Reports Differ On Paraguay Army Uprising

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Units of the Paraguayan army were reported Wednesday to have rebelled against the government of President Federico Chaves at Asuncion, Paraguay's capital, in a bold attempt to seize power.

There were conflicting reports on whether the government or the rebels were in control in Asuncion Wednesday night.

Official government radio stations were off the air. But a private station said loyal government forces succeeded in quelling the uprising.

Chaves Takes Refuge
Another account, from Clorinda, on the Argentine side of the Paraguayan border, said Asuncion was in the hands of the insurgents. The border report said President Chaves and his minister took refuge in the military academy at Asuncion.

A well informed source in Buenos Aires said Wednesday afternoon the situation in the Paraguayan capital was "uncertain." This indicated the movement against the Chaves government appeared still alive.

Unconfirmed rumors circulating here said several Paraguayan government leaders were killed in the early-morning fighting including Gen. Alfredo Stroessner, commander in chief of the armed forces.

Report Uprising Quelled
The reports, which lacked direct confirmation, said loyal government forces succeeded in quelling the uprising in the Paraguayan capital. They said Police Chief Dr. Roberto L. Petit was killed in the battle with the rebels.

These and sketchy radio broadcasts from inside that central South American country indicated unrest had broken the comparative calm of nearly five years—longest period of peace in Paraguay's long, bloody history.

A broadcast from Radio Telcel, a private station at Asuncion, said a division of cavalry—normally about 500 mounted men in the Paraguayan army—had risen against the Chaves regime. Loyal troops and police rallied to the government's defense, the station added.

Communications Cut Off
These advices said all roads leading into the capital had been blocked. Telephone communications from outside the country were cut off.

Radio Telcel continued to announce the nation was calm.

Chaves, 74, first became provisional president of Paraguay in September, 1949, after ousting Felipe Molas Lopez in a bloodless coup. His rise to the presidency grew out of discord in the ruling Colorado party—the only legal party in Paraguay—of which Chaves was leader of the Democratic faction. That had been the sixth administration change through revolt and bloodless coup in 17 months.

Lopez, who went into exile for a while after his ouster and then returned to Asuncion, died in March at 54.

Since 1950 there has been comparative calm, although there have been reports of stern government measures against opposing political forces.

Righter Conducts Final Concert

PROF. C. B. RIGHTER prepares to conduct the SUI concert band in his final formal appearance as director of the band Wednesday night. Righter plans to retire at the end of this semester, but he will remain active in band work.

Farewell Tribute—

Final Concert 'Delightful'

By DRAKE MABRY

The SUI concert band presented one of its delightful programs Wednesday night in the main lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union.

Their performance was especially appropriate as a farewell tribute to Prof. Charles B. Righter, Righter is retiring as director of the SUI bands at the close of the current school year.

But his retirement doesn't mean that he will be out of the band picture entirely. "I'll be behind this band for some time yet," Righter remarked. "I couldn't step away from music for very long."

To Continue Work
"Of course I'll continue my work as assistant professor in the music department here," he continued, "and I'll still travel around the country judging bands, holding clinics, and perhaps a guest appearance or two."

Righter, director of the SUI bands since 1937, said that after such a long time as director of the various bands, it is naturally difficult to hang up the baton.

"But this retirement is not earth shattering," he says. "I'll still be close to the music business at SUI. I couldn't drop this fine concert band entirely."

Consisted of Light Tunes
The musical program consisted mainly of light tunes, superbly played.

Bach's sprightly "Fugue a la Gigue" opened the program, followed by Handel's popular Ballet Suite—"The Gods Go A-Begging."

Two arrangements by Righter were also played before intermission. They were "Allegro, from Symphony No. V by Schubert" and "A Faust Overture" by Wagner.

John Whitlock, assistant director, conducted the band as it played the "Overture-Die Fledermaus."

Suite Is High Point
High point of the last portion of the concert was the band's rendition of Tansman's "Carnival Suite." The Suite is in three parts—Mardi Gras, Interlude Blues, and the energetic Cakewalk.

Righter and his musicians rolled through this difficult number in fine shape, even to the extent of creating the proper musical setting for Interlude Blues.

Service keys for 1954 were awarded to 11 members of the band during a second intermission. Service keys are awarded to concert band members who have a total of six semesters in the band, or to members of the other SUI bands with a total of eight semesters' service.

