gazette News Photography Cup went to Arlo Jacobson, A2, Gilmore, for a picture of a boy and a parakeet. Second place went to Bob Rosene, A2, Rock Island, Ill., for a basketball shot and third to Bill Williamson, G, Cedar Falls, for a Chemistry building fire photo. Rosene also [illegible] honorable mention.

[illegible] radio journalism went [illegible] G. Lowden, for excel-[illegible]s bureau manage-[illegible] Barteleme for excellence [illegible]al news coverage and pre-[illegible]ion. Frank Baker, A4, North [illegible]y, received a box of Cracker [illegible] for chacker jack reporting [illegible] police beat.

[illegible]amilton Johnson Memorial [illegible]wards for general excellence [illegible] reporting went to Phil O'Con-[illegible], A4, Sharon, Wis., $25; Dick [illegible]oloway, A3, Medford, Mass., $15 and Williamson, $5.

The awards are made from a trust fund set up 10 years ago by Mrs. J. H. Johnson Cedar Rapids, in memory of her son, an SUI journalism alumnus.

Student Board of Publications service keys were presented to Williamson, Burrows, Fred Thom[illegible], Marion, Ohio; David Peterson, former Daily Iowan editor; Kathy [illegible]arris, A4, Jefferson; Sally Ad[illegible]ms, A4, Omaha, Neb.; Goeldner, and Jay Hytone, A4, Iowa City; all of The Daily Iowan staff.

Virginia Collins, A2, Grimes; George Kern, A4, Iowa City, and Janice Levsen, A3, Cedar Rapids, all of the Magazine X staff; Marilynn Maywald, A4, Cambridge, and Gordon Campbell, C4, Waterloo, of Hawkeye; and Carole Brainerd, A3, Des Moines, and Bill Von Laven, A3, Mason City, of Student Board of Publications.

Prof. Wilbur Peterson of the school of journalism was crowned sweetheart of Theta Sigma Phi, professional fraternity for women in journalism.

Prof. William Porter of the school of journalism was toastmaster at the event. Featured entertainment was a skit, "As Others See Us," by Saundra Armstrong, A4, Centerville, and Jo Murray, A3, Galesburg, Ill. The skit, done by students and faculty members, was a satire on the journalism school.

The banquet concluded with remarks by Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of the school of journalism. Moeller emphasized the responsibilities of journalists in the atomic age.

2 Receive Awards For Patient Care At SUI Hospital

Two persons who work with the mentally ill in the Psychopathic hospital at SUI received awards and recognition Friday for "outstanding kindness to their patients and devotion to their duty."

Bill R. Garlick, G, Rochester, N. Y. and Mrs. Mattie Ann Emmons 229 Finkbine park, received the awards on the basis of votes cast by hospital staff members who work directly with patients.

Dr. Wilbur R. Miller, director of Psychopathic hospital, made the awards at a dinner held in connection with the opening Sunday of Mental Health week across the nation.

The winners are members of a group which, under the guidance of doctors and nurses, works closely with patients in an attempt to make their daily life at the hospital pleasant and constructive.

They devote considerable time to occupational and recreational activities. They also help in some of the basic nursing procedures.

Dr. Miller and Garlick, Mrs. Emmons and the others in their group "are among the most important members of the teams that work with mentally ill persons."

Both Garlick and Mrs. Emmons received $25 savings bonds which were purchased with contributions from the medical and nursing staffs. They were chosen from a group of 42 persons to receive the awards.

Circulation Conference To Start Here Sunday

Registration for the fifth annual Iowa short course on newspaper circulation begins Sunday at 10 a.m. in the Communications Center.

The two-day gathering will feature talks and discussion of problems facing newspaper circulation departments.

The first session at 1:15 Sunday in the house chamber of Old Capitol will include talks by Freeman Rosencrans, Keokuk Gate City, "How We Ended Our Recruiting Troubles" and Prof. William D. Lampard, "How to Motivate Greater Responsibility Among Our Youth."

Roland H. Ziegler, Saginaw, Mich., News, "Developing a Carrier Training Program;" Raymond E. Houk, Indianapolis Star and News and Edwin H. Roberst, Denver Post, "Effective Carrier Promotions."

The talks will follow a welcome by William T. Hageboeck, publisher of the Iowa City Press-Citizen, a greeting by Prof. Leslie G. Moeller, director of the school of journalism, and an introduction of the short course faculty and briefing on the objectives of the meeting by Jess B. Birks of the Cedar Rapids Gazette.

Al Spray, circulation manager of the Spencer Daily Reporter and Sunday Times, will speak on "Papers by Plane" following a dinner at 6:30 p.m. at the Rose room of the Jefferson hotel.

Sunday afternoon speakers will participate in a "Carrier Roundtable" at the second session at 8 p.m. in the Rose room of the hotel.

The following speakers will be presented at the third session of the short course at 9:30 a.m. in the house chamber of Old Capitol: Prof. C. d'A. Gerken, of the psychology department, "Getting Others to Learn and Understand;"

C. K. Jefferson, Des Moines Register and Tribune, "District Manager Education and Training;" Prof. James E. Moyer, of the marketing department, "Challenges in the Changing Sales Picture;" and Lester Suhler, Look magazine's subscription manager, "Techniques of Selling by Mail."

Certificates of completion of the Iowa newspaper circulation short course will be awarded at the commencement banquet at 12:30 p.m. Monday in the Rose room of the Jefferson hotel by Prof. Wilbur Peterson.

Speaker at the banquet will be James F. Jae of the St. Louis, Mo. Globe-Democrat. "Perspective, Perspiration, and Promotion" is his topic.

Farm Policy To Be Issue, Johnson Says

The most prevalent theme in a round table discussion on "Emerging Political Issues in the Midwest," Friday night, seemed to be that farm issues and farm policy will be the most important subjects contributed to campaign oratory this fall.

Control of Communists in government appeared to be the next most popular subject, with water control issues being confined largely to the delegates from Nebraska and Kansas during the evening session.

