The Weather

Partly cloudy Wednesday, with a possibility of widely scattered thundershowers. Warm and humid over most of the state, with a high of 85 to 90. Considerable cloudiness and milder weather predicted for Thursday.

City Council Approves Daylight Savings Time

The Iowa City council Tuesday night passed a resolution which will put Iowa City on daylight savings time beginning at 2 a.m. Sunday. Clocks will be set back an hour during the summer months, and the city will remain off central standard time until Sept. 19.

All councilmen voted in favor of the measure with the exception of Ansel Chapman, who abstained.

The council meeting followed a public hearing on the question of whether daylight savings should be instituted here. Approximately 12 persons were present at the hearing.

Previous Meeting

The council previously met to discuss the issue Saturday afternoon, but decided to delay action until Tuesday night so that, as Mayor LeRoy S. Mercer, put it, "All interested parties would have a chance to be heard."

At Tuesday's meeting 2,300 names petitioning for the time change were submitted, and 104 opposed were presented to the council.

Carl Chadek, 515 3d ave. was the only citizen to speak against the measure at the hearing. Chadek said he felt that Iowa City, as a small community depending on the trade of farmers and people of surrounding small towns, should not go along with the larger cities in instituting savings time. He also said, "I don't feel much of the laboring class is in favor of it."

Robert A. Yetter Jr., 1612 E. Court st., speaking in favor of daylight saving time, said that people who must do inside work would appreciate the extra hour of daylight the system would provide. Pointing out that Cedar Rapids and other eastern Iowa cities will be on saving time this summer, he said, "We should be progressive and go along with it."

Others Speak

Several other citizens spoke briefly in favor of the change. The public hearing and council meeting combined took only 10 minutes.

Before the vote was taken, Mayor LeRoy S. Mercer consulted City Atty. Edward W. Lucas as to what effect daylight saving time would have on the closing hours of local taverns. Lucas said he felt sure the taverns would follow along with the time change.

Mercer expressed satisfaction with the council's action. "The hearing gave everyone a chance to be heard before the decision was made," he said.

OPINIONS

The action of the city council in adopting daylight savings time for Iowa City was in accord with what appeared to be the weight of public opinion here, council members told The Daily Iowan Tuesday night.

Mayor LeRoy S. Mercer said "The majority seemed to be in favor of it, both here and in rural areas. We thought we ought to abide by the majority and have daylight savings time here, too."

Iowa City will be the 23d city in southeastern Iowa to adopt the change.

Other Cities

The other 22 cities which have either already undertaken the change or are scheduled to are: Dubuque, Manchester, Center Point, Central City, Vinton, Alburnett, Shellsburg, Palo, Marion, Atkins, Cedar Rapids, Norway, Ely, Mt. Vernon, Clinton, Davenport and Muscatine. Sherrill, near Dubuque, Comanche, near Clinton, and Bettendorf, Panorama City and Cameron, all located near Davenport, are to go on daylight savings time.

It appears to be the trend for smaller communities to follow suit when large nearby cities adopt the time change.

Clarence Parizek reflected the views of the majority of the council when asked why the change was passed. "The majority of the people seem to favor it," Parizek said.

Daykin Votes Yes

Councilman Walter Daykin, professor of industrial management at SUI, who has previously expressed personal disinterest in the proposal, voted for it because "the bulk of the petitioners seemed to be for it."

Ansel Chapman, who alone abstained from voting on the issue, declined to comment on the change except to say, "The people favor it, and the council has passed it."

Councilman Robert Stevenson said that both "the petitions and opinion gathered in conversations with local people seem to favor it (daylight savings time). I think there will be less confusion with neighboring cities that have adopted daylight savings time."

Yetter, who obtained most of the signatures of those favoring daylight savings time, said he was "very pleased" with the council's action and "feels Iowa City will benefit from it."

Hospitals Affected

Prof. Gerhard Hartman, superintendent of University hospitals, said "We'll try to adjust to it. The situation will be somewhat scrambled. Since many of our patients are from cities on the regular time it will require a fair amount of adjustment. But it is a minor problem."

J. A. Hurson, assistant manager of Veterans hospital, said "We'll adjust our work schedules accordingly."

Mercy hospital authorities could not be reached for comment.

Air Academy Site Proposal Contested

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (AP)—An air force engineering team Tuesday stepped right into the middle of a heated small town community row dividing those who want the new West Point of the Air academy established here and those who do not.

The engineers—military and civilian—are an advance guard sent out by Air Secretary Harold Talbott, who will make the final choice from three possible sites—Lake Geneva, Alton, Ill., and Colorado Springs, Colo. They will make a survey to help Talbott who probably will make a personal inspection of the sites later.