186 Keys Awarded
A total of 186 keys have been awarded since the program was first started in 1940.

Band members receiving the keys Wednesday night were: Donald G. Benda, A3, Iowa City; Mary Anne Cassens, G, Rock Rapids; W. Dean Harwood, A4, Hedrick; John P. Kessler, A3, Marion; J. Kenneth Miller, C4, Ottumwa; Mary Jane Mullins, A3, Adel; Whitford S. Niehaus Jr., C4, Burlington; Wesley G. Pippert, A3, Mason City; Robert J. Quinn, A3, Marion; Dorothy A. Schaefer, A3, East Moline, Ill., and Loraine W. Ward, A3, Oelwein.

Letter Source Undisclosed By McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy took the witness stand Wednesday and, in dramatic sworn testimony, refused to name an army intelligence officer who, he said, gave him secret FBI material warning of Russian spy danger at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

Roaring his refusal before a tense throng of spectators at a televised hearing, the Wisconsin senator told army counsel Joseph N. Welch:

"Neither you nor anybody else will get me to violate the confidence of loyal people. . . You can try until doomsday."

Welch reminded McCarthy of his oath to "tell the whole truth" and implored him to do so. But McCarthy stuck to his position and was upheld by Sen. Karl Mundt, (R-SD) acting chairman of the investigating committee.

McCarthy's first appearance as witness provided one of the highlights of the 10-day-old airing of his row with high pentagon officials.

It was McCarthy's day in another respect, too.

He established, through FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, that the secret material in question was a condensed version—mostly word for word—of a spy warning the FBI sent to army intelligence Jan. 26, 1951.

Hoover sent word through a subcommittee aide that he never wrote such a letter. But after a recheck the aide, Robert A. Collier, said Hoover told him the letter was taken almost verbatim from a much longer FBI memo issued on that same 1951 day.

Then arose the question of where McCarthy got the letter.

With a showmanlike flourish, special counsel Ray H. Jenkins called out the name of his next witness: "Sen. McCarthy."

While flashbulbs lit up and spectators strained forward to watch, McCarthy strode from the committee table to the witness chair, took the oath, and summoned aides Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr to his side.

He said he waived any senatorial immunity he might have.

Then, when Jenkins asked him to say in his own words where the secret FBI data came from, McCarthy took the stand from which he never retreated:

"I will not under any circumstances reveal the source of any information I may get as chairman of the senate investigations subcommittee. He has stepped down from the post for purposes of these hearings."

McCarthy produced the letter in an effort to show that the army dragged its feet in rooting out alleged subversives, although he said it had ample warning.

McCarthy said the FBI material which was the subject of Wednesday's hearing listed 34 persons alleged to be linked to Julius Rosenberg, who was convicted of atomic espionage and electrocuted.

Dulles Advises 24 Key Legislators On U.S. Position In Indochina War

6 Gain Posts As Commerce Students Vote

Commerce students cast 113 votes for six candidates Wednesday in the collegiate chamber of commerce election. Voting was slightly heavier than last year, election officials said. About 380 students were eligible to vote.

The six new members, all commerce juniors, elected to the chamber include Raynard Sommerfeld, Woden, accounting; John Ferguson, Ames, economics; Jane Ann Walker, Waterloo, business education and office management; Wayne Fliss, Iowa City, marketing; William Robertson, Oskaloosa, general business, and Myron Peterson, Alta, industrial management.

Eleven members make up the collegiate chamber. In addition to the six elected Wednesday, three persons will be appointed by Alpha Kappa Psi and Delta Sigma Pi, men's commerce fraternities, and Phi Gamma Nu, women's commerce sorority.

Iowa Welfare Group To Convene Today

Local responsibilities for public health and the effect of welfare programs on income distribution and economic stability will be topics of the two general sessions of the Iowa Welfare institute at SUI today and Friday.

Dean Norman B. Nelson, of the college of medicine, will speak Friday at 1:30 p.m. in Shambaugh lecture room on "Health as a Community Service." Prof. Robert H. Johnson, of the economics department, will discuss "The Economics of Welfare" tonight in the River room of the Iowa Memorial Union.

The 13 group meetings of the annual spring institute, which is sponsored by the Iowa Welfare association and the SUI school of social work, include sessions on homefinding, working with the emotionally disturbed child, correctional treatment, and care of older persons in nursing homes.

