Guatemala Claims Major Win After Battle Near Rail Center

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (P) — The Guatemalan government claimed a victory Monday night in what it said was the first major contact between its armed forces and the anti-Communist invaders who smashed into the country four days ago in an effort to overthrow President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman.

A communique broadcast by the Guatemalan radio said "well-trained regulars armed with modern weapons" met the rebels at Gualan, east of the railway center of Zacapa, about 20 miles inside Guatemala, and quoted military authorities as saying the rebels were driven out of the town after a brief skirmish. The announcements made no mention of casualties.

The communique also said "quite a fight" developed at Puerto Barrios Monday when rebels renewed their efforts to take the Caribbean port.

Radio Tells Gains

The "liberation radio" which is supporting the invaders, meanwhile announced that the rebels held possession of 25 towns in Guatemala.

The Guatemalan announcement of the clash at Gualan followed reports that a major battle was shaping up at Zacapa, 15 miles west of Gualan.

Both Zacapa and Gualan are on the main railroad linking the capital city Guatemala City, with the chief port, Puerto Barrios.

Troops of the leftist government of President Guzman were reported in Associated Press dispatches from Guatemala Monday night to be assembling in the area of Acapa, a city of 8,000 between the capital and the Caribbean port of Puerto Barrios.

Troops Move by Truck

An anti-Communist rebel flier, interviewed at Nueva Ocotepaque, in Honduras near the border, said troops of the "liberation army" were moving by truck toward Chiquimula and Zacapa. He said a main battle may be fought at Zacapa.

The rebels announced Monday their planes also had bombed Coban, a garrison town in central Guatemala, from a base inside the country.

The flier at Nueva Ocotepaque said a five-hour battle was fought Sunday for possession of Esquipulas, a cathedral town five miles from the border, and the invaders began moving on Acapa after that victory.

3 Guatemalans Killed

Three Guatemalan soldiers were killed in the battle, he reported, while the invasion forces suffered no casualties.

There were reports here Monday night that the insurgents had issued an ultimatum to Guatemalan President Arbenz. The reports could not be immediately confirmed and there were no details as to the nature of the ultimatum.

Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, leader of the rebels, Sunday night proclaimed his command the only legal government of Guatemala at present, and called on his countrymen to disavow the Arbenz regime.

He urged foreign countries to refuse to recognize Arbenz's envoys and said he planned to send representatives of his command abroad as soon as details could be worked out.

The "liberation army" command began issuing decrees describing itself as the legal government.

Rebels Air Threat

The rebels' clandestine radio, moving about to prevent capture, broadcast a threat to bombard Guatemala City from the air for the fourth time since the invasion started Friday.

The first three air strikes on the capital have been relatively light ones carried out by single planes.

The government radio said the capital was calm, with the army and police in full control. Streets were kept cleared under a martial law decree issued by Arbenz Sunday night.

The rebel radio, taking the opposite attack, said the invaders' campaign was going ahead with "magnificent success."

There was still no report of any important ground clashes between the army and the invaders, who are making a three-pronged advance aimed generally at key points on the Pan-American highway through western Guatemala and Guatemala's only rail line, cutting across the country from Puerto Barrios on the Atlantic to San Jose on the Pacific.

Europe Doing Big Business Despite Fear

WASHINGTON (P) — The commerce department reported Monday that Europe's economy kept on improving during the first three months of this year, despite the downturn in this country.

Business abroad has been so good, in fact, the report said, that foreign gold and dollar reserves rose by half a billion dollars in the first quarter.

The department's report on the balance of payments between the United States and the rest of the world eased a fear that has haunted this nation's allies—that if the U. S. caught an economic cold the results in Europe could be pneumonia.

Dependence Caused Fear

This fear arose from the fact that war-blasted Europe has for years been almost totally dependent for its economic health upon the U. S.

Europe began to show signs of economic recovery three years ago after massive injections of U. S. economic aid. But European treasuries and business houses said the whole improvement would be undone overnight if the level of economic activity in this country fell even slightly.

They feared that the result would be a sharp contraction in American demand for European products while European demand for American products could not be contracted, and that Congress, with its attention on domestic affairs, would cut foreign aid sharply.

U. S. Sliding

The U. S. economy has been having the sniffles since last August, a deflation from the all-time peak reached earlier in 1953.

But Europe's economy has not come down with pneumonia, as feared. It has not even caught the U. S. cold.

During January, February and March, foreign nations, mainly the United Kingdom and Western Europe, were able to pay their bills in this country, and had half a billion dollars left over to add to their rise in foreign reserves, bringing them to 23 1/2 billion dollars.