Prof. Donald Johnson of the SUI political science department pointed out the great confusion over what kind of price supports farmers and consumers want.

According to Johnson, a poll taken by Rep. Thomas Martin of Iowa City showed Iowa citizens supporting flexible parity by 67 per cent. In contrast, a poll taken by Sen. Guy Gillette of Iowa showed support of fixed parity by a margin of 4 to 1.

Louis Douglas of Kansas State college reported that a recent poll which he personally took among such varying groups as farmers, housewives, teachers and students showed the division over water and flood control methods to be an even 50-50. However, his poll showed a 98 per cent majority in favor of the present program in soil conservation.

Douglas reported that figures in his poll showing a 60 per cent majority in favor of fixed price supports at the 90 per cent level was backed up by a larger state-wide poll.

McCarthy Aide Says He Ordered Picture Cut-down

WASHINGTON (AP)— A McCarthy subcommittee aide took full responsibility Friday for a hotly controversial cut-down photograph in the McCarthy-Pentagon hearings.

Investigator James N. Juliana testified:

1. He supplied the inquiry with a Nov. 17, 1953 photograph of Secretary of the Army Robert Stevens side by side with Pvt. G. David Schine—after ordering the deletion of an air force colonel who was in the picture as originally taken.

2. He did so because he understood Special Counsel Ray H. Jenkins, and McCarthy aide Roy M. Cohn, wanted a picture of Schine and Stevens only.

Secretary Stevens returned to the witness stand and acknowledged he once sounded out McCarthy on the possibility of removing Maj. Gen. Kirke Lawton as commander of Ft. Monmouth—specifically, that he asked army counsel John G. Adams to find out if the senator would make a "public issue" of Lawton's removal.

150 Killed Or Injured In Disaster

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Greece's second major earthquake in less than a year brought shattering destruction and death in the central mountainous area Friday.

First official estimates said 150 people were killed or injured and more than 25,000 made homeless. Hundreds of homes were shaken down like flimsy stacks of cards.

The stricken area apparently centered near the village of Granitsa, 135 miles northwest of Athens near the Pindus mountains.

Farsala Destroyed

The town of Farsala, said to be the home of Achilles, hero of Homer's Iliad, was reported wiped out. The town is the site of the Battle of Pharsalus in 48 B.C., when Julius Caesar routed Pompey the Great.

The town of Sofadhes, also was reported completely destroyed.

Three-quarters of Trikkala, a city of 27,800, was reported levelled.

3 Others Also Hit

Other towns hard hit were Karditso, Lamia, and Volos.

Damage was widespread in rural areas, too, where hundreds of houses collapsed in a cloud of dust.

Disaster appeared to reach from the east coast inland to mountain country accessible only by donkey trail. Communication and rescue work was made more difficult by the fact it was a religious holiday. All shops and public buildings were closed and no newspapers were publishing.

Discloses Extent of Shock

Interior Minister Ioannis Nicolitsias first disclosed the extent of the shock.

Nicolitsias said the quake was comparable only to the one in the Ionian islands last August which claimed 600 to 1,000 lives and left 120,000 persons homeless.

The reports from the quake area told of heavy damage and some casualties:

Karditso (pop. 14,000): 75 per cent of the houses collapsed and about 10,000 homeless.

4,000 Homeless in Sofadhes

Sofadhes (pop. 4,000): 98 per cent of the houses collapsed, one killed and several injured. About 4,000 homeless.

Farsala (pop. 4,800): 80 per cent of the houses down and an unspecified number of persons killed or injured. Some 5,500 reported without shelter.

Trikkala (pop. 27,800): 46 houses down, 100 others damaged, 12 persons injured.

Volos, main port of Thessaly (pop. 51,000): 34 houses down, several damaged. Fire reported raging in the heart of town as a result of the quake.

Gilmour Submits Plan For Reapportionment

Prof. C. Edwin Gilmour, of the Grinnell college political science department, suggested in a discussion of reapportionment problems Friday night, that Iowa could solve its reapportionment problem by setting up a legislative body with membership determined on actual voting strength.

Prof. Gilmour was one of five speakers on the subject of legislative reapportionment at the Midwest Conference of Political Scientists being held at SUI.

"Although legislative reapportionment is long over-due in Iowa," Gilmour said, "It may be concluded that a satisfactory solution which will result in a truly representative legislative body is not probable."

65 From Rural Area

He said that studies have indicated that rural areas are greatly over-represented in the Iowa house. According to Gilmour, a recent survey showed that 65 house members were from rural areas.

Under the plan Gilmour suggested, each of the 99 counties would be entitled to that proportion of total representation which the total vote cast in the county at the last presidential election bore to the total vote in the state. Following each such election, the secretary of state would certify to each county the number of assemblymen to be elected.

Gilmour said that the advantages of this plan would be: Every four years there would be a new apportionment; reapportionment would be by an unchanging formula and would be accomplished automatically by administrative rather than legislative action; such administrative action would be subject to enforcement; and larger voter turn-out might be encouraged.

Several Proposals Submitted

Gilmour pointed out that several reapportionment proposals have been presented to the last two Iowa legislatures, mostly by legislators from urban areas, but none have been accepted.

The Midwest Conference of Political Scientists at SUI will conclude with a general session in the north lounge of the Continuation Center at 10 a.m. today.

The session will feature a debate on the Bricker amendment to the constitution, with D. C. Nolan, Iowa state senator and Glendon A. Schubert, jr. of Michigan State College, participating.

NAVY TO DRAFT DOCTORS

WASHINGTON (AP)— The navy Friday asked for a draft of 480 doctors during June and July. This is the first draft call for physicians issued by the navy. In June, 360 will be required and the remaining 120 will report for duty in July. Previously drafts of physicians have been for service with the army and air force.

Twister Injures 5, Demolishes Home

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP) — A tornado demolished a farm home about 10 miles north of here Friday night, hurling five members of one family about 100 feet into a field. All five were injured, one seriously.