HARPER TO PRESIDE

Prof. Earl Harper, director of the SUI school of fine arts and of the Iowa Memorial Union, will preside over an executive committee meeting of the National council of churches' division of worship and the arts in New York city May 13. Harper is secretary of the division.

Ike Appears Preoccupied

U.S. Remains Uncommitted, Report Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was reported Wednesday night to have told 24 key congressional leaders that the United States at present has no plans whatever to send any forces into the Indochina war.

Dulles is understood to have advised the legislators at a secret state department briefing that President Eisenhower believes Indochina is a far worse place to involve American forces than was Korea.

The senators and house members met with Dulles for 1 hour and 45 minutes Wednesday afternoon. Responsible informants quoted the secretary as saying he intends to press ahead to forge a "united front" to protect southeast Asia, even if Britain withholds cooperation.

Invites 9 Countries
He has invited nine countries to join—Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, the Philippines and the three Indochina states of Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

Dulles is reported to have stressed that it is vital to American security that the U.S. continue to work closely and harmoniously with Britain as well as France in Western Europe, despite present differences over Far Eastern policies.

Some consideration, it is understood, is being given to drawing a defense line around the Indochina states of Laos and Cambodia which the U.S. and "united action" allies would pledge to defend against possible new Red aggression.

Neither Laos or Cambodia, it was pointed out, are heavily involved in the Indochina fighting which is confined primarily to the larger state of Vietnam.

Such a pledge, it was felt, might encourage more American allies to join the plan.

Future American moves will depend to a large measure on the outcome of the savage battle for Dien Bien Phu in Vietnam, where some 10,000 French Union forces are battling desperately to ward off about 40,000 Red troops.

Talk of U.S. Diplomatic Defeat At Geneva Rejected by Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday praised John Foster Dulles as the greatest secretary of state in his memory and sharply rejected talk of a major U.S. diplomatic defeat at the Geneva conference on Asia.

No one, the President said, can count a battle lost while it is still going on.

Pledging unqualified support for Dulles, who flew back from Geneva Tuesday, Eisenhower told his news conference the United States will continue to work for a collective security arrangement for southeast Asia.

Dulles' efforts to obtain united action to stem communism in that area have so far been unsuccessful. For one thing, the British decided to wait until the Geneva conference on the future of Indochina and Korea is over.

But Eisenhower declined to take the view that Dulles has suffered any defeat. As for the Geneva conference, now nine days old, the President said it "has produced no surprises. The expressed fears of some have proved unfounded."

Eisenhower made his statement shortly after conferring with Dulles at the White House amid signs that a storm over the success or failure of Dulles' efforts at Geneva was blowing up on Capitol Hill.

Some Democrats have been openly critical of Dulles and were reported ready to pepper him with questions about his diplomatic maneuvers involving Korea and the Indochina war crisis.

Appeared Cheerful
Dulles himself appeared in cheerful spirits as he emerged from his talk with Eisenhower. Talking with newsmen, Dulles was asked to comment on suggestions that he had suffered "a major diplomatic defeat" at Geneva.

With a chuckle, Dulles replied: "I don't understand what's happening there at Geneva which is alleged to constitute the defeat."

Obviously answering congressional critics, Eisenhower said in his formal statement that the Geneva conference has not been a five-power session — with Red China sitting as a full-fledged member—as he said "the Soviet Union tried to make it."

Concerning a wide range of other subjects, the President told newsmen:

1. TAFT-HARTLEY LAW — Eisenhower would not like to see the administration's recommendations for changes in the law blocked by what he called extraneous issues. This appeared to be a reference to moves to tack on a civil rights amendment to the proposed revision bill, thereby raising the threat of a filibuster which could scuttle the measure.

2. BUSINESS CONDITIONS — Recent reports indicate a preponderance of favorable signs for business. But just as he cautioned against too pessimistic an outlook some weeks ago, Eisenhower said he would caution against looking at the picture through too rosy glasses now.

3. FARM PROGRAM — The President said he had never heard of reports that he was willing to accept a one-year extension of the present law for rigid high federal price supports for basic farm commodities. He would not speculate whether he might approve or veto a bill calling for continuing the present program.

4. PRISONERS OF WAR — The cardinal principle in the trials of American POWs accused of betraying their comrades in Korea is that justice will be tempered with mercy in all cases. There is a very deep understanding, he said, of the tremendous pressures that can be applied via the Communist "brain washing" technique.

But the President cautioned against making the error of regarding all such cases as identical. They are far from identical, he said.