The Linn property owners, headed by Curtis McKay and M. L. Bengsten, take the position that setting aside 9,000 acres for an academy site would affect 42 farms and 220 other pieces of property, thus shifting the tax burden to the rest of the property-holders. They've threatened to go to court and fight condemnation if necessary.

But the local chamber of commerce directors have voted 9-2 in favor of having the school located here. Edward A. McCullough, co-chairman of the board, said he thinks the opposition comes mainly from wealthy Chicagoans who own lake homes in Linn. He said Lake Geneva business men would be more outspoken in support of the proposal except for fear of a "business boycott" by Chicago summer residents.

TRIP CONTINUES

CHICAGO (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia left Chicago Tuesday night after a whirlwind one-day visit. Flying to St. Paul, Selassie plans to continue his inspection of "the American way of life."

U.S. Ruining Peace Talks Says Molotov

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov Tuesday accused the U.S. of scheming to undermine the Geneva conference and extend the war in Indochina. He said such a scheme might have "dangerous consequences."

Molotov made his charge after jolting the nine-country conference by demanding that it begin discussions immediately on a political settlement in Indochina without waiting for a cease-fire.

Molotov, delivering the longest speech of the longest session of the six-weeks-old conference, ignored French demands that hostilities cease in Indochina before a political settlement is discussed.

Discourages Western Delegates

The Russian stand discouraged Western delegates, who thought a ceasefire got first place when an agenda was adopted three weeks ago. A U.S. spokesman said that on the Communist side, the five-hour session this afternoon "seemed to be purely destructive."

This spokesman added that Molotov and Vietminh Vice Premier Pham Van Dong evidently planned their maneuver "as an exercise intended to have an unfavorable impact on French opinion and on the French parliamentary situation." The French parliament today began a crucial debate on Premier Joseph Laniel's Indochina policies.

British Spokesman Comments

A British spokesman said Molotov's speech contained "nothing new or helpful."

Although at some points there was a sheen of optimism to Molotov's speech, he did not deviate from the previous Soviet position. He insisted that Poland and Czechoslovakia serve on any neutral nations supervisory commission. He demanded that the Indochina kingdoms of Laos and Cambodia be lumped with Vietnam in a settlement.

French Planes Hit 2 Vietminh Bases

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — French warplanes burned and blasted two Vietminh guerrilla bases only seven miles east of Hanoi Tuesday. Then French Union tanks and infantry, rooting through the smoking ruins, killed about 110 rebels who had survived the bombardment.

The blow demolished two clay and thatch villages near Senho which the Vietminh had been using as springboards for raids on the nearby railway and highway between this French headquarters city and the port of Haiphong, where American war supplies are received.

About 1,000 guerrillas had been based in the villages.

B26 bombers, Corsairs and Privateers teamed up in the air strikes.

They dropped half-ton high explosive bombs and more than 50 tons of delayed action explosives to catch any slow-footed rebels. The French high command said the bombs smashed the fortifications "100 per cent."

The attack was part of an operation by French planes, tanks and infantry to smash all rebel bases near Hanoi. With those immediately south and east eliminated, the French are now hitting to the north and west.

Five Vietnamese militia posts beat off rebel assaults along the Red river 25 miles northwest of Hanoi.

Geneva Talks Near Showdown: Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said Tuesday the Geneva conference is nearing the showdown stage on peace talks for Korea and Indochina.

He told his news conference the Reds are "dragging their feet on peace" at the conference while at the same time stepping up the war against hardpressed French Union armies in Indochina.

"The fact is a commentary upon the general attitude of the Communists," he said.

Some of his news conference comments later were released for direct quotation.

Dulles said his plan for united action by Free World nations to block further Red aggression in southeast Asia "is still a practical one," but he said it is possible a time may come when it is outdated by later developments.

Welch Predicts No Triumph For Either Side In Hearings

(AP Wirephoto)

McCarthy, Symington Clash Again

WASHINGTON (AP)— The McCarthy-army hearings Tuesday began moving fast toward an early windup—with the army camp's chief counsel predicting neither side will score a clear cut victory.

But the feud between Senators Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.) and Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) rose to a new peak of bitterness.

Symington told McCarthy he ought to consult a psychiatrist, and the Wisconsin senator offered to put his whole career under public scrutiny if Symington will testify under oath about his role in the present row.

Speedup Moves Launched

Speedup moves were launched in televised sessions and in a closed meeting as the inquiry neared the end of its seventh week. The record of the closed session, made public later, showed Joseph N. Welch, counsel for the army officials, told the senate investigations subcommittee:

"Neither side is bound to have a 100 per cent clear cut victory."

Roy M. Cohn, McCarthy's chief counsel, was on the stand throughout the day.