Aid Continues

The chief reason was that the U. S., despite problems at home, has continued a heavy flow of aid abroad, now mostly military instead of economic, but still worth dollars.

Leaving aside exports from this country in the form of military aid items and services under aid programs, U. S. exports in the first quarter of 1954 exceeded imports by 170 million dollars. In the first quarter of last year, U. S. exports exceeded imports by 100 million dollars, only 70 millions less than this year.

FLOOD WATERS WHICH HAVE LEFT at least 300 families in Mason City homeless reach almost to the back door of Mason City's Hoover school, upper left. Heavy rains during the past three weeks have caused floods in 25 north Iowa counties which have inundated about 725,000 acres of crop land, caused millions of dollars of crop damage and forced more than 1,000 Iowa families from their homes.

DES MOINES (P) — Angry arms of water reached across Iowa in all directions Monday night in a series of floods which continued to grow as they rolled downstream.

More than a thousand families were homeless, including 500 at

Complete Truth Hard To Find In McCarthy Hearings: Mundt

WASHINGTON (P) — Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-SD) said Monday the salient points of the McCarthy-army controversy have now emerged "but you could never run down the last possible grain of evidence."

"You could go on with this thing for 20 years and not get the whole truth, the last little kernel and scintilla of evidence," said the chairman of the senate investigating subcommittee.

Mundt talked to reporters after announcing plans to hold a committee meeting today to see how much of an area of agreement exists on what to put in the formal report.

Pre-Meeting Developments

The pre-meeting developments included:

1. Special Counsel Ray Jenkins announced that he is available to help write the committee report, "as long as necessary."
2. Jenkins said he regrets he didn't go farther in his Sunday remark that he would welcome the support of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) if Jenkins should run for the senate in Tennessee. He said he meant to say that he also would welcome the support of Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens. He said he'd know in two weeks whether he will run.
3. Mundt said "my guess" is the committee would turn down the demand of H. Struve Hensel, assistant secretary of defense, that it dismiss charges made against him by McCarthy in the hearings, "with a severe rebuke to McCarthy." Mundt took the stand

Children Parade, Parents Swelter As Summer Starts

Summer made its official entry into Iowa City Monday, even though recent 90 degree temperatures convinced midwesterners that summer arrived several days ago.

The sun was directly over the Tropic of Cancer, the northern boundary of the torrid zone—and the season was officially here at 5:55 p.m.

Many Iowa City residents spent this longest day of the year much in the same manner they did the past weekend—trying to "beat the heat."

Roy Reed, director of Lake McBride state park, states that the numbers of swimmers in the lake increased approximately 150 per cent the last few days. He said there were about 2,000 persons there Sunday.

More than 1,700 people were swimming in the Iowa City municipal pool last Sunday trying to escape the heat rays.

The first day of summer here was also the beginning of summer playground programs in six Iowa City schools. The heat did not impede the parade the children had planned. They dressed in costume and told of their selected vocations.

School playgrounds participating in the summer programs are Creekside, Iowa City Junior high school, Longfellow, Kirkwood, Elm Grove, and Happy Hollow.

2d Semester Marks Ready Wednesday

Second semester grades for students in liberal arts, commerce and the graduate college will be available at room B-4 University hall beginning Wednesday, Harvey J. Croy, registrar for the registrar's office, said Monday.

Grades can be picked up from 8:30 to 12 a.m. and from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

Students in pharmacy, engineering, nursing and dental hygiene can obtain their grades from the dean's office of their respective colleges beginning Wednesday. Grades for students in medicine, dentistry and law are not yet available.

Croy said that grades will be mailed within the next few days to students who left a self-addressed, stamped envelope at the registrar's office.

Continue Work on Quad Cafeteria

Excavation work continues on the south side of Quadrangle, SUI men's dormitory, in connection with remodeling the cafeteria dining room and kitchen. Work on the project started last week and is expected to be completed in time for the 1954 fall semester. The dining facilities will be extended into the space occupied by workmen above.

World News Briefs

A Condensation of Late Developments

Russian A-Gun Arrives in East Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany (P) — The independent Frankfurter Neue Presse reported Monday night that the first Soviet atomic cannon, topping American A-guns in range, calibre and weight, had arrived in Communist East Germany. The newspaper said the Russian cannon weighed 110 tons, had a range of 45 kilometers (27.9 miles), and a greater calibre than the 280-millimeter American cannon, which weighs 85 tons and has a range of 20 miles. The report said the Soviet cannon had been provisionally stationed at a secret site in the Mecklenburg region, bordering the British zone of Germany. The U.S. army has now five battalions in West Germany with a total of 30 atomic cannon which are all stationed west of the Rhine river. U.S. army comment on the newspaper report was not immediately available.