Hospitalized here were Lester Bahr, 36; his wife, Ethel, 33; and their three daughters, Faynette, 13, Jean 9, and Verna, 2. Hospital attendants described Bahr's condition as serious.

The twister also plowed into the village of LaFayette smashing cars, uprooting trees and tearing the roofs from houses. No one was reported injured in the town.

The weather bureau also reported two small twisters struck at Elkport, about 40 miles northwest and Dubuque, and at Linn Junction, near Cedar Rapids. Damage from these twisters was reported slight.

Clarification

In The Daily Iowan's Friday morning account of the accident which killed a man and injured another referred to a registered nurse named Donna Reim who passed by and applied first aid. The account quoted Miss Reim as saying that the dead man, Gerald Balloun, had a fractured skull and arm. Miss Reim's comments were not a disgnosis, but were intended only to guide police and ambulance men in romoving the man from the car.

Local Youth Pleads Guilty to Theft Charge

James Lee Griffith, 18, Iowa City, was sentenced to four months in the county jail Friday after he pleaded guilty before Judge H. D. Evans to a charge of theft. Griffith was charged in a county attorney's information.

Judge Evans gave Griffith credit for the 35 days he had spent in jail and suspended the rest of the sentence. Then the judge paroled him to his court appointed lawyer, Ingalls Swisher.

Griffith was charged in connection with the theft of jewelry including a watch, ring and old coins from the home of Bessie Halderman, 510 Capitol st. on March 25.

Doctor Arraigned On Drug Charge

Dr. Vivian C. Hughes, formerly of Iowa City, was arraigned before District Judge Harold D. Evans Friday on a charge of obtaining narcotic drugs by misrepresentation, fraud, and deceit.

Dr. Hughes was arrested at her room in the Davis hotel Thursday by Sheriff Albert J. (Pat) Murphy, Detective Harland Sprinkle, and other police officers, who found a quantity of demerol, a synthetic morphine substitute, in the room.

Information filed by County Atty. William L. Meardon states that while in Iowa City on or about April 28, Dr. Hughes did, "through misrepresentation, fraud, and deceit, concealment of material facts, and by using a false address obtain narcotic drugs" as contrary to Iowa law.

The county attorney said that investigation disclosed that Dr. Hughes wrote a prescription for another person for demerol, then had the prescription filled at an Iowa City drug store.

Meardon said that she formerly resided in Iowa City, but is now on the faculty of the University of Illinois. The case was continued until the May term of court, which begins next week.

Ingallis Swisher was the attorney for Dr. Hughes. County Attorney Meardon appeared for the state.

Funeral Services Set For Accident Victim

Funeral services for Gerald Balloun, 23, 612 N. Dubuque st., who was fatally injured early Friday in an auto crash, are scheduled for 9 a.m. today at St. Patrick's church. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Balloun, father of three children, died enroute to University hospitals about 1:45 a.m. Friday.

He was killed when his car missed a curve on highway 218 near the north edge of Iowa City, hit a pole, knocked over two trees and came to rest on its wheels about 90 feet from where it left the highway. Balloun was returning from Cedar Rapids.

Mobile Zoo Gives Children Chance to See State Wildlife

A mobile zoo would describe the owa State Conservation commission's semi-trailer truck currently n a tour of Iowa schools.

Containing live animals, birds, ish and reptiles, the truck has een in Johnson and Iowa counies for the past four days, and hildren in the Longfellow school ad an opportunity to see the vildlife Friday.

The 34-foot custom built truck ontains a public address system, vater system, and sliding panels n the outside for viewing the xhibits.

Teaching Conservation Objective

"Our objective in the exhibits s to teach school children conserration and show them where each nimal fits into the wildlife patern," Rex M. Pendry, Hartford, ne of the two exhibit officers in harge of the program said.

The other officer, Kenneth Campbell, also of Hartford, explained that, "It is easier to teach he youngsters good conservation abits than break the older people f their bad ones."

Started with Tent Show

"These conservation exhibits started many years ago with just a tent show," Pendry explained, and the state-wide tours began in 1948. Each year about 300,000 people view the exhibits, and we have visited every county in Iowa."

Many of the animals are usually obtained from conservation officers who claim illegal pets from people. "Last year," Pendry recalled, "we had over 200 baby racoons that had been confiscated by officers."

All exhibits are arranged through the conservation officer in the particular area requesting the event. Wendell Simonson of Oxford, conservation officer for Johnson and Iowa counties arranged the local exhibits.

Officers Arrange Exhibits

It is the local conservation officers' job to make the arrangements with the schools for the exhibits after he is notified that the unit is available.

During the past four days nearly 2,500 children have seen the exhibit in Iowa and Johnson counties, Simonson said.

And how do the children feel about it? Nine-year-old Leslie Johnson, 1129½ E. College st. explained, "I sure like the 'animals' but I like snakes the best, but they didn't show them."

Keep Snakes Out

Pendry explained that the reason for keeping the snakes out of sight is that the children crowd around them, and it is difficult to draw their attention back to the animals.

But 10-year-old Jay Patrick, 515 Oakland ave. said he favored the bob cat. "I'd like to have one for a pet," he said, "and then I'd ride him to school every day."

Minona county is the next stop for the exhibit, Pendry said, but they will spend a few days in Des Moines fixing up the exhibit, and changing the water for the fish.

The off season is spent mainly on maintenance, of the truck and lining up the trips for the following year, Campbell added.

WENDELL SIMONSON OF OXFORD, Iowa and Johnson county conservation officer explains the characteristics of Iowa game and and wildlife to third grade children of the Longfellow school. Simonson is responsible for distributing conservation literature to the school before the arrival of the wildlife exhibit.

Trip to Washington Offered as Prize In Essay Contest

A 10-day all-expense trip to Washington, D.C. as the guest of Encyclopedia Britannica will be awarded to the foreign student studying in the U.S., who writes the best essay on "How to Strengthen Democracy in the Free World."