He repeated under oath a charge that Secretary of the Army Robert Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams tried to switch a McCarthy investigation from the army to the navy and air force.

Denies Welch's Suggestions

But he denied Welch's suggestions that he really was saying the army officials tried to "rat on" and "turn traitor" to the other services—and that Stevens offered to become "the prize informer of all time."

McCarthy jumped into that exchange, saying ironically he was taking on the job of "defense attorney for Mr. Stevens."

The Wisconsin senator asked Cohn if Stevens and Adams offered to do more than any loyal citizens would do—that is, "give us information about wrongdoing" in the air force and navy.

"Absolutely not, sir," Cohn replied.

Target Date To Be Set

Acting Chairman Karl Mundt (R-S.D.) called on both sides in the dispute to submit by Thursday the names of any additional witnesses they want called. Then, Mundt said, a target date will be set for ending the inquiry. He predicted it will end next week.

The Republicans turned down, 4 to 3, a Democratic drive in the closed session to subpoena Clark Clifford, one-time aide to President Harry S. Truman. Mundt said, however, Clifford may be called later.

Clifford's name popped up in the inquiry last Friday. A monitored telephone call disclosed that Symington proposed Clifford, now in private law practice, as a possible adviser to Stevens in the army secretary's clash with McCarthy last February.

Says Democrats Behind Row

McCarthy pictured the Democrats, Clifford and Symington, as the real instigators of the row between himself and the Pentagon over the G. David Schine affair.

In discussing the outlook for ending the hearings, Welch said he thought his cross-examination of Roy Cohn was bound to be finished in two days or less.

As for McCarthy, Welch said he believed his direct and cross examination of the senator would not require more than two days and the questioning of Francis P. Carr, the subcommittee's staff director, would take only a day.

McCarthy said he hoped the subcommittee would not limit the number of witnesses to be called, although he said he would go along with whatever the subcommittee did.

"I think it is imperative that Symington take the stand," McCarthy said. "He has advised on the record the Republicans should do that. It now appears that he played a much bigger part than the Republicans did in this."

House Committee Rebuffs Ike's Plan For Farm Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The house agriculture committee Tuesday rebuffed President Eisenhower's proposal for flexible farm price supports and voted over-whelmingly to continue the present system of rigid high-level supports through 1955.

The committee's 21-8 vote was a blow to both Eisenhower and his secretary of agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson, who has campaigned vigorously for a flexible system which would permit the administration to raise federal price props to farmers in time of shortage and lower them in times of abundance.

Must Support Crops

At present, the government is obliged by law to support basic farm crops such as cotton, wheat, corn tobacco and peanuts at 90 per cent of parity.

Parity is a price formula designed to give farmers a fair return on their products in relation to the prices of things they buy—such as tractors, clothes and other manufactured goods.

Blames High Supports

Secretary Benson, blaming high-level supports for the huge surplus stocks of government-owned butter, wheat and other commodities bulging the nation's warehouses, has said he will recommend a presidential veto if congress votes to extend the war-born rigid supports.

Across the Capitol, a gathering storm over the price-support issue was reflected as Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich), chairman of the senate Republican policy committee, drew support from Sen. Spressard L. Holland (D-Fla) in a speech attacking high-level supports.

Hoegh's Victory Blocks Liquor Law Changes

DES MOINES (AP) — The strongest push in a decade to legalize the sale of liquor by the drink in Iowa was abruptly sidetracked by the outcome of Monday's primary election.

Atty. Gen. Leo A. Hoegh's easy victory in a six-man highlight campaign for the Republican nomination for governor blocked the drive. He had stoutly opposed the movement and won the endorsement of temperance groups.

His Democratic opponent in the November general election will be Polk County Attorney Clyde E. Herring of Des Moines. Herring, 38, and Hoegh, 46, have worked closely on liquor law enforcement here as part of the attorney general's continuing insistence upon strict and uniform compliance.

Issue Last 10 Years

In almost every session of the legislature in the last 10 years there has been a liquor by the drink bill. But they never have come close to enactment.

A. B. Chambers, former Des Moines mayor who forced the issue in the primary campaign, ran fourth in the field of six. Hoegh kept the nomination from being deferred to the GOP state convention by getting 39 per cent of the vote.

Had none of the candidates obtained 35 per cent, the convention would have decided on the nominee.

Complete Results

The complete Republican gubernatorship tabulation gave Hoegh 99,768 votes, W. H. Nicholas 48,151, Ernest Palmer 37,894, Chambers 34,000, William S. Lynes 27,956, and Benjamin Ellsworth 9,048.

Republicans, who dominate Iowa politics, and Democrats also selected nominees for U.S. senator, congress, and a full slate of state and legislative offices. In most cases, however, there was only one candidate for each nomination.