Margaret Chase Smith Wins Maine Primary

PORTLAND, Maine (P) — Sen. Margaret Chase Smith won a smashing victory in the Maine primary Monday night from Robert L. Jones—the man with whom she contends Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) apparently tried to defeat her. The woman senator, who began criticizing McCarthy and his Communist-hunting methods four years ago, built up an unbeatable lead when returns from 368 of Maine's 628 precincts pushed her out front 42,133 to 8,011 for the Republican senatorial nomination. While it was a landslide defeat for Jones, it couldn't be labeled that for the controversial McCarthy. The Wisconsin senator never was a real, concrete issue through the course of the campaign.

United Fund Drive To Go On Despite Poor Local Support

Iowa City will carry on the United Fund drive this year, without the support of the five major health organizations in this area.

This was the decision of the Iowa City Community Chest board of directors Monday, after they had been advised through letters that the five large local health organizations—the Cancer society, Crippled Children's society, Infantile Paralysis foundation, the Johnson County Tuberculosis and Health association, and the Red Cross—were unwilling or unable to participate in a city-wide drive.

Prof. M. C. Boyer, president of the board and an instructor in the SUI engineering college, stated, "We are going ahead with these organizations, operating in a limited capacity, and expanding as the community desires."

Study Made

The decision was the culmination of nearly 20 months of extensive study by the board concerning the advisability of adopting the United Fund plan. A month ago it was brought up before the member organizations of the Community Chest, and the plan was adopted. Subsequent letters to the five health organizations, however, brought only negative replies. Several stated that the idea was in opposition to national policies of fundraising on an individual basis.

The board stated, however, that chapters of these organizations were participating in the United Fund drives in other communities.

The principle behind the United Fund plan, which has been

Life Span Cut By Cigarettes, Study Shows

SAN FRANCISCO (P) — Smoking a pack or more of cigarettes daily cuts life span and doubles death rates from cancer and heart attacks in men 60 to 70, the American Cancer society reported Monday.

Compared with nonsmokers, these heavy cigarette smokers run greater risk not only of lung cancer but other types of cancer as well, it said.

The death rate in the age group from all causes among cigarette smokers is 75 per cent higher than among nonsmokers.

Strictly speaking, the findings apply only to men of this age group. But ACS officials made clear that they feel the findings indicate cigarettes may involve risks also for younger men or for women who smoke.

Results of Mass Study

These are among the first findings from a mass study seeking to learn any effects from smoking on cancer and other diseases.

It involved interviewing 187,766 healthy men, aged 50 to 70 in nine states, and checking death certificates of 4,854 who have since died.

The results were described to the American Medical association by Drs. E. Cuyler Hammond and Dan E. Horn, director and assistant director, statistical research, of the ACS.

They said they had not expected to have significant results for another year, but that the information already obtained seemed so important it was being announced now.

They said it is "a matter for speculation" whether the findings apply to men younger than 50, or to women who smoke.

Links Smoking, Illness

Their evidence indicates a cause-and-effect between cigarettes and heart attacks and cancers, they added.

The widespread survey to question men as to whether they had ever smoked, practically never smoked, or smoked cigarettes, pipes, cigars or combinations of these was aimed at getting more definite information.

So far, the smoking of just pipes or cigars, or both, shows little or no effect on death rates except perhaps for cancer in general, the report says. But this point needs further study.

The heart and cancer risk seems to rise with cigarette consumption by the men studied, the report finds.

Cancer Doubled

For those who smoked a pack-a-day or more, deaths from heart attacks and cancer rose to double that of non-smokers in some of the age brackets between 50 and 70.

Deaths included 745 men who had smoked a pack-a-day or more for years. This means 319 more deaths than expected if these men had succumbed at the same rate as non-smokers.

There were 344 fatal heart attacks among these heaviest cigarette smokers or 163 more than expected. There were 161 who died of cancer, 98 more than expected by the rate among non-smokers.

The report terms the figures on cancer still preliminary, but says they indicate deaths from lung cancer are at least three times more common among cigarette smokers than non-smokers, and the rate may be nine times as high.

Mrs. Gilbreth Cancels 12th SUI Appearance

Lillian Gilbreth, internationally known consulting engineer of "Cheaper by the Dozen," fame, canceled her 12th appearance before the 15th annual summer management short course at SUI Monday evening because of the death Friday of her son Frank's wife.

Mrs. Gilbreth, 76, was to speak on "Management Abroad." Last year she served as consulting engineer on management problems in England and in the Philippines, and attended the International Management congress in Brazil.

FBI Agent Urges Officers To Use Stolen Property File

Iowa peace officers were urged Monday to make more frequent use of the national stolen property file which was described as being "as effective in recovery and apprehension as people make it."