Plan for Disposal Of Surplus Butter Sought by Benson

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson said Wednesday he hasn't found a suitable plan for disposing of 360 million pounds of surplus government-owned butter. He asked congress for help.

Benson told the house agriculture committee that to avoid future government buying, a production payment plan is "administratively feasible," but that he does not feel he has authority to use this. He said he has asked the attorney general for a ruling.

Under the plan, he said it would be possible to halt further government buying. Butter prices would be allowed to drop to whatever level that supply and demand would carry them.

The government would make up the difference between the market price and the support price in the form of payments to processors.

Benson mentioned two other proposals. One was a one-cent-a-pound sales plan. Under this, the consumer would get a pound of surplus butter at a penny for every pound of commercial butter bought at the regular price.

This, Benson said, would be awkward to administer because it involved coupons.

The other was the blended price plan—the government would sell its butter at low prices to distributors and allow them to sell it, along with commercial butter, at an average price of the two. The blended price, Benson said, would not move all the surplus into use.

A Condensation of Late Developments

U.S. Planes Carry 450 French to Far East

MARSEILLE, France (AP)—Six U.S. air force Globemaster transport planes took off from here Wednesday with 450 French army and air force technicians bound for Indochina. This was the second of a series of airlifts provided by the U.S. air force for French reinforcements urgently needed in the Indochina war. The first on April 18—called "Operation Bali High"—carried about 1,000 French paratroopers from Paris to Indochina, a flight of 8,500 miles.

France, Russia Plan Indochina Peace Talks

GENEVA (AP)—France and the Soviet Union agreed Wednesday to start peace talks on Indochina Friday if possible and certainly by Saturday. Agreement was reached as French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault decided to ride out his country's cabinet crisis in Geneva. Bidault's decision against being present for the vote of confidence today in parliament was taken as a sign of confidence the cabinet would survive. Jean Chauvel, French ambassador in Switzerland, spent an hour with Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko discussing the impending peace parley. Both agreed it should start as soon as feasible.

Reds Move Closer to French Barricades

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—Hordes of Vietminh troops dug new trenches and foxholes Wednesday within grenade hurling distance of Dien Bien Phu's dwindling barricades. A few hundred yards away, more French Union paratroops and tons of supplies dropped through sheets of rebel anti-aircraft fire to bolster the weary defenders. Despite dense tropical rain, Flying Boxcars, piloted by American civilians, and Dakota transports swooped low to drop their precious human and materiel cargoes into the beleaguered bastion's heart. The northwestern Indochinese plains fortress has been holding out against massive Communist-led attacks for nearly two months.

Lynes Urges Higher Tuition for Colleges

William S. Lynes, speaker of the Iowa house of representatives, has urged higher tuition rates at SUI, Iowa State college, and Iowa State Teacher's college, according to the Associated Press.

Lynes, one of six candidates for the Republican nomination for governor, urged higher tuition in remarks prepared for delivery to a Republican meeting at Storm Lake Tuesday.

"The present extremely low tuition rates are unfair to Iowa taxpayers and particularly unfair to our many fine private colleges here in Iowa," Lynes said.

He said rates at the three publicly-supported institutions should be boosted to a level comparable to "the increased cost of operation."

Testing the Temperature

Editorial A Job for All of Us

There is no place in the world today for "dreams of unchallenged rights and liberties," a noted political scientist told his audience here last week. He went on to spell out a message concerning the world of today that has meaning for all of us.

John Gange, executive director of the American Political Scientists association, urged his audience of political science teachers, to examine our world frankly and shrewdly, with an eye to what can be done. He drew a picture of troubles, fears, and distant hopes.

He told them that the peoples of the world, particularly those in "underdeveloped nations," are "demanding new regimes," and that "the rise of the masses" has only begun. Gange declared that before the end of this era of tension and turmoil is reached, all of us will experience great "physical and spiritual travail."

The picture Gange drew is grim, but his call to duty is clear. He described the role of communism in directing the tortured movements of formerly subject peoples. He charged his listeners to understand these movements, and to formulate a "better revolution." Dismissing mere "dreams" and "good intentions," he said that the "better revolution" must be fashioned after American principles of hard work; clear objectives and disciplined action, if it is to combat communism successfully.

Gange made it clear that the victory will go to those skillful and forceful enough to guide the world intelligently.