Announcement of the contest was made Thursday by Robert C. Preble, president of Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Preble said that all foreign students studying in this country are eligible to enter the essay competition. He emphasized that the essays must not be more than 1,000 words in length, and should give the writer's own views of how to strengthen democracy in the free world.

Contest entries should be addressed to: International Forum Contest, Encyclopaedia Britannica, 425 N. Michigan ave., Chicago 11, Ill.

George Stoddard, special advisor to New York university will be 1 of 12 judges. Stoddard was a member of the SUI faculty for seven years from 1936 to 1942, when he headed the graduate college.

Campus Reflections

LETTERS . . .

By CHARLES MARSHALL

Once as a child, he heard a priest
Speak loving eulogy and praise
To extol the kindness of one deceased,
Her gentle heart and tender ways.
Funeral flowers and mourning tears
And old friends praising her every deed
Seemed late rewards for silenced ears
That never again could hear or heed.
And the child thought, "How strange they wait
Until the chains of death have sealed
Life's end, and send their love so late
Which youth might better have revealed."
Since when he often sends a note of praise,
Or thanks, or simple love, rather to be thought
A flattering fool than one who pays
His thanks to coffins and his love to naught.

New Iowa City Bus Schedule To Beome Effective Monday

The Iowa City Coach company has announced new time schedules and one route change which will become effective Monday.

The Rundell st. bus will follow the present route from the business district to Sheridan and Seventh avenues. It will then go south on Seventh to F st., east on F st. to Fourth ave., then north on Fourth ave. to Muscatine, along Muscatine ave. to Burlington st., and back to the business area on the present route.

The University hospitals and Manville Heights bus lines will have no changes.

Historical Document Exhibit Opens Today At SUI Library

More than 130 rare historical documents will go on display at university libarary today, according to Clyde Walton, curator of rare books at the library, who is in charge of the exhibit.

The letters and documents, some of which date as far back as the 14th century, are from the private collection of Juston Turner, a Hollywood businessman and hotel owner.

Included in the exhibit are letters written by George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Jefferson Davis and Warren G. Harding.

There is a promissary note from the state of Massachusetts engraved in 1777 by Paul Revere. There is a letter written by John Hancock, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Those viewing the exhibit will be able to see how inflation affected the colonial government as much as it does modern governments by inspecting a report from a colonial gunsmith who complained that the price of muskets doubled in the year from 1775 to 1776.

The exhibit will be open weekdays from 9 a.m. until midnight and on Saturday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. On Sundays the exhibit will be open from 2 p.m. until midnight, Walton says.

Legislative Conservatism Cited As Block To Reapportionment

The problems facing legislative reapportionment in Midwest states stem from the "inate conservatism of our legislative bodies," Jack F. Isakoff of the Illinois Legislative council told a conference session Friday morning at the Midwest conference of Political Scientists held in the Iowa Center for Continuation Study.

Isakoff outlined the basic aspects of the reapportionment problem and told the group that the chief aim of reapportionment is to have each man speaking for approximately the same number of persons.

He said there would be few instances where you could pin point legislation which would be passed under one apportionment system and not under another.

Advocates 'Middle' Policy

He advocated a "middle of the road" policy, saying that a legislative body acts as a homogenous group and that sectionalism "doesn't become too important." "Even though some cities are not quite represented," Isakoff said, "They get a large part of funds."

He concluded by saying that the legislature in setting up districts ought to do what the state constitution reads, and if the constitution conflicts, then a change should be made in the constitution.

Would Correct Districts

Speaking on the Illinois situation in regard to reapportionment, Prof. William O. Winter of Southern Illinois university, said that the proposed amendment calling for reapportionment of legislative districts, if passed, would 'correct 'rotton borough' districts."

Winter pointed out that Cook county, where Chicago is located, would be given more equal representation than in the past. He said that Cook and Lake counties constitute 52 per cent of the Illinois population.

A feeling among Illinois voters Winter said, is that it is "turning over power to Chicago."

Describes Situation

Prof. William H. Young of the University of Wisconsin described the situation in Wisconsin where a reapportionment enactment was passed, defeated and passed again. Under the Wisconsin constitution an amendment must be passed twice before being enacted.

Prof. Louis E. Lambert of Indiana university, who attended SUI, told of the situation in Indiana where representation is made only according to the male voters over 21. He said he doubted whether any real action would be taken in 1955 to change reapportionment.

The laying out of equal districts in Kentucky, which has single-member districts, was described by Prof. Kenneth Vanlandingham of the University of Kentucky, as the biggest reapportionment problem in that state.

Cites 'If' System

He said that if Kentucky adopted a system of multi-member districts, the people would receive better representation.

Prof. Henry J. Tomasek of the University of North Dakota, said that the rural districts dominate the representation in North Dakota. He told of the method of changing the reapportionment of districts by initiative of citizens.

Prof. H. C. Cook of Iowa State college moderated the session.

New Conservatism In American Thought Cited in Discussions

A discussion group on "The New Conservatism in American Thought," under the chairmanship of Mulford Q. Sibley, University of Minnesota, heard half-hour talks by Ludwig Freund, Roosevelt college, Chicago, and Russel Kirk, University of Detroit at another session in the Continuation Center.

Comparing American with European conservatism, Freund said that conservatism has nearly disappeared in much of Europe. Freund, who calls himself a liberal-conservative, said he doubts whether moral and spiritual values of America can remain unharmed without "the normal and religious touch which characterizes conservatism."

Kirk, author of the book, "The Conservative Mind," called for a "conservatism of imagination, a conservatism illuminated by the wisdom of our ancestors."

Daniel Boorstin, University of Chicago, K. A. Svenson, Iowa State Teachers' college, and Ross B. Talbot, University of North Dakota, gave short talks. Boorstin attacked what he termed "nostalgic looking at the past through a telescope" of conservatism.