Instructing at the annual peace officers short course at SUI, FBI agent R. B. Miller, Omaha, noted that stolen valuables are often recovered some time and distance away because they were listed on a little card in the files of the U. S. department of justice.

However, too many officers fail to go farther than local and state reports of stolen property. As a result recovery and apprehension must depend upon clues as to identity of the thief or a lucky circumstance, he said.

Points for Testifying

Earlier in the day Miller, who is assistant special agent in charge at the FBI's Omaha office, had some counsel for peace officers who lack experience in testifying in court. He posed his advice in the form of ten short rules: (1) tell the truth, (2) don't be afraid, (3) be prepared, (4) listen carefully to questions, (5) be frank and modest, (6) don't volunteer unasked for information, (7) don't lose your temper, (8) be courteous, (9) speak clearly and (10) sit erect.

An officer's effectiveness in court depends upon observance of such rules, he continued. For instance, on the subject of an officer volunteering information before it is called for, he compared an attorney's case with an architect's plan for a building noting that "something added outside the specifications might reduce the effectiveness of the whole structure."

Prove by Identification

Miller also discussed problems involved in the theft and illegal possession of government property. He stressed the importance of proving by positive identification that the goods are government property, an especially difficult problem if the theft is of butter or grain, he said.

Featured lecturer for today will be Alan Canty, director of the psychopathic clinic of the Detroit recorder's court. Canty will analyze "Mental and Emotional Factors as They Are Related to Criminal Behavior."

Wednesday's schedule includes "Chemical Tests for Intoxication," to be presented by Dr. Kurt Dubowski, biochemist for the Iowa Methodist hospital, Des Moines, and the Iowa bureau of criminal investigation. Another middle of the week highlight will be "Determining Cause of Death" by Dr. Milton Helpern, chief medical examiner for the city of New York.

Interpreting the News

By J.M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press
Foreign Staff

Despite all the political scurrying, and the sketchy reports of what is actually going on in Guatemala, the situation appears now to be one which will be decided militarily.

When Russia vetoed a proposal in the UN security council to refer the case to the Organization of American States she confirmed her interest in the Arbenz government at Guatemala City and thereby did that government great harm in the eyes of other Latin American states. Arbenz has been trying hard to keep his skirts clear of a link with Russia at this moment. He has been playing the old tune that the United States is interfering with a Guatemalan internal situation, and wants the rebellion, led by refugees based on Honduras, to appear a joint American-Honduran-Nicaraguan project.

The state department has been at great pains to avoid the impression that it instigated the rebellion or gives it material support. It is known, however, to be hopeful that the invasion from Honduras will touch off a general uprising against the Communist-backed government. The department has given out reports that there are internal uprisings designed to tie in with the invasion.

Revolt Encouraged?

It would be strange, however, if U.S. agents, given several weeks in which to operate after the discovery that Guatemala was buying arms behind the Iron Curtain, had not played some role in encouraging a revolt at this time.

The Arbenz government obviously felt the revolt would come, and has been busily turning the Communist cadres throughout the country into a sort of militia. In this, according to the very sketchy reports which have been coming through a strict censorship, they seem to have gotten the jump.

Long-worried by Communist activity in Guatemala, discovery of her dealings with the Communist sphere threw Washington into one of the greatest flaps caused by an incident of that size in a long time. One of the great fears was that the U.S. might become involved in an old-fashioned Latin American fracas, with the added complication of an international Communist link, which would prove to be a mess similar to the one France is in in Indochina.

Another Danger Cited.

Another danger is that Nicaragua and Honduras, already at great odds with Guatemala City, will be drawn into the fighting directly.

But the die probably will be cast by the Guatemalan army, largest and best armed in Central America. Before the rebellion started army leaders were reported about ready to act against Arbenz. Whether they are now refusing his orders to act against the rebels is the major question. So far, the army has taken no major action to halt the rebels. This could be due to army dissatisfaction or to strategy which would suck the invaders into the country and meet them nearer the capital.

When this is clarified, we will know more about what to expect. If Arbenz can keep control of the army, the rebels won't have much chance.

Anti-Reds Drive into Guatemala

WITH ANTI-COMMUNIST FORCES driving deeper into the reportedly pro-Red stronghold of Guatemala, the country's strategic position to the Panama Canal and its relation to other Central American states is shown by the above map. Arrows point the main points reported under attack—San Jose, a naval base and commercial port on the Pacific coast; Puerto Barrios, an east coast port, and Retalhuelen.

Guatemala Holds Key Central American Spot

Last Friday, anti-Communist rebels attacked the leftist government in Guatemala. Here are some facts on the tiny, strategic Central American country near the Panama Canal.