America's task is to get democracy accepted by other nations. And we cannot do that by mere boasting, no matter how well founded our boasts may be.

We must first understand and respect the forces motivating the people we would guide.

We cannot forget the rest of the world, because the fate of nations is tied together. We live in one world.

So we must be alert. We must know what is happening around the world, and why it is happening. We will have to act on the basis of what we know.

Interpreting the News

By J.M. ROBERTS JR., Associated Press News Analyst

The six nations of the European coal and steel community and the proposed European defense community have agreed that, if and when EDC comes into being, the two pools shall be controlled by a popularly elected assembly.

That is both a step toward EDC and toward greater-possibly even actual-political unity.

It should also serve to bolster the flagging German faith in the ultimate accomplishment of EDC. This is something Chancellor Adenauer seriously needs. Despair has been causing a falling away of his support.

Chances Boosted
French political observers have also been expressing the opinion in the last 24 hours the six-nation decision gives the chances of EDC ratification a great boost.

The French Socialists have been more pro than con on the subject for several months now, but always with reservations as to the form of control which would be established.

They are expected to plop now for ratification, leaving the De Gaulists and the Communists as the chief opponents in the French Assembly.

Assembly Authority
Under the political control plan, the elected assembly will supersede the high authority established more than a year ago for the coal and steel community. Members of this authority are appointed by the participating governments of France, Germany, the Netherlands, Italy, Belgium and Luxembourg. Their charter calls for complete independence from nationalistic policies. But German industrial leaders and some politicians claim it doesn't work entirely that way; that they are being discriminated against as countries which Germany overran during World War I seek to keep her production in balance with their own.

This is a problem which, whether the control body is appointed or elected, would seem to depend heavily on the good will of the men chosen. But at least in theory an elected assembly deliberating on a formally stated international basis would be less subject to nationalistic sentiments than the individual parliaments at home.

Step Important
As a step toward political unity for Europe, such an elected assembly could be considered important but far from decisive. The nations, France in particular, have been careful to limit the powers of the proposed new assembly to operations of the united European army if it is created, and to the coal and steel community. If the EDC is not established, the coal and steel plan will go ahead as at present.

The people who have been working hardest on the assembly problem, however, together with their work in the advisory council of Europe—most of them are the same—already have begun discussing agricultural and additional commercial and industrial pools. They hope that one thing leading to another will eventually produce actual political union.

TO THE EDITOR:
I wonder how many still believe that McCarthy is a great defender of American democracy and our country's greatest weapon against communism? I wonder also when that decisive step will be taken which will truly make the public — and indeed our government as a whole — truly conscious of the destructive nature of McCarthyism?

Even though our country's greatest minds, and the vast majority of her best newspapers, have been straining themselves to enlighten our citizenry, McCarthy's power and crippling effects have continued unabated. There is a chance, however, that during the current senate hearings he will gradually be put on the defensive in such a way that progressively his potentially totalitarian nature, his lack of democratic faith in the integrity of his fellow citizens, and his immature, bull-like character will be revealed in all its unfortunate and cunningly pathological attributes.

But for such a large-scale, dramatic, and soul-shaking transformation to take place, regrettably, especially in a crisis-filled world, too much time has to transpire. And to expedite the turn-about, democracy's strongest weapons have to be employed cooperatively.

In line with this, our most sensitive and prudently-informed journalists (Lippmann, Alsop brothers, the Register, N.Y. Times, etc.) are calling upon both the senate and the president to meet head-on the serious threat which McCarthyism represents.

Should the public join the urgent plea for positive, top-level legislative-administrative action, possibly soon that decisive step will be taken to alleviate the world-wide climate of distrust and fear and character assassination, heretofore known as McCarthyism, but not recognized—ironically—as communism's most potent psychological instrument.

That McCarthy is actually helping the Communists more and more in their divide and conquer strategy is perhaps most recently suggested in a news story by Richard Wilson, of the Des Moines Register (May 4). He tells of a "new official Communist party" announced as a "draft program" (which) aims at capturing the nation for socialism through the Democratic party and the labor movement."

The announcement of this immediately brought to mind McCarthy's designation of the Democratic party as the party of "treason." Thus the wheel of fortune turns for the Communists . . . as it has in the past with the smaller "front" groups. Soon their overall propaganda and stand on current issues will be coming to sound more and more like those of the Democratic party and labor groups.