In another discussion, "Emerging Political Issues in the Midwest," headed by E. Allen Helms, Ohio State university, five panel members spoke. They were Wilfred Binkley, Ohio Northern university; James Miller, Michigan State college; Dale Pontius, Roosevelt college; Jasper Shannon, University of Kentucky, and Ralph Straetz, Miami university.

Speakers mentioned beef and dairy price declines as a major political issue affecting farmers, and increased unemployment as a present issue influencing city-dwellers in the midwest. McCarthy and GOP policies on soil, timber and water conservation were also mentioned as politically important issues in this area.

Gange Tells Group World Changes Hold Vast Consequences

John Gange, executive director of the American Political Scientists association, asked a luncheon gathering of political scientists to look with him "at the oncoming tidal wave of social change" throughout the world, in a speech given Friday in the Memorial Union river room.

Gange told the educators that it is their task, "despite the scorn and abuse teachers have to take" today, to exert the leadership people need during time "of political, industrial and social change."

He said that although "we who should be leading are swept aside by others," the "others" are aware of the need for advice and direction from political scientists, and that government officials are more and more frequently depending upon their services.

Few Aware of Power

Gange told his audience that few in this country are aware of the "depth and power of demand for new regimes" all over the world, and warned that the "world political revolution" has only begun.

The speaker said that "the ignorance (in this country) of how 80 per cent of the world's people live" is "incredible."

He warned that communist and fascist "true believers" have a "skill and force" in guiding the world's masses which is "underestimated" here.

Geography Unimportant

He spoke of the possibilities of nuclear fission, solar power, developments in plastics, and said that these tools are within the grasp of all peoples. He said the consequences of technogical development will make "geography unimportant," that natural resources and a temperate climate will be of less value since people are learning "what can be spun out of the air."

He praised the work of engineers and physicists, who bring us "every day, new discoveries." He said that they will continue to do so if "cowards and bigots" do not curtail their freedom to experiment and carry on research.

Means Wars Without End

Speaking of "the military monstrosity of limited war," Gange said that in effect, it means "wars without end" between "antagonists who are restrained only because each possesses the capacity for . . . destruction of mankind."

"Standards of behavior and concepts of value" are also in flux, Gange observed. He said that we have only to look around us—and in hospitals—to see the toll current tension are taking on human beings, physically and spiritually.

In conclusion, he said that he sees ahead "tremendous travail for body and spirit" of all men, and "abundant, radical and in some cases violent change," before the world reaches "abundant and good living" for all.

New Central Party Committee To Meet

New members of Central Party committee will meet at the Iowa Memorial Union at 9 a.m. today to elect a chairman and a vice-chairman. Jack Lowry, C4, Des Moines, chairman of the outgoing committee, will give the new members a short indoctrination into their work on Central Party.

New members, appointed last week, are: Bob Groom, C3, Des Moines; Dick Thornton, A3, Council Bluffs; Midge Talbot, A3, Webster City; Mary Hauer, A3, Sheldon; Donna McMahon, A3, Fort Dodge; Dave Adams, A2, Princeton; George Ojemann, A2, Iowa City; Paul Hagenson, A1, Clinton; Marge Crabbe, A2, Eagle Grove; John Elman, A1, Des Moines; Dorothy Schwengel, A1, Davenport; and Marge Rickett, A2, Mt. Pleasant.

2 ROTC Professors To Conduct Inspections

Col. Walter E. Sewell, professor and head of military science and tactics, and Capt. Earl C. Sturm, associate professor of military science and tactics, will conduct three federal inspections of college ROTC units next week, Sewell announced Friday.

The pair will leave Iowa City Sunday for Champaign, Ill., where they will inspect the unit at the University of Illinois.

From there they will go to Chicago to inspect the departments at Loyola university and DePaul university.

They will arrive back in Iowa City next Saturday.

Interpreting the News

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press

In a world full of the most serious tensions, at a time when who was responsible for whose picture being taken with whom is the chief question in Washington despite these tensions, the subject of today's column may seem trivial to you.

Yet it involves formulae and principles, attitudes and signs of a changing world which are fundamental to consideration of some of man's most critical problems.

They've just held an election down in British Honduras the like of which has hardly if ever been seen before in Latin-America.

Britain Controls Belize

You will recall that Britain has controlled what was once known as Belize for 300 years, since the days of the Spanish Main. It is a crown colony. There has been an independence movement. Its leaders have played no footsie with the Reds in neighboring Guatemala whcih still claims rights to the Honduran territory taken from her by Spain so long ago, and taken again by the British from Spain.

Britain devised a plan for extending greater self-rule. The people were to send nine men to a legislative council.

In an election to which the British colonial system itself guaranteed freedom of choice, without any riots or other disturbances, the independence leaders won all but one elective seat, which went to a member of another party which calls itself Independent, but which would maintain some ties with Britain.

14,000 Vote

Out of a population of 76,000 people of Indian and mixed Indian and European decent, 14,000 voted.

Communism in British Guiana had succeeded merely in creating disturbance. In Honduras, democratic processes worked.

Instead of appointing half the council as heretofore, Britain will appoint only three, and government officials will appoint three. Colonial authorities promised complete cooperation with the newly elected men who want to throw the British out.

Thus is the problem of nationalism worked out in a British crown colony.

Law Arguments To Highlight Annual Supreme Court Day

Four senior law students will argue a civil suit before the Iowa supreme court Friday, May 7, highlighting the annual SUI supreme court day.

The argument is scheduled to start at 2 p.m. in Old Capitol.

The suit, a theoretical case, involves action by a plaintiff to recover damages for injuries he allegedly received while riding in a car driven by the defendant.

Seniors to Argue

Seniors selected to argue the case are: William B. Ebert, Mt. Pleasant, and John T. Updegraff, Sigourney (for the appellant) vs. Milton Poisnick, Fort Dodge, and David J. Butler, Mason City (for the appellee).

The four student lawyers were chosen on the basis of two years of competition in law club arguments and upon the basis of their scholastic standing.