Guatemala, the northernmost state in Central America, has an area of 45,452 square miles—about one-half the size of Kansas—and has a population of 3,283,209.

The country is largely mountainous, with many volcanic peaks, one, Tajumulco, reaching an altitude of 13,814 feet. The climate is hot and humid along the coasts, but temperate in the highlands.

Guatemala is bordered on the north and west by Mexico, on the east by British Honduras, on the east and south by Honduras and El Salvador, and on the southwest by the Pacific ocean, and on the southeast by the Atlantic.

Population Half Indian

More than 50 per cent of Guatemala's population is Indian, and most of the remainder is of mixed Spanish and Indian blood. The official language is Spanish. Roughly 90 per cent of the population is engaged in agriculture. Coffee is the chief product, accounting for 20 per cent of the cultivated land and 80 per cent of all exports. Other important crops include bananas, sugar, beans, corn and wheat.

The capitol and largest city in Guatemala is Guatemala City, with a population of 284,922. The country's chief Atlantic port is Puerto Barrios, 800 miles south of New Orleans. San Jose and Champerico are important port cities on the Pacific.

Guzman President

Jacobo Arbenz Guzman was elected president of Guatemala in 1950, and started his six-year term on March 15, 1951.

With the aid of Communists and their allies, Arbenz has pushed an ambitious program for improving the lot of the nation's landless peasants. A land reform law was passed in June, 1952, expropriating farms with more than 667 acres, but 70 per cent of the land still is owned by two per cent of the people.

Recent arms shipments to Guatemala have made it the most heavily armed nation in Central America, the Associated Press has reported.

Democrats To Choose Precinct Committeeman

Democratic party members from the first precinct of the fifth ward will elect a new committeeman tonight at 7:30 in a caucus at the home of Mrs. Minette Doderer, 1306 Kirkwood ave.

Robert A. Edberg, 422 Bowers st., present committeeman, is moving to a new city precinct.

The precinct committeeman, also a member of the county central committee, is chairman of his precinct. His duties include getting out the vote for his own party and the selection of poll watchers.

Pierce Fined $300 On OMVI Charge

Lee Marvin Pierce, 18, was fined $300 in Johnson county court Monday after pleading guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. The fine was imposed by Judge Harold D. Evans.

Also the youth's driver's license was suspended for 60 days. Pierce was arrested late Saturday night by the highway patrol. The charge against him was contained in a county attorney's information.

Pierce spent the time following his arrest in county jail in lieu of $500 bond.

Leistikow To Share In $700 Scholarship

LaVerne E. Leistikow, 27, E3, Waterloo, is to share in the $700 scholarship prize money offered in the annual nation-wide contest of the American Society of Tool Engineers, Joseph P. Crosby, society president, said.

The awards are given to ten engineering students on the basis of scholastic standing, faculty recommendations and interest in furthering the tool engineering profession.

Leistikow is a member of Pi Tau Sigma and Tau Beta Pi honorary engineering fraternities and the student chapter of ASME. He is second in his class of 49 with a grade point average of 3.34.

Charges Against Dog Owner Taken To Police Court

A charge against John Hollingshead, 621 S. Lucas st., of maintaining a nuisance by keeping dogs, was taken under advisement Monday by police court Judge Emil G. Trott. The charge resulted from a complaint signed by Newell C. Bane, 703 Bowers st., and Roy Rohrig, 631 S. Lucas st.

Hollingshead is accused of "maintaining a nuisance detrimental to the public health by keeping two dogs and five pups which bark day and night, making it impossible to sleep."

Mrs. Sam Mummy, testifying in behalf of Hollingshead, said her home is between Hollingshead's and Rohrig's and the dogs never bother her; nor has she ever heard them bark in the basement.

Rohrig testified Monday that he had never heard the dogs bark at night.

An identical charge brought by Bane and Rohrig against Nick Luetgen, 620 S. Dodge st., is set for hearing at 8 a.m. Wednesday. Luetgen is charged with keeping five dogs.

Prospective Buyer Looks It Over

THIS IS 1 OF THE 29 remaining trailers in Hawkeye village which will be razed to make room for a new parking lot. The trailers will be sold if salvageable, junked if not. Above, a prospective buyer looks inside the trailer. The parking lot will be ready for use by September. R. J. Phillips, superintendent of maintenance and operation at the SUI physical plant, said.

Hawkeye Village To Take New Role as Parking Lot

Football field, athletic field and park, student housing and finally a parking lot are the roles played by the Hawkeye Village area north of the Burlington st. bridge, in the growth of SUI.