Consequently, the "probability" that the Democrats have been undermining our democratic heritage with their welfare programs and internationalism for the past 20 years becomes all the more believable to the naive. McCarthy was right! His political stock soars. More demands are made for him to speak out against the Great Betrayal. The Republicans are pressured to allow him more rope for expediency's sake. The chances of the Democrats returning to power grows increasingly remote. With the Republican party's middle-of-the-road policies losing ground and the McCarthy-Bricker-Jenner type of bizarre nationalism gaining in strength, accordingly—to the delight of the Communists—will our programs for collective security and international cooperation suffer undermining.

ON FINISHING DON QUIXOTE
By CHARLES MARSHALL
(To J. M.)

Long had I deplored this losing war
Against the modern windmills free men hate,
Until Quixote showed there's something more
Than strength and victory to the great —
Oh knight, bright spender in defeat!
What matters victory for such a goal?
To pray, to laugh, to love, forgive and greet
Life's rude deceptions with a naive soul . . .
Lead on, lead on, and let me follow
The feeble cardboard helmet of your dream
Of thorn-crowned monarchs, and hollow
Though our childish battles seem,
This madness for untold ages has sufficed;
Its tears Quixote, its blood and spirit Christ.

Iowa Must Win for Crack At League Title

Now comes the "win or get out of the race" period for Iowa's baseball squad, even though it's only the third week of the five-week Big Ten series.

Michigan State, second with 3-1, is the opponent here Friday at 1 p.m. (time changed from the usual 3:30 p.m.) and Saturday at 1:30 the Hawkeyes meet league-leading Michigan (5-1) in a double-header. Michigan takes on Minnesota at Minneapolis Friday.

The assignment for the even break Hawkeyes could hardly be more rugged. Iowa now has 3-3 in the conference and cannot afford to drop another game and still remain in the race. After Sunday, the Iowans have six more games.

The Spartans of Michigan State have defeated Illinois, 17-3; Northwestern, 4-0, on Bud Erickson's 2-hitter; and Purdue, 12-0, with Ed Hobaugh allowing only three hits. They were beaten by Purdue in the second game of the double-header, 5-2.

Probable pitching opponents are Iowa's Merle Jensen, who has held Illinois and Minnesota each to five hits; and Bud Erickson, who beat Illinois and Northwestern. Jensen has the most service of any Iowan, 47 innings, and has allowed only 40 hits. He lost two 13-inning games to Arizona and was charged with the Illinois loss in a 5-hitter, 6-5, with Iowa collecting a dozen blows.

The Spartans' Erickson is one of six conference hurlers who have won two games. The left-hander has allowed only 3 earned runs and 12 hits in 18 innings, while striking out 14 batters.

Michigan State leads the league in batting with .315, with Iowa third at .239. Jack Zeiler, third baseman, is top hitter of the Spartans in league games with .462, followed by Bob Powell, .417; Tom Yewic, .389; George Smith, .350; and Chuck Mathews, .333.

Waldron Top Batter

Iowa's batters are topped by Don Waldron, shortstop, with .333 for all games and .364 for conference. Others include Sharm Scheuerman, centerfielder, .327 and .211; Ed Lindsey, left field, .295 and .261; and Less Hawthorne, right fielder, .283 and .292. Team batting for all games is .262 to opponents' .245.

Top place Michigan, which risks its lead at Minnesota Friday, now is batting .268, second to the Spartans. Don Eaddy, the basketball player, leads the Wolverines with .500. Others include Paul Lepley, .381; and Ray Pavichovich, .286.

It seems likely that Jack Corbett and Marv Wisniewski will pitch for Michigan, since Jack Ritter, the top man, probably will be used against Minnesota Friday. Corbett has beaten Illinois on 5 hits and Northwestern on four. Wisniewski beat Illinois on six hits but lost a 9-hitter to Northwestern.

Ron Schaefer, who beat Purdue, and Doug Bogenreif, winner over Purdue and loser to Minnesota, are likely Iowa pitchers Saturday.

Lineups Listed

These are the probable lineups: Iowa—Les Hawthorne, rf; Ken Kurtz, 3b; Sharm Scheuerman, cf; Ed Lindsey, lf; Bob Miller 1b; Don Waldron, ss; Ron Capps, 2b; Jerry Leber or Bob Heppenstall, c; Merle Jensen, p Friday; Ron Schaefer and Doug Bogenreif, p Saturday.