The law argument will be preceded and followed by a full schedule of events, starting with a coffee hour in Old Capitol at 9 a.m.

Groups to be Honored

Three groups of students will be honored at a 10 a.m. session in Old Capitol. At that time new members will be initiated into the Order of Coif, a national honorary law organization which recognizes scholastic achievement in a fashion similar to the liberal arts Phi Beta Kappa.

Law Review certificates will be presented at the morning session to students who have met the requirements through publications of material in the Iowa Law Review. The Law Review is a quarterly magazine, published by the law college, which deals with legal problems on local and national levels.

Bronze plaques will also be presented at the morning meeting to students who participated in junior law arguments earlier this year.

Banquet to be Held

Winners of the afternoon argument before the supreme court will be honored at a banquet in the Iowa Memorial Union at 7 p.m. Friday. The new staff of the Iowa Law Review will also be announced at that time. Master of ceremonies for the banquet will be Stephen L. Nusser, I3, Iowa City, president of the Iowa law student association.

The day's events will end with a post-banquet variety show by students in the college of law.

Iowa supreme court judges who will hear Friday's senior argument are Chief Justice William L. Bliss, and Justices Theodore G. Garfield, Norman R. Hays, Robert L. Larson, John E. Mulroney, Ralph A. Oliver, W. A. Smith, G. K. Thompson and Charles F. Wennerstrum.

Social Sorority To Entertain Vets

Representatives of Delta Zeta social sorority will entertain the patients at Veterans hospital this afternoon in conjunction with the University Women's Service committee.

Carole Freeman, A3, Emmetsburg, and Phyllis Helmke, A3, Garner, will sing. June Lyman, A3, Cedar Rapids, will do a soft shoe dance. Other dances will be given by the group.

Ellen Fernandez, N1, Milwaukee, Wis., will act as mistress of ceremonies.

Student groups entertain at the hospital every Saturday afternoon.

Students To Visit Printing Company

Twenty-nine students will leave at 6:30 a.m. on May 4 for Des Moines where they will make an inspection tour of the Meredith Publishing Co., which publishes Better Homes and Gardens.

The students will be shown through the plant and will observe production techniques used in publishing the magazine. They will also sit in on an editorial planning conference. Free luncheon will be served the inspection tour at noon in the Meredith cafeteria.

Prof. William Porter, of the department of magazine journalism, will accompany the students. The group will leave from the Communications Center by chartered bus.

Breakfast Will Honor Home Economics Seniors

The home economics faculty will be hosts to their graduating students at a breakfast Sunday at the home of Prof. Sybil Woodruff, head of the department.

The spring breakfast honoring the degree candidates is an annual event, Miss Woodruff said.

There are 26 home economics seniors and three candidates for the master of arts degree who will graduate this year.

15 TO ATTEND RETREAT

Fifteen SUI students are attending a retreat sponsored by the Inter-Varsity Christian fellowship at the Quaker Heights camp near Eldora this weekend. Inter-Varsity chapters from Iowa colleges and universities are attending the annual spring event.

City Woman's Club Selects Wednesday To Plant Petunias

The Iowa City Woman's club has set Monday to Sunday, May 9, as "Petunia Week." The co-chairmen of the project, Mrs. G. E. Grunewald and Mrs. Richard Jones, have announced Wednesday as planting day for public areas. In case of rain planting will be done My 7.

The garden department of the club will be in charge of planting four blocks on Washington st. All other departments have donated one flat of petunias each to be used in other civic planting.

Other public areas to be planted include areas by the Community building, County Welfare building, Rock Island depot, police and fire departments and the Musser parking lot. Many motels, service stations and other business will do their own planting in cooperation with the program.

All planters are asked to bring their own planting equipment. Refreshments will be served to the planters at 10 a.m. on planting day at College Hill park. Mrs. C. O. Parks is in charge of the refreshments.

The club chose petunias for the program because of their long blooming season. Pink petunias will be used in most of the planting.

A group of people from Cedar Rapids will come to Iowa City to observe the planting, as an aid in their own beautification program.

Thetas To Hold Formal Tonight

Beta Omicron chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta social sorority will hold its spring dinner-dance this evening from 7 to 12 at the Rose Room of the Hotel Jefferson.

Bobbie Cotter and her trio will provide the music and Sharon Larson, A2, Oskaloosa, and Betsy Daine, A1, San Juan, Puerto Rico, are in charge of the arrangements.

Chaperones will be Mrs. Frank Hines, Mrs. Henry Nelson, Mrs. Maud Teasdale, Mrs. Ralph Burt. Mr. and Mrs. George Nagel and Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Elliot.

Medical Students Elect Caplan New Association Head

Richard Caplan

Richard M. Caplan, M3, Des Moines, was recently elected president of the SUI chapter of the Student American Medical association.

Other officers elected for the 1954-1955 school year were Alan F. Wentworth, M2, Marble Rock, vice-president; John Fenton, M2, Iowa City, secretary; and Charles N. Bean, M3, Des Moines, treasurer.

Delegates to the Iowa State Medical society meeting in Des Moines which ends today were William R. Myers, M4, Des Moines, current SAMA president; Henry R. Mol, M4, Grundy Center; Robert A. Sedlacek, M4, Cedar Rapids, and Edward R. Duffie jr., M3, Iowa City.

Myers, Caplan and Vernon Urich, M2, Garner, will represent SUI at the national SAMA convention in Chicago May 1 to 3.

Of the 420 medical students currently enrolled at the university, 372 are members of the local chapter of the student medical organization, Fenton said.

Local Girl Heads Scout Area Board

Karen Herrick, Iowa City senior Girl Scout, has been elected president of the Mississippi valley area conference planning board for Girl Scouts for one year. Miss Herrick is the daughter of Prof. and Mrs. P. W. Herrick, 747 Oakland ave.