The tract of land will be cleared of the 29 remaining trailers by July 1. T. M. Rehder, director of dormitories and dining rooms at SUI said, and plans now are to convert the area into a parking lot. All salvageable units will be sold and others will be junked.

At one time 171 trailers were located in Hawkeye Village, which was originally built as SUI's athletic field. The old Iowa field was converted into an athletic field and park when the present stadium was built.

At the end of World War II the trailers were moved in to accommodate the boom of post-war married students.

R. J. Phillips, superintendent of maintenance and operation of the SUI physical plant, said the new parking lot will be ready for use at the beginning of the fall semester.

Charge Dismissed Against Tamok; Wife Fined $300

Mrs. Joseph Tamok, Coralville, was fined $300 in Johnson county district court Monday after pleading guilty to a charge of unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor.

The charge followed a raid Feb. 15 on the Amvets club, Mrs. Tamok was operating the club at the time of the raid.

A similar charge against her husband was dismissed by Judge Harold D. Evans after County Attorney William L. Meardon informed the court that Tamok, an air force master sergeant, was in Alabama when the raid took place.

Tamok is now facing disciplinary action by the air force in connection with the raid. He was assigned to the university AFROT unit at the time of the raid and has since been transferred to Alabama.

The club was formerly located at 112 S. Capitol st., but has since been torn down. The area will be used as a parking lot. The club was not re-opened following the raid.

JUSTEN RE-ELECTED

Ray H. Justen, 310 Blackhawk st., was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the Iowa counties engineers' association at a Friday convention in Des Moines. Other officers re-elected by the engineers were Floyd K. Brown, Leon, President, and Forest W. Akers, Rockwell City, vice-president, an Associated Press dispatch reported.

Australia's Landy Sets Mile Mark In Finland With 3:58

Trails For 1/2 Mile, Then Shoots Ahead On 'Perfect' Track

TURKU, Finland (AP)—John Landy of Australia ran the mile in a phenomenal 3 minutes and 58 seconds Monday, clipping 1.4 seconds off Roger Bannister's world record and becoming the second man to crash the four-minute barrier.

The 24-year-old Melbourne flier also was timed in 3:41.8 for the 1500 meters, another world mark if approved by the International Amateur Athletic federation. Both clockings must be recognized by the IAAF.

Landy, who has been knocking at the door of the four-minute mile for two years, was racing against five international foes, including Britain's Chris Chataway, who paced Bannister to his record 3:59.4 performance at Oxford May 6.

Fast Track

The cinder track at Turku stadium was lightning fast and the weather was ideal. A blazing sun beat down on the track and an expectant crowd of 8,000. The temperature was 77.

Landy didn't follow his normal formula of setting the pace all the way. After a comparatively slow first quarter in which he lay back in second place, he shot to the front just before the half-mile mark and finished blazing.

The crowd, sensing a record performance, went wild. As Landy clipped off the final laps in short, lightning steps, the crowd spurred him on with the yell, "Landy, Landy, Landy."

Smiles At Finish

And when the lean, young Aussie shot across the finish line, smiling broadly and showing no signs of exhaustion, the spectators broke into a thunderous roar. Then they swarmed from the stands, broke down the fences and carried Landy from the stadium on their shoulders.

Landy, showing a tremendous finishing kick, was 35 yards ahead of Chataway as he breasted the tape. Chataway was timed in 4:04.0. Four Finns trailed them.

"I'm too happy to be able to speak," the jubilant Aussie said. "If it hadn't been for Chris Chataway's chasing me around the track I would never have made it. I knew he was immediately behind me and that he would not hesitate to pass me if I slowed up the very least."

"I have never run on a better track than this and I would like to call the race the 100 per cent contest."

Records Probably Official

Finnish track authorities said they felt there was no doubt Landy's clockings for both the 1500 meters and mile would be recognized as world records. Fully authorized timers were set up at both the 1500-meter mark and the mile finish line.

The lap times were announced for meter distances rather than for yards. The times were 58 seconds for the first 400 meters, 1:57.9 for 800 meters, 2:27.2 for the 1,000 and 2:56 flat for the 1,200.

It was the sixth tremendous mile run of the year by the world's crack crew of runners who set out in a wholesale assault on Gunder Haegg's old record of 4:01.4, set in 1945.

Old Record 3:59.4

Until Monday, Bannister had the best of these when he streaked the distance in 3:59.4 at Oxford. This mark recently was recognized as the world record.

Landy himself had two brilliant performances on this Scandinavian tour—running the mile in 4:01.6 here May 31 and duplicating that time at Stockholm June 8.