2 HAWKS LEAD RUNNERS

Two Iowa trackmen hold the best performances in their specialties among Big Ten athletes. Rich Ferguson's 3:13.4 time in the mile ranks tops in that division and Earl Smith has the league's top broad jump mark of 23 feet, 10 1/2 inches. All told, six schools rank among the best in track performance.

Army Backs Sports Program In Reply to 'Coddling' Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—The army threw its backing behind its wide-spread sports program Wednesday in the face of argument by a house committee that the army has been "coddling" big name athletes.

Big-time baseball, basketball and football games between army posts are "moral builders, even for the spectators," Brig. Gen. Herbert P. Powell told a house armed services subcommittee.

But Powell and some of the committee members seemed to be in disagreement over what "preferential treatment" amounts to. Chairman Hess (R-Ohio) said "it appears the army has pleaded guilty" to reports that special favors had been given name athletes called into the army.

Regulations Forbid

Powell told the house members army regulations specifically forbid preferential treatment.

He conceded it is "possible that the policy may have been violated in some cases and that post commanders who give preferential treatment to athletes will face "appropriate action."

This could amount to anything from a reprimand to a court martial, Powell told reporters.

The cases of 10 athletes are now under scrutiny. The 10 are to be notified of the proceedings and told that if they care to testify the committee will pay their expenses to Washington. They will be permitted also to send in statements for committee consideration.

Brooklyn Whitewashes Cubs, 7-0

CHICAGO (AP)—Brooklyn's Russ Meyer "de-homerized" Chicago with a shutout six-hitter Wednesday, taming his old Cub mates for the 11th straight time as the Dodgers won their first 1954 Wrigley Field appearance 7-0.

Meyer, in scoring his second victory against no defeats, held the Bruins without a home run in a game for the first time this season. The Cubs had homered 28 times in 13 previous games.

The loser was Bob Rush, who was routed in the second and followed by Jim Willis and Turk Lown.

Yanks Defeat Baltimore

Veteran southpaw Eddie Lopat helped himself to his fourth victory without a defeat Wednesday as the Yankees chopped down Baltimore 4-2.

A three-bagger by Joe Collins on top of four bases on balls by the Orioles' young righthander proved Turley's undoing. The Yankees' only other hit was a bouncing single through the right side by Yogi Berra in the sixth.

The Orioles, who haven't scored more than four runs in any game this season, managed six hits off Eddie Lopat.

Tennis Team To Play Illini, Minnesota Here

Big Ten opponents, Minnesota and Illinois, face Iowa's tennis team at home this weekend, in the heaviest test for the Hawkeyes to date.

Minnesota appears Friday at 1:30 p.m. and unbeaten Illinois is the rival Saturday at 10 a.m.

Hawkeyes enter the series with a 5-1 record, but the only loss was to a conference opponent, Wisconsin, 5-4. This occurred when the No. 1 Iowan, Norman Barnes, was out of action with a hand injury.

Iowa has beaten Missouri, Kansas, Northeast Oklahoma State, Washington U., and Bradley. Illinois has beaten Butler, Wisconsin, Washington and Ohio State. Record of the Gophers is not known here.

Coach Klotz said that Norman Barnes again would play No. 1, after recovering from a split bone in his right hand. Barnes was the Big Ten No. 1 singles champion of 1952.

Other Iowans will be James Andrews, No. 2; Howard Hill, No. 3; Eugene Nadig, No. 4, and the fifth and sixth spots are contested among Jim Norman, Bob Fletcher and Bob Ogesen.

Barnes and Andrews will team on the No. 1 doubles outfit with Hall and Nadig No. 2, and probably Ogesen and Fletcher No. 3.

SO YOU'RE BUILDING A NEW HOME

Insist on Adequate Wiring all the way

ADEQUATE WIRING Certified

The choice is yours! You can insist on adequate wiring today and be sure of unlimited electrical living tomorrow. Or you can settle for "good enough" wiring now and take your chances with fuse trouble, current-starved appliances and make-do extension cords.

If the choice sounds easy, remember that too many homes being built today are wired for electrical living, 1940 style. The reason is homebuilders often fail to realize just how fast the use of electricity is growing. In just the past 15 years, for example, the automatic home laundry, food freezer, television set and room air conditioner have come into popular acceptance. You can be sure that the next 15 years will be as full of electrical developments as the last!

Whether you build, buy or remodel, remember that adequate wiring is one of the best long-term investments you can make.