Other new officers of the area board are Patti Reddy, Davenport, vice-president; Gail Giblin, Dubuque, recording secretary; Sharon Van Sart, Clinton, corresponding secretary, and Linda Brainerd, Moline, Ill., treasurer. The board will meet in Dubuque in October to plan next year's Senior Girl Scout conference for this area.

New members of the Mississippi valley area planning board just elected by Senior Girl Scouts of Cardinal Council are Dixie Lee Kerr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Kerr, and Carmela Loria, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Loria.

Senior Scouts of Cardinal Council will meet Wednesday at 4:15 p.m. at the Iowa City Girl Scout office to discuss summer camp plans. A meeting of the senior planning board will follow the meeting for all senior Girl Scouts.

Annual Design Show Opens; Emphasizes Practical Products

Student work in architecture, furniture design, textiles and other design areas went on display Friday with the opening of the sixth annual design show at SUI.

The designs remain on exhibition through June 4, according to Prof. John Schulze, director of the show.

"Man is the Measure" is the theme for the exhibit, Schulze said, explaining that the theme points up the important practical considerations in today's designs for buildings, furniture, textiles and industrial products for everyday use.

One project included in the exhibit is not intended for use in the household, however. Floyd Starr, G, Fort Madison, designed and built a complex wooden device that will measure the contours of the human body in lying and sitting positions.

The device is to be used in the making of measurements helpful to the designer of more comfortable chairs, sofas and the like, Schulze noted. He said that the device, a measuring instrument, is unprecedented in that previous devices have measured body contours in only one direction, while Starr's instrument enables the designer to accurately determine contours in three dimensions.

Also on exhibit will be such articles as an upholstered, foam-rubber occasional chair built on a one-piece fibreglass and celastic shell, a project of Dan Fox, A1, Charles City, and interior and exterior drawings for a house by Marietta Eighme, G, Tingley.

Engineering Group Initiates 6 Men

Six engineering students were initiated this week into the SUI chapter of Tau Beta Pi, national engineering society.

Following the initiation ceremony, a banquet was held in the Amana colonies. Special guest and speaker was Robert H. Nagel of Knoxville, Tenn., national secretary-treasurer of Tau Beta Pi.

Those initiated were Michael Koenig, E4, Davenport; Darrell Wyrick, E2, Fort Madison; Paul Nunn, E3, Oxford; Richard Hradek, E2, Tiffin; John Brady, E2, Tipton and Helmut Gramberg, E3, Wiesbaden, Germany.

Iowa-Gopher Game Rained Out; Triple-Header Scheduled Today

Rain postponed the Iowa baseball team's game with Minnesota at Minneapolis Friday and made it necessary for the Hawks to reschedule the game for today.

This means that the two teams will clash in a tripleheader today since a doubleheader was already scheduled.

Merle Jensen, who was slated to start on the mound for the Hawks in Friday's game, will, in all probability, hurl the first game tomorrow.

Paul Giel will face Iowa in one of the three games, but which one is not certain.

Should it be that all three games are rained out today, it will make six straight games in the Hawkeye-Gopher baseball series that have been rained out.

The last game to be played by the two teams was in 1952 when Giel won a 4-0 1-hitter at Minneapolis.

In other games around the Big Ten, Michigan State college whipped a stumbling Illinois 17-3; Michigan, who last year tied for the Big Ten conference title, defeated Purdue 6-0; and Wisconsin beat the Hoosiers 6-4.

Correlation Picked As 5-2 Favorite In Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The names of 18 horses were dropped into the entry box Friday for the 80th Kentucky Derby, which positively will be the richest running of the great American turf classic.

Although there is no absolute standout for the mile and one quarter event for 3-year-olds, Correlation from California rules the 5-2 favorite to nab his third $100,000 prize in a row.

If all 18 go postward to the strains of "My Old Kentucky Home," the pot will total $124,850. This would mean $102,800 to the winner, compared with Count Turf's record haul of $98,050 in 1952.

Post time is 3:30 p.m. CST, with a crowd of some 100,000 expected. CBS will televise the race from 3-3:45 p.m. CST, and broadcast by radio from 3:15-3:45 p.m.

Goyamo, a come-from-behind colt by Goya II who won the Blue Grass Stakes last week, is listed as second choice at 4-1. Goyamo will be ridden by Eddie Arcaro, who holds the derby jockey record of five victories.

Willie Shoemaker, 1953 jockey champion, again will be aboard Correlation.

The probable third choice in the mutuels is Hasty Road, from the Hasty House Farm. Hasty Road is the Louisville favorite, because he broke the Churchill Downs track record Tuesday by winning the one-mile derby trial in 1:35 flat, he will have a running mate, Sea-O-Erin, and the entry is listed at 5-1, a shade under the California pair of Determine and Allied which is 6-1.

Fisherman, owned by a New Yorker, beat Correlation last fall in the East View Stakes, and is 7-1.

White Sox Bounce Back, Shut Out Red Sox, 5-0

BOSTON (AP) — Chicago righthander Bob Keegan gained his third victory of the year and eighth in a row over two seasons Friday in shutting out Boston 5-0 on eight hits.

The big Rochester, N.Y., native, never in serious danger of losing, got out of a jam and preserved his shutout in the eighth inning when the Red Sox came up with three singles but failed to score.

Jackie Jensen was caught between second and third following George Kell's single on Johnny Groth's throw from center. Then with two out and two on Keegan got rookie Harry Agganis to ground to Ferris Fain.

Indians Blast Ford

NEW YORK (AP) — Cleveland jumped on reliefer Whitey Ford for five runs in the 10th inning Friday on three singles, a triple and two walks to beat the New York Yankees 9-4 behind Bob Lemon's six-hit pitching.

Larry Doby's two-run single, his fourth hit of the day, broke the tie with the bases loaded and one out in the tenth. Dave Philley's single drove in another and George Strickland's triple over Irv Noren's head added the final pair. A single by Bobby Avila and two walks started Ford on his way to his second defeat.