Sen. Guy M. Gillette, seeking Democratic re-election, and Rep. Thomas E. Martin, as the Republican nominee, who will challenge Gillette in November, had no opposition in the primary. The other seven incumbent Republican congressmen were renominated.

Vote Below Expectations

The total vote didn't reach the expectations of party leaders. Final tabulations put it at about 250,000 Republican and 50,000 Democratic ballots. The estimates had ranged up from 275,000 for the GOP and 65,000 for the Democrats.

The Republican nomination for governor was the only contest which drew statewide interest. But State Treasurer M. L. Abrahamson led the GOP ticket in his successful bid for renomination. His vote was about 140,000 to around 100,000 for Hoegh.

In another contest, Commerce Commissioner John M. Ropes, Des Moines won and Commissioner David B. Long, Des Moines, lost in their bids for Republican renomination to their posts. John A. Tallman, Clarion, joined Ropes as a winner.

The third case of close competition ended with Rep. Fred Schwengel, Davenport, as the GOP nominee to succeed Martin in the first congressional district. He edged out Sen. Herman B. Lord, Muscatine.

County Vote Down Despite Contests, 2 Bond Questions

Even though there were five contests and two special propositions on Johnson county ballots in Monday's primary election, 154 fewer votes were cast in the county this year than in 1952 when there were no county contests and no special issues on the ballot.

Complete but unofficial returns from the county show that 5,002 residents cast primary ballots Monday compared with 5,156 two years ago.

Unofficial returns also show that Republican voting was down 592 ballots this year while the number of Democrats voting increased 438 over 1952.

A total of 2,588 Republican and 2,414 Democratic ballots in the county this year, compared with the 1952 total of 3,180 and 1,976 Democratic votes.

5 Primary Races

The five races for the Republican nomination for county attorney and for Democratic nominations for county attorney, sheriff, member of the board of supervisors and constable—provided the most primary contests in the county for at least 10 years.

A total of nine candidates on the two ballots were unopposed in their bids for county nominations.

Another contest, for the Republican nomination for state representative from the 41st district (Johnson county), saw G. M. Ludwig, Tiffin, the incumbent, defeat John Wilson, Iowa City sporting goods dealer, 1,384 votes to 1,271.

Ludwig vs. Swisher

Ludwig will be opposed in November by Scott Swisher, Iowa City attorney, who received 1,778 votes in his unchallenged bid for the Democratic nomination.

In the November election the only contests for Johnson county offices will be for sheriff and county attorney. Eleven other candidates will be unopposed.

On the basis of Monday's results, William M. Tucker, Republican, will oppose Emil G. Trott, Democrat, for county attorney. Sheriff Albert J. Murphy, seeking re-election, will be

Northwestern Bans Social Fraternity

Northwestern university has banned Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity for rule violations brought to light in the investigation of a coed's death, the Associated Press said Tuesday.

James C. McLoed, dean of students, said the suspension is for an indefinite period and the only way the fraternity can return is by petition through its national headquarters.

McLoed presided at a meeting of the university discipline committee Monday at which the ban was invoked. The committee said the suspension was because the chapter held a social function while on probation, during the weekend preceding examinations, and had failed to register the function or have chaperones approved.

Sally Stevenson, 20, Kenilworth, Ill., was killed in an automobile mishap while riding home from the party May 28 with a fraternity member, Robert Dalrymple, 20, Manhasset, N.Y., who was injured.

The chapter had been on scholastic probation.

Conservatives Join Socialists To Oust Yoshida

TOKYO (AP)—A group of Conservatives Tuesday joined Socialists in demanding the resignation of Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida as an aftermath of last week's riot in the diet. Despite the storm, Yoshida pressed for a vote in the diet today on a motion of censure against 46 Socialists he believes responsible for last Thursday's unprecedented violence. The storm broke over Yoshida's bill to restore the national police of wartime Japan, a measure the Socialists denounced as fascistic. The measure finally passed Monday.

Record Ground Speed Set in Test

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — Lt. Col. John P. Stapp recently rode a rocket propelled sled at a speed of 421 miles per hour, faster than any human has traveled on the ground. The air force announced the achievement Tuesday after weeks of checking instruments on the specially built equipment at Holloman air force base here. The ride last March 19 was the first of a series in which it is hoped to determine the effect upon fliers of bailing out at high altitudes and supersonic speeds. The fastest previous human ride on the ground was 403.135 m.p.h. set by John Cobb Sept. 16, 1947, in a racing car at Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah.

Alternative in Indochina

A major factor in the defense of any nation is that the inhabitants of the threatened country unite in an all-out effort to defend their homeland.