JUST WHAT IS ADEQUATE WIRING?

To be adequate, wiring must include: (1) An adequate service entrance, to bring enough electricity into the home; (2) Enough properly protected circuits to permit all lights and appliances to operate properly; (3) Enough convenience outlets, permanent lights and switches to allow use of lamps and appliances where needed, protect eyesight and prevent accidents.

PTA Requests City To Deny Station Permit

Opposition to the possible issuance of a permit to build a service station across from the Horace Mann elementary school was presented to the city council Wednesday in the form of a petition signed by 284 residents of the Horace Mann school district.

Councilman Walter L. Daykin, professor and head of labor and industrial management at IUI, said Wednesday the matter would be taken up by the council at Monday night's meeting.

The petitioners ask the permit not to be issued "on the basis that the location would increase the danger to school children, and also increase the traffic problem at the corner." The petition was signed by members of the Horace Mann parent teachers association.

Location at Church, Dodge sts.

The location referred to in the petition is the northwest corner of Church and Dodge sts. According to Prof. Frederick G. Higgins, professor emeritus of engineering and chairman of the adjustment board which considers building permit applications, the lot referred to is zoned for business, and therefore it is legal for a service station to be built there.

Seeking to construct a service station at the location is the Jones-Herriott Oil Co., Inc.

The application has the approval of the board of adjustment, but no permit has yet been issued by City Engineer Fred E. Gartzke for construction of the station.

Lot Is Business Zone

The lot, measuring 150 by 60 feet, is shown as an isolated business zone on the 1936 zoning map, the first one in existence here. The lots surrounding the proposed station site are all shown as class A residential districts, with the exception of the school grounds.

A greenhouse and grocery store, both across the street from the lot in question, are on lots shown on city zoning maps as class A residential.

The Iowa City independent school district board was consulted at the time the board of adjustment was considering the service station permit last month, but the records of Atty. Charles Barker, school board secretary, show that the board took no action either approving or opposing the matter of the service station.

150 To Attend District Meeting Of Rotary Club

Approximately 150 Rotarians from the 193d district, which includes the area from Clinton to Carroll, south to the Missouri border, will meet Thursday at 10 a.m. in the Iowa Memorial Union.

The district assembly is meeting to induct newly elected presidents and secretaries for the 48 clubs in this Rotary district.

Allin W. Dakin, SUI administrative dean, and district governor of Rotary, will preside at the sessions.

The regular weekly meeting of the Iowa City Rotary club will be held at noon in the main lounge of the Union.

Marion Wallace, Des Moines, past president of the Des Moines club, and presently district chairman of the golden anniversary committee, will tell the noon meeting of plans for observance of Rotary International's 50th anniversary in Chicago in 1955.

The Rotary club was founded in Chicago in 1905 by Paul P. Harris, an alumnus of the SUI college of law. The club plans completion of a new national headquarters in Chicago in time for the anniversary celebration.

City Hall, Voting Machines To Be Discussed by Voters

The bond issue for the proposed $330,000 city hall and a plan to purchase voting machines will be discussed at an open meeting sponsored by the Council-Manager association at 8 p.m., Thursday, May 20, in the Community building lounge.

Both proposals, which come before the city electorate in the June 7 primary election, will be discussed by Mayor Leroy S. Mercer, City Manager Peter F. Roan and a panel of five.

Members of the five-man panel are: Prof. Allen C. Tester, of the geology department and chairman of the city planning and zoning commission; William L. Kanak, assistant county auditor; Prof. Norman Meier, of the psychology department and chairman of the special committee to study voting procedures in Iowa City; Mercer and Roan.

Roy Ewers, chairman of the Council-Manager association will preside at the meeting and serve as moderator of the panel discussion. The bond issue was placed on the ballot by the city council following a study of existing municipal facilities. The voting machine issue will go on a special ballot at the request of the county board of supervisors following a study of voting in Iowa City by Meier. The study was provoked by the 1952 election, during which one city precinct did not report its vote until 26 hours after the polls closed.

All eligible voters in the county can vote on the voting machine issue.

Travelogue Set Sunday By Iowa Mountaineers

The travelogue proceeds through the land of a thousand valleys, from the regions of glaciers to subtropical valleys. The travelogue ends with a display of scenery and summer skiing in the Alps.

Lendi was born and educated in Switzerland. His film presentations and unique interpretation of his native land and its people are widely known throughout Canada and the United States.