America's hope, Wes Santee of the University of Kansas, has had three mile performances pressing the four-minute barrier. On May 29, he ran the mile in 4:01.3, then followed this with 4:00.6 in the Compton, Calif., relays June 4 and 4:00.7 in the Coliseum relays at Los Angeles June 11.

1,856 Golfers Enter Amateur

NEW YORK (AP)—A field of 1,856 golfers has entered the 29th Amateur public links championship of the U. S. Golf Assn. Qualifying rounds are now underway reducing the number of contestants to 200 for the tournament proper.

The team championship will be held at the Cedar Crest golf course, Dallas, July 10, with the individual championship July 12-17.

Sectional qualifying rounds of 36 holes stroke play began Saturday and will be completed by June 26.

The 43 qualifying locations, with entries and qualifiers' places, include: Chicago, 41 entries and 6 qualifiers; Peoria, Ill., 81 and 8; Indianapolis, 74 and 4; South Bend, Ind., 32 and 4; Detroit, 105 and 10; St. Paul, 280 and 12; Milwaukee, 32 and 4.

Sports Views

By Gene Ingle—Daily Iowan Sports Editor

In 1949, there were 37 minor leagues operating in this country. This year, there are 34. What's the nature of the blight that's killing baseball in smaller cities and towns, and is there a cure?

To hear some baseball men, the minor-leagues have died mostly from an overdose of televised major league baseball. These gloomers say minor-league ball will continue to wither until baseball returns to the days when the only way to see a ball game was to turn the stile at the local ball park.

Not everybody sees it this way. Some game fish have been swimming against the tide, and they claim that all minor league baseball needs is hustle in the front office to match the hustle on the field.

Peoria — Good Example

The optimists have a good example in Peoria, Ill. In the June issue of the Packard Sports Library, Bill Leighty, baseball writer of the Peoria Journal, tells the Peoria story in "Making Money in the Minors." Peoria makes a better-than-average example of how to survive, because Peoria lies 160 miles southwest of Chicago, one of the top television areas, and midway between two cities having major league baseball—Chicago and St. Louis.

Peoria rejoined the class B Three-I league in 1953 after an absence of 15 years, and with a sixth-place team, General Manager Carl W. Roth lured 124,866 paying customers into Woodruff field, home of the Chiefs. That's not only 48,000 more than any Peoria team ever drew, but better than the 1953 totals of at least eight clubs in bigger cities in faster leagues.

With that record to back him up, Roth is well-qualified to point out the path to survival for minor league baseball.

Roth went to work in February, 1953 after a group of Peoria businessmen bought a defunct Three-I franchise. His problems included finding money on which to operate. A place to play, and a major league team willing to provide players.

He went after the money first with a concentrated stock-selling campaign. "All you want at $10 a share" brought in enough cash, or promise thereof, to begin operations. From the sale of stock and advance tickets, the club obtained enough working capital to begin rebuilding old Woodruff field, which had been abandoned after Peoria abandoned baseball in 1937.

Close to $175,000 was spent to restore the park, including $30,000 in donated material and labor. To skeptics criticizing the staggering debt run up before ever a ball was pitched, Roth says now, "We could have spent half as much money, had half as good a ball park, and drawn half as many people."

A one-year working agreement with Cleveland of the American league provided the source of players. Roth favors working agreements because "this permits the sale of stock and makes the club, in effect, community-owned. I think the majors will come to recognize that local ownership is an important factor and that people will support the club better feeling it is theirs and not an overlooked link in a big chain."

With stock sold, a park ready and players in uniform, all that remained was the biggest job of all—getting people to pay their way into the park. Even without a local team, Peoria fans weren't starved for baseball, with Chicago and St. Louis readily accessible.

Roth insists you must have a good promotional plan, to get the people interested enough to keep the club in the black, and minor league officials must recognize this fact.

"Promotion must be area-wide and includes selling advance tickets while you still have a first-division club (he means before the race begins); special civic club nights; guest attractions of such clowns as Max Patkin and Jackie Price; ladies nights, and guest appearances by club officials at local functions."

Special events on the last five 1953 home dates — after the Chiefs had lost all chance of getting into the playoffs — brought in 13,892 fans, most of whom turned out for a series with the eighth-place club.

Another Roth stunt, frowned on by many minor league officials, was the formation of a Knott-hole club for 3,000 kids. For $1, each youngster was given a badge, a certificate, a T-shirt with the Chiefs' name on it, and free admission to all home games. The Knott-holes had their own concession stand — where kids' prices prevail — and their own rest rooms.

"Every kid wearing one of those T-shirts was a walking advertisement," Roth says. "Just another way to keep the name in front of the public."

Roth doesn't say that good promotion guarantees a full house. He thinks the customer must be given his money's worth, which means more than just a good ball game.