This factor has had a very damaging effect in the defense of Indochina against Communist aggression.

The Vietnamese National army have shown they have little desire to support the French forces in their country since they contend they are facing an alternative of Communism or French colonialism, neither of which appeals to them.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles recently summed it up when he stated, "If the Indochinese are to be saved they must have a desire to be saved, and be willing to fight for their country."

Furthering this point Gen. Mathew B. Ridgeway, Army Chief of Staff said, "There is simply no sense in fighting for people who will not fight for themselves as long as the only alternative to Communism they see is a continuation of French rules."

In Paris, Pierre Mendes-France, a lone wolf in French politics, continued to say that France must put her own economic and social house in order before attempting to maintain colonies and defend them throughout the world.

Otherwise, Mendes-France, pointed out, France will be menaced with bankruptcy and social chaos at home.

France must realize that she is defending a nation that does not actually care if it is defended from the Communists. When the Indochinese weigh the alternatives they must see very little for the future no matter who emerges victorious.

This element of national support is of vital importance if Indochina and the remainder of southeast Asia are to be saved from Communism.

France must further realize that she is fighting a losing battle and with Ho Chi Minh massing his troops for an all-out June offensive against the Red River Delta and then Hanoi and Haiphong, the outcome grows darker.

If the talks in Geneva continue to be bogged down then France must face the strong threat of defeat and withdrawal from Indochina.

At present military intervention by the rest of the free world is merely a possibility.

If however, the French offer complete independence to the Associated States of Indochina, pending victory, they will have armed themselves with a powerful weapon—a national incentive for the Indochinese to defend themselves.

The shaky government of French Premier Joseph Laniel should certainly consider this alternative.

For if Geneva fails and the free world does not intervene, then France must face the other alternative—defeat.

4 Scholarships Established For SUI College of Medicine

Four new scholarships have been in SUI's college of medicine for students who show the most promise of becoming outstanding doctors and citizens.

Prof. Norman B. Nelson, dean of the college of medicine said the scholarships, the first of their kind at the institution, will be financed by the Fisher foundation of Marshalltown.

Nelson said that J. W. Fisher, chairman of the foundation and president of the Fisher Governor co., in Marshalltown," shares the belief of many today that physicians should stand among the leaders in citizenship and human relations."

Describes Qualifications

In setting up the scholarships, Fisher said: "The candidates . . . should be chosen not only on the basis of their scholastic standing but on personality and citizenship as well. It is our opinion that financial need should be considered, but only after character, promise and scholarship have been determined.

"It is our hope that these scholarships in the college of medicine will become a prize, and respected as such."

Comments on Scholarship

Commenting upon the establishment of the scholarships, Dean Nelson says:

"One of the most inspiring figures in our society is the doctor whose service to mankind goes even beyond that of saving lives and easing pain. There is genuine greatness, in the highest sense of the word, in the competent physician who stands as a public servant, as a civic leader an das a force to improve man's relationship to man."

The Fisher scholarships will be awarded, he says, to four students each year who, in the opinion of the college of medicine's scholarship committee, show the most promise of becoming such doctors.

The scholarships will cover costs of tuition and books up to $321 for each student. Identities of this year's winners will be announced Thursday evening during medical convocation ceremonies at the university.

County Trial Jurors Get 6 Day Respite After Case Settled

A six-day respite for Johnson county trial jurors followed an out-of-court settlement of a case involving an automobile accident on a Newport township country road in August, 1952.

The case of Malan Scharf against the John Stevens Trucking Company, Inc., 123 W. Harrison st., and Arthur Zimmerman, 1628 Wilson st., was to be heard by the jurors at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

The presiding judge of the district court, Harold D. Evans, postponed the jurors' call, however, until 10 a.m. Monday after the Scharf case was settled.

Another civil case scheduled for trial Monday is that of Hazel Perry versus Richard and John Mathias.

Two criminal cases, involving charges against Calvin C. Wade, Coralville, and Roy E. O'Leary, Route No. 1, of driving while intoxicated, will follow.

Another case, involving a petition for a judicial review of actions leading to the Solon school reorganization election May 24, has been continued to a date not yet assigned.

Scharf had asked a judgment of $4500 and the defendant had filed a counter-claim for $177.50.

Election Night Crowd Gathers in Courthouse

By DRAKE MABRY

There is more to this election process than the simple procedure of marking your ballot on election day and reading about the victors in the paper the next morning.

Much of the behind the scene work is carried on in the county auditor's office. Throughout the state, election returns from the county and city were pouring into county courthouses. The office of Johnson county auditor Ed Sulek was no exception Monday night.