Except for a sad two-run error by Dale Mitchell on Noren's easy fly ball in the sixth, Lemon probably would have won in regulation time. The muff of Noren's fly followed a bad peg by third baseman Al Smith, a hit batsman and a scratchy infield single after Jerry Coleman had singled to left.

Giants Outlast Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) — Willie Mays' homer in the 14th was the winning margin of a 4-2 New York Giant triumph Friday over the Chicago Cubs, fashioned behind Sal Maglie's brilliant pitching over the full distance for his fourth victory against no defeats.

Mays' homer was followed by another Giant tally in the 14th which pinned the defeat on Warren Hacker, who relieved starter Bob Rush at the beginning of the 13th.

Rush had yielded only three hits over 12 innings, but one was Hank Thompson's home run in the seventh which tied the score at 2-2.

A's Defeat Baltimore

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bob Trice, in his first full major league season, hurled a tight three-hitter Friday night as the Philadelphia Athletics beat the Baltimore Orioles, 5-1.

Trice was in trouble only in the ninth inning when the Orioles scored their lone run. He faced only five extra batters in winning his third decision of 1954 against no losses.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ex-Private Don Newcombe, constantly in trouble, Friday night pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers into the first spot of the National League with a 6-3 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs. The Reds, pushed down to third place, continued their role as home-run givers as Duke Snider and Pee Wee Reese hit roundtrippers.

91 Sports Cars To Race Here Tomorrow Morning at Airport

A sports car race—the first of its kind in Iowa is scheduled to get under way tomorrow morning at 10 at the Iowa City airport, no matter what the weatherman brings.

The event will feature 91 separate cars, some foreign-made and some United States-made.

Seven races are on the program which race officials have estimated will terminate at approximately 4 p.m.

In addition to the seven races, there is to be a parade of sports cars on the race course at approximately 2 p.m. The events will be suspended between 1:40 and 2:40 while regularly scheduled United Airlines flights land.

The races will be run over a seven-turn course, 1.9 miles in length. Most of the races are divided into groups depending upon size of cars and experience of the drivers. The fifth race, however, is for ladies only.

Only trophies are awarded to the winners. The entire proceeds from the afternoon's activities will go to the Iowa City Optimist club, which is jointly sponsoring the race with the Sports Car Club of America. The Optimist club will use the money to further its boys work.

Here is the official program:

10 a.m.—First race—Novice drivers. Open only to qualified drivers with one race or less experience. 10 laps (15 miles).

10:45 a.m.—Second Race—Novice drivers. Bigger cars. 10 laps (19 miles).

11:30 a.m.—Third Race—Production sports cars. 15 laps (28.5 miles).

12:25 p.m.—Fourth Race—Production sports cars. Bigger cars. 15 laps (28.5 miles).

1:15 p.m.—Fifth Race—Ladies race. All classes. Five laps (9.5 miles).

2:05 p.m.—Parade of cars on race course.

2:45 p.m.—Sixth Race—Sports, production sports and unrestricted category cars. 20 laps (38 miles). LeMans start.

4 p.m.—Seventh Race—Sports, production sports and unrestricted category cars. Bigger cars. 20 laps (38 miles). Flying start after paced lap.

4 Iowa Teams To Play Today

Handicapped by the prolonged absence of captain Norman Barnes, the Iowa tennis team will take on a balanced Bradley squad here this morning at 10. The meet will be played on the courts to the north of the field house.

Barnes, who fractured a bone in his right hand while on a preseason tuneup trip two weeks ago, expects to play in the doubles competition, but will not play in the singles matches.

His absence when the Hawks played Wisconsin last week helped Iowa lose the opener, 5-4.

The racqueteers won all four of their pre-conference games, beating Kansas, Missouri, Washington university, and Northeastern State college in Oklahoma.

Golfers Open Big Ten Play

Hawkeye golfers open their Big Ten season on Finkbine course this morning when they take on a highly-touted Minnesota team.

For the Hawkeyes, it will be the second meet of the season. They beat Western Illinois State here Tuesday 18-9.

A third meet for the golfers will be played Monday against Bradley at Peoria, Ill.

Track Team To Open

Wisconsin, beaten in the opening indoor meet in February, is the oponent of Iowa's track team in the first outdoor meet today at Madison.

The Hawkeyes have picked up some strength outdoors but may be without the services of Capt. LeRoy Ebert, 440 and 880-yard runner. Ebert has a slight leg muscle pull which has worsened since the Drake Relays and he may be held out of competition this weekend.

Clyde Gardner, holder of the Iowa discus record, is an addition to the squad. Gardner was not in competition in 1953. He is capable of throwing the discuss close to 160 feet.

However, Iowa will miss Jim Freeman and Rodger Swedberg, shot-putters. They are occupied with spring football and cannot compete in any track meets until after May 15.

Several men will compete in two events, such as Glen Hesseltine and George Wright, 100 and 220; Rich Ferguson, mile and 2 mile; Dick Fowler, high and low hurdles, and Art Fudge, 880 and mile. Les Stevens will run the high and low hurdles and will high jump, while Earl Smith will compete in the dashes and broad jump.

Iowa expects its greatest opposition from such Badgers as Don Hebein, dashes; Tom Monfore, 880 and mile; Charles Thomas, shot put; Tony Stracka, discus; Tom Mack, broad jump and Jack Mansfield, 440.

Iowa's baseball team plays a triple header with Minnesota today. (See baseball story.)

U-High Beats Roosevelt In Golf Meet, 186-218

University high golfers won their first meet in three times out Thursday, beating Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids 186-218 at Ellis Park in Cedar Rapids.

The golf team is the first U-high has had in many years, according to coach Bob Rossie.

Gene Novotny of U-high was Medalist for the tournament with a 42 for nine holes. Brooks Burkhart finished with 43, John Price with 46, Chris Dodge with 55, and Bob Fowler with 56. Fowler's total was not counted since he was high man in the meet.

U-high will meet Roosevelt again Wednesday on Finkbine course at 4 p.m.