"He wants hot dogs and drinks at his elbow, a comfortable place to sit, nice surroundings, and a ball park lighted well enough that he can see the right fielder. By all means, have enough vendors and stand space so that the customer will have only a minimal delay in making his purchase."

Winning Team Necessary? Lightly asked if Roth thought a winning team was necessary to survive. Roth said, "Not entirely, although no one will deny that a winner helps."

Mays, Dark Push Giants To 8-5 Win

NEW YORK (AP)—Willie Mays clouted his 19th and 20th home runs and Alvin Dark hit a two-run triple to lead the New York Giants to an 8-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in the lone major league game Monday. The victory increased the Giants' National league lead over Brooklyn to a full game.

Jim Hearn, with the help of Marvin Grissom, posted his fourth victory although the Cards reached him for 9 of their 13 hits before he retired after yielding a triple to pinchhitter Peanuts Lowrey to open the seventh.

Gerry Staley started for the Redbirds and was tagged for all but one of the Giants' runs to suffer his seventh setback against three victories. A five-run fourth inning hastened his departure for a pinchhitter in the next frame.

Each of Mays' homers came with nobody on base. The first was hit off Staley in the second inning to boost the Giants' lead to 2-0. His second was hit off reliever Royce Lint in the fifth.

Trailing 8-2 in the seventh, the Cards made a belated bid to pull the game out of the fire, banging out four hits against Hearn and southpaw John McCall that were good for three runs. Grissom came in, however, to put out the fire by retiring Tom Alston with runners on first and second.

Stan Musial, for the third straight day, failed to hit safely, walking once in five trips to the plate.

Trabert, Seixas Win 1st Rounds At Wimbledon

WINBLETON, England (AP)—The Wimbledon, Tennis championships got off to a fast start Monday with seeded sluggers from America and Australia blasting everything in sight.

All of the top ranked only little Ken Rosewall of Australia had big trouble. The 19-year-old who is seeded third defeated Abe Segal of South Africa 7-5, 4-6, 8-6, 8-6, after a grim struggle.

America's picture book tennis star — No. 1 seeded Tony Trabert of Cincinnati — whipped Britain's Paul Woolter 6-0, 6-2, 6-2. Handsome Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, the defending champion, had an even easier time, defeating Geoffrey Cass, Britain 6-1, 6-0, 6-1.

Other favorites who won were Australia's Lew Hoad, No. 2 seed; Mervyn Rose, of Australia, No. 5; Art Larsen, San Leandro, Calif., No. 6; Budge Patty, the seventh-seeded Yank who lives in Paris, Los Angeles or anywhere else a tennis tournament is going on; and Rex Hartwig of Australia, seeded No. 8.

'Stoopers' Earn Living On Discarded Mutuels

DELAWARE PARK, Del. (AP)—Blessed with sharp eyesight and a likewise memory, Reds H. — dean of the "stoopers"—is making a living "because of the carelessness of the American racing public."

There are about 250 professional stoopers literally finding a living on American race tracks, said Reds. "When a racing fan is careless enough to throw away or to lose a winning mutual ticket, that's when we stoop to conquer."

"There's an art to our profession," he said. "You have to have good eyes, a keen memory and then master the knack of flipping." He demonstrated by flipping a ticket laying on the ground face up with his foot.

"You gotta remember the numbers of the three money horses in each race. If you had to look at your program to check the number on each ticket, it would take too long."

"I couldn't call off the name of a single horse which raced yesterday, but I can give you the three winning numbers—first, second and third—in all eight races."

Reds said the best he ever did in one day was $1,200. "I found three daily doubles tickets all stacked up nice and pretty. They called for $400 each. It's not always that good. Sometimes you'll get three or four days without scoring a winning ticket."

Art Andrews of Iowa City zipped past two opponents Monday to move into the third round of the National Interscholastic tennis tournament at Charlottesville, Va.

Five other Iowa schoolboys were defeated in first round matches.

Andrews lost only two games in beating Don Ralph, Washington, 6-0, 6-2, in the first round. The Iowa City youth came back in the next round to eliminate Ray York, Charlottesville, 6-2, 6-4.

Results of other Iowans' matches Mike Green, Miami Beach, Fla., defeated Joe Gaston, Burlington, 6-0, 6-4.

Sunny Sumer, Greenville, S. C., defeated Richard Shulman, Iowa City, 6-1, 6-1.

Michael Field, Highland Park, Ill., defeated Charles Gaston, Burlington, 6-0, 6-0.

James Farrin, Washington, defeated Jerry Stack, Iowa City, 6-0, 6-1.

Ellison Kelly, Atlanta, Ga., defeated William Voxman, Iowa City, 14-12, 6-3.