Returns Posted

A huge blackboard used to post the latest election returns from Johnson county was the center of attention. As soon as the results were received from any of the 33 precincts in the county, a crowd gathered around the board and accompanied the posted results with "look what Trott did out in Big Grove," or in later stages, "guess it will be Hoegh against Herring in November."

All available telephones were kept busy as newsmen reported the latest figures to newspapers and radio stations in Iowa City, Cedar Rapids, and Des Moines. These figures were in turn compiled and then relayed to the people so they could follow their favorite candidate.

Election officials and candidates for office made a continuous stream through the auditor's office and spilled out into the hallway.

Coffee, Cokes Consumed

Numerous runs were made to near-by restaurants for coffee. Frequent requests for nickels to feed the coke machine in the basement were overheard.

But standing out of this background of hurried activity was the interest in the election resuls.

The race between Atty. eGn. Leo Hoegh and the five other candidates for the Republican gubernatorial slot shared the primary interest with the new city hall and voting machine issues.

Hoegh Gets Early Lead

As early as 11 p.m. it was evident that Hoegh was going to win the race for Republican nominee for governor. The only question remaining was that of polling 35 per cent of the total vote cast. As the tabulation neared completion his total passed 39 per cent.

Early trends in the voting also indicated that voters would defeat the $330,000 bond issue for a new city hall and the $80,000 bond issue for voting machines.

Only the residents of Iowa City voted on the city hall issue, while the voting machine vote was county wide.

County Attorney Race

Both the Democratic and Republican race for Johnson county attorney received considerable attention. The GOP race was close down to the wire with Bill Tucker beating Shirley Porter by an unofficial 96 votes. City precincts gave Tucker the deciding margin. He had a scant one vote margin over Porter in the county precincts.

The total vote cast in Monday's primary was close to the average of past primary elections, but William L. Kanak, assistant county auditor, said he expected the turnout to be about three times as large for the coming general elections in November.

And so it was with the 1954 primary elections in Johnson county. After the election smoke had cleared in Sulek's office, the results had all been posted on the board, and everybody had gone home except the election workers, newsmen tying up loose ends, and the usual diehards who stay until the bitter end, Sulek commented, "Well, it's all over until November, boys!"

Illegal Dumping Charge Dismissed by Trott

Charles Alberhasky, 1030 E. Jefferson st., was dismissed on a charge of illegal dumping today by Judge Emil G. Trott in Iowa City police court.

Judge Trott has said at a June 1 hearing that the charge would be dropped if the refuse was covered within seven days.

Robert Petrehn, 34, Clinton, pleaded guilty when arraigned on a grand jury indictment of larceny in Johnson county district court Tuesday.

Judge Harold D. Evans continued sentencing indefinitely when Petrehn appeared before him, and confirmed his request for voluntary treatment at the mental health institute in Mt. Pleasant.

The theft of various articles, including a wrist watch, radio, record player and typewriter from the apartment of Lee Stokely, 215 N. Dubuque st., on April 6, were involved in the charge against Petrehn.

Petrehn was arrested the day of the theft, but has been free on $1,000 bond. The grand jury indictment was returned May 19.

Petrehn's lawyer, Atty. Edward L. O'Connor, and Asst. County Atty. William M. Tucker repeated Petrehn's request. They said they believed such a course would best serve the interests of justice.

Reds Fail To Win Youth to Their Side

BONN, Germany (AP) — U.S. High Commissioner James B. Conant said Tuesday the Communists have failed dismally to win any considerable proportion of the youth of East Germany to their side.

Commenting on the weekend youth rally staged by the Communists in East Berlin, Conant said: "The Communist authorities took extreme precautions to prevent the youth from visiting free Berlin."

He added that "some thousands of East German youth did slip past the Communist police" and were warmly received by the youth of free Berlin.

Bob Rossie Beats Pete Washington In 6-Round Bout

Bob Rossie

Bob Rossie, Iowa student working on his master's degree in physical education, won a six-round unanimous decision over previously undefeated Pete Washington Tuesday night at LaCrosse, Wis.

Washington, who fights out of Chicago, was unbeaten in 20 professional fights before Tuesday night.

Both fighters weighed in at 154.

Rossie's record now stands at 24 wins, 5 losses and 2 draws.

Tuesday night's bout with Washington was Rossie's second since his attempt at a comeback started May 11.

2 Punches—1 Win

He began his comeback literally with a bang as he kayoed Ralph Alverez in St. Paul in 30 seconds of the first round. It took only two punches for the Iowa City boxer to rack up his 24th win.

Rossie began fighting professionally in 1948 after winning the Cedar Rapids Golden Gloves welterweight title twice—once in 1946 and again in 1948.

AAU Champ

Those same years he won the Iowa AAU championship in the same class and was runnerup in the national AAU competition held in Boston in 1948.

After his 1946 fight successes he entered the army serving as an athletic instructor until his discharge in 1947.

After his graduation in 1948, Rossie turned professional and had 30 fights between then and 1951.

One of his five losses during this period was to Chuck Davey on a TKO because of a cut eye.

In 1949, he won the Iowa middleweight crown.

CUB SECOND BASEMAN EDDIE MIKSIS flips the ball to first base to complete a double play in the first inning of a game with the Philadelphia Phils Tuesday. Miksis took the throw from third baseman Randy Jackson, who fielded a grounder from the bat of Del Ennis of the Phils. Earl Torgeson is shown being forced at second on the play. The Cubs won the game, 6-5.

Sauer Blasts 19th Home Run; Kiner 9th, 10th as Cubs Win

CHICAGO (AP)— Ralph Kiner smashed two home runs and Hank Sauer hit his 19th Tuesday as the bombarding Chicago Cubs defeated Robin Roberts and and the Philadelphia Phils, 6-5, to break a four-game losing streak.

Sauer temporarily led the National league in homers Tuesday until Stan Musial of the Cards belted his 20th Tuesday night.

Hammering Hank brought cheers from 6,777 Wright field fans in the first inning with a blast into the left field bleachers that scored Dee Fondy and Kiner ahead of him. Both had singled off Roberts, who went down for his sixth loss against seven victories.

Kiner teed off against Roberts for his No. 9 homer in the third to give the Cubs a 4-0 lead in support of Howie Pollet, 33-year-old lefty, who notched his third triumph although needing help from Hal Jeffcoat.

Kiner parked his other homer over the left field bleachers in the seventh against Karl Drews.

The Cubs now have totaled 69 home runs in 47 games for a pace that could break the New York Giants' all-time major league record of 221 in a season in 1947.

Goyamo To Miss Belmont Stakes

NEW YORK(AP)—Goyamo was withdrawn Tuesday from the $100,000 Belmont Stakes and injuries and uncertainties affecting other top colts may produce the largest field in 18 years for the 86th running of the famous classic Saturday at Belmont Park.

Trainer Woody Stevens of the Woodvale Farm said Goyamo, who won the Blue Grass Stakes and then finished fourth in both the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, would skip the mile and one half Belmont "test of the champion."

"Goyamo is not lame, but is not quite at his best," Stephens declared.

Sox Win, Take Over 1st Place

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Chicago White Sox took over first place in the American league as they poured five runs across the plate in the seventh inning to whip the Philadelphia Athletics 9-3 Tuesday night. A two-run double by Ferris Fain and a homer by George Kell—good for two more—highlighted the big inning.

Bob Trice and the Athletics made a ball game of it through the first six innings, despite a flurry of errors.

In the all-decisive seventh, Johnny Groth singled, Chico Carrasquel doubled and Nellie Fox walked to load the bases. Minnie Minoso's sacrifice fly scored Carrasquel and Fox, and Kell's homer sent Fain home ahead.

The Sox picked up two runs in the first as Kell singled. Third baseman Jim Finigan threw high to first base and Don Bollweg's attempted cut off at the plate went into the stands. Both Minoso and Fain scored on the error.

Veteran Virgil Trucks allowed only four hits in getting his eighth win against three losses. It was Trice's fourth defeat against six victories. Morris Martin hurled the last two innings for the losers.

Senators Drop Indians to 2d; McDermott Gives Only 2 Hits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maury McDermott elbowed the Cleveland Indians out of first place in the American league Tuesday night, pitching Washington to a 5-2 victory with a two-hitter, enabling Chicago to take over the lead. Eddie Yost slammed a three-run homer for the Senators against loser Early Wynn in the sixth inning.

Al Smith obtained the only hits off McDermott, who posted his fifth win. He broke up McDermott's bid for a no-hitter by singling with two down in the sixth inning and singled again to open the ninth, when the Indians scored their runs.

McDermott filled the bases in the ninth, after Smith singled, walking Sam Dente and Larry Doby. Smith scored when Rudy Regalado grounded out and Dente came across on Dave Philley's grounder. McDermott fanned Vic Wertz for the final out.

The Indians were playing without the services of their offensive stars, Al Rosen and Bobby Avila. Rosen has a broken finger and Avila a chipped thumb.

Hoeft Blanks Yankees, 8-0

NEW YORK (AP) — A scratch single by Irv Noren broke up Billy Hoeft's no hitter but the 22-year-old Detroit lefthander went on to become the first southpaw to shut out the New York Yankees twice this season as the Tigers won 8-0. An eighth inning double by Gerry Coleman was the only other Yankee hit.

On the second pitch of the seventh inning Noren slashed a grounder up the middle. Shortstop Harvey Kuenn jumped to his left and got his glove on the ball but it caromed off and dribbled into center field.

Giants Upend Braves, Only 1 Game Behind

MILWAUKEE(AP)—Monte Irvin doubled in two runs in the ninth inning Tuesday night to wipe out Joe Adcock's bases-loaded homer in the first and gave New York a 6-5 victory over Milwaukee which cut Brooklyn's National league lead over the Giants to one full game.

Irvin's line drive to deep left-centerfield scored Al Dark, on with his fourth hit, and Hank Thompson who had walked, to break up the ball game and wreck and 7 1-3 inning relief job by Dave Jolly. The young fireman, who inherited a 4-3 lead from starter Chet Nichols in the second, struck out eight men in the final four innings.

Baltimore Snaps Red Sox Streak

BOSTON (AP)—Gil Coan's two-run double in the eighth inning and a pair of security runs in the ninth gave Baltimore a 7-4 victory over Boston Tuesday night and snapped a four-game Red Sox winning streak.

Coan's smash down the left field line came off loser Hector (Skinny) Brown who came on in relief to start the inning and scored Bob Kennedy who had singled and Jim Fridley who had walked.

Mike Blyzka, who relieved starter Bob Chakales in the seventh, was credited with his first victory of the season.

Baltimore's two' ninth inning tallies came when Billy Hunter scored on Grady Hatton's error and Eddie Waitkus came home on Jim Fridley's double.

Cards End Dodgers' Streak; Musial Adds Another Homer

ST. LOUIS(AP)—Stan Musial, leading the major leagues in homers and runs batted in, drove in four more tallies Tuesday night with his 20th home run and a triple as the St. Louis Cardinals drubbed the Brooklyn Dodgers, 10-3, breaking their own three-game losing streak and the National league champion's string of 10 consecutive victories.

Musial, whose RBI's now total 66, had considerable company as St. Louis, hitting safely in every inning, pounded out 16 blows off Carl Erskine and his replacements, Ben Wade and Ery Palica.

While Erskine went down to his fifth defeat against six victories, a crowd of 22,294 saw the Dodgers, fumbling in contrast to a sharp Redbird defense, outscored heavily even though they finished with 11 blows, which included Gil Hodges' 14th homer and a double, plus three singles by Carl Furillo.

Tom Poholsky, gaining credit for his second triumph against three setbacks, pitched until the seventh inning when, saved only by brilliant defensive play, he was forced out by a blister on his throwing hand. Stu Miller pitched one-hit ball the rest of the way.

WHITNEY MARTIN'S

Sports Trail

NEW YORK(AP)—Jimmy Dykes isn't a fellow to do things by halves. He never could recite half a league, half a league, half a league onward. If they couldn't make it a league he wanted no part of it.

Consequently it was no great surprise to learn he was thumbed out of both ends of the doubleheader his Orioles split with the Yankees Sunday, although it probably was a disappointment to him. That only tied the record. He's waiting for a triple-header so he can take three showers in one day.

Neither was it a surprise that the umpire who gave him the thumb in each game was Ed Hurley, the same man who ousted him on the only other occasion this year Jimmy was thrown out.

Feuding for 2 Years

Hurley and Dykes have been greeting each other with frosty glares for going on two years now, or since that late September day in 1952 when Jimmy, then master-minding for the Philadelphia Athletics, accused the umpire of choking up in the clutch and of being a Yankee lover, just to mention a couple of the more dignified charges.

The A's lost that game, 1 to 0, and Dykes blamed the defeat on Hurley's third-string call on batter Joe Astroth with the bases full. It wasn't a strike, Jimmy protested, causing Hurley not to change his mind in no uncertain terms.

It might be gathered Jimmy is of an even disposition — always mad — but this isn't quite the case. The little round man with the impish expression has a grand sense of humor, although it isn't always appreciated.

Dascoli, Too

It was in Florida, during a game which meant no more than a corner-lot contest, and Jimmy, just to idle away the time, started giving Frank Dascoli a once over lightly.

Now Dascoli is a National league umpire, and a good one, although he has exceedingly sharp ears which are tuned to the wave length of any remarks in a ball park which might be construed as aimed at him with malice.

But an umpire is an umpire to Jimmy, Dascoli just happened to be the one on duty. Jimmy started slowly, and you could see Frank's neck become redder by the minute. Finally the mask came off, and up went the right thumb in the time-honored hitch-hiker's gesture.

We asked Jimmy later just what had brought about the eruption. He gazed at us blandly.

"Why, nothing," he said innocently. "I just called him a blankety-blank-blank. That took care of his education, ancestry and integrity, didn't it?"
